Four Persons Testify for State At Opening of Anderson's Trial

The state's case against Oscar Anderson, 59-year-old Iowa citizen, opened in Johnson county district court Monday with three men and one woman taking the witness stand for the prosecution.

Anderson, a former steeplejack, is charged with assault with attempt to commit murder in the near-fatal shooting of Clifford Kelly, 47, in the Strand cafe, April 22, 1948.

A notice of defense of insanity was filed last week by Anderson's attorneys, Messer, Hamilton, Cahill and Bartley.

A jury of nine men and three women was impaneled by 2:45 p.m. and shortly after 3 p.m. the court was hearing the opening statements.

First to Testify
Mrs. Martha Benefield O'Rear, waitress at the Strand cafe at the time of the shooting, was the first to testify for the state.

Questioned by Defense Atty. William H. Bartley in regard to a conversation between Anderson and Kelly in the restaurant, Mrs. O'Rear replied, "All I know is they were arguing." She testified that Kelly had been drinking during the afternoon.

Andrew Karas, proprietor of the cafe, told the court that Kelly entered the place about 6:30 p.m., followed by Anderson about five or 10 minutes later.

Karas said Anderson asked Kelly to step outside and a few moments later Karas, who was standing nearby, heard a shot. He said he "caught hold of" Kelly as he fell and "laid him on the floor by the counter."

Karas said he saw Anderson put a gun in his pocket and walk out through the College street door.

Chief, Detective Testify
Police Chief Edwin J. Ruppert and Detective Harlan Sprinkle both testified they were present when Anderson was questioned after the shooting.

Questioned by County Atty. Jack C. White, Sprinkle told the court that Anderson had said he shot Kelly. Ruppert testified, "He (Anderson) wasn't sure of the man's name, but it was Clifford Kelly."

Sprinkle identified a revolver as the one used by Anderson, which he testified was turned over to him by Raymond Anzio, police officer.

Members of the jury, which was excused until 9 a.m. today, are Joseph J. Langenberg, Iowa City ward 4; Celesta A. Bopp, 3; H. M. Sutton, 1; Carl Schwaigert, 1, and Burl Bane, 2.

Don Hoyt, Oxford township; Donna Wonicke, Newport; Ambrose Harney, Newport; John Ipsen, Pleasant Valley; Vivian Sanger, Clear Creek; M. M. Breece, Union, and George Cole Jr., West Lucas.

Anderson was recently returned to Iowa City from the insane ward at the Anamosa men's reformatory, where he was confined after a Johnson county district court jury found him incapable of producing a defense at his trial in October, 1948.

He was declared sane at a habeas corpus hearing, held last December at the request of his attorneys.

Kelly is a patient at University hospitals.

Carpenter Shop Fire Causes $75 Damages

About $75 damage was caused by a fire at 7 p.m. Monday in a SUI carpenter shop in the 200 block on South Madison street.

The fire was confined mostly to wood and sawdust in the shop but an electric motor also was damaged, according to R.J. Phillips, SUI physical plant superintendent.

Thirty Student Co-op Stockholders Discuss Reorganization

Thirty stockholders in the married student co-op store corporation, which voted last Wednesday to dissolve, met in the store unofficially Sunday afternoon and came up with a plan to reorganize and sell groceries on a wholesale basis.

John Swenson, AI, 123 Riverside Park, who led the discussion, said the meeting was called because a "substantial interest" was shown by students living near the store (Riverdale park, Riverdale Village, Templin park) in reorganizing the co-op venture.

Discuss Two Plans
Two plans were discussed. The "wholesale price plan" evoked the most interest. Members would be required to chip in five dollars a month. The money would be used to pay the salaries of three part-

High Court Upholds Deportation Rulings Of Attorney General

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supreme court, splitting 4 to 3, ruled Monday that the attorney general acted within his rights when he:

1. Ordered the deportation of Richard Eichenlaub, 45, former New York restaurant owner and Otto A. Willumeit, 45, a one time leader in the German - American Bund. Both are German born, former naturalized citizens.

2. Denied admission to Mrs. Ellen Knauff, 33, German - born war bride of a U.S. veteran merely by ruling that "she would be a hazard to internal security." She is the wife of Kurt W. Knauff, now a civilian employe of the army at Frankfurt, Germany.

Willumeit served five years in prison for conspiracy to commit espionage. He and four others, including National Bund leader Gerhard Wilhelm Kunz, were accused of plotting to give military secrets to Germany and Japan in the hope of defeating Russia.

Eichenlaub was convicted in 1941 of conspiring to act as an agent for a foreign government without having registered as one.

In the war bride case, Mrs. Knauff denied that she was a security risk. She said she was the victim of "a foul denunciation by a woman jealous of my husband."

Knauff himself, on temporary leave, started court proceedings in Newark, N.J., in behalf of his wife.

Local Association Instructs Petitioners

The local Council - Manager association held instructional meetings Monday at the community center for the 200 to 300 persons who will circulate petitions calling for the council - manager form of city government here.

The circulators were given instructions on how to handle the petitions and information on the proposed government plan.

Monday's meetings marked the association's first step toward their objective — to replace the present form of city government with what they think to be the better form, a council as the policy - making body and a trained manager to perform administrative duties.

The association plans to circulate petitions to the general public starting Jan. 24. If a sufficient number of signatures are obtained, an election will be held to determine which of the two plans Iowa City voters prefer.

Veterans Get First Insurance Refunds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first of some 14-million war veterans received their GI insurance refunds Monday. The checks represented the first installment on a GI insurance refund totaling $2-billion. The bulk of the program will be completed by June 30.

The refunds range from 60 cents to a top of $528. They were ordered because GI insurance benefits are running far behind original estimates, resulting in a surplus.

The Sailor Comes Home — Feet First

A FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD Scottish lover of the sea, John Guthrie, makes an innuminous return to Aberdeen, Scotland, as officers lift him over the heads of rescue trawler crewmen to the dock. John took the 50-foot fishing trawler "Girl Jean" to sea all alone last Wednesday and was found drifting around 200 miles out in the North sea. The trawler "Reptonian" found him and took the "Girl Jean" in tow. John admitted Monday in a Dundee court that he stole the $28,000 craft for a bit of adventure.

Walkouts Idle 74,000 Miners; Company Stores Stop Credit

PITTSBURGH (AP) — No contract, no work strikes Monday idled 74,000 United Mine Workers in six states and one of the largest coal mine owners shut off credit at company stores.

United States Steel corporation, through its subsidiary Union Supply company, Monday told the miners in effect: no work - no credit.

A U. S. Steel spokesman explained:

"Since July, bills have gone beyond what would be good business practice. We've helped the miners over the hump many times, not only during strikes, but we've reached a point where we can't go any further with it."

Union Supply operates about 100 stores throughout the country. They mainly serve employes of H.C. Frick Coke company, U.S. Steel's coal producing subsidiary. The miners who stayed away from the pits Monday did so despite John Lewis' suggestion — traditionally an order — that they dig coal.

Restless miners rallying behind a "we want a contract" slogan cut heavily into already depleted coal reserves. But President Truman was quoted as saying he still lacks sufficient evidence to declare a national emergency.

Vice-President John Battle of the National Coal association termed stoppages "a rebellion against Lewis."

Elefson Attorneys File Appeal Notice

SIDNEY (AP) — Attorneys for Lyman Elefson, 22, charged with murder in the poison death of his grandfather, filed a notice of appeal to the Iowa supreme court Monday from a district court refusal to free him.

The notice of appeal was filed in district court. Recently District Judge Charles Roe refused to free Elefson on a writ of habeas corpus, but set bond at $20,000. Attempts to raise the bond have been unsuccessful so far.

Elefson is in Cass county jail awaiting grand jury action on the charge he murdered his grandfather, Alonzo Rhode, of Tabor, last April.

WAR PERIL LESSENED
BOSTON (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall said Monday the peril of an American - Russian war had lessened in the past year.

This would mean shoppers would have to go into town to shop for some items. While in town stores, they might purchase items other than those "missing links" in their shopping lists.

Close This Week
Meanwhile, the co-op is preparing to close its doors sometime this week. Prices are being slashed in an effort to clear as much as possible off their shelves before marketing the goods to wholesalers.

Increased Business
About 30 former members of this corporation met and reorganized their store on a wholesale basis, he explained. Within four months, he said, it increased its business fourfold.

Charge Retail Prices
Non-members may shop at the store, but would be charged retail prices. He said T-bone steaks were recently sold at the store for 39 cents a pound.

The other proposal was offered by James Reed, G, 107 Finkbine park. Reed said patronage dividends should be offered along with improved service and free delivery in a reorganized co-op. He did not elaborate on what he meant by "improved service."

Schumacher said a co-op store, similar to the SUI venture, existed on the Iowa State Teachers college campus, but dissolved when it went $2,000 in the hole.

Coal Miner's 'Tomb' Still 25 Feet Away, Rescued Man Says

MAHANAOY CITY, PA. (AP) — Rescue workers cutting through a sheet of coal which has entombed a miner for more than 80 hours at the bottom of a caved-in anthracite mine were told by the victim's brother Monday night that the miner was buried deeper than they thought and probably would not be found until "tomorrow (Tuesday) night."

Frank Burda, one of five brothers who operate the collapsed mine, told the rescue workers that his trapped brother Edward, 25, was buried 25 feet below the bottom of a rescue shaft being sunk into the mine. Previously the rescuers, all miners, had believed themselves only 10 feet from Edward Burda, who was trapped Friday night.

Frank Burda returned to the mine with his disheartening news after visiting his brother Joseph, 27, at a hospital. Joseph, trapped at the 60-foot level by the same cave-in, was rescued Sunday after 40 hours underground.

Frank said Joseph had told him that the rescue workers were overly optimistic and that they still had 25 feet to go to reach the "safety hole" where Edward was believed trapped at the bottom of the pit 10 feet underground.

Frank reported that Joseph had no hope that the entombed man would be reached "before tomorrow night."

German Arms Builder, Krupp, Dies at Essen

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — Frankfurt radio said Monday night that Gustav Krupp von Bohlen, 79 - year - old German industrial leader, died Monday in Essen.

Krupp formerly headed the huge Krupp works at Essen that built armaments for Germany in the last two wars.

Dr. Lierle to Get Honorary Degree

Dr. D.M. Lierle, head of the SUI department of otolaryngology, will receive an honorary doctor of science degree from Wayne university in Detroit, Feb. 2.

The degree is in recognition of Lierle's services to medical education. He has been head of the department of otolaryngology since 1928.

Lierle has done much research on eye, ear, nose and throat conditions and has contributed to many medical publications.

He is a member of the National Research council, secretary of instruction for the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology and is civilian consultant of the VA medical training program.

Lierle received a B.S. at SUI in 1919, his M.D. in 1921 and his M.S. degree in 1924.

Native Iowa Citizen Seeks Senate Post

MUSCATINE (AP) — Harry Thompson, 50, Muscatine, announced Monday he will seek the Republican nomination as a candidate for the United States senate.

He became the first declared Republican candidate for the senate seat now held by Bourke Hickenlooper.

Thompson, a salesman and truck farm operator, was born in Iowa City. In 1938 he defeated Hickenlooper by 12,000 votes in gaining the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. Later, Thompson withdrew and the GOP state convention named Hickenlooper to replace him.

House Probers To Call For Wallace Testimony

To Hear Reply On Shipments To Russians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Vice-President Henry A. Wallace will be given a chance next week to answer charges he cleared wartime atomic shipments to Russia in defiance of a security ban, it was announced Monday night.

Rep. Richard Nixon (R - Calif) said Wallace will be invited to testify before the house committee on un-American activities on Jan. 24, along with Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, former head of the wartime Manhattan atomic bomb project.

Commentator Made Charges
The charges against Wallace were leveled by Radio Commentator Fulton Lewis Jr., who said in a broadcast that the one-time number one New Dealer overruled Groves and cleared uranium shipments to Russia by way of the Alaskan lend-lease pipeline.

Wallace, who angrily denied the accusations, has insisted that he be permitted to testify to clear his name. He said the charge was manufactured "out of the whole cloth."

Groves is expected to testify Jan. 25.

Other Developments
The announcement coincided with these developments:

1. The committee ordered an investigation of the "extent, character and scope of alleged un-American propaganda" in Hawaii. It said in a prepared statement that the inquiry had been requested by the Hawaiian legislature. A subcommittee will go to the island.

2. Chairman Pat McCarran announced his senate judiciary committee had decided to postpone hearings on the Mundt-Ferguson Communist-control bill until Jan. 30. It will take up the measure there after hearing from the measure's "outstanding attorneys," on whether the measure is constitutional.

Rep. Harold Velde (R-Ill) said former airforce Maj. George Racey Jordan, whose story of wartime uranium shipments to Russia stirred up the investigation, presumably will be recalled later.

"POPS" HARRISON SAT dejectedly beside his radio at home in Iowa City Monday night after listening to the Hawkeyes fall to Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., 64-55. Harrison temporarily retired from his head coach coaching post Sunday because of ill health. Sunday's withdrawal marked the second time this season illness has relegated Harrison to an inactive capacity. The defeat at the hands of Purdue marked the second setback of the season for the Hawks in conference play. (For game story, see page 4.)

It's Those Little Things That Count

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Her husband once abandoned her in their car on a railroad track, with a freight train coming.

That, Mrs. Hezekiah K. Watkins charged Monday, constituted cruelty. So she asked a divorce.

She added that the engineer stopped the train before it hit the car.

Russia, Satellites Join In Three UN Walkouts

LAKE SUCCESS (UP) — Russia walked out of three most United Nations committees Monday in its campaign to oust Nationalist China. The Soviet Union also maintained its two-year-old boycott of the year round little assembly.

Yugoslavia joined Russia and the Cominform countries in refusing to participate in the little assembly, the interim committee of the whole which meets while the full general assembly is not in session.

In the economic and social council's committee on procedure, Soviet Delegate I.E. Kameney introduced Monday a formal resolution, quickly supported by Czechoslovakia's Cadimir Houdek, to unseat the Nationalist delegation. Committee Chairman Jose Enclinas of Peru ruled the resolution out of order. Kameney challenged the chair's ruling and Enclinas was upheld by a committee vote of 6-2, with India abstaining.

Kameney declared that under the circumstances, he could not work with the committee. He walked out, followed by Houdek. The committee continued its business.

In the economic and social council's committee on statelessness and related problems, Soviet Delegate N.I. Klimov, threw a similar challenge at the Nationalists' right to be represented. He was supported by Poland's Alexander Rudzinski. Voted down, 6-2, with 3 abstentions, Klimov and Rudzinski took a walk.

The third challenge came in the subcommittee on the prevention of discrimination and the protection of minorities. When the challenge was ignored, Soviet Delegate V.I. Formashev walked out followed by Polish Representative Joseph Winiewicz.

Dr. Plass Elected To Lifetime Position In Cancer Society
Dr. E. D. Plass, head of the SUI department of obstetrics and gynecology, Sunday was elected a lifetime director-at-large at the Iowa division of the American Cancer society.

He was selected by a vote of chairman of the society's chapters in Iowa. Results of the election were announced Monday by Dr. H. W. Morgan of Mason City, president of the division.

Active in Society
Plass, who has been active in the work of the organization for the past fifteen years, said he had not known of his selection till Monday.

He resigned in November as vice-chairman of the Iowa division, a position he had held several years.

Plass said he had been interested in cancer control for some time and once edited the bulletin of the Iowa division of the American Cancer society.

First Women Named
Mrs. Frederic Latner, Des Moines, chairman of the Polk county chapter, and Martha Duncan, women's editor of radio station WOI in Ames, also were elected directors-at-large by the Iowa division. They are the first women to be named to the state board.

Dr. Kenneth Gee of Shenandoah and Lewis W. Ross of Council Bluffs were named directors from the seventh district, to fill vacancies. Ross was appointed acting treasurer of the division.

Bargain Ball' Fails To Tempt Bidders
The 750 persons who attended a "Bargain Ball" at SUI last weekend just weren't in the mood to buy — not even when tempted with Arthur Godfrey's second-hand tie, Mary Martin's hat and Frank Leahy's autographed picture.

Sold at auction, Godfrey's green Chinese scroll he brought $1.46 (the bidding started at two cents), while Mary Martin's hat, worn in the Broadway hit "South Pacific," topped the market with a resounding $3.20.

A disdainful public stood by while a picture of the Notre Dame football team's famous coach, Frank Leahy, went for a solitary buck.

When the bidders went to pay up and claim their prizes, there was another surprise — the auctioneer wouldn't take their money.

An SUI ruling forbids the sale of articles at a student auction, so the purchasers got their prizes anyway and kept their money.

Banquet to Honor 3 Outstanding Men

Three outstanding young men of the Iowa City area will be honored at the annual "employers' banquet" tonight in the river room of the Iowa Union.

The names of the outstanding young men will be announced at the banquet.

Ralph Rohweder, Chicago, national vice-president of the junior chamber of commerce, will speak to the group on the work of the junior chamber in securing support for the Hoover commission recommendations.

Rohweder has been active in the junior chamber for 10 years, and has served as national chairman of the committees on public safety and public affairs.

Striking at a Deadly Killer —

Probably no word, during the late summer months, strikes fear into the hearts of parents as when a doctor straightens up from a bed-ridden child and whispers "polio."

Polio has become the dreaded killer of our time, even though its toll is far less than that of the ancient plagues of small-pox and bubonic plague.

Medical science has taken great strides towards finding and destroying the silent killer that leaves crippled bodies in its path. But it has a long way to go, and it needs funds to continue its fight.

In 1934, Franklin D. Roosevelt held a party at Warm Springs, Ga. to raise money to fight polio. Each year these efforts grew until, in 1938, the first national board of trustees was named, and a national March of Dimes was underway.

Roosevelt, who during his long presidential career was unable to take a single step without some kind of support due to an earlier attack of polio, started a drive that has mushroomed into one of our most worthwhile institutions.

Monday, another March of Dimes campaign got underway. Its goal is to raise the most money in history to fight the disease.

Johnson county's goal is $10,000, twice last year's amount. The campaign is being headed by Mrs. J.K. Schaaf.

Containers into which dimes can be dropped have been placed strategically throughout the city. Everyone is urged to contribute towards the $10,000 goal, half of which will be turned over to the national foundation, and half of which will remain in Iowa City.

The virus that transmits the disease has been isolated. Right now, an intensive search is underway to find some vaccine that will immunize the individual against it.

Dollars and dimes are necessary. No one knows where infantile paralysis will next strike. For security in the future, the March of Dimes needs our support.

Behind that decision lay two and a half years of bickering among army brass hats.

In October, 1947, the President's committee on civil rights urged the immediate end to "discrimination and segregation based on race, color, creed or national origin."

Some all-Negro units were attached to white organizations, but there was little attempt made to integrate Negro and white troops.

Now, however, it looks as though President Truman's election pledge to remove racial bars in the armed service is getting partial fulfillment.

This victory is but one of a string that has been notched by such groups as the NAACP. The three-day mobilization conference in Washington shows that the groups are going to intensify their fight.

It has always seemed inconsistent that the United States, self-named proponent of democracy and the equality that goes with it, should be confronted with a serious race problem. Yet, unquestionably, there has been a definite problem and there seems little likelihood of its removal in the near future.

As Jim Crowism now stands, unity at home has been shaken and the prestige of the nation abroad has been undermined. Only legislation, coupled with a change in many persons' thinking, can remove the national and international paradox.

Mr. Truman promised to establish a fair employment practices act, abolish poll taxes, outlaw lynching, prohibit segregation in housing and the armed services. None of these bills passed congress during the first half of the 81st congress.

However, there were a few bills that did get the congressional green light which were thought to be victories for groups seeking equality.

Among them were bills to clear slum areas, raise minimum wages, increase salaries of civil service employes and provide federal loans to extend rural telephone service.

Last week the army announced a plan that clearly belongs in the victory column of the equality-seeking groups. The army decided to assign Negro troops to hitherto all-white outfits.

Mobilizing to Fight Injustice —

A national mobilization conference for racial equality will wind up its business in Washington today. The conference is designed to arm members of the NAACP and other groups fighting for tolerance with ammunition to be heard in congressmen.

The fight to erase inequalities among minority groups has been uphill all the way. Yet surprising strides have been made. Proof is the platform that Harry Truman built when he was running for the presidency 13 months ago.

The Calm Before the Storm

Democratic Senator Asks $3-Billion Cut In Truman's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Democrat called Monday for a $3-billion slash in President Truman's budget, and Republicans launched a drive for a "quickie" bill to cut excise taxes by over $600-million a year.

Simultaneously, house GOP Leader Joe Martin charged that a "state of confusion" among the president's tax advisers had delayed transmittal of administration tax-boosting plans to congress.

The proposal for a reduction in Mr. Truman's $42,439,000,000 budget came from Chairman Walter George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee. He called for government economy to erase over one-half of the anticipated $5-billion deficit next year.

A new cloy in Mr. Truman's tax message to congress caused wide speculation in Capitol Hill. Charles G. Ross, the president's press secretary, said Monday morning the tax message probably would be sent to Capitol Hill late this week. Previously it had been indicated the message might be ready early in the week.

Rep. Martin told newsmen: "I'm sorry there is a state of confusion in the administration. It is delaying business, because the people are holding off buying until the excise taxes are reduced."

Mr. Truman has indicated he favors a reduction in excise taxes — which cover such things as furs, luggage, jewelry, light bulbs, transportation and communications — and a "moderate" increase in revenues by raising other taxes.

His program has been greeted in congress with bi-partisan cries for less spending and lower taxes. Seasoned onlookers doubt, however, that congress actually will slash the budget deeply. There have been cries for economy in previous years, with no great result.

Martin speculated that the delay of the tax message is caused by a disagreement on "how a reduction in excises can be used as an excuse to raise other taxes."

Fruit, Vegetable Inspection Planned

DES MOINES (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Harry Linn Monday announced signing of an agreement to set up an inspection program on fruits and vegetables. The agreement, signed by the department, the Iowa experiment station and U.S. department of agriculture, deals mainly with inspection of Iowa-grown potatoes and onions under the government purchase program.

Linn said inspections will be made in carload lots. The agreement was affected after numerous complaints from consumers concerning the poor quality of potatoes offered by some retail outlets.

NOW... WAIT A MINUTE

By JOE BROWN

SAW "Jolson Returns" the other night and satisfied my curiosity on a point or two.

If you remember, in the first picture they did a pretty good job of portraying Jolson's first wife as a kind, considerate and understanding person.

Regardless of what the truth of the story was, and I say this with no insinuation, Ruby Keeler could hardly have complained of the way she was pictured in "The Jolson Story."

Before seeing this latest show, a sequel to the first, I wondered how the producers would go about working in the "new wife" idea.

I wondered how they'd present the figure who enters and takes the place of the first woman whom they had portrayed as being such a lovely person.

WOULD they ignore the "memories" or "ghosts of the past" angles? Would they ignore the age difference in Jolson and his present wife?

I suppose none of us can be certain of the degree of accuracy with which the story is presented. Obviously, it's Hollywooded up, but I can't quite see our being too critical of their adding color and a little fiction if doing so adds to the patrons' enjoyment.

It's hardly a matter of being deceived, since they and we, both, are certainly aware of the deviations from the truth the film capital is guilty of.

But in getting back to this particular picture, you'll find that they have not ignored the questions I asked. And they don't handle the questions in a manner that might be insulting to the intelligence.

The "memories of the past" are made pretty real for a few moments, then they are faced by the two leading characters and then dismissed. And pretty well done, too.

The age-difference was acknowledged and taken care of with the girl simply saying she thought it made little difference. Whether you agree with her reasoning or not, the scene isn't too hard to take.

You World War II vets will have one question, at least, and it will arise over the swankiness of Jolson's hospital room when he returns from an entertainment tour overseas.

AN ARMY nurse is present, but the room, itself, is hardly like anything most of your will remember seeing in the service.

And the nurse (played by Barbara Hale), who becomes the new Mrs. Jolson, gives the first fairly authentic rendition of a female southern drawl I've heard in the movies or on the radio.

There is none of the exaggeration that often causes the southerners, themselves, to shrink in their seats when they hear it. There were moments when I wondered if she might not actually be a native of the south. But not being one who keeps abreast of movie-land news, I can't say.

Are you a super high-brow — one who frowns upon everything not oh, so profound? If so, stay at home.

If you're not that way, do you like Jolson's singing? If so, you'll enjoy the picture because it really is jam-packed with his songs.

And if you're the very sensitive and sentimental type, you might even find one spot that'll do for dampening the hanky. A girl sitting next to me was having a little trouble with the sniffles the night I saw the show.

The picture is no masterpiece nor is it a poor show. It's what most of us go to movies for, though. It will give you a pleasant evening of entertainment.

Checks

FOR THE GAL who likes checks but is short on cash, here is an inexpensive black and white checked taffeta frock. Fashioned for the tall or regular-sized girl, it features a soft fly-away collar, elbow-length sleeves with smart cuffs and pockets that are really "outstanding." The bodice and pockets are fastened with rhinestone buttons, while the belt is black patent leather.

SUI Graduates Plan Spring Weddings

MR. AND MRS. AARON MASON, Iowa City, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ruth Elaine Mason, to Morris H. Kimmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Kimmel, Iowa City. Since her graduation from SUI in 1948, Miss Mason has been a staff member of the Fort Washington branch of the New York public library. Mr. Kimmel also attended SUI and is in business in Iowa City. The wedding will take place March 19.

THE ENGAGEMENT OF SUI Graduate Ruby Lucille Scott to Dean B. Van Horn, C4, Charles City, has been announced by the bride elect's mother, Mrs. Fred C. Twaites, Waterloo. Miss Scott attended Rockford college, Rockford, Ill., and was graduated from SUI in June 1949 with a degree in political science. She is attending the Vogue School of Fashion Merchandising in Chicago at present. Mr. Van Horn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Van Horn, Charles City.

Often Practical —

Hobbies Brighten Leisure Hours

The culprit escaped. Telltale evidence remains in his wake. Several spots of glue on the kitchen table, a few wood shavings on the cellar floor indicate he's guilty. Guilty of America's popular pastime — the hobby.

Hobbyists range from model airplane enthusiasts to tie — dyers. Their boring hours are converted into interesting ones.

Original Mats

Maybe you're tired of death of the same old place mats on your table. Here's a method of obtaining some with entirely original designs. Place a marble or other small object in the center of a doilie. After drawing the material evenly all around the marble, bind the gathered cloth with heavy twine.

At various intervals add more marbles. Drop the doilie into a dye of your choice, following the directions given by the dye manufacturer. For color fastness use a vinegar rinse. Remove the twine and you will have a new and different kind of place mat. Incidentally a set of dyed place mats and napkins would make an interesting gift.

Hobbies can be practical and profitable, as well as absorbing diversion and a challenge to the ingenuity.

An interest in old coins, antique furniture, wood carving, stenciling or photography may be more than a pastime — it may be a livelihood.

Success Story

What starts as a simple means of spending leisure hours may turn into a hobby success story with a happy ending.

Stacks of greeting cards can become attractive gifts. Clip pictures from any type of greeting card, using special scenes for special occasions, like Valentine's day. Try to select pictures and colors that harmonize. Next cut six pieces of pasteboard or other heavy material and one hexagon to form the bottom.

Place each of these between two pictures; then hold them in place (or paste them together) and buttonhold with silk thread all around each piece. After the sides are sewn together, sew in the bottom.

These cute little baskets have lots of uses. Keep needles, thread and buttons handy by placing them in a basket, or use it as a container for embroidery floss. Fill them with Valentine heart candy, Easter eggs, or flowers for May day.

Hobbies can be a fascinating occupation and a supply of pin money, as well.

Palladium Wedding Rings Featured for 1950 Brides

Bridegrooms are falling for something besides their brides these days.

The new styles in wedding rings are vying for the attention of this year's bridegrooms.

A New York designer has created a new palladium wedding ring with a chain design formed by criss-crossing channels of diamonds. The diamonds are set in palladium which is a precious white metal 100 times rarer than gold. The ring is also available in platinum — at a higher price.

Ball and Chain

The "ball and chain" idea is not what makes this ring so popular among prospective couples, one designer insists. It is rather the sparkling gems set off by the naturally bright palladium setting which symbolizes the romantic idea of the wedding band being the visible link uniting a couple "until death us do part".

Manufacturers point out also that 1950 wedding rings are "considerably higher, wider and more comfortable".

Many of the women's new rings are almost three-fourths of an inch in width. The trend in wide, white rings, according to one designer, has now reached the point where sizes are similar to those wide bands fashionable at the turn of the century.

Emphasize Comfort

But the 1950 rings emphasize comfort and free movement of the hand, the designer pointed out. This effect is achieved by tapering off the width until the part under the finger is only half the measurement of the top.

For lightness in weight there is the "hollow back" which allows for a cut in the use of such precious metals as palladium and platinum. Designers say the ring does not interfere with easy manipulation such as turning a door-knob or driving a car.

The plain gold wedding band is fading out of the wedding ring picture and being replaced by the more elaborate combinations of precious metals and diamonds.

Boilermakers Blast Hawkeyes, 64-55

Purdue Posts First Win in League Play

By ALAN MOYER
(Daily Iowan Sports Editor)

LAFAYETTE, IND. — Purdue, unable to win its last six basketball games and without a win in three Big Ten contests, bounced back here Monday night to the wild delight of 9,500 persons to defeat Iowa, 64-55.

The Hawkeyes stayed even in the first half, held the lead for the majority of the 20 minutes but never came closer than three points to the rejuvenated Boilermakers in the second half.

Found Kicker Combination
Purdue coach Mel Taube, unsuccessful while trying 11 different combinations this year, finally found the right one Monday. His team beaten badly at Minneapolis Saturday night, worked together nicely in chalking up its most impressive win since upsetting Bradley earlier in the year.

Coach Bucky O'Connor started the same five that started and played most of the game Saturday when the Hawkeyes took a 65-64 thriller from Indiana in Iowa City.

Unlike that night, when Frank Calsbeek hit for 32 points and Bob Vollers for 20, the Iowa big scorers were held to six and seven respectively.

It makes the Hawkeyes' record in conference play one win and two defeats. Purdue's victory, its first, makes the Boilermakers the last in the loop to enter the win column.

Home Court Advantage
The game once again showed the importance of playing at home, but at the same time it showed what a team does when it is in a losing streak and suddenly explodes.

Howie Williams led the scoring with 17 points, gathered mostly in the second half. Teammate Dick Axness had 16, on hook shots and Score at half-time: Purdue 28, Iowa 27.

Officials: Diehl and Swanson.

follow-ups. While he fouled out late in the game, he still did an outstanding job in holding Calsbeek and Darling from heavy scoring.

Darling, on four baskets and two free throws, played his best game of the year.

The Boilermakers scored 22 field goals and added 20 free throws, compared to Iowa's 21 from the field and 13 from the charity line.

Iowa closed the gap to 55-52 with less than three minutes remaining but Purdue was able to widen the margin whenever the occasion demanded.

Purdue Leads at Half

The first half was a see-saw affair, with the lead changing hands five times before the Boilermakers left the floor in slim command, 28-27. Had a hook shot by Darling, taken as the gun ending the half sounded, counted, the Hawks would have owned a half time lead.

Dave Westfall opened the scoring after a minute, 18 seconds followed by Axness' set shot while all Iowa could muster were free throws by Clifton and Calsbeek.

Vollers' tip-in and a pair of free throws by Calsbeek tied the count at 6-6 at the five minute mark.

The Keokuk senior followed with a one-hander, which gave Iowa a lead the Hawks kept until Andy Butchko tallied from underneath with five minutes left in the half.

That made the score, 20-19, Purdue.

Miss Calsbeek
With three personals on Calsbeek, O'Connor removed the big boy in favor of Darling. The sophomore from Colorado responded well to the pressure, especially under the two backboards, still the Hawkeyes missed Calsbeek's ball-handling and shooting.

Clifton hit with deadly accuracy on his one-handed jump shot to pace the Iowa scoring in the opening half. He hit for 10 points, while Butchko, on set shots from the outside was high for Purdue with 12 points.

Rebounding by both teams was poor at times in the first half, as was the shooting percentage by both clubs, which was even if not good. Iowa's percentage was 24.3 while the Boilermakers had 24.4.

In beating Indiana, the Hawks hit the basket 33 percent of the time.

Dr. Karl Leib Relinquishes Gavel

Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin All Post Conference Victories

COLUMBUS (UP)—Ohio State exploded to a 74-58 victory over arch-rival Michigan Monday night before 6,438 fans in Ohio coliseum and maintained its first place grip in the Big Ten basketball race.

A loss to the Wolverines would have dropped the Bucks out of first place, but Dick Schnitzer, Bob Donham and Gene Brown got hotter than a general store stove to turn the game into a rout.

The big blond Schnitzer dumped in 28 points while Donham netted 14 and Brown 13. Meanwhile the Buckeyes posted such a tight defense that Leo Vander Kuy, Michigan's flying Dutchman, dropped 16 points to pace the Wolverines.

Mack Suprunovic trailed him with 13 and none of the other Michigan players could hit in double-figures.

It was Ohio State's third Big Ten victory without defeat and Michigan's second loss against an equal number of wins.

Illini Trip Wildcats
CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — Illinois breezed to a 76-50 triumph over Northwestern Monday night for its second consecutive Big Ten victory, jumping to a .500 rating in conference play.

Northwestern, who won its first two league games to bolster hopes for a high finish in the standings this season, was outclassed all the way. The Wildcats led once only, at 2-0, and then a string of Illini baskets made it 16-2.

The Wildcats rallied and trailed by only four points at the 11-minute mark of the first period, but the Illini made it 33-26 at the half and in the opening 50 seconds of the final period, dropped two buckets for a 37-26 advantage.

Northwestern never could come back.

Badgers Edge Gophers
MADISON, WIS. — Little Forward Danny Markham heaved an all or nothing long shot in the last nine seconds of play Monday to give Wisconsin a 57-54 victory over Minnesota in a thriller before 13,000 hilarious fans.

In one of the most dramatic games of the Big Ten season, the Badgers battled from behind time and time again to rack up their third conference victory and hang on to second place.

Trailing ten points early in the second half, Wisconsin tied it up at 39-39 and then battled on almost even terms until the final two minutes of play, when the Gophers grabbed a four-point advantage.

That set the stage for the Hollywood finale. Guard Ab Nicholas cut the lead to two points and then, with only a minute to play, Forward Fred Schneider tied it at 53-53.

It looked like a Gopher victory when Forward Dick Means put Minnesota in the lead again with only 39 seconds to play. But Wisconsin shot down the floor and with only nine seconds to go Markham sank one from 35 feet out to give the Badgers a one-point lead.

In a desperate bid to catch up, the Gophers ran into Markham and his two free throws ended the game.

O'Connor Replaces 'Pops' Harrison as Hawk Cage Mentor

Frank (Bucky) O'Connor, freshman basketball and varsity golf coach, was named acting head coach of the Iowa Hawkeyes Sunday replacing "Pops" Harrison who was forced to vacate the spot for an indefinite period due to ill health.

Athletic Director Paul Brechler made the announcement and revealed that Harrison had entered temporary retirement on the advice of his physician.

Drake Graduate
O'Connor, Harrison's replacement at the Hawkeye helm, is a 1938 graduate of Drake where he played three years of basketball before accepting a coaching post at Harrisburg, Ill.

A year later, O'Connor was named sophomore coach and assistant football mentor at Boone with the exception of four war years in the air corps, until his assignment at Iowa.

"Pops" Harrison, at home under doctor's orders while his Hawkeye basketball boys were playing at Purdue, said Monday night that he's sure the Hawks are in good hands under Frank (Bucky) O'Connor, freshman coach.

"He was the only logical choice," said Harrison, "and he'll do all right. I'm sure of that."

O'Connor has worked with many of the varsity boys when they were freshmen under him last year, such as Skip Greene, Fred Ruck, Chuck Darling and Ev Cochran. In addition Bob Clifton attained all-state honors under the new Iowa coach when both were at Boone high school in 1948.

Familiar With Style
O'Connor is familiar with the Iowa style of play, "Pops" pointed out, "and our ball club is pretty well set," he added. He said he was sure the new coach and his squad would get together with no difficulty.

Harrison denied that the hectic Indiana game, captured by Iowa, 65-64, had caused his withdrawal from the team for the second time this season. The excitable little mentor is known to work off as much enthusiasm on the bench during a tight game as his boys use up on the floor.

"No, no, no," he protested "nothing like that. I was just burning up my energy faster than I could build it up." He said that he stayed in bed most of the day, getting up only to attend practices in the afternoon.

Return to Hospital
The popular little pilot will return to the hospital sometime soon for more surgery. However, it is not a recurrence of the kidney ailment that necessitated an emergency operation in December. At that time he was sidelined for three weeks.

As for next year, that's one of those things you can't tell yet, Harrison said. But "Pops" is still planning on getting back with the boys if at all possible next fall.

HOLY CROSS TOP TEAM
NEW YORK (AP) — Holy Cross Monday replaced St. John's of Brooklyn as the nation's No. 1 college basketball team in the third weekly Associated Press poll.

Across The Sports Desk
By Alan Moyer

Something Expected, Something Not Expected —

The team more people know less about than any of Iowa's varsity representatives did one thing Saturday at Lincoln Neb. that Coach Dick Holzapfel expected. It lost. At the same time it did one thing Holzapfel didn't expect. It lost to strong Nebraska university by the very respectable score of 54-42.

We're talking about gymnastics, a sport not on the Iowa varsity program since 1942, but back this year with three home meets and the Big Ten championships, March 25th.

And if you think you're in the dark as to what a gymnastics meet looks like, or what goes on, imagine how Holzapfel felt Saturday at Lincoln with several team members who were not only competing for the first time, but who were seeing a gym meet for the first time.

"It was the same as coaching a basketball team that had never seen a basketball game," Holzapfel says. But inexperienced or not, the Hawks made an impressive start before a record-breaking crowd of 750 in the Nebraska gymnasium.

"The men made a much better appearance than I anticipated for men competing in their first meet," Holzapfel said. "The strange of men was definitely responsible for our coming out at the short end as far as points go."

"Don Cassidy (captain) and Paul Williams had smooth sailing in the tumbling event, Cassidy getting first and Williams second. Bill Harris tied for first with Nebraska's Ed Carren in the trampoline.

"Harris and Clare Jennett, who tied for second place in total points with 14, were outstanding in their varied routines." Jennett took fifth in the side horse, third in the high bar, third in the parallel bars, third in the flying ring and fifth in tumbling. In other words, he placed in all but one of the six event program.

"Jennett's routine on the parallel bars was very smooth," his coach says. "In the same event Williams, competing in the parallel bars for the first time, took a surprising fourth place, while on the flying rings Ken McKenna, despite an injured wrist managed to place fourth."

The Iowa team entertained at the Nebraska-Iowa State basketball game Saturday with a half-time performance of clown acts and double routines and single straight acts. Holzapfel said the crowd got quite a kick out of the exhibition.

Next Saturday at 2 p.m. the Iowa gymnasts play host to Minnesota in a dual meet in the fieldhouse gymnasium. It has been a long time since anyone around Iowa City has had the chance to see gymnastics competition, might as well come out and see just what happens on the side horse, high bar, parallel bars, flying ring, trampoline and the tumbling mat.

Pep Keeps Title, Scores KO

ST. LOUIS, MO. — Featherweight Champion Willie Pep, the Hartford, Conn., whirlwind, kept his crown Monday night by knocking out Charley Riley, St. Louis Negro, in the fifth round of their scheduled 15-round title fight.

The champion, demonstrating superb footwork and ring generalship, kept the fight well in hand as he slugged it out in the center of the ring when he rocked Riley with a left hook to the head, setting him up like a tenpin for the smashing right hook that followed a split second later.

Riley went down quietly, as if he were looking for a soft place to take a nap. But he stayed down and heard none of the counting. The speedy little battler kept by Referee Harry Kessler.

pounding away at Riley's head as the Negro kept trying to force the champion to come to a standstill long enough to land an effective punch.

Kapers Cast Produces Explosive Entertainment

By BARBARA BLOXOM

Splitting atoms is not confined to carefully guarded laboratories—at least not on the SUI campus.

Macbride auditorium has been the current scene of a happier form of atom-smashing as rehearsals for Kampus Kapers' "Happy Atoms" shaped the show for its opening performance tonight.

Explosions—harmless, of course—are inevitable in a cosmopolitan east which includes flirtatious and curvaceous females, oriental dancers, Robin Hood, the flapper girl, Al Capone and the Great Gatsby.

Fanciful settings by Jack Brookings, A3, Watage, Ill., form an appropriate background for the antics, together with music directed by Jack Davis, A4, Fort Dodge.

During the first act women will get a peek into life in a male dormitory, when the audience is asked to imagine what would happen if the stronger sex abandoned with that old feminine tradition known as the "flood spread." The skit holds the mirror up to nature quite unmercifully.

For those who appreciate the historical drama, the Kapers offers the "Adventures of Robin Hood," complete with a Richard-the-Lion-Hearted whose simpering seems to smack of the idiotic Lonnie of "Mice and Men" fame.

In the line of modern drama, the aforementioned Gatsby makes his debut in the "Roaring Twenties" surrounded by sophisticated flappers whose barroom routines are punctuated by an occasional murder, tossed in for pathos. It's here that Capon and the boys drop in to give the folks a thrill.

The production is under the direction of Jack Pedersen, A4, Marshalltown, who is assisted by Stage Manager Charles Buzzard, A4, Charleston, Ill.

The script was written by Gil Pearlman, A3, Des Moines, production manager, Ed Diekmann, E2, Ottumwa, is business manager and Barbara Petree, A3, Bettendorf, secretary.

Eugene Fleischer, A2, Eliza Beth, N.J., is costume director; group mistress is Sally Lachner, A3, Des Moines, and Gordon Pollock, A4, New York City, is in charge of lighting.

Publicity chairman is Charles Nickel, A4, Upper Darby, Penn. Dance routines were worked out by Mildred Rubinson, A2, Wakarusa, Ill., and Shirley Schreiber, A3, Des Moines.

The show, sponsored by the Newman club, runs today through Friday at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium.

Phi Beta Kappa Initiates To Be Honored Monday

Newly-elected members of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, will be initiated Monday at 5 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

University Hospitals Open County's Drive For March of Dimes

The Johnson county March of Dimes campaign opened Monday night with a "kick-off" meeting in the medical amphitheater at University hospitals.

Dr. W. D. Paul, chairman of the division of physical medicine at the hospitals, gave a lecture-demonstration with polio and post-polio patients. He was assisted by Mrs. Olive Farr, chief physical therapist and members of the physical therapy staff.

Paul emphasized the urgency of supporting the March of Dimes drive so that polio patients may continue to receive the care that will enable them to regain their strength and lead more normal lives.

The polio patients at University hospitals during 1949 required about 8,900 hospital days of care, he said.

Wesley Altenberg, regional director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said 1950 was a crucial year as far as the foundation is concerned.

He said supporters of the drive this year must do the best job they have ever done.

Mrs. J. K. Schaaf, president of the Johnson chapter of the National Foundation, presided at the meeting.

Jim Shanks of University high school demonstrated at the program the progress he has made since last year, when he was a polio patient at the hospitals. Roger Zemanek, Dubuque, who was an SUI dentist student until he was stricken with polio, also participated in the program.

Application Date Set For Graduate Exam

Graduate students required to take the graduate record examination must have their applications mailed in time to reach Princeton, N.J., by Jan. 20.

Prof. Robert Ebel, director of SUI's examinations service, said Monday that although the examination is not required by the graduate college, some departments require it.

The examination will be given here on Feb. 3 and 4. It can be taken in May or August but it is recommended that it be taken now, Ebel said.

Applications and a booklet explaining the test may be obtained in the examinations service office, 114 University hall.

DEAN KITCHELL TO SPEAK
Dean Myrtle Kitchell of the SUI college of nursing will discuss "Trends in Nursing" at a Public Health Nursing association annual meeting Wednesday night in Cedar Rapids at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Leadership Depends on National Interest: Childs

National interests must come before sectional and regional interests in Congress if the U.S. is to take its place in world leadership today, Washington Columnist Marquis Childs said Monday night.

Speaking before a university lecture series audience in the Iowa Union, the SUI alumnus and former faculty member deplored the situation whereby "wool senators . . . cotton senators . . . and even China senators" put their "sensitive points" before the nation's interests.

Childs contrasted this country's "internal, local, selfish interests" with the kind of one-ness found in Finland and Yugoslavia.

Explaining he was most impressed with the "resolution" of Finland, Childs praised its "strong national interest that has not descended into the disease of nationalism."

The speaker described the Yugoslavians as a people with "extraordinary endurance — 'guts' is really the only thing you can call it."

"Because of the lack of national interest in America, President Truman is, in many respects, a much better president than we deserve," Childs said. "He is less susceptible to that occupational disease of politicians" — being carried away with power.

"If they cut below the danger line, I think the national interests will go by the board," he explained.

The speaker pointed out that the hope and promise of 1900 has "rather turned into dust and ashes."

Iowa Citizens Hurt As Car Overturns

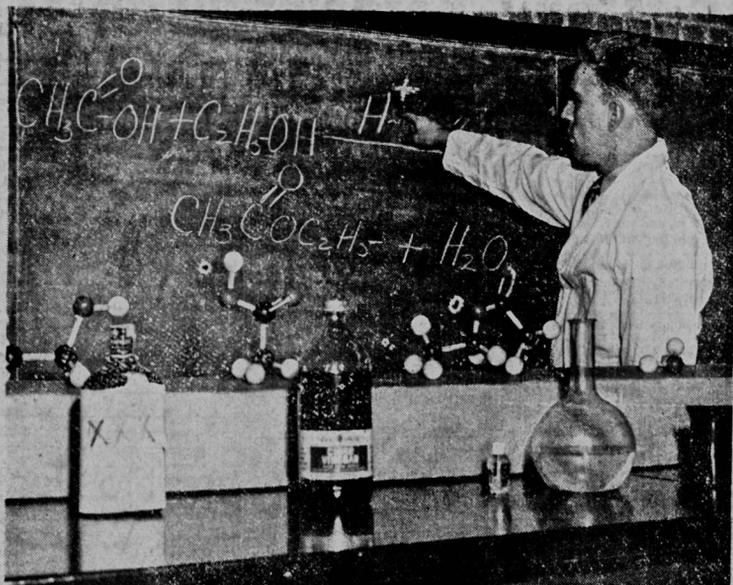

Two Iowa Citizens were injured at 12:30 a.m. Sunday when their car skidded off the icy pavement and overturned in the ditch two miles north of North Liberty on highway 218, Highway Patrolman V.F. Johnson said.

Luther Trent, 9 E. Prentiss street, driver, and Kathleen Brooks, 9 E. Prentiss street, a passenger, suffered cuts and bruises and were treated at University hospitals. The car was practically demolished, Johnson said.

Instructor Explains Reaction in Three Ways

WHISKY AND VINEGAR MIXED make nail polish solvent and water. That's the situation pictured here. A chemistry I lab teacher, Edward Peters, G. points to the chemists' shorthand method of writing a reaction between alcohol from the whisky and acetic acid from vinegar to make ethyl acetate, a solvent, and water. The chemists' models on the raised platform, show the same thing. And the bottles and the water tumbler in the foreground bring it down to everyday life. Note to chemists: the alcohol model on the left lost three hydrogen atoms in the photo darkroom.

'Tinkertoys' Simplify Chemistry Instruction

By PHIL BLUMER

There are grown men at SUI who like to play with tinkertoys, but they aren't entering their second childhood — they're attempting to educate tomorrow's chemists.

Strictly speaking, the object of their attention isn't tinkertoys but a similarly-put-together kind of model used to demonstrate the ways in which atoms are fitted together to make molecules.

Small wooden balls with holes drilled in them, representing atoms, are fastened together with wooden sticks to make the models. The whole idea is to show future chemists just why a molecule of a given compound behaves the way it does — whether or not it will swap or share atoms with another compound (another molecule).

If it does, it might produce a new type of molecule with different properties than either of the starting products.

For instance, we all know that acetic acid, which is found in vinegar is sour.

Likewise, we know that alcohol has a very distinctive sort of smell, even when it is in whiskey.

When you pour whiskey into vinegar in the right proportions, heat it and wait a while, you get a mixture of water and a compound called an ester.

If you take away the water, this ester tastes different than either vinegar or whiskey, but much like banana oil.

Now alcohol and the acetic acid from the vinegar are both composed of the same types of atoms — carbon, hydrogen and oxygen.

But the alcohol molecule has two atoms of carbon, six of hydrogen and one of oxygen. Acetic acid has two carbon atoms, four hydrogen atoms and two oxygen atoms.

With his tinkertoy models, a chemistry professor can demonstrate what actually happens to the molecules of alcohol and acetic acid when they interact. He can show how atoms of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen are put together to make molecules of the acid and alcohol.

Then he can subtract a hydrogen atom and an oxygen atom from the acid molecule, and add it to a hydrogen atom split from the alcohol model. This addition produces a water molecule.

But this operation leaves unattached one end of a wooden pin in the acid molecule, and a vacant hole in the model of the alcohol molecule.

Obviously, these will just fit together. And this result is the molecule of the ester, ethyl acetate, which is used as a lacquer thinner.

It might take a professor 15 minutes on the blackboard to fully explain such a thing, but the models show what happens in a minute or two.

An interesting and perhaps more important use of the models is to demonstrate how the atoms in sugars and other large molecules are arranged.

TALK ON SALESMANSHIP

Prof. Carl Strand of the SUI college of commerce will speak to members of the Waterloo business and professional woman's club tonight on "Personal Salesmanship." The 6:30 p.m. meeting will be held in the President hotel.

Iowa AP Wire Editors to Convene Here

Telegraph editors of The Associated Press member newspapers in Iowa will meet here Sunday to form a state-wide organization for the exchange of information on mutual problems.

Prof. Arthur Wimer, school of journalism, who arranged the meeting, said Monday that Darrell Doyle, telegraph editor of the Davenport Democrat and Leader, will preside.

The meeting will be held in the house chamber of Old Capitol. Registration will be held at 8:45 a.m.

Prof. Leslie Moeller, director of SUI's school of journalism, will open the meeting, Wimer said.

Representatives will attend from the state Associated Press bureau in Des Moines to answer questions concerning the state office. They are Jack Erickson, state editor, Kenneth Hopping and Florence Mason, members of the editorial staff.

Marion Sheen, AP general executive from Chicago, also will attend, Wimer said.

Telegraph editors other than Doyle expected to attend are Burke Gillespie, Council Bluffs Nonpartisan; Edgar Manley, Marshalltown Times-Republican; Einar Nelson, Ottumwa Courier; Russel W. Schoch, Des Moines Tribune; Malcolm Thompson, Cedar Rapids Gazette, and Charles Topp, Davenport Times.

Wimer said that once the organization is formed it probably will meet two or three times a year.

Tickets Available For Band Concert

Three agencies Monday began distribution of tickets for Wednesday's band concert in the Iowa Union at 8 p.m.

The Iowa Union information desk, Whetstones' and the band office, 15 Music building, have the free tickets.

The concert will open SUI's concert band's 69th season. For the 13th year, Prof. C.B. Richter will be conducting.

The program includes such favorite selections as "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Dukas, "Comedian's Gallop" by Kabelevsky and "Sabre Dance" by Khachaturian.

Direct Study Made By 'New Criticism,' Author-Critic Says

Cleath Brooks, author and leader of the "New Criticism" trend in literary analysis, explained that trend in a speech here Monday night.

Brooks, a Yale English professor, spoke before a large audience in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. He is visiting SUI this week to confer with creative writing classes.

The "New Criticism" approaches a work of literature directly, he said, and not through the author's society, life, and corresponding works.

"Too many critics make profound studies of all the possible interpretations of a literary work and try to correlate and find some significance in these aspects."

This leads to "far-fetched and not too applicable parallels," Brooks said. He stressed evaluating a poem or other writing by the significance of the work itself.

Too many critics try to psychoanalyze a work or author and find meaning in even the most insignificant things. Actually, he added, who knows for sure what an author meant unless he's explained himself with "a sworn affidavit of intention."

Brooks is author of several books on literary criticism. "Modern Poetry and the Tradition" and "Modern Rhetoric" are two of his most recent.

"Take cigarettes, for instance. It has been recognized by eminent nose and throat specialists that there is a difference among cigarettes. There's NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER when you smoke Philip Morris because they have been proved definitely less irritating, definitely milder than any other leading brand. Now, to define NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER in the fullest sense of the term . . ."
