Chief Executive Turns Cartoonist

House Turns Back Coalition Resolution

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Friday in a dramatic session turned back a power grab by a Republican-Southern Democrat coalition which might have killed most of President Truman's legislative program.

The test came on a resolution to give the coalition-dominated house rules committee complete power over all legislation.

Roll Call Vote

It was rejected by a roll call vote of 236 to 183, which cut across party lines.

The administration side against the resolution had the votes of 111 Democrats, 64 Republicans and one American Labor party representative. Voting for the change were 85 Democrats and 98 Republicans.

It was a major victory for the administration in which control over nearly all legislation rode on the outcome.

Bottle Up Bills

Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill.), a ranking member of the rules committee and a key figure in the coalition, admitted the aim was to bottle up about a dozen bills that comprise the bulk of the President's domestic program. These include national health insurance, the Brannan farm plan, and racial rights.

The 12-man committee, dominated by four Republicans and three Southern Democrats, would have gained that power if the resolution had not been defeated. The first victim probably would have been the key bill in the President's civil rights program—the bill for a fair employment practices commission to outlaw racial discrimination in job opportunities.

32 Killed by Fires In Last 24 Hours

CHICAGO (UP) — Thirty-two persons, more than half of them children and teen-agers, were killed in the last 24 hours in a rash of home and industrial fires over the nation.

In Canada, meanwhile, five persons were killed and seven were injured when fire swept a downtown garment factory at Toronto. Two of the injured were reported critical.

The U.S. fatalities included 16 children and two teen-agers. Many of the fires were caused from stoves fired up against cold weather.

Owners Must Report Evictions to Rent Office

Every proposed eviction from housing units under federal rent control must be reported to the area rent office, T.J. Wilkinson, Iowa City area rent director, said Friday.

His concern followed evidence that landlords and tenants sometimes fail to realize the present rent law has returned control of such evictions to rent offices.

Points Out Types

The rent official pointed out two types of evictions from controlled housing:

1. Eviction by notice direct from the landlord to the tenant.
 2. Eviction requiring a certificate from the rent office.
- Even the first type requires that the rent office be notified of the landlord's direct notice to the tenant, Wilkinson said.

"In neither case," he continued, "is the actual eviction notice ordered by the rent office. If the tenant does not comply with the notice, the landlord has to resort to civil court action. If there is an order, the court issues it."

Federal eviction provisions apply only to controlled units.

Dwellings not under rent control include those constructed since Feb. 1, 1947, those decontrolled after a conversion and private homes having no more than two paying guests in non-housekeeping rooms.

Eviction by notice applies to tenants charged with non-pay-

Hiss Jurors Can't Agree; Sent to Bed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Alger Hiss jury was locked up at 9:45 p.m. (Iowa time) Friday after failing to reach an agreement.

They debated the perjury charges against the former state department aide for five hours and seven minutes before being sent to bed.

The eight women and four men will resume deliberations at 9 a.m. today.

The jury was taken to the Knickerbocker hotel, 120 West 45th street.

They received the case at 2:10 p.m. after more than 1-million words of testimony during 39 trial days.

Almost immediately they gave evidence that this was to be no quick, easy verdict.

Twice, the jury returned to the courtroom to clear up questions about the testimony. But they gave no clue to their eventual decision.

The jury asked for testimony relating to the typewriter used to copy government documents and for 55 copies of the documents themselves.

The eight women and four men must decide whether Hiss lied when he denied stealing state department secrets for a Communist spy ring in pre-war Washington. After nearly 25 hours last July, the jury in the first Hiss trial could not solve the questions and was discharged.

Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard said the jury could convict or acquit Hiss of either or both of two perjury counts. He ended his charge at 2:08 p.m.

Maximum penalty on both counts is 10 years in prison and fines totaling $4,000.

Youth Admits Role In Local Robbery

Frank Morton Jr., 20, Chicago, admitted Friday night to Chicago police that he was one of a trio who held up the Reliable Loan company in Iowa City last Sept. 26, according to the United Press.

Two other men reportedly involved in the robbery here have already been found. They were Jerome E. Zeidman, 28, shot and killed by Chicago police early this month, and Ralph Luttrell, who surrendered to police there last Monday.

Chicago police quoted Morton as saying that he was also involved in other robberies in Moline and Rock Island, Ill., as well as in the robbery here.

Chicago police said that Morton admitted taking part in a robbery of a tavern a block away from the Rock Island police station. At Moline, he said, the trio robbed another tavern of $200. The robbery here netted the men $390 and nine guns, Morton said.

Yugoslavia Wants Second U.S. Loan

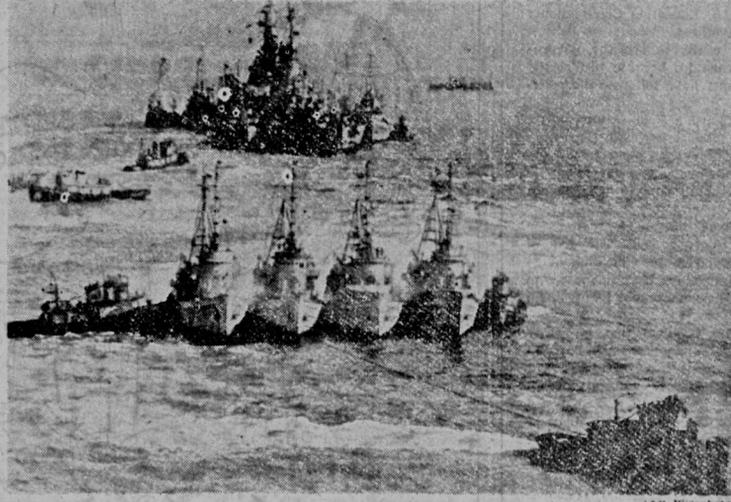

WASHINGTON (AP) — Yugoslavia has appealed to the United States for a second American government loan, diplomatic officials disclosed Friday.

Yugoslav embassy officials are reported discussing this secretly with the state department and export-import bank officials.

The Yugoslavs contend a new American loan is urgently needed to counteract the effects of the Russian-led economic blockade, it was said.

LANTERNS STOLEN

The Iowa Water Service company Friday reported that nine lanterns had been stolen during the past week from two work sites on Riverside drive near River street, police said.

Attempt to Float Battleship Fails

THE COMBINED EFFORTS of 21 tug boats failed Friday to float the battleship Missouri, aground since Tuesday on a mudbank in Chesapeake bay. This airview shows parts of the tug boat armada straining to release the giant craft.

Navy Fails Again To Free Battleship From Shoal's Grip

NORFOLK, VA. (AP) — The navy failed Friday in its third attempt to pull the battleship Missouri off a Chesapeake bay shoal.

The 45,000-ton giant resisted for an hour and 38 minutes the combined strength of 19 tugs turning up 40,000 horsepower.

Naval spokesmen announced immediately that no further attempt to free the Missouri will be made until the next favorable tide for such an operation, expected Feb. 2.

An earlier try will be made, however, should northeast winds in the meantime cause tides much higher than normal.

Court of Inquiry

In Washington, while the navy ordered a court of inquiry to investigate the grounding of the battleship.

The navy said the investigation would start in the near future but would be deferred "pending further development of the salvage operations."

The Missouri was headed for Cuba and winter maneuvers in the Caribbean when she went aground.

Captain William D. Brown took command of the Missouri Dec. 10 just before she completed a thorough overhaul in the Portsmouth, Va., navy yard.

Crew Runs

Desperately snatching at straws, officers directing Friday's attempts ordered several hundred of the Missouri's crew to run back and forth from port to starboard on the ship's main deck in an effort to set up a rocking motion, however slight, and thereby aid in freeing her from the firm grip of the sand mud that holds her captive.

Dimes Group Lauds 1950 Kapers Show

The Iowa March of Dimes committee Friday "congratulated" the cast and staff of the 1950 Kampus Kapers for volunteering a special performance tonight, with all proceeds going to the polio fund.

The special performance of the musical revue will be given at 10 p.m. in Macbride auditorium, to permit Iowa-Northwestern basketball fans to attend after the game.

Gov. William S. Beardsley was invited to attend tonight's basketball game and to be a special guest at the Kampus Kapers show.

Beardsley said he would be unable to attend, but would send Brig. Gen. Charles H. Grahl Sr., state adjutant-general, as his personal representative.

The governor thanked the cast and staff of the show for "their fine gesture" in behalf of the March of Dimes campaign.

Give Up Dates . . .

About 20 members of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority have agreed to "toss their Saturday night dates overboard" to do their bit for the March of Dimes campaign.

Publicity chairman for the Kampus Kapers musical, Charles Mickell, A4, Upper Montclair, N.J., said the SUI women volunteered to sell tickets for the show at the Iowa - Northwestern basketball game tonight.

Proceeds from all ticket sales will go into the polio fund.

U.S. May Break with Bulgaria If American Official Banished

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States Friday served a blistering ultimatum on Communist Bulgaria to back down on the expulsion of American Minister Donald R. Heath or face a break in diplomatic relations.

Coplon, Ex-Friend Must Stand Trial On Spying Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Little Judith Coplon and her stolid Russian ex-friend Valentin A. Gubitchev Friday lost their long-drawn-out fight to escape trial on spy conspiracy charges.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan ordered the trial to begin next Tuesday. He ruled that the FBI's wire-tapping in the case was illegal, as the defense charged. But he held that the government has other proof that legally can be used.

Six Weeks of Hearings

The ruling climaxed six weeks of hearings in which the ex-government girl and the Soviet engineer, who is suspended from his United Nations job, called scores of witnesses in an effort to get the charges against them dismissed.

Archibald Palmer, Miss Coplon's lawyer, announced immediately that his fight was only beginning.

Ryan said much of the government's non-wire-tap evidence rests on the testimony of William E. Foley, Miss Coplon's former boss in the foreign agent's registration section of the justice department.

It is for a jury to decide, the judge said, whether Foley is telling the truth.

Cites Wire Tapping

Foley testified during the hearings that he told the FBI of Miss Coplon's plans to meet Gubitchev in New York, where the two were arrested after a frantic chase last March 4. The defense says the FBI learned of Miss Coplon's plans by tapping her phone wires.

A petite, Brooklyn-born brunette, the 28-year-old Miss Coplon now must be tried along with Gubitchev on charges of conspiring to steal the secret papers.

Council to Consider Purchase of Trucks

The city council will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the council chambers to give further consideration to the city's purchase of three new trucks, Mayor Preston Koser said Friday.

The council's original move to purchase the three trucks for street department use was vetoed by the mayor following criticism on the basis that earlier bids were not considered.

After sealed bids were submitted Jan. 13, the aldermen voted 4 to 2 to purchase the same three trucks but at a lower cost. The mayor said then he would give the measure careful consideration before signing it.

By re-advertising for competitive bids, the council obtained a price about $300 lower than the original cost of the three vehicles. Recent complaints have stated the trucks could be bought at an even lower price.

Billion Wanted In New Taxes

Report No Hike on Personal Incomes; See Increased Corporation Levies

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman's tax program was reported unofficially Friday to call for a cut of some $750-million in excise levies, offset by tax increases of something less than $1,750,000,000 on corporations, estates at death, and gifts.

High Soviet Denies Russians Annexing Chinese Provinces

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky Friday denied that Russia is annexing Outer Mongolia and China's northern provinces and declared United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson was trying to alibi America's "bankrupt" China policy.

Vishinsky described Acheson's Jan. 12 speech on far eastern affairs before the National Press club in Washington as "slandereous."

Acheson said the Soviet Union had completed its annexation of Outer Mongolia, had virtually completed annexation of Manchuria and was swiftly attaching Inner Mongolia and Sinkiang province. The Chinese Communist radio Friday also accused Acheson of "fabrication" and "slander of low intelligence" in his far eastern speech.

Vishinsky's blast at Acheson coincided with the arrival in Moscow of Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai. Mao Tse-tung, president of the Peking regime, has been in Moscow since mid-December.

Vishinsky said Acheson's remarks were based on the complete failure of American foreign policy in the far east despite the expenditure there of millions of dollars.

"All these absurdities of Acheson were said in order to discredit the foreign policy of the U.S.S.R. and at the same time to explain the failure of his own policy."

In Washington, the state department Friday night declined immediate comment on Vishinsky's criticism of Acheson.

Russians Stop Trucks Headed Out of Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Russian authorities Friday night turned back a "considerable number" of trucks bound from Berlin to western Germany in one of the largest traffic stoppages since the Berlin blockade was lifted, west Berlin police announced.

The mass highway stoppage followed east German threats to restrict rail traffic, interpreted here as a sign that the Communists may clamp a new blockade on this isolated capital.

Bulgarian Receives U.S. Reply

DR. PETER VOUTOV (left), ranking Bulgarian diplomat in the U.S., and Vladov Christo, Bulgarian legation clerk, are shown as they left the state department in Washington Friday. They had just picked up an American note threatening to break diplomatic relations with the Communist country unless it withdraws its demand for the recall of American Minister Donald R. Heath from Sofia.

The net increase in taxes thus would be somewhat less than $1-billion.

The program also was said to call for a crackdown on tax dodgers.

The proposals were unveiled privately to Democratic congressional leaders at the White House.

Try to Dent Deficit Mr. Truman, in aiming at a revenue increase which he previously told congress he wanted, would be trying to dent the $5.1-billion prospective deficit in spending for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Newsman had to depend upon meager information, but a responsible source said the President's program may not ask increases for individual income taxes.

Unofficial Information From the unofficial information which newsmen were able to gather, indications were the President will recommend:

1. A drop in excise levies imposed during the war on such things as furs, jewelry, luggage, theater admissions, communications and transportation. There probably will be no cut in the $9-a-gallon liquor tax.
2. An increase in estate and gift taxes.
3. Increase in estate and gift taxes.
4. A crackdown on tax-evaders who fail to report all of their income.
5. Clarification of tax laws to close openings which enable some taxpayers to reduce their tax payments.

Some lawmakers at the White House conference appeared happy that it may not call for an increase nearly so large as the $4-billion boost Mr. Truman recommended last year. Congress then ignored the President.

Khan Gem Robbers Arrested in France

PARIS (AP) — Five gangsters who seized up to $600,000 in gems from the Aga Khan and his wife in a roadside holdup on the Riviera last August have been arrested, French police said Friday.

Held also is an Englishman booked at Strasbourg as Watson Lindsay, former foreign legionnaire. Police said they were investigating a possibility he instigated the robbery.

But the glittering loot was still missing.

One member of the gang, an ex-convict sometimes identified as the leader, and his girl friend were reported dead. Police said they were taken for a ride by the others, who feared the two were too talkative and would give away the rest if they were caught.

This story was based upon statements of members of the gang. However, the bodies have not been found and Marseille officers say they are not entirely certain the man is dead.

A nationwide alarm has been sounded for three other men.

1950 License Sales Hours Announced

Johnson County Treasurer Lumir Jansa Friday said his office will be open during the noon hour from Wednesday through Jan. 31 and all day Saturday, Jan. 28, to accommodate those wishing to get 1950 license plates.

Jan. 31 is the deadline for getting 1950 plates. A penalty of five percent monthly, with a $1 minimum for the first month, will be imposed beginning Feb. 1.

Jan. 31 is also the final date for putting unlicensed motor vehicles and trailers in storage. Old plates must be turned in when motor vehicles are stored or junked, Jansa said.

Of 11,337 automobiles registered in 1949, only 6,900 had been re-registered by late Friday, Jansa said.

LABORER SOUGHT HERE

Iowa City police said Friday night that they were trying to find Henry McDonald, believed to be a laborer working in Iowa City. The sheriff at Oconto, Wis., said that McDonald's mother is seriously ill there.

The One Commodity We Should Not Lose -

The average family has been priced right out of the college market, an article in the current Collier's magazine states. Which is all very true, whether we like to admit it or not.

Most of us are prone not to, holding fast to the traditional "bootstraps" philosophy that sees a persevering poor lad rise to become president of U.S. Steel.

We will not discount this. Certainly, the individual in most cases is responsible for his attainments. The blame cannot be pinned on that nebulous generality, "society."

But education is becoming just too high-priced. And the Horatio Alger tales that had young men going through college eating pretzels and sleeping on park benches are becoming gems of the past.

Colleges that used to charge $200 to $300 for annual tuition now ask $400 to $600. Weekly board and room costs are estimated at $20. Books cost all the way from $3 to $14, and book dealers pay next to nothing for second hand texts. The student is often caught in a gigantic squeeze, and dollars are the only thing that will relieve the pressure.

"Free education is a myth — for even the public colleges charge an average fee of $104 for residents of the state, $250 for non-residents," says Colliers. These figures are substantially lower, though, than similar fees for private institutions. What seems to be the answer to the dilemma? All indications point towards government aid, as asked by the President, Harvard Pres. James B. Conant, U.S. Education Commissioner Earl McGrath, and others.

No one really wants to see the government's long arm reach in, because historically "rules and regulations" have followed the pocketbook.

But we hardly have any other alternative. No less than 11 states today are scratching their collective heads trying to make their budgets come out even. Iowa is a prime example of a state just not being able to pay enough for education.

Maybe, there isn't too much reason for concern over government's role. The federal government has subsidized the education of 2-million GI's (tuition alone has amounted to $2-billion) without the government telling them exactly how to behave.

One very touchy problem that is raised almost immediately is, "what about the parochial schools?" The answer and answers will not come without hard work and lots of interplay.

But congress should do something about it. Education is the one commodity we should not allow to be lost in the inflationary spiral.

State Department Blunders Create Debt-

The United States' proposed plan to urge UN approval of sending ambassadors to Spain is likely to create considerable furor in Atlantic pact nations. And elsewhere.

Not only does this proposal present Communist China with an excellent chance to shout "prejudice," shout it loud and long, but it is another one of those acts which makes it difficult for the average European citizen to see just where the state department is going.

American citizens have been clamoring since Cordell Hull left office that the policies regarding foreign affairs are largely unknown. This is pretty generally agreed. A previous trial balloon got a quick tumb down from the other diplomatic circles of the world and Spain stayed almost unrecognized.

To say that we are making a mistake is putting it mildly and stating the obvious. Civilized nations with whom we have political, cultural and social contacts have long been against advancing Franco Spain any advantages.

Since Cordell Hull gave up the secretaryship after nearly 20 years, the state department has been in a continuous turmoil. We have acted, re-acted, traced and retraced our steps so often that the world is in real confusion as to what our policy will be from day to day.

The case of Communist China recognition is only the latest in a long series of confusing actions by the state department.

It may be that the department has a well-defined course of action and knows where it is going. But certainly, no one else does. In the interests of good government the American people have a showdown coming.

Thomas Was Never More Right -

As that great patriot, Thomas Paine, once said, "These are the times that try men's souls." We didn't know Paine was a college man.

This time of the year generally sees a series of events all occurring at once, and underlying them all are the ominous-sounding "final examinations."

For instance, such a problem as "Should I study tonight, or should I go watch the basketball game?" comes up. A coin flip is often the deciding factor, although sometimes it takes six or seven flips to finally see us on our way to the fieldhouse.

And then there's the question, "Should I change my major from museum methods to commerce next semester, or should I graduate into a salesman's job without "Principles of Accounting"?

Of course, there are the running worries of world politics, dates, money, etc., and the underlying murmur of finals, finals, finals. Thomas was never more right.

"Finals to the front of them
Finals to the left of them
Finals to the right of them
Volleyed and thundered.
Was there a man dismayed?
Frankly, yes.

The Saga of Alger Hiss -

Surprises Enliven Latest Trial

NEW YORK — It was like playing an old phonograph recording all over again when Alger Hiss went to trial for a second time for perjury but there were three new twists in this second long hearing.

The government sprang two surprises, the defense one.

For the first time in federal court history, a psychiatrist was permitted to give his opinion of the credibility of a witness. Dr. Carl Binger of the Cornell medical school was called by the defense and he pictured Whittaker Chambers, the accused of Hiss and the government's star witness, as a "pathological personality" who had an emotional tendency to lie.

Binger had taken extensive notes during Chambers' testimony at the first trial but he was not permitted to take the witness stand. But at the second his testimony was admitted and he went over 12 traits in Chambers' personality and background which he said indicated mental instability.

The government came up with two important new witnesses.

The first was Mrs. Hede Massing, the former wife of Communist Gerhart Eisler. Mrs. Massing testified that she once argued with Hiss at a Washington cocktail party about Noel Field, like Hiss a state department employee. Mrs. Massing said Hiss chided her for trying to take Field away from his Communist "apparatus" to help her in similar activity. Hiss said later he never met Mrs. Massing. Field has since disappeared in Europe.

Then on the day the government rested its case, it produced Mrs. Edith Murray, a Negro maid who once worked for the Chambers. She swore that she saw Mr. and Mrs. Hiss at the Chambers' home on an occasion far after the January, 1936, date when Hiss swore he last saw Chambers.

The question the jury had to decide was: who was lying, Whittaker Chambers or Alger Hiss?

Chambers swore that Hiss passed over to him secret government papers from the state department to be passed along to a Communist espionage ring. Hiss told a grand jury he had never done so.

The jury of 10 men and two women couldn't decide that question at the first trial and there was a hung jury. This time there were eight women and four men who had to make the decision.

One of the most puzzling aspects of the case was why Chambers ever brought the matter to light for he sacrificed a $30,000-a-year editorship at Time magazine in candidly admitting that he had been a Communist courier, had repeatedly lied under oath and had lived under a dozen aliases.

At stake was the even more brilliant reputation that Alger Hiss had built since he graduated from Harvard law school and went to work as a clerk for the late Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. He rose steadily in government service until he became advisor to the late President Roosevelt at Yalta and secretary-general of the San Francisco conference where the United Nations charter was drawn.

In 1946, he quit the state department for the $20-a-year job as president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He has since resigned that job because of the accusations still pending against him.

The first trial of Alger Hiss began May 31, 1949, and ended July 8 without a verdict. This second trial began Nov. 17 and went to the jury Friday. The government has indicated it will not try again if the jury cannot reach a decision this time.

Tucker Case Goes To Jury Today

CHICAGO — Both defense and prosecuting attorneys ended their arguments Friday in the mail fraud and conspiracy trial of Preston Tucker and seven of his associates, preparing the way for the jury to receive the case today.

The defendants, who produced no witnesses, maintained that the government failed to prove any fraud in connection with their ill-fated attempt to mass produce a rear-engined automobile.

U.S. Attorney Otto Kerner Jr. asked the jurors Friday "not to be moved by emotion" but to decide the case themselves on the evidence.

Floyd Thompson, one of the several defense lawyers who made closing arguments, said that the government had "distorted the facts" and presented the case "in a low and mean way."

The jury will begin its deliberations after receiving instructions from Federal Judge Walter J. Labuy.

County Divorce Total Drops to 73 in 1949

Johnson county's divorce rate has dropped from the 1948 figure of 86 to a 1949 total of 73 cases.

Twelve divorces were granted in December, 1949, as compared with 1948's heaviest month, September, when 14 decrees were granted.

The number of divorces for the rest of the year were: January, four; February, six; March, five; May, three; July, three; August, three; October, four, and November, three.

TO THE EDITOR: This is in reply to a letter in the Jan. 19 Daily Iowan by Mr. Michell Smith.

The obvious lack of knowledge and understanding which most of Mr. Smith's statements contain, are almost no challenge to an intellectual battle.

But eliminating Mr. Smith himself, there is implicit in the tenor of the letter, a very distressing and foreboding thought-pattern which may be in the minds of many other Smiths.

Communism in the first place is not a religion, but a political theory, and one can hold political theories and still be religious. In our so-called democratic Christian state, the mere observation of our large and small communities will portray that mammon, and the philosophy of materialism, is firmly entrenched in the minds and souls (if we have any) of we Americans.

The opinion, which Mr. Smith has, that non-Christians are in "spiritual darkness" is just as frightening as Hitler's Aryan philosophy. The Hindu religion in India claims about 80 percent of India's population, and a knowledge of that religion would immediately show the high state of spiritualism as shown in the Vedic writings, and certainly no correlation between the acceptance or non-acceptance of communism.

As a historic fact, there have been times when Indian culture has had as high, if not a higher state of democratic and intellectual achievement as America (during the reign of Ashoka in 273 B.C. and the Gupta empire about 400 to 600 B.C.). Mr. Smith's "opinions" are contradictions to facts.

The entire purpose of President Hancher's visit to India was to promote and further cultural understanding between the east and west, but Mr. Smith evidently has such contempt for non-Christians that he will have to go a long way before his subjective animosity will allow any filtration of the light of good will to shine through.

And there you have it — the letter by Mr. Smith is the result of the American form of education that teaches western religion, western morals, western values — western intolerance.

ELECT ILLINOIS MAN

DUBUQUE (AP)— Frank Bellrose of Havana, Ill., representing the Illinois natural history survey, Friday was elected chairman of the Upper Mississippi River Conservation committee.

By JOE BROWN

IF YOU'RE a girl who's dated two weeks in advance, or if you're a fellow who's pretty indignant because you find it necessary to make dates that far ahead, here's something that might interest you.

A group of University of Wisconsin students so thoroughly disapprove of the system in which a fellow might feel that he's little more than a scribbled notation in a date book that they've organized themselves against it.

And, please note, the membership includes girls, too.

They've combined their dignities and prides, reminded each other of the old idea of "strength in numbers" and dubbed themselves the "Late Daters."

Until the charter members can get together between semesters to adopt an official policy, they're pushing one particular principle: "A girl will not be called earlier than Thursday night for a date Saturday night of the same week."

Where the girl members of the club figure in this movement, I don't know.

But one of the leaders happens to be a female, and she's reported that "the idea appears to be having enormous success with the male population."

And then the lass goes on to say, "I haven't heard of any female opposition as yet. The girls will probably wait three weeks before making a move."

KIDS, YOU can see what this might lead to. Soon it wouldn't be enough to worry about coal and steel strikes. Soon date strikes would be added to our troubles.

Suppose such a movement got started here. The old campus might look like a different place if the girls decided to defy the fellows.

First, I'd guess that both sides would be pretty haughty and indignant. The fellows would say, "O.K. We just won't date you." And the girls would say, "So what? Who cares?"

Classrooms would be divided voluntarily into two sections, one for boys and one for girls.

Time would pass, the girls still wouldn't give in to the three-day policy on making dates in advance, and the boys would reassert their determination to "show 'em."

The crowds of fellows on drug store corners would turn to look in display windows when groups of girls approached.

Each would state his or her case, no agreement would be reached, and their conference would end in failure.

By then, there probably would be picket lines around the girls' dorms, displaying signs accusing the lovelies of being unfair.

And the poor guys who go steady would have to show passes before being allowed through the lines.

The week nights might pass okay, but after three or four dateless week-ends, the dissension on the campus would be so great that university officials probably would appoint a mediation board to settle the trouble.

Then representatives of both sides would meet with the board, probably in the senate chambers of Old Capitol, and try to conciliate their demands.

THE BOYS would insist it was absurd to have to ask for dates two or three weeks in advance, and the girls would remind the fellows that they'd run their lives as they darn well pleased.

The university-appointed mediator would plead for some sort of agreement, but the gals would spit in his eye, the boys would shout anew their threats and the meeting would end in another failure.

The next step would be inevitable. The university officials would have to pass and invoke a law to break up picket lines around dorms and to protect fellows from supposedly accidental cases of powder dropped in their laps from open compact.

Sooner or later, I suppose, representatives would meet again from both sides in an effort to convince each other of the other's folly.

The fellows' representative would say, "O.K., we'll settle for a system in which boys won't call for a date more than four days in advance."

And the girls' representative would say, "Oh, no! We're not interested unless it's at least a 10-day policy and we're not too pleased with that."

Boy: "We'll make it five days."
Girl: "How about nine?"
Boy: "Six?"
Girl: "One week — not one day less!"

And so might end the strike, with instructions from both representatives that dating would be resumed.

So maybe we'd better leave them alone, fellows. It could cause a lot of trouble. It might even occur to them to demand a contract stipulating the minimum amount of money to be spent on each date.

And to let 'em get by with that would be the same as admitting we were dumb operators.

Iowa Staters to Talk at Congregational Church

Four Iowa State college students will discuss the advantages of a technical education in influencing religious life and fellowship in a deputation program at the Congregational church Sunday at 6:15 p.m.

The Iowa State students will return a visit made by an Iowa City delegation to Ames last fall.

Norman Jackson, A3, Tulsa, deputation chairman of the Iowa City Student fellowship, will make an introductory speech.

The Iowa State students to take part in the program include: David and Faith Fitch, Carol Simonson and Don Bandow.

Iowa Seeks Second Conference Triumph in Northwestern Game

A basketball rivalry, dating back to 1905 will be revived at the Iowa fieldhouse tonight when the Iowa Hawkeyes meet Northwestern's Wildcats in the 55th encounter of the two Big Ten schools.

The Hawks, victors in 31 of their last 37 home conference outings, will be seeking to even their loop mark at two wins and as many losses this season. They will also be out to gain an edge in the Northwestern series which now stands at 27 wins apiece.

Third Victory of Season
Northwestern will be pointing for its third conference victory of the season. The Wildcats hold the distinction of being the only Big Ten club to post a win on a foreign court this season—a overtime decision at the expense of Purdue.

In addition to the Purdue win, Northwestern clipped Minnesota before dropping decisions to Ohio State, current league leader, and defending champion Illinois.

The scoring punch of the Northwestern club rests in Forwards

The Hawkeyes have amassed a season's shot percentage of .314 but in the three conference games, two of which were lost, they connected for only .267 as compared with opponent's .306.

Game time is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Jack Harden Leads Long Beach Tourney

LONG BEACH, CALIF. — Favored Sam Snead and the fellow big name professionals took a back seat Friday to a little known golfer from El Paso, who cracked par by nine strokes to lead the way through the first round of the $10,000 Long Beach Open.

Jack Harden was the big noise as he toured the par 35-36-71 Lakewood country club course in 31-31-62.

Sox Sign Appling For 1950 Campaign

CHICAGO (AP) — Ageless Luke Appling, the perennial shortstop, signed his 21st contract with the Chicago White Sox Friday and there wasn't much doubt but what he received some kind of a raise.

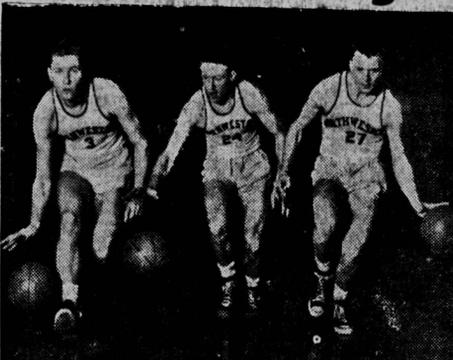

Luke was supposed to be a utility man last season, playing in about half the games, but he finished up with a .301 mark in 142 games, all but a dozen in the schedule.

During the campaign he set a new major league record for most games played at the position only a year after he broke the league mark for the same thing.

Appling, who plays at his best when he has some physical ailment about which to complain, was at par as he signed the contract.

He had a wart on the knuckle over the thumb on his right hand and departed quickly for a hospital for a checkup.

Club Physician Dr. John Claridge described the growth as a "tendon cyst," caused by a sharp blow or bruise over the tendon.

NORTHWESTERN POINT MAKERS Ray Ragelis, Jake Fendley and Don Blasius, shown above, will be the chief offensive threats in the Wildcat lineup tonight when they meet Iowa. Ragelis and Fendley have paced Northwestern this season with 63 and 48 points respectively in conference competition.

Hawklets Clip McKinley, 42-38 For Mississippi Valley Victory

By LELAND OLSON
City high fought off a determined McKinley team from Cedar Rapids here Friday night to win, 42-38.

An 11-point Hawklet lead in the closing minutes of the third period had melted down to only remaining. Gene Brawner, who hit 16 points for the Hawklets during the evening, then connected on a jump-shot to ice the game.

Bears Hold Lead
The Bears grabbed an early 4-0 lead before Brawner and Bill Fenton connected with the hoop to put City high in front, 15-4, a couple of minutes later. From that point on City high was never behind.

At the end of the first period City high led, 17-11.

Early in the second period Fenton's free throw placed his mates at a 24-11 advantage—the largest of the evening.

At the half-way mark, McKinley had cut the margin in half, 28-21.

Coasting along, the Little Hawks moved out to a 36-25 lead in the closing moments of the third period. Jerry Myers rebounded shot in the closing seconds set the score, 36-28, going into the final quarter.

With Myers and Bill Bohlander providing most of the punch, McKinley sneaked the count up to 38-37 midway in the quarter.

Ed Lodge then had a chance to knot the score with a free throw, but the ball bounced harmlessly off the hoop.

After the automatic time-out, Brawner hit his game-winning bucket. He added a couple of free throws for insurance to give Williams stalked Bratton all over the ring in the opening round, but thundering rights only glanced off Bratton's chin. The retreating Chicagoan landed stinging left hooks and straight jabs.

Bratton stopped running near the end of the second and they traded furiously with Ike landing three jolting rights which hurt. He cornered Bratton on the ropes.

It was all Williams in the third. He backed Bratton into the ropes and hurt him twice with whistling rights.

Ike cornered Bratton and hammered him savagely in the fourth. Although standing on rubbery legs, Bratton managed to keep his feet though outclassed at this point.

Gymnastics Team Meets Gophers in First Home Match

Iowa's new sports representative, gymnastics, will meet first Big Ten opponent of year, Minnesota, today at fieldhouse.

It will mark the first collegial dual meet in Iowa City in years. The Hawkeyes opened season by dropping a 54-42 net against Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday.

Starts at 2 p.m.
The six-event program opens 2 p.m. in the north gymnasium where temporary bleachers be erected to accommodate it. The affair will finish just before the finals of the Iowa AAU swimming championships in the fieldhouse pool.

Coach Dick Holzhaeupel listed following lineup of Hawkeyes the dual meet:

Side Horse: Frank Ingalls, Clair Jennett.
Horizontal Bar: Captain Casady and Jennett.

Parallel Bar: Jennett, Earle and Paul Williams.
Flying Rings: Dick Turchen, net and Kendal McKenna.

Trampoline: Bill Harris, Jennett and McKenna.
Tumbling Mat: Williams, Jennett and McKenna.

The Iowans will again ground to the visiting Gophers because of the inability to three men in each division. Two Hawkeyes are entered in side horse and horizontal events.

Established Team
Commenting on the Minnesota squad Holzhaeupel said, "Minnesota has an old established team and they are defending champions—therefore, I don't expect to win."

The Gophers have won two Ten titles and are paced by F. Loken, conference side horse champion. He is also entered in other events.

Iowa's strength comes from two senior men, Jennett and Casady. Jennett last Saturday scored 14 of Iowa's four points against Nebraska by taking four of the places and two fifths.

"I'm afraid it's their experience against our inexperience that will tell the tale," Holzhaeupel said.

Scoring in a gymnastics meet is similar to that in diving in swimming events.

Three judges score individual performances on the basis of 100 points. (60 on difficulty and combination and 40 on form and continuity).

Three Men in Event
Each team is allowed to enter three men in each event but are limited to a squad of 10 performers.

Team score is comprised from a system where in each event first place gets six points, second, four, third, three, fourth, two, fifth, one and sixth, zero.

The team score in each event is then totaled to decide the winner.

Seventy-eight points is the maximum total a team can get in a dual meet. The minimum point total, if a maximum of players are entered, is 18.

Ike Williams Gains TKO Over Bratton

CHICAGO (AP) — Ike Williams, world's lightweight champion, Friday night scored a technical knockout over Chicago's Johnny Bratton in the eighth round of their scheduled ten round non-title battle in the Chicago Stadium.

It was Williams' third triumph over Bratton.

The world's lightweight title holder, weighing 143 pounds to Bratton's 146, stalked after Bratton from the very start and had him retreating most of the time. Bratton attempted to score with left jabs and right crosses while going backwards.

Sauer Signs Baylor Contract

WACO, TEX. (AP) — George Sauer, former coach of Kansas and Navy, Friday night was named head football coach and athletic director of Baylor University.

Dr. W. H. White, president of Baylor, announced that Sauer had signed a five-year contract to succeed Bob Woodruff, who resigned to go to the University of Florida.

Woodruff left after friction with Ralph Wolf, athletic director of Baylor, with the result that Wolf resigned as athletic director and was made Baylor university stadium director, with the athletic directorship left open.

Sauer takes the combination job of coach and athletic director.

Dr. White did not reveal what the salary was but said it was not as much as Woodruff had received. Woodruff's contract had called for $12,000 a year. Indications were that Sauer's salary will be between $10,000 and $12,000.

Played for Nebraska
Sauer in 1931, 1932 and 1933 played fullback for the University of Nebraska, then coached by Dr. X. Bible, now athletic director at the University of Texas.

He was All-America in 1933. He was coach one year of freshman football at Nebraska before playing two years with the Green Bay Packers of the National football league.

BALL PLAYER SENTENCED

Earle Duggan, Iowa gymnast, says anybody who like a circus is sure to like watching a gymnastics meet. "The same thing as you see in a circus," he says, "only we're one thing going on at a time."

page 7-25. After winning a week's encounter with West Livery, Coach Clem Thompson's charges hoped to continue their winning ways, but were met instead by a continual "swish - swish" as they bowed for the eighth time in ten starts.

The Bombers wasted no time in showing the visitors that they meant business as they piled up a 16-6 first quarter score, and they upped the margin to 26-11 at the intermission. Curt Miller was the only Blue Hawk to hit with any consistency during the first half, dropping three fielders.

Immediately after the second half started, Wayland began a shower on the nets that broke U-high's back, and when the smoke had cleared away, they had 27 points to their credit.

New Grade School Additions To Ease Crowded Conditions

Proposed enlargement of Roosevelt grade school is well into the planning stages, according to a report Friday by Chan Coulter, chairman of the Iowa City school building and grounds committee.

Henry L. Fisk, local architect, has been engaged by the board to make a cost estimate and preliminary plans for an addition to the school. A four room addition is tentatively planned, Coulter said.

Need for this enlargement has been studied by the board for a number of weeks. Parents in the Roosevelt school district recently filed a preliminary petition for enlargement with the school board.

At a recent board meeting Supt. Iver A. Opstadt predicted that enrollment at his school could jump more than 70 percent in the next five years if population continues to increase in that district.

The proposed Roosevelt addition will be voted on by Iowa Citizens in the next school board election on March 13.

Meantime effects of the wartime birth rate boom on Iowa City grade schools soon will be eased by addition of new wings to Longfellow school and Lincoln school.

Four new classrooms at Lincoln school should be ready for occupancy at the beginning of next semester, Principal Mary Groenewold said Friday.

This added space will enable fourth, fifth and sixth graders to return to Lincoln school from Horace Mann school, where they have been attending classes.

Lincoln kindergartners will move from their present classroom on the auditorium stage to the fourth section of the new wing.

Additions to Longfellow school consist of three classrooms and a gymnasium auditorium combination, Principal Donald Seavy said.

The Longfellow school wing should be ready for occupancy about the first of September, he said.

When the school was built in 1917, space was left for construction of the gymnasium. The new gymnasium-auditorium will contain a fairly large stage, Seavy said.

The three new classrooms will accommodate the Longfellow 4A class, which has been attending classes at Junior high school during the first semester for the past two years.

Primary enrollment, Seavy said is growing every year. This year's kindergarten class shows an increase of 30 percent over last year's enrollment.

He said the wartime boom had not yet reached its peak and that the top number of grade schoolers would come through in 1952, or possibly in 1950.

The school building program is under the direction of Henry Fisk, architect, and the Morehead Construction company, Cedar Rapids.

Death of Companion Accidental, Say Boys

EVANSVILLE, IND. (AP) — A 17-year-old Chicago boy was killed by a gun in a hotel Friday and three young companions with pistols and knives in their baggage told police it was "an accident."

Oria Hiram Smith, 17, died in Deaconess hospital two hours after he was shot in the head in a room at the Acme hotel.

His companions, one of whom once was accused of breaking into a Chicago drug store, signed statements saying Smith was shot when one of them picked up the gun and pulled the trigger thinking it was not loaded.

Detective Sgt. Millard Fisher said after hours of questioning that authorities were "inclined to believe" the story that Robert Hanstad, 17, fired the fatal shot unintentionally. However, a hotel maid told police she heard an argument in the room just before the shooting.

Coroner Victor Conen withheld a verdict.

Alumni Office Checks On Reproduction Rate Of Former Students

The SUI Alumni office this week sent questionnaires to SUI graduates of the classes of 1925 and 1940 to gather information on the reproduction rate of SUI graduates.

Loren Hickerson, executive secretary of the alumni association, said his office is cooperating in the study with the Population Reference bureau of Washington, D.C.

For the replacement of a graduating class, an average of 2.1 children should be born for each graduate, Hickerson said.

Studies conducted by the bureau with the cooperation of other colleges show the average graduate class 25 years out of college has produced an average of only 1.53 children each.

Questionnaires were sent to 892 1925 graduates and 1,111 1940 graduates.

Results of the SUI study should be compiled within a month or so, Hickerson said the results will be compared with results obtained from similar studies at other schools and published in the SUI News Bulletin.

Prof. Clapp's Work Praised by Critics

Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of SUI's music department, received favorable comments on his composition "Overture to a Comedy" performed Dec. 29, by the Philharmonic-symphony orchestra of New York.

Olin Downes of the New York Times called Clapp "an extraordinary musician." Downes said Clapp "does not take himself too seriously, writing in a witty and jocular manner and turning out an entertaining piece of music."

Francis D. Perkins commented that Clapp "has written concisely in this overture and makes no lofty claims. He has provided melodic pleasure during the overture's five minutes."

Perkins also called the themes in the composition "appealing and well contrasted."

Clapp wrote the "Overture to a Comedy" in Ovington, Wash., during the summer of 1933. He revised it in 1937. Its first performance was in 1940 by the Cleveland Philharmonic orchestra.

The New York performance was directed by Dimitri Mitropoulos.

Former Instructor To Lecture Here

Prof. H. W. Janson, formerly of the SUI art department, will be the principal speaker at the graduate college lecture Wednesday.

Janson, a Harvard university graduate and now a fine arts professor at New York university, will speak on "Art, The Ape of Nature — The History of a Concept."

As curator of the Washington university art collection, St. Louis, Janson built up one of the most complete collections of modern art in the country, Prof. John Bradbury, SUI art department, said Friday.

Janson later spent a year in Italy gathering a photographic record of Donatello sculptures. Recently he completed a volume, "Ape and Ape Lore," soon to be published in London. The lecture will be open to the public and will be illustrated with slides, Bradbury said.

Five Dead in Canadian Explosion

AN EXPLOSION IN A TORONTO, Ontario, garment factory Friday caused the death of at least five persons, and injured seven others, two critically. Victims were carried to the street and firemen worked on them with inhalators. Several dashed from the factory with their hair in flames.

Campaign To Begin Tuesday For Council-Manager System

A public meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday will mark the formal opening of the campaign for adoption of the council-manager government plan here, Atty. Clair Hamilton said Friday.

Hamilton, chairman of the local Council-Manager association, said petitions calling for a referendum election on the plan will be circulated at the meeting in the main ballroom of the Community building.

Principal speakers will be A.A. Rhombert, city manager at Dubuque for the past 12 years, and the Rev. P. Hewison Pollock, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Iowa City.

Born in Dubuque 48 years ago, Rhombert received training in Dubuque schools and graduated from Notre Dame university with a civil engineering degree.

He was engaged in general contracting and was Dubuque county engineer for nine years before he became city manager there in 1937. Dubuque adopted the council-manager plan by referendum in 1920.

The Rev. Pollock, 609 S. Summit street, will speak on the council-manager form of government as a citizen who lived under the plan.

For 11 years he lived in Bozeman, Mont., a city of about 10,000 population which adopted the plan by referendum in 1921.

Also scheduled for Tuesday night's meeting is a question and answer session on the practical working of the proposed government plan.

Hamilton will serve as chairman of the meeting. A committee headed by Prof. Walter Daykin of the SUI college of commerce arranged the program.

Wednesday, more than 250 canvassers will begin the task of circulating petitions in Iowa City homes and business places. To sign the petition, Hamilton emphasized, is not to vote either for or against the proposal. The petition merely asks the mayor to call a special election on the adoption of the new form of government here.

The purpose of Tuesday's meeting is not to "sell" the council-manager plan to Iowa Citizens, Hamilton said. It is to give them a picture of the practical working of the plan and what it means to live under the system.

By understanding the plan, he continued, people will be in a better position to give their response to the petitions asking for a vote on it.

The association, composed of any Iowa Citizens interested in the new form of government, has studied the plan for more than a year, Hamilton said.

The members early decided their interest was not in putting the present administration out of office, but in promoting the council-manager plan so it would have genuine non-partisan support.

Chimney Fire Here Causes No Damage

No damage was caused at 7:53 a.m. Friday by a chimney fire at the home of Vincent Gilroy, 928 Walnut street, firemen said.

Firemen were called out the second time at 10:49 a.m. for a grass fire at 921 and 927 Hudson street. The fire, spreading from a bonfire, caused no damage, firemen said.

The third run was made at 3:08 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Maiden Lane and Kirkwood avenue where a grass fire had started a telephone pole burning, firemen said. Damage was slight.

Railroad Strike Forces Steel Company to Close

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, announced Friday night that it was banking its furnaces and shutting down all operations in the Pittsburgh district because of a pending strike by 1,200 employees of the Monongahela connecting railroad, a subsidiary.

Richard L. Barnes, president of the railroad, said the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainment notified J&L its members will go on strike at 6 a.m. today unless the company rehires a discharged conductor.

Will Discuss Plans To Re-open Co-op At Monday Meeting

Reorganization of the married students co-op store under one of three proposed plans will be discussed at a meeting Monday night, Henry Allan Jr., G, Iowa City, said Friday.

He said the meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in room 221A of Schaeffer hall.

The meeting is an outgrowth of another meeting held Sunday in the co-op store. Thirty former stockholders in the now-defunct co-op met and came up with three proposals for reorganization.

The first involves selling goods at wholesale prices. Members would put up five dollars a month. This would entitle them to a month's marketing at wholesale prices with a slight markup on vegetables to cover spoilage.

Allan said the "wholesale plan" is a big success at Iowa State Teachers college. The store originally had thirty members, he said, but within four months, boosted their membership to 150.

An alternate proposal would use a sliding scale for membership fees. Original fee would be five dollars. After the first month, a check would be made on amounts purchased per member. The more purchased the less paid for membership the following month.

A third plan calls for sales at retail prices, with patronage dividends paid at the end of the year. This would mean each member buys a share.

Dividends would be paid either from the surplus, or on a percentage—say about 10 percent—rebate on amount purchased during that year.

David Day, G, Iowa City, has made up a questionnaire to determine how many people are behind reorganization. They will be distributed at Monday's meeting.

Those attending the meeting will be asked where they buy, why they buy there. In general, buying habits will be determined.

The married students co-op corporation was dissolved Jan. 11 after stockholders learned at their annual meeting that the store was over $3,000 in debt.

Three trustees were appointed at that time, given 60 days to dispose of the store's assets and pay off its creditors.

Iowa High Schools To Debate at SUI

Seventeen Iowa high schools in the Iowa City area will be represented at an Invitational Forensics and Interpretation institute at SUI today, according to Instructor Charles Balcer of the speech department at SUI and University high school.

Speech teams from the schools will compete in original oratory, extemporaneous speaking, debate and interpretative reading. Subject for the debate is "Resolved: That the president of the United States be elected by the direct vote of the people."

SUI speech graduate students and speech instructors will judge the events. Certificates will be awarded for excellent and superior ratings.

The purpose of the institute is to provide high school students with various constructive criticism of speaking events. The meet is sponsored by the speech department of University high school.

Journalism Group Visited by Officer

Victor E. Bluedorn, national executive director of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, visited SUI's chapter Friday on his way to Grinnell college.

Bluedorn, a native of Walcott and graduate of Iowa State college, said his visit to SUI was informal and unofficial, and that "it's always good to get back to Iowa."

He is now living in Wheaton, Ill., near the national offices of the professional fraternity in Chicago.

From 1943 to 1942 Bluedorn was editor and publisher of two Iowa weekly newspapers, the Scott County Tribune and the Bettendorf News. He also edited the Iowa Motor News, an automotive publication.

Iowa City Man Fined For Failing To Stop

Kenneth J. Chaloupka, 1027 Sheridan street, was fined $12.50 in police court Friday for failing to observe a stop sign.

The police docket for Thursday showed 50 persons were fined a total of $86 for parking and meter violations. One case was dismissed.

Group to Distribute Iowa City Color Maps

A comprehensive, four-color map of Iowa City will be made available to the public Feb. 1, Chamber of Commerce Secretary Robert Gage announced Friday.

Planned and printed under the direction of the chamber, first copies of the map will be presented to chamber members at their annual business meeting, Jan. 31.

The map will then be sold at the chamber of commerce office for 25 cents.

A picture of Old Capitol will appear on the front of the map booklet. Inside pages will show bus routes and schedules, zoning information and a directory of churches and chamber of commerce members.

The map will show school districts, state and federal highways, wards, precincts and polling places. All SUI buildings and property will be shown in a distinctive color, Gage said.

Former POW Looks Forward to Bonus

FORMER PRISONER OF WAR JIM THOMSON, A4, Storm Lake, and his wife, Ruth, exhibit three good reasons why they can use the bonus Jim will receive from Uncle Sam as compensation for the time he spent in a Nazi prison camp. Left to right, these reasons are Colleen, Jim Jr. and Janet. Thomson spent nearly 14 months as a POW after being shot down over Berlin in 1944. Now under the new government law he will receive $400 shortly after he graduates from SUI in February 1.

SUI Student To Get Prisoner of War Bonus

By DICK JACKMAN

Jim Thomson, A4, Storm Lake, is looking forward to a unique and very welcome kind of graduation present after he receives his degree from SUI in February.

His gift will come in the form of more than $400 from the government. Thomson is typical of the nearly 40 men here, who are filing claims for the prisoner of war benefits being dealt out by Uncle Sam at the rate of $1 for each day spent in enemy prison camps during the war.

And Jim and Ruth — the girl whom he married after the war — don't figure to have any trouble spending the added gold.

They have three ways of disposing of the money, and in order of age, they are Colleen, 2; Janet, 19 months, and Jim Jr., 8 months.

Thomson had no trouble filling out the blank on the application form which posed the question about whether during his imprisonment he had enough food, both quality and quantity.

He said that during his 14-month stay in a Nazi prison camp, he reported the only really good food came through the Red Cross.

Chopped horsemeat was the main delicacy offered by the Nazi dietitians, Thomson said. And the Red Cross provided the only real recreational facilities for the prisoners.

Thomson was a pilot attached to the Royal Air Force when he was shot down on a raid over Berlin, March 24, 1944. He and his crew bailed out of their well-ventilated bomber about midnight. Thomson landed in a field south of Berlin and was not picked up for three days.

"I was moving west a little further each night," he said, "but I could see it was going to be a long walk."

"On May 1, 1945, when the Russians were drawing close, the Nazis decided not to take us west with them so we were turned loose. But we got stuck with the Russians until May 16. The food got more plentiful, then, for they just drove in a herd of cows and told us to start eating."

Now after four years at SUI, Thomson is ready to go into business and that little bonus should be a timely graduation sendoff. At least it's different.

Sex Slayer to Receive California Death Penalty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fred Stroble, 68, convicted of first degree murder in the sex slaying of a 6-year-old girl, Friday was found sane by Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke after he had waived a jury for his sanity hearing.

The decision finding Stroble sane at the time the girl, Linda Joyce Glucoft, was killed last Nov. 14 means that he will receive a mandatory sentence of death in the California death chamber.

He will be sentenced next Friday.

Oakdale May Get New 66-Bed Wing

A new 66-bed wing for the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Oakdale may be built this year judging from low construction bids made on that project Friday.

The last state legislature set aside $250,000 to be spent on the project and the lowest bids were within this amount. Bids were opened at Oakdale recently by several members of the state board of education.

Building of the new wing boosts the sanatorium's proposed expansion program to near the $1-million mark.

Dr. William M. Spear, Oakdale superintendent, said bidding for the construction work was in three categories. Twelve contractors bid on general construction work, mechanical work and electric installation.

Base bids call for construction of a two-story wing, with only the first floor being finished. The second floor and basement are to be completed later.

Spear said the finance committee of the state board of education will probably review the bids next Tuesday at Oakdale and frame a recommendation for the board in regard to them.

Expect Sales Rise In 1949 TB Seals

Christmas seal sales in Iowa City are expected to run more than 14 percent higher in the current drive than the total sales reported for 1948, Acting Chairman J.H. Schmidt said Friday.

Statistics released by the Iowa Tuberculosis and Health association show that as of Jan. 11, total sales in the state were running 11 percent higher than for the same period in 1948. For this same period, Iowa City reported a 14 percent increase.

Statewide returns showed that $202,975.94 of the state's goal of $500,000 had been realized.

Boone and Corning lead the state in increasing the sale of Christmas seals by 44 and 43 percent, respectively.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"FRED ALLEN'S attempts to brand me miserably burn me up," asserted Jack Benny in mock rage at Palm Springs recently. "Why, I remember dining with him and Portland and their favorite nephew Archibald one evening. They served asparagus and I noticed that Archibald wasn't touching his. 'Smatter, Archie,' I asked, 'don't you cotton to asparagus?' 'On the contrary, I love 'em,' says Archibald, 'but I gotta wait till Uncle Fred bites off the tips.'"

At the Brae Burn Country club in Houston, Fred Beck watched an Amazonian creature stride over to the first tee, her pint-sized caddy loaded down with a huge leather bag containing at least twenty different clubs. She found fault with the youngster continually for seven holes, then on the eighth, about a hundred yards from the green, wheeled on him and demanded, "Boy, do you think I can get home with my number seven iron?" The caddy replied fervently, "Lady, ah doan even know wheah you live!"
