Grand Jury Bypassed; File Information in Bednasek Case

County Atty. Jack C. White, filed a formal first degree charge against Robert E. Bednasek Saturday, thus by passing grand jury action.

The 24-year-old Cedar Rapids man was a student at SUI when he was charged with murdering Margaret Ann Jackson on Dec. 11 in his off-campus rooming house at 411 E. Washington street.

White's formal charge means Bednasek's case will not be considered by the grand jury scheduled to be impaneled Monday but will proceed directly to district court.

Defense May Ask For Venue Change In Anderson Retrial

A change of venue for the retrial of the Oscar Anderson case may be requested, Anderson's attorney, William H. Bartley, said Saturday.

The request for moving the trial to a different court would be based on the grounds this community might be prejudiced on the case because it has had so many trials, Bartley said.

Anderson, 59, has been convicted of assault with intent to commit murder. He was accused of shooting Clifford Kelly in the Strand cafe in April, 1948.

His second trial, however, was ruled out by Judge H. D. Evans Friday because some jurors admitted reading a copy of the Iowa City Press Citizen while deliberating in the jury room.

The first trial, held in Oct., 1948, ended when Anderson was declared insane.

Bartley said he would talk to the two judges in this district — Judges H. D. Evans, Iowa City, and J. P. Gaffney, Marengo — before making a decision on whether to request the change of venue. It is up to the district court to rule on such requests.

Pleaded Not Guilty

Bednasek was arraigned Dec 12 on the first degree murder charge in Justice of the Peace C. J. Hutchinson's court, where he pleaded not guilty.

Defence Atty. Clair Hamilton shortly after waived preliminary hearing which had been scheduled for Dec. 21, thus passing the case directly to the February grand jury.

No date has been set for the district court hearing of the case. The February term begins Monday under Judge James P. Gaffney of Marengo.

No Change of Plan
 "This is no change of plan," White said. "I am following the plan I have had all along. The move is a 'common procedure' in a case of this kind, he added.

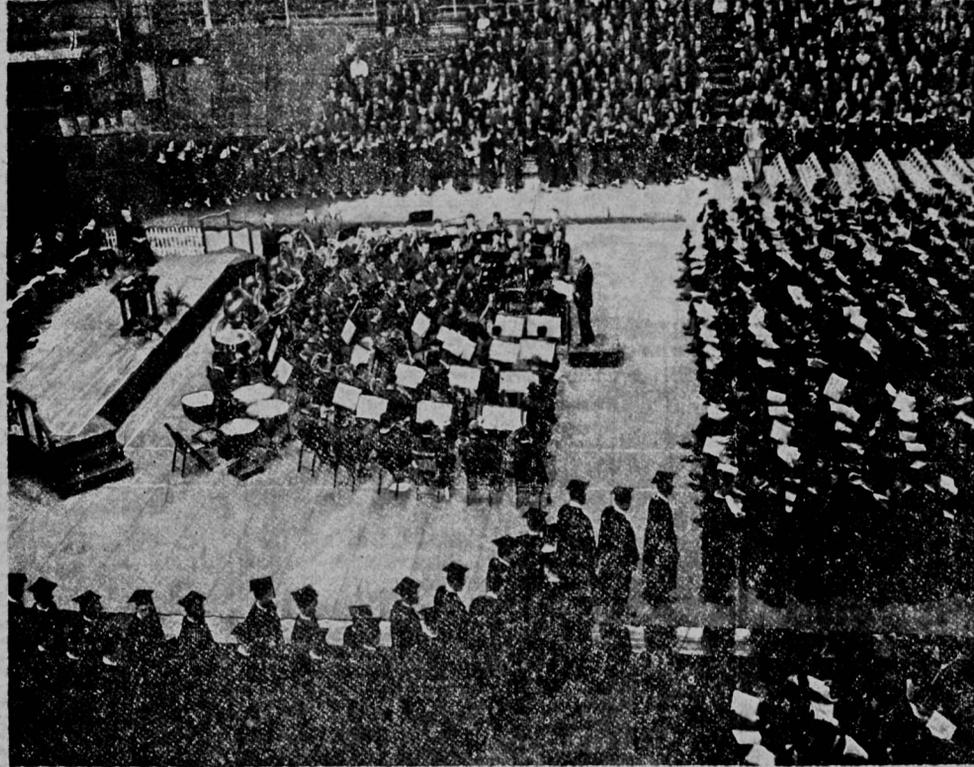

Bednasek, a senior psychology student, was arrested shortly after he summoned police to the rooming house where the girl's body was found. He told police her death was accidental. He has since been held in the county jail.

Dined on Lobsters
 Bednasek told police the couple had gone to his rooming house following a fraternity party. Investigation revealed they had dined on lobsters and wine in the room where the girl died.

White said 19 witnesses would be called by the state in its attempt to prove the first degree murder charge. Three SUI students were included in the number as was Dr. Isom A. Rankin, the physician summoned after the girl's body was discovered.

BANK HEAD DIES

LONDON (AP) — Lord Norman, who headed the bank of England longer than any other man in its 256 years, died in his sleep early Saturday. He was 78.

714 Receive Degrees at SUI's Largest Winter Graduation

began at 1:45 p.m. when the gowned prospective graduates began filing into the fieldhouse from the west end through the armory. The commencement address was given by President Virgil M. Hancher.

Record Graduation Hears Hancher On U.S. Cultural Gifts

Americans have contributed four ideas to world culture, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher told 714 graduating students and guests Saturday at the university's largest winter commencement exercises.

The first idea, President Hancher said, is the federal principle of government, one Americans have applied to a continental-wide domain with a large, widely-scattered population.

The second idea is supervising their legislative and executive officials to make sure the people are governed according to their constitution.

High Living Standard
 Maintaining a high living standard by mass production of both goods and services was the third idea Americans have contributed, according to Mr. Hancher.

Our final contribution in our short national history is mass educating our people to competently govern themselves, using our educational program to recruit the specialized trainees necessary to carry on a complex civilization, the president told his audience.

He questioned what Americans propose to do with their civilization and what they want their country to stand for.

Keep National Aims
 In recalling that no civilization producing money, wealth or power has survived its own time, he suggested keeping foremost a vision of the national aims in order that the gifts of the vision could remain even after the people who created it were gone.

Prof. Robert S. Michaelson of the school of religion was chaplain for the ceremonies. William D. Coder, director of the veterans service, was master of ceremonies.

The university band, directed by Prof. Charles E. Righter of the music department, played before and during the exercises.

Prof. J. Thornton Harrison of the history department broadcast the ceremonies over station WSUI.

Russ End 2-Week German Blockade
 BERLIN (AP) — The Russians dropped their "little blockade" of truck traffic Saturday at Helmsstedt. In an official statement Saturday night they said it was imposed to combat smuggling.

After two weeks of slow-down tactics, Soviet guards threw the zonal frontier wide open and waved through trucks bound from west Germany to Berlin at rates up to one a minute.

"Come on, come on," they shouted.
 The break came as the United States, British and French authorities discussed possible counter measures. The official Soviet statement on why the blockade was lifted did not refer to these conferences.

Murders 3 Women; Falls Under Truck
 TAMPA, FLA. (AP) — A grief-maddened New Yorker butchered his wife, sister-in-law and mother-in-law Saturday and then killed himself by diving in front of a truck.

Peace Justice J.G. Spicola identified the victims of the insane attack by Tena Slehta, 50, of Yonkers, as Mrs. Ann Slehta, 47, her slightly younger sister, Ellen Ruziak, and their mother, Mrs. Peter Ruziak, 70.

Slehta was a bank clerk of the Guaranty Trust company in Manhattan.

Spicola, also acting coroner, said there was no question that Slehta did the killing and then killed himself in a fit of depression over the critical illness of his father-in-law, Peter Ruziak.

NOBLEMAN WEDS AMERICAN
 WASHINGTON (AP) — David Michael Mountbatten, Marquess of Milford Haven, plighted his troth to American socialite Romaine Dablgren Pierce Simpson Saturday with a resounding "I will."

Anton Tomash, hospitalized Friday after suffering a stroke, was still in "critical" condition late Saturday, University hospitals officials said.

Tomash was stricken a few hours after confessing to Johnson County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy that he had attempted to poison his wife by putting strychnine in her food and drink.

Murphy arrested the 65-year-old Johnson county farmer Wednesday after Mrs. Sadie Tomash filed charges against her husband in justice of peace court.

Says Fuchs Had Access to H-Bomb Data
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Grave-faced lawmakers anxious to plug any further leaks in atomic security Saturday called J. Edgar Hoover to testify Monday after hearing first-hand that a trusted British scientist — now an atomic spy suspect was free to obtain "most vital weapons information."

The Senate-House Atomic committee asked the top G-man to testify in closed session as they sought to learn from Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves the size of the hole in America's atomic treasure chest.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) related to reporters that Groves, wartime head of the Atomic project, had told the congress members that Scientist Klaus Fuchs had "access to a wide area of

Advertising Stunt Gets 'Brink Bandits' In Legal Troubles

OMAHA (AP) — Eight men wearing rubber masks and carrying well-filled money sacks labelled "Brinks" walked along sidewalks in downtown Omaha Saturday.

All were dressed identically in navy pea coats and each carried a gun.

Attracted by crowds who stared at the eight men, police rushed through traffic and arrested the men, who displayed signs reading "We held up Brinks in Boston, now we're going to hold up Brinks."

Hustled to the police station, 42-year-old professional stunt man James Brunson unmasked himself and seven teen-age boys.

"It was just a stunt," he said. Police said it was "too good a stunt."

Manager J. R. McDermott of Ranks' army store bailed the group out of jail. Their trial was set for Monday.

"It was a good idea," said McDermott. "We've attracted a lot of people to the store. But I guess it was too realistic."
 "We're awfully sorry we bothered police," he said. "But it did help business."

Western Electric May Join Telephone Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Western Electric company installation workers, 11,000 strong, threatened Saturday to join the nationwide telephone strike set for next Wednesday morning.

Their union, division 6 of the CIO communications workers of America, said the walkout would take place unless a wage dispute is settled.

Numerous other groups of telephone workers are threatening a strike against the Bell system beginning at 5 a.m. (CST) Wednesday.

Western Electric is an American Telephone and Telegraph company subsidiary. The installation workers put in heavy telephone, telegraph and television equipment for A.T. & T. in 43 states.

Ernest Weaver, president of the installation workers' union, served notice of the impending strike at a negotiations meeting attended by William N. Margolis, assistant national director of the U.S. mediation and conciliation service.

The union's exact demands were not made public. Weaver said the union wants, among other things, a substantial wage increase and higher expense allowances.

After the mediation conference, Margolis announced no progress had been made and there would be another meeting Monday.

In Washington, President Joseph A. Beirne of the CIO communications workers said today that the nationwide strike of Bell Telephone workers set for Wednesday now seems inevitable.

Homes Abandoned In Arkansas Flood

CHICAGO (AP) — Families in the White river lowlands of southeastern Arkansas abandoned their homes Saturday as flood waters rose toward their yards.

Many flood evacuees in the Ohio valley began moving back into their homes.

In the Mississippi and Ohio valleys more than 34,000 persons, some of them veterans of almost annual floods, had abandoned their homes or were cleaning them up from the muddy ravages of floodwaters.

Skies generally were clear from the Rockies to the Atlantic and only in the southeast Arkansas area river waters were threatening. In northeastern Arkansas, some of the 23,000 flood refugees in the state began leaving their temporary shelters in tents or with relatives and friends, and headed homeward.

ELECTRIC TUBE HAS MEMORY

NEW YORK (AP) — A new type oscilloscope, which is similar to a television tube, has been developed. It has a visual "memory" lasting a full minute. Used in laboratory and testing work, it holds on the screen traces of electrical current occurring in a billionth of a second.

Believe Truman Will Invoke Labor Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two top presidential advisers said Saturday that President Truman will invoke the Taft-Hartley act against John L. Lewis unless his soft coal miners return to the pits Monday.

The two officials, in separate interviews, said the United Mine Workers chief had left the chief executive no alternative but the use of the act which he has sought to repeal.

Presidential advisers are already at work on the draft of a presidential order.

Earlier Saturday Lewis spurned Mr. Truman's plan to end the mounting coal crisis with a fact finding board.

This immediately set off rumors that a nationwide mine strike would get underway on Monday.

Neither of the White House intimates who outlined the White House plans would be quoted by name.

They said the President would act unless there is an unexpected return to the coal mines by the UMW members.

Late Saturday the White House announced that Lewis' answer "is construed as a rejection" of the President's proposals.

Father of Students In 'Classroom Trip'

A Newton school superintendent, father of two SUI students and an Iowa City housewife, have been chosen to represent Iowa in a "flying classroom" junket to Europe. The Associated Press said Saturday.

B.C. Berg — father of Ben C. Berg, M3, and John W. Berg, A3 — and Mrs. Charles Harrington, 415 Riverdale village, will fly to Europe from New York March 20.

Along with 68 other persons, Berg will make up the flying classroom. They expect to be gone about six weeks.

Michigan State college sponsored the trip.

PROBE MO'S LOG

NORFOLK (AP) — A naval court of inquiry studied the log books of the USS Missouri Saturday to learn why the navy's only active battleship went aground in one of the world's best charter harbors.

'I Am The Father' Of Bergman's Child, Rossellini Declares

ROME (AP) — Italian Film Director Roberto Rossellini said Saturday "I am the father" of actress Ingrid Bergman's two-day-old son.

Rossellini said the baby's full name will be "Roberto Ingmar." He explained that the surname was the Swedish masculine equivalent of Ingrid.

He said he would marry Miss Bergman in a civil ceremony as soon as the Swedish actress obtains her Mexican divorce from Dr. Peter Lindstrom, and that he would make a formal declaration of the paternity of "my son" immediately after the ceremony.

Rossellini said the full registration of the baby's birth would be "Roberto Ingmar, son of Ingrid Bergman, father unknown." He said that would deprive Lindstrom of any technical claim on the baby.

Under Italian law, Lindstrom would automatically be registered as the baby's father unless the "father unknown" declaration were made, since he is still the legal husband of Miss Bergman.

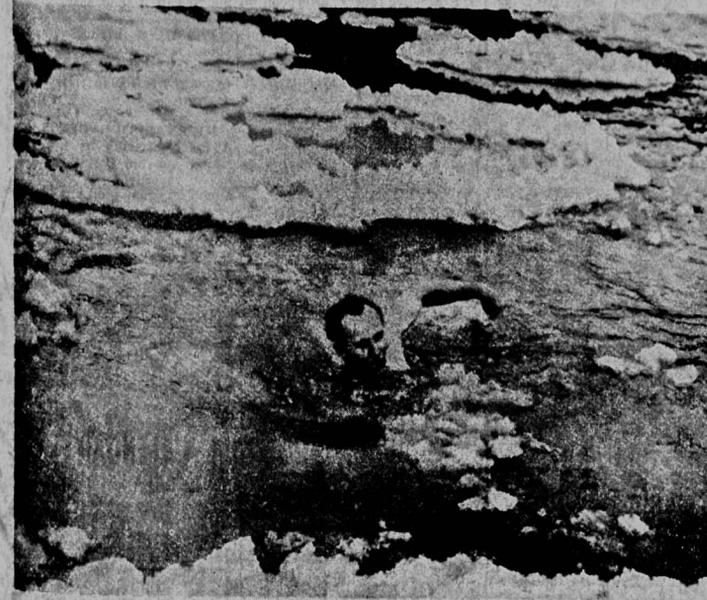

Once Rossellini has become Miss Bergman's husband, he can give his name legally to the child.

The director said that he and Ingrid do not plan to leave Italy at any time soon. He said "there will be no honeymoon."

SWIMMING AMONG THE ICE FLOES in the Missouri river is the present frigid pastime of Otto Hildebrand, 35, a Jefferson City, Mo., policeman. "It's all a matter of conditioning," he says.

Sample Table to Look Like Bowlful of Jelly —

Taste, Chemical Tests to Determine State's Order

DES MOINES (P) — Before the state liquor commission decides on its future policy on wine pur-

Commission member Art Coburn made the comparison Saturday in relating that it would be "quite a while yet" before the commission makes its decision.

He said when all requested wine samples are in they will be lined up by a commission chemist and given a taste test as well as a chemical analysis.

Coburn joined the commission last July 1 by appointment of Gov. William S. Beardsley. He handles commission purchases. Coburn continued:

"The salesmen, for companies weren't buying from, told me we were paying 'way too much.' They said they could supply us at $1 to $1.50 less a case than we were paying.

"Then the question arose as to whether the public would like some other wines. We hit upon the plan to test samples from everybody and compare the prices."

Two Iowan companies had been furnishing the commission with nearly all of the wines it offered. One is the Iowa Wine company of Des Moines and the other is the Council Bluffs Grape Growers association.

Out of 172,296 cases of wine the commission purchased from 21 companies in the last fiscal year, the Iowa Wine company furnished more than 80,000 cases and the Council Bluffs Grape Growers more than 63,000. The commission's total purchases of all beverages in the fiscal year was 991,662 cases.

The commission sent letters nationwide to the 21 companies supplying wine and to 2 others not now dealing with the commission. It asked that samples and prices be submitted. Samples and prices have been received from 21 companies thus far and at least two other firms are expected to follow suit.

Coburn said the testing and price comparisons will not start until all samples and prices are received. The chemist is "an old hand" at both taste and chemical tests, Coburn emphasized.

Coburn, a tee-totaller himself, commented: "We feel that when the chemist passes on this stuff we can take his judgment. We don't care who gets the business — we want it to be a fair horse race. We don't want anybody to be the pole horse."

"We want to do the testing and price comparisons in such a way that everybody will have a fair deal. We aren't going to try to hurry. In the end we want to give the public more of a choice. "Yes sir, it's going to look like a state fair display of jams and jellies. Like the judges do out there, the chemist will make a taste test too."

"But that's not so important. We learn from other people that their tastes vary in liquor, and it's the same thing with wines."

Town to Distribute Profits of Oil Well

PLAINVILLE, IND. (P) — The 600 citizens of this southwestern Indiana town have about decided to cut everybody in on their gushing new oil wells.

That's why the whole town is agog over a new well just brought in a scant 100 feet away from the Farmers State bank on Main street. Postmaster Roy Strange owns the lot.

"We got together at a town meeting," said Charles E. England, the bank president. "We agreed to try to get all the property owners to sign up for communitization."

The townsfolk agreed that "communitize" might be a more accurate word, but it sounded a little too subversive for Plainville.

"Some low-income families will get a break," England explained. "And we'll be able to get a royalty of a fourth of the output, instead of the usual one-eighth."

"It's better that way. There'll be less hard feelings."

Diagram illustrating the principles of the atomic and hydrogen bombs. It shows the fusion of hydrogen into helium, the fission of uranium, and the resulting energy release. Text includes: 'All atom cores are made of two kinds of particles — protons and neutrons. They're interchangeable.', 'Hydrogen is only one particle.', 'Four particles make helium. Two are protons, two neutrons.', 'The hydrogen bomb changes hydrogen into helium. The four particles making helium — multiplied many times — lose enough mass, and weight, to give off seven times more energy, in the form of heat, than is created by the atom-splitting process.', 'When an atom is split, it again loses weight — also in the form of heat.', 'Multiplied many times, creation of heat by this splitting process is the principle of the atomic bomb.'

THE PRINCIPLES OF THE ATOMIC and hydrogen bombs are reduced to elementary terms in this series of sketches.

Explores Possibilities of Hydrogen Bomb

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The hydrogen bomb within a year, and what next? Will there be more, how soon, how much worse?

What can we expect, and what will be the limit? If the hydrogen bomb succeeds, the answer is there will be more, because the hydrogen bomb taps a source that was supposed to exist only in the stars.

Once open that door, and the possibilities are endless. How fast will they come? The hydrogen bomb is arriving ahead of the schedule which cautious scientists set in their testimony before the U.S. senate four years ago.

Five to ten years, they said, without specifying what bomb. Can they be worse? The H-bomb is said to be, at worst, 1,000 times more powerful than the A-bomb. But a few competent scientists said there was a possibility of bombs thousands of times more powerful.

They said this was remote. But now that one seems about to come true, there is new weight in their speculations.

Ahead are the lithium bomb, the boron bomb and the annihilation bomb — to name only those which are in the published records. All these belong to the light-weight chemical elements in which scientists expect to find most of their early bombs. You can add carbon bombs and nitrogen bombs, and maybe beryllium, to amplify the light-weight possibilities.

Why can these things be considered possible? The phosphor match, the kind you strike on your shoe, gives the answer. Coal and wood must be heated to hundreds of degrees before they will burn. The match ignites with the mild heat of friction, and then can communicate the heat to start the fire.

In the world of nuclear bombs, all except two must be preheated like wood and coal. They must be heated to millions of degrees, with tons of pressure. The two exceptions are uranium and plutonium bombs. These are set off by cool neutrons — no great heat required.

These two are the phosphor matches, which science fears can set off the others. These two furnish the millions of degrees heat and pressures. The question is, Do the atomic "matches" blaze long enough?

The bomb mechanism is almost absurdly simple. You, your house, the stars, everything in the known universe is made of only two kinds of particles, protons and neutrons. About half your weight is neutrons, the rest protons, and you can disregard electrons because they weigh so little.

The particles form all the atoms, one for hydrogen, 239 for plutonium. When an atom splits in about two equal pieces it emits tremendous energy, mostly as heat. That is the A-bomb.

When two or more of these particles are brought together to form an atom — any atom — they again emit energy as heat. The reason is that when the particles are separate — they are heavier than when in the nucleus of an atom. As they enter, they lose some mass, and this loss will make a bomb if the fusing particles are brought together fast enough and in large enough numbers. Fusing is far more explosive than splitting, giving about seven times more heat for equal weights.

What is the limit? The annihilation bomb. Annihilation means that the entire mass of atoms disappears completely and changes into energy, with nothing left over. That is the reaction in which energy produced from a substance no bigger than a single pea could drive the Queen Elizabeth across the Atlantic.

It is calculated that this reaction really occurs in the hot centers of stars. A few scientists think they have seen it in laboratories, but they aren't sure.

The annihilation bomb will give 1,000 times more energy per pound than the present A-bomb. But the 1,000 here is misleading. Nature, which sets off A-bombs while they are cool, also set a limit on how much can be exploded. There is no known limit on annihilation. Such a bomb could go to thousands or millions more.

It is reasonable to suppose that annihilation will not be achieved on earth. But it is no longer safe to comfort yourself with dreams that men won't make the bigger bombs.

Keeping our discoveries secret won't help. Scientific discoveries come from facts that anyone can learn.

Apparently agreement not to look for the terrible bomb is futile, for any nation seeking to improve its economy by making better atomic power will stumble onto the bomb secrets.

No Competition This Year, But — Myth Town Ready for Oscar

By CENTRAL PRESS HOLLYWOOD — Thursday, March 23, will be an ordinary day in most towns throughout the land, but it will be a special day in Glamerville. That is the date set for the presentation of the 22nd annual Academy Awards.

It doesn't seem very exciting. The reason: The competition will not be keen. Last year the industry looked forward to a financially poor 1949. And the locale of the awards presentation reflected that atmosphere.

The choice was a small theater owned by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. There were but 950 seats available and few members could attend after the press, studio executives and nominees had been allotted reservations.

However, there was much excitement in Hollywood and elsewhere in the nation as to the outcome. There were that many fine contenders in all categories.

Remember? Ingrid Bergman for her role in "Joan of Arc." Olivia de Havilland was nominated as a result of her work in "Snake Pit." Irene Dunne in "I Remember Mama," Barbara Stanwyck in "Sorry, Wrong Number," and Jane Wyman won the Oscar as a result of her performance in "Johnny Belinda."

In the male division, there didn't seem to be much doubt. Sir Lawrence Olivier as "Hamlet" had the nod long before voting time. However, there were interesting nominations which aroused the industry's interest.

Montgomery Clift, a newcomer, received enough votes to be in the final tally as a result of his job in "The Search." Dan Dailey, who starred in a musical, "When My Baby Smiles at Me," also made the grade. And Clinton Webb, in a comedy role, that of Mr. Belvedere in "Sitting Pretty," was also nominated.

This year, the crystal ball presents this picture: For the best actress, Olivia de Havilland looks like the winner. She was the star of "The Heiress."

To fill out the other four nominations will be difficult. However, it looks like Susan Hayward will be in the group again for her work in "My Foolish Heart."

Deborah Kerr may get a nomination as a result of "Edward My Son." Add Loretta Young in "Come to the Stable" as a possibility and perhaps Evelyn Keyes for "Mrs. Mike."

LIFE IN AN OYSTER

By GIL PEARLMAN Dear Reader (Optimistic little soul, ain't it?)

I had three finals the last two days. Two on Friday and one on Saturday. After my final on Saturday I had to move my belongings from the place I used to live to the place I now am living, so to speak. Well, I'm tired, that's why there won't be a full length offering today. Read the story on the liquor commission — you'll love it. I'm going to hit the sack. See you next week. I'm so tired I can't even punch the keys on the typewriter.

Yours Truly, The Man in the Shell P.S. (Write in the dark. Someone blew a fuse at The Daily Iowan offices.)

The Pantages theater on Hollywood boulevard. Searchlights galore will illuminate myth town. Since the theater seats close to three thousand persons, a good turnout of stars is to be expected.

Fashion reporters will be scurrying around like mice in a cheese factory. It is expected that a few lucky "civilians" will be able to purchase tickets to the affair.

Twins — One for All . . . All for One — The Iowan's Cartooning Conrads Graduate

If you happened to notice a pair of six-foot-plus twins receive their diplomas at Saturday's commencement exercises, you probably could spot the differences between Paul and Jim Conrad.

Jim recently bought a pair of horn-rimmed glasses to make it easier for people to tell the twins apart. Before the purchase, it was strictly guesswork.

There are other differences, but there weren't many persons on campus who could diagnose them.

For the record, Paul was a political cartoonist for The Daily Iowan. Jim was responsible for the spot cartoons that appeared in Daily Iowan humor columns.

"Who Drew This?"

Even with that knowledge, members of the Iowan staff were frequently confused. "Who drew this cartoon, Paul?" a staffer would often ask.

"I am Jim and Paul drew it," was the usual reply.

Saturday the twins, who have been together except for three-year stints in the army, headed for Florida right after the graduation exercises.

They haven't any jobs down there. Jim explained the trip, "We just have to get out of this climate. It's too cold here in Iowa."

Paul has another reason for going south. He intends to be married to Gloria Berg, a former SUI student who is working in Miami.

Going South

The southern trip might be the first leg on a trip "anywhere," Paul said. "We're enroute to no place."

Wherever the twins are going, they'll probably be going together.

They started out together on June 27, 1924 — the day of their birth. They lived in Des Moines where both of them developed an interest in music and art.

While at Roosevelt high school in Des Moines, they formed their own orchestra. Paul played the bass fiddle and Jim, tenor saxophone.

Army service split them up. Jim went into the airforce, while Paul did duty in the army engineers. Except for a surprise meeting on Okinawa in 1945, the pair was never together during the war.

Enrolled at ISC

After they were discharged they enrolled at Iowa State college, taking an architectural engineering course. A year later, they left Ames and headed for SUI.

Both of them were hard to pin down on their reasons for leaving Iowa State. They muttered something about a cartoon that appeared in the Iowa State student newspaper burlesquing high officials of the school. If publication of the cartoon hastened their transfer to SUI, neither would admit it.

At SUI — art school — they continued their musical careers to supplement their GI incomes. Paul played with Leo Cortimiglia's quintet while Jim played for Dick Tripp's sextet.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conrad, now live in Mason City.

FINDING IT HARD TO MASK their glee at the prospects of graduating and heading for Florida, the Conrad twins finished packing Saturday morning and took off for the south just a few hours later. Paul (left — or is it right?) was political cartoonist for The Daily Iowan since last June. Jim, who hides behind a pair of horn-rimmed specs to distinguish himself from his brother, drew spot cartoons for the Iowan during the past seven months. The twins are shown rolling up some of Paul's cartoons, preparatory to leaving.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF
DENNIS MORGAN tells of a conversation with a needleworker in a crowded pants factory. "I didn't always have a grubby job like this," boasted the worker. "I remember once when I was on a safari in Africa. A lion jumped out of the underbrush five feet away when I didn't have my gun."

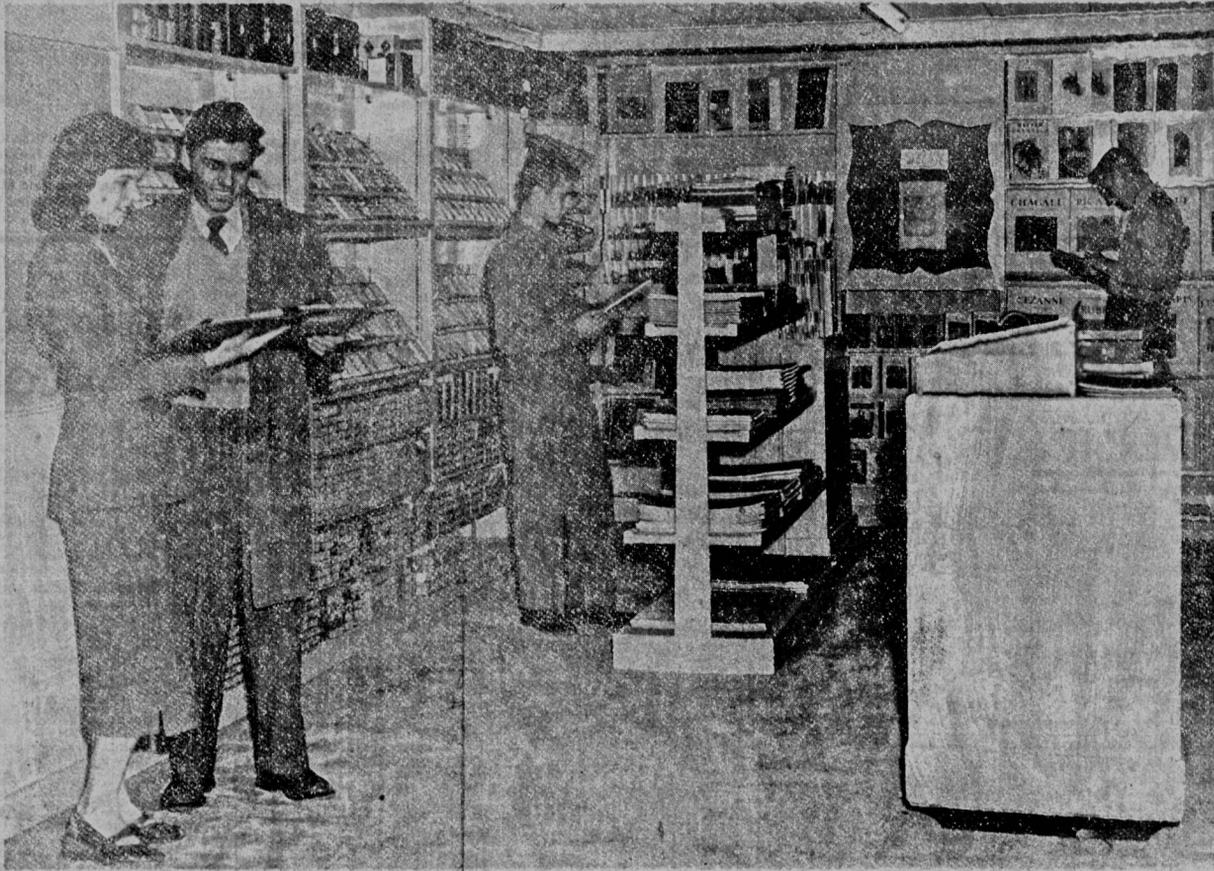

"What happened?" asked Morgan idly. "What happened?" said the needleworker. "The lion killed me, of course." "What do you mean, he killed you," snorted Morgan. "Seems to me you're sitting here very much alive." "Pfu!" exclaimed the needleworker in disgust. "You call this living?"

The Potterville Panthers had lost twenty games, and were a hopeless last. Manager McGrath was despondent. A friend, endeavoring to console him, said, "Anyhow, Jim, you've taught your boys to be sportsmen. They're really good losers." "Good!" exclaimed the manager. "They're perfect."

From Diploma to Congratulations, Then Goodbye to SUI

A HAPPY PARTICIPANT IN THE LARGEST MID-YEAR GRADUATING CLASS IN SUI history was Don Bruntlett, C4, Gowrie. Just three and a half years after he enrolled at SUI, Bruntlett marched across the stage in the fieldhouse to the accompaniment of the band in which he once played. He received a scroll and congratulations from SUI's President Virgil M. Hancher. Now a full-fledged graduate with a B. S. degree in commerce, Bruntlett also received congratulations from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bruntlett, of Gowrie. Bruntlett, a navy veteran, was used to lines when he enrolled at SUI. But he stood in his last college line when he turned in his cap and gown after graduation ceremonies were over. Bruntlett now is looking forward to a bank job in his home town, because he likes Iowa and small town life.

Describes Himself as 'Average Student' —

Graduate Reminisces About Past, Looks Toward Future

By HIDEYA KUMATA
When Don Bruntlett entered SUI in the fall of 1946, he was a veteran in a veteran-conscious atmosphere. Saturday, he graduated in commerce, just another student on the campus. The transition of Don Bruntlett, navy veteran, to Don Bruntlett, SUI graduate, is probably typical of a great many. Bruntlett describes himself as an "average" Iowa student. His "average" student days ended Saturday when he took part in the largest winter graduating class in SUI history.

In his 7 semesters here, Bruntlett has noted the gradual return of youth to SUI. "This is a welcome change. It is a return to a sort of rah-rah life but it produces more school spirit and loyalty to the school." Bruntlett is an Iowa product. He was born in Gowrie, population 1,200, in 1926. He graduated from Gowrie Consolidated high school in the spring of 1944. He entered the navy in 1944, attended the Great Lakes naval training station at Madison and served briefly in the Philippines. He was discharged in May, 1946. Those two years were the longest time he has been out of Iowa.

After graduation, he plans to go back to Gowrie. "Like Small Town Life" "I like Iowa and I like small town life. My impressions of big city life were not too favorable," he said. Bruntlett has a job in a Gowrie bank waiting for him. "I had planned to work for my father in the grain elevator business," he said, "but I heard of a resignation in this bank during Christmas vacation and I applied for the opening." Before he got the job, Bruntlett planned to do a semester of work in agriculture at Iowa State college after graduation. The GI bill and his navy pay savings financed most of his expenses here. "I worked Saturdays during my first year here," he said, "and I worked summers with a construction company."

Part of his navy savings went for the purchase of a used car in his second year here. The car costs him $3 to $4 a week to run. Bruntlett played in the band for two years and said he enjoyed the experience thoroughly. "Part of the advantage of a large university like Iowa," he said, "is that there are many cultural presentations, such as music and drama to broaden one's views. He is treasurer of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity. The post pays him a stipend which helps cut expenses, he said. Bruntlett moved to the Phi Gamma Delta house after spending his first year in South Quadrangle and his second in the Quadrangle.

Satisfied with SUI He says he is "largely satisfied" with his SUI education. "I have received a broad general background and a good insight into the field of commerce," he said. "I like SUI for the confidence it places in the individual," he said. "It is far better than some other institutions which believe in nurse-maiding the student. I do believe, however, that some instructors are misplaced. I think more emphasis should be placed on student grading of in-

The Iowa City March of Dimes campaign edged toward the midway mark Saturday with $4,123.07 collected. The 1950 goal is $10,000. Although it is still short of the 50 percent mark, it does not include contributions placed in coin boxes in the county, Mrs. J. K. Schaaf, chairman, said Saturday. The small "iron lung" containers will remain on store counters until Thursday, she added. The drive which was to close Jan. 31 will continue indefinitely, she said.

Iowa High School Vocation Training Listed

DES MOINES (AP) — Approximately 30 percent of the high schools in Iowa offer some type of vocational training, Earl R. Cope, vocational education director for the state department of public instruction, has reported. Some offer vocational training both to high school and adult classes. Others give vocational training — such as homemaking, agriculture and shop mechanics — only to high school students. Cope said he hoped more schools would offer vocational classes next year. This school year 253 of the 861 high schools in the state offer vocational classes. In the 1948-49 school year, 239 schools had such classes. Addition of agriculture accounts for most of the increase. Also some schools which previously had some other type of vocational training have added agriculture this year. There are three types of vocational agriculture classes. In addition to the agriculture classes offered to high school students for credit, there are young farmer and adult farmer classes held at nights. These usually meet once a week with the high school's regular agriculture instructor in charge. The classes are devoted largely to discussing problems the farmers bring up. Cope said a report of the last school year's activities showed 174 high schools had daytime agriculture classes with an enrollment of 6,932. Of these, 156 also had night classes for adult farmers with an enrollment of 12,697 and 29 had young farmer classes which enrolled 605.

Illinois Wrestlers Whip Hawkeyes, 19-8

Extend Jinx over Iowa Matmen to 19 Straight

By ALAN MOYER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Illinois continued its wrestling mastery over Iowa Saturday night by whipping the Hawkeyes in a Big Ten meet in the fieldhouse, 19-8.

It was the 19th straight mat since the two schools first wrestled in 1923, and the third win of the present conference season for the visitors. Iowa now has a one-and-one record in the Western conference.

Illini Lead, 6-0
An estimated crowd of 1,500 watched Illinois jump to a 6-0 lead with decisions in the 121 and 128-pound classes before Iowa could muster a point.

The only fall of the meet was scored by Bob Dwyer, who pinned Iowa's Russ Tharp in eight minutes, 24 seconds, for Dwyer's first triumph of the season. He'd lost one, Tharp, a 145-pounder, now has dropped three bouts.

Iowa's eight points came on victories by Joe Scarpello and George Tesla, plus a draw by Ken Carman.

Tesla, the Hawkeye captain, defeated Gene Kenney in winning, 7-0, to remain undefeated in three bouts this season.

Scarpello, undefeated 175-pounder and three-time Big Ten champion scored an easy 9-1 win over Gil Gaumer of Illinois. Scarpello, who has never lost in a dual meet, handled his taller opponent with ease but was unable to pin Gaumer.

Carman, unsuccessful in two bouts this year, came within two points of producing three points for the Iowa cause in the 136-pound division.

Didn't Make It
Carman had a 4-2 edge into the last minute and was hanging on desperately as the seconds ticked away, but with two seconds to go Dick Loewe reversed position for two points and the 4-4 tie. With no time advantage awarded to either wrestler the bout ended a draw.

After Carman's draw and Tesla's decision Iowa brought the score back to 5-8 but Illinois went ahead 16-8 on Dwyer's fall and a close 3-2 decision by Martin Schwartz over Miles Benda in the 165-pound class.

In the only take-down of the 165-pound bout Schwartz was awarded two points at the edge of the mat, causing a brief discussion.

Junebug Perrin, taking Joe Paulsen's place in the heavyweight class when Paulsen suffered a mid-week shoulder injury, lost to victory for the Illini over Iowa

Heavyweight—Bill Vohaska (Ill.) decisioned Junebug Perrin 2-1

Bill Vohaska in his first bout of the season.

Perrin was penalized one point for a double wristlock which the referee said was brought up too high, causing punishment. He tied the match with an escape, but in the final period Vohaska escaped for the winning point, 2-1.

Lost First Match

Vern McCoy lost the opening match of the evening in the 121-pound bout. Illinois' Capt. Bill Mann scored a take-down when McCoy appeared to have slipped and after McCoy tied the match with a reversal Mann escaped for the winning point. The final score was 5-2.

Illinois' second match victory was by Dick Picard, who won over Manuel Macias, 8-3, in the 128-pound group. Macias was able to get into advantage position but lacked the strength to turn the advantage into points.

New Intramural Series Entries Due February 7

Activity on the intramural front moves into high gear with the beginning of the second semester. Entries are due Feb. 7 for bowling, volleyball, handball, and squash. Play will begin shortly after.

The intramural basketball tournament will resume Thursday night with the continuation of the league playoffs. Each league champion will be entered in the all-university tournament which starts Tuesday, Feb. 14.

ASHBURN SIGNS PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

Outfielder Richie Ashburn has signed his 1939 contract with the Philadelphia Phillies, President Robert R. M. Carpenter said Saturday.

IOWA'S 155-POUND WRESTLER, Russ Tharp (right), attempts to escape the hold of the Illini's Bob Dwyer by rolling off the mat as the referee looks on. Tharp was later thrown in 8:24. Illinois went on to win, 19-8, in Saturday night's Big Ten dual meet in the fieldhouse.

Illini Win, 67-57; Indiana Tops 'Cats

Gophers Downed On Home Court

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Illinois used its fast-breaking superior height Saturday night to whip Minnesota, 67-57, in a Big Ten basketball game before 13,257 fans at Williams Arena.

It was the Illini's fourth victory in six conference starts and Minnesota's fourth loss against but two wins.

Gophers Rallied

Minnesota, behind most of the way, rallied in the last half to pull to within one point at 49-48. But Whitey Skoog, the Gophers' high scorer with 18 points, fouled out shortly thereafter and Illinois pulled safely ahead.

Two of the Illini's stars, Forward Don Sunderlage and Bill Erickson, also fouled out in the second half, but the Illini had enough depth to carry on to victory.

Minnesota led through the first six minutes and had its biggest lead at 12-6.

Half-time Score, 37-31

Roy Sunderlage hit two quick field goals to give Illinois the lead for good at 25-24 late in the first half. The victors led at halftime, 37-31.

Center Walt Osterkorn matched Skoog's 18 points to be high man

Guard Burdette Thurlby had 17 points and Sunderlage 15.
Top men behind Skoog were Center Walj Salovich and Forward Virg Miller with 12 apiece.
Illinois did not make a substitution until Sunderlage fouled out with 14 and a half minutes to go and Erickson committed his fifth personal with a little more than seven minutes to play.

Spartans Downed By Boilermakers

LAFAYETTE, IND. (AP) — Purdue's Boilermakers, bottom team in the Western Conference basketball standings, turned in a 69-53 victory Saturday night over Michigan State.

It was the 14th setback in 16 games for State's Spartans, who will not compete in the Big Ten until next basketball season.

Purdue closed fast after Michigan State rallied to trail by only one point, 37-36. The losers were down, 30-23, at the half.

The Boilermakers scored 25 points while the Spartans were getting eight, and then sent in the Howard Williams, veteran Purdue guard, shared scoring honors with Michigan State's Center Bob Carey. Each hit six fields and six free throws for 18 points. Dick Axness, Andy Butchko and Glenn Bahler also scored in double figures for the winners.

The game wound up Purdue's non-conference schedule. It resumes conference play Monday night at Iowa.

Cards Sign Cecil Isbell, Joins Ex-Boss, Lambeau

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cardinals Saturday snared another former Green Bay Packer star, Cecil Isbell, who signed a two year contract as backfield coach.

The noted redhead originally from Purdue university thus joins his old Packer boss, Earl L. "Curly" Lambeau, who will coach the Cardinals in the new National-American football league next season. Lambeau resigned last week as coach and general manager of the Green Bay team.

Isbell, one of Lambeau's most productive players at Green Bay for five years, had been prominently mentioned as the successor to Lambeau as coach of the Packers.

Fuchs Sets New Shotgun Record in Boston Meet

BOSTON (AP) — With his sixth and last heave Yale's burly Jim Fuchs set a new indoor 16-pound shotgun record — a terrific 57 foot, 6 1-2 in distance — in the Boston AA meet at the Boston Garden Saturday night. He replaced the 56-6 mark set by the late Al Blozis of Georgetown.

Ev Cochrane Fails ROTC; Can't Play After Purdue Game

Everett Cochrane, University of Iowa basketball regular, will be scholastically ineligible after Monday night's Purdue game because of a failing grade in Military Science.

After a newspaper account stated that Cochrane would fall the course, a source in the Iowa R.O.T.C. department Saturday admitted it was true. Grades are not officially announced until after Feb. 10.

"Cochrane had been warned early in December, in the presence of Iowa Coach 'Pops' Harrison, that he was in danger of a failing grade," the source said. "Then Col. Jenna (professor of Military Science and Tactics at Iowa) told him last week that he definitely would not pass the course."

Cochrane was a regular forward in Iowa's first 14 games. He scored 97 points to rank fourth in Hawkeye scoring. He was a former prep all-stater from Des Moines, Tech.

A university sports release this week said Coach Frank O'Connor would not start Cochrane against Purdue. The release said sophomore Center Chuck Darling would move into a first-tring job with Center Frank Calsbeek taking Cochrane's forward position.

Ragelis Scores 20 In 64-59 Setback

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana squeaked through to a narrow 64-59 decision over Northwestern Saturday night before an estimated 13,000 fans in the first game of a Chicago stadium double-header.

It was the Hoosiers' third Big Ten win in five games, and Indiana's slim hopes for the title should Ohio State falter, thus remained alive.

A close match throughout, Northwestern set the pace most of the first half before a Hoosier rally in the final three minutes carried to a 35-32 halftime edge.

The Hoosiers, who boasted speed and a tight all-over-the-floor defense throughout the contest, opened up, then for a lead which at times reached nine points.

But in the final seven minutes, Indiana nursed a five-point advantage with a semi-stall and the Hoosiers' final 10 points were all scored on free throws in that period.

Bill Tosheff dropped 12 points to pace the winners, but Northwestern's Ray Ragelis, who was deadly with his hook shots, counted 20 for the Wildcats for scoring honors.

Babe Ruth Runaway Winner In AP 50-Year Baseball Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — George Herman Ruth, the inimitable and immortal Babe, was named Saturday the greatest baseball player of the past 50 years.

The mightiest home run slugger the game ever has known, Ruth was more than a great player. This large hulking top-heavy man with the dainty ankles, who lambasted 730 baseballs out of big league ball parks, was the idol of the youngsters of America. He continues on that pedestal even in death.

Magnetic Personality
No player ever has left as great an impression on America's national game as this lusty, fun-loving and magnetic person. Starting out in life as a waif in Baltimore (Md.), Ruth became the most colorful and most lovable figure any sport has ever known.

Holder of nearly every long range hitting record in the books including the most coveted of all — 60 home runs in a single season — Ruth easily outdistanced all opposition in the opinion of sportswriters and sportscasters in The Associated Press mid-century poll.

It was strictly a two-man race between the New York Yankee slugger and Ty Cobb, American league's 12-time batting champion. So completely did this dynamic duo dominate the poll that between them they drew all but 24 of the 399 votes cast. The Bambino bagged 253 votes to 116 for the fiery Detroit Tiger outfielder.

Brechler, Blommers Talk to Out-of-Town Coaching Prospects

Two members of the athletic board picking the University of Iowa's next football coach will leave here today to tour the country if they need to try and find the right man.

Paul Brechler, Iowa Athletic director, Saturday said he and Dr. Paul Blommers, chairman of Iowa's athletic board, plan to be out of town interviewing candidates all or part of next week.

Brechler declined to say whether they would travel by air or train. There is no doubt he wants to keep the rendezvous spots with interested coaches as secret as possible.

Asked just how many names remained on the list as possibilities for the job Dr. Eddie Anderson resigned a week ago, Brechler said:

"Twelve is about right."
Several Interviewed
He said several of the 12 men, all of whom are in the coaching business right now, already have been interviewed.

Two of these, the rumor boys say, are Leonard Raffensperger, Iowa freshman coach, and Frank Carideo, Iowa backfield coach. There is a possibility that one or two more of the final 12 might have been interviewed when Brechler and Dr. Blommers visited Chicago Thursday.

Brechler again would give no hint of the places they will visit. But it now is believed somewhere in the south is definitely on the trip schedule.

"We had several coaches from the deep south on our original list," Brechler said. "But I won't say whether they're still on it."
He also would not discuss Norman, Okla., or vicinity as a possible destination. Gomer Jones, Oklahoma university line coach, still is in the running according to some boys supposedly in the know.

Brechler said he really didn't know how long the trip would take.

"There is a slight possibility Dr. Blommers and I will interview a person we are completely sold on. If that happens early in the week we may return to Iowa City without going any further."

No Board Meeting
Brechler said there has been no meeting of the five-member board staff committee this weekend. But he said there will be one as soon as they return, in order to cut the list of 12 down to about five or six.

Bucks Command Big Ten Race

Drop Wisconsin, 61-47, For Fifth Home Victory

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio State took a stranglehold on the Big Ten basketball race Saturday night with a thrilling 61-47 victory over Wisconsin. It gave the Buckeyes a 7-1 record in league play and was the second defeat in five conference starts for the Badgers.

The game also saw Ohio State's high-scoring forward, Dick Schnittker, pull in front of Wisconsin Center Don Rehfeldt in their personal scoring duel — although the average of both in league competition dropped.

Schnittker hit for 14 points, giving him a 161 total in eight games and a 20.1 average. He previously had held a 21-point average. Rehfeldt was held to 11 points on three fielders and five free throws. His average dropped from 21.7 to 19.6 on 98 points in five games.

Ohio Early Leader
Ohio State led through most of the first half after a nip-and-tuck four minutes at the opening of the game. Schnittker put the Buckeyes in front, 7-6, with a free throw and after that Ohio never was headed, although Wisconsin managed to tie the score twice in the first half at 29-29 and 31-31.

Ohio State Guard Bob Burkholder dominated the Buckeye scoring in the first half with 11 of his 13 points for the evening. The Bucks' center, Fred Taylor, saved all but two of his 15 points for the second half.

Largest Crowd
The largest crowd of Ohio State's home season, 5,701, crowded the Fairgrounds Coliseum for the important Western conference game.

Ohio State during the evening hit 24 fielders on 68 shots while the Badgers could drop only 17 of 67. Wisconsin made only five of 31 shots in the second half while Ohio State was pulling away steadily.

The game gave Ohio State its 13th victory against three defeats for the entire season. The defeat was the fourth for Wisconsin in 14 starts.

It was Ohio State's fifth conference win at home — against no defeats.

Eleven Finalists In Frivol Beauty Contest

(Daily Iowan Photo)

Scientist Discovers New Way to Figure Ages of Humans

If worry over the new radioactive bombs is making man old, John H. Lawrence of the University of California has discovered a way in which radioactive material also can measure how old man is.

In an article in a recent issue of Scientific American, Lawrence claims that by observing radioactive tracer material in a person's body he can measure his age much more accurately than with the old method of noting the condition of his arteries.

Lawrence finds that a man is as old as his ability to expell nitrogen gas from the blood. The average adult has about 1,000 cubic centimeters of gaseous nitrogen dissolved in his body fluids. This total stays constant, but there is a steady turnover as the body constantly eliminates nitrogen molecules and takes on new ones.

By having subjects of all ages inhale small amounts of radioactive nitrogen as tracer material, Lawrence determined how fast they eliminated nitrogen by counting the tagged radioactive tracers.

He found that the older a person is the slower his nitrogen turnover. It took youngsters of 15 only a few minutes to eliminate the surplus nitrogen, while persons 65 and older took as long as five hours.

Power Failure Hits 5 Campus Buildings

The power failure at midmorning Saturday which severed electrical power from SUI buildings resulted from an overload on the number four circuit, power plant officials said.

Campus buildings had no lights for nearly a half-hour.

University hall, the Iowa Union, old dental building, electrical engineering building and Macbride hall are on the number four line, L.M. Tuttle, power plant operator, said.

The overload caused the engines to stop and left all the SUI buildings in semi-darkness, with the exceptions of the hospitals. They are put on Iowa City power lines when any power difficulties arise, officials said.

Voodoo Similar to Religion

Returned From Haiti, Prof. Bach to Offer Proof in Second Semester Course

By GLENN URBAN

You may not believe it, but there is a startling resemblance between voodoo and contemporary religions in the United States.

If the reader is in doubt, Prof. Marcus Bach, assistant to the director of religion, is offering what he considers proof starting Feb. 9.

Bach announced Saturday his class "Religious Groups of America" will be presented over WSUI at 8:30 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

50 Minute Programs The 50 minute programs will be broadcast from the classroom during all of the spring semester.

Bach has just returned to SUI from a sixth month stay in Haiti where he did an intensive study of "folk religions of Haiti," which is an academic name for voodoo.

Speaking of his trip, Bach explained "My personal excursion and study in Haiti was not a SUI sponsored project."

He was granted leave of absence, he explained, to carry on his personal investigation of little known religious groups in Canada, Mexico and the U.S.

Trips Enjoyable Contrary to some reports, he said, he enjoyed his trip very much and expects to go back for more of the same some day.

As a result of Bach's Haitian study, his class will differ somewhat from earlier ones in the same field. The earlier courses were titled "Little Known Religious Groups in America," but due to the increasing knowledge in the field, the course has been changed in title and scope.

The class will begin this semester with a discussion of folk religion of Haiti, he said.

The rest of the course will follow the pattern of earlier classes, except "the interplay and correlation between primitive religions, as studied in Haiti, and sophisticated groups found in the U.S. will be emphasized," he said.

Plans to Write Book "Voodoo has a relationship to basic drives in other religions, but on a different cultural level," he said.

Although the nation is nominally Christian, voodoo is primarily the religion of the Haitian peasant, he said.

"Voodoo is an extension of African folk tradition deeply embedded in the life and culture of Haiti," he said.

Both Catholic and Protestant churches in Haiti frown on voodooism, he said, but Haitians cling to it because it offers an escape from reality and has mystical and magical qualities and a very involved ritual.

Bach said he plans to put the result of his findings in a non-fiction book when he "can find the time."

No Progress in Ending Ottumwa Bus Strike

OTTUMWA (AP) - A meeting called to seek at least temporary end of Ottumwa's six-week-old bus strike ended without accomplishing its objective Saturday.

Ottumwa City lines, whose license the city council recently revoked, took the position that it could not discuss resumption of bus service even on a temporary basis, until its license is restored.

Striking AFL union employees of the bus line refused to return to work even if the city council did grant city lines a temporary license. The employees struck for a pay increase before the company's license was revoked.

Local Woman Injured In 4-Car Collision

An Iowa City woman was injured and $922 estimated damage was caused Friday in a four car accident, police reported Saturday.

Eva Cooper, 38-year-old nurse of 913 S. Gilbert street, suffered a "possible slight concussion" in a collision at the intersection of Burlington and Madison streets, they said.

Other drivers involved in the accident were Norma Jean Hylbak, 311 S. Clinton street, John Crow, 77 Olive street, and Ralph Wagner, 1117 Keokuk street.

"icy streets" were listed as partial cause of the accident, police said.

In an accident Saturday, cars driven by George C. Parker, West Branch, and Robert L. Moore, A4, Keokuk, were damaged an estimated total of $100.

His views appeared in the February Iowa Business Digest in a forecast of 1950.

Farm price supports alone cannot guarantee high levels of demand for agricultural products, Johnson said.

Since employment and income in the United States probably will not rise above last year's levels, there will not be a bigger demand for farm products other than are now being consumed, Johnson said.

A slump in farm income and purchasing power will affect every part of Iowa's economy since much of the non-agricultural industry in the state is built around farming, Johnson explained.

The U.S. economy should not suffer any serious declines in 1950, he said. In fact, the first six months should be as bustling as 1949 was.

Unemployment will probably increase, Johnson said, mainly because the economy will not be able to absorb the addition of one million new members in the labor force.

Eight High School Girls Hurt in Bus-Train Crash

KANSAS CITY, MO. (AP)—Eight teen-age high school girls were brought to St. Joseph hospital here late Saturday after their bus was struck by a Missouri Pacific train at the small community of Little Blue, east of here.

The girls were from Hogan Catholic high school here. They were enroute to the Jackson County poor home to present a program of entertainment, according to the state patrol.

One Active Polio Case At University Hospitals

The number of polio cases under treatment at University hospitals rose to ten this week as one new patient was admitted to active wards, hospital officials said Saturday.

Morris Menke, 6, St. Paul, Iowa, was admitted to the active list in "fair" condition.

The other nine patients, officials said, were on the "inactive" list.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ACCORDING to Barry Fitzgerald, Pat Finnegan could hardly wait to meet Saint Peter when he entered the Pearly Gates. "It's a foine job ye've got," says Finnegan, "and I see ye've held it for a long time." "That I have, Finnegan," says Saint Peter, "but remember that up here we count a million years as a minute and a million dollars as a penny."

"Ah ha," says Finnegan, "and maybe ye'd be after lendin' me a penny?" "That I will," says Peter. "Just wait a minute!"
