'Shooting' of British Admiral Linked to Dr. Fuchs Probe

LONDON (AP) — The British director of naval intelligence raised a furore Saturday — soon quieted by Scotland Yard and Uxbridge police — with a report that gunmen had shot at him from a speeding car.

What Rear Adm. Longley Cook thought were bullets which smashed his windshield was only stone, police authorities suggested. Moreover, the owner of the mysterious car "has been seen" and "everything is all right," they reported.

Adm. Longley-Cook created the sensation in the midst of a nationwide counter-espionage checkup touched off by the Fuchs atom spy case. He reported that two bullets from an American-made sedan crashed through his windshield as he and Mrs. Longley-Cook were driving on the main street of Uxbridge, on London's northwestern outskirts.

COOK

Biggest Drive
Only a few hours before it had been reported that Scotland Yard and operatives from MI-5, the special branch of military intelligence concerned with counter-espionage, were engaged in their biggest drive since the war in checking up on the past histories of the thousands of workers engaged in atomic research.

This was reported a day after the preliminary hearing for Dr. Klaus Fuchs, German-born scientist, who was said by the prosecution to have confessed giving Soviet Russia the most vital atomic secrets of the United States and Britain since 1942.

Fuchs in Prison
It was not known whether Adm. Longley-Cook is engaged directly in this counter-espionage drive, but it was assumed he would be in charge of security for an atomic development related to the admiral.

Meanwhile Dr. Fuchs was back in bleak Brixton prison Saturday, sitting out the long hours before his trial Feb. 28.

The bespectacled Fuchs, who came to be regarded as a genius in atomic theory, appeared to have laid the groundwork for a plea of temporary insanity after outsmarting Scotland Yard and the FBI for seven years.

Guitarist to Perform At City High Tuesday

The Iowa City Civic Music Association will present Andres Segovia, guitarist, at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in the City high school auditorium, Pres. Dan Dutcher said Saturday.

The time of the performance was changed from 8 p.m. to enable SUI music students in classes that night to attend the concert, Dutcher explained.

Segovia's repertoire includes Rameau, Bach and Hadyn, several works written especially for the guitar, and numbers based on popular Spanish dance rhythms.

Tuesday's concert will include a sonata by Scarlatti, "Prelude and Gavotte" by Bach and "Fandango" written by Turina for Segovia, Dutcher said.

Segovia lives in Montevideo, Uruguay, and comes to this country each winter for a concert tour.

Dancing Girls

Janus' Mother-in-Law To Look 'em Over

CHICAGO (AP) — Christopher Janus said Saturday his mother-in-law will take a trip to Egypt and "look over" the 12 Egyptian dancing girls he inherited.

Janus, a wealthy importer, said his wife still is cool to the idea of "importing" the girls to his country. He said his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jeffrey Short, will give him her opinion after she sees the Egyptian lovelies.

"It will be a mother-in-law's opinion," Janus said, "but I guess maybe it will help me decide what to do."

"I talked to the foreman on the plantation in Egypt by phone," Janus said, "and he said the girls are anxious to come."

"They're lovely beautiful girls, and they have sent me pictures of themselves. Three of them have passports."

But Janus said if the girls came, they would be something of a problem. "Their ways of living are simple," he said. "They don't understand English and they are used to Egyptian food. They might not like American food."

Janus said acquaintances have suggested that he put them in a show, a sort of "Egyptian Follies."

Janus said his brother "doesn't want anything to do with them. He's fed up with the whole deal, and would rather bring over the camels we inherited," Janus said.

Fog of Cold War Thickens in Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet Russia and the western powers exchanged new accusations of bad faith in Berlin Saturday night. Each side charged the other with an illegal embargo on interzonal German trade. Both thickened the fog of cold war.

The United States, British and French commandants complained that the Russians were stopping scrap metal shipments from west Berlin to western Germany in violation of their pledge at the Paris foreign conference last spring to restore normal movement of goods.

Russia's grievance against the allies was summed up by Trade Commissioner Joseph Orlopp and Information Chief Gerhart Eisler of the east German government.

Eisler told a news conference that the west German republic's recent embargo on steel exports to the eastern zone was a "new blockade attempt, an Anglo-American initiative, with the support of Adenauer who love the hydrogen bomb." (Dr. Konrad Adenauer is west Germany's chancellor.)

CARS DAMAGED
An automobile accident Saturday on Bloomington street in front of Mercy hospital caused $56 estimated damage, police said. Damage to the car driven by John A. Cahill, West Branch, was estimated at $25, and the car driven by Mrs. A. P. Orrick, Cedar Rapids, was damaged an estimated $31.

Ten County Taverns Raided; Confiscate Gambling Devices

Alleged gambling devices were confiscated in three of 10 Johnson county taverns raided Friday night by County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy.

The sheriff, Deputy Sheriff Don Wilson, and two special deputies confiscated three punchboards and six jars of chance.

They inspected taverns in Oxford, Tiffin and Coralville. The three places where gambling devices were picked up, all in Oxford, were the Town Pump — two punchboards and two jars, the Town Tavern — two jars and one punchboard, and the Schlitz tavern — two jars.

County Atty. Jack C. White said Saturday noon that informations would be filed against the establishments "as soon as it is practicable."

Murphy's move, which was in cooperation with State Atty. General Robert E. Larson's statewide crackdown on gambling, started at 7 p.m. Friday.

The seven establishments where no gambling devices were found were the Alibi tavern, Oxford; Club 88, the Lark tavern, Brown's tavern and an unidentified place two blocks south on highway 6, Tiffin; the Wagon Wheel tavern and the Steak house, Coralville.

The seized devices were retained in the sheriff's possession to be used as evidence against the owners, Murphy said.

Mervyn E. Runner, 302 Huston avenue, will receive the degree of doctor of philosophy Sunday from the graduate school of the University of Pennsylvania.

History Instructor Dies at U-Hospitals From Heart Condition

Instructor Joseph Stephens of the SUI history department died at 5 a.m. Saturday at University hospitals.

Stephens, 27, apparently had suffered a heart attack and was taken to the hospitals from his Coralville home.

Funeral arrangements were made with Perry funeral home in Hampton, SUI officials said Saturday.

Received Degrees Here
Mr. Stephens received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from SUI and had been an instructor in the history department for two and one-half years.

Prof. George Mosse of the history department said: "The death of Joseph Stephens is a great loss to the course, (Western Civilization). He was an excellent teacher and a scholar of rare promise and ability."

Popular Teacher
"Joseph Stephens was a student of brilliant intellectual ability and a highly successful and popular teacher in the Western Civilization core course," Prof. William Aydelotte, chairman of the department, said.

"His death came at the outset of what promised to be a distinguished career. He will be deeply mourned by his many friends in this community."

Mr. Stephens is survived by his wife, Eunice.

Council to Meet Monday; Adjourn Till Wednesday

The Iowa City council will gather at 7:30 p.m. Monday for its regular monthly meeting but will adjourn until Wednesday, Mayor Preston Koser said Saturday.

The council cannot transact business Monday because the day is a legal holiday, observing Lincoln's birthday, Koser said.

City Clerk George J. Dohrer and City Engineer Fred E. Gartze said Saturday that their offices would be closed Monday. Other city hall offices, Johnson county courthouse offices and Iowa City banks also will be closed.

Lewis Orders Striking Miners Back To Work

A Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde?

PONTIAC, MICH. (AP) — John L. Lewis demanded Saturday that striking coal miners go back to work. He said the walkout was "pointless." "I've been suffering all winter," he said. "You just can't buy coal around here. Lewis is 73 years old and blind. "I don't see any need for this strike," he said. "It should be brought to a conclusion immediately."

No Direct Peace Bid To Russia: Connally

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex) of the senate foreign relations committee said Saturday the United States "at an appropriate time" may try to reach agreement with Russia on control of atomic weapons.

This move probably would be made through the United Nations, he said, and not as a direct peace bid from the United States to the Soviet government.

Reviewing Foreign Policy
The veteran Texan told reporters he understood the state department now is reviewing the entire sweep of American foreign policy.

Connally made it clear that he strongly supports the policy of confronting Russia with power which has been set forth by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

But he insisted their decision to make no new offers to Russia on control of atomic and hydrogen weapons has not closed the door to international agreement.

Means Nothing
Acheson said that agreements as such means nothing to the Russians, that they adjust themselves only to strength, and that the United States' concern is to create strength in weak spots side what to do."

President Truman indirectly turned thumbs down at his weekly news conference on the proposals by Senators Brien McMahon (D-Conn) and Millard Tydings (D-Md) for a new approach to an understanding with Russia. The President said this government will stand on the Baruch plan for international control and inspection of atomic weapons. The Russians have rejected this proposal.

Both McMahon and Tydings have indicated to reporters they do not consider the issue closed by the President's statement.

Superstition

Foiled Lincoln Speech Here in 1856

Because of a superstition, Abraham Lincoln would not come to Iowa City.

According to a 1925 issue of The Daily Iowan, in July, 1856, when the capitol of Iowa was located here, Governor Grimes extended an invitation to Lincoln to make a public address in Iowa City.

According to the article, Grimes received a letter from Lincoln who was in Springfield, Ill.

Superstition Short-Lived
The letter read: "I am superstitious. I have hardly known a party preceding an election to call in help from a neighboring state. Generally, it seems to stir up more enemies than friends."

However, his superstition was short-lived for he spoke in Grimes hall in Burlington on Oct. 8, 1858, about two years after he had refused to come here.

Known for Sloppy Dress
Lincoln was known for his sloppy dress. The Daily Iowan article reads, "He entered Burlington with a small newspaper package under his arm. He handed it to the hotel clerk with the admonition to 'take good care of it' since it was his 'boiled shirt!'"

Although Lincoln never did come to Iowa City he delivered an address in Council Bluffs in the fall of 1859. This was the last trip that Lincoln ever made to Iowa.

However, his opponent, Stephen A. Douglas, spoke in Iowa City during the 1860 campaign.

One Lives, One Dies in Freak Air Mishaps

By UNITED PRESS
One lived and one died.

They were the same age. They had the same type of job. They were involved in similar freak airplane mishaps.

But luck was on the side of one of the men and the other plunged 10,000 feet to his death. Pan American Airways flight steward John Harris, 28, was tucked through an open Boeing stratoscruiser door over Long Island, New York, 20 minutes from the end of a trans-Atlantic crossing.

Search crews still were looking for his body.

Dangled Upside Down
Eastern airlines steward Marc Fisher-Galati, 28, also was drawn through an open airplane door. His hand and foot caught in door chains, however, when the DC-3 was at 2,000 feet over Tampa, Fla., bay.

He rode to safety dangling upside down like a tassel. A few scratches were his only injuries.

Luck was on the side of eight other men involved in air mishaps. In Los Angeles, seven men hit a telephone pole and a fence. Nose Catches Fire

The nose of the plane caught fire, but the pilot and crew escaped.

Frank Hemingway, 26, owed his life to a guiding airliner and a helpful Pittsburgh control tower. They got his light plane down through an overcast to a safe landing on about a gallon of gasoline.

Search crews looked, meanwhile for a missing navy PBM Martin Mariner flying boat which disappeared with nine men aboard Friday on a flight over the Gulf of Mexico.

The hunt for the army C-54 transport missing in the Canadian Rockies for 16 days was resumed in full force after faint radio signals were heard from the area in which the plane was believed to have disappeared with 44 persons aboard.

Recommend Bicycling To Reduce Advise Proper Diet If Pedaling Fails

See the beauty of the SUI campus on a bicycle and lose weight at the same time.

That's a suggestion worth following for overweight coeds.

Although walking is a simple way to reduce, one must walk seven miles briskly to lose a single pound — no window shopping — whereas on a bicycle a shorter distance can be covered and in less time accomplish the same result.

Since skirts will be shorter this summer, it will be possible to shorten last summer's skirts and dresses. That is, if you can get into them. Most women gain a few pounds during the carefree winter months.

Favor Bicycling
For the lucky ones who have put on just a few pounds, an enjoyable reducing method is to exercise it away. Learn how to ride a bike. It's much more fun than walking.

In favor of bicycling, too, are the arguments that so many parts of the body are benefited. Leg muscles, for instance, will soon lose their flabbiness and tone down into firm, useful and shapely muscles, experts say.

The same is true of arms and hands, since in order to ride properly one must grasp the handlebars firmly.

Improves Posture
Also, in order to balance a bike, one must keep shoulders square, erect and level. This automatically improves posture. The same erect posture tightens stomach and abdominal muscles.

Jaunting along the countryside will fill the lungs with fresh air, the best prescription for an improved complexion.

A healthy person need not be overweight. If exercise doesn't take off all the extra poundage then a simple daily diet will.

Correct Foods
There are eight basic foods in a daily requirement. Compare this list with a typical day's diet of your own.

1. Milk — at least one pint,

"TIME TO GO ON A DIET!" exclaims Gwen Hogan, A4, Marshalltown, as she stares unbelievably at the scales. She made certain that the scales were absolutely right and shortly after this picture was taken, the half-eaten candy bar landed in the waste basket. Then the diet and exercise routine began.

some of which you can sneak into cooking, coffee and dessert.

2. Meat — one good sized serving. This includes fish and poultry. Liver is recommended about once a week.

3. Eggs — One or more daily or replace one with an extra helping of meat and cheese.

4. Vegetables — A serving of white or sweet potatoes, a fresh leafy vegetable, and a third vegetable of your own choice go give the needed variety.

5. Fruit — two servings of fruit; one should be citrus.

6. Bread. No less than three slices. Enriched white bread is all right although experts suggest the essential quota of dark cereal.

7. Butter — three to four servings on bread or on vegetables. Enriched oleomargarine may be used.

8. Water — six to eight glasses a day.

With these hints, coeds may look forward to a slimmer, more alluring figure for summer.

The top four teams in the final round will represent SUI in the tournament later this month, Miss Johnson said.

Pamphlet, Petition Here Backing New City Plan

The council-manager plan gives voters a more direct control over city government because all voters cast ballots for the entire city council, and all councilmen serve the entire town instead of single wards.

These statements were made by Atty. Clair E. Hamilton, chairman of the local Council-Manager association, and other association officials in a pamphlet they are now circulating.

Five of the present seven aldermen on the Iowa City council represent wards. Two are aldermen-at-large.

About 280 persons are distributing the pamphlet entitled "It's Time to Change!"

These persons also are soliciting signatures to petitions requesting that the mayor call a special election to determine whether Iowa City will adopt the council-manager form of government.

Association officials reported Saturday that they expect the door-to-door petition signing and pamphlet distributing campaign to be completed by Wednesday.

Another advantage of the plan is that it "gives continuity to our government," officials of the association stated.

Councilmen's terms of office, under the plan, are four years long but are staggered so that experienced men are always serving.

Under the mayor-council form of government now operating in Iowa City, voters elect seven councilmen, the mayor, treasurer, police judge and park commissioner every two years.

The mayor and the councilmen appoint 17 different officers and commissioners.

If the council-manager form were adopted, only the councilmen would be elected by the people. The councilmen would appoint a city manager, city clerk, police judge, city attorney, board of review, library board and solicitor.

The city manager would appoint all other officers and commissioners.

"In most places," the pamphlet states, "the new system has made little change in personnel, except where a worker was inefficient."

Civil service regulations in the police and fire departments would remain in effect, the pamphlet adds.

Under the council-manager plan the council makes laws, controls finances and sets policies. From among its members it selects a mayor who presides at council meetings. All councilmen, including the mayor, serve without pay in that capacity.

Officials estimated that the salary of a city manager would be about $8,500 yearly. They pointed out that the total of salaries now paid to the mayor and councilmen is $4,500. Of this amount $2,400 is paid to the mayor and $2,100 to the aldermen.

The officials reported Saturday that according to the Code of Iowa any qualified elector may sign the petition now being circulated.

The Code defines a qualified elector as a citizen of the United States who has lived in Iowa six months, in his county 60 days and in his precinct 10 days.

The association, however, urges that signers be not only qualified electors but also registered voters, officials said. They added that they are asking signers who have not registered to do so.

GOP Launches 1950 Election Campaign; Hits Administration

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republicans launched a concerted attack on the Truman administration Saturday in their first full-scale barrage of the 1950 congressional campaign.

In Lincoln day addresses all over the country, many GOP leaders chose as their theme the "Liberty vs. Socialism" battlecry raised last week in an election-year statement of party policy.

Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania who lost in a bid for the presidential nomination in 1948, struck vigorously at administration policies with a speech before a Young Republicans meeting in Springfield, Ill. — the town where Lincoln lived before becoming President.

Stassen accused the Democrats, "either because of a sincere but mistaken belief in socialism or because of a cynical indifference to everything but victory at the polls," of pandering to "chiselers and loafers" with their social welfare programs.

Sen. Erique (R-Ohio) turned his fire on the supreme court, which he accused of usurping the powers of congress.

He declared that Justices Black and Douglas, and the late Justices Murphy and Rutledge, were guilty of "reverting to some process of illegitimate statutory interpretation to reach a result coinciding with their own left-wing attitudes and opinions."

Although most GOP weekend attacks on the administration were based on the campaign platform written last week by the national committee and Republican members of congress, there were some dissenters.

Among them was Senator Ives (R-NY), who said in Schenectady it is "unfortunate" that Republicans have not adjusted to changing domestic and international conditions. He mentioned civil rights as one field in which the party has "failed miserably."

Trott Fines Four, Jails Local Man

Four persons paid $36.50 in fines and one man was sentenced to five days in county jail in police court Friday, Judge Emil Trott said.

John Korn, A1, Iowa City, was fined $15 for speeding; Fred Bishop, Omaha, was fined $12.50 for improper passing, and Curless Bishop, Reardon hotel, was fined $2 for parking on private property.

On intoxication charges, B.N. Woods, Iowa City, was sentenced to five days in jail, and Wayne Eash, 820 Bloom street, was fined $7.50.

For routine parking and meter violations, 46 persons paid $52 Thursday, police said.

$10,800 Contract Let To Illinois Company

A contract for three water softening units for SUI buildings was awarded to the Elgin Softener Corporation of Elgin, Ill., assistant superintendent of the division of planning and construction, George Parizek, said Saturday.

Parizek said the $10,865 bid was the lowest received for the new units.

The softeners will be attached to the hot water supply units of Currier hall, Quadrangle and the chemistry building. The quadrangle softener also will service Hillcrest dormitory.

Iowa Union, the women's gymnasium and the dental building will receive soft water from the unit located in the chemistry building, Parizek said.

The units will be installed in about three months, he said.

A number of homes were wrecked or knocked down by their foundations. Several business district buildings took heavy damages.

The twister, with unofficial wind velocity estimates ranging up to 100-miles-an-hour, swept into the town of 4,000 residents from the southwest. It came on the heels of a thunder and lightning rain storm that flooded streets and yards with a driving rain. La Porte is near Houston.

Greek, Latin Aid Vocabulary

Classics Department Forced to Enlarge Course in 'Dead' Languages by Popular Demand

For those who say that Greek and Latin are dead languages, a lively contradiction exists in the form of a practical SUI course, "Greek and Latin for Vocabulary Building," offered by the classics department.

The course was originated in 1948 in response to student demand, according to Prof. Gerald F. Else, head of the classics department.

A group of beginning Latin students became interested in starting a course in the use of Latin derivatives, and asked the classics department to offer such a course.

Listed in the SUI catalogue as designed to "give a practical command of a richer and more flexible vocabulary," the course was first offered in one section.

Each succeeding semester another section has been added until this February when the total freshman enrollment for the course reached 202. Seven sections are now being taught.

Else noted that the popularity of the course has grown, mostly through word-of-mouth advertising.

Students today are becoming more aware that most of the words used in serious discussion of any of the arts and sciences come from the so-called "dead" languages of Greek and Latin, he said.

Baby Talk

"If you are going to do anything but talk baby talk," Else said, "you cannot avoid Greek and Latin."

He pointed out that roughly 50 percent of the English language is derived from Latin and about 12 percent comes from Greek.

As our civilization advances into a more technical age, he said, the percentage of Greek and Latin derivatives jumps even higher.

Important Service

"This course is no substitute for a good knowledge of the two languages," Else said, "but it is a step in that direction, and an attempt to meet a very real need."

Prof. Dorrance White, the first instructor of the course, said, "The Military Maneuver Wins Beauty Contestant

By MAX SOWERS

"Beware of picking beauty queens!" That's the advice Capt. Charles Hickman of the military department offers to any male who might have such a pleasant duty.

Three years ago Hickman, now military department instructor and advisor for the military ball, was a new officer on the SUI staff and was single. Today he is completing his fourth year here and is married.

Boy Meets Girl

Hickman attributes his marriage to the fact that he helped judge and escort the candidates for the 1947 military ball.

It was in the preliminary judging and interviewing of the women that Hickman met his wife-to-be.

Col. W. W. Jenna, head of the military department, can take partial credit for finding Hickman a mate. The colonel asked Hickman to assist in the selection of the honorary cadet colonel.

Boy Dates Girl

Mrs. Helen Hickman, the former Helen Zimmerman of Waterloo, was one of the senior women entered in the contest.

Following the women's interviews with cadets and officers, Hickman and one of his fellow officers outmaneuvered the student officers and escorted five queen candidates home.

The captain later had a very official date with Helen for a basketball game. In her little red notebook she wrote down at the time of the engagement, "date with Capt. Hickman for basketball game."

Girl Leaves Boy

The captain did not monopolize the attractive psychology major's time until he proposed marriage, Mrs. Hickman recalled.

He did not like the college men's system of making dates weeks in advance, and, therefore, was never able to "go steady" with Helen. She graduated in August, 1947, and went to Minneapolis to work. Hickman averaged about one trip a month to the Minnesota city following her graduation.

Boy Marries Girl

Hickman's major problem in getting Helen to marry him revolved around the fact that she did not want to live an army life. However, when he received a regular army commission, his future direction of work was pointed out clearly and wedding bells were in the air.

The 1950 military ball will be a special one for Helen since it will be the first she and her husband will attend as man and wife. The year she was chosen an attendant to the honorary cadet colonel she had another date. Last year Mrs. Hickman was ill and could not attend the ball.

The Hickmans now live at 635 S. Dodge street.

LOOKING AT a 1947 Hawkeye brings back many memories to Capt. and Mrs. Charles Hickman, 635 S. Dodge street. Capt. Hickman met his wife while interviewing her in the selection of that year's honorary cadet colonel for the military ball. Mrs. Hickman was an attendant in the 1947 ball. She married Hickman in the summer of 1948. This year's military ball will be the first they have attended as man and wife.

Hawkeyes Slip Past Illinois In 70-65 Thriller

Calsbeek Hits 25 Points To Pace Iowa Scorer

By HOBERT DUNCAN

Iowa's Hawkeyes, spearheaded by Frank Calsbeek's 25 points and great rebounding, moved into a third place tie in the Big Ten title chase Saturday night with a thrilling 70-65 conquest of Illinois before 13,483 fans.

The victory was Iowa's fourth conference success on the field-house court this season and gave the Hawks a 4-3 record, identical with Saturday night's victim, Illinois and Indiana.

A successful stall in the last 30 seconds of play after Iowa had forged ahead to stay with one minute, 43 seconds remaining, climaxed the game that saw the lead change hands repeatedly.

With a minute and 43 seconds left, Wally Osterkorn, Illinois center who pushed in 21 points, fouled Chuck Darling as both went high into the air for a rebound under the Iowa basket.

Darling converted his free throw to break a 64-64 deadlock and give the battling Hawks a lead they never relinquished.

Calsbeek counted a left handed hook shot with 58 seconds left that brought the victory hungry crowd to its feet and gave Iowa a 67-64 lead.

Bob Clifton fouled Rod Fletcher in a wild meleé under the Illinois basket with 30 seconds left.

The Illinois guard scored on the free throw to bring Illinois to within two points of the Hawks, 67-65.

Bob Vollers, Bob Clifton, Skip Greene and Calsbeek then collaborated on a stall that netted three points on foul shots as Illinois tried desperately to get possession of the ball.

The Hawks enjoyed their hottest night offensively against Illinois by hitting 26 of 65 attempts from the field for a torrid 400 percentage compared with Illinois' mediocre .291 mark.

Calsbeek, 6-6 forward, was the brightest star in the Iowa galaxy Saturday night but had to share the spotlight with Skip Greene, substitute guard. Greene was the playmaker of the team, shooting passes into the pivot spot and ballhawking all over the court.

Illinois successfully checked Chuck Darling, 6-8 sophomore, with a congestion type of defense in the pivot spot, Darling handled the ball but once in the first four minutes of action and took but three shots during the entire first half. He hit two of these, however, and helped the Hawks to a slim 31-30 margin at the intermission.

With Darling stalemated, the bulk of the scoring burden fell to Calsbeek, who was recently transferred from center to a forward spot to accommodate Darling in the line-up.

The two teams battled on virtually even terms in the first half. Inability of the Iowa guards to work the ball into scoring position in the face of a back court pressing defense by Illinois and mis-handling of the ball on the part of the Hawks let Illinois lead, 10-6, after five minutes had passed.

Iowa surged back with Calsbeek, Darling, Vollers, Clifton and Fred Ruck all hitting for the halftime lead.

The lead changed hands nine times in the first half.

Iowa started the second half with a rush as Calsbeek hit a pair of buckets and Darling counted a tip-in to give the Hawks the largest lead of the ball game, 37-30. Illinois surged back to knot the score with 14 minutes left and then went on to assume a 44-42 lead on Osterkorn's tip-in.

Iowa came back to tie the game and go into a brief lead only to have last year's defending champions rally to tie the score. Within the last ten hectic minutes, the score was tied five times to set the stage for Iowa's game winning sprint in the last minute and a half.

(Daily Iowan Photo)

AT FIRST GLANCE it appears that Iowa's Bob Vollers is about to lose an eye as a result of the gouging tactics of the Illinois Bill Erickson, but it's only an illusion. Erickson is only making a pass at that elusive basketball. The ball stealing tactics of the Illinois forward were effective but the Iowans outpointed the visitors, 70-65.

Ohio State Overwhelms Michigan State, 87-43

COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP) — Ohio State's Big Ten basketball leaders overwhelmed a hapless Michigan State team, 87-43, here Saturday night in a non-conference game. It was the Buckeyes' 15th victory in 18 games and the Spartans' 16th defeat in a like number of starts. Ohio State led, 46-17, at halftime.

A crowd of 5,975 saw the Bucks outclass the Spartans all the way and set an all-time scoring record for an Ohio State team.

The Bucks' previous high mark was 83 against Illinois in their Big Ten season opener here Jan. 6.

The Bucks' ace, Forward Dick Schmittner, ran his consecutive free throw string to 18. He made his final free throw against Wisconsin, hit 13 straight against Indiana, and the first four Saturday night.

Iowa Gymnasts Win, 56-40

By JOHN ROSSI

Iowa's gymnastics team scored its first dual win of the season Saturday afternoon in the field-house, beating Western Illinois State Teachers, 56-40.

The Hawkeyes had lost to Nebraska, Minnesota and Chicago in dual meet competition and had placed second in a triangular meet at Bloomington, Ind. Indiana won the triangular meet and Ohio State placed third.

The Iowans outpointed the Macomb, Ill., team in every event but the parallel bars.

Iowa was strong in the last three events — flying rings, tumbling and trampoline — gathering 32 points while the Illinois school scored only 16.

The Hawkeyes' biggest point production came in the trampoline, last even on the card, in which Iowa swept the first three events for 13 points.

Bill Harris took first in the trampoline with Frank LaDue, competing for the first time, and Kenny McKenna placed second and third respectively.

Clair Jennett again led the Iowa scorers with 16 points. He scored in four of five events that he participated in. Jennett took first place in the flying rings, second in the side horse and third in the horizontal bar and parallel bar events.

Paul Williams put on a brilliant exhibition in tumbling winning the event for the first time this season. The judges awarded him 21 points of a possible 300 for the best individual event performance of the day.

Iowa's other first place was won by Frank Engels in the side horse event.

Wisconsin, Indiana, Boilermakers Win; Badgers in Second

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Rehfeldt pitched in 35 points for Wisconsin Saturday night to lead the Badgers to a 66-59 victory over Northwestern in the Chicago Stadium and regain the lead in the race for the individual Big Ten scoring title.

The victory, practically a personal accomplishment by the lanky Badger center, was Wisconsin's fourth in six league games and retained a chance for the team to tie for the conference title should somebody beat Ohio State.

Rehfeldt put the game on ice in the opening four minutes when he dropped eight points while Northwestern went scoreless. Although the Wildcats then ran up seven points, Rehfeldt took over again and with 21 points in the first half, paced the Badgers to a 36-23 halftime edge.

His total for the night gave him 133 points in a half-dozen conference games and a 22.16 average, nearly a point and a half better than Ohio State's Dick Schmittner, who has a 20.8 average for nine league games.

Hoosiers 59, Gophers 39

BLOOMINGTON (AP) — Indiana's Hoosiers caught fire in the second half Saturday night to spill Minnesota, 59-39, in a Big Ten basketball game before 10,500 fans.

Both teams played a cautious free-throw game during the first half but the Hoosiers cut loose when the second opened and grabbed the lead. From then on they smothered the Gophers.

Indiana held its biggest lead, 44-28, with only five minutes remaining. Lou Watson dropped 20 for the Hoosiers to lead the scoring while seven points, by Minnesota's Gerald Mitchell, was high for the Gophers.

Whitney Skoog, third in Big Ten scoring and a sharpshooter in Minnesota's offense, was held to a mere six points.

Bob Masters hit a lay-up and Bill Tosheff dropped a free throw to give Indiana a one-point lead after the Gophers had held a 17-15 halftime margin. From there on it was a runaway.

Minnesota was able to score only free throws, two of them by Mitchell.

Purdue 61, Michigan 53

LAFAYETTE (AP) — Purdue's lowly Boilermakers rolled over Michigan Saturday night, 61-53, to post their second Big Ten basketball conference win of the season.

The victory still left the Riveters in the hole of the Big Ten as they had been licked six times previously.

The Wolverines took an early 5-1 lead and stayed ahead until 13 minutes of the first half had elapsed. Then Purdue marched out in front.

The score was tied three times in that first half and the biggest lead the home club had in the first 20 minutes was 24-19.

Michigan, trailing by only two points at the half, matched Purdue point for point in the first six minutes of the second stanza. But then, the Boilermakers, using a fast-break all the time, pulled away.

For the winners, two old reliables — Guard Howie Williams and Center Andy Butcho — stood out. Williams led Purdue with 21 points and Butcho contributed 19. Leo Vander Kuy led Michigan's attack with 16 markers and teammate Don McIntosh tossed in 15.

Brechler, Blommers Return; Remain Silent on Interviews

Iowa Athletic Director Paul Brechler and Dr. Paul Blommen, chairman of the athletic board, returned Saturday morning after a nation-wide tour to interview candidates for the football coaching job Dr. Eddie Anderson resigned two weeks ago.

They left on the trip last Sunday and visited both the east and west coasts.

However, both remained silent Saturday on where they had stopped and who they had interviewed. The only definite word has come from three coaches themselves.

Interview Coaches: It is known that Boston college coach Denny Meyers was interviewed in New York City, and that Wes Fry, California assistant, and Larry Siemering of College of the Pacific talked with Brechler and Dr. Blommers on the west coast.

"Several coaches told us they were not interested," Brechler said Saturday. "Therefore our list now contains less than 10 names."

Kip Taylor of Oregon State voluntarily took himself off the list by saying he was happy in his present position.

It was also believed that Missouri's Don Faurot dropped out of his own accord. But Brechler indicated that Faurot was not on the list of final candidates.

Faurot has reportedly sent a letter to Brechler asking that he not be considered. Brechler said he hasn't gone through his mail since returning here.

Brechler said the final list of five or six coaches will be presented to the 13-member athletic board about next Wednesday or Thursday. He said the board still hopes to announce Anderson's successor by next Saturday.

Better Chance: The apparent lack of "big name" coaches on the list is giving Leonard Raffensperger and Frank Carideo of the present Iowa coaching staff a better than average chance, according to local sources. Both have been considered definite possibilities ever since Anderson resigned.

Raffensperger and Carideo were interviewed before Brechler and Dr. Blommers left Iowa City.

It is also believed that Gomer Jones, assistant to Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, and Jim Tatum of Maryland remain on the list of prospects. Brechler declined comment on whether either was interviewed on their trip.

Thorpe Selected Top Half-Century Athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Thorpe, that almost legendary figure of the sports world, had additional laurels heaped upon his leathern brow today when the nation's sports experts named him the greatest male athlete of the half-century.

Previously voted the No. 1 football player of the past 50 years, the wonderful Sac and Fox became the only double winner in The Associated Press poll when 252 out of 283 sports writers and radio broadcasters accorded him the ultimate honor.

"Old Jim," greatest track and field athlete of his day and, later, a good enough baseball player to draw big league pay for six years, finished far ahead of Babe Ruth, the runner-up. Ruth, earlier chosen top baseball star of the era drew 86 first place votes.

Still another hero of the national poll, Jack Dempsey, who was named the greatest prizefighter placed third with 19 votes. Ty Cobb, runner-up to Ruth in the baseball poll, finished fourth with 11 firsts.

The voter, were asked to name their first, second and third choices for the supreme athlete of them all. Points were compiled on a 3-2-1 basis. Thorpe's total came to 875, Ruth's 539. Dempsey's 246, a Cobb's 148. The storied Indian lapped them going and coming.

Bobby Jones, winner of the 50-year golfing poll, placed fifth with 88 points, while Joe Louis, second only to Dempsey in the fighter category, ran sixth with 73.

Of the other individual poll winners, Jesse Owens, track, placed eighth with 54 points, and Bill Tilden, tennis, 15th with nine.

Runners Crack 30-Year Mark

The 74 1-3-point barrage Iowa's track team threw at Marquette Friday night was the highest point total scored by a Hawkeye club over a major opponent in an indoor dual for at least 20 years.

The previous high was recorded over Minnesota in 1934 when the Hawks trampled the Gophers, 71-3 - 30-2-3. Coach Francis Cretzmeier was a member of that '34 crew that was beaten only once, and that time by Wisconsin, while winning four for both the indoor and outdoor season.

Count Nine Firsts: In racking up that tremendous total Friday, the Hawks counted nine firsts, and in four of these Iowa garnered seconds as well. The events which Iowa scored one-two were the broad jump, 440, high and low hurdles.

Only one Hilltopper managed to snap the tape in front of a Hawk in the track section. That solo-tary Milwaukeean was two-miler Bob Mason. The diminutive Mason received a great round of applause as he swung off the final curve and down the stretch to cross the finish line in 9:50.9.

What had been figured to be a close meet turned out to be a rout as the Hawks rambled home first, in the first four track events following the narrow 5-4 lead John Vishnevsky gave Marquette by winning the shotput.

At the end of five events Iowa had piled up 29 points to Marquette's 15 and had sewed up the meet by virtue of Russ McKel's record - breaking .07.9 time in the low hurdles.

One of the biggest thrills of the meet came from the mile relay as DeReef Greene fought off Jim Thomas' driving finish and pounded through the tape five yards in front of the fleet Hilltopper.

DuWayne Dietz proved his stamina in the third leg of the relay by maintaining the advantage given him by Tom Sangster after skimming over the low timers in .08 flat where he took second despite his record-tying time.

Sophomores Shine: Three of Iowa's sophomores got off to a good start in their debuts in varsity uniforms. Jack Davis bowed into competition by smashing the 16-year-old mile run mark previously held by Beverly Gordon at 4:25.9.

Marcellus Boston, the speedy Washington, D. C., sprinter, had the next sophomore to gain honors. He flashed through the 60-yard dash in .06.2 and then finished the evening with a 22-foot-2-inch broad jump lead for first place No. 2.

DeReef Greene fairly shot out of the blocks in the 440 and kept his lead for two laps to top the event in :51.4 besides running anchor on the relay team.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JAMES J. HILL, the railway magnate, acquired habits of thrift when he was a poor, struggling boy that he never could lose after he became a millionaire. His lowliest employees were fully aware of his idiosyncracies and governed themselves accordingly.

One day, for instance, Hill was mowing around a section of track when he pounced upon a brand new spike lying a few feet from the rails. He thrust it under the nose of the foreman and growled, "What about this?" The quick-witted foreman exclaimed, "Gad, Mr. Hill, I'm glad you found that spike. I've had three men hunting for it for a week."

Informed by a Beston bookseller that a copy of Years of the Locust would set him back three dollars, an idignant customer exclaimed, "What this country needs is a good five-cent cinder!"

Victim of Nazis To Speak Here 'Religion' Week

Prof. George Forell of the philosophy department at Gustavus-Adolphus college, St. Peter, Minn., will appear in the "Religion in Life Week," program Feb. 19 through 26.

Forell's appearance is being sponsored by the Lutheran Student association.

Forell was born in Germany and has spent most of his life in that country and Austria. In 1934, Forell's father was a leader in the Evangelical church in Germany, and an opponent of the Nazi party.

Because of this opposition, his father was relieved of church duties, Forell said. The family moved to Austria rather than face the danger of internment in a prison camp.

In 1938 when the Nazis invaded Austria, George and his father escaped by means of the underground to Sweden, where they were given refuge.

Through the efforts of the United-Lutheran church of America, Forell went to Paris and received his visa to come to America. In this country he studied at Mt. Airy Theological seminary, Philadelphia.

Forell also studied at Princeton Theological seminary, where he received his master of theology degree. In 1943 he attended the Union Theological seminary, New York City, where he took work toward his doctorate.

He was pastor of a Lutheran church in Bronx, N.Y. before he went to Gustavus-Adolphus in 1947. This past summer Forell made his first trip back to his homeland. He was the leader of a group of students who spent three and a half months studying various phases of the reconstruction program in Austria.

Army Sergeant Given OMVI Charge Saturday

Master Sgt. Homer E. Fleener, assistant in military science and tactics, waived a preliminary hearing on an OMVI charge Saturday in police court and was bound over to the grand jury, Judge Emil Trott said.

Fleener was freed on $500 bond, Trott said.

The charge resulted from an automobile accident Friday night, when a car driven by Fleener collided on Park street bridge with a car driven by Robert S. Leiserowitz, A3, Des Moines, police said.

Damage to Leiserowitz's car was estimated at $50. No damage was estimated for Fleener's car.

New Clapper Eliminates Old Cap Belfry Climb

Future bell ringers at Old Capitol will have a much easier job, thanks to the gift from SUI's class of 1948.

An automatic electrically-operated clapper eliminates the hourly climb to the top of Old Capitol each time the historic bell is sounded.

The clapper of the bell and the electrical attachments were given to SUI by the class of 1948 and installed during Christmas vacation, Merwin Belger, Old Capitol janitor, said Friday.

A master clock, placed on the second floor of the building, controls the ringing.

The bell's tones sound warning to SUI students that classes will convene in 10 minutes and sounds again when the classes actually start, 10 minutes later.

The Menely company, West Troy, N.Y., makers of the present bell, made the new clapper, Robert Noble, executive secretary of the alumni service, said.

This is the third bell that SUI has used. The First Congregational Presbyterian church paid $76.45 for the first bell, Noble said.

In 1862 the second bell was installed, followed two years later by the present bell.

University Architect George Horner suggested the automatic clapper to the 1948 class.

The bell strikes 18 times during each ringing period.

A rope extending from the bell in the peak of Old Capitol to the basement formerly was used to ring the bell, Belger said.

Ernest Bright, foreman of the moving and setup crews for SUI, rang the bell back in 1906. He said that he used to climb to the top of the building hourly and ring the bell by hand. For this task and part-time janitorial work, Bright received an hourly pay of 10 cents.

"I have kept the second bell that was used for sentimental reasons," Bright said. He keeps it in his office in Old Dental building.
