Truman Lashes Out at Byrnes; Won't Comment on New Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman took a punch at James F. Byrnes Thursday with a crack that his former secretary of state now is free to do as he damn pleases.

His tone as much as the damn emphasized the deepness of the gulf that has developed between the two. Now a South Carolina lawyer, Byrnes has been getting in some licks of his own lately at the Truman Fair Deal program.

The conference took a broad fast sweep over such subjects as hydrogen bombs and the coal situation. It went like this: Hydrogen bomb — Mr. Truman can't comment on whether he is considering production of a hydrogen bomb that might be hundreds of times more deadly than the original atom bomb.

Vaughan — There will be no change in the status of his army aide, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan. Coal — When there is a national emergency, the President will act, but it isn't here yet.

Miners Jeer ...

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Thousands of jeering coal miners Thursday rejected demands they go back to work.

The action in West Virginia and Pennsylvania came on the heels of new violence in the seven-state walkout of 90,000 United Mine Workers.

William Hynes, president of UMW district 4, was booted at a mass meeting in southwestern Pennsylvania. He was escorted to his car by several friends.

There was only one sign of a break in the strike which John L. Lewis has suggested be ended. In the Pittsburgh area (district 5) UMW officials reported success in persuading representatives of about 10,000 miners to obey Lewis.

Sheriff Scores ...

VAN WERT, OHIO (AP) — Sheriff Roy Shaffer of Van Wert county Thursday night served 17 summons papers on John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union, in the diner of an east bound train carrying him from Springfield, Ill., to Washington.

The papers were served in connection with the filing of nine personal liability and injunction suits against the mine union chief and the miners for about $9-million under the Ohio Valentine act barring restraint of trade in the production of coal.

Situation Tense ...

WASHINGTON (AP) — A formal break in diplomatic relations between the United States and Bulgaria, was reported Thursday night as imminent following a Bulgarian demand for recall of the U.S. minister there. The recall of Donald R. Heath, the U.S. minister to Sofia, was demanded Thursday by Bulgaria.

House Rejects Plan For Economic Aid To Southern Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Truman administration suffered a stinging foreign policy defeat Thursday when the house refused to grant further economic aid to southern Korea.

By a two-vote margin, 193-191, the house rejected the administration's request for $60-million to help bolster the little republic's economy during the next six months.

In hot debate preceding the vote, critics of the administration cried that granting the funds would be throwing money down "a rathole."

The vote reflected dissatisfaction with the Truman far eastern policy. Many Republicans have been denouncing the President's decision not to help Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of China make a last-ditch stand on the island of Formosa against the Chinese Communists.

Two Local Youths Held for Larceny

Three Iowa youths, two from Iowa City, were charged with grand larceny Thursday in Gallatin, Mo., after their alleged robbery of a Pattonburg, Mo., filling station, according to The Associated Press.

Arrested by highway patrolmen were Charles E. Sedive, 17, and Francis Vernon Pittman, 20, both of Iowa City, and Bruce Edwin McIntosh, 17, Boone.

A preliminary hearing for the youths was set for today.

Filing station operator Walter Lambert told officers the trio took $40 from the station.

Iowa City police said Thursday night that to their knowledge the youths had no previous police records here.

Wandering Cow Sent to Slaughterhouse

THIS JERSEY COW wandered from her pen near Enid, Okla., fell into a narrow, five-foot deep ditch (above) and was extricated only after pipeline workers dug a ditch in from the side Thursday. The cow was so badly hurt a veterinarian said she could not survive. The animal was sent to a slaughterhouse.

Ousted Navy Chief Denfeld Announces Plans for Retiring

BOSTON (AP) — Admiral Louis Denfeld, deposed navy chief and storm center in the armed services unification controversy, announced his retirement Thursday. Denfeld's removal as chief of naval operations after presenting the navy viewpoint before a congressional committee brought heated protests from many quarters but he studiously avoided adding fuel to the flames in announcing his decision.

More than 40 years of service entitled Denfeld to retirement and he "went through channels" in asking it. His request was submitted to the first naval district commandant for forwarding to Navy Secretary Matthews, who has denied that the admiral's testimony was responsible for his removal.

Denfeld, who wears four rows of decorations and campaign ribbons, topped by a submariner's dolphins, explained that while he regretted leaving the service now, "everyone must retire eventually."

Navy regulations would not have compelled him to "swallow the anchor" until he is 62, four years hence.

Admiral Denfeld asked that his retirement be made effective March 1.

Suspect Held for Questioning About Million Dollar Robbery

BOSTON (AP) — The federal bureau of investigation said Thursday night that it knows the serial numbers of almost one-tenth of the million dollars cash grabbed here by nine masked gunmen Tuesday night.

It's listing of the numbers on $98,900 included in the fantastic haul at Brink's, Inc., a money transportation firm, was one of many developments Thursday in the nation-wide manhunt. Others were:

1. FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover personally entered the case by assuming over-all supervision of the widening search for the gunmen who set a new record in larceny of cash.

2. In Miami, Fla., a New Jersey ex-convict identified as Arthur Langan, 45, of Englewood, N.J., was detained for questioning by Boston police.

Boston Police Captain John D. Ahearn said Langan was wanted for questioning in connection with the holdup. He refused to say, however, what connection he thought Langan had with the Brink's holdup.

Miami Detective H. J. Holland said he found $1,762 in cash on Langan's person, including 33 fifty-dollar bills. No charges were placed against him.

Davenport Tip ...

DAVENPORT (AP) — A Davenport filling station attendant Thursday notified police that six men who purchased gasoline from him acted "suspicious" and he thought they might be connected with the $1.5-million robbery in Boston.

John Woods, the attendant, said the six men purchased 18 gallons of gasoline and that the driver then said to one of the other men, "Let's have some of that silver."

Woods said the men drove away after asking the way to Omaha. He said they were driving a maroon-colored Buick sedan with Pennsylvania license plates.

Davenport police said they were notifying the highway patrol.

Three Appointed To SUI Faculty

Appointment of three new members to the SUI faculty has been approved by the state board of education, President Virgil Hancher said Thursday.

Dr. John Moore who received his doctor of medicine degree from the University of California in 1942, was named instructor in the department of obstetrics and gynecology. His appointment here became effective Jan. 1.

Appointed associate in the department of orthopedic surgery was Dr. Micheal Bonfiglio who received his medical degree from the University of Chicago in 1943 and served two years in the army medical corps. His appointment is effective April 1.

Curtis Jenkins, a graduate of DePauw college, was named instructor in library education in the SUI liberal arts college.

U.S. Ready To Support Spanish Cause In UN

Were Their Faces Ever Red!

KALAMAZOO, MICH. (AP) — Firemen were busy explaining to their chief Thursday how a $2,500 blaze damaged the station while they were sleeping.

The embarrassed firemen were awakened by Merchant Police Officer Sam Hyman who saw smoke streaming from the hose tower.

Coughing and sputtering, the 14 fire-fighters slid down poles and extinguished a blaze which started in the basement.

Anderson Lawyer Says He'll File For New Trial

Oscar Anderson's attorney, William H. Bartley, said Thursday he would file a motion for a new trial "sometime within the next few weeks."

Anderson, 59-year-old Iowa Citian, was convicted of assault with intent to commit murder at 2:20 a.m. Thursday.

District Court Judge Harold D. Evans gave the defense until 10 a.m. Feb. 2 to file motion for a new trial. He set 11 a.m. Feb. 2 as the time for pronouncement of sentence.

Deliberate 10 Hours The elderly, former steeple-jack was declared guilty of the charge in connection with the near-fatal shooting of Clifford Kelley in the Strand Cafe, April 22, 1948. A jury of nine men and three women deliberated almost 10 hours, before bringing in the verdict.

Present in the court room when Jury Foreman H.M. Sutton read the verdict were Clarence and Ella Kelly, brother and sister of Clifford Kelly.

On the word, "guilty," the defendant rose from his chair and turned as if to leave the room. Bartley touched Anderson's arm and the elderly man sat down obediently.

Judge Evans asked Anderson if he would like to say something. The defendant rose and moved toward the judge.

"Well, I don't know what to say, but in the first place, you can't defend yourself like you used to, and they take advantage of the way you're walking sideways . . . over 15 years I don't use no gun, no club, no nothing."

Anderson continued, muttering unintelligibly, until Judge Evans said, "Well, Oscar, I think you've had a fair trial . . ."

Judge Evans said Thursday that maximum penalty on the charge would be 30 years in the state penitentiary. He added that the sentence could be reduced, "but that would be entirely under the direction of the penitentiary authorities and the state parole board."

Acheson Sends Letter Showing Shift in Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Acheson announced Thursday the United States is prepared to support a move in the United Nations to end the three-year-old diplomatic boycott of Franco Spain.

In addition Acheson said this government is "quite prepared to acquiesce in the extension of credits to Spain covering specific and economically justifiable projects" in which there is "a reasonable prospect of repayment."

Letter to Connally The secretary disclosed this major shift of American policy in a letter to Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex) of the senate foreign relations committee.

Connally and many other senators have made repeated demands that this country resume diplomatic and trade relations with Madrid which were broken off in 1946 in keeping with a resolution adopted by the United Nations general assembly. This was done because the Franco government was deemed a Fascist dictatorship which had come to power with the aid of Hitler and Mussolini.

Since that time the United States has been represented in Madrid only by a charge d'affaires.

Ready to Vote Secretary Acheson declared the U.S. now is ready to vote for a resolution in the UN assembly "which will leave members free to send an ambassador or minister to Spain if they choose."

Acheson's letter stressed however, that the decision to abandon the 1946 policy "would in no sense signify approval of the regime in Spain."

One major reason for the decision, Acheson said, was the "public bewilderment" in this country over the practice of sending ambassadors to Soviet bloc nations while refusing to appoint an ambassador to Spain.

Fitzpatrick Takes New Driving Test

Dr. D.F. Fitzpatrick, city health physician, whose driver's license was suspended last year, took another driver's examination Wednesday.

His appeal to district court protesting the suspension was ruled out by Judge H. D. Evans because of insufficient evidence at a hearing held recently.

Judge Evans, however, ordered that Dr. Fitzpatrick undergo another driver's test by two disinterested persons.

Ray Connor, West Liberty, and Earle Null, Winterset highway patrolman, conducted the tests and will report the results to Judge Evans.

Dr. Fitzpatrick's license was suspended last year after a decision by the Safety Department Commissioner Alfred W. Kahl that the doctor was incompetent to drive a motor vehicle.

The decision was based on tests to which the doctor submitted after the death of five-year-old George Lumsden who was killed last summer by a car driven by Dr. Fitzpatrick.

Students to Report Change in Majors

Students planning to change their majors when they register for the second semester should notify the college of liberal arts advisory office before the end of this semester.

"If liberal arts students will inform this office of their intentions to change to another major field, before registration, much confusion will be avoided," Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, executive secretary of the college of liberal arts advisory committee, said Thursday.

The office will then be able to assign them new advisors and transfer their records to the new advisors in time to be used during consultations at next semester's registration.

Harshbarger urged notification be made within the next few days, if possible.

Housewife Reports Coal Bin Empty

Anderson Returned to County Jail

(Daily Iowan Photo)

RESIGNATION AND WEARINESS were the only signs of feeling in the face of Oscar Anderson, shown here a few moments after his conviction Thursday of "assault with intent to commit murder." Behind him is Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy who escorted Anderson back to the county jail, where the defendant was reported "sleeping like a baby" when he was awakened about 2:20 a.m. to hear the verdict in open court.

Talk with Russia Before It Is Too Late —

A strange silence is once more shrouding the atom activity of the U.S. and the Soviet Union. Ever since a London philosopher predicted a second explosion within Soviet borders, significant news about the naughty atom has been nil.

It isn't too hard to figure out what is happening. Men work hardest when they work silently, and in the armaments race that is upon us, there is time for nothing but hard work.

The hair of our neck would probably raise with shocked surprise if we were aware now of just how much of the President's $42-billion budget request will end up in preparing for an atom war.

For that seems the inevitable climax—unless something is done to stop the rumbustious race before it gains too much momentum. But certainly, we cannot despair. Maybe we should not even say "inevitable climax," because there is something that can be done.

Last spring, Joseph Stalin offered a peace feeler to the U.S. What he wanted, specifically, was to sit down and talk turkey with the U.S.—alone. We said no, that we wouldn't talk unless the rest of the world was in on it. Since then, we have bound ourselves up in an Atlantic pact, and it is reported that State Secretary Dean Acheson is at work on a Pacific pact of some sort.

When the Russians offered an armaments breather last fall we still objected, and probably rightly, because once more it would have been a bi-lateral agreement.

The U.S. maintains that any peace agreements must come within the structure of the United Nations. It is evident that the Soviets have given up on reaching agreement through this structure.

The sooner we realize this, and take the Russians up on one of their bi-lateral proposals, the sooner we will be taking definite steps toward world peace.

Our quarrel is with Russia. There is no reason for the rest of the world to think we are selling them down the river if we enter into exclusive talks with the Kremlin. We will always remain the champions of the west.

This does not mean that we should give up hope on the UN. Certainly, it must continue, and we must support it whether the Russians do or not.

But we are approaching a late stage of the game. Before all goals are relegated to secondary importance in the shadow of armaments, we ought to try every last means.

If nothing else could come out of such a meeting, it might bring a temporary halt to the maddening competition, before both sides completely resign themselves to the fate of an atomic war.

A Couple More Pages from Heller's Book? —

It somehow seems strange that to many citizens groups have sprung up in the past two years to prod congress into its reorganization.

The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report is leading the forces, urging the adoption by congress of the recommendations of former President Herbert Hoover for overhauling the several branches of government.

Another leader in the fight for a simpler structure of the legislative organization is Robert Heller, the Cleveland management expert.

Heller is president of the National Committee for Strengthening Congress, which is an offshoot of the Hoover commission.

Heller made some suggestions to congress a few years ago in his book, Strengthening the Congress. More than half of his recommendations were eventually adopted by congress in the 1943 attempts to streamline the legislative procedure.

Heartened by that success, Heller has now written to all congressmen proposing further improvements. Some of his suggestions are:

- 1.—Creation of a joint standing committee that would carry on a continuing study of legislative organization and methods.
- 2.—Creation of a new joint budget committee to supervise congressional control of the government's purse strings.
- 3.—Attempt to outlaw time-consuming filibusters in the senate.
- 4.—Further reorganization of congressional committees.

It is unfortunate that private citizens are forced to take the initiative in cutting congressional waste. Picking up the ball and carrying it should be the work of congress itself.

But if congressmen cannot take the initial step, they should realize that they must answer to an alarmed public—a public that realizes several billions of dollars are often at stake in their day-to-day business.

To Thy Ownself be True —

Bill lived comfortably in his eight-room house on the outskirts of a large northern city. He had a job with a downtown broker, and each week brought home a check for between $90 and $100. His kids and his wife were happy. Life was really worth living.

Things had always gone smoothly for him, even though he was a man of conviction and stuck to his guns when something controversial arose. He knew injustice, and he'd fight it whenever it reared its ugly head.

Consequently, he got behind any civil rights legislation that was ever proposed. And he cried out with anger when he read in the papers that a near-lynching had been averted in the south.

His indignation knew no limits when he heard that Negroes rode in the back of busses in the nation's capital, and that Ralph Bunche had been denied a room in a high-class hotel.

The word "discrimination" would send his blood pressure towards the boiling point, and when the family went on a Sunday afternoon trip through Harlem, he would click his teeth in disgust at the conditions of the neighborhood.

He hated discrimination. It left a foul taste in his mouth.

Then one night, Bill got a telephone call informing him that a Negro family was planning to move in down the block, and would he sign a petition to keep them out. He signed, almost without thinking.

After all, the neighborhood had always been white, and it really wasn't a restrictive covenant, and besides, he, well, he was a man of conviction.

The 'Mighty Mo': A Lesson in Faith —

With the "Mighty Mo" raging through the bottomlands of southeast Missouri, the need for extensive flood control devices on the mighty river system is pointed up.

A series of upstream dams, diverting much of the water for irrigation purposes would undoubtedly alleviate the situation considerably.

But this isn't the only message the headlines bring home. The other is a little philosophical. It proves that whatever strides man may take, there are always forces at work greater than he.

Typhoons, tidal waves, floods, droughts and biting blizzards bear mute testimony that we "mere mortals" though always seeking, never find all the answers to our problems.

They prove, too, that we can never understand all things, and that to see some overall purpose, we must leave the realms of the material man.

We are living in a pretty secular society, but the harshness of nature often stuns us into the reality of something intangible, very real. And this is faith, faith in a Divine purpose, faith in the great unknown that we call God.

More About the East . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

It was interesting to read Mr. Smith's letter in your columns Thursday morning.

Mr. Smith asserts that most Americans are informed about what communism really is. I wonder how this is possible when congress is moving to ban all publications which even have the word "communism" in them.

Even the universities, the backbone of any society, were asked last year to submit lists of books taught. Mr. Smith also speaks of freedom of the individual as "the God-given inalienable rights of man which our Declaration of Independence proclaims." The Constitution of India also proclaims the freedom of the individual, the birthright of every man, but we do not know yet whether that is God-given.

The Indian universities, although patronized by the government, did not face the government intervention or questioning even under the British as the American universities are facing today.

I am becoming convinced that a queer fear complex is gripping this country.

The thing that surprises me most is Mr. Smith's statement, "Since the Indians are not Christians, but remain in spiritual darkness . . ." Does he mean to say that the Christians are not spiritual and although the Indians are not Christians, still they live in spiritual darkness?

The statement should have read, "As the Indians are not Christians and hence, as they live in spiritual darkness . . ." Not even the worst enemies of India ever mentioned about her spiritual bankruptcy. And it had to be Mr. Smith, the savior and father of the east, to say it so bluntly to our faces.

About Mr. Smith's comparing Asiatics with children playing with deadly weapons, goes to prove that he, a good American, does not believe in freedom of individuals in actuality.

To close, I would like to repeat an Indian saying, "Little knowledge is a dangerous thing."

New York Times Ups Price to Five Cents

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times will cost five cents beginning Monday. It was the last of the city's standard size newspapers to raise its price.

The Times has cost three-cents a copy within New York and five cents elsewhere. The Sunday edition is 15 cents per copy.

The Times announcement said the price was raised "because of continued increasing costs in all phases of the operation of this newspaper."

By GIL PEARLMAN

I ALWAYS enjoy going to my 12:30 lecture on Mondays and Wednesdays. The source of my enjoyment is the fellow who sits next to me, Bob Jeffrey, by name.

I like Bob. He is intelligent, witty, good-looking. Besides, he laughs at my jokes . . . sometimes, except when he is trying to listen to the instructor and I interrupt the educational airwaves with some corny, century old gag.

HOWEVER, it is only right that he should laugh at my jokes . . . I do at his. And sometimes it becomes quite a strain for both of us. By the end of the period it actually becomes work for us to chuckle at each other's attempts at being comedians.

The fun really begins when we start comparing relatives. It is at this point that we cease laughing with each other and commence to laugh at each other. It seems we both have a few relatives we wouldn't even wish on each other.

IT ALSO seems that we are both ardent fans of that network radio program, "Can You Top This?" Whenever I tell Bob about an exploit of one of my relatives, he retaliates with a bigger and better story.

I then return with another incident, a masterpiece in exaggeration. It goes on and on like that until finally one of us explains, "Yeah, but my third cousin is the president of United States Steel."

THAT'S MY top - seated line on Mondays and Bob's on Wednesdays. That's usually sufficient to stop the conversation, but last Wednesday Bob hit an all-time high.

I was telling him about an uncle of mine, Morris, who is now living in Sydney, Australia, and is making a comfortable living by sponsoring a traveling Shakespearean troupe, whose star performer is a trained kangaroo.

"THAT'S ALL very well," agreed Mr. Jeffrey, taking on a more formal attitude, "but I have an uncle in Louisiana who is a millionaire, no less. He owns an oatmeal mine."

"A what?"

"An oatmeal mine, he mines oatmeal!"

"He mines what?"

"He mines oatmeal!"

"Like coal?"

"Better 'n coal! No kidding, this is one of the few times that I have been serious."

"WELL, HOW does one go about mining oatmeal?"

"I've had enough of your stupid questions! Now be quiet will you so I can listen to the lecture!"

So, I shut up. Not because I wanted Bob to receive an education, but because I couldn't top his latest episode, not even with a United States' Steel president.

After all, what can you possibly say to a guy who has just told you he has an uncle who has an oatmeal mine. The best thing, probably, is to get up and run to the nearest exit before he has another attack.

I STILL don't know if Bob was kidding or not. I still don't know how you mine oatmeal. Maybe it's an expression that oatmeal growers use.

Maybe it is a bit of propaganda that General Mills published in order to be recognized as a more basic industry.

Doubt concerning this question will forever and ever diffuse my chaotic mind. And, as it now stands, I am definitely losing the "12:30 Battle of Relatives."

Sixteen Persons Killed in Spanish Air Crash

ALBACETE, SPAIN (AP) — Sixteen persons including three Spanish air force officers, were killed Wednesday in the crash of a Junkers type plane against a mountain peak.

The accident occurred near the town of Tobarra, 30 miles south of here.

Money from Movie to Help Kids

NEW YORK (AP) — In March 300 cities across the land will share in a pot of more than a million dollars to be used for underprivileged children, thanks to a motion picture made by a man who was so badly off as a kid that he remembers reform school as the only bright spot in his early years.

R. W. Alcorn, 30 years old and familiarly known as Ronnie, will make this possible by the general release of his picture, "Johnny Holiday," through United Artists in the 300 cities about a month and a half from now. With the cooperation of Kiwanis International tickets for these "first nights" will be sold at a premium and all proceeds channeled into child welfare. Each community will receive the amount taken in at its local theater.

"My chief interest in life is to help children—the underprivileged ones," explained Alcorn. "I'm interested in proving that any kid with ambition can get ahead no matter how many strikes he may have had called on him when he wasn't able to protect himself."

Mao's Reds Shun Soviet Methods

By JAMES D. WHITE
AP Foreign News Analyst

Red China still gives many Communists a case of mental indigestion.

Big trouble is that the Chinese Reds have got where they are through quite different methods from those the Russians used.

To be sure, party organization and upper-crust politics are much alike in Russia and China. Starting a good Communist in the face however, is the fact that the Reds in China hit the ball only after they began not doing what Russia told them to do.

In the past they have said many times that they had learned much from Russian mistakes, although they don't mention it now.

They learned in four main ways, and to understand what Communists argue about these days it is necessary to know what these four ways are.

First is the revolutionary base. In the 1920's the Russians advised for China a carbon copy of their own revolution, based on urban workers. This failed. There weren't many urban workers.

Mao Tze-tung took to the brush and built up his popular support among farmers, who make up 85 percent of all Chinese. Only recently has he taken his revolution back to the cities.

The second difference is that Mao has not collectivized the land as Russia did. He is experimenting in Manchuria, where there is room to permit it, but in general he has done the opposite of collectivization. He has broken up large landholdings and distributed them among poor peasants. He has made China more a nation of small farmers than before, if anything. He may collectivize later, but he can hardly do so until machinery is available.

Something of the same thing has taken place in business and industry, where the third big difference with Russian practice appears. Most of the enterprise; the Reds have taken over thus far already were state-owned (such as railroads) or were monopolistic companies controlled by the top crust of the old Nationalist government. Otherwise the Reds have encouraged private enterprise, to keep going because they need (and cannot yet replace) the production of private enterprise. In many cases they grant state loans and slash taxes to spur private operators on.

The fourth big difference is the way the Chinese Reds have avoided the wholesale expulsion or liquidation of educated non-Communists. Some have left of course, but many more have stayed on. The Reds made many of them believe they would fare no worse than before and might fare even better, particularly if they pitched in to help build the new China.

There is still another possible difference, about which little is known. You heard frequent charges of secret police in Red China, but no yet has uncovered anything as formidable or as all-pervading as the NKVD in Russia. One may have been started a few weeks ago in Peiping when a new "security force" was organized. But up to now the Reds appear to have done their thought policing through subtler means. They have their own distinctive ways of mobilizing peasant and other mass opinion in support of their program.

By using the different ways outlined above, they have avoided mass liquidations of kulaks, intellectuals, and bourgeois. They have skipped the economic paralysis which Russia met when she plunged into socialism directly.

WSUI Receives UN Scroll

Radio station WSUI has been awarded a scroll in recognition of its membership in the United Nations "Network for Peace."

Prof. Carl Menzer, director of WSUI, announced Thursday he had received the scroll from Assistant Secretary-General Benjamin Cohen of the UN department of public information.

Member stations of the network, Menzer said, broadcast programs recorded by the UN during actual sessions of the various councils.

Highlights of the meetings are recorded and explanations and comments are added. Then the recordings are sent to member stations.

The programs, Menzer said, are "dedicated to better understanding among the people of the world, peace."

WSUI broadcasts "United Nations Today" every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9 p.m.

Woman's Club Helps Make Home a Castle

Theme Fits Slogan — 'Eternal Vigilance'

The home is a woman's castle and members of the home department of the Iowa City Woman's club follow this theme as they participate in programs designed to help homemakers.

Three representatives of the department discussed their group's activities Thursday morning over WSUT's "Club Camera," a weekly women's feature narrated by Flo Robinson, the station's women's director.

Participants were Mrs. W. A. Meardon, chairman of the department; Mrs. R. R. Chapman, co-chairman, and Mrs. C. E. Beck, program chairman.

Follows General Theme
The general theme of the Iowa City Woman's club, "Eternal Vigilance," adapting the slogan to the home surroundings.

"Members discuss, present demonstrations and listen to speeches on food, health, religion, home decorations and crafts," the chairman said.

Mrs. Beck added that under the food category, the group exchanges recipes, sponsors a luncheon to which each member brings her favorite food, and holds a Christmas meeting for which the women make their favorite holiday delicacies.

The health division this year included a speech on news in drugs by Prof. Louis Zopf of the university pharmacy department, and a talk entitled, "Add Life to Your Years While You Add Years to Your Life" by Mrs. Ned Ashton, a physical education instructor.

Easter Program
The Easter program will supply the religious aspect for the department when Prof. and Mrs. H. J. Thornton take charge.

Under home decorations such topics as floor coverings, upholstering and draperies, kitchen glamour and china cues and silver tips are studied by the members.

The craft division of the home department meets from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of the month with time taken off at noon for a luncheon. The business meeting and program of the home department follows at 2:30.

LISTENING TO A TRANSCRIPTION of their broadcast Thursday morning are these representatives of the home department of the Iowa City Woman's club. They are (left to right) Mrs. R.R. Chapman, co-chairman; Mrs. C.E. Beck, program chairman, and Mrs. W.A. Meardon, chairman. The three women discussed home department activities over WSUT's weekly women's feature, Club Camera.

Rug from Nylons
Craft chairmen are Mrs. Gordon Bennett, figurines; Mrs. Carl Lillick, rug weaving; Mrs. Forest Barker, plastics; Mrs. Fred Clark, candle making; Mrs. Ray Carson, Swedish weaving; Mrs. George Robeson, shell work; Mrs. I. A. Rankin, flowers; Mrs. L. G. Eckhardt, metal craft, and Mrs. W. R. Sharp, textile painting.

"The women make place mats, rugs and baby blankets in the weaving section," Mrs. Meardon said and added that one member had woven a rug from nylon stockings.

"We fashion candle holders, salad bowls, plates, picture frames, bud vases and buttons from plastic," Mrs. Beck pointed out. "Even our husbands help by making the wooden molds from which the pattern is obtained."

If a mistake is made, the plastic can be reheated and remolded to correct the error, she added.

Distinguishing Feature
Earrings, corsages, brooches, pins, jars for dressing tables and place cards are products of the shell work craft group, while aluminum trays, copper bracelets lacquered to hold their color, and metal coasters are turned out by the metal craft group.

Members participating in the textile painting section stencil patterns on tablecloths, curtains, scarves, dishcloths, aprons and handkerchiefs. The paint colors are preserved by applying heat to the material.

"Our distinguishing feature," claims the home department chairman, "is that we are the only group in the woman's club to meet twice a month."

Other officers of the group are Mrs. W. R. Kern, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Mark Floyd, Mrs. I. A. Rankin and Mrs. O. N. Riggs, members of the program committee; and Mrs. J. M. Mariner, Mrs. Harold Tellin, Mrs. L. O. Bender, Mrs. Edward Bryan and Mrs. Carl Chadek, social committee.

Committee Positions Available for Dance

Applications for Spinsters' Spree chairman and committee members for 1950 are available at the University Women's association desk in the Office of Student Affairs, UWA President B.J. Johnson, A4, Bedford, said Thursday.

The applications will be due Feb. 8, she added. Committee positions available are program, hostess, contest, corsage, decorations and publicity.

The Spinsters' Spree is the annual girl-take-boy dance at which the most eligible bachelor on campus is named and prizes awarded for the most original corsage.

The event is sponsored by University Women's association.

Church Auxiliary Plans February Rummage Sale

The St. Thomas More Guild auxiliary will hold a rummage sale at 10 a.m. Feb. 18 at the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company, guild officials said Thursday.

The officials of the group said anyone wishing to contribute may call Mrs. Thomas Whelan, 2270, or Mrs. Bernard Flanders, 8-2440, and have contributions picked up.

Roddewig to Attend Iowa FTA Conference

Robert Roddewig, A3, Davenport, will represent SU's Future Teachers of America at the Iowa State Education association's delegate assembly.

The assembly will be held in Des Moines, Feb. 3 and 4. David Kirkman, A4, Iowa City, club president, said Thursday.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

Marriage licenses have been issued in the Johnson county clerk's office to Ralph Emerson Goodnow Jr., and Margaret Alberta Keefe, both of Iowa City; and to Young Collins and Litty Verner, both of Rockford, Ill.

Ruth Vornholt to Give Piano Recital Sunday

Pianist Ruth Vornholt, A3, Cedar Rapids, will play three selections in a recital Sunday at 4 p.m. in the north music hall.

She will open the program with four sonatas by Scarlatti: "C major," "B-Flat major," "C minor" and "A major."

Second on the program will be Brahms' "Variations on a theme

by Schumann, Opus 9."

Beethoven's "Sonata in A major, Opus 101," will conclude the program. The four movements are "Allegretto," "Vivace alla marcia," "Adagio, ma non troppo, con affetto" and "Tempo del piano-allegro."

Miss Vornholt's recital is the 15th in the current student series.

Famed Test Pilot Killed In New Record Attempt

CHIPLEY, Fla. (AP) — Johnny Mann, cross country flier and famed test pilot, and a friend plunged to their death out of a star-light sky Thursday. Preliminary investigation was unable to explain why the plane went down.

Mann was returning to his Los Angeles home from an unsuccessful attempt to set a new non-stop Los Angeles-to-Miami light plane record.

He had to give up on his try for the record Saturday when his fuel ran low near Jacksonville, Fla. He went on, however, to Miami for the all-American air maneuvers.

Dying with Mann on a plowed field northwest of Chipley was Deputy Sheriff Robert Milander, 42, of Los Angeles.

Good Will Message

On the return trip via Jacksonville, the 45-year-old test pilot was carrying a message of good will and commendation from Miami Mayor William Wolfarth to Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles.

"It is a very special pleasure indeed to send the good wishes of the people of Miami to the people of Los Angeles via your outstanding airman, John Mann," the Miami mayor wrote.

The aircraft hooked a wheel on a low fence surrounding the field and smashed into the plowed earth, digging a two-foot hole in the ground.

No Distress Signal

Florida highway patrolmen who joined with Sheriff Ernest Barnes and civil aeronautics authority investigators in probing the wreckage, said weather was clear at the time of the crash, and airways beacons were flashing distinctly.

Ten Groups Announce Annual 'Sing' Entries

Ten groups have announced their participation in the University Sing by submitting entry blanks to the committee, Chairman Marian O'Connor, A3, Iowa City, announced Thursday.

The deadline for acceptance of entry blanks is Feb. 1, the chairman added.

Fraternities participating are Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Epsilon Pi, Sigma Chi and Delta Tau Delta.

Four sororities submitting entry blanks are Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Chi Omega and Chi Omega.

Westlawn, independent women's housing unit, also has turned in an entry blank.

PACKING "BUNDLES FOR JAPAN" are these two members of the Congregational United Student Fellowship. Former members of the student church group are missionaries in Japan and their pleas for used clothing brought response from the group. Jane Cheyney, A2, Glenwood, and Norman Jackson, A2, Tuisa, Okla., are shown packing garments for "friends in a Japanese college."

Students Answer Missionary's Plea — Church Group Sends 'Bundles for Japan'

By MART BAILEY
When a former SUI student — now serving as a missionary in Japan — called for help, his old student church group rallied to his assistance.

Arthur (Bud) Lambert, son of Prof. and Mrs. Avery Lambert, and his wife Vicki, graduated from SUI in 1948 and accepted a three-year teaching appointment in Japan from the Congregational Foreign Mission board.

They arrived in Japan in September, 1948, and almost immediately wrote the SUI student group for help. The Japanese winter was already setting in and their students at Kobe college, on Honshu island, didn't have proper clothing.

Answer the Need
To answer the need, the United Student Fellowship — of which Lambert is a former president —

Prof. Goldin to Speak Tuesday at Upper Iowa

Prof. Judah Goldin of the SUI school of religion will be one of the three featured speakers during Upper Iowa university's Religious Emphasis week, Monday through Friday. Goldin will speak Tuesday morning on "The Way of the Jewish Story."

The inter-faith character of religious experience will be stressed by speakers representing the Catholic and Protestant faiths.

The other two speakers will be the Rev. Albert J. Hoffman, Loras college, and the Rev. Gerhard L. Belgum, Luther college.

gathered new and used clothing from students and church members and sent several boxes to Japan.

The students there got everything from used fur coats to new baby clothes. Items left over from the Congregational women's rummage sales also were donated and sent to the Lamberts for distribution.

Clothing Too New
When Bud and Vicki first arrived in Japan they were embarrassed by their dress. Their modest clothing was too new. So they finally left their clothes unironed to avoid the staring, envious eyes of the poorly-dressed Japanese.

This year, again, the members of the United Student Fellowship have collected clothing and are sending it to Japan. Lambert's father, who is a professor of anatomy at SUI, said the need in Japan will last a long time.

"Eighty-million persons are crowded onto an island economically capable of supporting only 30-million," he said.

Thank You Letter
And Japanese students seem to agree. One girl wrote a "thank you letter" to students here. She explained that in Japan they could get no summer employment to help them through school.

The clothing sent is doing more than keep the people warm on cold winter days. It is also warming their hearts.

In the many letters received here, the Japanese students spoke of a new attitude toward their American conquerors. Their letters are written to "dear friends in America."

U-Hospitals Setting Up New Laboratory

A cardiovascular laboratory to study diseases of the heart and blood vessels is being set up in University hospitals with the aid of a grant of $15,000 by the Iowa Heart association.

The laboratory will be under the supervision of the SUI department of internal medicine and will be directed by Dr. James W. Culbertson, assistant professor in the department.

Culbertson, who came to SUI recently from the Boston university medical school, said equipment has been ordered and designing and reconstruction of laboratory space has begun.

Projects that will be conducted in the cardiovascular laboratory include measurements of heart work in cases of congenital heart disease and electrical studies of the heart's action under certain conditions.

Culbertson has a special fellowship from the National Health Institute of the U.S. public health service for research in blood flow and function of the liver in relation to high blood pressure.

Observations will be made in the lab of changes in the rate of blood flow through the liver and kidneys resulting from disease or use of certain drugs.

Equipment will be obtained for the laboratory for X-ray visualization of the heart and large blood vessels, for chemical research and for study of the hydraulics of the circulatory system, called hemodynamics.

Members of various departments of the SUI college of medicine will share some of the laboratory's facilities.

James Norman Hall Presents Manuscript To Library Collection

Ex-Iowan James Norman Hall, co-author of "Mutiny on the Bounty" and many other popular novels, recently contributed a manuscript to the SUI library.

The manuscript was a printer's copy of "The G-Note Road," an essay that appeared in the July 1949, Atlantic Monthly.

The essay told of Hall's childhood in Iowa, his favorite prairie road and his odd associations with and memories of it.

Grinnell Graduate
Hall was born in Colfax, Iowa, and is a graduate of Grinnell college. He now lives in Papete, Tahiti.

He became famous for his stories of the South Pacific, many of which he co-authored with Charles Nordhoff. "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Hurricane," "Pitcairn's Island" and "Men Against the Sea" are some of the more famous novels by this writing team.

A number of their books have been made into movies. "Mutiny on the Bounty" helped boost Charles Laughton, Clark Gable and Franchot Tone to stardom. "Hurricane" gave Dorothy Lamour and her sarong their cinema start. Nordhoff died in 1943, but Hall still writes. The two men served together in World War I, began working together afterward and soon became a successful writing team.

Assistant Library Director Grace Wormer, who is in charge of the SUI library collection of manuscripts, said Hall has contributed to the collection before.

More Manuscripts
She has his scripts of "Under the Thatched Roof," "Tale of the Shipwreck" and several other works. He also wrote Miss Wormer he would soon send her a large number of other manuscripts.

The SUI library is building a collection of manuscripts by Iowa authors. These may be displayed in an "Iowa room" proposed for the new library building now under construction, Miss Wormer said.

Three Professors To Attend Meeting

Three SUI faculty members will attend the organizational meeting of the Academy of Forensic Sciences next week in Chicago.

They are Prof. Wilbur Teeters, dean-emeritus of the college of pharmacy; Prof. Richard Holcomb, head of the university bureau of safety, and Prof. E. J. Boyd, pathology.

Holcomb said more than 150 medical - legal experts, who are engaged in crime detection as a part of their professions, are expected to attend the three-day meeting which opens at the Northwestern university school of law, Chicago.

Delta Sigs Cop Prize Again

Win Radio-Phonograph Second Year In Row In Cigarette Wrapper Contest

For the second year in a row members of Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity, have won a radio-phonograph by saving more cigarette wrappers than any other group on campus.

They missed getting a television set only because there was no TV reception in Iowa City when the contest opened early last fall.

The makers of a popular brand of cigarettes presented their first prize of a radio-phonograph Wednesday afternoon to the 60 students who said they collected more than 15,000 cigarette wrappers.

Save Wrappers
They scoured the fieldhouse after games, saved their own wrappers, picked them up off the street and even had friends and patients in a veterans' hospital save wrappers for them.

The Delta Sigs won a console radio last year when they also topped fraternities, sororities and housing groups who participated in the contest.

A second prize radio went to Chi Omega sorority and a third prize table model radio-phonograph went to members of Delta Chi fraternity.

Contest Nationwide
The cigarette company conducted the contest in 100 colleges and universities this year. In cities where television could be received at the time the contest opened, it presented the sinners with a TV set.

Though representatives of the cigarette company said they didn't know what kind of a contest would be held next year, the commerce students said they already had a couple of drawers full of wrappers.

Future Teachers To Elect Officers

Election of officers of the Future Teachers of America will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 26, in the University high school cafeteria, Pres. David Kirkman, A4, Iowa City, said Thursday.

Mabel Snedaker of the University experimental schools also will speak to the group on more extensive use of books in the classroom, Kirman said.

Miss Snedaker heads the Iowa pupil reading circle. She will exhibit some of the latest editions of books for school use.

New Unit May Cut Power Failures

By BILL TREVOR
Power failure reductions may be the eventual result of a new instructional steam turbine power plant unit now in operation at SUI.

The new unit is a miniature of the electrical power plants widely used throughout Iowa.

According to Prof. A. P. Boehmer of the college of engineering, the value of the new equipment lies in its flexibility.

Meet Emergencies
"With the new steam turbine," Boehmer said, "we can simulate some of the various kinds of emergencies which can occur in community power plants, and learn how to meet them."

In ordinary power plants it is impossible to train men for these emergencies because the plants must be in continuous operation, Boehmer said.

The new steam turbine is the first in the state, and one of several now operating in colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Mechanical engineering seniors are now being trained on the new unit. The training will be organized to give each student an opportunity to work at the various stations and controls.

High pressure steam from the university power plant operates the turbines. Each turbine drives a 20-kilowatt, 3-phase, 60-cycle generator.

Each generator may be connected to the main high pressure steam outlet, or one may be operated on the exhaust steam from the other. Either system of operation may be found in many Iowa communities.

Realism is provided by hooking the two generators to a 50-horsepower motor. This motor in turn is connected to a hydro-tarder — a kind of water brake — so varying loads can be put on the generator, simulating actual operating conditions.

A Navy Outgrowth
The power plant unit is an outgrowth of the navy's wartime destroyer escort school at Syracuse, N.Y.

At that time it was found that, with the proper demonstrative equipment, expert technicians could be developed in a short period.

"The introduction of the unit at Iowa is designed to keep laboratory training in the college of engineering abreast of industry so that students will be better prepared for their profession," Boehmer said.

Look Young!

He Might Be U-High Magazine Salesman

If the magazine salesman at your door looks too young to be working his way through college, he may be a University high school student.

To supplement their school activity fund, students in grades 7 through 12 are selling magazine subscriptions and renewals. The 7th grade is ahead in the campaign now.

The enterprise is being managed by Robert Ballantyne Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ballantyne, 516 E. College street, assisted by Margaret Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Miller, 6 Melrose circle, and Steve Hulme, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hulme, 530 N. Clinton street.

The school received a bronze plaque from a magazine publishing company for reaching their subscription quota last year.

Prizes to individual salesmen include watches, radios and pen and pencil sets.

This program is also being carried out in other Iowa schools.

Hawkeyes, Iowa State Battle In AAU Swim Meet Saturday

Over 90 Tankers, 14 Teams Entered

Over 90 swimmers from 14 organizations, in addition to about 25 unattached athletes, will be seeking championships in the Iowa AAU men's indoor meet in the SUU pool Saturday.

Meet Manager Jim Councilman said that the field probably is the best in the history of the meet.

The main fight for the team title in the senior division rests between the Iowa Hawkeyes and Iowa State college. The Cyclones have entered 17 men while the Hawks, the 1949 champion, have listed 20 competitors.

High Schools Combine

In the junior division with its four events, the Olympian club, a combination of swimmers from Roosevelt and North high schools of Des Moines, is the favorite. Clinton, 1949 state prep champion, is also rated a strong contender.

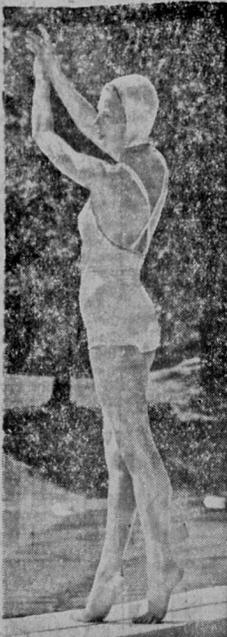

Twenty preliminary heats will be necessary in the morning program, opening at 9:30, to reduce each field to a six-man final. Five places will be scored in each final event. The finals start at 2:45 p.m., immediately after the Iowa-Minnesota gymnastics meet in the fieldhouse.

Champions will defend their titles in five of the nine senior events. They are Duane Draves, backstroke, and Bowen Stassforth, breaststroke, both from SUU; Roger Watts, 220 and 440; and Ed LaBerge, in the 50-yard course — both from Iowa State.

Since the meet is being held over the 75-foot course for the first time, the best time in each event will automatically establish an Iowa AAU record.

Nine in Title Race

Before the preliminaries of the meet proper Saturday, nine swimmers at 9 a.m. will seek the AAU junior national title in the 1500-meter free style. They include Watts, third in the NCAA 1500-meter race last season; Don Watson and Herman Lehman of SUU who have won long distance swim titles; and entrants from Minnesota, Omaha A.C., and Davenport YMCA.

MRS. BEULAH GUNDLING of Cedar Rapids, Canadian and American synchronized swimming champion, will appear here Saturday in an exhibition during the Iowa AAU senior and junior swimming championships.

In the 50-yard free style, Bob Brown has been entered from Iowa State against Ed Garst and Bob Busch of the Hawk team. Larry Dunbar and Richard LaBahn, Iowa freshmen, are swimming unattached.

Hawks Defend Crown

The Hawks will defend their 300-yard medley and 400-yard free style relay titles with fast teams. They will enter "A," "B," and "C" teams in the sprint relay. Also "A" and "B" in the medley, while the Cyclones will have three teams in the medley and two in the free style. Representatives in the team scoring in the senior division are Iowa, Iowa State, Olympian club of Des Moines, Clinton high, and Washington YMCA.

The juniors have Clinton high, Olympian club, Iowa City high, Minnows club of Boone, Cedar Rapids YMCA, Davenport YMCA, Washington YMCA, and Ft. Madison high.

Hawks Face Purdue Swim Team Monday In Conference Dual

Coach Dave Armbruster's swimming squad will face the strong Purdue tankers Monday night at Lafayette, Ind., with a raft of colds plaguing the Iowa team.

Armbruster reports that the Hawks' mainstay in the backstroke and captain of the swimming team, Duane Draves, has contracted a cold. Herm Lehman and Don Watson, middle distance swimmers, also are bothered by colds.

Purdue Strong

Although the Boiler-makers lost their star breaststroker, Keith Carter, through graduation, they have shown definite power this season. Charles Thomas, who finished 3rd in both the 50 and 100-yard sprints in the conference meet last season seems to be the Purdue spark this year.

Monday's meet promises to bring forth some top-notch races. The duel between Rusty Garst, Iowa's sprint ace, and Thomas should be the best race of the day. Dunlap, Purdue breaststroker, has already registered times three seconds faster than Iowa's Bowen Stassforth.

Wilson Top Diver

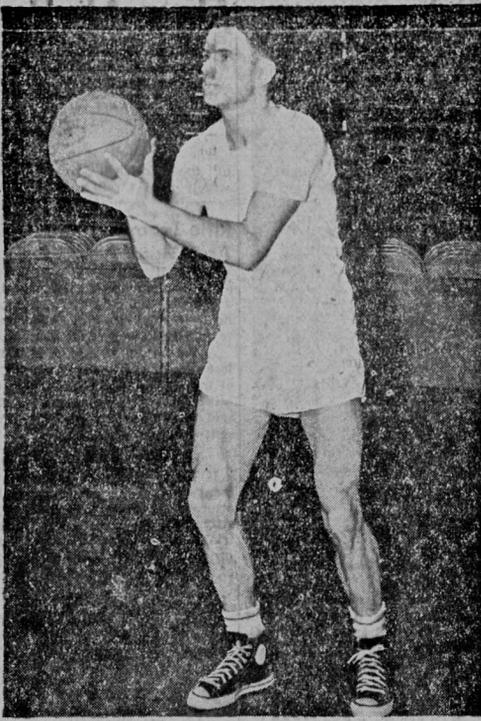

Jack Wilson, Iowa's top diver, who is in the best form of his career should give Murray Hubley of Purdue a close go on the boards. Armbruster has commented that Wilson has improved rapidly this year.

The Purdue-Iowa meets of the past three years have been battles until the final race. The Hawkeyes captured all three meets, but were unable to turn the trick until the final race of each meet, which is the 400 yard free style.

Dick Riecks, Iowa Forward

Former Danbury, All-Stater, Coaches to Coeds Praise Riecks

By JACK SQUIRE
"That little fellow sure knows how to bounce the ball," exuberated an eager young coed after one of Iowa's non-conference basketball victories at the fieldhouse.

The non-technical, but nevertheless accurate statement, was referring to the Hawks' diminutive forward, Dick Riecks, whose eye-catching dribbling never fails to draw the praise of expert and layman alike.

Riecks, only 5-feet, 10-inches tall, is often lost among the redwoods currently dominating the court action.

"I'd say that Dick is one of the finest dribblers we've ever had here," commented Rollie Williams, who ran the team before the conference race started. "In fact, I doubt if there's anyone in the conference who can match him in that department. He's always had the knack, you know. Remember his Danbury days?"

Called "Wonder Five"

It's doubtful if any Iowa basketball fan ever will forget the exploits of Dick and his mates at tiny Danbury high (enrollment: 17 boys, 28 girls). In the '45 state tournament the "wonder five" knocked off 20-point favorite Clinton before being eliminated, and the following year spilled Atlantic and Dowling of Des Moines, only to bow in the semi-finals.

Riecks, with a 13 point per game average led all scorers in the '47 tourney. His selection to the all-state squad was mere formality after these performances.

There's nothing surprising about Dick's possessing his two main cage attributes: dribbling and a deadly one-handed push shot.

"I always wanted to be a basketball player," he explained, "but realized that lack of height and brawn would handicap me. So I just had to develop something to make up for it."

Played One on a Side

"I used to spend a lot of hours at the gym back home just practicing shooting by myself. Then somebody would come along and we'd play a game, one on a side. Of course, that was all dribbling and was great practice."

While this is his second year on the varsity, he still is used primarily as a spot performer. Last year there were those who felt that Riecks did not see sufficient action, but Dick failed to go along with that opinion.

"I played as much as I expected to," he said. "After all, I was only a sophomore, and a small one at that. There's an awful lot to learn about this game and it takes plenty of time to master it, if you ever do."

Russian 'Curtain' Raised On 52 World Records

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Russia, which shuns most international sports events outside the iron curtain, claimed Thursday night its athletes have been tops as world champions.

The Moscow radio said Russian athletes, "in six main types of sport row hold 52 of 205 registered world records."

"This is almost twice as many as the United States, three times as many as Sweden and France and six to seven times as many as Norway and Italy," said the radio, quoting the Moscow newspaper Sovetsky Sport. It did not specify exactly what world records the Soviet Union claimed.

Grid Owners Delay Voting On Franchises

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Commissioner Bert Bell said Thursday night that a vote on the applications of Buffalo, N.Y., Houston, Tex., and Oakland, Calif., for admittance to the National-American football league has been delayed because the club owners cannot agree on division of teams and schedules.

Owners Willing

"The owners are very willing to vote on franchises if they know the divisions and schedules," Bell said.

"Nobody is committing himself and won't vote until he knows the picture," he added.

Bell revealed that the long four-hour afternoon session was devoted mainly to discussion of 13-team and 14-team schedules. He said no discussion had been made as yet on possible 15-team and 16-team schedules. The league is to be split into two divisions, which will operate as separate circuits.

Talk about Buffalo

"Most of the discussion has been about Buffalo," Bell said.

This was no indication, the commissioner said, that the bids of Houston and Oakland had been rejected.

Bell said that Tim Mara of the New York Giants and George Marshall of the Washington Redskins each had submitted a 14-team schedule for consideration. Bell would not elaborate except to say that they "were better than" a schedule he himself had drawn up privately but had not presented to the meeting.

Hawkeye's Play Muscatine Tonight

Iowa's junior varsity basketball team travels to Muscatine tonight for a game with Muscatine junior college.

Coach Vince Harsha said an 11-man squad would make the trip. Game time is set for 8:15 p.m.

The B team, which has won two and lost three so far this season, will be without the services of Wayne Ryan who has averaged 15 points per game this season.

Ryan, a sophomore from Cherokee, was moved up to the varsity squad Wednesday. He played a guard position for the B squad but is now working out in a forward post.

The B team will play Muscatine again Feb. 6 in the Iowa fieldhouse preceding the Iowa-Purdue game. Two more home contests will follow on Feb. 11 and 13 with the Wisconsin B's and Parsons college.

U-High Swimmers Win Three-Way Meet Here

University high edged out Iowa City high school for first place in a three-way swimming meet with Cedar Rapids YMCA here Thursday.

The Blue Hawks, led by Sprinter Bob Peters, took 29 points, followed by City high with 20 and Cedar Rapids with 10.

City high's depth and a strong four-man relay team boosted the little Hawks into second, close behind the winners.

Besides Peters, Dick Rouse and Jim Fowler stood out for the winners. It is believed to be the first three-way meet in Iowa City high school history.

HAWKLET B'S WIN

Iowa City high's B team, paced by Frank Frame's 17 points, defeated Franklin of Cedar Rapids B team, 49-31, at City high gym Thursday night. In the preliminary game the Hawklet freshman team defeated the Franklin frosh, 34-20.

About Football Coaching, But Where? —

A considerable amount of newspaper space during the past two weeks has been devoted to speculation on just where Dr. Eddie Anderson, Iowa's head football coach, will be dispensing his talents in 1950 or thereafter.

Where are you going to be, we asked Dr. Eddie upon visiting his office the other day. Iowa, Holy Cross, Chicago Cardinals, where? "I don't know," he said, "but I'd sure like to know where all the stories are coming from. I've had long distance phone calls from newspapers and I've read all about what I'm going to do, but I don't know myself."

One thing Dr. Eddie did say was that nobody from the Chicago Cardinal organization had talked to him about a coaching job. And although he had phenomenal teams at Holy Cross during his tenure as grid coach there before coming to Iowa it doesn't seem logical that he'd be going back to a smaller school, financially or from the prestige angle.

His contract at Iowa had one more year to run and of course will be coming up for renewal in the near future. One newspaper has predicted a new contract here within a week. From the standpoint of when board meetings are held this would seem to be a rather rash prediction.

We'd guess the prediction to sooner or later prove correct, however, not for several weeks. We'd also guess that Dr. Anderson would like to stay here, after all, it's quite a job to move a family of four. Iowa City has been home for 10 years, a pretty good home.

As critical as football fans are, when you stop and examine his record at Iowa, it isn't bad. The past few years can't compare with the famous 1939, of course, but the team has won a few games every year, in a league where pushovers just don't have the habit of showing up.

We noticed a piece in a Chicago newspaper recently which stated that a gentleman high in professional football ranks was surprised to hear that Anderson may be in line for the Cardinal job. "He'd make the Cards a fine coach," he said and if the Cards want one of the better collegiate T-coaches, it's a cinch Anderson would be recommended highly by the ol' T-master himself, Frank Leahy of Notre Dame.

Looks like this basketball season is becoming more and more a win-at-home, hope-on-the-road campaign. Only Northwestern has won a road game, over Purdue, and the Wildcats were pre-season choices to have their share of trouble at home.

Ohio State, via three home victories, has become the team to beat for the title. The Buckeyes take to the road Saturday, playing Illinois.

It's tough to win at Campaign and after that the Ohio away games are at Indiana, Minnesota, Purdue, Northwestern and Michigan. Any comment necessary?

College Senior Held in Death Of Secretary in Pennsylvania

LANCASTER, PA. (AP) — Edward Gibbs, 25-year-old Franklin and Marshall college senior, was held without bail Thursday, charged with murdering attractive Marion Louise Baker, a secretary at the college.

He signed a four-page statement saying he choked and bludgeoned the 21-year-old girl "on an impulse."

District Attorney John Ranck said, however, he is not ready to accept that explanation.

He said there might be two or perhaps three motives for the crime, among them jealousy, and the possibility that Gibbs is a "psychiatric personality."

Body Battered
Miss Baker was slain shortly after she disappeared on the afternoon on Jan. 10. Her battered body was discovered four days later beneath a cottage three miles south of this eastern Pennsylvania city.

Gibbs surrendered Wednesday, walking into the office of the college president to announce "I'm your man, I did it."

Friends of the youth said Thursday that as late as Monday night, he and his wife played cards with their neighbors in the college dormitory in which they lived — and discussed the Marian Baker killing.

Charged with Murder
Gibbs was brought before Alderman Edward Wetzel Thursday to hear the formal reading of the warrant. He was charged with murder and remanded to Lancaster county jail without bail to await a hearing "within a week or 10 days."

Meanwhile, Gibbs' father, J. Lester Gibbs, was recovering from a heart attack suffered in Lancaster Wednesday night after he rushed there to be near his son.

Gibbs' mother and his wife returned to the family home at Pittman, N.J., with his father. They refused to talk with reporters.

Welfare Funds Total $27,382 in December

Johnson county received a total of $27,382 in state welfare funds for December, 1949, according to figures released Thursday by the state welfare office.

Largest item in the amount was for old age assistance, totaling $23,298.10 for 476 cases. This averages $49.89 per case, the state office said.

Dependent children cases totaled 45, including 119 persons. The money paid out totaled $3,173 or $70.51 per case and $26.66 per child.

Fourteen needy blind cases received $910.90 or $65.06 per case, the welfare office said.

Throughout the state, 49,288 cases received old age help, 1,197 blind and 4,910 for dependent children.

This showed an increase over December of 147 for old age, 7 blind and 97 needy children, officials said.

Chambers a 'Liar,' Says Hiss Lawyer

NEW YORK (AP) — Alger Hiss had his last inning in court Thursday as his attorney lashed out at Whitaker Chambers as a deliberate liar who concocted a fantastic story in an attempt to frame the former state department official.

Claude Cross, a soft-voiced Boston lawyer, made the final plea for the 45-year-old Hiss in this second perjury trial which is based on Chamber's accusation that Hiss turned over to him secret government documents for relay to a Communist spy ring.

Today, towering U.S. Atty. Thomas Murphy will wind up the government's case and, after instructions from Federal Judge Henry Goddard, the jury late today will retire to decide the guilt or innocence of Hiss. The jury in the first trial could not reach a verdict — eight voting for conviction and four for acquittal.

Dentistry Professor Appointed Member Of National Board

Prof. George S. Easton, SUI college of dentistry, has been appointed a member of the national board of dental examiners, a dental college spokesman said Thursday.

Easton is head of the SUI department of oral diagnosis and roentgenology as well as being director of clinics.

The national board is a standing committee of the American Dental Association. It was organized to provide an adequate qualifying dental examination so that holders of its certificates might be recognized by state boards of examiners.

The board is made up of 25 members chosen from the American Dental Association, the American Association of Dental Examiners and the American Association of Dental Schools.

The federal services — army, navy, public health and veterans administration — provide one member each.

Dental boards in about half of the states accept the certificates or grades of the national board.

Easton graduated from SUI in 1923 and became a member of the faculty here in 1925.

Bank Officers Elected At Directors Meetings

Officers of three Iowa City banks were elected at annual bank directors' meetings recently. Only the Hills Bank and Trust company reported a change in bank presidents.

At their meeting LeRoy Mercer, state senator from Iowa City, was elected president to succeed J.E. Pechman, who was named chairman of the board of directors. Albert Droll was elected executive vice — president and T.R. Jones was chosen cashier.

All officers at both the Iowa State Bank and Trust company and the First National bank were re-elected.

Ben Summerwill will serve as president of the Iowa State bank, with W.W. Summerwill and Walter Schmidt as vice-presidents and M.B. Guthrie cashier.

Officers of the First National bank include Frank Williams, president; Willis Mercer, vice-president; Thomas Farrell, cashier, and David Stoehl and H. Clark Houghton, assistant cashiers.

2 Auto Accidents Reported to Police

Automobiles driven by Donald J. Cox, 1503 Crescent street, and Robert J. Morrissey, 628 N. Linn street, were involved in an accident Wednesday at the intersection of Clinton and Washington streets, police said.

Total damage to the two cars was estimated at $210. No one was injured.

The second accident reported to police involved a car driven by Robert A. Rasley, Al, Iowa City, and a Royal cab. The accident occurred Thursday morning at the intersection of Clinton and Market streets, police said.

Total damage was estimated at $50. No one was injured.

ROBERTS TO SPEAK
Prof. Arthur Roberts, SUI department of physics, will speak at 6:30 p.m. today at a banquet in Reich's Pine Room for new members of Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical fraternity. An initiation of new members will be held in the same room at 4:30 p.m. today.

Gen. Hap Arnold Laid to Rest

Sleet Storm Mars Arlington Services

ARLINGTON NATIONAL CEMETERY, VA. (AP) — Gen. Henry H. (Hap) Arnold was buried among the nation's war heroes Thursday as a driving sleet storm blacked out the "wild blue yonder" he loved so well and grounded the planes of the mighty airforce he once led to victory.

The widely-loved five star general, who organized and commanded the far-flung armadas of the U.S. army airforce in World War II, was laid to rest with the highest military honors in a grave near that of General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

Freezing rain and snow flurries pelted President Truman and the hushed throng of uniformed and civilian dignitaries who joined Arnold's saddened family in final tribute to the kindly, white-haired general who died suddenly last Sunday at his Sonoma, Cal., ranch.

No Mass Flight
The airforce had planned to say a final farewell to its highest-ranking officer in the way he would have liked best — with a massive flight of 80 jet fighters and 30 B-29 bombers thundering over his funeral cortege.

But officers remembered Arnold's lifetime concern over the safety and well-being of his fliers and at the last minute, cancelled the aerial salute rather than risk pilots' lives in the thick weather.

Every other honor that a grateful nation could bestow was paid to the white-haired, 63-year-old general whose contagious grin was known by millions.

His flag-draped casket, escorted by more than 1,700 troops from all services, was borne in solemn procession through the capital's streets and across the broad Potomac river to the white-columned Arlington Memorial amphitheater.

Great Airman
There Maj. Gen. Charles I. Carpenter, chief of airforce chaplains, read the brief but unhurried service, and eulogized "this great airman, great American, great man."

Mrs. Arnold, who has been ill, listened from a room just off the unroofed marble court, which was glazed with ice by the time the casket had been wheeled into place to the mournful accompaniment of ruffled drums.

Snow was falling steadily, and the soft white flakes speckled the stars and stripes over the casket. Gen. Carpenter began the solemn ceremony for "committal of an airman."

From Fort Myers came the far-away rumble of artillery thundering a 17-gun salute at one minute intervals.

Iowa Tavern Operator Gets Dubious First

DES MOINES (AP) — Bill Hancock, operator of a West Des Moines tavern, has been honored in a rather dubious fashion. He is the first person in this area to have his television set stolen.

THE FLAG-DRAPED CASSET of General of the Airforce Henry H. Arnold lay in Arlington National cemetery's amphitheatre Thursday at funeral services for the wartime commander of the flying service. The general's five-star flag is at right. President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson were among high officials attending.

Dance to Highlight Thornhill

Claude Thornhill and his orchestra will provide music for tonight's Interfraternity dance in the Iowa Union main lounge.

Sponsored by the Interfraternity council, the dance will be held from 9 until 1 p.m., Council Pres. Chuck Dodds, C4, Newton, said Thursday.

Highlighting the dance will be the presentation of the interfraternity queen and her attendants at 10:20 p.m.

The queen and attendants were chosen by the Interfraternity council from 16 candidates nominated by the fraternities.

Bored or Not Bored? That Is the Question

CHICAGO (AP) — A handsome peeping milkman pleaded guilty Thursday to boring holes in apartment doors along his route so he could squint at his lady customers.

William Fritz, 29, admitted that not all his efforts were successful.

Once, he said, he drilled a hole in the door of a non-customer and found himself looking at a bachelor's apartment. Another time his peephole revealed only two elderly spinsters.

Fritz said he saw "plenty" through some of the other holes he drilled, but that "it was all a mistake."

Professor Advises Farm Aid Change

Our government farm price support policy clashes with our foreign trade policy, according to a recent book by Prof. C. Addison Hickman of the SUI college of commerce.

In his recent book, "Our Farm Program and Foreign Trade," Hickman says these two policies do not need to conflict but have in recent years.

Parity price supports aid the farmer, but outprice his products on world markets and lead to demands for import barriers against cheap foreign agricultural goods, Hickman said. He suggests farm supports be planned in terms of farm income, rather than in terms of parity price policy.

Market Basket Index —

Local Food Prices Up Slightly

The price of one-third of the items included in The Daily Iowan's food survey climbed slightly this week and the index of living costs rose 9 cents.

The index continued its leveling trend, remaining at $15.09 this week.

As the price of bacon in local grocery stores fell 10 cents a pound, the federal government announced it had decided to raise its support price on hogs.

Greatest Increase
Eight items climbed in price from 6 cents to a penny each. The greatest increase was on a two-pound box of Kraft "Velveeta" cheese, which gained 6 cents.

Five cent increases were recorded in the prices for a dozen oranges and 10 pounds of potatoes. Eggs were up 2 cents a dozen and ground beef and pork chops were each up 2 cents a pound.

Canned peaches and a pound of Spry were each up 1 cent.

Five Items Down
Four items in addition to bacon fell this week. "Gold Medal" flour was down 3 cents on a 10 pound sack and lard fell 2 cents a pound. One cent decreases were seen in the cost of a small box of Quaker Oats and a one-half pound box of Baker's unsweetened chocolate.

In general, the index of living costs for the average student family of three remained very steady. Since students returned from Christmas vacation the total has remained between $15 and $15.23.

Median prices in the survey of seven Iowa City grocery stores are compared here with those of one week ago.

Item	This week	Last week
1 lb. Iowa Brand butter	37	37
1 doz. grade "A" eggs	37	35
1 lb. Hill's Bros. coffee	79	79
1 doz. medium sized oranges	34	29
10 lbs. potatoes	40	43
No. 2 can med. sized peas	19	19
No. 2 can Van Camp pork and beans	17	17
No. 2 1/2 can Del Monte sliced peaches	28	27
1 can Campbell's tomato soup	11	11
1 lb. Spry	28	28
1 lb. can red salmon	68	69
1/2 lb. size Ivory flakes	28	28
5 lb. white sugar	51	51
10 lb. "Gold Medal" flour	85	88
Small box Quaker oats	16	17
1/2 lb. pkz. Baker's unsweetened chocolate	38	40
2 lb. Kraft "Velveeta" cheese	85	79
1 lb. lard	16	18
1 lb. ground beef	49	47

(Not totals of above prices.)
This week $15.09
Last week $15.00
Month ago $14.97
Year ago $16.64
1949-50 high $16.75
1949-50 low $14.93

The Daily Iowan market basket INDEX is not an added total of the prices listed above. That is, the index figure takes into consideration both the costs of the items listed above and the amount of each item the student family of three uses in one week. The amount of each item the family of three uses in one week was arrived at in a survey conducted in cooperation with the university bureau of economic and business research.

Reveal Requirements for M.A. in New School

Requirements for work on a master's degree in the school of social work at SUI were announced Thursday by Prof. Wayne Vasey, director.

Students may apply for admission to degree candidacy after completing one year of graduate study. They must have satisfactory grade point averages (at least 2.5), satisfactory records in field work and an acceptable plan for a research project.

The school for social work opened at SUI this semester. After being admitting to candidacy for the advanced degree, students will select the specialized field in which they wish to work.

The first year program has been planned to present subject matter important to all social workers, regardless of their field of specialization. Courses include case work, personality development, organization of community services, public welfare and health factors important to personal adjustment.

Twenty-five students who comprise the school's first class will begin their second semester in February. Vasey expects all of them to apply for admission to degree candidacy in the spring.

GOP Move to Consider Excise Taxes Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic majority in the senate Thursday beat down a Republican move for immediate consideration of a $670-million reduction in excise taxes.

A motion by Sen. Harry Cain (R-Wash) to lay aside other business and take up the excise tax move was defeated, 45 to 35. The vote followed party lines, with one exception. Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), voted with four Republicans on the losing side.
