New Frosh Coach?

Now that Leonard Raffensperger has been named head football coach the speculation turns to who will be named to succeed him as freshman coach. The leading candidate is discussed in "Across the Sports Desk." See page six.

Jury Frees Elefson As Probe Continues

SIDNEY (AP)—Jail doors swung open to freedom Tuesday for a mild-mannered former University of Iowa student who had been charged with the poison death of his well-to-do grandfather. Lyman H. Elefson, 22, of Tabor, left the Fremont county jail almost immediately after a grand jury refused to indict him on a charge of murder.

The bespectacled, brilliant youth had been in custody since last Nov. 30 on a charge of causing the death of Alonzo H. Rhode, 75, also of Tabor.

Sheriff Al Christopher said Elefson made no comment to him as the young man left the jail with a defense attorney.

County Attorney Harold L. Martin, who filed the charge against Elefson, had described him as a "left-wing intellectual."

At the time of the young man's arrest, Martin said Elefson also was being questioned in the "strange deaths" of his grandmother and his widowed mother.

Elefson steadfastly has denied any connection with the deaths and has asserted his affection for his mother and grandparents.

Elefson's grandfather died last April 28 shortly after Elefson had visited him during the University of Iowa spring vacation. The grandmother, Mrs. Alonzo Rhode, died almost a year earlier—May 31, 1948.

Elefson's widowed mother, Mrs. Winifred Rhode Elefson, 47, died last August 22—after becoming unexpectedly ill. Elefson inherited $15,000 from his mother, including $10,000 left her by Rhode.

After the youth was released, Martin said investigation of the three deaths would continue.

"Just because the grand jury didn't return an indictment doesn't mean we are through with the cases," Martin said.

Measles Outbreak Affects 131 Here

Twenty-six new cases of measles were reported Tuesday in Iowa City, according to records in the office of City Clerk George J. Dohrer.

Three cases of chicken pox and one of mumps also were reported Tuesday.

The total number of measles cases now stands at 131. One other case of chicken pox was reported.

Truly, A Woman's Mind is a Wondrous Thing

FOR THE WOMAN'S TOUCH! With Iowa City buttoning its Valentine's-day overcoat, Frank Nash, 33, Cherokee, ponders the inscrutable ways of a woman who would ship him Hollywood-and-Vine briefs in February. The hearts and flowers which embroider this drapery might jibe with palm trees and soft music, but Frank can't picture himself modeling them at SUI—not even in July. Frank wonders how the petticoat regime will assert itself at Easter—probably he'll wind up on the long end of a pair of red flannels. Don't worry: Frank wouldn't trade those shorts for all the Valentines you could name.

World Gloomy But — Cupid Still Love King

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — So Tuesday was Valentine's day, when Cupid archly came out with bow and arrow for a little love target practice.

And although I've been trying to get people to read the papers ever since I used to peddle the old Springfield (Mo.) Leader, I hope Cupid didn't study the headlines Tuesday. If he did, I'm afraid he got the idea that love is as old-fashioned and out-of-date as his bow and arrow.

Look at the news: The hydrogen bomb casts a long and dreadful shadow over everything.

The other items aren't encouraging either. There's the coal situation. (Isn't there always a coal situation?) Britain's Anthony Eden probably sized up the worldwide feeling pretty well when he referred to—"Harassed and perplexed humanity."

I got to thinking about this while riding in on the bus Tuesday morning.

It was a gloomy, un-Valentine-like morning, with a sullen rain drooling from a glowering sky.

The bus stopped, and a little fellow who looked just big enough to be a first grader clambered aboard. He had on a black slicker with helmet to match. The helmet was too large, and it fell down over his eyes, so that all you could see were the two rosy cheeks.

The boy started to hunt for his nickel — and promptly dropped the valentine he was carrying. Then he dropped his nickel. He stepped on the valentine and picked up the nickel. He picked up the valentine and dropped the nickel.

Everyone was watching by now and was relieved when he got the nickel in the box, and sat down to wipe the smudges off the valentine.

They didn't come off very well, but a first grader is philosophical about these things. He looked up cheerfully, and for the first time noticed he was the center of attention.

He smiled shyly and said, "It's for Mary." As if that explained everything. I guess it did.

That's all there is to it. But I thought that Cupid — and maybe you, too — might like to know that there's still a market in this world for the bow and arrow business.

Truman Names Sumner Pike To Head AEC

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Tuesday chose Sumner T. Pike, a Republican, as acting chairman of the atomic energy commission to direct the development of the hydrogen bomb.

The White House said Pike will begin serving on Thursday as acting head of the multi-billion-dollar atomic project, pending the appointment of a successor to David E. Lilienthal.

Lilienthal, who leaves office today, has been chairman since a five-man civilian board took over control of atomic energy from the army in 1946. Pike is the last of the original five-man panel. He has been vice chairman under Lilienthal.

The White House did not indicate when a permanent chairman will be named.

A native of Maine, the 58-year-old Pike is a onetime Boston public utilities clerk who made fortunes in oil and in Wall street. He has described himself as being "leftish, as Republicans go."

In 1946, Mr. Truman appointed him to the new atomic energy commission.

Pike had originally planned to leave the AEC this spring, but was reported to have reconsidered at Lilienthal's request. He was said to be Lilienthal's nominee to Mr. Truman as acting chairman.

After a goodbye call on Mr. Truman Tuesday, Lilienthal told newsmen that on his return to private life he plans to talk and lecture in support of the President's basic atomic policy.

Streets Remain Icy But Mercury Rise Helps Clear Roads

Iowa Citizens continued to slip and slide on icy streets Tuesday following Monday's four-inch snow.

Light snow was forecast for late Tuesday night with partly cloudy skies scheduled for this afternoon. The weather bureau predicted little change in temperature for today.

Rising temperatures allowed some of the main highways to thaw, according to Union Bus depot officials. This was especially true of highway 6 between Cedar Rapids and Iowa City as traffic stirred up the compact snow.

Forecasters were fairly uniform over the Midwest with light snow or drizzle predicted for late Tuesday night.

Iowa City Street Commissioner Willard Irvin said crews would resume clearing operations around midnight tonight on city streets, after working all night Monday.

Irvin said 150 loads of ice and snow had been removed from the uptown district Monday night. Tonight's clearing operations will be centered around the outlying intersection, he said.

Irvin urged motorists to park their cars away from the heavy intersections since the parked cars delay the efforts of the crewmen.

Set Date for AEC Fellowship Exams

Candidates for fellowships with the atomic energy commission will be examined March 8 at SUI, Prof. Robert Ebel, director of the examinations service, said Tuesday.

Time and place of the examinations will be announced later. A number of fellowships in physics and biology will be awarded by the National Research Council, Washington, D.C., to graduate students who have not received Ph.D. degrees, Ebel said.

The fellowships, now offered for the third consecutive year, probably will be awarded annually, he said. Examinations are sponsored by the National Research Council and administered by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J.

Iowa's Football Fortunes, Past, Future

Hoyt Gets Carnegie Revolving Fund Prize

Prof. Robert S. Hoyt of the SUI department of history has been awarded the Carnegie Revolving Fund prize to use in publishing "scholarly works of outstanding merit," Prof. William A. Delotte, chairman of the history department, announced Tuesday.

Hoyt will use the prize to publish his book, "The Royal Decree in English Constitutional History, 1066-1272." The book is scheduled to appear in December, 1950.

Hoyt, who received a Guggenheim fellowship and a Fulbright grant last year, is in London, England, conducting research in the public records office.

He recently published an article, "Royal Taxation and the Growth of the Realm," and will publish another article "The Nature and Origins of the Ancient Domesday," in April.

Third Iowan Joins GOP Senate Race

DES MOINES (AP) — Earl Wisdom, Des Moines attorney, Tuesday became the third candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senate in the June primaries.

Wisdom, active in school and rural legal action, announced he would seek the nomination for the senate seat now held by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa). Hickenlooper is a candidate for reelection and Harry Thompson, Muscatine, also has announced he would seek the nomination.

Coal Stocks Adequate At Iowa City Schools

Coal stocks are ample for the rest of the winter at Lincoln, Henry Sabin, Longfellow, Roosevelt and Kirkwood schools and Junior high school, according to Verne R. Miller, superintendent of grounds and buildings.

City high school and Horace Mann school have enough coal to last most of March, Miller said.

Coal Talks Resume Today; Fuel Emergency Grips Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soft coal contract talks start up again today under explosive pressure from the nation-wide strike on the side, so-far-ineffectual injunction on the other and the tightening fuel emergency all around.

Anything can happen, from a peaceable settlement to the grandest blow-up in the blast-filled history of such negotiations.

Government officials expressed cautious hope — and kept their fingers crossed. They studiously avoided anything that might set any tempers flaring higher.

The principals, except for some side issue talk about how and whether back-to-work orders are being passed along to the miners, kept silent.

The negotiations will get under way with federal mediators ready outside the door to step in if need is indicated.

While Lewis and the operators got ready for their meeting, the 372,000 striking United Mine Workers members stayed at home again in the face of Saturday's order from Judge Richmond B. Keach in federal district court here. Miners who would talk generally indicated they had no idea of digging coal until they get a contract.

There was one flare-up of violence near Latrobe, Pa., where two men were reported wounded with buckshot. It was not determined whether the shooting was connected with the post of guards at a non-union strip mine.

UMW headquarters announced it sent out messages Monday to all the locals, duplicating the back-to-work orders sent earlier to the districts.

A Lewis spokesman explained that it was a "physical impossibility" to get out thousands of messages in the time available Saturday.

There was no disposition among officials to seek quick contempt action over failure of the miners to heed the court order quickly. The justice department has indicated it plans to give the matter time, and the White House said Tuesday no further action is contemplated there right now.

Signs 3-Year Pact Calling For $10,000

Leonard Raffensperger, a native Iowan, was named head football coach at Iowa Tuesday.

The 46-year-old Hawkeye freshman football coach received a three-year contract at $10,000 a year.

Raffensperger succeeds Dr. Eddie Anderson, who resigned Jan. 28 to coach at Holy Cross. Anderson had coached here since 1939.

The selection of Raffensperger came after an intensive three-week search from coast to coast by Athletic Director Paul Breechler and Prof. Paul Blommers, chairman of the athletic board.

The announcement of Raffensperger's appointment was made by President Virgil M. Hancher, following approval of the state board of education, which met in Ames Tuesday.

The futures of Anderson's assistant coaches were still unknown late Tuesday.

Carideo Future Uncertain Backfield Coach Frank Carideo, who was under consideration for the post vacated by Anderson, said his plans are still indefinite.

He had been asked by Anderson to go to Holy Cross with him. Carideo has had at least two other job offers during the past three weeks, it was learned.

Pat Boland, line coach, said, "I have no plans for the future." There is some speculation that Boland may stay on at Iowa to assist Raffensperger.

Future plans of End Coach Bob Fitch were equally uncertain. It was reported that Fitch would also stay at Iowa in his present capacity.

However, it is traditional for new head coaches to be given freedom in the selection of their assistants.

Tackleson May Assist Harold Tackleson, Burlington high school coach, was mentioned as a possible assistant to Raffensperger.

Raffensperger, the first SUI alumnus to run Iowa's football fortunes in 41 years and the fourth in Iowa's history, built an impressive record during his 17 seasons at East Waterloo.

While there, he won 90 games, lost 41 and had eight ties. At Reinbeck, Iowa, Raffensperger coached teams won 20 and lost seven games.

Former Freshman Coach In 1948, the silver-haired native of Victor, Iowa, came to SUI to handle its freshman squad. His popularity among high school coaches was a large factor in bringing him back to his alma mater.

A T-formation expert, Raffensperger learned the modern football formation from George Haas, coach of the Chicago Bears. For several years, Raffensperger was a summer counselor at St. John's military academy, Delaware, Wis., where the Bears trained during the summer months.

Asked if he would use the T-formation next season, Raffensperger said, "I've been pretty close to that type of football for many years and I certainly haven't changed my mind on that. . . I've been convinced that the T-formation is the best offense."

Raffensperger's appointment was termed "gratifying" by President Hancher. Said Hancher: "I know the choice was a difficult one. It is gratifying to me to know that we could find such a man on our staff. This speaks well for the university."

Picked Best Man Athletic director Breechler said, "We picked the man we think will do the best job for Iowa. Raff is a native of Iowa, an Iowa letterman, a graduate with two degrees, a very successful high school coach and Iowa freshman coach and a gentleman of the highest type."

Another Big Step

Churchill Urges Three-Power Conference

EDINBURGH, SCOTLAND (AP)—Winston Churchill called Tuesday night for "another talk with Soviet Russia on the highest level" in an attempt to stop the atomic arms race and the drift toward war.

Churchill implied strongly that his idea of "another talk" would be to bring together Premier Josef Stalin, President Truman and himself, if he again becomes prime minister as the result of the Feb. 23 election. Even if such a talk failed, he urged, it could hardly make things worse.

In the absence of a big-power talk, Churchill said, American superiority—"if not indeed almost monopoly"—in the atomic bomb field "is the surest guarantee of world peace tonight."

It was Churchill's major speech of the election campaign, made at a big political rally in the Usher hall here.

New Trend in Coach Selections —

Question: "Are you satisfied with the selection of Leonard Raffensperger as head SUI football coach?"

Barbara Hardersen, A4, Clinton: "I don't know much about him. I think it's a little peculiar that they'd run all over the country looking for someone, when they give the job to someone here on the campus."

Marilyn Collison, A3, Sioux: "Yes, I think so. I think that"

The naming of Leonard Raffensperger as head football coach at Iowa presents another example of an apparently widely accepted trend of jumping high school coaches right into key athletic positions at top universities and colleges.

Formerly coach of the Hawkeyes freshman grid team, Raffensperger was appointed to that post right from the football coaching job at East Waterloo high school.

Previously it had been generally held that top college coaches should first have some coaching experience at smaller colleges so that they would have some idea of the competition.

And not too many years ago, a number of fans and alumni might have squawked loudly at the naming of a former high school coach to direct the Hawkeye's football fortunes. However, there are too many current examples available indicating that this can be a good thing.

It is especially true at Iowa which has four members of its athletic staff who were promoted to their jobs from high school coaching positions.

Iowa's present athletic director Paul Brechler was coaching here at University high school before being named athletic business manager.

Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, named Hawkeye basketball coach last month, was working at Boone high school when he was asked to take over the duties as golf and freshman cage coach at Iowa.

Though he did coach for a short period at Grinnell college, Francis Cretzmeier, Hawk track coach, had previously directed the thinclads at North Des Moines high school.

The best national example is Paul Brown who made a great name coaching Ohio State and the professional All-American Cleveland Browns after a phenomenal job as coach of the Massillon, Ohio, high school eleven.

Without being too biased, it can be stated that this method of selecting athletic officials at Iowa has paid off. It is generally accepted that students, alumni and fans throughout the state have been more than satisfied with the ability of the present Iowa athletic staff.

Raffensperger had a remarkable coaching record at East Waterloo. He is experienced in dealing with the intricate maneuvers of the "T" formation. He is an Iowa alumni, and he is very popular in the state.

All these recommendations helped make him a top choice for the coaching job.

Bar Association Exams Begin for Law Grads

The long grind of examinations for entrance to the Iowa Bar association began Tuesday at the college of law for 34 SUI law graduates and graduates from Drake university and out-of-state law schools.

Tuesday was devoted to written tests, under the supervision of a staff from the Iowa attorney general's office, Dean Mason Ladd said. The examinations are scheduled to continue through Friday.

Point of No Return —

Recent talk about the potentialities of the hydrogen bomb is doing its best to make gibbering victims of fear. The Russians are scared too, but the iron curtain does much to keep the fear from showing.

Where you really see the scared faces, though, is in France. The Paris World, a daily newspaper, has even gone so far as to propose military neutralization for Europe. Since this would in effect make Europe an open ground and gravely interfere with western efforts to build a west Europe security bloc, it isn't hard to understand how Europeans feel about the matter.

Just pretend you live in Europe for a few minutes and then think how you would look at the whole matter:

Your continental area has been simultaneously both a buffer and a point of antagonism between east and west. They fight over you and use your territory as a cushion in the dispute over a World War II settlement.

The fright of an impending atomic war which easily could be fought in your homeland has been with you and your countrymen since Nagasaki and Hiroshima.

Now you find yourself confronted with an even more horrifying possibility: having your civilization wiped off the map, perhaps the whole globe, by the hydrogen bomb and its results.

The most basic drive known to man is the urge for self-preservation. That's why no swimmer can commit suicide by drowning himself. The urge for self-preservation is too strong.

To prove man's urge for self-preservation and keeping alive his memory if not his being, look at the way we tend our cemeteries. Salesmen make good livings selling perpetual care to lot owners.

Now comes the thought that life could be obliterated on this whole sphere. The west Europeans are most concerned with the problem because they will be the middlemen if such an eventuality ever comes to pass.

Since both the Soviet Union and the United States seem too stubborn to realize the pit they are digging for themselves, perhaps the apprehension of the west Europeans is well-founded.

It could be that from the fear of the potential middlemen in this seeming war of extinction will come the means of reconciliation.

It's not at all too soon to start thinking about a road back. The time to turn around is before your vehicle gets mired in the mud. We are fast approaching the point of no return.

The Orchestral club will meet in the Mirror room of the Women's gymnasium at 7:15 p.m. today, publicity chairman, Nancy Zadek, A4, Winnetka, Ill., said. Plans for the April 21 program will be discussed.

Venetian Blinds 'Shorten' Taller Rooms

Interior decorators say venetian blinds are the best way to bring the dignity of a tall room into modern decorating. Venetian blinds cut the height of the room and add light control and privacy at the same time.

Horizontal lines emphasize the "long, low look," in all the model homes springing up around the country.

If two windows are not more than one foot apart, they can be given the single venetian blind treatment. A new idea in decorating is to fit one huge blind over both windows, appearing to increase the length of the room.

Can Match Colors
Wall and blind color can be matched, again emphasizing around-the-room unity of all wall space.

Narrow windows covered with venetian blinds may be widened by extending draperies on the outside of the actual window frame. Blinds can be fitted flush with the window sill apron and only an expert could guess the window wasn't directly behind it.

Now comes the actual selection of the blinds. Many new finishes and different type slat materials are being used in the manufacture of venetian blinds today. The consumer should be wise in his selection.

Several factors can influence the choice of blinds. The hard, baked finish of metal slats is easier to clean and lasts longer than the finish of wooden slats. But only wooden slats offer the chance to use natural wood grains in a decorating scheme.

Aluminum Slats
Aluminum slats are made of an especially hard aluminum alloy. They are flexible and durable and have the same hard, baked-on finish as steel slats. With good care, they retain their shape and withstand abuse as well as steel slats. Aluminum slats are less

Court Tries First of 26 Paving Cases

The first of 26 Iowa City paving assessment protest cases was tried in district court Tuesday.

The Robert Barry, administrator for the George W. Glasgow estate, vs. Iowa City case was submitted to Judge J. P. Gaffney late Tuesday afternoon.

Gaffney said his ruling on the case would be announced later.

Barry charged the assessment levied on the Glasgow property on Court street last year by the city exceeded the legal limits.

Similar to Other Cases

This case is similar to 25 other cases pending in district court appealing an assessment levied against property holders for pavement laid last year costing $103,000.

Witnesses were questioned Tuesday on assessment practices and the market and assessed values of the Glasgow property.

Barry's attorney, Kenneth M. Dunlop, presented nine witnesses.

They were: Robert Barry, the plaintiff; Frank Nesvacki, city assessor; R. P. White, Steve Darling and Robert Munn, real estate agents; William Kanak, deputy county auditor; George Dohrer, city clerk, and Fred Gartzka, city engineer.

Witnesses for City

The city, represented by Edward L. O'Connor and William H. Bartley, had as witnesses Gordon Webster, present owner of the property in question, and Sam Whiting Jr., and Charles Morganstern, real estate agents.

Morganstern was recalled as a witness for Barry.

The case is further complicated because the Glasgow property was sold to Henry H. Hamilton, Cedar Rapids, and then to Gordon Webster, 502 Clark street.

O'Connor, the defense attorney, charged earlier in an answer to Barry's original petition that Barry had no interest in the case because he was no longer owner of the property.

No Flapper Frills, Spurs for 48th Military Ball

THIS 1927 SCENE WILL BE REPEATED Friday night at the 48th annual military ball, but differences in costume probably will be noted. Coeds' gowns Friday night will bear little resemblance to those of the flappers of the '20's. Men's formal wear has also changed, and of course cavalry officers will be absent from this year's ball. The military ball was originated in 1895 by Lt. Charles Vogdes, then head of the military department; it was held Jan. 26 in Smith's armory. Friday night's ball will be in the Iowa Union. Art Kassel and his orchestra will furnish the music for dancing. The honorary cadet colonel and her four attendants will be announced at intermission.

Plan Special Balloting Question Chapel Permanence On School Bond Issue

The Iowa City school board voted Tuesday night to hold a special balloting March 13 on the question of floating a $62,700 bond issue for the enlargement of Roosevelt grade school.

Petitions circulated by parents in the Roosevelt area for an addition to the school carried 980 signatures. This was almost twice the requirement of 25 percent of those voting in the last annual school election.

According to the resolution adopted by the school board calling for the balloting, the independent school district will be divided into two precincts.

Polling places will be the community building, 204 S. Gilbert street, and the Jones Hudson garage, 32 W. Burlington street. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. March 13.

The special committee appointed by School Board President Clark Caldwell consists of Irving Weber, 421 Melrose court, and Alva Oathout, 627 Bradley street.

Question Chapel Permanence

Residents near St. Thomas More chapel, North Riverside drive, have reminded the Iowa City council the chapel originally was intended to be a temporary structure.

In a letter to the mayor and council, three property owners said there have been recent statements and remarks that the present structure "is to remain and to be used permanently as a recreation center when the new chapel is completed."

One of the signers said Tuesday he did not consider the letter a petition. It was merely a letter of inquiry, he added.

Instructor Katherine LaSheek of the music department, Prof. Gerald F. Else, head of the classes' department, and representatives of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, all having residences in that neighborhood, signed the letter.

Signing for the fraternity were Atty. Ingalls Swisher, president of the Phi Kappa Psi alumni association, and George Nagle, secretary-treasurer.

They pointed out that in 1947 the Rev. Leonard J. Brugman had

Segovia Pleases Crowd — Guitar Recital Fascinating

At City High School

By DONALD KEY

Romantic liting music of the Spanish guitar, as played by the eminent Andres Segovia, echoed through the City high school auditorium Tuesday night creating a colorful atmosphere and inspiring an audience of over 800.

The recital was the third of the season on the civic music series, and was one of the most unusual and fascinating performances that Iowa City audiences have been privileged to hear.

A great many people think of a guitar as a 'plunky-twangy' instrument suitable at best for rhythmical musical background.

Conception Dispelled

But this conception was immediately dispelled Tuesday night. The audience listened attentively and applauded enthusiastically to the playing of the Spanish virtuoso.

Perhaps this is proof of the fact that great music is the product of an artist, not an instrument or instrumentalist.

The distinguished, quiet mannered Segovia, considered by many as the world's greatest guitarist, played with astonishing contrasts in tone, mood and timbre, and his interpretations were of highest musical quality.

Spanish Numbers Well-Liked

Especially pleasing and well-liked by the audience were the six Spanish numbers on the program and outstanding among these was "Etude" by Francisco Tarrega.

Time and again the elderly artist, who has been playing recitals since he was 14 years old, was recalled for bows and encores.

And each time, his guitar rang out with melodic strains to more than please his audience.

Big Ten Moves to Aid Chances in NCAA

CHICAGO (AP) — Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson, Big Ten commissioner, said Tuesday he was "disappointed" in the showing of Western conference teams in recent years in the NCAA basketball tournament and hopes that a new league ruling will help them improve.

If a Big Ten team is chosen to represent this district in the meet, it will be permitted to play two extra games after closing its regular season as warm-ups for tourney action.

This decision was made by faculty men at the Big Ten annual winter meeting in December. Wilson Tuesday called it to attention at the weekly Chicago basketball writer's association luncheon.

"Illinois last year had a three week layoff from competition before entering the NCAA playoffs," said Wilson. "They were stale before they got there. If Ohio State goes this time (the Puckeys have a wide lead for the Big Ten title with an 8-1 record) they will have from Feb. 27 until the eastern playoffs open in New York March 23 without a game. But the old rule permitting only 24 games in a regular season has been relaxed to include an extra two."

Since 1940 and 1941, when Indiana and Wisconsin, respectively, won the national crown, Western conference teams have failed to gain the championship finals.

Harris Picks Bosox for 1st

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bucky Harris overlooked his former teammates, the New York Yankees, Tuesday and picked the Boston Red Sox to win the 1950 American league pennant race.

"They'll probably think this is our grapes in New York," said Bucky, "but I think the Red Sox's young pitchers will carry them to the pennant. At least that's the way it looks on paper."

Harris, who piloted the Yankees to the junior circuit pennant in 1947, starts his third term as the Washington Nat's manager this year. He left Tuesday for Orlando, Fla., where the Nats will open spring training March 1.

"The Red Sox have been grooming those young pitchers of theirs for a long time," he continued. He indicated that he expects both Chuck Stobbs and Mickey McDermott to come through for Joe McCarthy in 1950. In 1949, Stobbs compiled a 11-6 record against a 5-4 slate for McDermott.

Along with Parnell (25-7) and Dobson (14-12), a good year for the two young hurlers could make it an easy Boston year, Bucky said. Bucky picked the Yanks, Detroit and Cleveland to round out the first division.

"Players like DiMaggio, Henrich and Rizzuto are inspirational players and they could have banner years," he added, "but after last season it would be surprising to see them make it again."

"Krychowiak and Priddy will make the Tigers top contenders and Cleveland will really be tough if Easter comes through like I think he will," he said.

... And a New Coach is Signed

SIGNING HIS CONTRACT as the new Iowa football coach is Leonard Raffensperger (left) as Athletic Director Paul Brechler looks on. The contract called for about $10,000 for each of the three years. He was elected unanimously by the Iowa athletic board.

Cretz Says Tracksters 'Better'

Coach Francis Cretz, whose Iowa track team took a decisive victory over Marquette Saturday naturally was pleased with the squad's performance, but he remains cautious.

"We did mighty well in the opener and some of the fast times surprised me," said Cretz, Monday as his charges started preparations for Saturday's meet with Northwestern.

"Now those men have to keep up the good work and others must show improvement. It appears that our team will be considerably better than last season and I hope we are on the way up," he said.

What he meant by "considerably better" is that three Iowa records were broken and two U.S. marks were nearly equalled. Russ Merkel came within one-tenth of a second of the U.S. indoor record for the 70-yard hurdles with a :07.9, and two-tenths short of the mark for the 70-yard high hurdles with :08.6.

Both were new Iowa records, the high hurdles time breaking the mark first set by Olympic Champion George Saling in 1932.

Jack Davis, Iowa City sophomore, ran an evenly paced mile for a new university record of 4:21.7. The old mark had stood since 1934.

Marcellus Boston, the sophomore sprinter from Washington, D.C., ran the 60-yard dash in :06.2. The American indoor record is :06.1.

Ex-Packer Lineman To Direct Publicity

GREEN BAY, WIS. (AP) — Francis L. (Jug) Earpe, one-time star Green Bay Packer lineman, Tuesday was named public relations director of the National American football league club.

Earpe's appointment to succeed George Strickler was announced by Emil R. Fischer, president of the Packer corporation.

Fischer announced also that Frank J. Jonet, secretary-treasurer of the club, had agreed to handle the business end of the front office." Fischer emphasized that Jonet would not have the title of business manager.

CHICAGO (AP) — John (Red) O'Quinn, a 6-foot, 2-inch Wake Forest end, has signed with the Chicago Bears for 1950. Owner-Coch George Halas announced Tuesday.

O'Quinn was the second player drafted by the Bears this season who reached an agreement this month. A week ago the number one draft pick, halfback Charles Funsinger of Florida, signed a contract.

the interest in our head coaching job. I am not at liberty to reveal the names of all the men we interviewed because it would be a source of considerable embarrassment to them in their present positions," Brechler continued.

However, it was learned that Larry Siemerling, College of the Pacific and Denny Myers, Boston College, were still contenders for the job until Tuesday's early-morning meeting.

Siemerling, who was probably the No. 2 choice, was reportedly lukewarm to overtures made to him during the nationwide hunt for Anderson's successor.

Eddie Backed Raff

Anderson was reported to have given strong support to Raffensperger during the past three weeks.

Raffensperger, who won football letters here in 1924 and 1925 and a basketball monogram in 1924, got his first touch of football as a college freshman in 1923.

Victor high school, which Raffensperger attended, didn't play football in the 1920's.

Raffensperger joins a select group of high school coaches who have sprung into top college coaching jobs. Paul Brown went from Massillon, Ohio high school to Ohio State and on to the Cleveland Browns.

Bob Zuppke, former coach at Illinois and Bert LaBrucherie, former coach at UCLA, are other grid tutors who have coached prep schools immediately prior to taking large college assignments.

Raffensperger lives at 510 Park road with his wife and four children. Gene, the eldest child, attends Antioch college in Ohio. The other three children attend school here.

LEONARD RAFFENSBERGER
... Hawkeye Football Coach

Across The Sports Desk
By Alan Moyer

Now Who'll Get Raff's Old Job? —

It took 17 days of excitement and forecasting to settle the question but Iowa has a football coach again. Now the guessing game turns to another part of the coaching staff—who will be Leonard Raffensperger's assistants?

Four men assist in guiding Iowa's gridgers, a backfield coach, a line coach, an end coach and a freshman coach. Three of these positions are technically still filled—by the men on Dr. Eddie Anderson's staff.

There's one position, however, that must have a new man in charge, to take the place of the man who is now the head coach. The fieldhouse was swarming with rumors Tuesday afternoon as to who'd be the new freshman coach. Probably nobody knows as yet. If Raffensperger, the one who'll do the choosing of assistants, knows, he hasn't told anybody about it.

One of the rumors for the fresh job, a mighty important position in the production of football teams, has Harold Tackleson, head coach at Burlington high school, as the successor to Raffensperger's freshman duties. We're inclined to agree.

Tackleson is the outstanding coach in the Little Six grid conference and two years ago was named "Coach of the Year" in the annual state poll taken by the Des Moines Register. His Burlington teams have been consistently good, ever since he took over in the early 1930's.

Before he took over the Burlington job Tackleson was coach at New London high school, following his days as a quarterback at Iowa Wesleyan. After a great career at a small college he had a chance to play for the Chicago Bears but turned it down.

The freshman coach will be named within a week to 10 days.

Hours following the first news of the naming of a new Iowa coach the fieldhouse still buzzed with activity. Pops Harrison, the temporarily retired Iowa basketball coach, was in the building for the first time in two weeks.

As Raffensperger rushed around among photographers and reporters, answering long-distance calls and all sorts of questions, Pops offered Raff's chief claim to fame to the assembled press.

"In 1925," Pops said, "I set the conference record for personal fouls committed in basketball, so along comes Raffensperger in '26 and breaks it. It made him famous."

The future of the assistant coaches, Frank Carideo, Pat Boland and Bob Fitch are still in doubt, of course. All three said they didn't know where they'd be next season.

Carideo was in the running for the head coaching job and it may be a fairly safe bet that he'll not be around for next season. He had nothing but praise for the new Iowa coach and said "I'm glad Raff got it, they've hired a good man."

Just the same we doubt if Carideo stays when his boss would be a man formerly under him at the same school. Undoubtedly Carideo could help any head coach here, he's familiar with the setup and knows the situation thoroughly.

He's had a couple of offers at head coaching jobs at smaller schools, which he has turned down, as he has the idea of going east with his old boss. An offer now might be a different story to leave as head coach elsewhere. Like everyone else we're guessing, but Carideo would probably rather stay at Iowa as backfield coach than take the top job somewhere else, unless it could be at a large school.

Francis Cretzmeier, Iowa track coach, will speak at the noon meeting of the Optimists club today. He'll pass on information about the Northwestern meet scheduled for Saturday and give hints as to the track prospect at Iowa. The meeting will be at the Hotel Jefferson.

Giants Become 1st Club To Sign Entire Roster

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants reached salary agreement with the last of their players Tuesday, apparently gaining the distinction of being the first club in either major league to show a clean slate.

Both Dave Koslo, the southpaw pitcher who posted the best earned run average in the National league last year, and Bill Miller, another lefty who toiled for Knoxville in the Tri-State league, agreed to terms by telephone. There are an even 40 on the Giants roster.

Freshman Baseballers To Meet at 7 Tonight

Coach Otto Vogel has asked that freshman baseball candidates meet tonight in the fieldhouse at 7 p.m. The baseball coach will discuss plans for the coming season.

Winfield Wins, 50-44, Over Blue Hawks

By JACK HEEGER
University high's Blue Hawks took a look at Winfield's press clippings, but they weren't too impressed Tuesday night as they threw a scare into the visiting Wolves before losing, 50-44. It was Winfield's 20th straight victory.

Highly favored Winfield looked as if it might run away with the game early in the first half, but the fighting Blue Hawks kept within range. However, a blistering last quarter rally failed to bring them the required points.

The loss of big Jim Vitosh via the foul route with a little less than six minutes to play hurt U-high's chances, as the 6-foot, 5-inch center held Winfield's high scorer, Ron Kester to two field goals, in addition to scoring seven points himself.

Carter Morgan and Curt Miller led the Hawks' surge in the last half, Morgan getting four fielders and Miller scoring five.

Winfield took a 14-8 first quarter lead and this was increased to 24-16 at halftime. Morgan began hitting the basket and the Iowa Citizens came within five points at the three-quarter mark, 34-29.

Although Miller and Dean Evans combined to put their mates one point behind, 35-34, the loss of Vitosh showed the handwriting on the wall. Kester popped in six straight free shots, and his superior height enabled him to score three more fielders, all after Vitosh left.

Northwest Championships
Iowa's gymnastics team, fresh from its first dual win of the season against Western Illinois Teachers last weekend, will compete in the Northwest open championships at Minneapolis Saturday.

The Hawkeye home schedule has passed its peak for the winter season. Only remaining events in the fieldhouse are the Minnesota swimming meet Feb. 23, Big Ten wrestling championships March 3 and 4, Creighton basketball March 4, Minnesota basketball March 6, Indiana gymnastics March 11 and Big Ten gymnastics March 25.

Iowa's teams captured three of four home wins last weekend.

Track Meet Saturday Only Event Scheduled Here Over Weekend

A dual track meet with Northwestern Saturday afternoon is the only event scheduled at home this weekend although Iowa clubs are carded in four other meets.

The track team, which opened its season with a decisive win over Marquette last Friday night, will meet the Wildcats in a 2:30 meet.

Travel Weekend
It's a travel weekend for the basketball team, with the Wisconsin game at Madison Saturday and the Minnesota battle at Minneapolis Monday.

The Iowa swimmers also have two meets slated over the weekend — Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday and Michigan State at East Lansing Monday. Although the tankers lost their last meet to defending NCAA and Big Ten champion Ohio State, they established two new university records.

Cubs Hire Brooklyn's No 1 Talent Scout

CHICAGO — Wid Matthews, Branch Rickey's number one talent scout, was hired by Philip K. Wrigley Tuesday to "give the Chicago Cubs a winning team" as director of player personnel.

Matthews thus succeeded former manager and former Vice-President Charlie Grimm as the chief talent searcher for the team, eighth place finishers in the National League for the past two seasons.

Wrigley said Matthews would have the "final decision" on any move to strengthen the team, except in case of "serious conflict" of opinion with other executives. In that case, Wrigley said he would make the decision.

Work with Frisch
Wrigley and Manager Frank Frisch announced jointly that Matthews would join the team next week. He was to work closely with Frisch, Business Manager Jimmy Gallagher and Farm Director Jack Sheehan.

Wrigley asserted that Matthews would have the funds needed to go out and make purchases of trades that will benefit the club and produce a pennant winner "as soon as possible."

The club president said he had long admired the technique of the New York Yankees of having young men "ready to step in" when older ones quit, and added he hopes "Matthews can do that for the Cubs." Matthews, who has been associated with Rickey for 15 years with both the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, was not given a specific contract, but was hired verbally. His salary was not disclosed, but it was believed to be around $20,000 per year.

Had Permission
Rickey gave Matthews permission to negotiate with the Cubs for the job, Wrigley said. He added he assured Matthews that he would be given "time to do the job."

Matthews, an outfielder with the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators after minor league seasoning, lives in Hattiesburg, Miss. In recent years he has been the choice of National League President Ford Frick to scout the American league pennant winner in preparation for the world series.

BROWNS SIGN WOODS
ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Browns Tuesday night announced the signing of Ken Woods, long ball-hitting outfielder of the Baltimore Orioles, to a 1950 contract.
