Testifying from Stretcher, Kelly Names Anderson as Assailant

The state completed its testimony against Oscar Anderson about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday after a dramatic scene in which Clifford Kelly, lying on a hospital stretcher in the courthouse basement, identified Anderson as the man who shot him April 22, 1948, in the Strand cafe here.

Kelly was brought from University hospitals to testify in the shooting which was the basis of the attempted murder charge against the 59-year Anderson.

Moved to Basement The jury, defendant and court officers moved to the basement for Kelly's short testimony to avoid possible injury in transporting Kelly upstairs to the courtroom.

When County Atty. Jack C. White asked Kelly if he thought he could identify the man who shot him, Kelly replied he thought he could.

Since Kelly could not see Anderson from his position—he is paralyzed and lies on his stomach—White asked that Anderson be brought to the stretcher. At Kelly's side, Anderson asked, "How are you?"

"Not very good, how are you?" Kelly answered. Then Kelly identified Anderson in a voice almost inaudible as the man who had shot him. He also testified he entered the Strand Cafe about 5:45 p.m. the day of the shooting and sat at the counter for coffee.

"This fellow walked up and wanted to know if I wanted to fight," he said. "I saw he was mad. I turned around and he shot me."

An SUI professor, Dr. Andrew Woods, neurologist and former superintendent of SUI Psychopathic hospital, testified in the courtroom that he had conducted a physical and mental examination of the defendant in October, 1948.

Neurologist Testifies Asked by Anderson's attorney, William H. Bartley, whether he (Dr. Woods) believed Anderson's behavior the night of the shooting was that of an insane man, the doctor replied, "That is my deliberate judgment."

Dr. Woods testified that during the examination the patient had been friendly in his attitude toward the doctor, and he appeared unconcerned about his predicament, being charged with the crime.

"The thing that impressed me was his intense anger that always came up when he spoke of fights," Woods remarked.

Suffered Brain Injury The neurologist explained Anderson had suffered an injury to his brain about 10 years ago and that the injury had affected his judgment.

Defense Atty. Bartley asked, "Does such an injury damage a man's ability to understand the nature of his acts?"

"It might permit ordinary judgment, but the amount he has there might not serve him in a sudden situation," Woods explained.

County Atty. White began cross-examination of the witness, which was to be continued at 9 a.m. today.

Holdup Men Seize Over Million Dollars From Boston Firm

BOSTON (AP)—The nation's biggest robbery was pulled in Boston Tuesday night when a bandit gang made off with "more than $1-million" from an armored truck firm.

Police Supt. Edward Fallon said "over $1-million was stolen and they missed we don't know how much more because they couldn't carry it away."

The robbers struck with the precision of a well-drilled squad at Brink's Inc., a money transportation firm, on the water front. Obviously following a well-rehearsed plan, seven of the group walked into the second floor office at 6:10 p.m. To reach there, they had to open six locked doors.

Police said they opened the doors "probably with a passkey." Left behind by the robbers was "about $1-million" in a brown leather bag which represented the payroll of the General Electric company and receipts of Filene's department store, police said.

The money, all in paper bills, was scooped from an open vault into two laundry bags brought by the robbers. They left behind nearly 50 bags of silver lying in the vault.

Witnesses told police the men raced out of the Brink building into two waiting automobiles.

The Brink robbery was the second major holdup in Boston within 34 hours. Shortly before 9 a.m. Monday, three men robbed $47,627—$26,000 in cash—from the offices of the Hotel Statler in Park square.

Co-op Store to Have Final Sale of Stock

The married students co-op store will make its last sale today at 5:30 p.m., Sidney Goldberg, C, Sioux City, said Tuesday.

As an inducement to push the produce off the store's shelves, all customers will be given a 10 percent discount on purchases under $10 and a 15 percent markdown on purchases over that sum, the trustee of the now-defunct corporation said.

"There will no doubt be further price cuts on 'hard-to-move' stock," Goldberg added.

Stockholders voted to give the trustees 60 days to dispose of the store's assets shortly after they voted to dissolve the three-year-old co-op at a meeting last Wednesday.

ICE FORMATIONS hung from a Chicago and Northwestern railroad water tower at the Chicago avenue yards Tuesday as cold weather gripped the city. A water valve, used to fill the tank, stuck in an open position causing the water to overflow and freeze.

Kampus Kapers' Lovelies Display Their Charms

"MIRROR, MIRROR ON THE WALL." With Jerry Handman, A4, Brooklyn, N. Y., is hardly "the fairest of them all," as any mirror can plainly see. The complimentary mirror in this scene from the Kampus Kapers' skit based on the Snow White fantasy is played by Mel Donnelly, A3, Highland, Ind. Sponsored by the Newman club, the show began Tuesday night and will continue through Friday in Macbride auditorium. (See Review, Page 6.)

One Dead, 27 Injured In Colorado Brush Fire

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. (AP) — One soldier was killed, six critically injured and 21 others seriously burned fighting a raging brush fire that roared through Camp Carson Tuesday.

The public information officer at the hospital announced the casualty list as the fire was reported to be under control on a line a half mile north of Fountain — that is a town of 300 about 10 miles south of Colorado Springs.

At least 30 buildings in the huge army camp were gutted by flames from the brush and timber fire that broke out in the foothills section southwest of Colorado Springs.

Civilians Injured The names of the dead soldier and the injured will not be revealed until next of kin are notified. Scores of civilian volunteers suffered minor burns in fighting the flames.

More than 60 square miles of timber and brush land were devastated. Soldiers among the 4,000 volunteers who have been battling the wind lashed fire all day said they believed they had stopped the advance of the flames. Winds, which reached up to 75 miles an hour Tuesday, have subsided.

Appeal for Aid Officials at Fountain, a town of 300, had appealed for help earlier Tuesday night as the flames raced southward from Camp Carson.

Army officers said the threat to sprawling Camp Carson, a vast war-time installation, had abated with a drop in the gale-like winds Tuesday evening. There were flames in the south part of the vast reservation, but there is only timber and brush in that area.

New Alley Lights To Finish Project

Installation of six new alley lights "in the next day or two" will complete downtown Iowa City's $43,284 streetlighting project, City Engineer Fred Gartzke said Tuesday.

Earl F. Heinze, president of the Heinze Electric company, Cedar Rapids, checked with Gartzke Tuesday for approval of the new mercury-vapor streetlights.

The new lights were turned on Friday night after the Heinze company completed revamping the business district "whiteway." Work on the project started early in October.

Driver Cleared in Cherokee Accident

CHEROKEE (AP) — A seven-man grand jury Tuesday refused to indict a truck driver suspected of negligence in the investigation of an accident involving a runaway semi-trailer truck which crashed into a car and killed two men.

The grand jury returned a "no true bill" in an investigation against Robert Witte, 27, Sac City, driver of the semi-trailer truck. White said the multi-ton vehicle rolled out of control last Dec. 22 when its brakes failed.

Hundreds of Christmas shoppers were terrified as the huge vehicle swerved from curb to curb as it rolled down a hill into the center of town. The rig struck more than 20 cars, including the one in which two men were killed.

Truman Vows Fight for Vote On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman pledged Tuesday that his senate leaders will fight "all summer" if necessary to get a vote on his civil rights program.

He said he is doing "everything possible" to get it passed and that members of congress should be forced to stand up and be counted on the issue.

Pledges Delegates He made his pledge to leaders of a civil rights mobilization of more than 4,000 delegates from 33 states gathered here for a three-day session of pressuring congress to pass the controversial racial measures.

Fate of the bills is jeopardized in the senate by the threat of a southern filibuster and in the house by a coalition of southern Democrats and conservative Republicans who dominate the powerful rules committee.

Denounces Coalition The President denounced the coalition drive — which involves an attempt to restore to the rules committee its old power to bottle up controversial bills — and said he hopes it will be defeated by the full house membership.

As for the threat of a senate filibuster, the President said: "The leader of the majority and the vice-president have assured me that they will eventually get a vote, if it takes all summer. I hope that when that vote is taken we will be in a better position to understand who our friends are, and who are not."

Senate Democratic Leader Scott Lucas, (D-Ill) has said publicly that he wants a civil rights test in the senate by March 1. The real test will come on a motion to limit debate, which requires 64 votes.

Elefson May Pass Freedom on Bond

SIDNEY, IOWA (AP) — An attorney for Lyman Elefson, 22, former SUI student, accused of a poison murder, said Tuesday he thought $20,000 bond could be raised but that his client's appeal to the state supreme court might be hampered if he goes free on bail.

Attorney Warren Schrempff Omaha, Neb., and associates Monday filed for an appeal to the supreme court from district court's denial of a writ of habeas corpus.

In denying the writ of habeas corpus, the lower court ruled that under the circumstances the young defendant was entitled to freedom on bail. Attorneys have been trying to raise the $20,000.

"Our appeal to the supreme court," Schrempff said, "would come a moot question since Elefson would no longer actually be physically restrained if he is released on bond."

"For that reason it may be decided to let Elefson stay in jail until the court acts," he said.

Elefson was charged with poisoning his grandfather, Alonzo Rhode, 75, Tabor, Iowa, last April. The youth has been in county jail since Nov. 30.

Former Senator Dies

WICHITA, KAN. (AP) — Henry J. Allen, 81, former U.S. senator and twice governor of Kansas, died Tuesday after an illness of several weeks.

SUI Man Named Among Outstanding By Local Jaycees

Awards for outstanding service to the community were made Tuesday night to three Johnson county residents by the Iowa City junior chamber of commerce.

Harry B. Dunlap Jr., 830 Rider street, was picked the "outstanding young man of 1949" for his many civic activities including work with the Boy Scouts and in the junior chamber's Christmas basket project.

He received a distinguished service key, a cigar humidor and a certificate.

Graham E. Marshall, manager of the SUI fraternity business office and adviser to fraternity men, was cited as the "outstanding university young man." Marshall served as general chairman of the Iowa City community chest in 1949.

The award to the "outstanding young farmer" went to Paul E. McNutt for activities in county and township 4-H and farm bureau work.

Certificates of distinction were given to Marshall and McNutt. It was the first time the junior chamber had honored representatives of SUI and the Johnson county farm area.

4,000 Homeless As Floods Threaten Southeast Missouri

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Four to five thousand persons fled their homes in southeast Missouri Tuesday before the flooding Mississippi, on its worst rampage in 13 years.

Army engineers' warnings that they may have to dynamite a levee to ease the pressure on the fast rising stream sent evacuees streaming from the Birds Point-New Madrid floodway.

The engineers have authority over the floodway — home of some 12,000 people — which is maintained for just such an emergency. Many more of the lowlanders were expected to flee before morning.

Midwest Rivers Rampage Other midwestern rivers were on a rampage, too. With the floods still rising, the situation grew more critical hourly.

More rain was forecast for the valley of the Ohio river, already swollen to many times its normal size and flooding many thousands of acres of farmland and some southern Illinois and western Kentucky towns.

At Lawrenceville, Ill., a Wabash river levee broke Tuesday night, pouring more water on an area already inundated by the flooded Embarras river.

Call National Guard In Indiana, Gov. Henry Schricker agreed to order out a second unit of the state national guard to bolster the Wabash river bank at Vincennes.

Other sections of the country had their weather hazards. Wind-fires broke Tuesday through parts of Colorado, and new blizzards hit the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Northeastern Minnesota was slammed by its heaviest blizzard of the winter, carried on winds up to 60 miles an hour.

Heavy Rains Northern California was beset by heavy rainstorms which brought some areas their heaviest downpour in years.

Light snow continued to fall in the snow-blanketed Pacific northwest and the Houghton area of northern Michigan — the "ear" part jutting out into Lake Michigan. The Houghton area was smothered under 28 inches of snow which has fallen since Sunday.

A light drizzle and heavy fog covered most of Texas.

'Shielding' Denied In Davenport Fire

DAVENPORT (AP) — Scott County Coroner C.H. Wildman denied Tuesday that someone was "being shielded" in the Mercy hospital fire investigation and promised a "wide-open" inquest.

"No stones will be left unturned in an effort to establish the real cause of the blaze," Wildman said. Earlier, Charles Kaufman, attorney for the Rock Island, Ill., woman accused of setting the fire, said she was being made a "scapegoat" and someone was being "shielded."

Mrs. Elvora Epperly, 22, charged with first degree murder in the fire, will have a sanity hearing before the Scott county sanity commission today. She has been accused of starting the fire in which 41 women perished.

Anti-Oleo Tax Senators Defeat Substitute Plan WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators demanding outright repeal of the federal taxes on oleomargarine demonstrated their power Tuesday by crushing a substitute bill backed by dairy state members.

The final decision on repeal of the margarine taxes is expected later this week, possibly today. The senate recessed late Tuesday without any final action.

By a vote of 48 to 37, it rejected the dairy group's substitute bill, which called for repealing the 64-year-old taxes but prohibiting the interstate shipment of yellow margarine.

Three Voted City's Outstanding Young Men

THREE OUTSTANDING YOUNG MEN of Iowa City and vicinity named Tuesday night by the junior chamber of commerce are Paul E. McNutt, winner of the farm award; Graham E. Marshall, SUI adviser to fraternity men, the "outstanding university young man," and Harry B. Dunlap, 830 Rider street, Iowa City's "outstanding young man of 1949."

Making a Deal Without Compromising Principles —

SUI President Virgil Hancher made a remark in his press conference Saturday morning that has considerable significance for workers of the western world.

Asked what he thought about the chances India (which he recently visited) has for withstanding the flow of communism from the east, President Hancher replied that he had no idea, that no one else had really, but of this he was sure:

India along with many nations bordering the Orient is much less worried about the situation than the western world.

This is more significant than appears on the surface. The nations who live side-by-side with communism are really not as worried about Communist infiltration as we are.

India, for example, finds the thought of Communist doctrines repulsive to her way of life, but in a different way than does the west.

Collectivism has meaning to the east, India again as a prime example, because the population problem there is greater than anything western peoples can imagine.

State planning, therefore, is not something to be feared in the night, nor yet scoffed at like an old wife's tale. Rather, it is an idea to be approached carefully, inspected and taken at its worth for what it can do for the country.

It appears the west will have to make a deal with collectivism or social thinking, even more than we have in the past. We have been concerned with tying strings to our loans in the past so that we will not find ourselves staring back at our money in the form of armaments unfriendly to our aims.

In a world where national sovereignty becomes more a grim joke daily and interdependence among nations (trade-wise) takes on a more inviting rear-view mirror look, collectivism and state planning are realities in the road of progress.

We cannot ignore them. Indeed, it would be folly to seek to ignore these ideologies when we in the United States have made a deal with collectivism as long ago as the Tennessee valley authority and are now proposing Columbia and Missouri valley authority's, to mention two current examples from President Truman's fair deal.

We must learn to face it as the British debaters in late 1948 did in the international debate on the SUI campus. We must learn to consider a planned economy of sorts without shuddering and playing a dirge from free enterprise and capitalism.

The east has learned to live with the idea, even embrace it in part or in whole for the good they can accomplish. We must learn that collectivism and socialism are not wholly bad, even as the east must learn they are not a panacea for national ills.

We must learn to live as neighbors with ideas that were abhorrent to the founding fathers of our two major parties. We must learn to share ideologies and live with them or we run the danger of isolating ourselves as we did in the thirties when the groundwork for World War II was laid.

To fall in this may be to cease to live in the world of atomic energy and A-bombs which can wipe out a city in a split second.

get a competent administrator. An incompetent manager could easily bungle things and do more harm than good.

How has the council-manager plan proved under fire? Does it really work? Since its inception in 1903, 1,006 cities ranging in size from Cleveland, Ohio, to a small New Jersey town of 48 persons, (it pays its city manager $3,000 a year) have adopted the plan. Thirty-one of the cities have abandoned it.

One city that has tossed out the council-manager is Mason City. The council-manager plan has had trouble penetrating the midwest, but Iowa has been one of the leaders in this section of the nation.

Before we judge the plan then, we must ask ourselves these pertinent questions.

1. Are the faults the city-manager plan is useful in correcting evident in Iowa City? Or is the present mayor council system adequate?

2. Can Iowa City, which has a rather meager tax income, afford to pay for a city manager?

3. Is it worth a try, even though if proved unsatisfactory, it may take the city some time to slip out from under it.

These questions should be carefully calculated before the voter affixes his signature or turns an energetic "thumbs down" to the petition.

City government is too important to be subject to the whims and ignorance of the populace.

What are the main arguments for the plan? First, it makes for more efficiency in local administration. A salaried manager oversees operations and coordinates activity. Secondly, since the manager is not elected, there is a comparative absence of political patronage.

The top argument against the plan is expense. It will cost at least $10,000 to horse. They're a top contender for the title, with many more surprises up their sleeves.

A team that has had as much tough luck as our Hawks will be able to outdistance bad luck on sheer perseverance. Iowa has that kind of a basketball team.

After last Saturday night's roughhouse basketball game between Iowa and Indiana, it is not hard to see why four officials of the National football league are now tooting whistles for the National basketball association.

It seems a little unjust to read that Mrs. E. duPont Weir's stake horse eats scrambled eggs with his oat, and consumes milk by the gallon — especially when millions the world over want for barest necessities.

The American farm population will shrink to 13 percent of the total population by 1960. Novelists write in glowing prose of the peace and contentment of the open country, but evidently the "lure of the city" gets stronger each day.

TO THE EDITOR:

This letter is in reference to the editorial in The Daily Iowan of Jan. 13, regarding Mrs. Frank's criticism of the Greek letter societies.

Granted that fraternities have in the past performed a valuable service in teaching the art of living to some of the members, and that the fraternities since the war have shown signs of growing up.

Do these facts necessarily invalidate the criticisms made by Mrs. Frank? A week or so ago, a fraternity at one of the larger universities pledged a Negro and received nationwide publicity. Until such a thing is no longer news, I feel that Mrs. Frank's criticisms will remain valid.

Club Asks Investigation Of Upstream Pollution

Investigation of the pollution of the Iowa river from upstream sources was one of three recommendations made Monday night by the Iowa City Engineers club.

Other recommendations were formation of a Coralville sanitary district to work for elimination of Iowa river pollution and a contract with Iowa City for the processing of Coralville district sewage.

The recommendations were adopted following the report of a committee headed by Prof. A.P. Boehmer of the SUI college of engineering.

There are indications the government is not entirely satisfied with how things are going.

For one thing, the controlled press and Communist leaders never let up on the evils of absenteeism and job dumping and continually threaten drastic measures.

Nearly all industry is now in the hands of the government. There are no foreign owned concerns. All that remains is the wage class businessman. The "communists are going all out to liquidate this class, too.

The price of meat and butter has dropped in the free market as has all articles of clothing. Gas rationing has been abolished. The rationed market has been reduced.

Pork chops are no longer scarce and other foods are more plentiful. The Communists credit this to their policies and to the expanding trade with the Soviet Union and the eastern European countries.

Chrysler Offers $100 Pensions

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler corporation Tuesday offered its 90,000 production workers company-financed pensions similar to those won by Ford motor company employees last September.

Chrysler, facing a possible nationwide strike in eight days, proposed $100 monthly retirement benefits, with the corporation making up the difference between social security payments and the total.

Negotiators for the CIO United Auto workers indicated the proposal probably will be rejected formally. UAW Chrysler Director Norman Matthews said the proposal "definitely is not" a basis for settlement.

The union had insistently demanded a "better deal" on pensions and insurance for Chrysler workers than Ford employees got, because Chrysler employees generally are younger.

There were numerous differences between the framework of the pension plan offered by Chrysler and that gained from Ford in a precedent-shattering agreement last Sept. 29.

By GIL PEARLMAN

I AM sitting in a chair. I have been sitting in this same chair for the past hour. I find the chair comfortable, but it is late. I am tired and I would find a bed even more relaxing.

I am doing nothing, just staring at the wall in front of me. I have been staring at the wall for the past hour. There are no pictures on the wall and after the first 40 minutes the blank space becomes frite, like sitting through the same movie for the fourth or fifth time.

NEELESS to say, without my little black book, I am lost. Why, without it, I feel like a lawyer without a briefcase, or a shoe salesman without a shoe-horn.

(I wonder if a shoe salesman without a shoe-horn feels like a columnist without a little black book?)

PEOPLE often kid me about that book, but believe me, with my intense and developed aptitude for forgetting it is absolutely essential. When I say I'm forgetful, I'm not kidding. I still carry a class schedule around with me to aid in remembering where I'm to be and at what hour.

I bought myself one of those little desk calendars so I wouldn't forget appointments and things that had to be done. But not even one morning have I remembered to check the calendar.

MY HANDS are supposed to reach the keys on the typewriter and immediately, if not sooner, commence to produce a short piece of literature. The described procedure has been going on now since the beginning of the present academic year.

The academic year, you realize, is somewhat similar to the commercial year, except for the "academic" — that's short for "Don't cry mother, maybe I'll get a two point next year!"

TONIGHT I sat down, nonchalantly, to repeat the necessary steps. I started out in the same fashion, however, when I placed my left hand on the A,S,D and F keys and my right hand on the J, K, L and ; keys; my fingers just rested comfortably and nothing more.

Oh, I did get out a few lines of ASDFKJL; ASDFKJL, but that's not highly interesting to anybody, unless some of you have courses in "Introduction to Typing."

I FIND myself in this predicament for two reasons: (1) I have a little black book in which I list situations, as they occur, that are potential material for future offerings; (2) My absent-mindedness.

Putting the two together it is possible to condense them into one reason — because of my absent-mindedness I have misplaced my little black book.

any business in history, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the board, disclosed Tuesday.

Sloan said the automobile company netted profits which are "likely to move up over" $600-million compared with a net income of $440-million last year.

Apathetic Czechs Present Problem to Communists

By NATE POLOWETZKY

PRAGUE — After almost two years of power, Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders are still on top of the heap, but with some pretty pressing problems to be faced very soon.

They assumed power in February, 1948, and as things stand now, their old political enemies have either fled, been muzzled or otherwise effectively rendered helpless.

The press and radio echo only the Communist party line; nationalization of industry and collectivization of the rich farmlands are being pushed full steam ahead; education of the young is firmly in the hands of the state.

The Roman Catholic church, a possible rallying point in this predominantly Catholic country, has been neutralized through new legislation making it dependent on the state for funds.

Even the memory of the late Presidents T.G. Masaryk and Edward Benes, and the late Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, national heroes to millions of Czechs, is slowly being erased.

The one big problem the government faces is the apathy and passive opposition of the Czech people as evidenced by the high absenteeism and job shirking which is hampering production.

The Czechs, traditionally emotional, use these means to express their disapproval of much of the Communists' action.

There are indications the government is not entirely satisfied with how things are going.

For one thing, the controlled press and Communist leaders never let up on the evils of absenteeism and job dumping and continually threaten drastic measures.

Nearly all industry is now in the hands of the government. There are no foreign owned concerns. All that remains is the wage class businessman. The "communists are going all out to liquidate this class, too.

The price of meat and butter has dropped in the free market as has all articles of clothing. Gas rationing has been abolished. The rationed market has been reduced.

Pork chops are no longer scarce and other foods are more plentiful. The Communists credit this to their policies and to the expanding trade with the Soviet Union and the eastern European countries.

Elegance Returns to Modern Furnishings

Styles Will Combine Comfort with Charm

Advance reports on spring, 1950 showings in home furnishings indicate that modern will continue as the strongest style influence with many of the modern designs softened by details borrowed from traditional styles.

A return to the more formal and elegant traditional designs including Georgian, Regency, Empire, Directoire and the ornate designs of the French courts, is another expected style trend. This will be featured in both faithful reproductions of the originals and in the modernized simplified versions.

Bases of modern sofas and chairs will be styled with such decorative accents as cord fringe, moss edging and gently curved frames. On wood pieces, curves will replace straight, sharp outlines. Noticeable, too, will be the highly decorative hardware appearing on chests, buffets, desks and other furniture.

Dual Purpose Features — These changes don't mean contemporary designs have lost their functional features for the sake of adding more beauty. Modern furniture also continues to improve and refine its utility and dual purpose features.

Another highlight of the spring showings will be the wider use of foam rubber upholstery. Formerly confined to furniture in the upper price brackets, foam rubber upholstery will be seen more frequently in moderately priced merchandise.

The big news in upholstery fabrics are the new nylons which are expected to be introduced by at least one nationally-known manufacturer. The same qualities that make nylon desirable in other products are true in home furnishings. Its long-wear, resistance to moths, mildew, and inflammability plus easy cleanability, are features which make nylon upholstery so practical for home furnishings.

Likely Color Favorites — As for color, indications are that shades of brown including tobacco, Havana and cocoa will replace last year's gray as the high fashion leader.

Muted tones of green, blue-red, blue and gold are expected to be among the season's favorites. Bright coral, flame, terra cotta and kelly green will be seen frequently as accent colors.

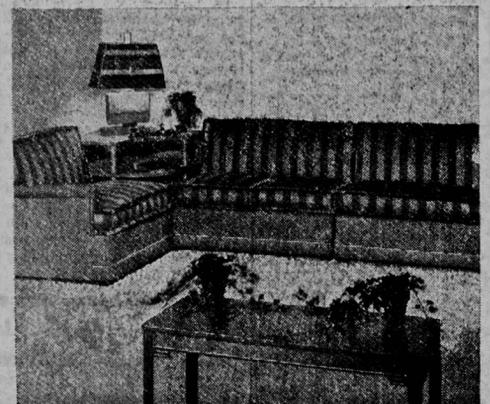

Television has caused modification in furniture designs. Many of the displays feature extra-long sofas to accommodate five or six people. More sectionals will be shown in both straight and curved styles.

Easy Mobility — Easy mobility is the keynote of furniture mounted on casters. Sectionals may be easily rearranged for a dramatic decorative effect and individual units are far easier to move than a full-sized sofa.

Practical to the 'nth degree are chairs with decorative carrying handles and tables with tops that flip over to reveal an upholstered underside so they may be used as a seating unit.

Lightweight chairs and serving tables which may be folded up and hidden away when not in use are another of a multitude of practical designs in home furnishings which will be available to home owners in the next few months.

ADAPTABLE TO THE 'NTH DEGREE is this luxurious sectional sofa. Designed to seat five comfortably, it can be adapted to either 18th century or modern interiors. Cushions are covered in striped sat-in damask to contrast with the solid color textured fabrics used for the arm and base. It's just one of the advanced predictions for home furnishings you'll see in stores this spring.

"DO YOU SUPPOSE SHE WOULD LIKE ONE OF THESE?" asks Al Thimmesh (left), A3, Dubuque. Thimmesh is admiring a white orchid shown him by Frank Eicher, local florist. Orchids are new sold in tiny vases to keep them fresh. When buying a corsage for a woman, her date should always keep in mind what she will wear and what sort of person she is.

Women Like the Right Corsage — Flowers Can Add 'That Extra Touch'

From the time a woman is born until she dies, flowers play an important part in her life. As the years go on, she looks back on the corsages she wore to a party or dance — flowers which added an "extra touch" to make the occasion a success.

Corsage designing has become a highly developed art in recent years. Occasionally Iowa City florists receive unusual requests, like the one from a young man demanding the invention of a new flower. A florist solved this problem by taking white cyclamen blossoms to form a striking corsage for the lucky date.

Ordinary Flowers Effective — "Many men overlook 'ordinary' flowers when ordering a corsage," according to one florist. "For example, tiny baby chrysanthemums or gladioli blossoms can be made into effective corsages."

Spring flowers are also ignored by many purchasers. Jonquils, lilies of the valley and violets are all excellent corsage flowers. Recently a distant cousin of the jonquil, the amazon lily, has been used. It looks like a white narcissus with a green center and has a lasting ability comparable to that of an orchid.

Picking the Right One — Florists emphasize the necessity of knowing certain information to prepare the right corsage. The color of dress and accessories, where the flowers are to be worn, the occasion, and what the girl looks like are a few of these. For instance, a very small girl may be dwarfed by too large a corsage. Showy orchids should be worn only by taller women.

Seed companies are continually striving to develop new colors so that flowers to match almost any dress are now available. Roses especially offer a wide range, with such descriptive titles as Snow

White, Coral Reef, Golden Rapture and Pink Delight.

There is an important difference between flowers for daytime wear and those for evening, florists say.

Orchids for Suits — Green orchids are used with suits, for example, while the traditional lavender variety is best for evening. The use of foliage and greenery is usually restricted to daytime use.

Popular combinations in corsages are gardenias with roses and carnations, either regular or "feathered" varieties, and carnations with roses. Camellias are always used by themselves.

Although flowers are not always necessary for a party, most women agree that they are an expression of something that cannot be said in so many words.

Oklahoma, Irish Now Grid Foes

Agree Verbally for Confests in '52, '53

NORMAN, OKLA. (AP) — The Universities of Oklahoma and Notre Dame, two of last season's undefeated power house football teams, agreed Tuesday to play a home and home football series in 1952 and 1953, Oklahoma officials announced.

The first meeting between the two schools will be Nov. 8, 1952, at South Bend, Ind., Sooner Coach Charles (Bud) Wilkinson said.

Notre Dame will come to Norman Sept. 26, 1953, for the Sooners' opening game.

Sooners 'Pleased'
President George L. Cross of Oklahoma said he was "pleased the two top teams of 1949 will meet in '52 and '53."

"It will be an unforgettable day when Notre Dame visits us in 1953," Cross said.

Wilkinson and Coach Frank Leahy of the Fighting Irish took leading roles in the discussions leading to the agreement. The coaches met in Dallas, Tex., Dec. 3, following the Notre Dame-Southern Methodist game, and have conferred several times since.

Verbal Agreement
The announcement was made jointly by Wilkinson and Edward Krause, athletic director at Notre Dame. Wilkinson said no contract for the games had been signed, but a verbal agreement is in effect.

The Sooners will meet the Irish in the middle of their 1952 season. The week before, Iowa State will be the opponent, while the week after it will be Missouri. Wilkinson said he had no comment to make regarding the agreement.

St. Pat's, St. Mary's Clash Here Tonight

That age-old city rivalry of St. Patrick's vs. St. Mary's renews itself once more at 8 p.m. tonight when these two teams meet at City high gym.

The Irish and the Ramblers have fought through 56 previous meetings with the north-side St. Mary's quintet holding a 30-26 edge. This record excludes any tournament games.

St. Pat's will go into tonight's battle cast in the role of the favorite, if the season's records mean anything.

Coach Francis Suplee's Ramblers have won five games while losing nine this year. St. Patrick's, meanwhile, have won 10 and lost seven.

Probably the Irish are due for a victory tonight. For they have not beaten St. Mary's in regularly scheduled competition since the first game of the 1947 series.

Last year the Ramblers won by 37-29 and 39-34 margins. However, they were upset by the Irish, 33-30, in the diocesan tournament in the fieldhouse.

N. Carolina Upsets Long Island, 55-52

NEW YORK (AP) — A clever North Carolina State basketball team, playing without a substitution, pulled one of the biggest upsets of the season Tuesday night, tripping Long Island university, 55-52, in the opening game of a college doubleheader before 18,000 Madison Square Garden spectators.

Never behind after Long Island took an opening 1-0 lead, the five "iron men" from Raleigh, N.C., quickly burst into a 10-1 margin, walked off the court at halftime leading 32-24, then settled back to repel the furious Blackbird charge during the entire second half for their most impressive victory of the season.

It was only the second defeat for the Long Island Skyrapers.

Hawkeye Wrestlers To Meet Wheaton On Fieldhouse Mat

The Iowa wrestling team will attempt to gain its second win in as many starts when it tangles with Wheaton college in the fieldhouse tonight at 8 p.m.

The Hawkeye grapplers won their first engagement of the year when they came from behind to beat out Wisconsin's Badgers, 15-11, Saturday. The Hawks won decisions in the last three weight classes, after trailing, 11-6, with five bouts completed.

Coach Mike Howard said that he probably would start the same lineup which whipped Wisconsin. Little information is available on the Wheaton team, except the fact that it probably lacks the strength of the 1949 team which tied Iowa, 15-15, at Wheaton in a January meet.

Wheaton lost to Wisconsin, 21-10, before Christmas and last Saturday dropped a 25-3 decision to Iowa State Teachers college. Veterans of the Illinois outfit include Pete Wilson, 155; Don Benson, 175; and Dick Simmons, 290-pound heavyweight.

The probable lineups:
Vern McCoy Don Wheeler
Manuel Macias Glenn Helm
Ken Carman Jerry Harrell
George Tella (co.) Charles Edwards
Russ Tharp Pete Wilson
Miles Benda Bill Wilson
Joe Scarnello Don Benson
Joe Paulsen Dick Simmons

Hogan 'Awfully Tired,' Playoff Round Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Golf Star Ben Hogan was pictured as "awfully tired" Tuesday on the eve of his 18-hole play-off with Sam Snead for the victory laurels of the Los Angeles open tournament.

Snead, on the other hand, was described as in robust health as the two headliners of the sport spent a comparatively easy day before their belated duel at the Riviera country club at 2:30 p.m. (Iowa time) today.

"Ben is all right but he's awfully tired," said Mrs. Hogan, his attractive wife, as she waited to accompany him to the club for a practice round.

"The freezing weather during the Crosby tournament took a lot out of him," she added. She referred to conditions over the weekend during the pro-amateur tournament staged on the Monterey peninsula in northern California by Singer Bing Crosby.

The rivals and the expected gallery of thousands, meanwhile, got a break from the weatherman. He switched signals from a previous forecast and predicted clear skies and no rain today.

Kurowski to Manage Cardinal Farm Club

LYNCHBURG, VA. (AP) — George (Whitey) Kurowski, veteran third baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals, Tuesday night was named manager of the Lynchburg Cardinals of the Class B Piedmont league.

Lynchburg is a St. Louis farm club.

Appointment of Kurowski for the 1950 baseball season was announced here by Lynchburg Business Manager Wallace McKenna. As skipper of the team, he will succeed Vernon Mackie, who retired from baseball this winter in favor of a railroad job.

'Beat Indiana and Taube's Forgiven' —

Purdue's victory over Iowa undoubtedly eased the situation somewhat but it didn't take long for the visitor to get the idea that all was not rosy on the Boilermaker basketball front. From the students who wore cards saying "We'll Back Purdue" to the cab driver who for a reason strictly illegal in Iowa picked the Hawks by five points the opinion was one that the team Mel Taube tutors was in pretty sad shape.

Beside the possibility of a coaching removal the thought uppermost on the minds of persons in Lafayette was Purdue's losing streak. Six straight before the Iowa game.

"Why that's impossible," a fan told us before the game. "Purdue lost five straight one time, also under Taube's handling, and that was bad enough. Can you imagine six straight? Why, he's got the best material he's had in years."

"Yes," cautioned another critic, "but if we (Purdue) beat Indiana next week all will be forgiven."

Student opinion, of course, ranged from complete optimism to complete pessimism. We almost dropped our supper tray upon hearing part of a conversation going on between two students waiting in line to eat Monday evening.

"... and I tell you Purdue will get slaughtered."

"Want to make a small wager on that?"

"Gladly, and I'll give you 10 to one odds."

We concluded they were bowling fans and had never heard of home court advantage and the numerous other uncertainties of Big Ten basketball.

Sunday night Athletic Director Guy Mackey said he would not investigate "demands" that Taube resign. "I haven't heard of any alumni criticism of Taube," he told a reporter, "and I'm not going to investigate to see if there is any."

Mackey had just returned from the National Collegiate Athletic association meetings in New York and may have been out of contact with the goings-on in and around Lafayette.

He had not heard of, or had disregarded, the banner that appeared on the campus earlier in the week which urged the removal of Taube.

The Lafayette newspaper, doing more than anyone to enact a change, reminded its readers through stories, sports columns and editorials, of the past greatness of Purdue basketball teams and how the Boilermakers have hit a new low. Most persons were well aware that Purdue, under the guidance of Piggy Lambert, was one of the powers of Western conference basketball. Its last title, in 1940, was the seventh in the school's conference history. Piggy retired in 1946.

At any rate, before the Iowa game Taube saw reason to change his tactics. In place of warming up his 10 top men in front of the crowd he kept them on a gymnasium upstairs and refused entrance to anyone. Twenty minutes before gametime he brought them to the varsity floor. The cheering from the predominantly student body crowd left something to be desired in the way of noise, until late in the second half.

While waiting for the arrival of the players some fans kept themselves busy trying to guess which five men would start. Before Monday night 11 different combinations had answered the opening tipoff.

Best chance of all was that Taube would stay out the season but wouldn't be back next season. The players were reported to be behind their coach and playing hard to win for him. Its too bad pressure has been brought to bear during the season, it makes it tough for everybody concerned.

Colleges, High Schools Enter AAU Swim Here

Entries from colleges and high schools have been received for the Iowa AAU championship men's swimming meet at the fieldhouse Saturday and for the AAU national 1500-meter race.

James Counsilman, assistant Hawkeye swimming coach, said that Iowa State college will enter a full team in the senior championship events along with SUU representatives.

The 1500-meter swim Saturday morning will have such men as Roger Watts of Iowa State, third in the National Collegiate 1500-

Sanity Code Rebels Subject to Boycotts

CHICAGO (AP) — The top officials of the NCAA, in a "clarifying statement," said Tuesday that seven violators of the so-called Sanity Code were subject to future schedule boycotts and barring from NCAA championship meets.

New President Hugh C. Willet of Southern California and Secretary-Treasurer K. L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, said "that status" was "implied" under the NCAA's present constitution and regulations.

Six of the violators are schools whose proposed membership ouster failed in an NCAA convention vote last weekend at New York. They are Virginia, Virginia Tech, Virginia Military Institute, Maryland, Boston College and Villanova.

The seventh school, The Citadel, also admitted it violated the code but resigned from the NCAA at the meeting.

Third Atomic Energy Lecture Series Begins in Davenport

The third presentation of the "Marengo experiment" lectures on atomic energy was begun last week in Davenport with a lecture on "One World or None" by Prof. Hew Roberts, SUI college of education.

Roberts spoke to an audience of about 700. The series, an education project describing phases of atomic energy for adult laymen, will continue through nine weeks.

Other lectures in the series will include information on the structure of the atom, the mathematical background of atomic research and the applications of atomic energy.

Atomic Age Strategy
These applications include uses in industry, agriculture and medicine. Also to be discussed during the series is the secret of the atom bomb and war strategy in the atomic age.

The final talks will be a layman's evaluation of the adjustments that people must make to work for peace in the age of the atom.

Discussing this adjustment will be Robert J. Blakely, editorial page editor of the St. Louis Star-Times; W.W. Waymack, formerly a member of the U.S. atomic energy commission, and Roberts.

Demonstration Materials
Other SUI lecturers in the series are Prof. George Glockler, chemistry department; Arthur Roberts, director of research in nuclear physics, and J.I. Routh, department of biochemistry.

Special demonstration materials are being used extensively in the talks. These include radioactive and blown glass models of atomic structure and Geiger radiation counters.

The first two presentations of the atomic education series were given in Marengo, last winter, and in Iowa City, last summer.

Union Board Plans Second Game Party

"Live" music and an improved "Club Hawkeye" will highlight the Union board's second post-basketball game party of the season Saturday night.

The open house will begin in the Iowa Union immediately after the Iowa-Northwestern game, Party Chairman Mike Trueblood, 44, Sioux Falls, S.D., said Tuesday.

Included in the party schedule will be dancing in the Union main lounge, with music by J. Weider and his orchestra.

An admission program will be presented at 10:45 p.m., by several members of the Kampus Kapers cast, Trueblood said.

This week's party will also include all the features of the first open house. Singing, card games and movies will be available to all party-goers, he added.

More than 2,000 students attended the first party, held in the Iowa Union following the Iowa-Indiana game last Saturday.

School Orchestra To Give Review

The Iowa City high school orchestra will present a concert in the high school auditorium at 9 a.m. Thursday, Principal Ralph Austermler has announced.

Laverne A. Wintermeyer, faculty member, will conduct the 49-piece group in a program which will include "The Emerger Waltz" by Strauss and "Mission Overture" by Johnson.

Two numbers from "Naughty Marietta" by Victor Herbert will be sung by Dick Williams, a recent graduate. The public is invited to attend the concert, Austermler said.

Professor E. F. Mason To Judge Photo Contest

Prof. Edward F. Mason of the SUI school of journalism will help judge entries in the fourth annual Greater Iowa Photographic contest in Des Moines, March 3.

Winning prints in the contest will be displayed at the Des Moines art center and used in the state's advertising and publicity.

Four Stars Twinkle in 'Kapers'

Donnelly, Shull, Handman, Brooking Perform In Explosive Fashion in 'Happy Atoms'

By BARBARA BLOXOM

If a theater marquee had twinkled in front of Macbride hall Tuesday night, four names would have beamed out in lights under the heading: Kampus Kapers "Happy Atoms."

Mel Donnelly, A3, Highland, Ill.; Dick Shull, A4, Chicago; Jerry Handman, A4, Brooklyn, N.Y., and Jack Brooking, A3, Wataga, Ill., tossed out the kind of explosive performances promised by the show's title.

The audience spotted Donnelly early in the first act when he gushed his way through a male take-off on female dormitory life, and every subsequent entrance was accompanied by an audible titter of anticipation from the crowd.

"Wha' Hoppen?"

Donnelly showed his mettle as an actor when he came to the rescue during a lull — a little too lengthy to be intentional. Just as the audience began to wonder, "Wha' hoppen?" Donnelly uttered in a hoarse stage whisper:

"It ain't my line!" Shull and Handman were perhaps the liveliest live-wires of the evening. Each managed his own bit of scene — stealing, which they brought to an appropriate climax in a skit of their own creation, "Snow White."

They murdered the beautiful old tale in a sadistically satisfying fashion, with Handman as the squawking old witch with a passion for "Bom-boms," and Shull as the crawling, near-sighted huntsman.

Imitates Jolson

Jolson fans must have felt a chill or two when the spotlight turned on Jack Brooking, and the tremulous notes of the old tear-jerker, "Sonny Boy" filled the house.

Complete with Jolsonian white gloves, voice, facial expression and open-armed gestures, Brooking held his audience in a sort of trance. There was a hush before the applause.

One of the most impressive acts on the serious side was "The Dancer" — a song written by Merrill Sparks, G, Etna.

Bobby Bender, A3, Des Moines, danced provocatively as Dick Williams, A1, Iowa City, sang the words with their thought-provoking philosophy that compares life to a dance:

Dramatic Climax

The dance whirled to a dramatic climax as the dancer fell at the singer's feet as he sang, "When the music stops—you may never dance again."

A few words should come from the orchids department for the work of "Torchy" Castle, A4, Des Moines, and Pat Pierce, A2, Des Moines, who stepped into roles on two-days' notice to take the place of Shirley Schreiber, who was unable to appear because of a death in her family.

The performance as a whole was snappy and well-balanced, reflecting the enthusiasm of the show's energetic director, Jack Pedersen, A4, Marshalltown.

The script by Gil Pearlman, A3, Des Moines, Daily Iowan columnist, gave the cast a sure-fire chance to offer a gay revue — and they didn't miff that chance.

Police Fines Total $55; 39 Persons Involved

John R. Potter, Tiffin, was fined $22.50 in Iowa City police court Tuesday for speeding.

Police docket for Monday showed 39 persons were fined a total of $55 for parking and meter violations. Four cases were dismissed. One person chose to have his car checked for safety in lieu of paying a fine.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE famous vaudeville team of Smith and Dale, whose Dr. Kronkhte act still is convulsing the populace on television, tell about one patient of the good doctor who was advised to take up horseback riding to cut down his middle-aged spread. A few weeks later Dr. Kronkhte encountered his patient aboard a yearling nag in the dead of the night. "Why ride at such an hour as this?" asked the doctor.

"Economics," explained the patient. "In the daytime the crook who owns this horse wants six dollars an hour for renting it to me." "And what does he charge you at night?" demanded Kronkhte. "At night," said the patient, "he isn't there."

Add to the Sherlock Holmes saga: The good Sherlock observed one morning, "Ah, Dr. Watson, still wearing your winter underwear, eh?" "Incredible," marveled Watson. "How did you deduce that?" "Elementary, my dear doctor," said Holmes. "In the first place, you forgot to put on your pants."

... But Not in the Christmas Spirit

(Daily Iowan Photos)

NOEL MET NOEL EARLY TUESDAY MORNING, but neither was radiating yuletide joy. Cars driven by Betty Jean Noel, 303 S. Capitol street, and Noel D. Knotts, 919 E. Fairchild street, collided at the corner of S. Dubuque and E. Benton streets at 8:55 a.m. Tuesday. Result: The Noel automobile was damaged an estimated $600; Noel D. Knotts' car was damaged an estimated $575. And as if this weren't enough, Knotts' car knocked off the barrel of a water hydrant, losing a stream of water which caused the Iowa Water Service company to be summoned. About $500 damage to the hydrant was reported. No one was injured.

Dubuque Only Large Iowa City with Manager

By GEORGE WILSON

The current interest in the council-manager form of city government here has prompted digging into records for evidence of what government plan other cities in Iowa are using.

Cities and towns in Iowa number 932, according to the 1948 report of the state auditor, Municipal Finances of Iowa.

More specifically, 817 are towns — population under 2,000 — 98 are cities of the second class with 2,001 to 15,000 population and only 17 are first class cities, with a population of over 15,000.

The 1948 figures disclose that seven Iowa cities are currently using the commission form of government. The seven are all first class cities, or over 15,000 population.

As of that year, 13 cities were running their business with the council-manager system. Of that number, only one, Dubuque, is classified as a first class city.

West Liberty Included

Ten cities using council-manager government are cities of second class, between 2,000 and 15,000 population. And two, Fredericksburg and West Liberty, are towns of 800 and 1,679 population, respectively.

Of the 932 incorporated cities and towns in Iowa, the figures show 912 operating with the mayor, council form of city government.

It should be mentioned, however, that Des Moines, a first class city, recently voted to change from commission to the council-manager form.

By setting up a hypothetical category, we see that there are five cities in Iowa with between 15,000 and 20,000 persons, including Iowa City, Keokuk, Fort Madison, Muscatine and Marshalltown.

Petitions Circulated

Four of these five, including Iowa City, are using the mayor-council form of government. The fifth, Keokuk, uses the commission form.

Iowa City voters will get a chance to indicate their wishes on what system they prefer, if the petitions to be circulated starting Jan. 24, are returned with a sufficient number of signatures. The petitions, to be circulated by the local Council — Manager association, call for an election here to determine whether the present mayor-council form should be retained or discarded in favor of the council-manager plan.

Frivol Picks Editors For Beauty Contest

Keith Kartman, A3, Chicago, and Tom Clithero, A4, Atlantic, have been named contest editors in the annual Frivol freshman beauty contest. Frivol Editor Nick Thimmesch, A4, Dubuque, said Tuesday.

Pictures of the five finalists will appear in the March issue of Frivol, Thimmesch said.

Concert Tonight; Half of Band First-Yearmen

Almost half the members of SUI's concert band playing in tonight's Iowa Union concert are first-year members.

Forty musicians of the 84 piece band are in their first year while 33 are in their second, C.B. Righter, director of SUI bands, said.

Eight band members are in their third season and two are fourth year veterans.

The fourth year members are Paul Hoskins, E4, Clarinda, baritone saxophonist, and Delbert Hardy, A4, Missouri Valley, trumpeter.

The concert, scheduled for 8 p.m., is made up of eight numbers all new to the band's repertoire this year, Righter said.

The first half of the program includes the well-known "Prelude and Fugue in F Minor" by Handel and "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Dukas.

Kabelevsky's "Comedian's Gallop" and Khachaturian's "Three Dances from 'Gayne' Ballet" including the "Sabre Dance" will highlight the second half of the program.

Free tickets for the concert were still available late Tuesday at the three distributing points — Whetstone's, the Iowa Union desk and the band office, 15 Music building.

Economists Wanted For Washington Jobs

The U.S. Civil Service commission is looking for economists to fill positions in Washington, D.C., paying $3,825 to $6,400 yearly.

The examination will cover such fields as business, international trade, financial, transportation, labor, forest and general economics, the commission said.

No written test is required for the jobs but applicants must have had five to seven years experience or be able to substitute college training, the commission said.

Information and application blanks can be obtained from the local civil service secretary, Lester Parizek, at the Iowa City post office.

VISITING LECTURER

Dr. C.C. Higgins of the Cleveland clinic will speak at an SUI college of medicine lecture Monday at 4:10 p.m. in the medical amphitheater, room E-331 University hospitals. He will discuss "Diagnosis and Treatment of Carcinoma of the Bladder."

Donald Wagner Chosen Pi Tau Sigma President

Donald Wagner, E4, Iowa City, has been elected president of the Iowa Omicron chapter of Pi Tau Sigma, honorary engineering fraternity.

Wagner said Monday that other officers elected for the second semester were:

James Kaulzarich, E4, Cedar Rapids, vice president; Merle Kruse, E3, Moline, Ill., recording secretary; Robert Glover, E4, Comstock, Neb., corresponding secretary, and Howard Moeller, E2, Cedar Rapids, historian.

University Rifle Team Elects New Co-Captains

Harlan Bjork, E4, Albert City, and Donald Ramsey, C4, Olin, were elected co-captains of the SUI rifle team at a recent meeting of the team, Sgt. J. P. Anderson, team coach, said Tuesday.

Anderson said official scores of a triangular match held with Wisconsin and Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday were not yet available.

Ex-War Prisoners Apply for Benefits

Thirty-five former prisoners of war, most of them SUI students, have applied to the local Red Cross chapter for benefits to which they are entitled for their imprisonment.

Former prisoners are entitled $1 for each day they spent in an enemy prison camp and failed to receive proper food as defined in the 1929 Geneva convention, Mrs. Lorna Mathes, local Red Cross director, said Monday.

Applications for the benefits must be made by March, 1951. The director said the Red Cross office here will assist any person who was a prisoner and desires to make application.
