Bridge Vanishes — Thieves Get 8-Ton Haul

(From The Wire Services) PITTSBURGH — Roving pickets spread idleness through the soft coal fields Tuesday, raising the number of striking miners to nearly 75,000.

About 14,000 more diggers joined the "no contract no work" walkout. The bulk of them are in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the two largest coal-producing states.

More than 90,000 refused to work last week in apparent dissatisfaction over miners' failure to get a new contract. They also want to work five days a week. They've been on a three-day week on John L. Lewis' orders.

Picket motor cavalcades journeyed into central Pennsylvania, which has been hit only lightly in the new strike. Some 4,200 miners in a three-county area near Johnstown were idle. Most of them work for the big Rochester and Pittsburgh coal company. Other mines were forced to shut down near Pittsburgh.

A big band of pickets in southwestern Pennsylvania literally put the bite on working miners near Uniontown. A miner reported the pickets confiscated the men's lunches — and ate them on the spot. The picketed miners stopped work.

The government promised free potatoes to starving miners' families in Pennsylvania Tuesday while fast-moving pickets dumped coal and blocked mine entrances in an effort to cut off the nation's coal supply.

The office of Rep. Anthony Cavalante (D-Pa.) said White House "intervention" speeded up the distribution by cutting red tape.

The department said the potatoes will be turned over to the Pennsylvania state department of property and supplies for distribution and that dried eggs may be added to the free list soon.

It was reported that each miner's family of seven will receive 65 pounds of potatoes and proportionate packages of other surplus foods per month.

The questions he would like landlords and tenants to report on include:

1. Whether families of five can find places to live at prices they can afford to pay.

2. Whether veterans have been provided with the housing they need.

3. The number of vacancies, if any, that may be had at moderate rent. A moderate rent for a two-bedroom dwelling is between $30 and $50 monthly, Wilkinson explained.

4. The number of new rental units that have been built in 1949 and the rents being charged for them.

To Back Phone Jam

WASHINGTON (P) — CIO President Philip Murray Tuesday pledged the national CIO's "all-out support" to a proposal by the Communication Workers of America (CIO) for "jamming" telephone lines in the event of a strike.

CIO President Philip Murray Monday urged that the CIO's 6-million members flood the Bell telephone dial switchboards with calls and breakdown automatic equipment if the union goes on strike.

In Chicago, the Illinois Bell Telephone company asked Tuesday night why anyone "in his right mind" would want to jam up the nation's telephone wires.

A company spokesman said about 2,000 emergency calls for doctors, police, firemen and ambulances are placed in the Illinois territory each day.

UAW to Strike?

Detroit (P) — Weary negotiators, aided by federal and state conciliators, Tuesday began marathon sessions to try to head off a nationwide strike of 89,000 Chrysler workers this morning.

Pessimistic about chances of avoiding the first major auto walkout since the "speedup" strike at Ford last May, Chrysler and GM united auto workers officials paused only briefly to eat and confer separately.

It appeared that they would work throughout the night in an all-out attempt to agree on a pension or wage-increase formula.

A walkout would paralyze operations of the world's third-largest automaker, immediately affect 16,000 non-strikers at Chrysler and idle at least 55,000 supplier firm employees within two weeks, industry sources said.

Judge Orders Examination of Anderson Jury

Judge Harold Evans Tuesday ordered the jury for the Oscar Anderson trial to appear for examination by the defense at 9 a.m. Feb. 1.

Anderson was found guilty in Johnson county court last Thursday of assault with intent to commit murder.

He was accused in the shooting of Clifford Kelly in the Strand cafe, April 22, 1948.

William H. Barley, Anderson's attorney, Saturday filed a motion for a new trial.

75,000 Miners Idle in Strikes

(From The Wire Services)

ATHENS, ALA. (P) — The elusive Piney creek bridge, eight tons of vanished steel, turned up in two junkyards Tuesday and was headed home piecemeal to be reassembled at its old site.

Along with the bridge, police seized Fred Vickers, 30, and Woodrow Moore, 35, on charges of grand larceny. Officers said they unbolted the bridge, hauled its sections to Sheffield and Huntsville and sold it for scrap at one cent a pound.

Authorities said the robbers received $149 for a bridge that would have cost $25,000 to replace.

A few weeks ago, a rural resident started to drive across Pine creek and slammed on his brakes. No bridge. He wondered what had happened to it but two weeks went by before he happened to mention to County Commissioner Charles Lepard that the bridge was gone. Sheriff John Sandlin said both prisoners confessed.

"I'm tickled to death to get that bridge back," Sandlin said.

Housing Shortage Still Present Here, Rent Director Says

A housing shortage here for families of average income still exists in spite of much new home construction, T.J. Wilkinson, area rent director, said Tuesday.

Wilkinson said he is trying to gather facts that would show what the actual housing situation is in Iowa City.

He is encouraging landlords and tenants to report to him any information that might indicate a change in the general housing situation here.

The questions he would like landlords and tenants to report on include:

1. Whether families of five can find places to live at prices they can afford to pay.

2. Whether veterans have been provided with the housing they need.

3. The number of vacancies, if any, that may be had at moderate rent. A moderate rent for a two-bedroom dwelling is between $30 and $50 monthly, Wilkinson explained.

Iowa Citizens Eye Council - Manager Petition

EXAMINING ONE OF THE COUNCIL-MANAGER association petitions which will be circulated today in Iowa City are left to right: Clair E. Hamilton, chairman; Roy Ewers; Mrs. Roy Lewis, and A. A. Rhomberg, Dubuque city manager. Rhomberg spoke at a meeting Tuesday night in the Community building, sponsored by the association to explain the council-manager form of government to Iowa Cityans. The petitions call for a referendum on adopting the system in Iowa City.

Council-Manager Plan Advocated by Speakers

The mayor-council form of city government "just doesn't lend itself too well" to getting city business done promptly and at the most efficient cost, according to A. A. Rhomberg, city manager of Dubuque. He said Tuesday night at a public meeting of the local Council-Manager association that he knew little about Iowa City's government problems and that he had no reason to tell the people here they should change their form of government.

However, he pointed out that under the council-manager plan, each councilman is elected at large and is responsible to the entire community, not just to one small precinct, as is usually the case under the mayor-council form.

A city manager is responsible to the councilmen who hire him, Rhomberg added. He is responsible for all of the city officials and employees whom he appoints.

Also supporting the council-manager plan, the Rev. P. Hewson Pollock, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here and former resident of Bozeman, Mont., a council-manager town, listed three advantages of the plan at Tuesday's meeting.

He said under the council-manager form there is a "clear center of responsibility" in the city manager, more economy in city planning and more cooperation among city officials.

Atty. Clair E. Hamilton, chairman of the local Council-Manager association, estimated about 450 persons attended the meeting.

At the close of the meeting, 45 persons signed petitions requesting a referendum on the council-manager plan.

Funds, Equipment To SUI Colleges

The finance committee of the state board of education accepted $4,920 in gifts, grants and electrical equipment for SUI this week. President Virgil M. Hancher said Tuesday.

The Eli Lilly Pharmaceutical company gave $3,000, the largest grant, for the study of the degenerative complications of diabetes. Prof. Robert Jackson of the pediatrics department, college of medicine, will direct the work.

The Nutrition Foundation, Inc., donated $1,800 to continue research on amino acids under the direction of Prof. C. P. Berg, biochemistry department.

A contribution of $120 from the Traknath Das foundation was added to the Sudhindra Bose Memorial fund. Individual donors were Roger Hargrave, an SUI graduate now living in Washington, and Des Moines. Milroy managed Hancher's campaign for governor and senator.

Mechanics' wages have been raised approximately 40 cents, to $1.40 an hour. Mechanic's helpers will receive $1.20 an hour, a raise of 10 to 20 cents. Washmen's wages have been upped 25 cents to $1 an hour.

Time and a half wages will be given for overtime and holiday work and for the seventh consecutive work-days. Night shift employees will receive five cents an hour above their regular wages.

Senate Votes to Confirm Appointment of Sherman

WASHINGTON (P) — The Senate unanimously confirmed Adm. Forrest P. Sherman as chief of naval operations after a sharp floor fight in which Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) called for impeachment of Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews.

Sherman, a naval aviator who commanded the carrier Wasp in World War II, was nominated last Nov. 1 by President Truman to replace Adm. Louis E. Denfeld.

Judge Orders Examination of Anderson Jury

Judge Harold Evans Tuesday ordered the jury for the Oscar Anderson trial to appear for examination by the defense at 9 a.m. Feb. 1.

Anderson was found guilty in Johnson county court last Thursday of assault with intent to commit murder.

He was accused in the shooting of Clifford Kelly in the Strand cafe, April 22, 1948.

William H. Barley, Anderson's attorney, Saturday filed a motion for a new trial.

The motion charged jury members read and considered newspaper stories which contained statements by the defendant and material not a part of the court record.

The motion also claimed the court erred in overruling defense motions to exclude certain testimony from the record, including statements on the present condition and treatment of Kelly.

Bartley said in his motion that the jury should have been advised on the Iowa code which provides a jury should mention insanity in its verdict if it finds him not guilty on those grounds.

He also stated that the Iowa law provides that the court can keep the defendant in custody or place him in a mental institution if it believes him dangerous after an insanity verdict.

The 12 jurors and the jury foreperson, John Kerchill, were ordered to appear at the Feb. 1 hearing.

Members of the jury are Joseph J. Langenberg, Iowa City, ward 4;

Celeste A. Bopp, 3; H. M. Sutton, 1; Carl Schwaberg, 1; Burl Bane, 2; Don Hoyt, Oxford township;

Peace in Our Time —

Things have been popping in the Iowa senatorial GOP picture during the last couple days, indicating that: 1) Gov. William S. Beardsley is going to run for re-election as governor, and 2) Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper has made peace with state politics—if he ever was at war with them.

Whitney Gilliland, Iowa's Republican state chairman, hinted that Beardsley soon will announce his candidacy for renomination in a letter to county chairmen, vice-chairmen and precinct committee members.

Gilliland endorsed Hickenlooper in the letter, despite "differences with the senator, some of them sharp." Hickenlooper probably is the ablest senator, Republican or Democrat, representing any state between Lake Michigan and the Rocky mountains, and between the Canadian border and the Gulf of Mexico."

In the Spring, an Alderman's Fancy —

The time of year has rolled around again when the citizenry start complaining about the condition of the Iowa City streets. A story on the front page of Tuesday morning's Daily Iowan casts a little light on the subject.

According to the Iowa Taxpayers' association, each Iowa Citizen pays $37 less for street maintenance than is paid in 44 other Iowa cities. This is the answer to the trouble constantly hounding our street department.

We should be on the other side of the scale. We should be paying at least $37 more for street maintenance than 44 other Iowa cities.

Actually, the $37 would be only a drop in the bucket. We need to pay considerably more to keep our streets up. They're in a disgraceful condition and we have no one but ourselves to blame.

If we feel like finding a scapegoat, we could

Such a hearty pat on the back could only mean that Hickenlooper has been forgiven by any party line Republicans who split with him on the Lillenthal smear.

Knowing that the state GOP machine is behind him, Hickenlooper's chance for re-election takes on a brighter hue.

The Republican state central committee will maintain a "hands off" policy in the primary contest in June. Hickenlooper will probably be tied up with congressional work in Washington during the summer months, making it difficult for him to wage much of a campaign.

Tuesday, when the Cedar Rapids senator formally announced his candidacy for re-election, he could look forward to a single campaign instead of a tiring double campaign.

Thus far the Democrats haven't named their choice to run against Hickenlooper.

look around to the state legislature. It's the body responsible for permitting us to levy only small amounts for street maintenance.

Even so, if the city treasury had more money in it we could juggle—legally—some of the funds around so there would be more money available to pay street department workers. As it is, those family men who work for the street department have trouble enough juggling their own finances to make ends meet on their own paychecks.

The city raised city employees' pay 10 percent across the board a year ago, but the cost of living has gone up since then. Not so the city's income.

So instead of patting ourselves on the back, let's concentrate on seeing to it that we get more money to take care of the streets.

A little lobbying in Des Moines would do plenty of good in the long run.

Double-Barrelled Blast: A Strange Unification Move —

A three-pronged attack on German peace seems to be in the offing.

Simultaneously with the Russian junior blockade comes a hint that right-wing nationalists and German Communists are preparing to merge—at least for purposes of acting jointly.

This three-pronged attack takes on a double-barrelled significance when we remember the Russians are supposed to have an atomic bomb.

The junior blockade may be interpreted as a show of strength and a reminder that the Russians are not giving up just because one blockade failed.

The theoretical merger of two opposing ideologies is a bit more puzzling unless we view it in the light that here again the terms "right wing" and "nationalism" may not mean the same thing in the New Germany as they did before the war.

If this is the case, the Nationalists may be

A Little More Courtesy —

Iowa City has been fortunate so far this winter as far as driving conditions are concerned. Although precipitation has been right at average, and even a little above, it has come mostly in the form of rain and either evaporated or run off before very much ice was formed.

Such unseasonable weather cannot last long, and we can bet our bottom dollars that we'll see plenty of that famous Iowa winter before the curtain comes down on this unpopular season.

Sometimes it is hazardous enough to cross Iowa City streets when the streets are in good shape. When they are packed with snow and ice, it takes a genuine adventurer to start out.

Crowd Sportsmanship . . .

TO THE EDITOR: We have noticed at the past basketball games a situation which we consider disgraceful to the name of the State University of Iowa.

We mean the bad sportsmanship and boozing of the officials as well as their decisions on the part of a majority of the student body.

We feel that the student body doesn't live up to a team that wins games in the name of our school when the students so consistently break the rules of good sportsmanship.

The particular incident which comes to our minds is that of the Iowa - Northwestern game, when the officials announced that the game would not go on unless the crowd allowed a Northwestern player to attempt a free shot in comparative silence.

During this incident, the captain of the Iowa team waved his hand to the crowd, apparently calling for the cooperation of the crowd, but he was ignored. It is a new low when we cannot even respect the requests of our own team for a little less misplaced emotion.

We are just as interested in the athletic program of SUI as the loudest of the boozers at the games. Yet we feel that there are other ways of showing that interest than by deriding the decisions of men who are hired to see that the game is played fairly.

Everyone makes errors, even referees, and it is barely possible that some of them are not intentional or influenced by prejudices in favor of one team or the other.

Personally we hope that Iowa will end the season Big Ten champions. But we also would like to see her emerge with a record of good sportsmanship.

A Pled . . .

The following letter comes from a girl attending Piney Woods school at Piney Woods, Miss.

The school was founded in one of the most backward regions of our country by Laurence Jones, the only Negro of the 1907 graduating class. The "little professor" has devoted his life to setting up a school for the poor members of his race . . .

THE EDITOR:

Piney Woods school is giving me the chance of my life, and I want to make well of it.

I am a poor girl, trying to work my way through school. So I thought you might be interested. As I entered school under the scholarship plan, I am doing my best to raise the amount — $100. Even one dollar will help toward it.

The enclosed will give you a better idea of school and the work we are doing.

Please, may I count on you to help me through this year of school this year, even if you can't do so again?

Respectfully yours,

Maybe reading the rules of the game would help, too. I've seen a lot of basketball games in various sections of the country, but, believe me, when it comes to "spirit," the students at Iowa can't be touched.

ATLANTA (UPI) — For Joseph E. Glisson, 37-year-old wood worker, will climax today a long struggle to recover the standard of living he lost when the war jobs ran

He is one of an estimated 1.5-million low - paid Americans whose wage floor will be increased to 75 cents an hour under the new minimum wage law signed by President Truman 90 days ago. The law is expected to add $300-million a year to the national income.

More than half of those affected toil like Glisson in the south. The bulk of them work in sawmills or other lumber business and more than 80 percent received less than 75 cents. About nine out of 10 in the industry were women averaging less than 63 cents.

Employees of Georgia dress shirt mills averaged 83 cents an hour but more than 45 percent of them earned under 75 cents.

College of Nursing Plans Learning Process Institute

The SUI college of nursing will hold an institute on the learning process Feb. 1, 2 and 3, nursing officials said Tuesday. Guest faculty member will be Rena Boyle, instructor in nursing education at the University of Minnesota. She will speak on factors affecting the learning of nurses and will explain and demonstrate the teaching of motor skills.

SUI faculty members who will participate include Dean Myrtle Klinebell of the college of nursing; Prof. Amy Frances Brown, college of nursing; Prof. C. H. McCoy, department of physical education, and Profs. Hew Roberts and James B. Stroud of the college of education.

Expect Large Attendance

Members of nursing schools throughout Iowa are expected to attend the institute, according to Len Baer, counselor in the college of nursing.

Dean Carlyle F. Jacobsen of the SUI division of health science and services will extend greetings to nursing representatives at the opening meeting of the institute Wednesday morning, Feb. 1.

Boyle will discuss "What is Learning?" and basic principles of learning during Wednesday's program. Miss Boyle will explain factors affecting learning, and Roberts will talk on how group discussion can be made more successful.

Group discussions will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the Iowa City Saddle Club met Monday night in the SCA hall here to see films presented by the Iowa Horse and Mule Breeders' Association.

The films portrayed the 1949 10-mile trail ride at Osceola and the Calgary rodeo at Calgary, Alberta, Canada. Norwood Louis, C.P., Iowa City, helped present the films.

Vern Upmeier and George Barnes, representatives of the Cedar Rapids Horsemen's club, were special guests at the meeting. Upmeier discussed plans for a competitive southeastern Iowa trail ride to include five clubs in this area. The ride will be like the one at Osceola, Upmeier said.

Committee in charge of the meeting included Charles Stuart chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Milverton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kloos and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davis.

Hooked Rugs, Guest Towels Add to Home

FOR ANY ROOM — Homemakers find that colonial hooked rugs as shown above add a touch of warmth and charm to any room in their home. The rug patterns above are stamped clearly on the burlap rugs and may be hooked with a rug hook or rug needle in 51 different shades. For the bathroom guest towels cross-stitched with initials (right) will add a distinctive note to this room of your home whether it's in a university barracks or southern mansion.

Experts Give Hints —

Needlework Can Brighten Any Home

Whether you're living in an attic, barracks or basement, you can give a "homey" atmosphere to that one or two-room "home"

A candlelighting service honoring the seven founders will be directed by Mrs. W.W. Summerwill assisted by Mrs. O.S. Lee.

your purse, to be embroidered during free moments.

Join Squares

When completed, the squares can be joined together to form any size cloth or scarf. Napkins to match are made of a single embroidered square. Embroidery done with appenzell floss gives it a silver cast.

Something that will enhance any decorative arrangement is a new cross stitch through which initials may be embroidered. Crochet lace edging on pillow cases and lay them in the linen closet ready for unexpected guests.

Make-It-Yourself

Enchanting as ivy-covered castles, even though your walls are thin, are the new make-it-yourself needlepoint rugs designed to match any two-room "home" to that one or two-room "home" with needlecraft.

Today the trend in needlework is toward personalized possessions for both the home and wardrobe.

A room should reflect the personality of the homemaker, experts say.

Quilting

Another idea for spare time is quilting. Any favorite pattern or colorful design like snowflake, early American and old rose may be used. Any one of these designs is effective on a bright background of rose, gray, blue or green.

Junior will appreciate a new quilt especially if he has stuffed toys and bibs to match the little animals and figures on the quilt.

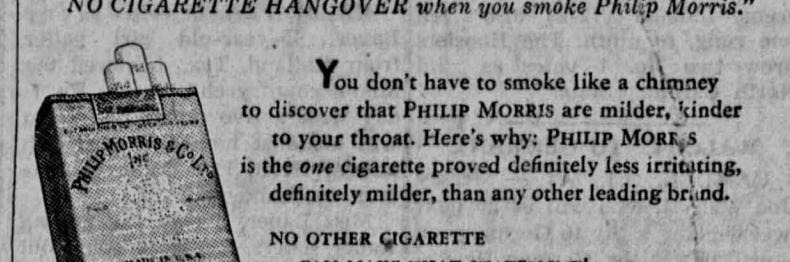

An elephant, zebra or monkey would be simple and fun to make.

Although the table may be crowded into a small space, don't neglect it. For a table setting, start a cut-work tablecloth which comes in 18-inch squares, one of

Mrs. Mesta, Washington's best-known hostess, invited Dr. Paul Estabrook, the famous surgeon, to a farewell dinner ere she departed for Luxembourg. Estabrook's reply was totally illegible, and Mrs. Mesta, in a moment of inspiration, took it to her local pharmacist to see whether he had accepted or declined. The pharmacist squinted at the note, disappeared into a cubicle for a few moments, and when he returned planked a large bottle on the counter. "Here it is, Mrs. Mesta," he said cheerfully. "That'll be four dollars and seventy cents."

"It's no use, Mary, he's been like that since he discovered there's NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER when you smoke Philip Morris."

Maxim Scores Knockout Over Mills For Light-Heavy Crown

Cleveland Fighter
Ends Battle in 10th

LONDON (AP) — Handsome Joey Maxim of Cleveland brought back the world's light heavyweight championship to the United States Tuesday night by knocking out Titleholder Freddie Mills of England in the tenth round at Earls Court arena.

A record British indoor crowd of 18,000 gave the American a tremendous ovation as he danced joyfully around the ring after his spectacular victory in 1:54 of the tenth frame. The bout was scheduled for 15 rounds.

First Title Defense

It was Mills' first defense of the crown he lifted from America's Gus Lesnevich in this city July 26, 1948. Since then, the stocky, beetledbrowed Englishman had fought only twice and he showed the lack of ring activity Tuesday night.

Except for a furious first round attack by Mills, it was all Maxim. Joey piled up a big lead and was ahead six rounds to one with two even on The Associated Press scorecard going into what proved to be the final stanza.

In the tenth Maxim set up the champ with a stiff left jab to the face and then crossed a terrific right to Mills' jaw. The champion sagged to the floor. He was on his knees as the timekeeper tolled the count. At the count of eight, Mills tumbled on his side. He was brought to his corner by his handlers but recovered quickly.

Maxim's manager, the colorful Jack (Doc) Kearns, announced immediately Joey would go after the heavyweight crown.

He said Maxim would remain in England to fight the winner of the Bruce Woodcock-Lee Savold bout slated sometime in May. This is for the British version of the world heavy-weight championship.

The U. S. National Boxing Association recognizes Ezzard Charles as the titleholder.

"They have just as much right to put on the world heavyweight championship here," Kearns said, "as the NBA has to call Ezzard Charles the world heavyweight champion."

Knockout Unexpected

Maxim, who weighed 174 1/4 to Mills' 173, was a favorite to win but his knockout finale was unexpected.

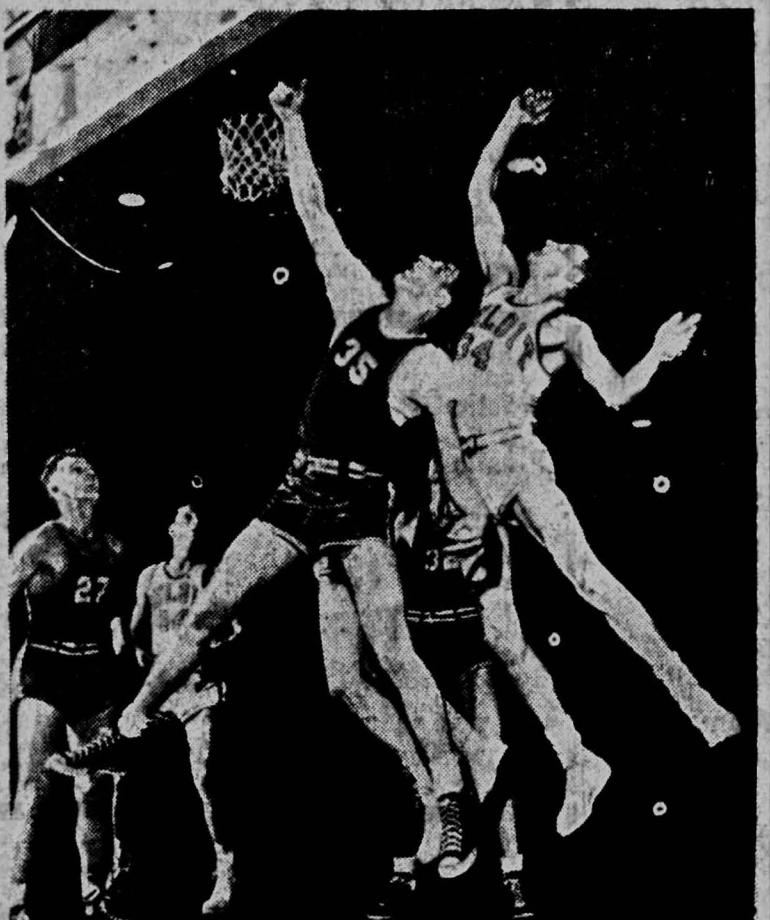

For just one round — the first — it looked like the Briton might turn the trick. He charged across the ring and twice caught the taller American with hard left hooks to the body.

The ringwise Maxim, who has been fighting professionally since 1941, soon caught on to Freddie's tactics, however. He moved in close, smothered the champ's blow on his arms and made him miss. After that it was all Maxim.

Dark-haired Joey's best rounds before the clincher were the fifth and seventh. In the fifth he cornered Mills and shot across a dozen punches without a return. Again in the seventh he pinned Mills and fired seven blows at the ring-rusty Briton.

The record crowd contributed to a $182,000 gross gate. Of this, Mills was to get 25 percent, and Maxim 20 percent.

All-America Candidates Clash

TWO OF THE HOTTEST CENTERS in collegiate basketball, Nate DeLong (35) of Rivers Falls, Wisconsin State Teachers and Ron Bentzler (right) Beloit college, leap for a rebound in a game between their schools Monday night. Beloit won, 82-68. DeLong, all-time high collegiate scorer in the nation, ran up 29 points. Bentzler collected 24 points. DeLong now has 2,521 points for his college career of 104 games, averaging 24.2 per game. Left are Guards Charles Meist (27), River Falls, and Clare Anderson (44), Beloit.

Jackie Has Reason to Smile — $35,000

BROOKLYN SECOND BASEMAN Jackie Robinson (left) grins as he listens to his boss, Dodger President Branch Rickey, at the club's offices in Brooklyn Tuesday. Jackie did the listening after signing his 1950 contract for a salary estimated at from $30,000 to $35,000, a substantial raise over the estimated $18,000 he received last season. Rickey said Robinson's salary is the highest for a Dodger since he took over as head of the Brooklyn club.

Thorpe Named Greatest Gridder of Century

Four Iowa Matmen Prepped at Waterloo

Credit Waterloo with much of the success of the Iowa football team in its first two meets this season.

The two public schools of northeastern Iowa, both strongholds of state prep wrestling circles, provide four of the top dozen men on Coach Mike Howard's mat squad.

None of the modern players, benefitted by the game's amazing growth through the intervening four decades, could nudge the six-foot two-inch, 190-pound Sue and Fox warrior from first place.

Thorpe combined the Irishman's love of combat, which he inherited from his father, with the Indian's cunning and grace to gain his place in the sport's hall of fame in 1911 and 1912. He played left halfback for the now defunct Carlisle, Pa., Indian Institute.

Their names are still remembered in the modern players' annals.

Junior Class at U-High Plans All-School Dance

The University high school junior class will sponsor an all-school dance, "Blue Room," at 8 p.m. Friday, Richard Turner, class president, announced Tuesday.

Guests for the evening will be members of the high school faculty.

Recorded music will be provided for dancing. Entertainment will be presented at intermission, and refreshments will be served, Turner said.

Decorations for the dance will be blue and white, University high school colors.

Art Show to Exhibit Painting by Prof. Lechay

"Room No. 5" by Prof. James Lechay of SUI's art department will be one of six pictures displayed in Bloomington, Ill., Sunday to Feb. 19.

The six pictures are from SUI's permanent art gallery. The exhibit, sponsored by the Bloomington-Normal Art association, will be held at the Russell Art gallery in Bloomington.

The other five pictures from SUI's gallery are "The Abby" by Karl Zerbe, "Prehistoric Phase" by Stamos, "Rosalie" by Miro, "The Young Mother" by Guston and "Home from the Sea" by Martin.

Charges Russ Received 'Heavy Water' from U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia obtained an American shipment of "heavy water," which helped U.S. scientists fashion the atomic bomb, as late as Feb. 14, 1945, the house committee on un-American activities was told Tuesday.

The disclosure was made by Herman Rosenberg, Russian-born vice-president of the New York chemical wholesaling firm of Chematex, Inc., which also helped the Soviets get two previous shipments of uranium compounds.

He testified after another witness, an official of the atomic energy commission, said international uranium broker Boris Prege of New York must have known this country was working on the A-bomb when he sold uranium to Russia in 1943.

Rosenberg said his firm obtained 100 grams of "heavy water" from the Stuart-Oxygen company of San Francisco on Feb. 14, 1945—when U.S. atomic energy research was just reaching fruition—and re-hipped it to Russia a few days later without even opening it.

Rosenberg said that while he also got 1,000 grams of "heavy water" for Russia from the San Francisco firm in 1943, he was not aware of its "strategic importance" at either time.

"Heavy water" would have been useless as an explosive in the A-bombs being built at the time, but it would have been useful to the Russians in unlocking the secret of the atom.

Mrs. Margaret Fowler Final Rites Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Fowler, 46, wife of Prof. Willis Fowler and an SUI graduate, who died Monday will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the First Presbyterian church in Iowa City.

Dr. P. Hewison Pollock, pastor, will officiate at the burial at Jefferson Friday afternoon. The body will remain at the McGovern funeral home until the funeral.

Mrs. Fowler had been ill for nine years.

Dr. Fowler is a member of the faculty of the internal medicine department in the SUI college of medicine.

Mrs. Fowler was born Jan. 27, 1903, at Jefferson, the daughter of S. J. and Jessie Sayers.

She graduated from SUI in 1925, and on Aug. 20, 1927, married Dr. Fowler. The couple lived in Detroit for one year and had lived in Iowa City since 1928.

While at SUI, Mrs. Fowler was a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mrs. Fowler was a member of the P.E.O. sisterhood, the board of directors of the SUI YWCA, the American Association of University Women and the N and N club.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, James Willis and Robert John, both at home; her mother, Mrs. Jessie Sayers, Pasadena, and a brother, Marshall J. Sayers, a mining engineer at Salt Lake City.

Advises Reporting Of Major Changes

Students planning to change their majors next semester were urged today to notify the Liberal Arts Advisory office, room 109 Schaeffer hall, before registration.

Prof. H.C. Harshbarger, executive secretary of the liberal arts advisory committee, said students who make changes in their majors before registration will avoid confusion in transfer of advisors and records.

One Driver Killed, One Survives Trailer Plunge

PLUNGING INTO THE SENECA RIVER, at Seneca Falls, N.Y., this giant tractor-trailer carried its driver, Ralph Snyder, 33, Akron, Ohio, to his death. W.M. Phillips, 34, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, relief driver, fought his way out of the submerged cab to safety. The tractor, completely submerged, was cut loose from the trailer and hauled into this position in order to recover Snyder's body.

Business Man Files Suits Totaling $328.59

Dan G. Roth, Iowa City, filed two suits in Johnson county district court Tuesday totaling $328.59.

Roth filed a petition against A.G. Kleinmeyer, claiming Kleinmeyer owed him $272.69 on a promissory note due Nov. 15. He asked for this amount and for seven percent annually from last Dec. 15 plus court costs and attorney fees.

Roth is the owner of the Oxford produce and hatchery, Oxford and the Don Roth hatchery, Iowa City.

The second petition was against Kenneth Mann to collect $55.90 for the balance unpaid on livestock and poultry feed delivered to Mann between Dec. 2, 1946 and Aug. 8, 1948.

Roth asked for the $55.90 due plus 5 percent annually from Feb. 11, 1949, plus court costs.
