Sawyer Says Excise Taxes Are Depressing Retail Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer told the White House Wednesday that wartime-imposed excise taxes are having a "depressing effect upon retail sales."

That, he said, "is clear from the great number of complaints" made to him in conferences with businessmen during a personal survey of business conditions he made over the country last summer and fall.

"In the case of jewelry, furs, luggage, admissions, etc., the effects are, in specific cases, very serious," he commented in a letter sent Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman for the information of President Truman.

The cabinet officer's opinions, aired in a 2,700-word letter and 12,000-word report made public with White House approval, appeared in line with reports that the President will favor some excise tax cuts, but ask increased levies elsewhere to avert a revenue loss.

Sawyer on the basis on talks with 3,000 businessmen in various parts of the country, said the American businessman's No. 1 desire today is "tax relief."

The secretary advised Steelman that he personally talked with business and labor leaders in upper New York state, western Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Indiana.

Higher and longer-lasting unemployment compensation benefits got leading mention from the 1,000 labor leaders and public officials Sawyer said he talked to on his 15,000 miles of travel.

The commerce chief took note of the improvement in the economic situation since he undertook last July to look into the causes and cures for rising unemployment by "on-the-spot" talks with local leaders.

"Prospects for our immediate future are good," he said. "It is probable that business will continue at its present level throughout the early part of 1950."

But Sawyer also observed that "certain factors would indicate the wisdom of tempered optimism."

1. "Many small businesses, although still operating at fairly high levels, are suffering a substantially reduced profit margin."

2. Lower profits dampen plans for expanding business and plant further, and advice to the commerce department indicates outlays for expansion in early 1950 will continue the decline of second half 1949.

3. "In some lines, such as automobiles, supply is catching up with demand, and we cannot expect that the current high level of production will continue."

Sawyer said figures on unemployment submitted to him in his Chicago conferences for Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin were well below the national level, while those for Illinois were closer to it.

Statistical matter supplied by state officials of Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Indiana, Sawyer said, underscored the opinion of businessmen that "conditions in the region were generally prosperous."

5½-Pound Princess Born to Rita, Aly; Mother, Child Okay

LAUSANNE, SWITZERLAND (AP) — A 5½-pound princess was born Wednesday to Screen Star Rita Hayworth and her husband of seven months, the Moslem Prince Aly Khan. Happily, Aly announced: "Yes, everybody is all right."

Claude Payot, handling the baby's public relations, said Wednesday night both mother and daughter are "doing extremely well, despite a long and difficult birth."

Congratulations streamed in upon the parents.

The child was named Yasmin, the Persian word for the Jasmine flower from which perfume is made in southern France — where her parents were married May 27 after an international romance.

"Delightful Little Girl"

"She is a very gracious, delightful little girl with harmonious features and tiny wisps of black hair," said Miss Olga Beson, head nurse of the exclusive Montchoisi clinic.

She is the first granddaughter of the wealthy Aga Khan, who is worshipped by 5-million Ismaili Moslems as an earthly god. Aly is heir to the title of Aga Khan. He has two sons and Rita has a daughter by previous marriages.

The prince told newsmen weeks ago that seven - months babies were common in his family and he expected the newcomer might be premature. He and Rita came to Lausanne Nov. 5 to await the birth.

Rita's time came in the night. She was clad in a mink coat for the drive from the Palace hotel to the clinic at 8:10 p.m. (Iowa time) Tuesday. The baby was born at 2:45 a.m. (Iowa time).

Prince Aly was haggard and unshaven, but he grinned with the pride of any new papa as he announced the birth from the hospital steps about an hour and a half later. The delivery was a normal one, under gas. The birth was supervised by Dr. Rodolphe Rochat, a widely known Swiss obstetrician.

Fear had been expressed that a Caesarian section might be necessary since Rita's first child was born by that method in 1944. She is Rebecca Welles, daughter of the Screen Star and Actor-Producer Orson Welles. The parents were divorced in 1948.

The new princess is to be reared in the Moslem faith, the father said. Rita was reared as a Roman Catholic.

U.S. Assistant Labor Mediator to Resign

TELLING HIS BOSS, CYRUS S. CHING (right) he's quitting is William N. Margolis, assistant director of the federal mediation and conciliation service. Margolis announced Wednesday he would resign March 1. He has handled some of the nation's toughest disputes in maritime, steel, telephone and other major industries.

General Electric to Drop UE Union

NEW YORK (AP) — The General Electric company announced Wednesday night that it will break off contract relations with the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America when the present contract expires next April 1.

The union recently was expelled from the CIO on the ground that it was Communist led. It now is engaged in a representation dispute with the CIO-sponsored International United Electrical, Radio and Machine workers.

George H. Pfeif, G.E. manager of union relations, said the contract cancellation notice was served because of this dispute.

Pfeif said in a letter to the former CIO union that "it would not be proper for us to run away risk of appearing to be unfairly favoring one side or the other by allowing our present national contract with the UE to be extended past its termination date on April 1, 1950."

The company's action affects some 125,000 workers in about 100 plants throughout the country.

General Electric's contract with UE would have been renewed automatically if the cancellation notice had not been filed 90 days before the expiration date.

G.E. suspended last Dec. 1 an offer including increases in workers' welfare items, after the UE had demanded a new contract providing wage and other benefits totaling $500 annually for each member.

The company also has asked the national labor relations board to "certify to us the representative desired by the majority of our employers at each location."

Moody's action opened the way for NLRB General Counsel Robert Denham to ask a federal court for an injunction directing Lewis to bargain in good faith and put the miners on a five-day week basis, instead of the present three-day week, pending a board ruling on the charges.

Wednesday's action by the southern group, representing about one-sixth of the soft coal industry, was an out-and-out charge of mass violations of the Taft-Hartley law by Lewis.

Earthquake Hits Manila, Buildings Rock Crazy

MANILA, P.I. (THURSDAY) (AP) — A sharp earthquake rocked Manila today, damaging at least three downtown buildings. There were no immediate reports of any casualties.

The shock hit at 11:05 a.m. (9:05 p.m. Wednesday, Iowa time) and lasted about one minute.

Buildings in downtown Manila rocked crazily and terrified occupants fled into the streets for safety, snarling traffic in their dash for the wide city plazas and other open areas.

Telephone relatives with news that he's the grandfather of a princess is Eduardo Canino, Hollywood dancing teacher and father of Actress Rita Hayworth. Rita, the wife of Prince Aly Khan, gave birth to a daughter Wednesday in Lausanne, Switzerland. Canino received news of the birth from newspapermen. Canino's dog, Chanti, wonders what all the excitement's about.

Long Term View Good On World Atom Accord

What a Way to See the World!

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man walked down the Washington monument's 898 steps Wednesday on his hands. He is Glen Marlin-Sunry of New York, a professional acrobat. With stops for rest, Marlin-Sunry covered the 555-foot descent in one hour and 25 minutes.

Lilienthal Pins Hope on People Seeing Danger

(From the Wire Services) WASHINGTON — David Lilienthal said Wednesday he believes long-term prospects of an international agreement on atomic energy control are good.

He pinned his faith in this partly on the fact that "the catastrophic consequences of going indefinitely without agreement are so clear to so many people and will become clear to so many more."

At the same time, the retiring chairman of the atomic energy commission declared he believes short term prospects of an international agreement are remote.

At a year end press conference, he also:

Disclosed that he postponed his retirement as atomic chief from Dec. 31 to next Feb. 15 because he is tied up on "unfinished assignments" which he would not discuss.

Hinted broadly that when he does leave, he will campaign publicly for a new approach to the long - deadlocked question of international control of atomic energy.

Refuses Hint on Advances He refused, on security grounds, even to hint at the nature of the "major" atomic advances.

Under questioning, however, he said there were "several" achievements in classified research field which he considers "comparable" to the publicly - announced development of a working design for a "breeder reactor."

(Breeding — which means creating new fissionable material in the very act of consuming some — has not been achieved. But AEC scientists are confident it eventually will be, and they've announced plans to build an "experimental breeder.")

A newsmen asked if he thought the United States should start out afresh on the whole subject of international controls.

"Ask me that question as of the 16th of February," Lilienthal grinned.

Lilienthal is co-author of the Acheson - Lilienthal report which was a basis for the U.S. proposal for international control, upon which the stalemated plan of the United Nations majority is largely based.

Advances Will Help Lilienthal referred to still-secret "major advances" in the atomic program during 1949 and said that if these advances were made public they "would help a lot of things." He did not elaborate.

His cryptic statement that he prolonged his service to handle "unfinished assignments" was a surprise. It had been believed President Truman asked him to remain because he had not yet been able to find a successor.

Lilienthal declined to answer questions about (1) the forthcoming A-bomb tests at Eniwetok Islands; (2) Russia's A-bomb progress; and (3) the U.S. - British-Canadian negotiations for a closer atomic partnership.

Lilienthal said that "if we lived in a world where secrecy was not so necessary," private industry and research might have shared — to their considerable benefit — in some of the secret achievements this year.

U.S. Needs New Policy On Pension Plan: Ching

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's top labor peace-maker said Wednesday that a new national policy on pensions is needed to avoid some bitter strikes.

Without suggesting what the policy should be, Cyrus Ching, director of the federal mediation service, said it's time for a real study of the whole problem.

For the past several years, Ching added, the nation has been drifting into a system whereby existing federal benefits are supplemented by benefits from private employer plans "established by means of collective bargaining or strike action."

"Before the drift goes too far," he said, "it would be well to take our bearings and devise a national policy which will help us to set our future course with deliberation."

"If this is not done promptly, the nation may have to pay a high price in additional stoppages (strikes) called to compel institution of private employer plans."

The veteran labor relations expert gave a prominent place in a 10-page year end report on industrial relations to demands of labor unions for pension and welfare benefits.

Ching said that most workers consider the federal social security program inadequate. A considerable number of workers is exempt from the federal plan.

Ching foresaw unrest developing between groups of workers because one would get a better pension-welfare system than another.

Also, Ching said, most private employer pension plans depend on the employer being able to pay the pledged benefits when they fall due.

Released Tuesday, the director of the American Joint Distribution committee (AJDC) in Hungary was delayed in arriving here by an overnight stay in the hands of Russian officers. His permit to travel across the Soviet occupation zone of Austria had expired.

Jacobson, 37, told newspapermen he was questioned about alleged spying activities from mid-afternoon on the day of his arrest, Dec. 15, until five o'clock the next morning, and for periods of more than 20 hours at a time for the next four days.

Threaten with Solitary During these periods he was made to sit at attention, and was warned that if he continued to cross his legs or slump in his seat he would be "sent to the cellar" — a term he took to mean solitary confinement.

After the first five days he was treated "fairly well," but had to write an explanation for each entry in his personal and official appointment book. He said he must have written more than 10,000 words a day in longhand for five days.

Finally, Lt. Gen. Peter Gabor, chief of Hungarian political police, told him Tuesday afternoon he was being released. The Hungarian warned Jacobson he had been guilty of indiscretion, but was "not quite an agent."

Jacobson said he was asked about alleged activities of the AJDC in helping Hungarian Jews leave the country illegally, and about relations with Robert Vogler, an American official of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., and Edgar Sanders, a British official of the corporation.

Seven of One Family Injured in Car Crash

STORM LAKE (AP) — Seven members of one family were injured Wednesday, three critically, when their car collided with another auto, rolled over and caught fire 12 miles north of here.

The Oscar Peterson family of Alta was en route to a family reunion when the accident occurred. The most critically injured were Marvin, 12, Betty, 11, and Stanley, 10. They all suffered skull fractures. Mrs. Peterson, 49, was treated for a possible back fracture.

Chinese Reds Invite Students to Return Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chinese students abroad to come back for higher education. (It is known that many Chinese students abroad have lost government support because of the upheaval of the civil war and some of them are hard pressed.)

The Communist radio in Peiping, heard by The Associated Press at San Francisco, Wednesday told of plans to bring as many overseas Chinese as possible back to the homeland.

The Red regime's Commission of Overseas Chinese Affairs sent a circular letter to organizations, newspapers and schools of Chinese residents abroad.

The commission said its job was to keep in touch with overseas Chinese organizations, assist Chinese "to come back to China to make investments," "extend relief to overseas Chinese in difficult straits" and to "render help that he "wouldn't consider such an offer. I don't know what the Communist government stands for."

Pei-Wei (Bill) Cheng, Shanghai, said: "My chief interest is working for the people of China. If the Communists prove to be working for the people, then I will go back."

Sin Ming Chieu, Hong Kong, said that he had heard rumors that the Communists had planned some "re-education" of students studying abroad when they returned.

"But I don't know anything about what this 're-education' might mean," he said. "However, this offer will make no difference to the Chinese students here. We have to go back sooner or later, as soon as we finish our studies."

SUI Chinese Say ...

At SUI, Chinese graduate students said that they had received no official notice of the Communist offer.

Reactions among the students varied somewhat. Kwo Chung Chen, Shanghai, said, "Personally, at present I do not plan to go back. The situation in China does not seem to be very stable now. But I will wait and see."

The Big Ten repelled an invasion from the east and west coasts here Wednesday night in the first basketball double header in Iowa fieldhouse history, before 10,986 fans.

Iowa rudely pounded Oregon, 81-54, in the second game, for the Hawkeyes' 44th consecutive home victory against non-conference opposition after Wisconsin thumped Rutgers, 68-55, in the opener.

GOING UP FOR A BASKET IS Iowa Guard Bob Clifton in Wednesday night's Iowa-Oregon game. The Hawkeyes went on to smother the Ducks, 81-54. The contest was the second in a double header — the first in the history of Iowa fieldhouse — which also saw Wisconsin thump Rutgers, 68-55, in the opener. Clifton hit five of seven shots and racked up 13 points. Iowa Center Frank Calbeck heads in for rebound at extreme left. No. 15 is Oregon's Bob Amacher, 6-8 center.

PAUL LYNNER, RUTGERS' forward, goes up for a shot in the first half of the Wisconsin-Rutgers game here Wednesday night, the opener of the cage doubleheader in which Iowa ripped Oregon, 81-54 in the nightcap. Wisconsin had little trouble humbling the easterners, 68-55. Other players in the picture are Bucky Hatchett (3) and Gordon Nelson (10) of Rutgers.

Ben Hogan May Return to Golf Competition

FORT WORTH, TEX. (AP) — Ben Hogan, diminutive king of the golfing world until a near-fatal auto-bus collision sidelined him last February, revealed Wednesday he may enter three tournaments on the PGA winter tour.

History Proves Buckeyes Don't Give Up

PASADENA, CALIF. (AP) — State tried a pass and the gun sounded as the ball sailed through the air — and was incomplete. But Northwestern was found to have 12 men on the field, and the play went over.

Swaner Injured

PASADENA, CALIF. (AP) — California's Rose Bowl team got a bad blow Wednesday when Halfback Jack Swaner re-injured a knee.

Hatchett Stars

Only Bucky Hatchett of the easterners lived up to his press notices. He held the Rutgers five together with his shooting, rebounding, play making and defensive play. He counted 18 points to lead the Rutgers scoring.

The Iowa Hawkeyes, exhibiting what was undoubtedly their most formidable cage form of the season, displayed superior rebounding and shooting to drub Oregon, 81-54, in the aftermath of the first intercollegiate double header held in the Iowa fieldhouse.

Iowa marked this occasion with the establishment of a new free throw record of 33 converted charity tosses out of 44 opportunities thereby eclipsing the former high of 27 free throws registered against Wisconsin in 1946.

The Hawkeyes overwhelmed Oregon statistically — carding a .329 shot percentage from the field to .262 — and on the playing court. The die for an Iowa romp over their first Pacific coast conference club this season was cast in the opening minutes of the first half when the victors cashed in on five of their first nine tries from the field.

Jumping Bob Vollers of Keokuk spearheaded the searing offense with 19 markers on five buckets and nine free throws. He was followed by Frank Calbeck with 14 points and Bob Clifton, who displayed the potentialities only suggested in previous performances, with 13.

Vollers gave the surging Hawkeyes a 1-0 lead in the opening seconds of the game on a converted free throw and Calbeck contributed a bucket to the Iowa point total for a 3-0 margin. Will Urban and Dale Warburg pushed in a bucket and a free throw respectively for Oregon to knot the score and give the visitors the only equality they enjoyed the entire ball game.

Hawkeyes Start Drive — Clifton and Ev Cochrane counted for the field for a 7-3 lead and from that point the Iowa regulars couldn't be checked by the Oregon defense.

Scoring supremacy wasn't the only heartening aspect of the convincing Iowa triumph. The Hawkeyes rebounded well and their play exposed vulnerable points in the Oregon defense that permitted the Hawkeyes to score frequently.

Calbeck, Vollers and Clifton collaborated on the attack to rocket the Hawkeyes into a commanding 31-12 lead with eight minutes remaining in the first half.

But until then, Rutgers threw a scare into their taller rivals. Both teams were cold at the outset. Rehfeldt's tip-in opened the scoring with a little more than two minutes gone.

Lead See-Saws — Bucky Hatchett's first two field goals put Rutgers into a 4-3 lead after five minutes. The lead saw-sawed back and forth with the easterners holding their lead margin at 12-11 with about 10 minutes left in the first half.

A drive-in shot by Rehfeldt then put the Badgers ahead to stay. Rehfeldt, Mader, Fred Schneider and Fred Benciscutto built the halftime margin to 36-21.

The Badgers spurred the opening five minutes of the second half to balloon their lead to 20 points, 45-25. Then, with Rehfeldt sitting on the bench with four personal fouls, Coach Bud Foster's crew hung on.

Rehfeldt Back — Led by Harold Corizzi's hot shooting — he bucketed six of seven shots in the second half — the scrappy easterners hacked away at the Badger lead. With a little less than 10 minutes left in the game and Wisconsin leading, 51-35, Foster inserted Rehfeldt back in the lineup and the 6-6 1/2 center, the Big Ten's leading scorer last year, hit three buckets to thwart Rutgers' still mild threat.

Ohio State Wins; Spartans Lose in Cage Double Header

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP) — Harvard handed Michigan State its seventh straight defeat of the season, 68-57, and the determined Ohio State Buckeyes blasted Cornell from the unbeaten class, 48-42, Wednesday night in a basketball double header.

Both losing teams captured early leads and then went behind. For Michigan State it was the same old story of "fire and fall back." The Spartans spurred to a 9-1 advantage and then watched Harvard slip by them for a half-time lead of 36-29 and roll easily to their fourth triumph in seven games.

Big John Rockwell was Michigan State's Nemesis as he loomed in 19 points for scoring honors. The best Michigan State could contribute was 11 points each by Forward Dan Smith and Guard Jim Snodgrass, mainstays in the losing Spartan cause.

Rangy OSU Forward Bob Donham tossed in the deciding bucket for the Buckeyes and stalled Cornell's winning streak at five straight.

Trailing 42-41 with less than 60 seconds left, Ohio State nudged ahead on Donham's effort, which gave him top — scoring honors with seven buckets and two free throws for 16 points. He booted 10 free throw efforts, however.

Ohio State, which has lost only once, overcame a nine-point deficit at half-time to win. The Bucks took over 3-2 with 8 1-2 minutes gone in the second half and then fought out a see-saw battle in which the lead changed six times.

Phils Will Be 'Up' in 1950

Public Relations Expert Says Youth, Speed, Power. Sawyer Will Do the Trick

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Babe Alexander, the articulate public relations expert of the Philadelphia Phillies, says nothing to dissipate a suspicion that Manager Eddie Sawyer's young men are going to be hard to get along with next season.

The Babe dropped in essentially to discuss the holiday situation, but offered no great resistance when asked to say a few words about his favorite ball club.

"About all we need now is for a couple of our younger pitchers to come through," he confessed. "We've got youth, speed and power; and in my humble opinion, the greatest manager to come along in many years. That Sawyer is wonderful."

"There's every chance in the world that we'll get the young pitching, too. We're bringing up the two top pitchers in the International league to join the other youngsters we've had to carry because of the bonus rule."

There's no doubt in Alexander's mind that the bonus clause has hurt the Phils more than any other club in either league, having forced them to carry a group of brilliant kids who should have been out getting minor league experience.

"But we're not kicking," he hastened to say. "We knew we were taking a big gamble and we chose to do it. But we hope, of course, that the minor leagues will vote now to join the majors in abolishing the rule. Only trouble is, both the Dodgers and the Cards want to keep the rule, and between them they control an awful lot of minor league clubs."

High on Sanicki — The Babe is extremely high on Ed Sanicki, the husky rookie outfielder who came up from Toronto late the past season and swatted a sensational string of pinch home-

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Jack Lovelock, a slender, curly-haired athlete who came out of New Zealand to become the world's greatest mile runner in the mid-thirties, died under a subway train in Brooklyn Wednesday.

DR. JACK LOVELOCK Falls from platform.

Three cars of an eight-car local ground over his body after he apparently had suffered an attack of dizziness and fallen upon the track.

Shortly before, the 39-year-old former world and Olympic record-holder had phoned his American-born wife, Cynthia, that he felt ill and was returning home from Manhattan's hospital for special surgery, where he was a staff member.

Effortless Runner — A seemingly effortless runner, Lovelock gave perhaps his most brilliant performance in the 1926 Olympics at Berlin when he set a new world and games record of 3 minutes, 47.8 seconds in winning the 1,500 meters race.

In that triumph he put on a thrilling stretch spurt to run away from 11 of the world's greatest distance stars and finish six yards ahead of Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, the American mile champion.

Earlier, in July of 1933, the shy, diffident Oxford scholar had set a world's record of 4:07.6 for the mile in a dual meet at Princeton between Oxford — Cambridge and Princeton-Cornell. It was a stirring duel in which Bill Donahoe of Princeton also lowered the existing standard with his time of 4:08.7.

Both the world records for 1,500 meters and one mile now are held by Gundar Haegg of Sweden at 3:4 and 4:01.4, respectively. But Lovelock took his Olympics mark with him in death Wednesday.

Serious Knee Operation — One of the more remarkable features of Lovelock's Olympic victory was the fact that, only two years before, he had undergone a serious knee operation which threatened to end his career.

The surgeon's knife left a gaping scar, and those who saw it were convinced the slight New Zealander would never win a championship race again. The conviction lasted right up to the moment he turned it on in the Olympic stadium.

During the war Lovelock served as a major with the British Royal Army Medical Corps. He met his wife while she was working with the USO overseas. There are two children.

Since joining the staff at the hospital for special surgery, Lovelock has specialized in treating persons crippled by infantile paralysis and other diseases.

In 1951 the Giants will use the Yankees' training facilities at St. Petersburg, Fla., and the Yankees will use the Giants' quarters at Phoenix, Arizona.

BUCKY HATCHETT Hits 1,000 Mark

Only Bucky Hatchett of the easterners lived up to his press notices. He held the Rutgers five together with his shooting, rebounding, play making and defensive play. He counted 18 points to lead the Rutgers scoring.

Hatchett's 18 points brought his three-season scoring total to 1,000 points. He has cracked all of Rutgers' scoring records.

For Those Holiday Guests -

Eggnog Offers Tasty Surprise

"Now be sure to drop in to see us sometime during the holidays," is a phrase you'll hear many times. But what does Mom have to serve the company when they do come to visit?

If she's a wise housewife she'll be able to surprise her guests with some tempting cookies and candies. There will be coffee, spiced tea or eggnog for the grown-ups and the small fry will feel more than welcome when they taste the punch and hot fruit juice made especially for them.

Many times you'll find that the kids don't like date bars and cookies that are extra rich, so if you have a taffy apple or a few pieces of candy on hand they'll be more than pleased.

Hot Spiced Tea

Hot spiced tea will be something new in many homes, but once you try it, you'll always keep that recipe handy. Juice of 3 oranges, juice of 1 1/2 lemons, 1 cup of sugar, 10 to 12 bags of black tea or 3 tablespoons of black tea, 2 quarts of boiling water, 1 teaspoon of whole cloves, 1 inch stick of cinnamon. The spices loosely in bag and add to boiling water. Add tea bags and steep for five minutes. Remove spice bag. Heat fruit juices and sugar and add tea. This will serve 20 to 25.

Add Pineapple Juice

For fruit punch try two cups lemons, juice of three oranges, lemons, juice of three oranges, juice of one lime, 3-4 cup of sugar, 1-4 cup of ginger ale, one pint of plain soda water.

Combine fruit juices. Make a syrup of sugar and water and boil for two minutes. Add syrup and mint leaves to fruit juices and chill. Just before serving add ginger ale and soda water. Pour over ice in punch bowl. Float thin slices of lemon and lime. This will serve from 10 to 12.

Candied apples are not only a treat for the children, but they could also be used in the decorative scheme. They're so easy to make that you'll even let the kiddies help you.

One cup of sugar, 1-3 cup of light corn syrup, 1-2 cup of water, 1-4 teaspoon of cinnamon flavoring, red coloring, 6 small apples.

Combine ingredients, heat and stir constantly until mixture begins to boil. Cook until syrup is brittle in cold water. Remove from heat and set over pan of hot water. Wash and dry apples, insert skewer in the stem end of each. Holding apple by the skewer, dip

A PUNCH BOWL AND MATCHING MUGS full of steaming eggnog is the center of attraction for callers at "between-holidays" parties. it quickly into the hot syrup. Draw it out quickly and twirl it until syrup is spread over the apple. Place it upright to dry in a rack which will keep the apples from touching.

And of course for the older group you'll serve eggnog. This recipe is light enough so you could serve little sandwiches to go with it.

Four eggs, 1-4 cup of sugar, one quart of milk, one teaspoon of vanilla.

Beat egg whites until they are stiff. Beat egg yolks, add sugar and milk and beat until well blended. Add flavoring and fold in egg whites. Sprinkle with nutmeg. This will serve eight or ten. You can substitute heavy cream for part of the milk for a richer eggnog by whipping it separately and folding in with the beaten egg whites.

Iowa City Construction Permits Total $1,414,000 in 1949

Iowa Citizens apparently are planning to have themselves and their cars well housed in the future.

Figures released by the city engineer's office show building permits granted in 1949 total $1,414,000 of which $997,000 was for homes and garages, or the remodeling of them.

The figures do not include SUI's new $1.5-million library section, or the $8.5-million veterans hospital.

Federal and state buildings do not require local permits, City Engineer Fred E. Gartzke said. The most expensive home for which a permit was issued was a $25,000 one for Charles E. Mott, 420 W. Park road.

A permit for one Lustron prefabricated house was issued to Roland H. Smith, 518 Garden street.

About half of the residence permits granted also listed garages, and enough other garage permits were granted to provide all other new homes with a garage.

Yunker Bros. Inc. who bought Yetter's department store and also purchased the two adjoining buildings, was issued a permit for a $283,000 remodeling of their buildings.

Other permits issued for large expenditures include one for $30,000 to C.O.D. Cleaners for a new building at 324 S. Madison street, and $15,000 for extension of the First National bank.

Averages for 1949 were about the same as the two previous years, but were way above any year in the 1930's, or any of the war years," Gartzke said.

He said building probably will continue at about the present rate for the next one or two years."

Councilmen's Guide Published by League

Publication of a guide for city and town councilmen has been announced by the League of Iowa Municipalities and the SUI Institute of Public Affairs.

"A Handbook for Iowa Councilmen" was written by Prof. Russell M. Ross of the SUI political science department and Max A. Conrad, executive secretary-treasurer of the league. The handbooks will be available without charge to all councilmen in Iowa.

Prof. Robert F. Ray, director of the institute, stated that "the booklet contains not only references to sections of the Iowa code that pertain to the office of councilman, but also contains useful information concerning the duties and powers of the councils and related government agencies."

Copies of the handbook have been mailed to the clerks of each municipality to be given to the councilmen. The authors suggest that the booklets be returned to the city clerk by retiring councilmen so that men coming into office may use them as they become acquainted with their duties.

County Seal Sales Total Nears $7,000

Johnson county's 1949 Christmas seal sales total Wednesday was about $6,800, Chairman James H. Schmidt said.

Included in the total was about $6,000 from seal sales and approximately $775 from Christmas seal bonds.

Schmidt said the final total will probably be at least $7,500, although the local organization's goal for this year is $8,000.

Last year's seal sales total at this time was $5,200. Schmidt said the greater response to this year's drive may be due to the addition of the American Heart association to the campaign.

Speech Group Picks Johnson President

Prof. Wendell Johnson of the SUI speech clinic became president Wednesday of the American Speech and Hearing association at the annual anniversary meeting of the association in Chicago.

He has been chairman of the foundations committee of the association for six years. The committee sets up a national society for crippled children and adults which promotes research and training (scholarships).

Johnson was selected president-elect at the meeting of the association last year. He succeeds Prof. D. W. Morris of Southern Illinois university.

While at the meeting Johnson will participate in a panel discussion dealing with stuttering and will present a paper on the "psychotherapeutic significance and limitation of symptomatic approaches to stuttering."

Other members of the SUI speech science faculty to participate in the program are Profs. James F. Curtis, D. Caryl Spriestersbach and Jacqueline Keaster, speech clinic, and Russell Meyers, chairman of the division of neurosurgery at University hospitals.

Mayor Koser To Cooperate If Fuel Short

Iowa City's Mayor Preston Koser Wednesday night had not yet received Gov. William S. Beardsley's official communication regarding the spreading of fuel supplies in this area.

The Associated Press reported Wednesday that Beardsley had sent letters to mayors of the state requesting "a preparation for spreading fuel supplies to prevent a possible Iowa coal crisis."

Koser said he would investigate Iowa City's coal supply and indicated he would cooperate in spreading fuel supplies if it became necessary.

In letters to mayors of Iowa cities and towns, Beardsley said fuel conditions are not yet critical, but he urged safeguard measures to deal with any emergency which might arise.

Rodney Q. Shelby, director of the Iowa development commission, was named by Beardsley to aid local organizations in distributing coal supplies.

If coal supplies become low, Beardsley asked the mayors to contact Shelby, who will help communities in need to get additional fuel.

'Complete Surprise,' Says Clerk Of 'Most Courteous' Award

A "complete surprise" is what W. L. McArthur termed the $50 cash award he received Christmas Eve for being chosen Iowa City's most courteous clerk.

McArthur, who lives with his wife and five-year-old daughter at 833 Seventh avenue, is manager and buyer for the men's furnishings and sportswear department at Bremers.

He was nominated for the honor by Marilee Born, 20 N. VanBuren street. Miss Born's letter naming McArthur as the most courteous clerk was chosen from among 50 letters submitted by Christmas shoppers in Iowa City stores. Miss Born received a $25 award.

The contest, endorsed by the Iowa City chamber of commerce and sponsored by radio station KXIC, for the second consecutive year, ran throughout the Christmas shopping season.

Judges of the contest were Roland M. Smith, chamber of commerce president and judging chairman; Wayne Putnam Jr., past president of the junior chamber of commerce; Harry Wolf, chairman of the chamber's retail division, and Mayor Preston Koser. McArthur, who has been an

Appeals Court Refuses Review on Iowa Dam

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The eighth U.S. appeals court Wednesday refused to review a federal power commission order licensing a power dam on the Cedar river at Moscow, Iowa.

Several months ago the United States supreme court had upheld FPC authority to issue a license for the $25-million project.

Social Security Taxes to Increase in 1950

When your employer deducts 1-2 cents from each dollar of your first 1950 pay check, don't question his arithmetic.

According to the collector of internal revenue, the social security tax rate will be 1-2 percent on gross wages up to $3,000 starting Jan. 1, effective during 1950 and 1951.

The employe tax increase will be matched by an increase in the employer's contribution.

The original Social Security act of 1935 and its amendments of 1939 provided for a tax increase of one-half of one percent at three year intervals, to reach a maximum of 3 percent on Jan. 1, 1949.

Congress, however, amended the statute before each scheduled increase, maintaining the 1 percent rate. Congressional action in 1947 resulted in the present increase.

The rate of increase of the tax beginning Jan. 1, 1950, does not indicate any changes in the law providing for the payment of benefits.

Amendments to the Social Security act passed by the house of representatives this fall cannot be considered by the senate until

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WAY BACK in the days when Artie Shaw was married to Lana Turner, Irving Hoffman remembers a day when Shaw became embroiled with his oboe player at a rehearsal and fired him. At that very moment, Lana stamped in, and while the entire orchestra gaped, told a reporter in no uncertain terms that she was about to seek a divorce.

When she had gone, the orchestra sat in embarrassed silence until the first violinist finally said, "We all feel pretty badly about this, Artie." Shaw sighed gently and said, "It won't be so bad. I know a terrific oboe player in Boston I'm sure we can get."

A New Zealand newspaper carried the story of an elderly lady in Auckland who received $750 insurance when her diamond brooch disappeared. Some time later the brooch turned up in a bureau drawer, and the lady wrote to the insurance company: "It didn't seem fair to keep your $750 under the circumstances, so I've given it to the Red Cross. Do not bother to acknowledge this note."
