A Soft Underbelly Begins to Show —

Dr. Harold Urey has suggested another alarming possibility. This time it's whether Russian can scare out Atlantic pact signers with threats of atomic bomb retaliation. The temptation to call Dr. Urey a scare artist is great.

However, there remains the alarming possibility that Urey may be right. He first threw a scare into Americans less than two weeks ago when he suggested in a radio talk the potential of the hydrogen bomb.

Now his latest thesis is that Atlantic pact signatories may be pressured out of the circle of friends by threats of violence or the use of atomic power to wipe out a harbor.

Specifically, he mentions Denmark as an example to support his thesis. In all probability, Urey has thought of the other Scandinavian countries but has not mentioned them.

A little thought along the lines of Urey's suggestion makes one wonder whether this could not be used as a part of an encircling move to ring in Germany on the western boundary of the west corridor.

These columns have commented before that the Soviet bloc seemed to be engaged in a unification move, like the crocodile waits in his subterranean cavern to digest his meal before seeking more food.

In the light of Urey's suggestion it appears that the Soviets may be unable to resist the temptation to add one more bite before they sink back to consolidate and digest their gains.

If this is so, then the implications of the move are more than alarming. They tend to reveal a soft underbelly the combined chiefs of staff and the defense department have perhaps ignored.

That soft underbelly is the eastern ring of Atlantic pact nations—in particular the weaker sisters who perhaps were admitted only because their presence was desired and this presence only for prestige sake.

With Russia in possession of an atomic bomb and claims being circulated she can make the H-bomb, then the chances that we will be forced out of the German occupation are great indeed.

We may perhaps remain for years, but our chances have grown measurably slimmer in the past few weeks. They will grow slimmer still if the Soviets take the step Urey contemplates.

While the United Nations still exists as a force to be reckoned with, we should seek even more to work for international control. The UN is the only remaining place where we can sit down to talk with the Russians.

Bennett May Split State Democrats —

An interesting split is developing in state Democratic politics. Polk county Young Democrats have snubbed the nomination chances of Myron J. Bennett, who spoke here Thursday night under the sponsorship of the SUI Young Democrats.

There are endless possibilities in this split, although the danger to the Democrats is not too great when Iowa is traditionally a Republican state anyhow.

Bennett seeks the gubernatorial nomination in the June primary. He brings with him to the primary race a curious background. Once a disc jockey on station KRNT in Des Moines, he was elected Des Moines safety commissioner at the last election.

This of course is nothing for or against Bennett. What will bring the storm of controversy to the center over Bennett's head is his unusual platform.

With the backing of some veterans' groups, Bennett is said to advocate selling liquor by the drink in a state that has been against such a move for some time.

Time for Brotherhood —

Once again this year, as in the past, religious-minded and conscientious citizens in the U.S. are getting ready to celebrate national brotherhood week, Feb. 19 - 26.

These dates fittingly enclose the birthdays of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, two great leaders of American brotherhood.

Perhaps the celebration is even more opportune this year for congress will be fighting over a main issue of President Truman's civil rights program, the fair employment practices legislation.

Brotherhood week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, has as its goal, the improving of relationships between all religious denominations—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—and to awaken and clarify

The question probably will arouse considerable argument on either side—especially in a university town where many of the male student population are of legal age to make their own decisions regarding the desirability or lack of it as regards free sale of liquor.

Although the charter legality of taking a stand was questioned, State Democratic Chairman Jake More gave the Polk county Young Democrats his blessing and told them to go ahead and decide whether they wanted to support Bennett's candidacy.

The group is reported to have taken the action because they feared silence would be taken for tacit consent.

The wording of their snub declares the group would not welcome a candidate who changed his party affiliation to fit his winning chances. To the casual observer it looks like the usual Iowa election, plenty of opposition in the primary with the fall election pre-determined.

ly American thinking in an effort to reduce discrimination and improve inter-group relations.

President Truman said, in a message to a brotherhood week committee, "there probably has never been a time in history when true brotherhood was so indispensable to the welfare of our own nation and to the peace and freedom of the entire world."

New York Post Columnist Marquis Childs said, concerning brotherhood week, "only in the concept of brotherhood is there any hope for human life on this planet."

The cause must be a worthy one for one of its main purposes is the upholding of the constitutional concept of equality, provided for in the U.S. bill of rights.

Interpreting the News —

Europe May Retain Purchase Limit in U.S.

By J.M. ROBERTS JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Europe's campaign to limit purchases in the United States, adopted to meet the dollar shortage emergency, threatens to become a permanent situation.

The latest report of the organization for European economic cooperation, the instrument for distribution of Marshall aid, makes this clear.

Europe's dollar deficit when the Marshall plan ends in 1952 will remain large. Then the symptom will threaten to become a system, in which Europeans will try to sell the U.S. all they can, meanwhile spending their own money elsewhere.

The ghost of such a system and its possible effect on the American economy, has stalked through the whole course of the Marshall plan. American business circles, although showing occasional signs of uneasiness, have not raised a great outcry about it because, with so much Marshall aid money being spent here, with its immediate good effects on business, the day of reckoning has been postponed.

The Europeans have even been encouraged to carry this boycott as far as they can, as a part of the price America has been paying to put them on their feet and secure their effectiveness in the cold war.

But now it appears that they are either unwilling or unable to accomplish the economic unity and financial strength which would eventually relegate such a system to the category of emergency measures.

The Marshall plan undoubtedly has been worth everything it cost from a political standpoint. But it is going to end before the emergency does.

When that time comes there is going to be clamor on both sides of the Atlantic. Although they diplomatically avoid the subject, Europeans are already hoping for—and probably relying on—some sort of a program for continued help. They will be joined by American business and labor when the effect of diminishing relief purchases begins to be felt.

If the loaned money with which Europe has been financing its American purchases is cut off and American industry is driven more and more out of the market, then Britain will have a better chance to step in. Or at least some of her leaders may see it that way.

One British leader has just said that she can be independent of dollar aid by 1942 if U.S. business continues at a high level. That means, if the U.S. continues sufficiently prosperous to purchase British goods without bothering whether Britain purchases ours.

The broad view of American policy is that by better trading methods and development of economically undeveloped peoples, sufficient markets will be created for all industrial nations.

Between now and the time such a dream can be accomplished there is going to be a lot of uncertainty and perhaps a great deal of trouble.

The American Family . . .

TO THE EDITOR: I am simply amazed by the contention of Mr. Pike that tougher marriage laws would "prevent people from starting a family." I wonder if Mr. Pike has not seen the headlines in recent papers.

Tough marriage laws would help prevent people from starting families, but would have a reverse affect upon their having children. Chance meetings in hotels and riverbanks do not make for planned parenthood.

I am a little tired of people trying to substitute some legal cure for what can only be prevented by proper home training. Divorces are made not in the marriage but in early youth when selfish parents use their children for their own ego gratification.

Ambition, self reliance, strong character are suppressed by well meaning parents who wish to stuff their child in the same mold we have always used for children, "honor your father and your mother."

A child who has been shown from early youth the advantages of marriage will be willing to work towards it, and will realize that it, like any other good thing, is obtained only through cooperation and real thought and a deep conviction that the goal is worth the effort. Unless the effect is greater than the effort involved nobody but a fool would work for what he does not want.

Marriages are not made by laws, but by individuals. Divorce is not a reflection on the marriage, but upon the character of the people involved. Build character in youth and the individual will change not only the divorce ratio, but the murder ratio, the insanity ratio, and ratio of hatred and fear in country and continent.

Allied Leaders Prepare for Communist Rally

BERLIN (AP)—Western allied leaders Thursday night laid plans to meet any emergency which may arise May 29 with the influx into Berlin of 500,000 Communist youth from east Germany.

The mammoth meeting of the Communist youth might be the springboard for some attempt on the part of the Communists to wrest control of all the divided city.

The west has forbidden parades and demonstrations in the western sectors — but May 29 is the first anniversary of the east German "People's Congress" which set up the Soviet-dominated People's Republic in the east zone.

This could provide the excuse for Communist propaganda which might be engineered out of the control of the west German police. Coincidentally, Thursday, as a year ago, the Communists once again are shouting about German unity, and this apparently is to be the keynote of the youth rally.

The American, British and French commandants met Thursday night to discuss the forthcoming event. They made no announcement. But informed sources said they agreed generally to allow the Communist youth in west Berlin by invitation of the western authorities, to see what it is like. But, the informant said, there will be ground rules — no marching, no flag-waving, no political demonstrations, no inspired disorders.

The U.S. high commissioner for Germany, John N. McCloy, will be in Berlin Friday to meet with Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. commandant. With McCloy will be his deputy, Maj. Gen. George P. Hays.

LIFE IN AN OYSTER

By GIL PEARLMAN I'VE GOT THAT OLD "beginning of the semester" feeling this week. You know . . . "Well, maybe I didn't do so well last term but watch me set the world on fire this spring!"

I tell myself I'm going to be real scholarly for a change this semester. After attending the first day of classes I see visions of burning the oil into the early hours of morn hovering attentively over assignments.

AND "FROM THE WORK as designated by my new instructors I'm going to have to try and devise some method to stimulate myself to do some work.

Now is the time, you know, when everyone stops complaining about final exams, and starts to complain about the exhausting amount of assignments they already have . . . "And the first day of classes too!"

I, PERSONALLY, am not complaining, you understand . . . mainly because I am still being stimulated by my conscience, and partially because I have little to complain about in relation to other people who do not have as desirable a schedule as I have.

ONLY ONE SMALL detail that might allow room for the beefs . . . I have a Saturday class, but into each life some rain must fall, to borrow a profound statement from a recent wartime cinema offering.

HERE IS a typical day I have to look forward to. (The thought strikes me that you might not be interested at all in my daily educational endeavors, but it is beyond the comprehension of a columnist to understand that.)

Let us take Monday, for example. Theoretically that is supposed to be the first day of the week, for Sunday, if you can remember back to your high

Valentine Desserts Enliven Menu

Valentine's day is the ideal time to brighten up the daily menu with an eye-filling dessert.

The old adage, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach," is true as long as the food is as colorful and attractive as it is appetizing.

The tradition of St. Valentine can be kept by topping off the menu with a delicate white dessert surrounded by chocolate heart-shaped cookies. The dessert is Lemon Snow, an old friend in holiday dress.

Thanks to unflavored gelatine, it is possible to use true fresh lemon flavor to give the dessert all the attraction of the natural fruit. Egg whites make the snow, and the egg yolks make a smooth custard sauce to serve with the dessert. Here is the easy recipe.

CHOCOLATE HEARTS SURROUNDING Lemon Snow pudding will pay tribute to St. Valentine and add pleasure to cooking. The dessert can be molded, chilled and served with custard sauce. Valentine's day is the season for cooks to whip up a batch of heart-shaped cookies for the families' taste delight.

on Lemon Snow pudding. The yield is 1 1/2 cups. Every cook will get a chance to try her skill with a pastry tube on the chocolate heart cookies.

Chocolate Hearts
1 cup margarine
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2-3 cup sour cream
2 squares melted bitter chocolate
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
confectioner's sugar frosting pink coloring

After creaming margarine and sugar together, stir in vanilla, sour cream and chocolate. Mix well. Stir in flour and salt and cover bowl and chill for two hours or over night.
Roll portions of the chilled dough out on a lightly floured board to less than 1/4 inch thickness. Cut with floured, heart-shaped cutter.
Bake on a lightly greased cookie sheet in a pre-heated, moderate oven, 350 degrees F. for 3 to 8 minutes and cool. Tint two cups of confectioner's sugar frosting a pale pink.
Use heart cutter on cookie, smaller than the cookie, mark outline with a little frosting then remove cutter. The outline can be filled with frosting or use a style of your own.

1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup strained lemon rind
2 egg whites
Soften gelatine in cold water. Add boiling water, sugar and salt and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice and lemon rind. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Whip until light.
Beat egg whites until stiff; add gelatine mixture. Place the bowl in ice water; continue to beat until mixture begins to hold its shape.

National Search For New Iowa Coach Moves To West Coast

Anderson Formally Signs 5-Year Pact

The search for a new Iowa football coach now has moved from the east to west coast with the report Thursday that Wes Fry, California assistant coach, was interviewed by two members of the Iowa athletic board staff committee.

Other coaches known to have been contacted are Denny Myers, Boston college coach, and Frank Carideo and Leonard Raffensperger, present members of the Iowa coaching staff.

Paul Brechler, Iowa athletic director, and Prof. Paul Blommers, chairman of the Iowa athletic board, began their nation-wide tour last Sunday with a trip to New York City, where they interviewed Myers.

Before leaving Iowa City Brechler said the final list of candidates was set at about 12 names. Two of these, it is believed, were Missouri's Don Faurot and Oregon State's Kip Taylor. Both since have declared they are not interested.

Coaches Remaining

Four of the remaining five or six coaches believed to be on the list are Larry Siemering, College of the Pacific; "Moon" Mullins, St. Ambrose; Jim Tatum, Maryland, and Gomer Jones, Oklahoma assistant.

Weekend of Sports; Eight Events Slated

Tonight is the first of a busy weekend of athletic events in Iowa City, offering eight attractions in five sports. Tonight the Iowa track team meets Marquette in the fieldhouse at 6:30 while immediately following the last track event the Hawkeye swimmers will swim against Ohio State in the fieldhouse pool.

City high school and St. Pat's will have home basketball games tonight. U-high and St. Mary's will be out of town. Saturday afternoon a newly formed fencing team can be seen in the fieldhouse, followed in the evening by the basketball game against Illinois. Monday night Wisconsin is here. Mike Howard's wrestling team meets Northwestern at Evanston Saturday afternoon.

It was reported from the west coast that Siemering was expected to be interviewed by the Iowa officials either Thursday or today. Meantime, Dr. Eddie Anderson, whose resignation January 28 touched off the nation-wide search for a replacement, signed a five-year contract with Holy Cross Thursday.

After signing the contract, Anderson remarked to friends, "It's great to be back here. I hope I can do something to help this Holy Cross football picture." The Crusaders experienced a miserable season in 1949 that saw them win but one game. Anderson compiled the enviable record of but seven losses in as many years while coaching at the Massachusetts school before coming to Iowa in 1939.

Return to East

Dr. Anderson stated that after a brief visit in Iowa City, he would return to the east to look for a home, probably in a Boston suburb.

It was indicated that Pat Boland, present line coach at Iowa, would accompany Anderson to his Holy Cross post.

Ermie Masterson, former football coach at Nebraska, who reportedly was coming to Iowa City for an interview, will have to arrange talks with Iowa officials in another location, according to two staff committee members.

Dr. Stuart C. Cullen and Prof. F.G. Higbee of the committee issued a statement Thursday saying:

"The committee has a policy of not interviewing candidates for coaching position in Iowa City unless the candidates are already residents of Iowa City."

Contacted Cretzmeyer

Masterson put in his bid through Lyell Bremser, Omaha sports announcer. Bremser in turn contacted Francis Cretzmeyer, Iowa track coach, to see if an interview for Masterson could be arranged.

"I'm as interested as anyone in seeing Iowa get the best football coach possible," Cretzmeyer said Wednesday, "so I'll certainly do the introducing."

Cretzmeyer was not aware of the policy against interviews in Iowa City, Cullen and Higbee said in their statement.

"Mr. Masterson is being informed that when the staff committee meets again, his name will be considered," the statement concluded.

Opens Collegiate Career Tonight

IT'S RUNNERS TO YOUR MARKS as Marcellus Boston makes his debut as a Hawkeye varsity trackman in the fieldhouse tonight. Coach Francis Cretzmeyer's thinclads open the season against Marquette university. The Washington, D.C. sprinter will go in both the 60-yard dash and broad jump in the Hiltopper dual.

Hawkeye Track Team Faces Marquette in First Encounter

The 1950 edition of Coach Francis Cretzmeyer's track team will get its first taste of competition tonight when the Hawks engage an untested but potent Marquette university club in the fieldhouse. The meet starts at 6:30 p.m. with the field events.

Coach Mel Shimek's Hiltoppers edged the Hawkeyes in last year's eye-opener but the vengeance-minded Iowans have made careful plans to rewrite that script.

The sophomore-studded Hawk thinclads will be captained by Dick Erdenberger, veteran high-jumper for the past four years.

Out for Record

Top billing for the dual goes to Marcellus Boston, the speedy sprinter from Washington, D.C. Boston has unofficially equalled the American amateur record of :06.1 for the 60-yard dash and has been clocked several times at :06.3 or better. Tonight he could make that :06.1 official.

Jack Davis, the long-winded Iowa City distance ace, could possibly snap the 16-year-old SUI mile run mark of 4:25.9 set by Beverly Gordon when he matches strides with Marquette's Tony Glazer. Glazer's best time for the mile is 4:25.

Available statistics seem to indicate that each team should rack up five first places apiece with two events, the 440 and mile relay, rated as toss-ups. In light of this, it appears that those who take seconds and thirds will be able to determine the outcome.

The Hawks should have little trouble in the low hurdles where Veteran Russ Merkel and sophomore DuWayne Dietz will pair up for a one-two punch. Both have skinned the low barriers in eight seconds flat, equalling the university and fieldhouse records unofficially.

Brother Combination

Russ Merkel is also a good prospect to win the tall-timber event with his twin brother, John, as his running mate.

The quarter-mile dash will pit Sophomore DeReef Greene and Junior Craig Harper against Axel Johnson and Jim Thomas, a duo rated at :50 flat. Harper's best for the distance is :51.6, while Greene's fastest is :52.2.

Hiltoppers Jerry Pfarr and John Vishnevsky could logically repeat their victories in the high jump and shot put respectively although the Hawks should come through with valuable seconds and thirds.

Jack Weik will be on hand to bolster Erdenberger in the high jump with Mike Riley and Chuck Darling welcome additions to Bob Nelson in the shot.

The 880 run should be in the Hawk column with Keith Brown, Mel Rosen, Elliot McDonald and possibly Jack Davis entered in that event.

Jack Simpson and Tom Sangster have been troubled physically and may not participate in the meet. Other Hawks entered are Jerry Nordman, Eldwin Hay, Ed Moore, Bill Bye, John Collins, Earle Duggan, Bill Snook, Don Steffen, Dean Deuel, Clair Jennett, Duane McCarthy and Arnold Caplan.

Commission May Retire Johnson from Boxing

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold Johnson, 22-year-old Philadelphia light heavyweight who collapsed in the Arena ring while fighting Jersey Joe Walcott Wednesday night, may be retired from boxing by the Pennsylvania State Athletic commission.

Johnson is in the Presbyterian hospital where a dozen X-rays of his back have been taken.

Buck Tankers Here Tonight

By DICK MAU

One of the top athletic meets in the nation will take place in the Iowa fieldhouse tonight at 8:30 when 1949's two top swimming teams, Iowa and Ohio State, square off.

Bruce Harlan, holder of 13 NCAA and AAU diving titles, will lead the Buckeyes, in quest for their sixth straight win this season. Harlan has ample assistance in the swimming wars with the visiting crew capable of entering outstanding tankers in nearly every event.

Top Sprint Teams

The 300-yard medley and 400-yard free style relays will give the large crowd which has been anticipated a glimpse at two of the nation's superior sets of sprint teams. Ohio's 400-yard crew has come within two seconds of the national record.

Ed (Rusty) Garst, Iowa's unbeaten 50 and 100-yard sprint ace, is reported to be in top shape and should spearhead the attack of the Hawkeye mermen. Coach Dave Armbruster will be banking on the points from his sprintmen for a victory over the heralded tankers from Ohio.

Two Hawk sophomores, Larry Dunbar and Vally Nicholson, will boost the team's hopes with their initial "splash" in Big Ten competition.

Ohio State's troop will reveal such tank aces as Chuck Stephanos in the 220, Jack Taylor in the 440, Herb Kobayashi, a fleet 100 and 50-yard sprint star, Jose Balmore in the breast stroke, Gordon Leaf, a backstroke, and Jack Calhoun and Hobbie Billingsley to support Harlan in the diving events.

Draves Ready

To counteract the depth of the Buckeye squad Armbruster can boast the presence of top tankers in several other events besides the sprints. Captain Duane Draves is in the best shape he has been in this season, and is expected to come through with a top position in the backstroke.

Bowen Slassforth, ace breast-stroker, should boost the hopes of Iowa with his usual outstanding performance in his specialty. Don Taylor and Jack Wilson, Hawk 440 and diving stars, should also give the Buckeyes a bad time.

Radio station WSUI will break its customary schedule tonight to bring listeners a stroke-by-stroke account of the Buckeye-Hawk swimming duel. Broadcast of the meet will be at 8 p.m. with Hal Hart announcing.

4 City Cage Teams See Action Tonight, Wilson of CR Here

Iowa City's four high school basketball teams will all see action tonight, two on home floors and two on visiting courts.

City high takes on Wilson of Cedar Rapids here and St. Pat's, after winning third place in the Davenport Diocesan tournament, will entertain Cosgrove.

Blue Hawks Travel

University high, currently last in the Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference, travels to West Branch for a league game and St. Mary's, eliminated early in the Davenport tourney, goes to Oxford.

City high will attempt to maintain its grip on second place of the Mississippi Valley loop in the game against Wilson.

Coach Howard Moffitt indicated Thursday that Jim Freeman, high scoring sophomore center, will be advanced to the varsity squad for the Wilson game and the remainder of the season. Moffitt hopes that Freeman will gain experience in the four games remaining before tournaments start.

Beaten by Davenport

Beaten in their last two starts by powerful Newton and Davenport clubs, the Hawkslets will be shooting for their 11th win of the season as compared to four losses.

Bill Fenton, leading conference scorer hit 14 points in last week's Davenport game to boost his conference scoring total to 119 and an average of 14.6 points per game.

In the sophomore game, scheduled for 6:45 p.m., the Hawkslets with a 3-5 record meet Wilson with a 7-1 mark.

Volleyball Clinic Carded For Saturday Afternoon

A volleyball clinic, conducted by the Des Moines state AAU championship team and the Ottumwa YMCA club, will be presented Saturday afternoon in the north gym of the fieldhouse, Tennis Coach Don Klotz announced Thursday.

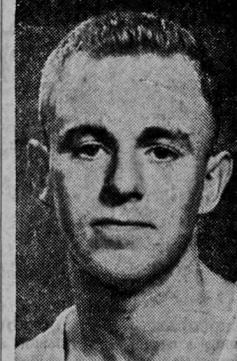

The clinic which will follow the Iowa-Western Illinois Teachers gymnastics meet is carded for about 4:30 p.m.

Like the gymnastics meet, the exhibition is open to the public.

Hawks Meet Illinois Saturday

Defending champion Illinois, the only team in the Big Ten to hold a decision over the high flying Ohio State Buckeyes this season, will be battling to remain in title consideration Saturday night when it plays the Hawk eyes.

SKIP GREENE
Hawkeye Guard

The Illini, after dropping their first two outings this season, have rallied to win the next four games for a 4-2 record which puts them in second place.

On Home Court

Iowa will enjoy the home court advantage which has been a deciding factor in the conference this season except where Ohio State is concerned. The Hawks have administered seven straight thumpings to Illinois at the Iowa fieldhouse and not since 1937 has Illinois left Iowa City with a cage victory.

Wally Osterkorn, 6-4 center, will be the chief Illinois scoring threat, and will oppose Chuck Darling, Iowa's 6-8 center who has foisted himself in the last several ball games.

Teaming with Osterkorn in the Illini scoring ranks is Capt. Bill Erickson who has compiled a 123 shooting mark for the season and a 325 shooting percentage.

Same 5 to Start

It is expected that Coach Bucky O'Connors will start the same team that posted a 66-46 win over Purdue Monday night. This combination includes Bob Vollers and Frank Calsbeek at forwards, Darling at center and Bob Schulz and Bob Clifton at the guard posts. Other Hawks who will undoubtedly see action are Skip Greene, Dick Riecks and Fred Ruck.

Bremer's First Team In AAU Semi-Finals

Bremer's of Iowa City became the first team to advance to the semi-final round of the state AAU basketball tournament in Marshalltown Wednesday night with a 46-40 triumph over the Grundy Center VFW.

The Iowa City team will now meet the winner of the Cedar Falls Amvets-Miller's Laundry of Des Moines game in a semi-final contest tonight. Miller's won the AAU title last year.

Bob Freeman paced Bremer's to its win, with 19 points. He and his mates started slowly and trailed at halftime, 22-17, but came back in the third quarter to take the lead. Don Sahr scored eight, Bucky Harris seven and Roger Finley six points.

Iowa Wrestlers Off For 2 Away Meets

Coach Mike Howard and his wrestling team will leave at 4:15 this afternoon on a two meet road trip, to include matches with Northwestern Saturday afternoon and Michigan Monday evening.

The team will be without Russ Tharp, the regular 155-pound grappler, who has dropped out of school because of illness in the family. Miles Benda, regular 165-pounder, will take Tharp's place.

John Brezina, a newcomer from Chicago, will see his first varsity action in the 165-pound division.

Only other change in the lineup from the team that lost to Illinois here last week will be the re-appearance of Junebug Perrin in the heavyweight division. Perrin was taking the place of the injured Joe Paulsen in the Illinois meet but has since defeated the Davenport 200-pounder in a tryout bout, to grab the varsity spot.

"We're in pretty good shape for the two meets," Howard said Thursday night. "Joe Scarpello will be facing two of the best 175-pounders in the league in Tom Ragouzis and Jack Powers, but probably will handle them all right."

Scarpello is undefeated in college dual competition.

The team will leave Chicago for Ann Arbor Sunday morning at 9:15 and arrive there sometime Sunday evening. The meet is set for 7:30 Monday night.

'Can't Beat Midwest' — Rox Shain Returns to Iowa

From Tennessee
By JACK SQUIRE

He couldn't keep away from those dear hearts and gentle people so Rox Shain is back in Iowa City.

Rox, a former standout all-around athlete at City high, has just enrolled at SUI after spending a semester at the University of Tennessee.

The 6-foot, 3-inch, 205-pound local boy represents some of the "official business" that annually brings representatives of that southern institution trekking through Iowa and surrounding territory.

Football All-Stater

Shain, who gained all-star mention in football and basketball at fullback and guard, respectively, was a natural target for a prominent Tennessee alumnus in Davenport.

"This alum contacted me last spring and arranged for me to be flown down to Knoxville for a football tryout during Easter vacation," he related.

"This may sound strange but I really wanted to go to Iowa more than any other place. Why didn't I? Mainly because nobody from there ever contacted me. I just figured that they weren't interested. Then one of the Tennessee coaches visited me here during the summer and I decided to go there."

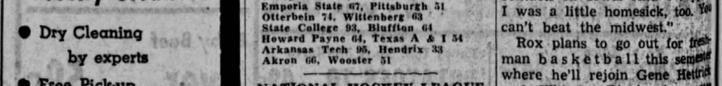

Was Successful

Shain enjoyed considerable success in his brief stay. He was a regular on the frosh football team and a member of the traveling squad in freshman basketball.

"I had a number of reasons for leaving," he explained. "I was afraid that Tennessee might be expelled from the NCAA, that it does not live up to the Smith Code. Also, I'm considering a business career and want to make contacts in Iowa. And I suppose I was a little homesick, too. You can't beat the Midwest."

Rox plans to go out for freshman basketball this semester where he'll rejoin Gene Hettrick and Whitey Diehl, teammates from last year's powerful DU high quintet. Hettrick, incidentally, also came under official banishment.

"I won't say that I was unhappy there," he concluded. "I'm certainly glad to be back. You know, there's a lot in the idea of keeping Iowa athletes in the state."

BACK TO IOWA this semester is Rox Shain (left), 200-pound football prospect from Iowa City who attended the University of Tennessee during the first semester. Welcoming him back Wednesday were former teammates at City high school, Gene Hettrick and Whitey Diehl, both of whom are outstanding freshman basketball prospects. Hettrick is standing.

Reviewer Sees — Midway Thru Nash

By TERRY RINK

Skipping from the disadvantages of riding backwards in a gondola to the advantages of middle age, Ogden Nash, writer of light verse, presented his views on various topics Thursday night to an audience of 1,800 persons.

Nash addressed the capacity crowd in the main lounge of the Iowa Union on the subject "Midway Thru Nash."

Beginning with "Candy is dandy but likker is quicker," Nash rhymed his way through an evening in which he mingled his attitudes toward life, glasses, marriage, actors and slow drivers.

His "So Penseroso" which advised "Go hence, people, go hence, go sit on a picket fence," was the climax of the evening, judging by applause.

His definition of "savoir faire" as "that ability to pick up 85 cents and a lipstick while groping for her coat over the back of the chair" had quick effects. Most of the women in the audience stood to put their coats on when leaving.

Nash gave a poetic autobiography of his life beginning with an

Parking Lots Get Four New Lights

Installation of four new lights for Iowa City's parking lots were completed Thursday, according to City Engineer Fred E. Gartzke.

Two of the lights are being placed in the off-street parking lots in the 300 block of East College street. The other two are being erected in the lot south of the community building at the corner of Gilbert and Burlington streets.

Gartzke said each light would operate at a cost of about $4 monthly. The work of installing them started Wednesday.

early sentimental poem in honor of his sister's wedding and following through to a verse which said, "that man is rich who has a scratch for every itch."

He discussed his success or lack of it on Broadway and in Hollywood. While urging every writer with a "quirk in his brain" to become a humor writer, Nash admitted that a "notable lack of talent is not enough." Luck has a hand, too, he said.

Liquor Rule Gets SUI Attention

Closer attention has been given in recent weeks to the ruling prohibiting possession of liquor in SUI buildings, Prof. Walter R. Goetsch, dean of students, said Thursday.

Goetsch spoke at the noon meeting of the Iowa City Rotary club on some of the problems encountered in SUI administration.

He said students have been asked to discipline themselves instead of forcing SUI to place controls on them.

A basic SUI policy is pointing out courses of action instead of directing the action. This allows the persons concerned to make their own decisions, he said.

Foremost problem of the office of student affairs is getting students to overcome their fear of coming in to discuss their problems, Goetsch said.

He also stressed that the university can't alter in four years the behavior patterns set in the last 17 years.

TO SHOW FRENCH PRINTS

A display of prints by the French engraver Lacouriere will be exhibited in the Art building auditorium beginning Saturday, Prof. John Bradbury of the art department announced.

Engineers to Vie In Battle of Beard

The beard-growing contest for the engineering college's Mecca week, March 13 to 18, will get under way Wednesday, Chairman W. Kenneth Rogers, EI, Mt. Pleasant, said Thursday.

This will give those engineers who detest shaving a month to be free of that chore, Rogers said.

The beards will be judged at the smoker to be held March 16. Rogers added if an engineer has a slow-growing beard he needn't be discouraged from entering the contest. Last year awards were made for the least beards, the most beards and the most distinguished beard.

Although final plans are not yet made, judging may be on a similar basis this year, he said.

Bring Employment Card Up-to-Date, Office Urges

Students registered for part-time work with the SUI student aid and placement bureau have been urged to notify the office, room 111 University hall, of any changes in academic schedule.

Manager Robert L. Ballantyne said Thursday students cannot be placed for part-time work unless his office knows what work they can do and when they can do it. Student employment cards should be brought up to date as soon as possible.

ANTHROPOLOGY LECTURE

Prof. George K. Neumann of the University of Indiana anthropology department will speak on "The Peopling of Aboriginal America" tonight at 8 p.m. in the art auditorium.

SUI Stage Milestone -

'King Lear,' a Triumph

- In Amateur Theater

By VINCE BRANN

The production of Shakespeare's "King Lear," which opened last evening at the University theater is a major achievement by almost any standards of amateur theater one might wish to devise. It must certainly go down as a milestone in the history of our local stage.

It is a major achievement because it seems to this reviewer to fulfill, more nearly than any other production he has seen here, the highest purpose of a university theater such as ours. It provides high quality entertainment with the widest possible variety of opportunities for the student actor to display his talents and work toward a professional level of performance.

play sweeps from beginning to end, the scenes fused together by an intricate system of highlights and blackouts, fanfare and flourishes, thunderclaps and lightning streaks.

The total effect is fatiguing, emotionally, to any audience, but one scarcely has time to be concerned with one's own physical reactions. The play is much too absorbing.

Time and space limitations such as these are, we are forced to narrow down our comment to a few persons whom we think are the most responsible for bringing off last night's performance with such incredibly good sense and taste. George R. Kernodie, the director, has a grasp of the major themes in "King Lear" that has evidently reached every member of his cast; they seemed fired last night with the very savagery and tenderness which, by turns, characterize the play.

His work, in molding the evening into a unified whole, is certainly matched by the work of Tom Gregory, in the title role of the tormented Lear. His performance is altogether magnificent. This, indeed, is no longer student acting, but mature, intelligent characterization that should make everyone connected with the university theater, and the university at large, be proud to have Gregory around.

The role of Lear is among the most complex of all Shakespearean roles to portray completely on a stage. He must grow from the king who knows nothing but absolute obedience into the derelict who is abused and forsaken by those he loved, until his final madness brings him a certain measure of wisdom, forgiveness, and understanding.

But we must not slight the rest of the cast, for all of Gregory's excellence. By and large, they distinguished themselves. In doing so, they have kept a sense of proportion in a play where such a thing is difficult.

In fact, set, lights, costuming - all factors converged last evening to make "King Lear" a great event. We have but one plea: give us more.
