ICC Spokesman Forecasts Cut Of 25 Percent in Train Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — An emergency reduction of "at least 25 percent" in the nation's coal burning passenger train service was authoritatively forecast Tuesday night.

Chairman J. Monroe Johnson of the interstate commerce commission told newsmen that such an order—designed to offset the growing coal shortage—may be issued at 3 p.m. today.

He said it would probably become effective next Sunday.

Coal stocks have been dwindling because of the three-day week ordered by John L. Lewis.

Speaks for Self

Although emphasizing that he spoke only for himself, Johnson said the ICC will take up the problem the first thing this morning. The commission has already discussed it, he said.

Johnson's disclosure came as an estimated 16,000 members of Lewis' United Mine Workers union in Illinois were reported idle in a mystery strike. The miners' state president ordered them back to work next Monday after the men refused, for unannounced reasons, to dig coal Tuesday.

The walkout shut down 48 big mines and further complicated the coal supply picture. Chicago coal merchants called the situation serious.

Strike Rumors

In other states, most of the nation's 480,000 miners had returned to work after the New Year holiday, despite rumors that a new country-wide strike is imminent.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb.) telephoned President Truman to take a "courageous stand" in the coal shortage "against this camouflaged strike" called by John L. Lewis."

Mr. Truman has said repeatedly he would not invoke emergency measures, such as a resort to the 80-day injunction of the Taft-Hartley law, unless a genuine emergency arises.

Congressman Asks Payroll Investigation

Indict Maragon For Perjury

WASHINGTON (AP) — An investigation to find out the extent of salary kickbacks and payroll padding in congress was proposed Tuesday by Rep. Usher Burdick (D-N.D.).

Burdick introduced a resolution to create a senate-house committee to do the investigating.

J. Parnell Thomas, formerly a Republican house member from New Jersey, is in jail now for operating a kickback racket that cheated the government out of thousands of dollars.

Burdick's resolution said that:

"The illegal acts of few members of congress as to the abuse of payroll privileges have caused the people, in many places, to believe that there is dishonesty generally among members of congress."

"And, such beliefs on the part of the people have caused not only disrespect for that body, but have weakened the people's faith in their government."

Gillette to Continue Opposing Switzer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Guy M. Gillette, (D-Iowa) Tuesday said he would continue to oppose the nomination of Carroll Switzer, Des Moines attorney, as federal judge of the southern Iowa district.

Switzer was given an interim appointment to the bench by President Truman after the senate failed to act on his nomination before it recessed last summer.

Gillette opposed the Switzer nomination when the name was sent to the senate. The judiciary committee did not act on the nomination and it never was approved by the senate.

Congressmen Urge Federal Spending Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 81st congress returned to Capitol Hill for its second session Tuesday and immediately a clamor arose for curbs on red-link spending.

A number of Republicans and Democrats alike joined in the cry for creation of a special GOP "price tag committee" to keep a public watch on President Truman's fair deal spending.

Chairman Robert Doughton (D-N.C.) of the tax-writing house ways and means committee told newsmen:

Zero Weather Grips Iowa City; Traffic Slowed by Sleet, Snow

Winter got its icy foot in Iowa's door Tuesday and quickly dispelled any hopes that January's weather conditions would match the spring-like days of December.

A wild blizzard in the northwest part of the state Tuesday blanketed that section with its first real snow of the winter, while the Iowa City area was undergoing a freezing rain which was making walking and driving hazardous.

The blizzard was sweeping southward and is expected to hit Iowa City today but some snow arrived Tuesday.

Falling temperatures accompanied the snow and were forecast to go near zero here this morning after 20 miles an hour winds had pushed the mercury down to a low of 10 degrees late Tuesday afternoon.

Precipitation in the form of rain and snow flurries here amounted to about one-half inch late Tuesday, according to CAA weather station officials.

Snow fell all morning in the north and west parts of the state with Sioux City reporting a two inch fall and drifts amounting to nearly six inches at the airport.

Many SUI students reported delays in getting back to classes because of road conditions. Trains were running behind schedule but officials said this was mostly due to the number of students returning rather than to the stormy weather.

At Sioux City the Northwestern Bell Telephone company said Tuesday morning that 54 long distance circuits into that city had been put out of service by the storm.

Phone officials here said that they had experienced no trouble with long distance circuits and only occasional trouble with local phones. However, they feared the ice and sleet might break down lines Tuesday night.

The State Highway patrol warned motorists of slippery roads throughout the state and urged extreme caution in driving.

Iowa City streets were caked with ice Tuesday and hills were especially slippery. Autos were proceeding at a slow pace and pedestrians were taking frequent spills.

Behind Schedule

Transportation into Iowa City was running slightly behind schedule Tuesday. Bus Depot Agent Phil Spelman reported buses about one half hour behind time in returning SUI students to town after their Christmas recess.

Nineteen extra buses were added to the regular runs to accommodate the rush of returning stu-

U.S. Directive Says Fall Of Formosa 'Anticipated'

TOKYO (Wednesday) (UP) — The U.S. state department has issued a directive saying that the fall of Formosa is "widely anticipated," it was learned today.

The document said "false impressions" of the island's military value should be countered.

The directive, dated Dec. 23, was prepared by the state department's public affairs policy advisory staff.

Addressed to state department personnel and made available also to officials of some other government departments, the directive says:

1. There are pro-Chinese Nationalists, chiefly in the United States, who "considered Formosa a redoubt" in which the Chinese Nationalist government could survive, and who "tend to create an impression that the U.S. is delinquent if it fails to 'save' Formosa. This is due largely to a 'mistaken popular conception of its strategic importance to U.S. defense in the Pacific.'
2. . . . "There has been an insistent demand from a few sources for military action by the U.S., but it has not assumed significant proportions."

Wants Paper...

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) demanded Tuesday the state department hand over to congress a secret document advising American diplomatic officials to prepare for the fall of Formosa to the Chinese Communists.

Existence of the document — first reported from Tokyo — was confirmed here as the state department disclosed the Chinese Nationalist government had formally appealed to the United States on Dec. 23 for "real" military and economic aid to help defend Formosa.

DRAKE OFFICIAL QUIT

DES MOINES (UP) — Merrill Barlow, business manager of Drake university, resigned Tuesday to accept a similar position with the National Conference of Christians and Jews in New York City.

Claim Ceilings Help to Check Wage Demands

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman Tuesday asked congressional housing leaders to extend rent controls another year and thus remove one of the reasons for a new round of wage demands by organized labor.

He also urged early action on legislation to provide more credit for homes for middle income families.

40-Minute Conference

The President gave his views during a 40-minute conference with Sen. Burnet P. Maybank (D-S.C.) and Rep. Brent Spence (D-Ky.), chairman, respectively, of the senate and house banking committees, and Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), chairman of a senate banking subcommittee on housing.

Spence said afterward he believes the nation needs continuation of rent control where it is most needed, but not on a general basis. He said he expects the administration's bill to be available in a few days.

Mr. Truman handed the lawmakers a three-page memorandum which said a survey of six typical cities showed their rent increases of 13.8 to 41.3 percent were imposed after ceilings were lifted.

Cut Purchasing Power

Asserting that expiration of controls on schedule, June 30 would mean "similar or larger increases," he said such a result would cut the purchasing power of more than 10-million families.

This, he added "would have a depressing effect on employment and purchasing power, not only in agricultural areas throughout the nation."

As a result, he said, "many groups of organized labor, in order to offset the resulting decline in their standard of living, would undoubtedly demand wage increases, thereby increasing costs and threatening price increases in many lines."

While Sparkman has predicted congress will refuse to renew rent ceilings, Mr. Truman said the "outlook is that rent control will still be necessary on a national scale after June, 1950."

President Appoints Olds to New Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Tuesday created a temporary water resources policy commission and named Leland Olds as a member of it.

Olds is the former federal power commissioner whose reappointment to the FPC was rejected by the senate at the last session of congress. Senator critics of Olds called him a radical.

The new water resources commission has seven members and is to study and make recommendations on federal laws and policies concerning water resources.

President Truman chose Morris L. Cooke, Philadelphia engineer, as chairman of the group.

Other members are President R.R. Renne of Montana State college; Lewis W. Jones, president of the University of Arkansas; Gilbert White, president of Haverford college; Samuel B. Morris of the Los Angeles department of water and power, and Paul S. Burgess, dean of the University of Arizona's college of agriculture.

Lafayette Rejects $140,000 Donation

NEW YORK (AP) — Lafayette college's board of trustees Tuesday turned down $140,000 — because there was a "no Jews, no Catholics" string attached.

The money was willed to the Easton, Pa., college by Frederick F. DuMont, a Lafayette alumnus and veteran in the U.S. consular service.

DuMont had specified that the money could be used at the discretion of the college president, Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison. But, the will added, if any money were used for scholarships, they should not go to Jews or Catholics.

Steps Into Strange New Country —

President Truman will sound the gun today for the second half of one of the most hectic sessions of congress in history when he delivers his annual "state of the union" address.

Most of his message will consist of leftovers pulled from the pantry of the first session — left-over that a cautious congress found a little hard to digest.

Truman is expected to ask for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, enactment of compulsory health insurance and passage of the Brannan farm plan. Other "fair deal" requests will round out the package.

He may also beat a few storming congressmen to the punch and ask for a cut in excise taxes since such a move has been in the cards for a long time. This would be an effort to gain revenue to compensate for last year's $5-billion deficit.

What could have developed into one of the biggest fiascos in history turned out fairly well when, in the last few days, the congress passed a whole batch of legislation.

The move planted Truman and the congress in the public eye as demonstrated by the Democratic success in the off-year elections.

However, a look at the accomplishments of the last session shows that it was mostly non-controversial legislation that was added to the books.

The Saga of Piotr: a Study in Philosophy —

Piotr A. Pirgov presses pants in a Brooklyn (New York) tailor shop. He was formerly with the Russian airforce as a flying lieutenant. But what is most germane to the case of Piotr A. Pirgov is what he tells Americans in an article in the current issue of Look magazine.

Pirogov allegedly reveals why his famous companion, Anton Barsov, left America to return to Russia at his own request after several months of the freedom Americans enjoy.

Barsov, Pirogov claims, feared the freedom which Americans have learned to love and live with. Barsov never learned to think for himself in the short time he spent in this country, Pirogov declares.

He missed the government doing his thinking for him, telling him where to work, what to say, how to pray or not to pray. In short, Barsov was lost to America before had had a chance to learn our ways, much less our culture.

Pirogov recalls his first days in this country and tells how frightened he was of the teeming metropolitan New York streets, where no one knew or cared who his neighbor was or what he was like.

Pirogov says he's still like that today. He fails to draw any conclusion satisfactory to the reader from his homily. Instead he leaves the reader with a feeling that here perhaps is the real source of misunderstanding between the Soviet Union and the United States.

It is perhaps this conception of government doing the thinking in Russia versus the individual doing the thinking in America that has kept us from being able to resolve the differences in opinion on international control of atomic energy.

81st Congress in Review —

(House Majority Leader John McCormack (D-Mass.) has summarized the accomplishments of the first session of the 81st congress. Some of his remarks to the congress are reprinted below.)

When the 81st congress convened nearly 10 months ago we faced an accumulation of postwar problems both at home and abroad and the grave threat of a new aggression to the peace of the world.

The terror of communism, already entrenched in the east, stalked an almost helpless western Europe then taking its first halting steps toward mutual cooperation and recovery under the Marshall plan. Our defensive military policy, with the armed service geared to demobilization, had not been fully developed.

Now (at adjournment time) the house of representatives can be proud that it has made a notable contribution toward promotion of peace in the world, toward maintenance of our armed security, and the improvement of the general welfare and prosperity of our people at home.

It is clear that friendly nations, stricken economically, unable to participate in normal trade relations, and weak psychologically and militarily would be easy targets for purveyors of communism. So, we have helped to bolster their morale, to stabilize their economy, and to strengthen their arms.

The congress made a start on legislation to give technical aid to underdeveloped countries and to guarantee American investments abroad in line with President Truman's bold new program, known as point four.

A great forward step in the restoration of the free flow of world commerce was the enactment of the reciprocal trade agreements act. Crippling restrictions that had been imposed by the 80th congress were removed.

The congress has further facilitated world recovery by passage of a law authorizing member banks of the federal reserve system to deal in the securities of the international bank for reconstruction and development.

Our representation in the United Nations has been strengthened by a law, revising the UN participation act, authorizing appointment of a deputy United States representative, fixing the salaries of our delegations at higher scale and giving them ambassadorial rank.

The use of United States contributions to the international children's emergency fund was minimum wages, federal employees' salaries, necessary housing and the like aroused very few people.

This session the picture will be a little different. A persevering request for civil rights legislation will see the south turning an energetic thumbs down.

Compulsory health insurance will be met head-on by the powerful medical profession, most Republicans and many conservative Democrats.

The Brannan plan will jeopardize the farm vote if it should receive serious consideration. (The National Grange and the Farm Bureau have sharpened their swords for a fight against the plan.)

Legislation that the President is expected to propose is largely untried and represents steps into strange new country. Most of the legislation of the last session did not depart far from the procedure of the past.

If Truman can skillfully play both ends against the middle and emerge from the second session of the 81st congress with a record comparable to that of the first act, he will have done one of the most skillful jobs of quarterbacking in history.

Right now, it looks like he's up against a pretty tough team—drawn from a good many special interest groups.

Period of Simplicity —

Early American Furniture Filled Many Needs

For Simple Living

Early American is a fine choice for simple, uncomplicated living. Early American goes well with modern furniture too, because of its direct and simple design. It has charm that lends itself to an unpretentious basement or attic apartment, a farmhouse, or a town home.

Stark is the word for the background colors of this period. White was popular for walls and black for ironwork. To put life into their homes, settlers used clear, natural dyes for their homespun wools and cottons. They made their red from poke berries, their blue from indigo, and their yellow from saffron. They also used bright, braided rugs and paintings that looked gay and even gaudy.

Points of recognition in Early American furnishings are the iron, of woodenware, or of pewter. Early American could open new interest in the art of collecting and effective home decoration.

Competition Opens For 3 Fellowships At Fashion School

SUI senior women who will graduate before Aug. 20, 1950, may register for the 12th annual nationwide competition for three fashion fellowships at the Coburn school for fashion careers in New York City.

Helen Focht, SUI counselor to women students, said Tuesday registration blanks for the fellowship competition are obtainable at the University Women's Association desk in room 111 University hall.

Registration must be completed before Jan. 31. The fellowships to be awarded include payment of the full tuition fee of $900 for the year 1950-51 and each winner also will select a hat from the fall collections of Sally Victor or Christian Dior.

The one year course at the school emphasizes actual contact with the fashion industry through lectures by fashion experts; visits to manufacturers, department stores, fashion shows and museums, and periodic working experience with pay in stores and other fashion organizations.

Professor to Attend Washington Meeting

Prof. Wendell Johnson, director of the speech clinic at SUI, will join with other educators and specialists today in Washington, D.C., to review legislation and facilities for handicapped children.

The conference, which will close Friday, was called by U.S. Commissioner of Education Earl J. McGrath, former SUI dean of the college of liberal arts.

Johnson became president of the American Speech and Hearing Association at the organization's recent annual convention in Chicago.

He was editor of the Journal of Speech and Hearing Disorders from 1943 through 1943.

Since 1946, Johnson has served as chairman of the foundation's committee which established the National Speech Corrections Fund.

Honorary Cadet Colonel To Be Selected Tonight

An honorary cadet colonel and four honorary cadet lieutenants will be selected today at 7:30 p.m. when advanced ROTC students meet in the Iowa Union river room to vote for their candidates in a field that has narrowed from 22 to 10 finalists.

The colonel and her attendants who will represent the ROTC's four battalions will be named at the 48th SUI military ball in the Union Feb. 17.

The names and photographs of 22 women representing 19 housing units were submitted to a non-ROTC faculty committee of six. This committee then selected 10 from this list to be represented in the final balloting to-night.

Military department officials said the women were selected on the basis of being outstanding both scholastically and in extracurricular activities. Outstanding personality and beauty are other factors in their selection.

One candidate, Jean Gordon, A4, Moline, Ill., narrowly squeezed by on the final qualification.

A cadet colonel candidate must be a senior and single. Jean is a senior, but will be married in June.

Former Student's Suicide, Cage Wins Feature Vacation News

Chinese Here Get Red Offer; President Hancher Visits India

Only a few SUI students stayed in Iowa City over the vacation but the situation here was not completely quiet during the holiday period.

Iowa's basketball team marked up six straight wins for a perfect record during vacation.

The scores: Iowa 97, Western Reserve 57; Iowa 64, Notre Dame 62; Iowa 73, Carnegie Tech 42; Iowa 81, Oregon 54; Iowa 70, Oregon 69 (overtime) and Iowa 62, Utah State 58.

SUI took its 45th consecutive home victory over non-conference foes from Utah State here Monday night.

A 21-year-old former SUI student, James R. Bershee, St. Louis, committed suicide Dec. 23 by leaping from the Iowa Avenue bridge.

The body was recovered from the ice-filled Iowa river about four hours later. Reason for the suicide was given as "despondency" by County Coroner George Calahan.

Observers said Bershee apparently failed to break completely through the ice in his leap, dragged himself to an open place in the ice and pulled himself into the water.

Bershee was a student at SUI in the academic year 1946-47.

Lyle Budd, 26, Iowa City, pleaded not guilty Dec. 16 when he was arraigned on charges that he forged a check here last summer.

Budd had pleaded guilty, but changed his plea to innocent when Judge Harold D. Evans told him that the guilty plea might mean up to 10 years at Ft. Madison.

"Ten years for a check like that," Budd said, "is a long, long time."

Iowa City motorists got a Christmas gift from the police department over the Christmas weekend. Parking meter violations were disregarded during that period.

Winter snows came and they meant both work and play for Iowa Citizens.

Seven hills in town were barreled for the use of children's sleds. Meanwhile, police warned householders that it was a misdemeanor in Iowa City to leave snow on the walks longer than 10 hours.

Best dressed holiday home in affairs, announced Dec. 24. All courses except those in the colleges of medicine, pharmacy, dentistry and nursing will be open to the DP's, Goetsch said.

If you received a few extra semester hours for your graduation requirements by skipping pre-holiday or post-holiday classes, you weren't alone.

SUI officials say that about 450 hours — more than enough for three B.A. degrees — are added in this way annually to students' graduating requirements.

The Iowa City police announced that 1949 fines totaled $1,256 less than in 1948.

The total for parking and traffic violations and bond forfeitures still ran to over $25,000.

Federal rent controls were lifted from all parts of Johnson county except Iowa City, University Heights and Coralville on Dec. 20.

T.J. Wilkinson, Cedar Rapids area rent director, said the de-control order affects about 500 rental units in rural and community areas in the county. In the Iowa City area, he added, 5,000 units remain under control.

The SUI Alumni association drive for membership has resulted in more than 1,000 new members since Sept. 26. Executive Secretary Loren Hickerson announced.

Nineteen Hawkeye swimming team members spent most of their Christmas vacation in Florida, combining business and pleasure.

The trip, which included a swimming forum at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and the Christmas Day East - West aquatic meet, was sponsored by the SUI Dolphin club.

Robert Bednasek, being held following the death of Margaret Ann Jackson here Dec. 11, observed Christmas day quietly in his cell.

County Attorney Jack C. White said that several district court cases in January would prevent him from presenting the case to the grand jury before the new term of court begins on Feb. 6.

Dr. Eddie Anderson, SUI football coach, said he "knew nothing about" reports that he had signed a contract to coach at Holy Cross, for $15,000 a year. The story, printed in the New York Post, was also promptly denied by the Holy Cross athletic director, Eugene Flynn.

A limited number of displaced persons in Iowa will be granted SUI scholarships next year, Walter R. Goetsch, dean of student half-time of the Blackhawks-Syracuse game in Moline Dec. 21, fans presented the red-haired catcher and his wife with a silver-service set, a radio and a fur scarf, along with other gifts.

Wier's current average of 9.6 points per game is third high on the Blackhawks squad. This is his second season in professional basketball.

Ira Hall Jr. was angry when he called police the day after Christmas.

Hall, one of the six men licensed by the mayor to "pick-up" the city dump, complained "some Cedar Rapids people are beating me to the choice pickings."

Police found none of the "rival mob" at the dump when they investigated.

The Iowa City council gave instructions Dec. 27 for the issuance of $67,542.85 in city bonds for paving recently completed here.

Prof. C. Lothrop Smith, SUI chemistry department, died Dec. 26 in Mercy hospital after several months' illness.

He had been a teacher at SUI since 1931, except for a period during the war when he was connected with government atomic bomb research.

Vandals who apparently preferred to steal Christmas trees than buy them cut down several ornamental trees grown by Iowa citizens.

Sam Whiting, 810 Whiting avenue, said that he has lost 30 or 35 trees in the same way over the last four years.

Another owner complained, "I carried water, two pails at a time to the trees during the summer months, and it didn't do much good because now all the trees are gone."

Murray Wier, the crowd-pleasing former SUI all-American basketball player, is popular with the followers of the Tri-City Blackhawks, for whom he plays guard.

Prof. Wendell Johnson, SUI speech clinic, became president Dec. 29 of the American Speech and Hearing Association at the group's silver anniversary meeting in Chicago.

Prof. F. M. Dawson, dean of the college of engineering, was recommended by State Democratic Chairman Jake More for appointment to the West Point academy "board of visitors."

More said he understood that the board was a sort of supervisory body which periodically inspects the military academy. Board members are appointed by the President.

Plans for final examinations beginning Jan. 28 were completed Dec. 22, SUI Examination Service Director Robert L. Ebel said.

He added that papers marked with more than one mark to a question would be automatically graded down by machine scorers.

Heretofore, he said, poorly marked papers were re-scored separately, thus giving some students an advantage.

SUI's globe-trotting president,

Virgil M. Hancher, sent a series of letters to acquaintances in Iowa City describing Oxford, England and other points of interest in his travels.

Iowa Young Democrats passed a resolution Dec. 21 at a City Hall meeting condemning the state G.O.P. for "refusing to pass legislation to make available federal funds for housing which would permit 10,000 families in Iowa to have decent homes."

Iowa City Fire Chief Al Dolenz warned householders that December, January and February were the most dangerous months for home fires.

Fire destroyed a building owned by Prof. Dean M. Lierle, SUI college of medicine, early on the evening of Dec. 21.

The blaze destroyed some antiques and old china stored in the building, Mrs. Lierle said.

The Communist radio in Peiping, China, Dec. 28 invited all Chinese abroad, including students, to return to Communist China.

Among SUI Chinese students reaction to the news was varied.

Bei-Wei (Bill) Cheng, G. said, "My chief interest is working for the people of China. If the Chinese Communists prove to be working for the people, then I will go back."

Iowa City Mayor Preston K. Iowa City situation became critical.

Oscar Anderson, once charged with assault with intent to commit murder after a near-fatal shooting in an Iowa City car in the summer of 1948, will probably be tried here on that charge.

The coal miners' three-day work week came home to Iowa City Dec. 28, when local dealers reported only two weeks' supply left in their yards.

Iowa City Mayor Preston K. Iowa City situation became critical.

The 59-year-old former steam-jack has been held in the Anamosa men's reformatory since he was found insane by a jury in October, 1948. Anderson was released.

Dr. R. H. Flocks, head of the SUI department of urology, was elected president of the Iowa Urological society Dec. 17, at a meeting held at University hospitals.

Sixty-one faculty members attended out-of-town conferences over the two-week Christmas vacation. One of the biggest was the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting in New York, Dec. 26 to 31.

SUI's college of pharmacy has been given the professional library of its first dean, Emil L. Boerner, who founded Boerner's Pharmacy on Clinton street.

The donor, according to the announcement by Dean R.A. Kuever, was Emil Boerner's son, Fred Boerner.

Iowa City could probably reduce its expenditures over a period of years if it used the council-manager type of city government, Prof. Russell Ross, SUI political science department, told the city council Dec. 27.

He listed a number of advantages and disadvantages which the manager-council plan would have here.

According to the collector of internal revenue, the social security tax rate will be 1 1/2 percent on gross wages up to $3,000 starting Jan. 1, 1950.

This represents an increase of 1/2 percent over the rate which has been in effect for several years.

Names of 155 SUI faculty members are featured in the latest edition of "American Men of Science," authoritative biographical record of top American scientists.

SUI married students seeking assignments to barracks apartments got a New Year's present from the university Saturday when eight new apartments were opened.

Fourteen other apartments will be opened sometime between Jan. 7 and 14, according to J. Robert Cotter, manager of married student housing. Assignments are to be made as soon as possible after the apartments are opened.

Johnson county officials warned motorists that 30 persons were convicted of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated during 1949. The number was two more than 1948's total.

Mid-winter commencement exercises will be held at 1:45 p.m. on Feb. 4. SUI officials announced Dec. 30. No vacation is scheduled between semesters.

The Oakdale sanitorium will be expanded to include a two-story, 66-bed addition, according to Dr. William M. Spear, superintendent.

The new addition, Spear said, would raise the building program at the sanitorium to over the $1-million mark.

A new record was set by Iowa City's 1949 Christmas mail rush, stolen Dec. 29 from a warehouse Postmaster Walter J. Barrow said.

Number of pieces of mail cancelled during this year's season totaled over 750,000, Barrow said.

This was an increase of 50,000 pieces over last year's mark.

An estimated $15,000 worth of raw mink and muskrat furs were stolen Dec. 29 from a warehouse four miles south of Kalona on Highway 1.

Bernard D. Duva, owner of the furs, offered a reward of $500 to $1,000 for information leading to return of the furs.

Iowa City high's Little Hawks drubbed Dubuque, 57-40, Dec. 16; but lost to Davenport, 53-42, six days later. Monday they trounced Ft. Madison, 56-38, for their sixth victory of the season.

Director Helen Barnes said Tuesday further information is available at her office.

She said Allied Youth, an organization with headquarters in Washington, D.C., which works with schools in a program of alcohol education and alcohol-free recreation, is interested in field staff men, preferably between the ages of 27 and 37.

Applicants for field positions with Allied Youth should be qualified public speakers and have some aptitude for public relations promotion.

The office has been requested to make recommendations for a woman student graduating with a major in English and a minor in chemistry who is capable of being an assistant to the editor of a scientific magazine. Any interested SUI women should contact the office, she said.

Job opportunities with the YWCA are open in many sections of the country for women interested in work with teen-age girls and boys, employed girls and women, and in the field of health and physical education.

These positions require a college degree with study in social science, religion, education and the arts.

For work in health education, a major in physical and health education is required.

Experience in teaching, social group work, recreation and community organization is valuable.

Iowa Polio Cases Near 1948 Record

DES MOINES (AP) — The state department of health Tuesday said there were at least 1,217 cases of polio in Iowa during 1949 — a drop of only 19 cases from the record total of 1948.

However, there were more cases reported during the month of August, 1949, than during any single month of 1948 — a total of 409.

The greatest number reported in one month in 1948 was 361 in October.

Iowa Stops Utah State, 62-58; Prepares For Conference Slate

By ALAN MOYER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

The last preview to the Big Ten basketball race, a 62-58 Iowa victory over Utah State Monday night gave the Hawks eight wins out of nine non-league starts but caused Coach Pops Harrison to discount his club as a "big threat," at least for the time being.

For most of the second half, 5,428 fans watched Utah State maintain a slim but persistent lead. With poor shooting and a noticeable lack of aggressiveness it appeared the Hawks were in for their first beating in the fieldhouse against a non-conference foe in eight years.

Since Kansas university visited Iowa City in 1942 Iowa has downed 45 out-of-the-conference invaders. The only setback Iowa has suffered this season came at the hands of Lawrence Tech, in Detroit, 54-49.

Clifton Supplies Spark

Monday night it was Bob Clifton who finally got Iowa into the lead. With seven minutes, 44 seconds left to play the sophomore guard tallied on a driving lay-up and gave the Hawks a 50-49 edge.

It was the first time Iowa had been in front since the opening seconds of the second half. The Hawks led, 29-27, at halftime.

Once in front, Iowa kept its lead, treating the spectators to the kind of basketball the Hawks have displayed in pulling close contests out of the winter. Frank Calsbeek led all scorers with 22 points, while Forward Bob Vollers added 18 and Clifton 13. Calsbeek kept the Hawks within hailing distance in the final half by hitting from his pivot position.

Vollers Hits 18

Vollers did his scoring on his push shot from the side and by tapping in shots teammates had missed.

Ken Berrett and LaDell Anderson led the Utah scoring.

Berrett, a dead-eye forward made 16 points while Anderson, a guard, added 14 to the westerners' cause.

Harrison said Tuesday that he has been pleased with the manner in which the Hawks "stick in there" during the close ball games but warned that "we have a long way to go."

He added that he hoped to have the team ready for the conference opener against Michigan Saturday. However, before Tuesday's practice session began Harrison said he didn't think the team was "ready" for a Big Ten opening.

Both Fire 77 Times

Both Iowa and Utah State took 77 shots and each connected on 23 of the attempts. It figures out to slightly under 30 percent, three percentage points under Iowa's nine-game average but a like number of percentage points over the average by all opponents.

the Hawks, Harrison has a growing concern for the reserve situation. He says there are times when he will need more height at the forwards, when a regular needs relief.

He may use Calsbeek as a forward at times, inserting 6-foot, 8-inch Chuck Darling at center. That switch worked well at Madison, Wis., last week, helping Iowa win an overtime battle with Oregon, 70-69.

Heavyweight Junebug Perrin has been lost to the wrestling team indefinitely as the result of a gunshot wound suffered in his home in Cherokee.

The 200-pound junior, a varsity guard on the '49 football team, was preparing to leave for Iowa City Monday afternoon when his rifle fell to the floor and fired as he opened the refrigerator. The bullet tore through his right knee but did not touch the bone.

Perrin, a letter-winner last season, had been competing at Michigan Normal college here.

The conference probably will be composed of nine schools, all of them teachers colleges.

Ryneurson said there would be a meeting Jan. 15 in Chicago to establish the conference formally. Its name has not been announced.

Schools which have shown interest in the loop are Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Ind.; Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute; Northern Illinois Teachers College, DeKalb; Southern Illinois State Normal University, Carbondale, Ill.; Western Illinois State Normal College, Macomb, Ill.; Illinois State Normal College, Normal, Ill.; Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, Charleston, Ill.; Central Michigan College, Mt. Pleasant, Mich., and Michigan Normal.

Iowa opens the wrestling season Jan. 16 here, against Wisconsin.

'Bowl' Award To Morrison

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fred Morrison, hard-running Ohio State fullback, was the most valuable player in the 1950 Rose Bowl game, according to a poll of the Los Angeles chapter of the football writers association.

"There isn't a back in the country with more 'moxy' than Morrison," Coach Jeff Cravath of the University of Southern California told the writers after the voting.

Coach Jimmy Phelan of the Los Angeles Dons said Morrison was better than any back on the Pacific coast.

Morrison polled 38 of the 48 votes cast. Runner-up was Ohio State Center Jack Lininger with five. Ohio State Tackle Bill Trautwein and End Jim Hague, who kicked the winning field goal, got one vote apiece as did Bob Celeri, Jim Monachino and Les Righter of California.

The selection of Button marked the first time in its 20-year history that the coveted amateur trophy ever was awarded to a winter-sport athlete.

Now at Harvard

Button, now a sophomore at Harvard, received 134 first place votes in the Amateur Athletic Union's nationwide poll of 426 sports authorities. He received 947 points out of a possible 2,130 on the basis of five points for each first place vote, three for second and one for third.

The award is made annually to

"the amateur athlete who, by performance, example and good influence, did the most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship

during the year."

Verdeur Second

Runner-up in the balloting was

Joe Verdeur of Philadelphia, regarded as the world's leading all-around swimmer, who received 91 first place votes, 72 seconds and 74 thirds for a total of 745 points.

Following Verdeur in order were: Jim Fuchs of Chicago, Yale's world record-holding shotputter,

Fred Wilt of New York, the national's outstanding distance runner, Doris Hart of Miami, Fla.,

women's national singles tennis runner-up, Barbara Jensen of San Francisco, women's backstroke

swimming star, and Allen Stack of Hingham, Mass., 1948 Olympic backstroke swimming champion from Yale.

In San Francisco, Erdelatz confirmed that he had been offered the Navy job and indicated he would accept it. He left by plane

Tuesday night for Annapolis to confer with the executive committee of the Naval Athletic association today.

A Naval Academy spokesman said that Erdelatz would be sig-nated immediately if he came to terms with the committee and i his appointment was approved by

Four State's Witnesses Open Larceny Testimony

The trial of Charles Ralph Nixon, Clinton, charged here with larceny, opened in district court Tuesday with examination of four state's witnesses.

Nixon was taken into custody Mar. 24 in Mt. Carroll, Ill., and charged with a May 12 theft of farm equipment from the farm of Joseph Novotny, about six miles west of Solon.

Appearing as witnesses Tuesday were Johnson County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy; Ray Connor, special agent of the bureau of criminal investigation, Des Moines; Joseph Novotny, and his son, Donald.

Court Atty. Jack C. White presented as state exhibits a Mail power chain saw and tool box, which he said were identified by Novotny as those he reported missing from his farm.

Murphy testified the equipment was found on a farm near Thompson, Ill., where Nixon was arrested last May.

He was brought to Iowa City Nov. 16, Murphy said.

Jurors selected to hear the case were David B. Foerster, ward 2; Henry E. Benson, 5; Ruth Edelsten, 5; Charles O. Paine, 1; Mary E. Scott, 2; Celesta A. Bopp, 3.

Earl E. Miller, Sharon; Orlo Ives, Oxford; Margaret Huston, West Lucas; M.W. Davis, West Lucas; John Ipsen, Pleasant Valley, and Erma E. Perrin, West Lucas.

The work was done at Columbia university last year.

Capon Auto Supply Plans New Building

A new $20,000 sales building planned by the Capon Auto Supply company raised the total building permits issued by the city engineer's office during the past week to $28,600.

To be erected at the corner of Clinton and Benton streets, the new building will be used for display and sale of auto parts.

Vernon Capon, 425 N. Riverside drive, said he was not sure when construction would start. The Capon company is now in business at 17 E. Washington street.

Other permits issued during the week ending Tuesday include a permit for a $8,000 residence to Frank J. Vana, 907 N. Dodge street.

Anton Vodicka received a $600 permit to remodel a basement apartment at his house, 1016 Hudson avenue.

The newly-appointed Washington executive is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in political science at SUI. He holds a B.A. degree from Iowa State teachers college and an M.A. in journalism from Minnesota university.

He was an instructor at SUI from 1946 to 1948. Dennis is also a former Iowa state chairman of the American Veterans committee.

Former Instructor Gets Capitol Post

Larry Dennis, 29, former columnist for The Daily Iowan and former SUI instructor in journalism and political science, has been appointed assistant to the U.S. Commissioner of Education in Washington, D.C.

Dennis will resign Jan. 3, as associate professor of journalism at Kansas State College. His Washington appointment becomes effective Feb. 8, according to Pres. Milton S. Eisenhower of Kansas State college.

He was an instructor at SUI from 1946 to 1948. Dennis is also a former Iowa state chairman of the American Veterans committee.
