Truman May Use Injunction Ruling Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman may be in a position today to use a Taft-Hartley injunction against the nationwide soft coal strike.

An official of the presidential board of inquiry studying the dispute between John L. Lewis and the operators said it was "almost a certainty" that its report will go to the White House early today.

This would permit a request for a federal court injunction ordering an 80-day cooling off period. Whether the United Mine Workers would obey such an order was not clear.

Injunction Useless
CIO Pres. Philip Murray and AFL Pres. William Green observed Friday, after a visit to the White House, that "injunctions don't mine coal."

They gave their views in response to questions of reporters who asked whether a Taft-Hartley injunction would get the striking miners back to work. Neither would discuss the merits of the controversy.

The two, ardent foes of the Taft-Hartley act, were at the White House on another matter. An injunction's teeth is the court's power to punish, by fines and jail sentences, for failure to obey it.

Industry Hard Hit
Over the nation the strike of 370,000 soft coal miners took a mounting toll of jobs as shortages pinched harder at industry. Coal-burning railroad passenger service was ordered cut in half at midnight Friday night, and coal-burning freight service reduced 25 percent under government order.

This will knock out hundreds of trains and add an unestimated group of railroads to the 35,000 workers already laid off in industries depending on coal.

Bonus Pay Delay Possible for 17,000

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa Bonus board officials said Friday there is a possibility that 17,000 veterans will not receive a World War II bonus until after the legislature meets next year.

The board was running out of funds. Officials said that an average payment of $370 was higher than advance estimates. Administrative costs, lowest in the nation, were consuming the rest of an $85-million allocation.

Another $5-million was needed, the board said. A total of 248,707 veterans have filed claims, but 3,000 of them were denied. Funds already appropriated were considered sufficient to meet only 228,000 payments.

The board so far has processed 203,000 claims. Authorities said the 1951 general assembly will be asked to appropriate money for completion of payments.

Actress Pleads

ACTRESS Jean Wallace is pictured in a Los Angeles court where she tearfully pleaded with a judge for probation on her conviction of drunk driving Friday. The judge agreed to order an investigation and set Feb. 28 for sentencing. A police officer testified that Miss Wallace was clad only in "black lace panties" when arrested.

U.S. Moves to Aid Far East Nations Against Communists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States struck a double blow at Communist ambitions in the far east Friday by moving to strengthen democratic Indonesia and South Korea with American economic aid.

Directors of the U.S. export-import bank authorized a loan of $100-million to the newly-independent United States of Indonesia.

The senate unanimously approved and sent to the White House a bill providing $60-million in economic aid for the south Korean republic which is threatened by north Korea.

The Korean bill, passed by the house Thursday, also carries about $10-million for economic aid to Chinese Nationalist Formosa. It was included at the insistence of Republicans and some Democrats after the administration's first attempt to get a Korean aid bill through the house was defeated by a one-vote margin last month.

Further U.S. economic aid programs — and possibly some military aid moves — may be authorized for other far eastern countries after the forthcoming policy meeting at Bangkok, Siam, of all top American diplomats in the Orient.

Give-Aways Slated In Demo Campaign

DES MOINES (AP) — Myron J. Bennett, former radio disk jockey seeking the Democratic nomination for governor of Iowa, will use the radio "give-away" idea in his campaign, it was announced Friday.

Gordon Downey, Bennett's campaign manager, said plans were "almost completed with a number of national manufacturers" to award their products to listeners on Bennett's twice-daily campaign broadcasts.

Downey said the prizes, which will be confined to merchandise and given only to Iowa listeners, will total "about $1,500 a week" with a "jackpot" prize worth several thousand dollars every few weeks.

Materials Available For Late Registrants

Students registering late for the second semester may pick up registration materials at the Registrar's office, room 1 University hall, Assistant Registrar J. Harvey Croy said Friday.

Courses may not be added to a student's schedule after Feb. 23 without special permission from the liberal arts advisory office, he said.

C-47 CRASHES

INGLEWOOD, CALIF. (AP) — An Airforce C-47 plane crashed and burned in a landing Friday night at Los Angeles International airport. Seven fliers aboard were reported to have escaped death. The CAA control tower reported that the plane was destroyed.

Wheaton President Ends College Revival Meeting

WHEATON, ILL. (UP) — A marathon revival meeting of the 1,500 students and faculty of Wheaton college ended Friday in its 39th hour with prayers that similar mass demonstrations of faith would "sweep the nation."

The example spread to Chicago, where 365 students of the Northern Baptist Theological seminary held a similar demonstration during the day and planned to continue it Friday night.

A seminary spokesman said students began repentance at morning chapel when some who had visited Wheaton reported on the spectacle. The demonstration at the seminary went on for seven hours before an evening recess.

Feared Notoriety
V. Raymond Edman, president of the non-sectarian Wheaton college, ordered a halt because, he said, "too many outsiders" had flocked to the amazing demonstration of religious fervor and he feared "notoriety."

Husky male students and sweater-clad coeds trooped back to classes after publicly confessing their wrongs and asking forgiveness in a spontaneous outburst of "testimony" that began Wednesday night.

Invites Private Confessions
Edman invited any students who had not yet confessed to go to the basement of the chapel and continue in private. Fifty men and women students went there to offer their testimony, but these dwindled to a handful as the day progressed.

The remainder attended required morning services at 10:15 a.m. in the chapel and then went to classes. They said prayers were offered that other schools would hold similar demonstrations and that the example would spread over the nation.

Grand Jury Returns OMV Indictments Against Two Friday

Ten indictments were returned by the Johnson county grand jury Friday afternoon in district court.

These included indictments against Elmer T. LeVora, Iowa City and Arvil Green, Memphis, Mo., charging operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

The remaining eight will not be released for publication until arrests have been made. LeVora and Green were in Johnson county jail without bail Friday afternoon, according to Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy.

Judge J.P. Gaffney set the arraignments for the defendants named in the indictments at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Following their report Friday afternoon, the seven jurors, who had held sessions since Monday, were released by Gaffney.

They will be subject to call during the remainder of the February court term, which lasts through April.

The grand jury was slated to hear the Robert E. Bednasek murder case until County Atty. Jack C. White filed an information against Bednasek Feb. 4.

White's information, charging Bednasek with first degree murder in the strangulation death of Margaret Anne Jackson Dec. 11, 1949, moved the case directly to district court without going through the grand jury.

HOTEL MAN DIES

CHICAGO (AP) — Ernest Byfield, nationally-known hotel man who operated the famed Pump room, died unexpectedly of a heart attack Friday at the age of 60.

Scientist Confesses Giving Atom-Bomb Secrets to Russians

LONDON (SATURDAY) (UP) — Dr. Klaus Fuchs, Britain's third-ranking atomic scientist, has confessed that he betrayed priceless A-bomb — and possibly H-bomb — secrets to Russia and early today Britain began a searching loyalty check of everyone connected with the atomic program.

Fuchs was ordered held for trial on his own confession that he passed information to Russian spies over a period of nearly seven years — from the early stages of atom splitting to the first stages of the hydrogen bomb.

Britain immediately began a security check of atom workers ranging from other great scientists to the lowest paid cleaning man and it was understood the results would be turned over to the American FBI for cross checking.

Intensify Security Check

Other sources said the security check would be intensified for all workers engaged in every phase of British defense including radar and rocket research following Fuchs' astounding revelations.

Of such grave importance were the details that they were suppressed by the court as a secret document. But they explained to British scientists Russia's surprisingly early development of the A-bomb.

In the tiny No. 3 courtroom of Bow street police court unfolded the almost incredible story of a brilliant scientist who "deliberately" broke his mind in two" between his loyalty to Britain, his adopted country, and his Communist "ideals."

Dual Life
"One of the finest theoretical physicists alive" — "a political fanatic irrevocably wedded to communism" — "a brain unique in the world of psychology" — "a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde in real life," prosecutor Christmas Humphreys said.

Fuchs, it was disclosed, asserted that he started to hold out information on the Russians two years ago when he began to have doubts about the Kremlin's tactics. He asserted also that he stopped giving any information at all about one year ago.

This angle may have important bearing on the assessment by atomic experts of the question whether Fuchs gave the Russians H-bomb secrets, it was believed.

Two GI's Confess Kidnapping Austrian

VIENNA, AUSTRIA (AP) — Two American GIs have confessed a kidnap-for-profit deal with Russian agents, the U.S. Army announced Friday.

The two snatched an Austrian last Nov. 11 — Armistice Day — and handed him over to the agents for $250, the announcement said, adding that profit was the sole motive and indicating politics never entered the soldiers' minds.

The two soldiers will be tried by a general court martial within a few weeks. The army identified them as Sgt. John Frankey, 29, Madison, Wis., and Cpl. Paul Abel, 26, Bolivar, Mo.

It convicted the two face dishonorable discharge from the army and long prison terms at hard labor.

Frankey is known to members of his battalion as a happy-go-lucky sort who likes fun. He and Abel, the army said, got a Jeep for holiday use, apparently just because it was Armistice Day, and used it to transport the victim, Oswald Eder, from his home to the hands of the Russian agents.

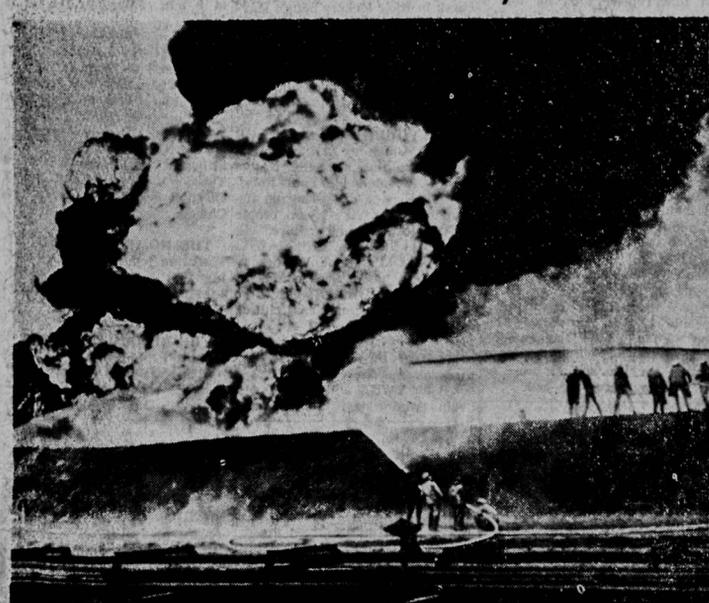

Missing Northwestern Student Wrote Letter

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — Authorities disclosed Friday that Leo M. Baker, 23, missing Northwestern university cheer leader, wrote a letter in which he said he would take a drug and drown himself in Lake Michigan.

Baker's roommate, Richard Truitt, 17, had reported that the senior from Kirkwood, Mo., threw himself into the lake Tuesday night and drowned despite Truitt's efforts to save him.

Police have not ruled the case a suicide because the body has not been found. But Truitt's story, they said, was substantiated by six lie detector tests given him.

Firemen Battle Gasoline Refinery Blaze

FLAMES OF CRUDE GASOLINE mushroomed out of a blazing storage tank at the Union Oil company's Wilmington refinery near Long Beach, Calif., Friday. Firemen are shown battling the fire which started when the 5000-gallon tank exploded and spilled its contents in a protective basin. Damage was estimated at $65,000.

Operation Rathole or Purse Strings Foreign Policy -

New evidence that we are drawing the line in the Orient as regards the advance of communism came this week in the house when congress voted aid to Korea and Formosa from the money set aside to aid Nationalist China.

Actually, it is congress that is drawing the line and forcing the state department's hand. The state department has not been in favor of this move - in fact not in favor of anything that resembles a positive move where making a decision is involved.

Rather the department has been following a program of wait and take the problems singly, a policy that has proved fruitless in the past.

State department officials warn the department will not consider any move to establish a Nationalist government in abetment set up on Formosa. They also warn they will not respect a non-Chinese government on Formosa because this would be "widely interpreted throughout Asia" as a violation of our pledge to respect territorial integrity of China.

What these actions mean is this: congress is taking a hand through the power of the purse to formulate our foreign policy. We are thus going to draw the line against communist by aiding Korea and securing Formosa to the Nationalists.

The action is somewhat strange considering the pressure American business has put on State Secretary Dean Acheson to recognize Communist China. What it can mean regarding the future actions of congress is a matter for speculation only. Probably no one knows.

There will be those who say we are pouring money down a rathole, and they may be right. We can hope to gain little by constant refusal to recognize Communist China. We have in fact accorded it a de facto recognition when congress voted aid to Formosa, the home of the Nationalist government in exile.

Britain and some of her followers already have recognized the new Red state. It would seem then that de jure recognition would be a natural result of the de facto stage. The part to watch now is the role congress plays in the future, determination of our foreign policy.

The Ancients had a saying: the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. Now it would seem we are on the threshold of proving the anti-thesis: the hand that holds the purse strings is the hand that sets the pace.

A Question for the Public -

The American people in every section of the country have traditionally been able to make up their own minds as to whether or not the conduct of their entertainers warrants censorship of their work.

Already, a great deal of entertainment is withheld from the public because it is declared unfit. This is especially true of movies and somewhat true of radio.

However, until recently works of art and productions to entertain have been judged on their own merits, disregarding actions of personnel involved.

Now, because of an international incident, certain groups have taken it upon themselves to ban a movie, not because it is in bad taste, but merely because a director and an actress apparently have not acted according to the accepted rules.

The Bergman - Rossellini incident may be grounds for suppression of their movie, "Stromboli," but this is a question for the public - not one for the churches, politicians, or pressure groups to decide.

If we were to ban all movies and books produced by authors and actors who have violated the social code, there might be very little entertainment available in the U.S. today.

Plus, Minus Disappear -

Through action of the faculty council the plus and minus grading sign (those subtle delineations of superiority and inferiority) have disappeared from the university grading system.

At the same time the council also passed a ruling that no attempt should be made to equate letter grades with percentages. An A is simply an A instead of 95 to 100 percent.

As a step toward standardizing grading practices among different professors, the action is a good advance. In the past many faculty members did not use the symbols and others did, creating lack of uniformity and working hardship on students.

In the use of curve grading "the practice in the university still varies. Some professors in large classes use it; others don't. Last semester one professor not using the curve gave out only one A in a class of more than fifty students. Perhaps the faculty council would do well to investigate the possibility of standardizing grading by the curve system also.

'Adjectived' Explosives -

The writers who have been tracing the progress of science have "adjectived" themselves into a predicament.

Back in 1945, when the first "public" A-bomb exploded over Hiroshima, they said: "Most destructive force ever known to man. A new age - the atomic age - is upon us."

But now, less than five years later, the A-bomb is a mere detonator cap for the H-bomb and the "A-bomb age" has been supplanted by the "H-bomb age."

For want of better adjectives (or are they still trying?), some writers have called the new bomb the super-bomb; others, the hell-bomb.

If science continues to rush forward at its present clip what will we have by 1960? A super-super-super-hell-hell-hell-bomb?

Interpreting the News -

Acheson Says U.S. to Adapt Force Policy

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Secretary Dean Acheson has finally come out with what has been obvious for a long time - that the United States is in a fight to the finish with Soviet Russia, with no hope of peace by agreement.

He calls Russian policy purposefully imperialistic and compares it to a force of nature. "You can't argue with a river, it is going to flow. You can dam it up, you can put it to useful purposes, you can deflect it, but you can't argue with it."

Therefore the United States has no plans for approaching Russia with any new suggestions for agreements. To Russia, says the secretary of state, agreements are merely something to formalize a fact. If Russia is prevented from doing something, then she agrees not to do it. If there is no force involved, then an agreement is only a means to her ends.

So the United States had adopted a policy of force. Acheson was speaking in reply to talk of a new effort to obtain agreement on atomic controls, and to various suggestions for "buying" Russian cooperation with economic aid.

His statement, however, has a touch of more than that. It puts the American people on notice that the cold war is a very serious and, even if it doesn't turn hot, a decisive war.

A war to be fought with all of the nation's resources. A war that is no less real, no less full of portent, than an old-fashioned shooting war.

Things are fermenting in Washington, though even the principals may not yet be entirely clear on what it means. But something more than the recent policy of containment of communism seems to be evolving.

The western world's Communist containment effort has taken an awful beating in Asia. Not even the means of fighting back in that area has yet been discovered.

In the attempt to do so, the west may move from the defense to the offense. Counterattack may be developing. There is nothing concrete about it yet. But it seems to me that there is a growing feeling that the war, will not be won nor peace attained as long as Communist imperialism emanates from the Kremlin. That democracy, instead of seeking a modus vivendi with communism, will soon be working positively toward its erasure.

Laboratory Develops New Super-Sonic Wing

MOFFETT FIELD, CALIF. (AP) - Engineers at the Ames laboratory of the national advisory committee for aeronautics have developed a new twist - a twist in a super-sonic wing that permits safer landings at low speeds.

One of the major problems in the design of aircraft that will fly faster than sound (760 mph at sea level) has been the necessity for landing them safely at slow speeds.

Engineers were able to design low speed wings and high speed wings, but the problem was complicated when it came to making a wing for both high and low speed flight.

Research here and at the NACA laboratory at Langley, Va., has indicated a long, thin, swept-back wing is best at and above sound speed. Eventually, when planes fly fast enough that shape may again change and wings will either become triangular or straight and stubby.

However, working on the theory that the sweptback wing is here to stay for a while at least, the engineers here conducted numerous tests on its characteristics at slow speeds.

They found "marked improvement" in such a wing if it was given a small amount of twist and camber or curvature.

Research on this development was carried out in the gigantic 40 by 80 foot sub-sonic wind tunnel here. Wind tunnels are measured by the area of the test section. The 40 by 80 is capable of testing full-sized twin-engine airplanes.

Stamp Scheme Cost Investors $200,000

WASHINGTON (AP) - Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson said Friday that Harold F. Ambrose's $600,000, get-rich-quick stamp scheme left seven investors holding the bag for $200,000.

As soon as postal inspectors complete their investigation of the bizarre plan operated by his former $10,000-a-year assistant, he added, they will turn over their evidence to Attorney General J. Howard McGrath for possible criminal prosecution.

"It is just a matter of deciding what law was violated," Donaldson told reporters as he left a White House cabinet meeting. He said he "didn't know" when the investigation will be finished.

Revealing details of the scheme for the first time, he said Ambrose persuaded 25 persons to "invest" in commemorative stamp issues. The idea was that they would reap a fat profit when the stamps went up in value as collectors' items. Apparently, few stamps actually were bought.

Donaldson said Ambrose collected about $600,000 but paid out $120,000 in "profits" to 18 of his earlier clients. He said that left seven of his later "investors" with a $200,000 loss.

There are persistent reports that "speculators" and "gamblers" figured in the picture somewhere, but it has not been brought out whether they backed Ambrose or were on the receiving end.

U.S. Citizen Faces Trial in Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP) - Hungary Friday set Feb. 17 as the opening date of the "spy" trial of Robert Vogeler, American business man, his British associate and five Hungarians, including a Catholic priest and a barmaid-baroness.

In Vienna, Vogeler's attractive blonde wife said the trial would be "a farce... they have already said my husband is guilty, and now they are going to try him."

Vogeler, east European manager for the International Telephone and Telegraph company, was arrested Nov. 18, with his British colleague, Edgar Sanders. Neither American nor British officials have been permitted to visit the two men since the arrest.

Indonesia Republic Gets Loan from U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States government Friday agreed to lend up to $100 million to the new Republic of Indonesia.

The loan credit, biggest in months, fits in with the U.S. policy of trying to stop Communism by strengthening local nationalist regimes over the world.

The money is to be used by Indonesia to finance purchases in this country of industrial material and equipment for reconstruction of the Indonesian economy.

The U.S. loan commitment was made by the government's export-import bank and announced by the bank's chairman, Herbert E. Gaston.

Actual advances of funds will be made as Indonesia presents the bank with specific needs.

Gaston said funds for purchase of railroad cars, trucks and the like may begin flowing in a matter of weeks but that longer terms would be required for such items as heavy machinery, where deliveries lag many months behind placing of orders.

Indonesia, an independent nation of 75-million, is faced with a major task of restoring production to an economy not yet recovered from the effects of wartime Japanese occupation.

McCloy Says U.S. to Act Against Blockade

BERLIN (AP) - U.S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy said Friday that the United States is ready to take any necessary action against the Russian "baby blockade" of Berlin and the Communist threat to seize the city "by storm" on May 28.

McCloy told a press conference that "counter-measures" would be ordered if the Russians continue their slowdown of Berlin truck traffic, but refused to say what action was being considered.

He said also that "the Communists... definitely will not seize west Berlin."

The highway slowdown remained in effect Friday, but it was relaxed considerably. German police said Russian guards at the Helmstedt checkpoint were passing trucks at a rate of about 15 an hour, compared to two or three during the worst days of the "baby blockade."

The Reds have announced plans to assemble 500,000 youths in eastern Berlin from May 27-30 for a "world youth congress."

The German Communist youth magazine "Young World" said delegates to the convention planned to take Berlin's western sectors "by storm."

Allied intelligence reported at first that the young Communists planned to "invade" west Berlin, but U.S. intelligence agents said Thursday that reliable reports indicate Moscow has ordered the Reds to avoid violence.

McCloy told the crowded press conference at high commission headquarters that "I think by June 1 Berlin will still be here, and so will we." Several east German newspapermen heard his words.

The high commissioner has just returned here from Washington, where he conferred with high American officials.

Meanwhile, Berlin Communists continued to hammer the propaganda theme that western agents are "sabotaging" rail lines passing through west Berlin.

The city's Red labor organization announced Friday that "self-protection squads" would be sent into western Berlin to guard the rails against sabotage.

American officials promptly replied that such "good squads" would be barred from the western sectors.

'Inside the Circle'...

In my year and a half at SU I've encountered a variety of courses and a variety of ways of teaching. In math skills I was told to add up problems like an adding machine. After a week in math I dropped the course and bought myself an adding machine. In biology I was faced with exams that were farces.

One test of seventy-five questions really got a laugh. The highest person in the class got forty-six right out of the seventy-five. Literature courses I've taken have covered in one semester - plays, short stories, books and poetry. The core courses here cover such a wide range that a little of everything is learned - or should I say a lot of nothing?

This is past-semester test time, so don't get me wrong, I just want to know how things look "inside the circle" and really not to be a sore-head. (And, I haven't flunked out early to avoid the rush either!) I guess I'm just going away from books, teachers, chalk smelling rooms and stuff.

Let me say that a B is a B whether it is a minus or a plus. How many times have I received a B plus and missed an A by inches! The little guy with the B minus has a B for posterity the same as the fellow with the B plus.

What about tests that go like this? CHOOSE THE BEST ANSWER... A loyal American citizen should: 1. see no evil; 2. hear no evil; 3. speak no evil; 4. fear no evil. Essay tests, too, seem to depend upon the instructor's ability to rate a person's ability. Maybe the professional colleges and advanced courses are all right, I don't know. But the elementary-level ones are mixed up. I think I'll pick up my 2.8 and leave. I'm not staying here to find out anymore!

Child Conservation Club Promotes Children's Welfare

One of Iowa City's organizations that promotes the welfare of needy children and studies child social adjustments is the Child Conservation club.

Three club officers discussed their projects Thursday morning over WSUI's weekly women's feature, "Club Camera."

They were Mrs. Allen Wolfe, president; Mrs. Harold Franklin, vice-president; and Mrs. Otis Walker, treasurer. Flo Robinson, WSUI women's director, was program moderator.

The purpose of the Child Conservation club is to promote the welfare of the children, physically, mentally and morally," Mrs. Wolfe said. "The only requirement for membership in the club is to have children and take an active interest in the organization."

Inaugurated in 1915, the local branch of the national organization has a membership limit of 10 members. At present it boasts approximately 30.

Club Customs
Club customs still followed are the men's dinner, Christmas party, June picnic, visitor's day and the tea fund.

Each year the club selects one of the most deserving needy families and provides them with food, clothing and toys at Christmas time," the president said. "We also donate to the Community chest, Red Cross and the March of Dimes campaign."

Mrs. R.P. Clark, civic chairman, and Mrs. Gordon Webster are in charge of this project.

The Iowa City branch meets on the fourth Tuesday of every month. Persons in the child welfare circles of SUI attend meetings and speak on some phase of child welfare.

Prof. Vincent Nowlis, of the social development and child welfare departments will speak on "Adolescence Behavior" and Prof. Roy Roberts of the college of education will speak on "What is a Modern Parent?"

Other officers of the association are Mrs. Lee Bader, second vice-president; Mrs. W.G. Wright, residing secretary and Mrs. Mux Olin, corresponding secretary.

The Charleston, favorite of coonskin coat and flapper set of the twenties, is "the rage" in the east now, Mrs. Walsh said.

The samba has appeared in a new form, the continued. Now it is similar to a circle two-step, with the boys facing out of the circle and girls facing inward.

Other characteristics of old-time square dances and folk dances are seen in the Cleveland Shag. In this the partners hold right hands and both the boy and girl begin on the right foot. Featured in it are crossed hands and turns under.

Richard Errington, of London, Ont., Can., instructed the group in ballet steps, Mrs. Walsh added.

"These were sedate, slow and precise like the English style," she said, "and unlike fiery Russian and Italian ballet."

Mrs. Walsh leads a busy life with her teaching career, in addition to being a housewife. She instructs 8 to 12-year-olds and high school students in ballet, tap and ballroom dancing at the Community building, and gives private lessons to SUI students as well as local persons.

Undergraduates exhibiting are Roderick Briggs, A3, La Porte City, and Mary Winter, A4, Wapello.

DISCUSSING CHILD WELFARE ON WSUI's weekly women's program, "Club Camera," are seated (left to right) Mrs. Harold Franklin, Mrs. Otis Walker and Mrs. Allen Wolfe, representatives of the Child Conservation club. Flo Robinson was program moderator. The double purpose of the club is to promote the welfare of needy children and take an active interest in the organization's activities.

Square Dancing Returns

Gone are the days of close cheek-to-cheek dancing, today's dance authorities predict.

That's what Harriette Walsh, Iowa City dancing instructor, learned at a one-day normal school sponsored by the Chicago National Association of Dancing Masters. The school was held Sunday at Chicago's Hotel Sherman for about 200 persons.

"The trend is going to be on the order of square dances," Mrs. Walsh reports. "In some new dances, at no time is a closed position used."

Donald Sawyer, famed New York dancing teacher, was principal speaker at the meeting.

The Charleston, favorite of coonskin coat and flapper set of the twenties, is "the rage" in the east now, Mrs. Walsh said.

The samba has appeared in a new form, the continued. Now it is similar to a circle two-step, with the boys facing out of the circle and girls facing inward.

Thornton Addresses Masons on Lincoln
Religion was a great sustaining force in the life of Abraham Lincoln, Prof. H.J. Thornton, SUI history department, told the Masonic Service club in a talk Friday.

His speech was in connection with the 141st anniversary of Lincoln's birth, Sunday.

Prof. Thornton said that Lincoln's mother, Nancy Hanks, gave the Civil war president a Christian inheritance.

He recalled that Lincoln said, "I remember her prayers, and they have followed me. They have clung to me all my life."

Apparently, Lincoln, as he grew, read the Bible thoroughly, for his speeches later contained numerous Biblical allusions, Thornton said.

Though Lincoln cannot be regarded as an "orthodox" Christian tied to a particular denomination, Thornton stated that religion was one of the great underlying, inspiring forces in his life.

Ohio State Swimmers Down Hawkeyes, 48-36

Seven Records Broken; Bucks Remain Unbeaten

By JACK SQUIRE

Ohio State, defending Big Ten and NCAA champions, handed Iowa its first swimming defeat of the season Friday, 48-36, before a capacity crowd at the field house pool.

It was the sixth straight victory for the sophomore loaded Buckeyes and once again insured their position as a leading national power.

A total of five pool and two Iowa records were set as the top two teams of 1949 matched strokes in the nationally significant meet.

Off to Good Start

The Hawkeyes were off to a good start with Duane Draves, Bo Stassforth, and Larry Dunbar teaming in the 300 yard medley relay to set a new pool and Iowa record of 2:53.2. Highlighting the event was the fine debut of Dunbar, Hawaiian sophomore, who edged Ohio's Frank Dooley by two yards at the finish.

Iowa's lead was short lived, however, when Stephanos and Taylor took first and second in bayashi in :52.5.

Records Fall

Records fell by the wayside in the final four events of the evening. Bill Sonner and Jack Taylor of the visitors established new pool marks in the 150 yard back stroke and 440 yard free style. Sonners' 1:35.3 was too much for Duane Draves while the speedy Taylor far outdistanced Iowa's Don Watson.

The Hawkeyes' new marks came when Bo Stassforth won the 200 yard breast stroke in 2:20 and Bob Busch, Larry Dunbar, Willy Nickolson, and Garst copped the 440 yard free style relay in 3:30.7.

300 yard medley relay: 1. Iowa (Duane Draves, Bowen Stassforth, Larry Dunbar), 2. Ohio State (Bill Sonner, Jose Balmores, Frank Dooley). Time: 2:53.2 (New pool and Iowa record; old mark: 2:53.5 by Iowa, 1949).

200 yard free style: 1. Charles Stephanos (O); 2. Jack Taylor (O); 3. George Yim (I). Time: 2:15.5.

150 yard back stroke: 1. Bill Sonner (O); 2. Duane Draves (I); 3. Gordon Leaf (O). Time: 1:33.3 (New pool record; old record 1:35.5. Duane Draves, Iowa, 1949).

440 yard free style: 1. Jack Taylor (O); 2. Don Watson (I); 3. Bunny Nakama (O). Time: 4:52.9 (New pool record; old record 4:53.9 by Watson, 1949).

400 yard free style relay: 1. Iowa (Bob Busch, Dunbar, Willy Nickolson, Garst); 2. Ohio State (Charles Stephanos, Bruce Ransom, Bob Kobyashi). Time: 3:30.7 (New pool record; old record, 3:32.1, Iowa, 1949).

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER for Hawkeye free-styler Rusty Garst as he climbs out of the pool after winning his fourth straight 50-yard dual engagement. On the giving end is Hawk Coach Dave Armbruster. The Hawks lost their first meet of the season to Ohio State's unbeaten Buckeyes Friday night, 48-36. Oddly enough, this was the same margin by which the Bucks won last year.

West Branch Defeats University High, 46-41

(Special to The Daily Iowan) WEST BRANCH — University high's basketball team fell victim of a fourth quarter scoring splurge by West Branch here Friday night and came out on the short end of the score, 46-41.

It was the Blue Hawks' tenth loss in twelve starts this season.

The West Branch quintet led all the way but U-high kept within range until three quick baskets midway in the final period put the victors out ahead, 40-30. The Blue Hawks rallied but could not close the gap.

Center Jim Vitosh, 6-foot, 5-inch sophomore, used his height to good advantage on the small floor and scored 21 points for the losers.

The boxscore:

U-HIGH (41)	FG	FT	PF	TP
Frazier, f	1	0	0	2
Miller, f	1	1	4	3

Oxford Notches 51-39 Win Over St. Mary's

OXFORD — Oxford led all the way Friday night to post a 51-39 triumph over St. Mary's of Iowa City and avenge a 29-27 loss in the first game of the season.

St. Mary's will meet its traditional rival, St. Patrick's, in the junior high gym Feb. 15.

Hawkeye Thinclads Decision Marquette in 1st Dual Meet

Iowa Runners Set Four New Marks

By EVERETT MONTGOMERY

Four records were smashed and two others were equaled as Iowa's track team trampled the visiting Marquette university team, 74 1-3—39 2-3 Friday night in the fieldhouse. It was the first time Coach Francis Cretzmeier's thinclads have beaten the Hill-toppers.

Hurdler Russ Merkel led the record-breaking attack, clipping one-tenth of a second off both the 100 and 200 yard marks for the 70-yard high hurdles of .08 (flat established by Ike Johnson in 1948. Merkel also cracked the Iowa record and equaled the fieldhouse for the tall timbers of :08.6 set in 1939.

The 16-year-old Iowa mark for the mile run was blasted in the first event as Sophomore Jack Davis strode the distance in 4:21.7. The former record of 4:25.9 was posted by Beverly Gordon.

The Hawkeyes, led by double-winners Marcellus Boston and Russ Merkel, captured nine first places of the 12-event meet.

Boston flashed through the 60-yard dash in :06.2 for one of his victories and then leaped 22 feet 2 inches in the broad jump for his second and the night's work.

DeReef Greene demonstrated his potency by winning the quarter-mile dash with teammate Craig Harper second and then anchoring the mile relay home to victory.

Marquette's huge shot putter, John Vishnevsky, gave the Hill-toppers a brief lead by heaving the weight 48 feet 5 2-3 inches but that margin was soon lost by Davis' mile win.

Keith Brown won the half-mile dash and Jack Weik's 6-foot 2-inch effort in the high jump gave Iowa its two remaining firsts.

The summaries:

Mile run: 1. Davis (I); 2. Glazer (M); 3. Wilson. Time: 4:21.7. (New Iowa record, old record 4:25.9 set by Beverly Gordon in 1939).

60-yard dash: 1. Boston (I); 2. Schmandt (M); 3. Stroud (M). Time: :06.2.

440-yard run: 1. Greene (I); 2. Harper (I); 3. Thomas (M). Time: 5:14.

70-yard high hurdles: 1. R. Merkel (I); 2. J. Merkel (I); 3. Boemer (M). Time: :08.6 (new Iowa record).

100-yard dash: 1. Mason (M); 2. Snook (I); 3. Nolan (M). Time: 9:50.6.

800-yard run: 1. Brown (I); 2. Schuh (M); 3. Rosen (I). Time: 2:00.5.

Cosgrove Posts Win Over St. Pat's, 48-44

Over the Last Barrier Sailed Russ Merkel, Iowa's Flashy Hurdler to Post the First of his Three Records in the First Dual Meet of the Season Friday Night

By JOHN ROSSI

A bad first half cost St. Patrick's a basketball game here Friday night as it lost to Cosgrove, 48-44.

The Shamrocks tried to make a game of it in the final quarter but Cosgrove had built too large of a lead for St. Pat's to overcome. At one time in the fourth quarter Cosgrove led St. Pat's, 38-20.

In the final two minutes, the Irish, led by Center Tom Falls, Forward Earl Cooney and Guard Alvin Streb, scored 13 points while holding Cosgrove to only one point.

This splurge netted St. Pat's as many points as it made the first half. Falls led the attack in the last minutes scoring four field goals.

The Irish started the game as if they were going to roll away from the Muskies in quick fashion with Falls scoring a tip-in in the first few seconds. But Cosgrove's man-to-man defense began puzzling the Shamrocks and proved to be practically invincible for three quarters.

Have You Heard? — Myers, Fromhart, Raff Lead Iowan Coach Poll

By JOHN HOLWAY

Who's going to be the new coach? Your Daily Iowan poll once again has swung into action to bring you the answer to this gripping question.

After an exhaustive canvass of the entire community (during which 27 students were interviewed) the line-up reads: 1. Denny Myers of Boston college (six votes).

2. Leonard Raffensberger, Iowa freshman coach (five votes). 3. Don Faurot of Missouri (four votes). 4. Sid Luckman, Chicago Bears player (three votes). 5. Herb and assorted votes for Frank Carideo of Iowa, Wes Fry of Cal. and Herb Cormack of Iowa State.

Wally Fromhart's support came as a surprise. In fact, a whole nest of Dubuque students voted a straight Fromhart bloc.

Bill McGovern fired the first gun. "Wally can get more out of any man than any other man could get," he said slowly and emphatically. And then he called over Dick Leonard for more testimony.

Dick used to play halfback under Fromhart on the undefeated Loras squad of 1947, and pointed to Wally's record — 17 wins, one loss in his first two years of college coaching with the Dubuques.

Dick's brother Bob got so interested he left his pinball game and added that Eddie Anderson and Gus Dorais of the Detroit Lions both began their college coaching at Loras and, like Wally, turned out undefeated teams their first year there.

Joe Lindsey and Ray Beresford were drawn into the discussion, and upon much urging from the others said that Fromhart had been an All-American for Notre Dame, again like Anderson and Dorais.

Denny Myers, the Boston college mentor from Sioux City, had steady support throughout the poll-taking.

"He always plays a wide open game," Don Bauer said in registering his vote. "He's the Matty Bell type — And he's a former Iowa grinner; that's always nice."

Gene Marchi agreed. "I think it should be an Iowa man," he said before getting specifically to Myers. And Chic Young pointed to Myers' "darn good record at Boston college."

"I've seen his teams play quite a bit," said Grant Moen of Raleigh, N.C., "and I'd like to see Myers get in."

Bill Crow had at least a dozen reasons why Leonard Raffensberger filled the bill better than anyone else. "He's the best man for the job," he began simply, warming up fast.

Bill played under "Raff" at East Waterloo four years ago and he was downright fervent in his praise. "He has support in the state. He's going to bring the best boys in the state to Iowa, kept talent in the state," Bill said.

Then he told about the time "Raff" went into a game with the cross-town rivals, West Waterloo, 4-1 underdogs. Days before the game, he revealed nine of his 11 starters from the team for rules infractions. Then "Raff" went out and won that game.

"That's the kind of fellow 'Raff' is," Bill said. "You just can't beat a guy like that."

Don Faurot of the Missouri Tigers got some indefinite support. Roy Zings said, "I just think he's got a pretty good chance."

"From what I've read," said Al Arkin, "they seem to be pushing him more than anyone else. He seems to be the biggest name on their list of coaches."

Sid Luckman got only three votes, but his supporters had some definite views on the subject.

"He's well acquainted with the T-formation, and he's pretty smart about football," Milt Pomeroy observed.

"You would be taking a chance on him for head coach," admitted Chuck Glatly, "but we need somebody who can develop a quarterback."

Jim Callahan agreed. "He helped out Johnnie Lujack a lot," he said, "and he would be the type to get around the faculty and students and talk a lot — really help out the school spirit."

Well, that's some of the talk you hear around town. We hope the Iowan poll has been able to help you and that now you can go out and tell your friends who the new Iowa coach is going to be.

City High Trips Wilson, 65-55

After a blistering first half in which the lead changed hands 10 times, City high opened the throttle another notch to whip Wilson of Cedar Rapids here Friday night, 65-55.

Even in defeat Wilson must have set some sort of a record when the Ramblers sank their first 17 free throws without a miss.

By slightly more than three minutes of playing time remaining, Bernie Berger broke the string at 18. This didn't upset them however as four more were converted before the game ended.

With the exception of shoes, the lost and found department on the first floor of Old Dental building has everything from red flannel pajamas to I.D. cards.

Although the department cannot recover lost grade points, they have been successful in returning valuable articles.

On one occasion a $50 or $60 dollar watch was returned to its owner. However, numerous articles will remain unclaimed, according to Dick Levitt, A2, Des Moines, director of the lost and found department.

Gloves, several pairs of glasses, jackets and textbooks have been turned in to the office. In fact, Levitt said, articles in the office now must be disposed of before Tuesday in order to make room for incoming articles.

A small library might be set up from the amount of books accumulated the first semester. The books now fill two rows of shelves and are about to fill a third.

Humorous Articles Many humorous articles have been turned in to the office. A pair of red flannel pajamas were found recently, but have not been claimed. A pair of children's gloves also remain unclaimed. However, a baby sweater was turned in and later called for.

One article has Levitt stumped. It closely resembles a shawl but with a little imagination it could be almost anything.

A cigarette lighter, fraternity pins, I.D. cards, sweaters, and stocking caps that have been lost during the semester may be claimed by the owner identifying and picking them up in the lost and found department.

The department is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity in cooperation with the student council.

Office hours for the department are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. daily.

Council Discusses Student Congress

The student council met Thursday night to discuss the advisability of organizing a student congress at SUI.

Several ideas concerning the plan were presented by members of the council, but no definite action will be taken until the next council meeting Thursday.

Basically, the question before the group was what, specifically, would be the advantage of a congress over the present system and how the body would operate.

The proposed congress would facilitate closer co-operation between the council and other groups on campus.

Landlord-Tenant Problems Get Consultant's Personal Attention

The job of the landlord-tenant consultant at the local rent office is to help tenants and landlords to understand their rights and obligations, T. J. Wilkinson, area rent director, said recently.

The position of consultant was authorized by congress in the current federal law, which also outlines the rights and obligations of tenants and landlords.

Leo Wellik, local landlord-tenant consultant, is at the Iowa City rent office, 102 S. Clinton street, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Wilkinson said that the consultant, through contacts with tenants and owners, learns ways of improving rent office service to the public.

"Because of personal handling of tenant and landlord matters by a consultant," Wilkinson said, "our procedures and decisions can be kept more in line with the actual problems faced by those in this community who are affected by the rent law."

He added that tenants sometimes have hesitated to find out about new rent law provisions that might benefit them.

Tenants, Owners Benefit "Now that word has gone around that someone at the rent office has the special duty of helping callers unravel their problems," he said, "an increasing number of persons have indicated their appreciation of this service."

The consultant tries to help a tenant who is facing eviction, seeking restoration of reduced services, applying for rent reductions or for refund of overcharges or planning to take court action on his own initiative in cases of overcharge or other rent law violations.

Wilkinson said that the consultant also tries to help a landlord who wants a rent increase, who wants to gain possession of a rental dwelling he owns or who plans changes in his property that would justify either an increase in the ceiling rent or decontrol.

Congress created the position of consultant, Wilkinson said, because some persons owning only a few rental properties seemed reluctant to apply for rent increases. "These persons were hesitant merely because they did not understand the necessary steps they had to take, he said.

Quote Prof. Wylie As Favoring Way To Combat Hysteria

Prof. C. C. Wylie, SUI astronomy department, was quoted on a national radio news roundup Thursday night as favoring a program of mobilizing scientific fact to prevent "cold war hysteria."

Such phenomena as the "flying saucer" scare should be debunked, he said.

Wylie said such scares unnecessarily increase Americans' fear of invasion or attack by potential enemies in "this cold war era."

National attention has been focused on Wylie's idea that Americans should be able to have explained promptly some of the little-known conditions that seem to be dangers but which actually are not.

Wylie said Friday that "we should have an organization of scientists on a national scale who could explain common phenomena that give rise to mass panic."

Wylie said he has shown friends here how the reflection of sunlight on a distant airplane window can cause the craft to seem to fade into silvery round specks or "flying saucers."

One of his students, a former member of a flying squadron in World War II, said his squadron took off to "shoot down the planet Venus" during a daylight hour.

If more people knew that the planet can be seen in daylight, there would be fewer such mistakes and alarms, Wylie said.

Engineer to Open Dam Bids April 1

Bids will be opened on the second construction phase of the Coralville flood control dam about April 1, Lt. Col. H.K. Howell, Iowa City area army engineer, said.

The second phase will be located four miles north of Iowa City. This includes the water outlet works which will be built at the base of the east end of the dam.

This phase also includes rock excavation for the stilling basin which will slow down the discharged water, preventing damage to other portions of the dam nearby.

Other major construction work planned for this year is the relocation of Highway 218 and the Grandic railway right-of-way 11 miles northwest of Iowa City, Howell said.

Relocation work may begin by late summer of this year, he said, depending on a congressional appropriation for this fiscal year.

Honorary Engineers Elect New Officers

Ellsworth Brown Jr., E4, Iowa City, was elected president of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering society, at a meeting held Wednesday.

Robert Stooker, E4, Kansas City, retiring TBP president, reported that other officers elected for the spring semester were:

Francis Springer, E3, Iowa City, vice-president; Wayne Johnston, E4, Lockport, Ill., recording secretary; Raymond Tingleff, E4, Oak Park, Ill., treasurer; David Simmons, E4, Iowa City, corresponding secretary, and Robert Hartsoek, E4, North Liberty, cataloger.

Lower Enrollment Increases Housing

More off-campus housing for SUI students followed in the wake of the second semester enrollment drop.

Richard E. Sweitzer, counselor for married and foreign students, Friday said between 100 and 200 housing vacancies now are available in and around Iowa City.

Most of these vacancies are for single students, Sweitzer said. Several of them also are located a considerable distance from the campus, due to previous occupants moving closer as apartments were vacated by February graduates.

Study Indicates DP Settlement Generally Successful in Iowa

Settlement of European displaced persons in Iowa generally has been successful to date and may set a pattern for immigrant-minority conditions in the United States. This is the conclusion of Samuel W. Byuarm, SUI sociology professor, who studied the relocation of Iowa's DP's for his M.A. thesis.

Of the 125 cases he rechecked, Byuarm found that for the most part DP's are happy in their new homes and are well-liked by Iowans with whom they come in contact. Byuarm said DP's are being distributed throughout the state in line with an individual relocation plan which is superior to the "mass immigration" communities, which often are in heavy concentrations in particular areas.

The relocation plan reduces the tendency of immigrants to retrace former cultures and creates a suspicion in the community.

The present procedure, which is sponsored by an American individual or organization, is superior to the "mass immigration" communities, which often are in heavy concentrations in particular areas.

The sponsor arranges housing and employment for the DP and rechecks his admission on this basis. The 1948 displaced persons act prohibits DP's from being employed by Americans of housing or employment, so the sponsor must be able to provide vacancies for them.

They are prepared for life in this country by schools operating in DP camps which teach about America. These schools dispel the Hollywood-inspired glamour about America and give the DP's a realistic idea of his new life here.

Byuarm said Iowa is particularly well suited to the acceptance of a large number of DP's due to its agricultural economy and relative availability of rural jobs. Few non-agricultural DP workers have settled in the state, due to the small demand for their services.

Byuarm's study covered about one-fourth of the DP's admitted to Iowa prior to last September, when he concluded his interviews. Several hundred have been admitted since.

Byuarm found the largest ethnic group of Iowa DP's were Polish, with Latvians and Estonians next in order.

New Polio Cases Raise Number to 6

The number of active polio cases in University hospitals rose to six with the admission of three new cases, hospital officials said Friday.

Admitted were Jean Phelps, 4, Hillsboro, and Jerry Abolt, 15, both in "serious" condition, and John Holland Jr., 17, Melton, in "fair" condition.

The other active cases are Dr. John Tudor, resident in University hospitals' department of urology, Ann Steffensmeier, 13, Salem, and Morris Menke, 6, St. Paul, Iowa, all in "fair" condition.

Mountaineers Offer New Zealand Film

The Iowa Mountaineers will continue their series of adventure travelogues at 8 p.m. Sunday with a color movie on "Amazing New Zealand" in Macbride auditorium according to Mountaineer officials. Bathie Stuart, world traveler, lecturer and Maori folklorist, will present the film showing the scenic coastline, mountains and cities of New Zealand.

Miss Stuart grew up in New Zealand and "has been an important figure in affairs of the Dominion throughout her career," officials said.

Auckland, in northern New Zealand, and Wellington, the capital city of the islands, are two of the cities that will be pictured. Geysers, steaming pools and glaciers are other features of the film.

Coal Shortage Hits 2 Iowa City Trains

Trains 5 and 14 between Des Moines and Omaha have been discontinued because of a government order curtailing coal consumption, according to Frank Meacham, passenger agent for the Rock Island Lines. The order went into effect at 11:59 p.m. Friday.

Library Steel Work Reaches Completion

The American Bridge company, steel erectors for the new SUI library, completed their project and left Iowa City Friday, construction Superintendent Clarence Casey said. Temporary office buildings, office equipment and a crane with 125-foot boom will be shipped by rail to Gary Ind.

Steel erection started on the library Nov. 21, 1949.

Materials that went into the building included 833 tons of structural steel and 16,000 rivets. Employees sent here by the American Bridge company will go to other company jobs throughout the United States and local steel workers will be sent to their homes, Casey said.

Plating for the third floor and the attic of the library now is being laid, Casey said. Forms are being built for the pouring of concrete on the cross-beams of the first floor.

Jobs for Students Open in Iowa City

Baby-sitting jobs for women and odd jobs for men are available in Iowa City for students who want to work part time, Robert L. Ballantyne, SUI student aid and placement bureau, said Friday.

Ballantyne urged women students who are willing to baby-sit to notify his office, 111 University hall, of their free time and academic schedules.

Men who wish odd jobs also were asked to notify the placement bureau and take advantage of work which will be offered throughout the semester.
