Faculty Group Fails to Decide About Matrons

The faculty committee on student life Thursday failed to decide whether to install housemothers in professional fraternities.

"We made no particular findings, but discussions will continue probably after final examinations," Prof. J. W. Howe, chairman of the committee, said.

Some Absent
Only SUI medical fraternity representatives were present to air their views, Howe said.

Discussion centered around an SUI policy governing fraternities which states that all campus fraternal groups must have a housemother in residence at all times.

The rules, published in the "Code of Student Life," also state that all fraternities must subscribe to the fraternity business service for financial operations.

Spokesmen for Alpha Chi Sigma, chemistry fraternity, and Delta Sigma Pi, commerce fraternity, said they had received no notification of the meeting.

Robert D. Thompson, G. Raton, N.M., Alpha Chi Sigma, said it would cost his fraternity $2,000 or $3,000 to remodel its house to provide quarters for a housemother.

A group of Delta Sigma Pi members have rented a house, but an officer of the organization said the house is not officially recognized.

Published in Fall
Howe said he believed the rulings on housemothers and the fraternity business service were changes published for the first time last fall.

Changes in the rules are made yearly, if necessary, Howe said. The medical fraternities want rule changes to exclude them from the two controversial points.

Howe said that some medical fraternities have cooks who act as housemothers, but none have officially approved ones.

Graham Marshall, fraternity business service, said he had received no official word about taking over financial operations of professional fraternities.

Only one professional group, Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity, now subscribes to the service.

Refuse Extra Grant To 'Dimes' Campaign

The Hillcrest council Thursday night refused to allow a dormitory vote to be held on giving an extra $125 to the March of Dimes campaign.

More than 50 members of the dormitory association had signed a petition distributed by Edward Hutchings, A2, Cedar Rapids, asking for a special meeting of the council to consider the referendum.

Under the dormitory constitution, a special council meeting can be called if 50 members sign a petition asking for it.

After a short debate, the council decided that the dormitory funds were too limited to allow such a contribution.

The group has contributed its quota of $100 to the dimes campaign, Hutchings, who was chairman of the dormitory drive, said.

Temperature Drops To 10 Below Zero In New Cold Wave

Iowa Citizens had one of the coldest nights of the year Thursday when temperatures dropped to 10 degrees below zero.

Wednesday's rains which froze on trees and utility lines in and around Iowa City provided many brilliant scenes Thursday.

Hawkeye village and other married students' residences gave passers-by a sparkling sight as the sun shone brightly on the utility lines leading to the various houses.

Slick
Slick and uneven ice on the sidewalks in Iowa City, however, slowed pedestrians.

A fallen branch disrupted electric service to the six new married student apartments on Capitol street when it dropped on the electric line leading to the area.

All flights in and out of Iowa City were cancelled Thursday because of the icy conditions of the runways, United Airlines officials reported. However, the officials said the runways would be graded and they hoped to schedule flights today.

Iowa Highway commission officials here said roads were icy west and south of Iowa City. However, the roads east and north were fairly clear.

Heat Records
While Iowa Citizens were shivering in the frigid temperatures, elsewhere records fell because of the warm weather.

In Tennessee, violets were blooming in mid-70 degree temperatures.

In Columbus, Ohio, girls appeared in shorts, and squirrels were reported digging up their winter store of food.

New York broke its previous January record when temperatures soared to a balmy 70.5 degrees.

Though temperatures dropped below the zero mark Thursday night, the weather bureau predicted temperatures would rise to about 20 degrees above today. Today's forecast is generally fair weather.

City to Investigate Peddler Ordinance

City Atty. William H. Bartley said Thursday that he has not yet had time to look into a question involving a local ordinance pertaining to peddlers.

The question was raised by the law firm of Whitman, Ransom, Coulson and Goetz, New York, and was presented to the Iowa City council Monday night. Councilmen referred it to Bartley.

The law firm, whose client is the National Association of Magazine Publishers, Inc., said that the ordinance requires every peddler to pay a license fee and to have a health certificate issued to him.

The law firm asked for a copy of the ordinance involved.

It further asked whether the ordinance were the same one that was declared unconstitutional in the case of Iowa City versus Lyle James Wilson by Judge H.D. Evans July 14, 1941.

Nurses may obtain registration materials Tuesday through Feb. 4 at the dean's office, Westlawn.

Registration will be at the north gymnasium of the fieldhouse, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Feb. 6 and 7.

Wallace Denounces Atom Leak Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Wallace Thursday denounced implications that "as a wartime vice president I could not be trusted with certain confidential information regarding the atom bomb."

Testifying at his own request before the house un-American activities committee, Wallace swore under oath that he was "neither responsible nor aware" of uranium shipments to Russia during World War II.

"In short, and in fact, I had absolutely nothing to do with any of these (uranium export) licenses," he said.

Nature's Christmas Tree — One Month Late

IOWA CITY'S "WINTER WONDERLAND" was a little late this year but it came with all its cold beauty this week. Here Margi Wake, A3, Evanston, Ill., does a nature study on an ice-covered tree. Freezing rains Tuesday and Wednesday coated cars, trees and buildings here with a tinsel of ice. Streets were still slippery Thursday and cold weather killed any prospect of thawing over the weekend.

Says Russian Atom Plan Equal to Ours

NEW YORK (AP) — A top Ukrainian scientist who broke with the Soviet Union said Thursday that Russia has "as much or more" atomic know-how as the western powers and would not hesitate to build a hydrogen bomb if the Kremlin thought it necessary.

Pavlo D. Lysenko, once one of the top Soviet industrial chemists, said the Russians would not be stopped from building an H-bomb because of moral or financial reasons.

Lysenko broke with the Soviet regime shortly before his capture by the Germans in 1942, and since that time has kept himself informed on scientific developments in Russia.

He said recent "acquisitions" of huge portions of China by Russia would give it the great amounts of uranium needed to build a large stockpile of atom bombs.

Asked if he thought war was inevitable between Russia and the western powers, Lysenko said, "The key to war or peace lies with the United States."

GOP Fails to Get Vote on Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans failed Thursday in an attempt to force an immediate vote on reduction of excise taxes.

They attempted to demonstrate that they favor a quick cut in the tax on jewelry, furs, cosmetics, travel fares and other items.

President Truman told congress in his special tax message Monday that he also favors excise cuts provided the loss in revenue is made up by closing tax "loopholes." He also demanded tax boosts on estates and corporations to provide $1-billion more revenue.

The Republican maneuver was made by GOP leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts on behalf of most house Republicans. He offered the excise cuts as an amendment to another tax bill then under consideration.

Flower Girl Furnished on Request

Reporters walk into the damndest things. Checking Justice of the Peace C. J. Hutchinson's office Thursday, Daily Iowan reporter Glenn Urban found the judge busy preparing to marry Howard L. Harding and Sue M. Drone, both of Savannah, Ill.

A witness was needed, so Urban volunteered. When the wedding was finished the reporter congratulated the bridegroom, and received $2.

Noon Fire Ruins Tiffin Plant

A fire Thursday almost destroyed the three buildings of the Tiffin produce company, Tiffin, and only a north wind kept the fire from spreading to the rest of the town.

The fire started during the noon hour while the business was closed and by 2:30 p.m. the buildings were smoldering ruins with only an outside wall of the office standing.

Damage was estimated at $30,000 to $40,000 by Hans Gantzel, father-in-law of owner Ted Stuck. Stuck said the buildings were insured.

The male population of the town turned out "almost to the man" to form a bucket brigade and try to carry equipment from the burning buildings.

They drove and pulled the four trucks from the building and saved the office equipment and "recent records."

Fire trucks from Oxford and North Liberty answered the call for help, but were unable to put out the fire.

"The whole thing burned so fast there wasn't much we could do," Stuck said.

"Tiffin has neither an organized fire department, nor a city water supply."

"I can only guess what started the fire, but I suppose it must have been the oil heater in the middle of the big building," he stated.

About 3,000 broiler chickens, 20 to 25 cases of eggs, an unestimated amount of livestock and chicken feed and warehouse handling equipment were lost.

The main building was a wooden structure that at one time was used by lumber company. The two other buildings were also wood and were used for feed storage and as a hog house, Stuck said.

He said he will use his garage to do business in during the rest of the winter, but doesn't know if he will rebuild in the spring.

Benzedrine can boomerang. Students who take drugs to keep awake the night before a final exam are only fooling themselves, Dr. Chester I. Miller, director of the SUI student health service, said Thursday.

If you feel you must keep awake to study, Miller suggested drinking coffee.

No physical harm results from taking caffeine occasionally, Miller said.

Benzedrine, however, can be harmful to heart, liver and nervous system, he said.

Just before exam time, the number of students applying for student health service is greatly increased.

Like a driver planning a trip, they call in to check their motors before the long, hard pull, he said.

U.S. Armament Aimed to Aid Red Enemies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and nine of its cold war allies cleared the deck Thursday for the start of an American rearmament program aimed at bolstering the defenses of the non-Communist world in both Europe and the far east.

These were the developments:
1. At Seoul, Korea, the American ambassador, John Muccio, signed agreements with the Korean government under which the Koreans will get several million dollars worth of American arms and this country will maintain a military mission there.

2. The United States and Britain after many weeks of argument reached full agreement on the terms under which Britain will share in a billion dollar American arms aid project for cold war allies in western Europe.

3. The state department announced that all eight of the European arms agreements, including the British, will be signed here today in a ceremony in which Secretary Acheson will represent the American government.

4. The department also announced that President Truman will formally approve today the plan for an integrated defense of the North Atlantic area and issue an executive order making it effective as a basis for carrying out the arms program.

The European nations which will sign agreements and receive assistance in addition to Britain are France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy, Norway and Denmark.

Jury Finds Broker Guilty of Defrauding

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal jury Thursday found Charles B. Grady, 43, Chicago grain broker, guilty of defrauding four women of $24,225 in violation of the commodities exchange act.

Federal authorities said it was the first criminal case before a jury under the act. Grady was accused of taking money from the women for investments in grain futures and then turning the money to his own use.

Federal Judge William J. Campbell set Feb. 1 to hear motions for a new trial. Maximum sentence for the violations is $80,000 fine and eight years in prison. Campbell did not set a date for sentencing.

U.S. Hits Shipments To Red Countries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials said Thursday several "fly by night" American companies are under investigation for illegal shipments of U.S. aircraft engines and spare parts to Soviet iron curtain countries.

Officials said that at the request of the state department, the Swiss government recently stopped a shipment of 13 American DC-3 engines bound for Communist Czechoslovakia.

These officials also reported that Polish sources for American engines and parts had been closed down in France and Belgium with the help of the French and Belgian governments.

Despite rigid controls, however, the government - run airlines in Poland and Czechoslovakia are reported to have succeeded in getting "several thousand dollars worth of aircraft parts."

Lewis To Meet Mine Owners

PITTSBURGH (AP) — John L. Lewis agreed to renew contract negotiations Thursday at invitation of the soft coal industry. It is the first concrete development of the year toward ending the frequent coal walkouts which have cut fuel stockpiles to the danger point.

More than 88,000 diggers now are idle in a no-contract, no-work strike in six bituminous-producing states. Unemployment in allied industries like steel mills and railroads has reached 18,000.

Four hours after the coal industry put out its invitation for contract talks, Lewis said he will meet northern and western operators in Washington on Wednesday.

That's the date the United Mine Workers chief must reply in Washington federal district court to a national labor relations board petition for injunction against Lewis' three-day work week.

In Washington, President Truman was reported "working as hard as he can" on the current soft coal strike and hoping "for the best."

The offer to renew negotiations was made in a letter from the operators negotiating committee of the national bituminous coal wage conference.

Here, briefly, are the terms on which operators want to rejoin the union at the bargaining table:
1. The contract to be negotiated shall run until June 30, 1952, with no right of termination by either party.

2. Wage rates shall be continued without change. The present daily wage is $14.05.

3. Employees must agree not to take part in any strikes or work stoppages.

4. The union shall agree to eliminate the "able and willing" clause in the contract which expired last June 30. That provision said miners need work only when able and willing. It permitted a strike at any time.

5. Memorial periods during the life of the contract shall not exceed a total of five days each. The union has staged strikes in the past as a memorial to killed and injured miners.

Lewis has levelled these demands on the coal industry: a basic wage increase to $15 a day, and a boost in operators' payments into the welfare and pension fund to 35 cents a ton of coal mined.

Students' Interest In Grocery Sought

A query into today's Villager, married students' newspaper is designed to determine students' interest in a proposed wholesale grocery, Henry Allan Jr., G, Iowa City, said Thursday.

The former married students' cop-corporation voted to dissolve last Jan. 11.

Allan said that a plan patterned after a wholesale grocery at Iowa State Teachers college will be explained in the Villager.

The members of the organization committee want to know if married students would invest in another enterprise, how much they would invest and how they would prefer to pay their investment.

Degree Candidates Receive Directions

Candidates for February degrees may obtain their caps and gowns at Campus Stores, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 2, or Friday, Feb. 3, Prof. F.G. Higbee, director of convocations, announced Thursday.

Caps and gowns will not be given out after noon, Feb. 4, he said.

The commencement procession will assemble at 1:15 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 4, in the armory, where a marshal will escort candidates to their proper seats.

Following the exercises, candidates should report to Campus Stores to check in cap, gown, scroll and address card. Directions will be given for reception of diplomas.

A Trade School Or an Impractical School —

(The following is Sydney J. Harris' column in the Wednesday issue of the Chicago Daily News.)

A new comedy act has recently got into the farce that is known as "higher education" in America. It is a course in "mountain climbing" at the State University of Iowa, which is no more clownish than most institutions of its kind.

Given at a university several hundred miles from the nearest mountain, this course teaches students how to plan mountain expeditions, including such significant aspects as choosing the proper clothes and the correct technique of bed fixing.

I point this out as only the latest (and by no means the wildest) aberration in an educational system which has run hog-wild in trying to please its students with assinine courses in hair-dressing, flower arranging, and the care and feeding of pet crocodiles.

In his interesting report on "The State of the University" during the last 20 years, Chancellor Hutchins of the University of Chicago

Mr. Harris' blast at college curricula seems to have overlooked a basic tenet in the philosophy of a liberal education.

A liberal education in colleges and universities has come to mean a smattering of knowledge in several fields, rather than an achievement of a skill in a narrow field.

A liberal arts degree today signifies a nodding acquaintance with the arts and sciences and a concentration of knowledge in a small area.

There is a general criticism of cramming too much knowledge into too small a period of time. A college student can hardly hope to master the sciences and arts and still find time to specialize.

Prelude to Exams — Exams —

Some instructors don't seem to be able to wait until examination week to open their final test packages—or maybe the rash of quizzes this week is just a prelude to the bigger things to come.

There seems to be a growing tendency among the SUI faculty to toss in a test before the final, and these early questionnaires are usually trick-question masterpieces.

For example, a recent question in a test asked "which of the following is least correct?" Among the multiple choice answers was "none of these." It turned out to be a winner, all other answers were wrong.

In another test was a section describing a new

Everything but the Kitchen Sink —

Until a few days ago, Brinks Inc. of Boston was just a peaceful little firm minding its own business, content to "let the rest of the world go by."

But all the world didn't go by; a few individuals dropped in an relieved the firm of a cool $1-million in cash. Then a Brink's truck delivered $2,000, and thieves lifted it almost as fast makes the ironic observation that "American education has proceeded on the curious principle that the student is intelligent enough to select the subjects he should study, but not intelligent, or purposeful enough, to keep on studying them unless he is required to attend classes."

Exactly the reverse is the sounder plan, Hutchins points out. "Educators ought to know better than their students what education is." A good school, like the University of Chicago, does not permit students to exercise their whims in selecting courses; on the other hand, it does not demand attendance at classes. The school offers an education; whether or not the student wants to take advantage of it is his own business.

Meanwhile, higher learning continues to degrade itself by offering increasingly sillier courses which have nothing to do with the real end of education, which is to teach young people how to think. Mountain climbing may be a commendable pastime, but it's just a molehill compared to the job of climbing from ignorance to knowledge of the good life.

But there is a definite place in the college curriculum for "choosing the proper clothes and the correct technique of bed fixing." Those specific courses will enrich the lives of students who study them. There must surely be a correct technique of bed fixing. To know that technique seems practical.

Whether Mr. Harris objects to specialization or non-specialization is not quite clear. To specialize in undergraduate work lowers colleges to the rank of trade schools; not to specialize makes colleges havens for impractical persons.

There must be a middle ground someplace. Mountain climbing surely is in that middle ground area.

motor car made by the Chrysler division of General Motors. Chrysler corporation should be notified of its parentage.

Apparently, the growing partiality toward such queries is intended to force students to "think logically"—at least that's the usual explanation—but it would be interesting to see how some of the more absent-minded faculty members would make out if faced with such "practical problems."

Many professors will come out with the self-pitying "it's much easier to take a test than to make up one," but there surely is a great deal more satisfaction in dreaming up trick questions than in answering them.

as it hit the counter. In the meantime, a detective had proved that the locks in the place were hardly top-notch when he picked everything but the watchman's teeth.

And all this unfavorable publicity just because Brinks was such a good host. Where's everyone's etiquette? Or did the bandits take that too?

Religion . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

I will agree with Mr. Luman — only on the basis of his Christian ethics — that his three categorical points are essentially sound. But his exclusion of all other religio-ethical groups from the possibility of being "saved," is something which I feel should be contested. Although it is useless and fruitless to discuss the relative merits of a theology, the implications of Mr. Luman's strenuous argument cannot be allowed to go unnoticed.

First, I find it difficult to share his contention that only those who profess faith in the redeeming qualities of Jesus will be saved. And I find it equally difficult to accept the conception of "original sin which is hereby propounded. I do agree with the morality and ethical humanism of his Biblical reference: "by their fruits ye shall know them." But, does this not simply mean that we are to assess a man by his good works? And if I am correct — although I make no pretensions of being a theologian — then the conception of original sin is ill-based and unsound.

I wonder if Mr. Luman would call all those Indians who revere and attempt to live after the magnificent example of Ghandi, spiritually darkened? Is not Ghandi a modern personification of the prophet — leader that Jesus was for the ancient Hebrews?

And are not the Chinese more than spiritually darkened if they practice the exemplary and humanistic teachings of Confucius? The world has been blessed with numerous examples of enlightened great men — before and since the mythos of Jesus, whom this writer believes was an exemplary constant against the phillistine normatives of his age.

But his age has long since departed. Each age has produced its own protestants. I should like to believe that Mr. Luman, in his very honest faith and acute sensitivity to the teachings of Jesus really understands more than his arbitrary prose would imply.

Crowd Sportsmanship . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

I am always highly amused by self-righteous letters, such as the ones signed by the eight young ladies from 3 E. Davenport and Mr. Graves, 1 Law Commons. Reminds me of the line about "the pure looking down upon a world of shame."

If one would have taken careful note, I think he would have detected the fact that the boing going on when the apparently aggravated Mr. Hughes of North-western was about to make a free throw attempt, was the smaller part of the noise heard in that huge fieldhouse from a crowd of at least 13,000 persons.

Let's be fair to the Iowa crowd for a change. Its spirit, which can get behind a team that is on the short end of the score and help fire it through to a victory as it did last Saturday night, just can't be beat — or should I say "touched"?

West German Political Parties Leaning to Right

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — Eighteen of the 19 new political parties and organizations in western Germany are either extreme rightist or Communist front outfits, a United Press survey compiled from official reports showed Thursday.

The only new group which does not fit into one extremist pigeon-hole or the other is the Republican party of Germany, formed recently in Bavaria and pledged to be a German carbon copy of the American Republican party.

Several months ago the three western occupying powers abandoned their power of licensing political parties. Since then, new would-be leaders of Germany have shown they believe the brightest political future lies to the far right in the space once occupied by Adolf Hitler's National Socialists.

Thirteen organizations classified as strongly Nationalist by allied official standards have appeared. Five "front" groups which have won strong overt Communist support also are now in the scene.

Two of the rightist parties, the German Reich party and the German Socialist Reich party, hold seats in the Bundestag, lower house of the west German parliament at Bonn.

This list of newcomers, when combined with the nine other established parties which have Bundestag representation, gives western Germany about 28 separate political groups, as near as anyone can tell in a situation where new parties mushroom overnight. At least 18 of the total now regard themselves as parties.

The two strongest units on the Nationalist side of the fence probably are those represented at Bonn. The National Reich party, formed last weekend in a Kassel restaurant by a merger of the German right and National Democrat parties, controls five parliamentary seats. It claimed control of at least 700,000 votes at its formation.

Its chief is Co-Chairman Franz Richter, a frankly pro-Nazi and pro-militarist schoolteacher from the Sudetenland.

The National Social Right party is headed by a man with similar views, Fritz Dorls. Elected to parliament on the German Right party ticket, he broke away soon after he took his seat and formed his own party.

The rest of the new right breaks logically into three segments; refugee groups, royalist and just plain Nationalists.

Among the Communist front groups, none has organized as a party.

The technique has been rather to bring together intellectuals and industrialists who, for various reasons, work for quick reunification of Germany, preferably by the keystone of a north-to-south European neutrality belt.

Regime of French Protege Threatened — Communist Tide Rising Fast in Indo-China

By JAMES D. WHITE
The bell is tolling in French Indo-China.

America soon may be forced to make a most uncomfortable choice about that unfamiliar but important country in southeast Asia. The choice threatens to boil down to this:

Either help the French keep their protegee regime going under Emperor Bao Dai, or see his rival, Communist Ho Chi-Minh, take over the country with the political if not the military help of Red China.

There seems to be no time for any other alternative to be worked out. Ho's Nationalist guerrillas attacked this week near Hanoi in a surge of activity that included sabotaging the city's electric plant.

To back the French in Indo-China threatens to hold even more disastrous political possibilities in southeast Asia than backing Chiang Kai-shek had in China. Chiang's government was recognized and had existed for years.

The French-sponsored Republic of Viet-Nam under Bao Dai was set up less than a year ago and not even the French have ratified Bao's status as emperor. Recently they have conferred more power upon him, so that on paper they retain control of only defense and foreign affairs.

But against this is the fact that Bao's rival, Ho Chi-Minh, heads

Four Alumni Attending Army Airforce School

Four SUI alumni, who received regular army commissions upon graduation, are now attending the air tactical school at Tyndall field, Panama City, Fla., military department officials said.

Douglas Dowell, Fort Madison; Carl Grant, Omaha, and La Verne Poland and Morris Ward, both of Iowa City, are stationed there.

ASKS APPROPRIATION

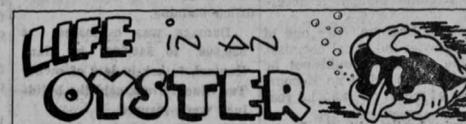

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman advised congress Wednesday that expansion of atomic energy plants is running ahead of schedule, and asked for $87,650,000 of financing.

flourishing guerrilla republic which controls far more of the country and the people.

For three years the French have tried to keep Ho off the railways, the main roads, and the big towns by using an estimated 120,000 French foreign legionnaires. Ho has the rest of this war — torn country so well in hand that the French supply some of their advanced outposts by air drop.

Time is running out on this picture because the Chinese Reds now have their army along the northern border. Ahead of them a total of 32,000 fleeing Nationalist troops poured into Indo-China. The French have had to intern these and it puts another strain on their resources.

When the Chinese Red army reached the border, Communist political influence came into play. Up to that time, Ho Chi-Minh

By GIL PEARLMAN

IT WAS approximately 4:30 in the afternoon — it must have been I sat back in an easy chair, brought out my small package of crumpets and tuned into "Tea-Time."

I like radio programs with a great deal of recorded music on them . . . I like radio programs. It was the beginning of the program when they played some soothing Beneke number and I thought to myself, "Gee, ain't the radio wonderful!"

SERIOUSLY, I went on introspectively, you just turn a dial and there you are — good comedy, relaxing music and above all the soothing clear voices of radio personalities.

No sooner had I turned the thought of soothing, clear voices over in my mind, when a blast came over the air waves.

AT FIRST, I thought it was static and wondered why I hadn't bought an FM set and attempted to receive the "Tea-Time" waves through same.

But it wasn't static at all, it was the voice of the young, hopeful lovely who represents the weaker sex on the program, Miss Casey Covert.

I LISTEN to Tea-Time quite often. Through past acoustical experience I knew that something was wrong. Miss Covert's voice was usually very delicate.

After a few more songs and a few more announcements I concluded that Casey must have a cold. It was the only possible explanation — her voice that day sounded like a fog horn trying to thrust its way through a bubble bath.

had headed a Nationalist coalition government in which he and his Communists were supposed to be a minority. Then early in December there were unconfirmed reports from Saigon, the big southern city, that he was purging the non-Communists from his government.

This unconfirmed but ominous sign has been followed by recognition of Ho Chi-Minh's republic of Viet-Nam by the Chinese Reds themselves.

The question of recognition brings up another unconfirmed report which circulated recently in Washington. It said that the French tried to swap their recognition of Red China for recognition of Bao Dai. At the same time they sought British recognition for Bao Dai, in return for going along with the British in recognizing Red China.

PLEASE bear in mind that I am not trying to offend. It's just that it bothers me that radio personalities have no protection against climatic conditions and I don't think it's fair.

Ambitious students in radio are different than ambitious students who are not in radio. Their voices are their road to fame.

WHEN ONE of us miserables who do not have to worry about frequencies obtain a cold, no one cares. We can cough and hoarse our way through the day without causing too much discomfort.

But an announcer, or a radio-lite, male or female, does not have it so easy. They must go on the air and sound pleasant to anyone who might tune in.

With that humble explanation you can see why I was sympathetic with Miss Covert and her introduction to pneumonia.

But what, actually, can be done in the way of protective measures? The first problem that faces the board is, Where did Miss Covert get the cold?

WELL, there are several explanations, all of which probably contributed to Casey's present woes. The changing weather in Iowa, the dampness that has been diffused through the air the last week or so.

These conditions, as we see, are completely beyond our control . . . and Miss Covert's. If there were any conditions that were of the controllable type, may I sincerely remind the female contributor to Tea-Time of the age old adage — "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure!"

Two Iowa Towns Request Stoker Coal Aid

DES MOINES (AP) — Two requests for stoker coal were made by Iowa towns Thursday to the Iowa fuel co-ordinator.

The requests came from Mapleton, in western Iowa, and Fort Atkinson in the northeast part of the state.

Rodney Q. Selby, who was appointed by Gov. William F. Beardsley to act as fuel co-ordinator during the current coal shortage, said the shortage of stoker coal seemed to be the biggest problem at present.

Both Selby and Gov. Beardsley expressed fear that continued cold weather would produce some hardship cases.

In most cases reported to his office Selby has referred the callers to southern Iowa mines or has helped them get in touch with truckers to deliver coal on order.

Iowa mines, however, produce more lump coal than stoker coal, which is in short supply all over, Selby said.

Farm Bureau Plans Get-Out-Vote Drive

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Farm bureau federation will campaign to get all eligible voters to vote in the primary next June 5, Howard Hill, federation president, told 400 county leaders Thursday.

The get-out-the-vote campaign will be part of the 1950 good citizenship program of the federation, he said. Hill addressed the annual meeting of the six insurance companies affiliated with the bureau.

The citizenship program will be similar to the one conducted in 1948, he said.

Red Cross Boxes Packed by Pupils

Junior high school students have packed American Junior Red Cross gift boxes for shipment overseas, according to Charlotte Davis, faculty chairman for the project.

Each grade has packed two four-by-nine-inch boxes with articles such as pencils, soap, toothpaste, marbles, washcloths, rulers, balls and small games, Miss Davis said.

Students in charge of collecting the boxes are Kenneth Peters, son of Mrs. Grace Peters, 1647 Morrison drive, and Karma Jolliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Jolliffe, 1502 Muscatine avenue.

A display has been arranged in the junior high school building using suggested contents for the boxes, letters and pictures from children in other countries who have received the boxes.

Boxes have been sent to Greece, Wales, Belgium, Italy, the Philippines, Poland, Norway and The Netherlands, through the Junior Red Cross project.

Council Has 670 Problems -- All Girl Scouts

Now Grown Up -- Former Girl Scouts Remain Active

Girl Scouts don't outgrow their usefulness to the organization beyond their Brownie, intermediate and senior scout days.

Proof of this statement is offered by the Iowa City Girl Scout council which sets up and sponsors Girl Scout activities and administers the general program.

Three representatives of the 22-member local council participated in WSU's weekly women's feature, "Club Camera." Thursday morning and discussed the activities and projects of the group.

Participants were Mrs. Nathan Womack, council member; Mrs. S.B. Barker, commissioner of the council, and Mrs. George Krohn, president of the leaders' organization and council member.

670 Registered "The programs are carried out by the leaders and girls," Mrs. Barker said. "There are 52 troops in this council with 670 registered members this year."

Eleven fields of interest are provided on a national scale for Girl Scouts. These include agriculture, arts and crafts, community life, health and safety, homemaking, international friendship, literature and dramatics, music and dancing, nature, out-of-doors and sports and games.

"The international friendship division of the Girl Scouts program provides an example of how the council acts," Mrs. Barker said. "At present the Girl Scouts are sponsoring a nationwide 'Schoolmates Abroad' program, sending bags of articles abroad for children who are entering school.

Articles include pencils, paper, crayons, simple games, something new to wear and handkerchiefs."

Also as part of the international relations program four senior scouts from the United States are sent each summer to "Our Chalet" in Switzerland for an international encampment. This year one girl will be sent from this area, called the "Covered Wagon" region, and Iowa City will sponsor one candidate.

Sponsor Camp Program The local council sponsors a camp program which covers eight kinds of camping experience: cook-outs, overnights, winter camps, established camps, day camps, troop camps, trip camps and exchange camps.

"The program has attained national recognition and we were asked to report on it at our national convention in Milwaukee last November," Mrs. Barker declared.

Other officers of the local council are Mrs. Dabney Kerr, deputy commissioner; Mrs. G.A. Graham, treasurer, and Mrs. Allyn Lemme, secretary.

Demaret Scores Hole-in-One, Leads Ben Hogan Tournament

Ben One Stroke Behind, Snead Tied for Fourth

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (AP) — Jimmy Demaret shot a hole-in-one and equalled the competitive course record here Thursday to lead the $10,000 Ben Hogan open golf tournament by a single stroke over Hogan and Johnny Palmer of Badin, N.C.

Demaret, the transplanted Texan now playing out of Ojai, Calif., finished the first round early with a seven-under-par 64. His ace came on the "lucky" 13th when he hit a high No. 3 iron shot on the 200-yard hole. The ball hit 30 yards short and to the left of the cup. It edged over and dribbled in.

Defending Title

For Jimmy, it was a good start on defense of the title he won last year in a playoff with Hogan, the comeback golfer for whom this tournament is named.

Long after Demaret finished, Palmer came to the 18th needing a birdie to tie. He finished one stroke behind with 65 when a 12-foot putt failed to drop.

For Hogan it was just the opposite. He sank a 30-footer on No. 18 for an eagle three and his 65. Bantam Ben proved he still was the master of the situation. He was four under par at the end of the first nine.

Hogan objected to a cameraman on the fourth green, and the tourney sponsors banned the lensman from the Hogan threesome. The trouble developed as the cameraman lined up a picture while Hogan was readying a putt.

Snead 2 Strokes Behind

Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., golfer, who was tops among the pros for the 1949 tourney circuit, was two strokes behind Demaret. He and Wally Ulrich of Minneapolis were tied for fourth with 66.

Jack Harden of El Paso, Tex., and Dale Anderson of Hinsdale, Ill., each had 67. Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N.C., Fred Hawkins of El Paso and Ellsworth Vines of Chicago had 68.

Hawkllets, Dubuque Meet Here Tonight

City high will be aiming for a chance at undisputed second place in the Mississippi Valley conference when Dubuque visits City high gym tonight.

The Hawkllets and Clinton are presently tied for second with records of four wins and two defeats.

While City high is meeting Dubuque, the River Kings travel to Davenport to meet the undefeated Blue Devils. Earlier in the season the Little Hawks walloped Dubuque, 57-40.

To wind up a busy week of basketball, after completion of semester tests, City high entertains Newton in a non-conference game Saturday night.

In the preliminary game tonight, Dubuque's sophomores tangle with City high's sophs at 6:45 p.m. Saturday evening Newton's reserves play City high's reserves in the opening game.

New Cardinal Coach Within Next Week

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cardinals probably will name a new football coach within the next week, President Ray Bennigan said Thursday.

"Five men are under consideration, and it's a question of which one we want, not which one we can get," he said. "We've considered about a dozen possible coaches and we've narrowed the field down to five."

Bennigan said the problem of obtaining a quarterback for the 1950 team would be left to the new coach.

"You might say that we're eligible to make a trade," he added. "The problem of getting a quarterback, which was a major ailment with the team last year, was complicated more when Paul Christman said he would retire next season."

Boston Returns to Iowa, Ready for Track Meets

Marcellus Boston, Iowa's sophomore sprint star, has returned from his home in Washington, D.C., and will re-enter the university in February so that he may compete in indoor track meets.

Boston worked in Washington during the first semester to help his parents. He has placed in several indoor meets in the east, but is not yet in top shape because of the necessity of working out alone. Last winter he was clocked several times in :06.1 for the 60-yard dash, equalling the American record.

DEVORE SAYS NO

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Football Coach Hugh Devore denied Thursday that he was seeking to be released from his three-year contract at St. Bonaventure college to accept the vacant head coaching job at Holy Cross.

BAUER WINS

MIAMI (AP) — Tiny Marlene Bauer became undisputed favorite in the 18th annual Helen Lee Doherty women's amateur golf tournament Thursday as she posted a 1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9 victory over Claire Doran of Cleveland, Ohio.

Phil Stars Return Unsigned Contracts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The troubles of President Bob Carpenter with unsigned members of his Philadelphia Phillies continued to mount Thursday.

Three more of the club's stars sent in unsigned contracts with a note that they were not satisfied with salaries offered for the 1950 season.

The contracts were from Robin Robert, third ranking pitcher last year; Gran Hamner, often called the best young shortstop in the National league, and Mike Gollat, rookie second baseman.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Right-hander Bill MacDonaid, the only bonus player ever signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates, returned his signed contract Thursday.

MacDonaid, who will not be 21 until March, is the youngest player on the Pirate roster.

BROOKLYN (AP) — Gil Hodges Thursday became the second big Brooklyn name to sign a contract within three days, but the Dodgers hope to bag an even bigger catch today when ace Shortstop Peeewe Reese is expected to come to terms.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Barney McCosky, baseball's forgotten man mailed in his signed contract to the Philadelphia Athletics Thursday and announced he's going to give baseball one more try.

CHICAGO (AP) — The White Sox two ace pitchers, Lefty Bill Wright and Randy Gumpert, have forwarded their signed 1950 playing contracts.

Ohio Tankers Next, No Test Week Layoff For Iowa Swimmers

Iowa's swimming team will not be exempt from practice during exam week as is the case with several other Hawk athletic teams, Coach Dave Armbruster announced Thursday.

Ohio State, Big Ten and NCAA champion is the stumbling block for an exam layoff period. Hawk-eye swimmers will be drilling for a home meet with the Buckeyes, scheduled for Feb. 10 at 8:15 p.m.

Buckeyes Strong

Armbruster explained that the Hawks will need to work hard in preparing for the Ohio State team because the Bucks are strong in every event as usual. Indictations point to the Hawk - Buck dual as one of the best ever held in the fieldhouse.

The Hawkeye victory over Purdue, 44-40, which was Iowa's third straight victory of 1950 pleased Armbruster, but he said that the team will have to show strength if it is to down Ohio State.

An example of Buckeye strength is their time in the sprint relay against North Carolina of 3:30 whereas Iowa swam 3:35.4 in winning the race which created the victory margin over Purdue.

Garst Double Winner

The sprint squad displayed the biggest improvement in individual events, spearheaded by Rusty Garst, winner of the 50 and 100-yard events. Garst also won two first places against Wisconsin and in the Iowa AAU championships. Others who looked good to Armbruster were Bob Busch and Bill Hark, both credited with "remarkable improvement."

Jack Wilson, Iowa diver, is performing well. He finished first against Wisconsin and in the AAU meet while placing second at Purdue.

Little Hawks, Clinton District Meet Foes

BOONE — Iowa City will clash with Clinton in the first round of the district basketball tournament, according to pairings released by the Iowa High School Athletic association.

Lyle Quinn, secretary of the association, said the locations and time schedules would be announced later.

The district playoffs will feature the debut of the state's 40 class AA schools into tournament warfare. Clinton sailed past Iowa City two weeks ago in a Mississippi Valley loop game, 60-50. The Hawkllets and River Kings play again Feb. 17, this time at Clinton, before their tourney duel.

Ottumwa will launch its bid for another state championship against Centerville. The Bulldogs appear to be a good choice for a sub-state berth. Centerville toppled before an early season Ottumwa blast, 41-20.

Tutors Win, 27-3

CEDAR FALLS (AP) — The Iowa State Teachers college wrestling team scored a one-side victory, 27-34, over Denver university Thursday night in a dual match.

It was the 22nd straight dual victory for Iowa Teachers. Losing only one bout, the Tutors scored three falls in trouncing Denver.

Cagers Win, 18-12, in 'High-Scoring' Game

One of the 13,400 persons who watched Iowa trail, then finally defeat Northwestern last week, was looking at a Hawkeye basketball team at home for the first time since he played for the visiting team 40 years ago.

That was in January of 1910, in the old gymnasium east of the river, and on that night Iowa downed its rival from Evanston, 18-12, by what was described to us as "a big score." The game counted in the Western conference standings, and helped Iowa to a two and two record for the year.

Our informant was Dr. C. H. Boswell, from Rockford, Ill., in Iowa City to visit his son and daughter-in-law. As his alma mater was playing here he of course wanted to take in the ball game.

"It's a better game now," he said. "We didn't have the training the players get now. We didn't have the big men, either. In those days it was the heavy men instead of the tall men that the teams were after."

"A player 6-feet, 1-inch tall was considered a big man, while 200 pounds or better was thought to be a heavy man. When one of those big fellows came through it didn't feel so good to get hit," he said.

"We didn't have so many fouls called," Dr. Boswell said, and I don't like the great number called in the games now." He liked the high scoring kind of modern basketball, though. "You know," he said, "that 18-12 score in 1910 was a high scoring game."

Dr. Boswell recalled that 40 years ago there wasn't the great emphasis on winning the league title, probably due in part to the limited number of games played by each team. The Wildcats went winless in nine conference games that year but no records are available on their non-conference games. Iowa only played four league games but won nine of 10 non-league games. Sounds like the present-day out-of-the-conference record.

"Another big difference," he said, "was the number of players carried on the squad. We usually had seven men, because the only time a substitute was used was when a regular got a broken arm or something like that. When a player left a game in those days, he didn't get back in."

"We played in a gymnasium in Evanston that has since been torn down," he said. "Northwestern has had to play home games either in the Evanston high school gym or in Chicago stadium since then, but a new fieldhouse is on the 1951 agenda. It will seat from 10,000 to 12,000."

"I remember one game up at Minnesota," Dr. Boswell said. "We played it on a dirt floor. It wasn't a very high scoring game." He didn't mention any players getting lost in a cloud of dust, but it's a thought.

Bob McKenzie has been added to Joe Gaeta's Bremer's clothing store team, which will compete in the state AAU basketball meet in Marshalltown, starting Feb. 2nd. It was originally scheduled to start later but the large number of entries have caused the change, Gaeta said Wednesday night.

Bob was wearing his North-South jacket Thursday, the one he and his teammates in the post-season game were each presented with. By the way, in case you've been wondering if playing in the North-South game ended college eligibility, it did.

We inquired about Chuck Gottfried, the Illinois wrestler, who was listed on the North roster. "He was going to play and then not wrestle," Bob said, "but a couple of days before the game his wife had twins so he went home, so now he's eligible for the wrestling team."

St. Pat's, St. Mary's in Davenport Tourney

St. Mary's of Iowa City will meet Catholic Central of Ft. Madison and St. Patrick's will test St. Joseph's of DeWitt in the Davenport Diocesan basketball tournament to be held on the St. Ambrose college court Feb. 5-7.

St. Peter's of Keokuk has been awarded the top-seeded position in the tourney, the Rev. Ray J. Pacha of St. Patrick's has announced. Other top-seeded quintets in the Diocesan meet are Catholic Central of Ottumwa, St. Mary's of Clinton and St. Paul's of Burlington, in that order.

St. Mary's has been placed in the upper bracket while St. Patrick's is in the tourney's lower bracket.

Market Basket Index —

Food Costs Here Rise Slightly

The price of food items included in The Daily Iowan's food survey rose slightly for the second consecutive week and the index of living costs climbed 11 cents.

The index this week was $15.20. Though slightly higher than last week's index, this week's survey indicates that the index still nears the $15.00 mark.

The price of bacon rose 10 cents a pound this week. This increase was indicated last week when the government moved to stabilize tottering hog prices.

Generally the price on food items was down. A dozen eggs, a can of peas, and a two-pound box of Kraft Velveeta cheese each cost 2 cents less than last week. Lard rose 2 cents a pound. The survey showed that the price of a dozen, medium-sized oranges was up 11 cents. This increase was offset by the fact that stores surveyed were featuring special grade oranges.

Medium prices in the survey of seven Iowa City grocery stores are compared here with those of one week ago.

That is, the index figure takes into consideration both the costs of the items listed above and the amount of each item the student family of three uses in one week. The amount of each item the family of three uses in one week was arrived at in a survey conducted in cooperation with the university bureau of economic and business research.

Committee Studies Bus Service Plea, Purchase of Estate

Purchase of part of an estate for conversion into a parking lot and the possibility of bus service to east Iowa City are being considered by the city council's committee on parking, public safety and police.

Alderman Frank Fryauf Jr., committee member, said Thursday that a report to the council on these questions probably will not be made until the next regular meeting, Feb. 13.

The committee has asked the Iowa City real estate board for an appraisal of the part of the late Martin Koser's estate property that lies next to the city's present parking lot of College street.

Mayor Prenton Koser has informed the council that this part of the property, which is approximately 80 by 150 feet, can be bought for $30,000.

Nearly 300 persons who want bus service in east Iowa City signed the petition that was presented to the city council Monday night.

The petition stated that "while a fare increase should be unnecessary in Iowa City," the persons who signed it would be willing to pay more for good, dependable transportation.

"Daily workers and housewives must depend entirely upon cab service," according to the petition. Children attending Longfellow school also must go by cab.

Fryauf said that the committee would consult with Joseph E. Neagus of the Iowa City Coach company concerning the petition sometime next week.

At the council meeting Feb. 13, a date may be set for a public hearing on the transportation question, Fryauf said. The public hearing probably will not be held until spring, however, he added.

Also on the special committee on parking, public safety and police are Aldermen James M. Callahan, chairman, and Wayne E. Putnam.

Social Work School Tests Students Here

A testing program is being conducted in the school of social work in an attempt to find which students will be successful in a social work career.

Members, who first began study in this school last fall, have been given a number of tests to measure their intellectual ability, vocational interest and personality and temperament factors.

After a two-year period, it is hoped that the tests will help determine who will be successful in this field. The testing program will be given over a five-year period.

Personality and temperament factors are considered to be the most important factors in the tests, according to Prof. Wayne Vasey, director of the school of social work.

Dr. Allen Frankle, director of the Child Guidance center in Des Moines and Prof. E.J. Shoben, director of the SUI student counseling service, are helping in the testing program.

Larson Addresses City Rotary, Reaffirms Anti-Gambling Aims

Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson reaffirmed Thursday that he is "determined that the racketeering gambler would be driven from Iowa."

Larson addressed members of the Iowa City Rotary club at their noon meeting at Hotel Jefferson.

A former resident of Iowa City and a graduate of SUI's law college, Larson told Rotarians that he would like to explain to them certain issues which have arisen during his "stewardship in public office."

"If you do anything affirmative," Larson said, "you are a fair target for the attacks and detractions of anyone."

Determination Unshaken
He said that on the day he took office he was determined to drive commercialized gambling from Iowa if he could possibly do so. Larson added that many have asked why his office has not made the same all-out attack against violators of traffic, fire and sex laws.

"I did not single out a particular law to enforce," Larson asserted, "but have insisted and will continue to insist upon respect for all our laws."

"However, gambling law violation was so flagrant and so vicious that it necessarily commanded attention."

Iowa Reflects Nation
Iowa was beginning to reflect the consolidation of national gambling interests shortly after the war, the attorney general declared.

"The gambling interests had become so entrenched and the gambling instinct had so permeated the lives of our people that two million dollars a week was going into gambling practices."

"Acts of intimidation and violence were beginning to occur in the state capitol as well as the state at large. Surely," Larson said, "the approach to this problem should be given careful study and preparation. This we have tried to do."

SUI Players to Telecast Play on Lincoln

"Abraham Lincoln" by playwright John Drinkwater will be presented Feb. 12 at 6 p.m. over WOC-TV, Davenport, by SUI's television players.

Students to play the 34 characters have not yet been chosen. Assistants for the production will be Hal Tulchin, G, Elizabeth, N.J., and Glenn Sarlin, G, Iowa City.

Set designs will be by Eugene Spangler, G, Wichita, Kan., and costumes will be designed by Frances Artley, G, Hampton. Charles Jacott, A4, Miami, Ariz., and Arnold Ashby will be technicians.

The six-scene play, written in 1918, is a political play. Arnold Bennett, critic, said, "Its theme is the threatened separation of the southern states from the northern states. Nobody ever heard of a play with such an absurd theme reaching permanent success." As reason for the play's success in spite of the "absurd theme," Bennett cited the author's knowledge of the stage, his simplicity and his genuine dramatic gift.

In discussing the play, Drinkwater said, "But while I have, I hope, done nothing to traverse history, I have freely telescoped its events, and imposed invention upon its movements."

Barrett H. Clark compared the play to the chronicle play popular with Elizabethan audiences. Each scene is separate and complete in itself.

Witnesses Disagree On Girl's Behavior In Mercy Slaying

BRIDGEPORT, CONN. (AP) — State witnesses have sharply clashing testimony Thursday about how Carol Ann Paigh behaved after she shot and killed her cancer-riddled father.

Dr. Rudolph Colmers said the blonde, 21-year-old girl "was collected when I talked with her and she answered perfectly sanely" a few minutes after the shooting.

But Mrs. Rose Telesco, a nurse's aide in the Stamford hospital where the shooting occurred last Sept. 23, said the college girl "looked like a moron" at the time.

A third witness described the girl as calm and quoted her as saying she fired a practice shot before killing her father.

Mrs. Telesco said she saw Carol Ann leaning against a wall right after the shooting, with "no expression — very white, just standing there and staring."

Carol Ann's defense in her "mercy killing" trial is that she was temporarily insane from shock and grief when she fired the fatal shot into the head of her 52-year-old father.

She is charged with second degree murder. A life sentence would have to be imposed if she were convicted.

Mrs. Telesco also testified that Carol Ann's father, Carl, moaned repeatedly before the shooting: "Oh, what a pain. What a pain."

Carol Ann has been quoted by police as saying she couldn't bear to see her father go on suffering.

The third witness, John J. McInerney, said the girl told him she fired a practice shot "so I'd know what I was doing" before using the revolver on her father.

Two-Day Math Clinic Begins at SUI Today

Knowler said the purpose of the clinic is to follow-up the training course of quality control by statistical methods, given earlier this semester, with information from quality control experts of industrial concerns.

Police Chief Asks for Detective Force Here

A more complete investigation of each police case would result from the addition of a two-man full-time detective division to the local police department, Police Chief E.J. Ruppert said. In the annual report of the Iowa City Police department recommended that a detective division be added.

He added that "the uniformed members of the force would be more free to handle our traffic situation," and that investigations of certain cases have suffered severely because of the lack of a full-time detective bureau.

Bridge Aids Traffic
"The new Benton street bridge has aided materially with our traffic problem, especially during the football and basketball games," Ruppert added.

Two other recommendations included in his report were that the city hire a dog catcher and that police cars be replaced after no longer than one year of service.

The report shows that the police department had 309 "dog" calls in 1949.

Not Properly Trained
"The men of this department are neither properly equipped nor do they have the time to properly handle the excessive number of 'dog' calls we receive," Ruppert said.

He added that the situation is at its worst during the summer months.

The dog catcher should have "adequate facilities for picking up and caring for stray dogs," Ruppert said.

The constant cost of repairs to police cars after they have been used 24 hours a day for a year is Ruppert's reason for recommending that they be replaced after one year of service.

The police report showed there were 566 traffic accidents in Iowa which were killed.

In referring to the condition of the police department's building and its equipment, Ruppert said that "we are still in need of adequate quarters."

Program Nets $600 For Dimes March

Almost six hundred dollars for the March of Dimes have been collected by Milo Hamilton, A4, Fairfield, on his WSUI Rhythmic Rambles show, according to Promotion Director Roger Hipsley, A2, Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

Rhythmic Rambles is broadcast over WSUI from noon till 12:30 p.m. daily except Sunday. Hamilton devoted his show to promoting the drive for polio funds during the month of January.

For every 25 dollars brought in by a University housing unit, he dedicates a record to the contributing organization. Hamilton also interviews on his program the people bringing in the money.

On Saturdays Jim Shank, City high school athlete and polio victim, cooperates with Hamilton on the program.
