Winter Grips Iowa; Five Inch Snow Here

Winter tightened its grip on Iowa City Monday as the town received its first heavy snow storm of the season, a fall of nearly five inches.

Twenty mile-an-hour winds out of the northeast piled up small drifts in unprotected areas but the highway commission indicated that most main roads were clear due to heavy traffic. The snow was heavy throughout the city.

Spencer and Council Bluffs reporting six inches by early Monday evening.

Late Monday, CAA officials here said snowfall had measured nearly four inches and was expected to continue through most of today.

Monday's low temperature was an early morning mark of 3 degrees below zero and high for the day was 11 above, posted at 6 p.m.

Sidewalks were snowpacked here and the removal job for crews was expected to be difficult because of the heavy traffic from students busy this week with the semester's final exams.

Des Moines weather bureau predicted slowly rising temperatures and continued light snow for Iowa today. After lows of near 5 degrees in the southeast Monday night, the mercury was forecast to climb to near 30 today.

Meanwhile Iowa City's youngsters were dusting off their sleds and for the first time this year cars were stalled in the snow. The sheet of ice left from freezing rains last week made driving more difficult.

Motorists were frequently heavy in battling the elements and Iowa City's numerous hills. But sympathetic students lent helping hands throughout the day to help drivers conquer the weather.

First Snow Is Always Best One

ENJOYING THE FIRST SNOW HE EVER SAW is Steve Anderson, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Anderson, 730 S. Dubuque street. Anderson, G. Forest City, said Monday that Steve was born in Texas and had never seen enough to coast on before. Steve's sled is a new one Santa Claus brought him last month, Anderson added.

Today Is Deadline For Auto Licenses

An estimated 2,700 persons still have to get their 1950 car licenses in Johnson county today to avoid a penalty.

Beginning Wednesday, a 5 percent monthly penalty will be added to all motor vehicle license fees.

Monday was a busy day, and clerks at the county treasurer's office took in $27,418.18, County Treasurer Lennie Jansa reported.

A total of 8,589 auto licenses had been sold up to closing time Monday night, he said.

The county treasurer's office will be open through the noon hour today to take care of late-comers. The office closes at 5 o'clock, Jansa said.

No H-Bomb Invites Russ War—Tydings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Millard Tydings (D-Md.), chairman of the senate armed services committee, urged Monday night that the United States go ahead with the development of the hydrogen bomb, saying our failure to have it could invite attack.

Tydings was the second major senate committee head to come out flatly for development of the H-bomb, which reportedly would be eight to 1,000 times more powerful than the present atomic weapons.

Over the weekend, Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee said the United States should arm itself with the bomb.

The words of both men take on added significance in that they are members of the joint senate-house atomic committee.

The committee Monday disclosed that it has had the H-bomb under continuous and comprehensive study for several months and may be nearing the point of making a recommendation to the President.

Both the congressional atomic energy committee and the atomic energy commission acknowledged publicly Monday for the first time that the decision whether to proceed with the bomb must be faced.

Mr. Truman has already made such an acknowledgment.

Most speculation in government circles is that Mr. Truman will approve the project, aimed at production of the super atomic weapon.

The probable cost has been estimated at from $100-million to $4-billion.

Soviet Police End Blockade of Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviets ended their eight-day "baby blockade" of Berlin Monday night and passed trucks from western Germany to Berlin without delay, western police reported.

Police at Helmstedt — on the border of eastern and western Germany — said that traffic on the super-highway both to and from Berlin was normal.

Trucks were being admitted to the Soviet zone from Helmstedt at the rate of 10 an hour. At times during the day the rate was increased to 15.

Iowa Broadens Search For New Grid Coach

City Council Passes Ordinance to Lower Electric Rates Here

The Iowa City council Monday night passed the ordinance that authorizes the Iowa - Illinois Gas and Electric company to reduce electric power rates for consumers here.

R.H. Lind, Iowa City district manager for the company, has said savings to local consumers will total about $54,000 yearly.

The average residential consumer will have a reduction in monthly electric bills of about 11.6 percent, he claimed.

Lind said at Monday night's public hearing on the ordinance that the standard voltage here would be changed from 115 to 120 volts.

Another ordinance to get a third reading — a proposed fire protection contract with surrounding municipalities or persons — was sent to the fire and water committee for further investigation.

The council unanimously approved a move to give officials of the surrounding municipalities a chance to meet with fire and water committee members in the investigation.

In another action, Alderman Clark F. Mighell asked the council to consider the possibility of adopting a new program of garbage collection. He suggested paying a farmer $12,000 yearly for the next five years and giving him the garbage for hog feed.

Mighell also recommended that the council "should reconsider at our next regular meeting the purchase of trucks."

His motion referred to a previous dispute concerning the council's purchase of three trucks for the street department. Following the purchase motion, the council tabled the action.

The council adjourned until 5 p.m. today, when it plans to consider an application asking that a beer permit expiring today be transferred from Leo E. Duffy, 901 Highland avenue, to C.J. Michel, 1103 E. College street.

DR. EDDIE ANDERSON To Holy Cross . . .

Anderson Signs Five-Year Pact At Holy Cross

A hunt was on Monday for a successor to Dr. Eddie Anderson who resigned Saturday as head football coach at SU.

The preliminary task of drafting a list of eligible successors was in the hands of the athletic board. The committee met Sunday in Cedar Rapids.

Meanwhile, Anderson Monday confirmed reports that he was to be head football coach at Holy Cross. He agreed to a five-year contract at a reported annual salary of $15,000.

Athletic Director Paul Brechler said there are about 60 or 70 names on the list of potential successors.

Brechler refused to divulge the names of the coaches under consideration to succeed Anderson.

Calls from All Over

"I've had calls from all over the country — north, south, east and west. I've been surprised myself at the caliber," Brechler continued. "Some are quite influential in the coaching world, and their names might surprise you."

Brechler reported that the status of Iowa's present assistant coaches is uncertain. "It's customary that when the head coach leaves, his assistants either go with him or are out," he said.

Assistants Considered

"This is necessary in order to give the new coach freedom in choosing his assistants," Brechler added. He also pointed out that the present football aides are among those under consideration.

Frank Carideo is backfield coach, Pat Boland, line coach, Bob Fitch, end coach and Leonard Raffensperger and Maury Kent are the freshman-football coaches.

Others Mentioned

Other coaches mentioned prominently in street corner conversations were: Abe Stuber and Herb Cormack of Iowa State college; Don Faurot of Missouri; Jim Tatum of Maryland; Mike Milligan who resigned Friday at Pittsburg; Howie Odell, a former Iowa now at the University of Washington; Paul Brown, formerly of Ohio State and Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma.

Holy Cross Comment

At Holy Cross, where Anderson succeeds Dr. Bill Osmanski who captained the college football forces under Anderson, the doctor's return was viewed with mingled emotions.

The majority seemed pleased. One official, declining use of his name, said, "He's the man we wanted all the time. He comes high and we hope it's worth it. He made some concessions."

Another college official, also demanding anonymity, wasn't so happy.

"You know his record at Iowa wasn't anything wonderful." (At Iowa, Anderson's teams won 35 games, lost 33 and tied two.)

Anderson is scheduled to leave Iowa City in about two weeks.

Ida Grove Raises $355 For Boy in U-Hospitals

IDA GROVE (AP) — Citizens of this community have contributed $355 as a fund for Earl Muckey, 17, who suffered a broken back in a Jan. 7 sledding accident.

Earl is in University hospitals where he is making a slow recovery. The local national guard unit sponsored the fund for the youth. The sum is to be used in any way he chooses during his long convalescence.

100,000 to Walk Out In Telephone Strike Starting Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide strike in the Bell Telephone system was signaled Monday to begin Wednesday, Feb. 8, with 100,000 CIO communications workers called out.

Union officials said that more than 200,000 other members of the same union are expected to observe picket lines and thus support the walkout over wages, hours, apprenticeship rules and pensions. Contracts delay their striking until about March 1.

The strike was set to begin at 5 a.m. Iowa time. President Joseph A. Beirne told reporters the strike will go forward unless the government or the company acts to avoid it. He said every affected telephone exchange in the country will be picketed.

If the strike actually takes place, union strategy aims at a flood of telephone calls in hope of jamming the dial service. Beirne has suggested that the CIO urge its members to make lots of calls if necessary. CIO President Philip Murray pledged "whatever help you may require" without specifying the nature of cooperation to be extended.

Beirne said that by use of special numbers which would not be affected by any rush on telephone lines, service will be maintained for doctors, nurses, fire, police and other telephone needs in special cases.

In Chicago an official of the Illinois Bell Telephone said Monday night that the nationwide strike order came as a "surprise" because the firm is scheduled to bargain with the union on behalf of 10,000 Illinois operators Wednesday.

The first judging of the Frivolous beauties will be held Friday evening at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium, Keith Kartman, A3, Wilmette, Ill., said Monday.

Harlan Miller, Des Moines Register columnist, will judge the finals Feb. 8. That judging will be open to the public.

Planned School Enlargement to Cost $62,700

Preliminary plans for enlargement of Roosevelt grade school, together with the estimated cost, were approved Monday by the Iowa City board of education.

The increased enrollment in the Roosevelt district which makes the addition necessary has been studied by the board for some time, and a preliminary petition for enlargement has been filed by parents in the area.

The proposed project was explained by Chan F. Coulter, chairman of the Iowa City school building and grounds committee. After discussion by the board, the preliminary plans and estimated project cost of $62,700 were accepted by unanimous vote.

Planned Improvements

The plans, drawn up by Henry L. Fisk, local architect, provide for the addition of four rooms, a complete walk around the school, a stoker and boiler.

The estimate, Fisk said, was based on costs of the addition to Lincoln school. Roosevelt school, however, will have more outside wall space and higher ceilings, as well as the added sidewalk.

Large Classrooms

Three of the new rooms at Roosevelt will be larger than ordinary classrooms, which are 22 feet by 28 feet. The largest of the added rooms will be 24 feet by 34 feet.

Two rooms will be added to the south part of the building and one to the east. The fourth will be built at the southwest corner of the school.

Part of the foyer at the front entrance of the building will be enclosed to form a room which can be used as an infirmary, and there will be supervisory office space for the principal. A rest room for primary children also will be added.

Future Building

Blank outer wall space to the north of the building will facilitate future building.

This plan for enlargement was selected from four submitted. The proposed addition to Roosevelt school will be voted upon March 13 in the school board election.

SHELLS FROM THE BIG MO'S GIANT SIXTEEN-INCHERS were unloaded from the battleship Missouri Monday in an effort to lighten the ship for its scheduled "pull-off" to take place today. The 45,000-ton pride of the navy ran aground on a sand shoal in Chesapeake bay just outside Norfolk, Va. Jan. 17. Salvage experts said the Missouri will probably float free without aid if the actual high tide exceeds the predicted high by nine inches and can be hauled clear by tugs if the predicted high is exceeded by two inches. If the actual high is an inch or so lower than the predicted high, there will be a struggle, salvage experts said.

Accent on Youth —

In a period of two short weeks the whole complexion of Iowa's coaching staff has taken on a completely different hue.

The two major sports have suffered a shaking-up that is bound to alter Iowa's athletic picture.

Rollie Williams, former basketball coach and now assistant athletic director, took over the cage squad during the early phases of the season in order to spare ailing Pops Harrison.

Harrison, who was recovering from a major operation, returned to direct Iowa's basketball fortunes, but ill health sidelined him soon after he resumed his duties.

Youthful Bucky O'Connor stepped into the breach to coach the basketball squad for the rest of the season.

In a whirlwind of activity last weekend, the football picture took a decided turn. Dr. Eddie Anderson, head football coach since 1939 with time out for service duty, resigned to take a job at Holy Cross.

Unlike the basketball team that has had three coaches during the young season, the football team is now without a coach.

Speculation as to Dr. Eddie's successor has had free rein since Saturday's surprise announcement.

SUI athletics have emphasized youthfulness during the past several years. When Paul Brechler took over as athletic director in the summer of 1947, he was the youngest director in the conference.

Francis X. Cretzmeyer, track coach, is another comparatively young man. Bucky O'Connor, hired as golf coach and now head basketball coach, is still another young man.

So there seems to be "trend" behind the thinking that Dr. Eddie's successor will be a young man. Whatever the new coach's age, he will have a pair of large shoes to fill.

During Anderson's seasons as grid coach, the football team managed better than a .500 mark in all its games. Duplicating that feat in Big Ten competition is a good trick.

Something New Has Been Added —

A new weapon has been projected into the tense cold war. It's the hydrogen bomb, and although Dr. Alan Shapley says we won't have one for five years, the reality of the thing is with us now . . . ready or not.

The hydrogen bomb is believed to be from 10 to 1,000 times as potent as the feared atom bomb. The bomb that fell on Nagasaki and Hiroshima utilized the same process that the sun uses. The hydrogen bomb will not only use the same process, it will almost duplicate the transformation that takes place on the sun and warms the earth — 93-million miles away.

We need only think what would happen if this process were to take place in our own backyards to receive the full impact of its potentialities. Neither can we hide behind the protection of our "big stick" either. Russia is believed to know as much about the theory of the new bomb as we. We're playing in a big new league now. The competition can be just as rough as we.

Probably no time in history has man been faced with the uncompromising situation of placing his cards on the table, or watch the whole deck, game and living room go up in flames. What can we do about it? Continue to work within the structure of the United Nations, and watch the Russians walk out every time something pertinent is said?

Follow the advice of the Friends group, the Peace Action committee, and some of the other organizations that advocate peace at any cost?

Should we take the Russians up on their next bi-lateral peace talk proposal? Or should we follow the advice of a few hotheads and bring Russia to her knees while we are reasonably sure she's second best in the atom race?

The decision should be made now. President Truman is on the spot. Humanitarian and moral motives will be second to practicality when he is called on to say whether the U.S. goes into H-bomb production. It is the only short run decision he can make.

But it's time we stopped living in the short run. The "big stick" philosophy held true in the days before the atom bomb. Today it is outmoded. Five years hence, when H-bombs are the big war weapon, it will probably be too late. That is, unless we have to dig ourselves out of the radioactive dust before we'll start off on some sure road to peace.

Question of Motive —

The turbulent, unpredictable figure of John L. Lewis has swept across that national scene again — this time with an offer to re-open negotiations to end the soft coal strike and the three-day work week.

Lewis has been damned and praised more than any man of our time with the possible exception of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He has been flayed as "Johnny-at-the-rathole" for disregarding the nation's welfare when coal shortages, steel shortages and labor disputes are concerned, until the weekend announcement that Mr. Truman would probably use the weapon.

No matter what his motives, people will scream at Lewis for his "dictatorial, selfish reasoning." The poor old guy just can't win. Or is he winning?

The coal supply all over the nation has dwindled to a dangerous low. West Virginia, the Dakotas and Iowa have been especially hard hit by the stoppages and half-starts of Lewis' miners.

Lewis' most recent move might be a method to pull President Truman off the hot spot. Mr. Truman has opposed the Taft - Hartley law's injunction clause. Yet, the injunction seemed to be the only way out of the current skirmish, until the weekend announcement that Mr. Truman would probably use the weapon.

No matter what his motives, people will scream at Lewis for his "dictatorial, selfish reasoning." The poor old guy just can't win. Or is he winning?

Mountaineers Defended

TO THE EDITOR:

We read with great interest the editorial and copy of Sydney J. Harris' column in Friday's Iowan. We realize that you were defending liberal education in general but we also want to thank you for upholding our university's course in "Outings and Mountaineering."

This course, which we have taken, far exceeds even the standards set up for it in a liberal education field. It does what many courses are unable to do and what Mr. Harris accused the "typical" college course of not doing — it stimulates thinking.

Some people may presume the course does little more than teach "proper bed fixing." We assure you that it does far more than this. Even if it did not we would like to see Mr. Harris sleeping out on a cold night in a bed which is improperly "fixed."

Mr. Harris' main point was that courses offered in "higher education" should teach students how to think. The columnist has a point there, but we feel he used the wrong example. "Outings and Mountaineering" for those who are not acquainted with it, has been a two hour accredited course offered for both men and women students.

The class consisted of weekly lectures supplemented by 1-4 days of field work during the semester in which weekend camping and climbing trips were taken to outstanding areas such as Devil Lake State Park, Wis., and to the Mississippi Palisades Park, Ill.

We feel that this unusual course, which is the only one of its kind in the United States, strives to promote individual thinking by students. The necessary considerations for outdoor recreation and the essential equipment needed were introduced. The student is shown ways to evaluate dangers that might arise in camping and mountaineering.

Many important techniques (not only "bed fixing") were learned on our class climbing and camp-

Program Interruptions

TO THE EDITOR:

Last week, during the re-broadcast by KSUI of a BBC production of "Anthony and Cleopatra," we were treated to a casual performance (from another studio it would seem) of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

We were, therefore, prepared this week for the organ music, which for a time, supplemented the same company's production of Othello. Some of us, however, must have been unprepared for the fadeout which occurred in Act IV, Scene II.

The device of interrupting a broadcast has ominous precedent. I believe, for instance, that the news of the late President Roosevelt's death arrived at the NBC studios during a concert conducted by Toscanini, which had to give place briefly.

On this occasion we were informed, by an announcer whose voice seemed to bespeak misgiving, of the resignation of Dr. Eddie Anderson. Later consideration has convinced me that a more charitable interpretation is in order: we were not to be deprived of one of our acts of the drama.

The other drama (Shakespeare's) was resumed with the words: "What horrible fancy's this?" I am sure that I speak for many when I say that a little judgment might profitably have been substituted for the good will which (I am sure) inspired this incident.

Tax Answer

Actor Says President Seeking Publicity

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Since he presumes he is one of those criticized in President Truman's tax message to congress, Producer-Actor Dick Powell makes answer.

In his plea to plug loopholes in tax laws, the President cited "producers of motion pictures and their star players, who have attempted to avoid taxes by creating temporary corporations which are dissolved after making one film."

Dick Powell, who has produced two of his own starring films, replies that "it's too bad the President was misinformed. That issue was resolved two or three years ago when the treasury department stepped in to end one-picture deals.

"I think it was an obvious move for publicity. He knew he could get headlines by mentioning the movies. But I think it is a bad thing when the President picks out one industry and group of people to hit. The next thing might be government control."

Powell said he understood that the treasury disapproved of stars' making and dissolving one-picture corporations repeatedly. But, he added, there is no objection to making just one picture under a corporate set-up, or staying in business and making several pictures.

"Why, I have $60,000 of my own money in my company," said the star. "It takes a lot of salary checks to take that much. Besides, I have to personally guarantee a loan of $670,000. And I may not even get my capital investment back."

"We're in business, just like anybody else. We're just the same as the guy who wants to start a hardware store and goes to the bank for a loan."

Powell said that a production company is one of the few ways a star can save any money. "Sure, we make big salaries," he agreed. "But we can't keep much of that. What happens when our hair starts falling out and our stomachs get big and we don't look young and romantic anymore?"

He said that he was lucky to break even last year, despite his salaries and investments.

'And I Thought the A-Bomb Was Tops'

Following Daniel Webster's Path —

Representatives Campaign for Senate Posts

WASHINGTON — In the newly-renovated chamber of the House of Representatives is a white marble tablet bearing an inscription from Daniel Webster.

There are some who think it strange that a famous senator was chosen for this honor, but they forget that the noted orator was once a house member before he was "promoted" to the upper body.

Webster was one of many senators who once saw service in the house. Seated today in the senate are 27 former house members who won "promotion" to the more august chamber and, what is more important, its longer tenure of office.

Twenty-two of them are Democrats, the most prominent being third term and is seeking the post of Democratic Senator Sheridan Downey.

Also battling for Downey's seat is Republican Congressman Richard Nixon, who is expected to win the GOP nomination. Both house members have been speaking up and down their state for months.

In Oklahoma, Senator Elmer Thomas is being opposed for re-nomination by Rep. Mike Monroney, the Democratic sponsor of the congressional reorganization law of 1946.

The 74-year-old Thomas is a hard opponent to defeat, but Monroney, with 11 years of house service behind him, is making a strenuous attempt. For weeks he has been methodically stumping through Oklahoma, a feeling out voters.

In Wisconsin, Senator Alexander Wiley, the Republican party's foremost humorist in congress, may be opposed by Rep. Andrew J. Biemiller, a Democrat.

In Indiana, Senator Homer E. Capehart and Rep. Andrew Jacobs have staged a series of debates on "Is the New Deal party trying to force British-type socialism on the American people?"

GOP Senator William E. Jenner, also of Indiana, will be up for re-election in 1952 opposed by another house member, Rep. Ray Madden, a democrat.

The most recent house member to announce candidacy for Senate is Rep. George Smathers, Florida, who seeks to replace Democratic Senator Claude Pepper. Pepper is now completing his 14th year in the upper house.

Connecticut has a wide open race with two senate seats to be filled. Numerous aspirants for the seats have been reported, among them, three house members.

Democratic Rep. Fred Wearin, of Iowa will be running against Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper when he faces re-nomination and re-election in November.

In Wisconsin, Senator Alexander Wiley, the Republican party's foremost humorist in congress, may be opposed by Rep. Andrew J. Biemiller, a Democrat.

In Oklahoma, Senator Elmer Thomas is being opposed for re-nomination by Rep. Mike Monroney, the Democratic sponsor of the congressional reorganization law of 1946.

The 74-year-old Thomas is a hard opponent to defeat, but Monroney, with 11 years of house service behind him, is making a strenuous attempt. For weeks he has been methodically stumping through Oklahoma, a feeling out voters.

In Wisconsin, Senator Alexander Wiley, the Republican party's foremost humorist in congress, may be opposed by Rep. Andrew J. Biemiller, a Democrat.

Cotton Fabrics in Spotlight for Summer Fashions

It's June in January for designers and resort fashions are previewing what's to come in summer, 1950.

Cotton fabrics are in the spotlight as never before. Texture interest is the keynote for every kind of summer fashion, and the new fabric is cotton.

Outstanding American designers have found new cotton fabrics an inspiration for their own fashion ideas. The result is simplicity, accented with subtle designer touches.

Resort convertibles come in a variety of new styles, with dual personalities to match more than one mood or hour. The versatility is achieved with aprons, jackets, skirts, and in one case with a stole which, by a flick of the wrist, can become an old-fashioned bustle on an iridescent plaid cocktail dress.

The current crop of sundresses-with-jackets veers toward the two costume idea. "Night or Day" could well be the title of many cotton convertibles. Career girls achieve a quick change from afternoon to evening dresses by removing the jacket they've worn over a sophisticated date dress.

Also highly convertible are play-suits with cover up skirts. It's easy for today's woman to go from a tennis court to a luncheon date. It's smart, too, to be coated in cotton. A navy blue duster combined with a white dress is doubly practical. The duster buttons high at the neck, has three-quarter sleeves and flares smartly. It provides an amiable companion to many other outfits.

The Orient is the inspiration for coolie-styled cotton coats. The side seams are slashed to the waist in Oriental style. Green and white table cloth damask was chosen by one designer to accent a solid green sundress. This coat is styled along princess lines.

Suits, too, are cotton conscious, with pique being one of the newest notes in the suit picture. Suede finished glove cotton was styled by another designer into a casual suit dress.

Beachwear is going cotton, and nowhere is it more at home. Swimmers and sun worshippers will find gingham, piques, broadcloths, taffetas, prints and plisses fashioned into 1950 sun and water styles. Everyone can be in the swim, fashionably speaking, in one of the flattering summer sportswear styles.

And in the evening, cotton goes glamorous. Organdies, voiles and metallics live up to true fairy princess tradition, while other cottons follow more sophisticated lines.

One of the newest cotton fabrics is barthea which looks and feels like fine brocade, and comes in rich solid colors. Piques have different patterns this season. Both the brilliant "sun" colors and soft "sherbet" shades enhance these weaves.

Puffy "blistered" cottons in solid colors and carnival colored stripes are destined for summer popularity. Filmy transparent cottons — frosty tone-on-tone or white-on-white patterns will be fashioned into cool and dainty summer gowns.

New organdies are crinkled or puckered, eyelet embroidered, velvet-striped or printed in scenic designs. But embroidery and embroidered effects are not limited to sheer cottons. In fact, the embroidered look pops up on gingham, chambrays, piques, whipcords and prints. Embroidery in any form is very much in evidence in the 1950 fashion picture.

FOR FINAL TIME this ensemble in cotton puts a spark of glamor into studying for finals. It features a red and white checked cotton lounging set with quilted study coat. Contrast is offered by the red trousers, and a tab tie is buttoned perily at the neck.

Most coeds aren't resort or vacation bound, but they're still wearing cottons.

Cotton corduroy suits have been a style favorite all season, and gay cotton blouses are a welcome accent to suits and skirts. Come summer, the coeds will change the cotton resort fashion preview into a feature attraction.

Fresh Note in Choreography

Viennese Ballet Ensemble Charms Audience At City High School Performance

By TERRY RINK

A fresh note in choreography was sounded Monday night at the performance of the Viennese Ballet ensemble at City high school.

The program was the second in the Iowa City Civic Music association's series this season.

Abandoning classic precision in steps and poses, the dancers gained spontaneity and liveliness in their performance. Although the beginning was weak because of the slippery stage, the performers moved more surely when they took off their shoes and danced in their bare feet.

Comedy Yet Sympathy

One of the most charming episodes of the performance was "A Fairy Tale." Danced with comedy yet sympathy by Eva Bernhofer, the character of the Leprechaun was outstanding for grace and expressiveness.

For emotional depth, "The Banner," a stirring dance for three, was outstanding.

In dramatic range, the program moved from the light, flirtatious "Wine, Women and Song" to the solemn "Death and the Maiden."

In between were the delicate "Heaven's Lane" and the sprightly "Village Comedy."

Audience More Responsive

Kartman reported Monday that the semi-final judging will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in Maebode auditorium. It will be open to the public. SUI Grad in London To Aid in Formation of Defense Planning

SUI graduate Lt. Col. Leo F. Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Paul, 410 Iowa avenue, is one of two airforce men now in London in connection with the North Atlantic pact.

Paul, the first Iowan to be a member of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, is aiding in forming defense plans of North Atlantic treaty countries.

He graduated from the SUI college of liberal arts in 1936.

As a captain in the airforce during the war, Paul completed more than 200 missions as a C-47 pilot in the south Pacific. He was co-pilot on a rescue mission and received credit for saving the crew of a C-47 which had crashed in the jungle.

In 1945, he was appointed to the airforce planning board and went through the Command and General Staff college, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Paul holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Purple Heart, the Distinguished Service medal, the Air medal and the Air Defense Service medal as well as theater ribbons.

Professor Devises New Learning Plan For Adult Classes

A painless learning method, the "Talking Quiz," invented by Prof. Hew Roberts of SUI's college of education, will soon be sent to adult evening classes throughout Iowa.

Roberts calls his quiz "an attempt to find an entertaining way of passing on information and 'talking material' that happens to be more available in Iowa City than in other towns."

The quiz is carried on in an informal manner and isn't confined to persons interested in current affairs.

The purpose of the quiz is to stimulate discussion, which can be carried on simultaneously with some other occupation such as knitting or shop work.

During its experimental stage, the quiz will be mimeographed form. It will be accompanied by a paragraph for each question giving the correct answer, which then can be compared with the answers of those taking the test.

The first quiz will be on the subject of modern India. SUI students from India and Pakistan have prepared answers to questions about their countries.

The "Talking Quiz" came about as a result of two surveys made by SUI graduate students indicating that suitable discussion material on current affairs was scarce in Iowa.

Any group or individual wishing to take the quiz may obtain copies by writing to Roberts or to the University Information service.

Ohio State Lengthens Big Ten Lead, Conquers Purdue, 59-52

Schnittker Sparks Buckeye Barrage

LAFAYETTE, IND. (AP) — Ohio State's battling Buckeyes, gunning for the Big Ten basketball crown, whipped hapless Purdue Monday night, 59-52, to move well in front of idle Wisconsin in the title chase.

The victory was the sixth in conference warfare and the second straight away from home for Tippecanoe's quintet against one setback, leaving the Bucks one-and-one-half games ahead of Wisconsin which they face at Columbus in the top western conference game Saturday.

As usual, deadeye Dick Schnittker was the big gun for the Ohioans. He dropped nine fielders and seven free throws for 25 points to top the scoring for both clubs.

Playing a conference game away from home for the second night in three days—the Bucks whipped Minnesota Saturday, 63-58, the foreign floor jinx apparently didn't hamper them. They led all the way, using their vaulted fast-break.

With five minutes gone, Ohio led 9-3, built up that margin to 23-9 and left the floor, 33-20, at the halfway mark.

Butchko and Howard Williams led Purdue's second-half rally, but it fell short of catching the fast-moving invaders. Nevertheless, Purdue narrowed the gap to 50-47. The Boiler-makers had a chance to tie up the ball-game, but Marty Horn, Butchko and Williams missed from the 15-foot stripe.

Hogan Temporarily Retires From Golf

EL PASO, TEX. (AP) — Gloomy and disappointed at his attempts to stage a comeback in the competitive golf wars he dominated so long, Bantam Ben Hogan said Monday he was en-route home for a long rest.

Hogan stopped briefly here, for an unannounced visit at the hospital where he waged a long, uphill fight against near fatal injuries suffered in an auto-bus collision almost a year ago Monday. "I'm going home to Fort Worth to rest a long time," Hogan said.

Contest Ruling In Mile Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether Don Gehrman or Fred Wilt won the mile run in Saturday's Millrose games may come up for discussion at the conference table.

Most of the principals involved in picking and ruling on the winner of the photo-finish race spent Monday attacking and defending the choice of Gehrman as winner.

Rushed from Behind
The slender Wisconsin ace rushed from behind to hit the tape almost together with Wilt in a 4:09.3 race that probably set a record for close finishes.

The question is: who really won?

Five judges at the finish line voted on the winner. Three picked Gehrman, two named the G-man. At issue Monday was whether Asa Bushnell, chief judge followed the rules in voting for Gehrman to break the two-two tie of the other four judges.

Patrick J. Walsh and John J. Downing, assigned to pick the first-place finisher, chose Wilt as the victor.

Violated Rules
Both indicated Monday they will file a protest, saying the rules were violated in favor of Gehrman.

Fred Travalea, the second-place judge, picked Wilt for second. That made it 2-1 for the former Indiana U. runner.

But Bushnell asked Vic Graeb, assigned to pick the third-place runner, who he thought placed second. Graeb said Wilt finished second. That made it 2-2.

Then Bushnell, as chief judge, broke the tie in favor of Gehrman.

"I consulted the president and secretary of the AAU whose rules we followed," Bushnell said. "They advised to do it that way."
Wilt, the center of all the bickering, said Monday he will not protest the call, even though "I know I hit the tape first, across my shoulder."

DeReef Greene, also of Washington, defeated Craig Harper of Iowa City in their 440 duel. Greene ran the distance in :52.2. Harper's best for the quarter is :51.7.

Iowa City's Jack Davis added the two-mile run to this list of accomplishments. Davis ground out a 9:51.7 for the long distance. He is also a miler and a half-miler.

Have You Heard? — 15 Feet Doesn't Surprise Vaulter Turned Tumbler

By JOHN HOLWAY
Fans lifted their eyebrows a short while ago when Don Laz of Illinois pole-vaulted 15 feet — the second individual in history to reach that height.

One fellow, however, who kept his handsome black brows down where they belong was Iowa's number-one pole vaulter, Clair Jennett. "No," said Clair frankly, "it doesn't surprise me."

The fact that Laz' best previous flight was 14-1 didn't phase the squarely-cut Jennett, either. When he was in high school in Sac City, Clair's own record hopped nine full inches in one jump.

But he's got a new love now: gymnastics, and he figures the new sport will be an aid to him in vaulting next spring. Consistently a strong man in every event, Jennett won his first first (on the rings) Saturday as Iowa took second in a three-way meet at Indiana. The Hawkeyes beat Ohio State and lost to Indiana in their third competitive action since the war. Jennett and his teammates were proud enough of their showing, but "wait till Indiana comes here," he nodded. The Hawks want to set that score right.

Like almost all the other gymnasts on the Iowa squad, Jennett took up tumbling and the other activities of the sport only last year. In contrast, most other conference schools had entered meets sooner after the war.

Kenny McKenna of Calgary, Canada, the little reformed diver, joined Jennett in nodding a tribute to their coach, Dick Holzhaefer. Reporters say that some of the Iowans, especially Paul Williams, drew the biggest applause at Bloomington. The performers want to turn the cheers right back to their coach who started last year practically from scratch.

If you're one of those would-be Andy Varipapa's who practice long frames to develop that hook to your bowling game, stop a moment and take a lesson from Dave Wehrenberg. For Dave is our new 200-Club record holder with a sizzling 278 game, and he rolls a perfectly straight ball.

"I have nothing on the ball," Dave explains, like a magician rolling up his sleeves.

He missed a perfect game only because of an eight spare on the fifth frame. "It broke my heart," Dave confessed.

Others to join the club were Dick Bosshart who has played on three winning intramural teams. Dick hung up a 210 game last week. The other newcomer is Bob Christoph with 218.

Name Tigers' Houtteman As 'Courageous Athlete'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Art Houtteman, 22-year-old pitcher for the Detroit Tigers, Monday night, was named "Most Courageous Athlete" of 1949 by the Philadelphia Sporting Writers association.

The youthful right hander was honored because of his remarkable comeback last year after he was left near death in an auto collision in March. He came back to pitch two months later and won 15 games.

Houtteman joins a list of "courageous" athletes that include such prominent sports figures as Gene Bearden of the Cleveland Indians, Lou Brissie of the Philadelphia Athletics; Meyril Frost, war-burned football star for Dartmouth university; Pete Gray, one-armed baseball player; Bob Allman, blind Pennsylvania wrestler, and Mickey Cochrane, former manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Badger Gridders Reported Ineligible

MADISON, WIS. (AP) — The Madison Capital Times said Monday seven University of Wisconsin football players were scholastically ineligible at the completion of midyear examinations.

Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin athletic director, said that he could not confirm or deny the report because his office had not received any complete grades or information about the athletes. These will not be in before the end of the week, he added.

The Capital Times said the seven are Bob Petruska, regular quarterback; John Coatta, No. 2 quarterback; Harold Haberman, regular offensive end; Patrick O'Donahue, regular defensive left end; Roland Strehlow, halfback; Jack Kelly, center, and Gene Felker, reserve end.

TO CONSIDER SUCCESSOR
EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — A successor to Arthur (Dutch) Lonborg as head basketball coach will be considered at a meeting of Northwestern university's athletic board within the next two days. Lonborg, who coached Northwestern cagers for 23 seasons, resigned Saturday to accept the athletic directorship at the University of Kansas.

Unbeaten Holy Cross Selected Top Basketball Team in Nation Iowa Faces 3 Home Games

NEW YORK (AP) — For the third straight week, unbeaten Holy Cross tops The Associated Press basketball poll with almost 80 per cent of the first place votes.

Although the Crusaders were idle last week, they drew 92 of a possible 157 first place ballots from the nation's basketball writers and sportscasters.

Holy Cross and Duquesne, the only unbeaten major powers in the country, have identical 14-0 season records but the Crusaders picked up a point edge in the poll, 1,446-1,040. Points are figured on the basis of 10 for a first place vote and so on down to one for tenth place.

Duquesne made Youngstown its 14th victim, 69-49, to pick up 10 firsts. The Iron Dukes now head into a rugged week that includes Louisville.

Solid victories over Tulsa and St. Louis enabled Bradley (17-3) to vault from sixth to third place with four firsts. Close behind came Long Island university (14-2) which ran over Lawrence Tech, 84-54, in its only start. Seven writers ranked LIU No. 1.

St. Johns (16-2), Kentucky (13-4), Ohio State (11-3) and La Salle (12-2) were tightly bunched in that order from fifth through eighth positions.

St. John's returned to action with a 65-46 win over St. Francis. The Redmen, early AP poll leaders, drew only four first place votes.

After an upset loss to Notre Dame, Kentucky bounced back to dump Xavier and Georgia, a good enough to attract six firsts.

Six men rated Ohio State tops in the nation after the Buckeyes' 61-38 triumph over Minnesota. La Salle subdued Temple, 67-51, for an important win. They drew five firsts.

North Carolina State (15-3) earned six first place votes by whizzing past Louisville and Virginia Tech, moving up from tenth to ninth place.

The top teams; (first place votes in parentheses and records including Jan. 28 games with points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis).

Team	Records	Points
Holy Cross (92)	14-0	1,446
Duquesne (10)	14-0	1,040
Bradley (4)	17-3	775
Long Island (7)	14-2	736
S. Johns (4)	16-2	543
Kentucky (6)	13-4	542
Ohio State (9)	11-3	534
La Salle (5)	12-2	511
North Carolina St. (6)	15-3	418

Despite semester examinations, the Iowa basketball team is finding time for practice drills preparatory to three home conference games next in line on the schedule.

The first game of the home stand is scheduled with Purdue on Feb. 6. The Hawkeyes will be out to avenge a 64-55 loss at Lafayette Jan. 16.

Iowa faces formidable Illinois Feb. 11, followed Feb. 13 by Wisconsin, currently one of the prominent title contenders. It is the season's only game with Illinois but Wisconsin will be in a return game at Madison Feb. 18.

It is possible that Coach Bucky O'Connor will use Frank Calsbeek at forward and Chuck Darling at center at least some of the time, to take over.

Sunday the Washington State athletic council and board of regents approved offering Evashevski the football coaching job here.

Evashevski Monday afternoon phoned athletic officials at Washington State and notified them he would accept the five-year contract he was offered. He will come here by mid-February to take over.

Sunday the Washington State athletic council and board of regents approved offering Evashevski the football coaching job here.

The salary was not announced by Athletic Director Robert C. Brunsley but he said it is one of the highest ever paid a head coach at the university.

"I am happy to officially announce that by unanimous action, the athletic council and the board of regents have selected Mr. Forest Evashevski as our new head football coach," Brunsley said.

"We now believe that the state college, particularly its students and alumni, will look forward toward a sound program in football which will not only bring our share of victories, but will maintain our prestige in Pacific Coast conference competition."

State High School Swim Meet Slated for Feb. 18

Quinn announced also that district high school wrestling meets will be held Feb. 10-11 at Davenport, Newton, Cresco and Clarion.

Sports Briefs

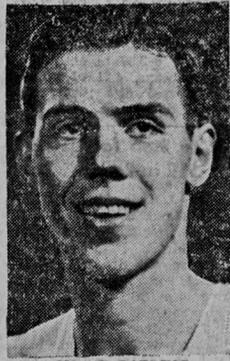

NEW YORK (AP) — Big John Mize, a home run slugger whose biggest moment in baseball came when he tagged Ralph Branca for a climactic two-run single in the third game of the world series, signed his 1950 contract with the New York Yankees Monday.

CHICAGO (AP) — Gordon Goldsberry, sophomore first baseman for the Chicago White Sox, returned his signed 1950 contract Monday to become the 34th player on the roster to reach a financial agreement.

SCRANTON, PA. (AP) — Pitcher Al Widmar disclosed Monday that he has refused to sign his 1950 contract with the St. Louis Browns because the salary offered was "far from sufficient."

DES MOINES (AP) — Ames will be the site of the 10th annual Iowa AAU ice hockey tournament to be held Feb. 12. Joe Campbell, chairman of the hockey division announced Monday night. The Ames pucksters have won the state title the last two years.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. — The International Ski federation, still plagued by the lack of snow here, Monday night reorganized its entire program to schedule all jumping events here next Sunday and all cross-country races at Rumford, Me., beginning Friday.

CHUCK DARLING Possible Starter

as he did in the second half against Ohio State. Darling tallied 21 points in the Buckeye game. This combination of Darling and Calsbeek will give added height in the front court resulting in more rebound strength. Calsbeek is 6-6 1/2, and normally center, while Darling is 6-8. Iowa now has a 2-3 record in conference play but sees the three successive home games as a big chance to climb in the league standing. Of the last 38 conference games at home, Iowa has won 32 of them, while the road record now shows eleven straight losses. The last conference success the Hawks experienced on a foreign court was at the expense of Purdue, Feb. 7, 1948.

Food for Wildlife Offered by League

Packages of free feed are being offered to persons who wish to prevent wildlife from starving. James Curtis, president of the Johnson County Izak Walton league, said last week.

Recent ice storms have covered feeding grounds of the animals and placed wildlife in a critical position, Curtis said.

The packages are offered by the league in cooperation with the state conservation commission and may be picked up at the John Wilson Sporting goods store in Iowa City.

The feed should be placed in sheltered spots where animals congregate, he added.

Final Exams

Exam Service Grades 'Em in 24 Hours

For all the mental candlepower you can burn on those final exams, it takes only 24 hours by modern technology to tell how much you know.

Prof. Robert L. Ebel, director of SUI's examination service, said Monday all the final exam answer sheets submitted to his office in one day can be scored and returned by the next.

He added rechecking and hand-tabulation of scores may prolong this routine somewhat.

Two IBM electronic scoring machines are kept busy about 12 hours a day during examination periods, he said.

Potentially, these two machines could grade 12,000 answer sheets in a single day. The actual number graded falls below this figure, of course, depending on the daily influx of examinations from the various departments.

Ebel said he expected about 90 final examinations to be turned over to his office for scoring within the next week.

He advised students to be neat and accurate in marking answer sheets with the special pencils provided. Many scores are automatically reduced because of carelessness in marking or attempts to wangle extra points with a few extra pencils.

"The machines may not be absolutely foolproof," Ebel said, "but they're no pushover to beat."

Philippine Weapons On Exhibit at Union

Weapons from the Philippine islands display in the university museum are being exhibited in the Iowa Union, Walter C. Thietje, museum curator, announced Monday.

The collection is in the exhibition case to the right of the desk in the lobby of the Union and includes spears, side arms and knives from the islands of Luzon, Mindanao and Jolo.

The objects exhibited are only a small part of the collection on display in Macbride hall. Originally, the objects were gathered by the Philippine commission for the St. Louis-Louisiana Purchase exposition in 1904.

SUI obtained them after the close of the exhibition.

Pie Auction to Help Send Youth Abroad

Emmett C. Gardner, county extension director, said pies will be auctioned at a 4-H club meeting Wednesday to raise funds for Iowa's international youth exchange program.

Members of Johnson county 4-H clubs and the junior farm bureau will meet at the Iowa City community building at 8 p.m. for a pie supper.

The youth exchange program, now in its second year, sends young Iowa farmers to Europe for a month or more in exchange for rural European youth who spend the same time in Iowa.

Its purpose, Gardner said, is to contribute to better international understanding by acquainting Iowa farm youth with foreign methods of agriculture.

The program is sponsored by Iowa State college, Ames, and the U.S. department of agriculture.

Miss de Havilland was named best starring actress with 40 votes for her performance in "The Heiress."

Main Lounge at Union Gets New $18,000 Rug

The new rug in the main lounge of the Iowa Union covers 18,000 square feet of floor and is valued at $18,000.

The old carpet had been in the Union about 13 years and was wearing out fast, Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts and the Iowa Union, said.

After the initial decision to buy a carpet about a year ago, Harper formed a committee consisting of Prof. L.D. Longman, head of the art department; Prof. Lula Smith of the home economics department; Prof. George Horner, university architect; Theodore Rehder, director of the dormitory and dining service; and Frank Burge, assistant director of the Iowa Union.

Color Scheme
First the committee worked out a color scheme based on the colors of the furniture, walls and ceiling of the main lounge.

A basic blue was chosen for the background. The type and size of the furniture indicated a need for four or five other colors, Harper said. The committee chose tan, reduced cocoa, aqua and cherry red.

Experienced decorators and carpet manufacturers assisted the committee in choosing the design.

Vacuumed Daily
After considering the types of rugs hotels, theaters and pullman cars found most satisfactory, the committee decided on all-wool saxony.

The carpet is composed of 20 rugs and a runner and can be shifted as the rugs wear. The rug was laid a week ago.

The carpet must be vacuumed thoroughly every day with high suction vacuum cleaners to clean out the sand and grit. It will be washed twice a year.

Such an undertaking is a "serious responsibility" Harper said and advised, "if you buy the very best quality that can be obtained, in the long run it is both the most satisfactory and the cheapest."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THIS IS BROADWAY, the radio program in which sundry actors and actresses discuss their alleged most pressing problems with noted wits George S. Kaufman, Clifton Fadiman, and Abe Burrows, featured a singer named Sweetland recently whose quandary at least was unique: at the age of thirty-two he already had sired four children, one of them in her teens.

The big question, Mr. Anthony, was this: should he publicize this world-shaking information, or file it in a drawer marked "top secret." Mr. Kaufman wryly suggested, "If you wanted to keep this a secret, maybe you shouldn't have brought it up on a national hook-up. There are now four Chinese in the Yangtze valley who aren't hep to your dilemma." "By the way," pursued Mr. K., "how did you manage to have a teen-age daughter at the age of thirty-two?" Mr. Sweetland wcn the laugh of the evening by replying artlessly, "In the usual way."

Mr. Fadiman's frank appraisal of This Is Broadway was, "One thing you've got to say about it: it's delightfully improvable."
