Bednasek Appears in District Court

Court Rejects Bednasek Motion For Dismissal of Information

County Atty. Jack White's information charging Robert E. Bednasek with first degree murder was upheld by Judge James P. Gaffney Friday morning.

Bednasek, 24-year-old former SUI psychology student, is accused of the strangulation slaying of Margaret Anne Jackson, 20, SUI coed, in his rooming house here Dec. 11, 1949.

His attorneys, Clair Hamilton, Iowa City, and Milo O. Hanzlik, Cedar Rapids, requested the court in a motion filed Wednesday to set aside White's information.

Bypasses Grand Jury
(The information is a formal charge which takes the case to district court without going through the grand jury. It lists the names of the witnesses White plans to use and their testimony.)

Bednasek's attorneys claimed White did not list all of the witnesses he expected to use and asked that his information be thrown out.

Though overruling the defense motion, Gaffney ordered White to file in district court by 10 a.m. Monday County Coroner George D. Callahan's autopsy report on Miss Jackson.

Wednesday's motion charged the county attorney's information had withheld the autopsy report from the defense attorneys.

Charge Law Misuse
They also charged White had misused a law which provides that the prosecuting attorney can present additional witnesses by informing the defense of their names and expected testimony four days in advance.

White, however, maintained Hamilton could have received information on the coroner's report through legal channels by asking for a bill of particulars.

(A bill of particulars consists of a more specific statement of witnesses and testimony which are expected by the state.)

Question Witness List
When White took the stand in court Friday, Hamilton asked him if he had left names of doctors he expected to present as witnesses from the information.

White said he was uncertain but he didn't think he had. Later, White said he didn't have all his evidence available at the time he filed the information.

Hamilton closed his arguments by questioning the constitutionality of the information laws, citing recent dissenting opinion in the U.S. supreme court by four of the nine justices, which applied the fifth amendment to states.

"Only One Ruling"
Before Gaffney dictated his order overruling the defense motion, he said, "Before the supreme courts change their rulings, there is only one ruling I can make." Bednasek now will have to enter a plea on the first degree murder charge, but no date was set for his arraignment.

The trial date can't be set, until the plea is entered, Gaffney said Friday.

RIVERBOAT COBB BURNS CALVERT CITY, KY. —The towboat Irvin S. Cobb caught fire while tied up at the Tennessee river dock of the Pennsylvania salt company here Friday and burned to the waterline.

Now, About That 'D' You Gave Me . . .

SUI professors forget things too. Prof. John A. Eldridge, physics department, Friday appeared in police court for a parking violation. After hearing Eldridge's story, the judge recommended a safety check for the professor's car and reminded him that he once taught the judge physics.

"By George," Eldridge told Trott, "if I had known that, I would have talked a little stronger."

Missing B-36 Crewmen May Be Weak, Injured

SEATTLE, WASH., (UP) — Five still missing members of a 17-man B-36 crew "obviously" are too weak or too badly injured to attract rescuers doggedly searching lonely Princess Royal island off the gale-swept British Columbia coast, the RCAF said Friday.

Royal Canadian airforce search officials said it was "obvious" that the five were either "too badly injured or too weak to call out" to make their locations known to the searchers.

"They would be in a fairly weakened condition by now," the officers said. The RCAF officers also pointed out the possibility that some or all of the five might have parachuted into the storm-tossed sea.

Eight search teams, including civilian mountaineers from the Vancouver, B.C., Alpine club, were scattered through the desolate island in stormy Queen Charlotte sound, searching for the five missing members of the B-36 crew which bailed out of its stricken plane Monday night. The plane was on a flight from Alaska to Texas.

Twelve of the crew have been rescued. Nine left McChord, Wash., airforce base at 8:55 a.m. (Iowa time) Friday aboard a C-54 for their home base at Ft. Worth, Tex. Two remained at McChord field hospital and the 12th was still aboard the Canadian navy destroyer Cayuga.

Four parachutes sighted dangling from trees, a man's cry for help and a volley of gun shots kept hopes high that the five remaining crew members would be found alive.

None Injured in 3-Car Collision

A three vehicle collision on highway 218 Friday night caused estimated damages of $485 but no injuries, police reported.

Police said a car driven north on Lookout hill by Carl A. Larsen, 1328 Muscatine street, collided first with a car and then with a semi-trailer truck, both going south.

The accident occurred at approximately 7:30 p.m. Operator of the second car was Philip E. West, D3, Chariton. The truck driver was identified as Harry Ruyle, Durchester, Ill., police said.

Damages were estimated at $300 for the Larsen vehicle, $35 for the West vehicle and $150 for the truck.

Fatal Blast Investigated By Chemical Officials

MIDLAND, MICH., (UP) — Investigators hunted through the rubble of a wrecked building at the Dow Chemical company Friday in a near-hopeless search for the cause of a blast which killed eight men here Thursday.

While this saddened chemical city of 18,000 prepared to bury its dead, two of the 28 persons injured in the explosion fought for their lives. The others were out of danger.

Dow officials held little hope their investigation would uncover the cause of the latex - plant tragedy.

Czech 'Professor' At Cedar Rapids May Be Deported

WASHINGTON (AP)—The immigration service said Friday it is seeking to deport Frank Meissner, 26-year-old Czech, on grounds that he misrepresented his purpose in coming to this country last year.

Meissner has been making his home at Cedar Rapids with a family which has befriended him.

He arrived in the United States Jan. 15, 1949, from Copenhagen, Denmark. He was admitted on a non-quota visa, the immigration service said, on the understanding that he had been employed to teach at Iowa State college.

A warrant for Meissner's arrest for deportation, issued Dec. 1, 1949, alleged that he had not been a professor abroad, although he had done some part-time teaching in Europe, and that he "did not come to the United States to carry on a vocation as professor, but as a research fellow."

The warrant asserted that for these reasons he was not entitled to a non-quota status and was therefore in the country illegally.

The service said that its information was that he had not taught at Iowa State college since his arrival. He was taken into custody at Cedar Rapids Dec. 15 and later paroled there.

22 Measles Cases Reported in City

Twenty-two new cases of measles were reported Friday in Iowa City, according to records in the office of City Clerk George J. Dohrer.

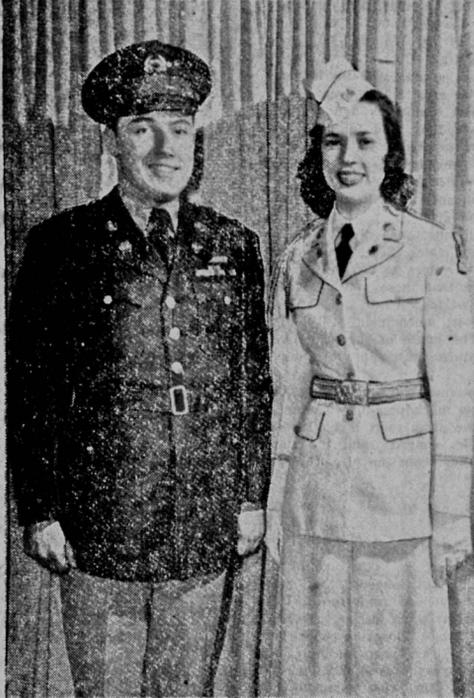

Total number of cases for the month was 237. Six cases of chicken pox and three of mumps also have been reported during February.

The local department of health has described the measles outbreak here as an epidemic, but has added that the situation is the same all over Iowa, some sections even having worse epidemics than Iowa City.

Owner Estimates $1,000 Damage to Greenhouse

A fire in a greenhouse at 1240 South Riverside drive early this morning caused damage estimated by its owner, Ira Hall, at over $1,000.

Hall said he didn't know how the fire started. The greenhouse, which was not insured, contained no plants, but was being used as a storehouse for tools, Hall said.

Cadet Colonels Reign Over Ball

Flood Areas Grow in South

Flood waters spilled across more farmland in the south Friday, and engineers predicted the army of 35,000 homeless would increase.

Meanwhile, a new blast of frigid air whistled into the northern plains from Canada and spread south and eastward.

Rising tributaries of the Mississippi river engulfed more cotton land in flood-plagued Louisiana. Guardsmen manning amphibious "ducks" churned through swamps and bayous to whisk lowland residents from the spreading path of flood waters that already cover 1,840,000 acres. Another 190,000 acres are under water in adjoining Mississippi.

About 8,000 have been driven from their homes in both states. The highwater mark is not expected in the valleys until the first of March, and there was little hope that the water would recede until late next month.

Another 23,000 are homeless in Arkansas and additional evacuations are expected along the lower St. Francis next week. However, the swollen White, Black, Cache and Upper Ouachita rivers have started dropping.

An estimated 3,000 are homeless in Missouri and 800 in Kentucky, but flood conditions have eased in these two states.

One of the biggest current flood threats was at Marksville, La., a community of 2,000.

Death Toll Mounts In Head-on Crash of Long Island Trains

ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N.Y. (AP) — Two crowded Long Island railroad trains crashed head-on here Friday night and first reports listed from five to 15 persons killed.

An unidentified trainman at the scene told newsmen the death toll might reach 50.

Rockville Centre police said only one death officially was verified thus far.

They estimated the injured at 100 or more.

Scores of injured were rushed to Long Island hospitals in this area.

Every doctor in the vicinity was mobilized for emergency duty.

Many Trapped
Many persons were trapped in the twisted coaches of the two electric trains.

Acetylene torches in the hands of rescue squads bit into the splintered steel to free them.

Floodlights played on the scene. The Long Island railroad said an eastbound train on its way to Babylon, Long Island, ran by a stop signal and hit the westbound train going into Manhattan.

Rendering Crash
A dead silence followed a rending crash of metal as the trains met on a single, make-shift track on the western edge of Rockville Centre, a Nassau county village about 30 miles east of Manhattan.

Then the screams of the wounded pierced the dark silence.

Paul Back, 21, riding in the second car of one train, said, "there were a lot of people lying around seriously cut and hurt."

Back, who escaped serious injury, said many persons were trapped in the cars and their screams knifed through the night in the dead silence that followed the rending crash.

Back said he heard one man scream from the wreckage:

"Kill me, please kill me."

He said a woman pinned beneath the weight of tons of shattered steel was alive and crying: "Get the weight off me."

Both trains were electric powered.

All available doctors in this area of Long Island were called in to assist.

Recruit Help
A rescue squad and a floodlight were dispatched by police in Lynbrook, N.Y., a nearby Long Island community.

Rockville Centre is about 80 miles east of Manhattan on the south shore of Long Island, in an area of Nassau county heavily populated by residents who commute back and forth from New York.

James O'Donnell, taxi dispatcher here, said one of his men had visited the scene and given this account:

The trains were the westbound train leaving Rockville Centre at 9:31 (Iowa time) for New York and running a few minutes late, and the westbound train from New York due here at 9:36 p.m. (Iowa time).

The trains met head-on with a great rending noise that was heard for blocks.

Concert to Feature Popular Program

A program of light and popular music will be presented Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of the Iowa Union by the University concert band.

Prof. Charles Righter, director of university bands, said tickets could be obtained at the band office, Whetstone's drug store and the desk in the Union.

The program includes "Spanish March - Ambarita Roca" by Texidor; "Headlines - A Modern Rhapsody" by Colby; "Fantasy and Fugue on 'Oh Susanna'" by Foster, arranged by Cailliet.

The first movement from "American Symphonette, No. 2" by Gould; "Hilbilly from 'Americana'" by Gould; "Andalucia" by Lacuona and "The Skyliner," a march by Alford.

MARKS VARYING FROM A TO F were received with mixed emotions by students whose last name initials varied from A to O, Friday at University Hall (left). During one phase of the give away session, lines stretched through all parts of the building with as many as 50 students waiting at one time at each of the three windows. After getting grades, unlined areas of the hall gave students room to release emotions ranging from sheer horror to sublimation. Unbelievers paused every few steps along their route out of the building to examine letter grades more closely. A look of pleasant surprise, not anguish, was registered on the face of John Nugent, A3, Minnetonka, when he received a B he didn't expect (right). "But otherwise," said Nugent, "they're just what I expected." Curiosity and suspense kept him waiting in line for 15 minutes. Today students with P to S last name initials, and Monday the remaining students will get their grades at the marked windows.

Electoral College Under Fire —

The U.S. senate last week passed a constitutional amendment which would abolish the electoral college system.

The archaic method of electing the president and vice-president should have been kicked out years ago.

Most objectionable feature of the electoral college is the unit rule, which credits the winner in every state with all the votes, including those cast against him.

It is possible for a presidential candidate to win a plurality of the popular vote, but fail to receive the requisite number of electoral votes. In the 1948 election for instance, a transfer of 3,554 votes in Ohio and 8,933 in California would have denied Truman a clear majority of the electoral vote despite his popular victory.

The election would have been thrown into the house of representatives where the Dixiecrats, a minority group, would have held the balance of power.

Another undesirable feature of the electoral college is that electors are legally free to cast their ballots for whom they please. This was illustrated during the summer of 1948 when a few southern states threatened to withhold their electoral votes from Harry Truman.

The Lodge-Gossett amendment passed by the senate would abolish the electoral college, but retain the electoral vote. Each state would keep the same number of electoral votes as it has senators and representatives.

The amendment has numerous advantages. First, electoral votes will be divided in exact ratio to the popular vote. Had the amendment been in effect in 1948, Dewey would have received 21.6 electoral votes in New York, Truman, 21.2 and Henry Wallace, 3.9. As it turned out Dewey got all 47.

Third, minority groups will no longer be able to exercise great power over presidents, presidential candidates and political parties because they hold the balance of political power in pivotal states. In the last presidential election, Henry Wallace proved conclusively in New York that minority groups can spell the difference between victory and defeat.

Fourth, it will encourage the two-party system in one-party states. Republican candidates can appeal to voters in the solid south with the assurance that those votes cast for them will not be wasted.

The Lodge-Gossett amendment still has a long way to go. The house of representatives and 36 state legislatures must approve it within seven years.

Whether it becomes law depends in the last analysis on how much pressure is brought by Americans at the grass roots level. It's up to the public to let congress and the state legislatures know they want the electoral college abolished.

Survey of the Kiss —

A recent survey at the University of Kansas showed five out of six men and women turned their heads to the right when kissing.

Forty men and women were polled in an attempt to show that the automobile had changed American kissing style predominantly to the left.

Before the automobile, young men kissed their girls in the parlor, turning their heads to the right or left, depending upon which side the girl sat.

But with the advent of the auto, the girl always sat on the right so the man had to lean toward the right to kiss her. However, the man usually tilted his head to the left to effect the kiss.

The survey points out, however, that most of the students interviewed preferred to tilt their heads to the right when kissing in places other than the automobile. Thus, the conclusion that right is right, at least when kissing.

Following the survey, several of the students queried said they were completely befuddled as to which was the correct way to kiss.

The answer, if any, might be found in a make-shift Gertrude "Steinism": A kiss is a kiss, is a kiss, is a kiss, is a kiss . . .

H-Bomb? Poof, Mere Firecracker! —

We knew it would happen. The H-bomb has been outdated before it is even invented.

Sen. Millard Tydings of Maryland talked Thursday of a new "X-bomb" that will be capable of wiping out civilization itself in one super-duper boom.

"The new bomb will be to the H-bomb what the H-bomb is to the A-bomb," Tydings declared.

(Scientists estimate the H-bomb may be anywhere from four to 1,000 times as powerful as the present A-bomb.)

Tydings, a member of the joint congressional atomic committee, did not say whether scientists now are thinking in specific terms about the X-bomb. But those in contact with H-bomb experts know "the H-bomb is not the last of the great weapons," he explained.

The senator apparently has solved our thickening alphabet soup-bomb problem. Blow up civilization and there will be no one left to conjure up other — still more fantastic — bombs.

Birthday Celebration

Washington's Statue to Be Unveiled

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—Thirteen presidents of the United States will be in the news on Feb. 22 at historic Alexandria, Va., suburb of the national capital, when President Harry S. Truman helps unveil a 17-foot heroic bronze statue of George Washington in ceremonies before high Masonic officials at the George Washington Masonic National Memorial.

President Truman will arrive early at the memorial to review newly placed bronze plaques of 12 other United States presidents who were Masons. President Truman himself is a past grand master of Masons in Missouri.

Other presidents whose plaques, just recently completed, will be in place along a semicircular hall of the memorial include Washington, James Monroe, Andrew Jackson, James Knox Polk, James Buchanan, Andrew Johnson, James A. Garfield, William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Warren G. Harding and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A plaque has been completed also of President Truman, but will not be erected at this time at the request of the president.

THE GREAT BRONZE statue of George Washington will be unveiled at 2:30 p.m. in the Masonic memorial's stately Memorial Hall under the bright lights of television and newsreel cameras and the flash bulbs of news photographers.

The statue, actually 17 feet 3 inches tall and weighing nearly eight tons, shows Washington as worshipful master of the Alexandria lodge of Masons while first president of the United States.

Washington stands with gavel in hand. His great cloak is draped in folds on the 12-foot chair standing immediately behind the imposing statue, in a large niche at one end of the memorial hall.

The dome of this niche is of golden vein marble. Flanking the memorial hall on either side are eight green granite columns, each about 40 feet high, nearly five feet in diameter, and weighing about 68 tons.

Bryant Baker, sculptor of the magnificent new Washington statue, is famous on this continent and in Europe for his numerous works. His statues and busts are in 30 American cities, and in numerous museums and art galleries.

HE HAS done much work in England, and his art is also found in Norway, Germany, France, Canada and Panama. The Washington statue is the product of many years of planning and work by the sculptor.

Baker has portrayed eight presidents of the United States, and numerous statesmen and national leaders. Three of his statues are in Statuary Hall of the United States Capitol, and three busts of chief justices are in the United States Supreme Court building.

Among his famed works outside the Washington area are his "Pioneer woman" in Ponca City, Okla., and his "Young Lincoln" statue in Delaware park, Buffalo, N.Y. In England he has sculptured 15 busts and statues of King Edward VII.

Alexandria was an important port town half a century before the federal government moved to Washington in 1800. The small hill on which the George Washington Masonic National Memorial stands was originally a choice for the site of the United States capitol.

GEORGE WASHINGTON himself advanced reasons, however, why the capitol should be erected on the Maryland side of the Potomac. His idea was accepted.

Visitors to the Masonic National Memorial may see numerous personal and Masonic relics of George Washington. One is the small silver-bladed trowel with ivory handle which Washington used on Sept. 18, 1793, to lay the cornerstone of the capitol.

The Masonic apron and sash which Washington wore during that historic ceremony are also preserved in the national memorial's museum. Alexandria Lodge No. 22 had an important role in cornerstone laying ceremonies of the capitol.

George Washington died at his Mount Vernon home along the Potomac seven miles south of Alexandria on Dec. 14, 1799. Most of the details of his funeral four days later were in the hands of Masons, many of them members of his own Lodge No. 22.

House Committee Keeps FEPC Action Tied Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a 6 to 6 vote, the house rules committee Thursday refused to clear the hotly disputed anti-job discrimination FEPC bill for a showdown on the house floor.

The administration-backed measure would set up a fair employment practices commission armed with the power to prosecute employers in cases of discrimination in the hiring and firing of Negroes and other minorities.

Unpopular Man About Town

Interpreting the News —

Churchill Boosts Conservatives' Chances

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.

Winston Churchill's suggestion that another top-level attempt be made for an agreement with Russia has both the British and American governments worried.

The old boy obviously has settled on a deep-seated popular desire for peace to further his party's chances in the British elections, and the London bookmakers say the Conservative chances have taken a sudden rise.

Not that Churchill is insincere, although he knows full well why Britain and the United States consider it futile to seek rapprochement through negotiations with Russia now.

It would be only natural for him to feel that things went better with Russia when he and Roosevelt were handling them personally. He is bound to think, for instance, that things would have turned out better at Potsdam if he had not been yanked away from the conferences by the British electorate, leaving the allied cause in the hands of Attlee and Truman, two new hands at the wheel.

Attlee, Bevin, Truman and the American state department have reacted quickly in an effort to clarify Secretary Dean Acheson's recent statement, which was originally interpreted as meaning that negotiation with Russia is entirely futile. Now they are emphasizing that the door is always open if Russia shows any desire for agreement, and the President thinks there might be a time when a new mission to Moscow might do some good.

Both the British and American administrations are caught between two situations. In one, they are sure, only the hard fact that Russia has gone her limits against a solid world opposition will put her in a frame of mind to seek a modus vivendi.

Racial Film Makers Miss 'Oscar Boal'

HOLLYWOOD — The movie-makers who turned out the 1949 crop of racial films were "surprised and sorry" Friday that they virtually missed the Oscar boal. But, they said, that won't stop them from making more movies of the same kind. The customers liked them, though academy voters didn't.

Not a single movie about Negroes was nominated for an academy award. And the players of only one picture in the cyclical "Pinky" were named as eligible to receive those famous statuettes at the final award event March 23.

Jeanne Crain was nominated for best actress for "Pinky" and Ethel Barrymore and Ethel Waters as best supporting actresses.

But in the 19 categories for feature-length dramas, "Intruder in the Dust," "Home of the Brave" and "Lost Boundaries" didn't rate a mention.

The pictures that Hollywood brushed off won raves from the critics and reaped fat profits at the boxoffice. "Pinky" was the second biggest grosser of the year, second only to "Jolson Sings Again," according to weekly magazine Variety.

and the time when that will be a fact has not yet arrived.

In the other there are an increasing number of expressions of a desire by the British and American publics that diplomats not rely too strongly on what might prove to be fallible judgments in this matter, and that they keep probing constantly for an opening.

The diplomats, for instance, can give involved explanations of why the United States cannot negotiate world problems with Russia on a bilateral basis. But people figure that Truman could negotiate with Stalin up to a certain point if he wants to, trying to find out Stalin's terms for peace, acting directly for the United States and as a go-between for America's allies.

Many a truce has been attained through go-betweens. A full-dress conference might result. And as long as there is any "might" about any idea for peace, a lot of people are going to want to pursue it.

The diplomats, on the other hand, know their problems. They know when opportunities for peace will be taken as a sign of weakness by an opponent which considers weakness an invitation to further aggression.

It may be written in history that the Allies missed the boat by not making some "stunt" advance to Stalin a year ago, when communism had just run up against an impassable barrier in Europe and was at a standstill. If it proves possible to erect another barrier in the orient, and the Kremlin's drive is halted again, there may be another opportunity.

But to seek peace now, with communism riding high on great new successes, would only be to seek the peace of the loser.

Hints to Prevent Colds

During Winter Weather

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW HAVEN, CONN. (AP)—You winterize your car. How about winterizing yourself for comfort and health?

Here are some tips for keeping warm and avoiding colds. They are cited by Dr. L.P. Herrington, director of research of the John B. Pierce Laboratory of Hygiene, and research associate professor of public health, Yale university.

Clothes help conserve body heat, of course. The best kind is loose clothing, which leaves an insulating layer of air between the skin and the clothes.

One trick will get you more warmth out of clothes. This is to have them really warm when you put them on. The benefit isn't from having been near a radiator, but because they are dehydrated.

When you go outdoors, they soak up moisture from the air, and this makes the clothes gain heat. It's reverse evaporation. A heavy suit and coat, well dried out, will generate as much heat in a short time this way as your body normally produces in an hour or two, Dr. Herrington said.

Just resting, your body produces about 100 calories of heat an hour — enough in electrical energy to keep a 100-watt bulb burning. About 70 percent of this heat comes from your liver, intestines and other internal organs.

When the temperature drops, your body thermostats stir you to make muscles work and generate more heat. In heavy exercises, your heat production may triple, with two-thirds of it coming from the big muscles.

But there's danger in this, if you aren't used to heavy exercise. The middle-aged man may feel wonderful shoveling snow but the work may overload his heart and arteries, crumpling him up in a heart attack or stroke.

More food, especially proteins and fats, will boost heat production. A meal rich in meats and other proteins may make to 40 percent more heat in a short time.

For a good rest at night, keep your bedroom temperature between 50 and 65 degrees. This is the best range, as shown by two-year studies of sleepers at various temperatures.

Fresh air addicts, throwing the window wide open, have to pay more in fuel bills to warm the room the next day, and don't get any apparent benefit from sleeping in 30 to 40 degree temperatures. If anything, they expose their noses and throats to too much cooling, which may make it easier for a head cold to get started.

You'll have a better chance against catching cold if you can keep your home at 50 percent humidity, in a temperature of 70 degrees.

Forced Confession Hinted in American's Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department hinted Friday that Communist Hungary may have used brutality to wring a "confession" from American businessman Robert A. Vogeler, who went on trial in Budapest Friday morning on spy charges.

It all but said the Hungarian regime already has judged Vogeler guilty. The department promised to keep close watch on the trial proceedings.

Vogeler, vice president and eastern European manager of the International Telephone and Telegraph company, did not get a chance to enter a plea. British citizen Edgar Sanders, a co-defendant in the trial and Budapest manager of I.T. & T., pleaded guilty to spying for the United States and Britain.

State department press officer Michael J. McDermott said Hungarian officials, even before the trial began, denounced Vogeler and his fellow defendants as "the vilest and most dangerous enemies" of Hungary.

This, he said, belies Hungarian promises of a fair trial and "raises the question whether the Hungarian verdict has not already sealed a verdict of guilty in this case."

As if anticipating a possible "confession" by Vogeler, McDermott added that the trial "requires careful observation and scrutiny" particularly "to note any indications that Vogeler has been subjected to coercion by intimidation, lack of food, drugging or other forms of mistreatment."

(When Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty was imprisoned by the Hungarian courts a little more than a year ago after confessing to "treason" charges, there were widespread reports that he had been drugged or otherwise mistreated.)

McDermott cautioned against accepting as proof of the spy charges any evidence that Vogeler merely reported facts which were "open to innocent view" of any bystander in Hungary.

Pre-School Art Includes Singing Lions

By GLORIA LATHROP
The judges just didn't have enough awards to go around at the Woodlawn Pre-school Art exhibit Thursday and Friday nights. The 3, 4 and 5-year-olds were holding their own in the field of art.

After stepping inside the door of the pre-school, Mom and Dad were faced with singing lions, buffaloes, dragons and a host of others which only young and vivid imaginations could create.

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Davis, directors of the Woodlawn pre-school, were host and hostess at the temporary art gallery.

"Art can exist at any age," Mr. Davis said. Proof of this was found on every wall. The tiny modernists were able to put their ideas and stories across in spite of their limited experience.

The pictures in watercolor, crayon and poster paint were fascinating works, proud parents agreed.

Grand champion artist was Jane Wegmuller, 4, with her picture of "Long Arm." Judges presented awards on the basis of fundamental steps which the children were able to exercise in their drawings, such as balance, unity of design and originality.

Awards in the watercolor division went to "Little Cowboy" by Sherry Kupka, 4; "Orchid" by Danny Benton, 4, and "Design" by Lee Yih, 3.

Ribbons were awarded in the show card division to "Long Arms" by Jane Wegmuller; "Two Little Miners" by Bobby Calmer, 4; "Carriage and King" by Val Whitworth, 4, and "Baby in Bed" by Janny Reed, 4.

Crayon awards were presented to "Big Eyes" by Judy Boeye, 5; "Turtle" by Steve Peterson, 3; "Man with Hat" by Judy Walton, 3, and "Dragon with Fourteen Tails" by Butch Morrison, 5.

Special awards by the school faculty were given to "Singing Lion" by Bob Hodge, 4; "Scarecrow with Bird Flying Away" by Mike Sullivan, 4; "Cowboy Trying to Ride Buffalo" by Johnny Weigle, 4; "Boy in Swinning" by Ricky Schlegel, 4, and "Red Chair" by Doug MacGaw, 4.

The miniature artists titled their own pictures.

Judges were Prof. Wendell Johnson, director of the SUI speech clinic; Sister Mary Divine Heart, first grade teacher at St. Mary's school, and Prof. Frank Wachowiac, head of the art department at University high school.

The display is the third annual art exhibit sponsored by the pre-school.

"SEE GRANDMA, I CAN DRAW." Judy Walton, 3, boasts to her grandmother, Mrs. John Gutierrez, at the Woodlawn Pre-school Art exhibit. Judy, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Walton, 951 Maiden lane, won an award in the crayon division for her drawing, "Man with Hat." The figure was colored in blue with a red and green hat topped by a blue feather.

Pioneer Hospitality -- 1950 Style

By JULIE JENSON
Although she doesn't wear homespun and a poke bonnet, Mrs. Olive Bauer, 512 Rundell street, reflects the "old-fashioned" hospitality and good will of pioneer days as Iowa City's Welcome Wagon hostess.

The Welcome Wagon service is a highly personalized public relations program originated in 1928 by Thomas W. Briggs, a Tennessee newspaperman.

It is based on the gracious custom of frontier settlers of meeting the covered wagons of west-bound pioneers in "Welcome Wagons" carrying food and water.

In the same spirit, Mrs. Bauer carries gifts and greetings to Iowa City newcomers and tells them about libraries, churches, schools, shops, banks, services, parks, museums, youth groups and other organizations here.

Mrs. Bauer returned last week from New York city, where she participated in a training program for Welcome Wagon hostesses. Over 3,000 such hostesses are scattered throughout the United States, she said.

Curtains aren't up and rugs aren't down before the Welcome Wagon hostess calls on a new family, Mrs. Bauer said. With her she brings greetings from the mayor, the police chief and various civic groups.

She also carries a basket containing gifts for the family from local merchants sponsoring the program.

Various building projects in Iowa City, including the new veteran's hospital, insure Mrs. Bauer of a busy future, as they will bring many new families here.

Mrs. Bauer, who is also associated with an Iowa City realty firm, is in charge of housewarming and newcomer calls.

The complete Welcome Wagon program also includes calls on new parents, engaged girls and teen-age girls, she said.

Remember the story of the three little pigs? You'll recall that they each built a house—the first one threw his together from straw, the second built a quickie out of twigs. The third pig carefully piled brick on brick, and made a really solid structure for himself.

Then, one terrible day, a big bad wolf came sniffing around. He huffed and puffed—and down came the straw house and the twig house. But hard as he blew, he couldn't budge the brick house!

Like the first two pigs, some people overlook the importance of building a sound financial structure, forgetting that it's handy to have money saved if the wolf comes calling.

Fortunately, there are lots of other people who know they can save by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

They sign up at their office through the Payroll Savings Plan, or if they're self-employed, they enroll for the Bond-A-Month Plan at their bank. Soon they've built themselves a wolf-proof reserve as protection for emergencies.

Fenton Leads City High Attack With 18 Markers

CLINTON — Iowa City's Little Hawks saw a 10 point half-time margin evaporate in the fourth quarter here Friday night as Clinton's Riverkings strengthened their grip on second place in the Mississippi Valley with a 53-47 win.

The loss gave Iowa City a 6-4 mark in conference competition this season. If the Hawks had beaten Clinton, they would have moved into second place in league standings ahead of the Riverkings.

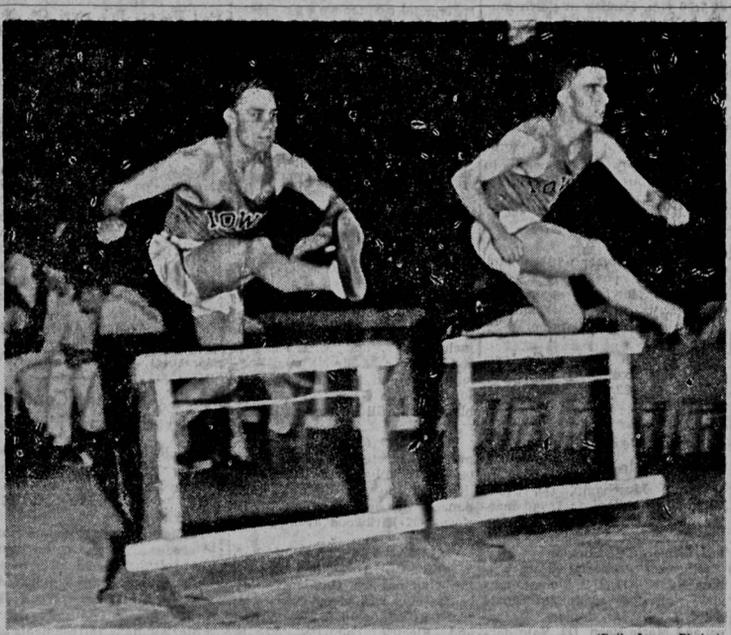

Iowa City sported a 29-19 bulge at halftime and went on to hold a 33-19 lead early in the third period, but Clinton came back to push ahead in the final quarter.

The Riverkings had sliced the 10-point halftime edge to five points at the end of the third quarter as Iowa City led, 38-33. Bob Fry, City high center who tallied 11 points, fouled out early in the third quarter to reduce Iowa City's rebounding efficiency.

HAWKEYE LOW HURLERS DuWayne Dietz (left) and Russ Merkel sailed over the barriers Friday in preparation for the Northwestern dual track meet scheduled for 1:30 this afternoon at the fieldhouse. This is the only Big Ten indoor meet of the season carded for the Hawkeye track. Iowa holds four consecutive track victories over Northwestern. One of the features of the meet will be the mile run battle between Jack Davis of Iowa and Dean Pieper of Northwestern.

Name Cole Possible Candidate for Frosh Grid Coaching Post

MARSHALLTOWN (AP) — A Marshalltown source close to Paul Breecher, director of athletics at Iowa, said Friday Leonard Cole, Marshalltown high school football coach, has a good chance of becoming the new Iowa freshman grid coach.

Cole said Friday he has not communicated with university officials since a head coach was named but was certain that the university still considers him available. He said he would be happy to get the promotion.

Won 58 Games
In nine years Cole's Bobcat gridgers won 58 games, lost 14 and tied four. His teams won the Central Iowa conference championship four times.

In Iowa City Friday there were no new developments reported in the search for a back field coach to replace Frank Carideo who Thursday announced he would leave the Iowa staff to enter business.

Among those most prominently mentioned to fill the vacancy are Sid Luckman, aging Chicago Bear quarterback and Skip Palrang, current football coach at Boys Town, Neb.

Luckman, who received professional football greatness with the Bears, was reportedly a candidate for the head coaching job resigned by Dr. Eddie Anderson.

Former Creighton Coach
Palrang, former Creighton university coach, was mentioned as a possible candidate for the backfield post in a column by Al Ney, sports editor of the Waterloo Courier.

Ney said, "Palrang and Raff often got together at coaching clinics to compare T formation thinking and found they were in thorough agreement."

MOSCONI LOSES
CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Diehl, Rockford, Ill., cue artist, Friday overwhelmed the veteran Willie Mosconi, Barrington, N.Y., 150-28 in the national pocket billiard tournament. Diehl, with an amazing high run of 114, achieved victory in five innings. Mosconi is a former world's pocket billiard champion.

WISCONSIN BEATS MICHIGAN
MADISON, WIS. — The Wisconsin fencing team outpointed Iowa Friday night in Wisconsin armory, 21-1-2-5-1-2, in the first competitive fencing meet by a Hawkeye team in 20 years.

Wisconsin, an established team in fencing circles, clearly demonstrated their superiority over the inexperienced Iowans by completely sweeping the saber event, 9-0.

Iowa scored two and a half points in the epee division and picked up three more in the foil class.

Not one man on the Iowa fencing squad has had previous fencing experience. The three experienced members originally reorienting for drills were declared ineligible just prior to the Wisconsin meet.

In the epee event, Iowans Ron Feldman and Dick Johnson posted victories while Dick McDaniel held Wisconsin's Les Soyka to a tie.

Chester Miller of Iowa decided on Don Casida, 5-4, and Chester Cartwright by the same score in the foil class. Iowa picked up an additional point in this class when Sheldon Tannenbaum defeated Casida, 5-3.

Wisconsin faces Michigan State tonight. The Iowa teams plan to return to Iowa City today.

Hawk Track Team Meets Wildcats Today

By EVERETT MONTGOMERY

Iowa's track team will attempt to lengthen its indoor dual meet victory string to five straight over Northwestern this afternoon at 1:30 when the two schools hook up in the only Big Ten indoor meet on the Hawk oval this season.

On the basis of comparative results, Iowa rates considerably stronger than the visiting Wildcats. The Hawks' can be figured to cop seven of the 12 events on the program to three for the Wildcats and the remaining two are toss-ups.

Mile Run Feature
Feature event is expected to be the mile run duel between a pair of high school rivals, Iowa's Jack Davis and Wildcat Dean Pieper. The last time this duo met on an indoor track was in the 1947 state meet in which the Wildcat miler outraced Davis to set a new state record of 4:30.5.

Marcellus Boston, Iowa's flashy Negro sprinter will compete against Northwestern's speed merchants Ed Tunnichill and Jim Holland in both the 60-yard dash and broad jump.

In the 60-yard dash, the absence of Jack Simpson will be a blow to the Hawkeyes' chance to pick up a second or third in the sprints.

Iowa should easily capture both hurdle events with Russ Merkel the front runner here. There is also a better-than-ever chance of copping the two front spots since Northwestern could only gain third place in each of the barrier events in its dual with Purdue Saturday.

... Mile Runner

Brother Combination
DuWayne Dietz will be Merkel's partner in the lows with Russ' twin brother, John, pairing with the record breaking speedster in the highs. Eugene Freels may go in both hurdle events also.

Another event that Northwestern had trouble in against Purdue was the 440-yard dash where two Bollermaker runners crossed the finish line first. Iowa's one-two punch in the quarter-mile, DeReef Greene and Craig Harper, should finish in that fashion.

The half-mile run can be counted in the Hawk column as well. Keith Brown and Mel Rosen, bolstered by Elliott McDonald and possibly Davis, could sweep this event.

Clair Jennett is quite capable of topping the 11 feet 8 inches that Northwestern's Drangshol cleared in winning that event against Purdue.

Northwestern's strength comes in the broad jump, shot put and two-mile run.

Wildcat Broad Jumper
Wildcat star Holland boasts of jumps of over 24 feet although he went only 23 feet 4 1-4 inches in the Purdue dual. In the shot put, Mike Orlich of Northwestern, has heaved the sphere nearly 49 feet. This is better than Iowa's weight men, Mike Riley and Bob Nelson have recorded.

Pieper, who runs the mile as well as the two mile, is favored to win the long drive. The winner of the mile run probably will snap the meet record of 4:26 plus and may establish a new fieldhouse record as well.

Bucks Can Clinch Conference Crown In Weekend Games

CHICAGO — Ohio State's title-bound Buckeyes will attempt to clinch the 1950 Big Ten basketball championship this weekend as they rely once again on their "six-man team" to defeat Northwestern and Indiana.

If Ohio State turns back Northwestern at the Chicago stadium, the Buckeyes will have a 9-1 record with two games left to play. A Wisconsin defeat by Iowa at Madison would leave the Badgers with a 5-3 record and button up a title share for Ohio State.

Badgers Only Contender
Wisconsin ostensibly is the only club with a fair chance of overthrowing the Buckeyes. The Badgers figure to whip Iowa at home after taking a 66-62 overtime decision from the Hawkeyes at Iowa City last Monday night. After Iowa, Wisconsin rounds out its league card against Purdue, Illinois, Northwestern and Minnesota.

Ohio which earlier downed Northwestern, 61-51, at Columbus, plays its final two games against Indiana at home and Michigan at Ann Arbor. The Buckeyes tonight will be seeking their eighth straight victory and 17th win against only three defeats for the season.

Six Man Team
Official conference statistics reveal that Coach Tippy Dye's Ohioans have relied on six key men in their title drive. These six have accounted for Ohio's remarkable team shooting average of .337 and their point per game average of 63.9 points. They are Dick Schmittler (.368), Bob Donham (.411), Fred Taylor (.340), Bob Burkholder (.329), Ted Jacobs (.302) and Gene Brown (.267). Between them, they have accounted for 550 of Ohio's 575 points.

The "home court" jinx has waned during recent weeks. Home teams won 15 out of the first 16 games and 18 out of the first 21. The present record shows 25 home victories out of 36 games or a 69-31 ratio in favor of the home team. During 1948 and 1949 the local team had a 75-15 advantage.

Warn Boxers About Breaking Contracts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pennsylvania's newest boxing commissioner said Friday he is "burned up" at fighters who sign contracts for a bout then attempt to run out. Commissioner John (Ox) DeGross sent out smoke signal warnings Friday. He had better not happen again in Pennsylvania.

DeGross said he's plenty angry with the recent antics of such prominent fighters as Kid Gavilan and Ray (Sugar) Robinson. Only the threat of a $30,000 fine and an indefinite suspension kept Gavilan from running out on his Feb. 20 date with Otis Graham here, DeGross said.

"And believe me, it was only a doctor's benevolence that kept the same thing from happening to Robinson," the commissioner declared.

DeGross disclosed that Gavilan's managers, Angel Lopez and Fernando Balido wanted to bypass their Philadelphia bout. They wanted to box in Canada later and then go home to Cuba.

"I had to read the riot act to them to make them realize that signed contracts in Pennsylvania are not to be trifled with."

Have You Heard? — Fencing Is Like Boxing, It Packs a Good Punch

By JOHN HOLWAY
Want a good chance to "haul off and slug somebody?" You can take up fencing, suggested Dr. Lucien Morris, tossing me a mask and picking up a saber for himself.

And the coach of Iowa's new fencing team swung the blade lightly against the heavy pad over my ears. While they were still ringing, he took a light foil and jabbed the heavy mesh in front of my chin. "Feels like a good hay-maker, doesn't it?" he smiled disarmingly. "Most of us can show a few scars," the coach went on modestly, rolling up his sleeves for proof—"particularly if you don't have adequate equipment."

But the Iowa fencers don't appear to be daunted by such occasional rough stuff. They left Friday morning with high spirits to meet undefeated Wisconsin that night. It is the first Iowa fencing competition since 1929.

What's more, six months ago none of the Iowa boys had done anything more with a sword than perhaps a playful imitation of Douglas Fairbanks or Errol Flynn.

Serious fencing, Dr. Morris said, is "not near so flashy" as the movie type, "but the fellows are surprised at first that it's a very accurate sport."

Footwork makes fencing very much like boxing, the doctor said, and he can, incidentally, execute a few cute shuffles of his own when he has a blade in his hand.

Dr. Morris, himself, has been fencing for 20 years. He took sixth place in the national Amateur Fencers league in 1943, the swordsmen's counterpart of the AAU.

He started coaching while he was a medical student at Case Institute, Cleveland. In six years his Case boys won an even split in matches with Big Ten teams and the Ohio state championship four of those years.

Iowa's Bowen Stassforth was born just five years too late. Last week he swam the 200-yards breast stroke in 2:20.0. In 1945, that would have been a world record.

Now, however, instead of the 2:22 mark that had stood since 1939, the record is a remote 2:14.7, thanks to Olympic Champ Joe Verduer.

And speaking of Olympic champions, Bow will meet John Davies of Michigan tonight. Davies, a sophomore, took fourth in the last Olympics, swimming for Australia. While Bow was swimming his 2:20 here, Davies went him a shade better with a time of 2:19.8, the best mark recorded to date this season.

"I love to see Bow get that gleam in his eyes," Dave Armbruster, the Iowa coach, is fond of saying. Ordinarily, the husky Navy vet from Los Angeles hangs back in the race. Then, as his coach says, he "gets that gleam."

That's how Bow passed everyone but Keith Carter to take second in the Big Ten last winter and it's the same tactics he used on Joe Balmores of Ohio State this year.

When the conference championships come up, it ought to be anybody's race. Bow has posted 2:20.0 so far, Dunlap of Purdue has a 2:19.9 and Davies, 2:19.8.

But Bow has "that gleam."

Wilt Featured in AAU Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred Wilt, the hurdle events and a starting gate will share the spotlight in the national AAU track and field championships at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Of late, Wilt, the New York A. C. swiftly, has been the whole show in track meets, running his rival into the ground with a regularity that makes him a prohibitive favorite to win the three-mile AAU crown.

But there also will be a race between Craig Dixon, the UCLA graduate now running in the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic club, and Harrison Dillard, the ex-Baldwin-Wallace flier, who is shooting for his fourth straight indoor hurdles crown.

As for the starting date, it will be used for the first and only time in New York this year. Pinky Sober and his National AAU committee have designated it for the sprints and hurdles over the anticipated protests of the runners.

It was used in the Philadelphia Inquirer games at the start of the season, but broke down. The competitors fear for life and limb when they are encased in the gate, which resembles the starting gate used for horses, and is designed to eliminate false starts. Some of the west coast runners, including Dixon, never have seen one.

Wilt will go up against the old crowd — except that this race is a mile longer than customary. It could make a difference if Finland's Viljo Heino has improved to any considerable extent.

Woverine Runner Steps Mile in 4:11.7

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP) — Don McEwen, Michigan's sensational sophomore distance runner, smashed three records in his first collegiate mile appearance Friday with a blistering 4:11.7 performance.

His twin triumphs in the mile and his speciality, the two-mile, were not enough to give the Wolverines a victory over Illinois in a Big Ten indoor dual meet. The Illini picked up points in the last two events to win, 43-42.

McEwen, never pressed, smashed the Yost fieldhouse mark of 4:13.2 set by Ed Holderman of Purdue 10 years ago and broke the varsity and meet records in the process.

His time for the two mile was 9:18.9, far from his record-smashing 9:06.9 against Wisconsin Saturday, but creditable considering he had reeled off the mile only 45 minutes earlier.

Austrian Skier Wins Downhill Championship

Fencers Lose To Wisconsin

(Special To The Daily Iowan)
MADISON, WIS. — The Wisconsin fencing team outpointed Iowa Friday night in Wisconsin armory, 21-1-2-5-1-2, in the first competitive fencing meet by a Hawkeye team in 20 years.

Wisconsin, an established team in fencing circles, clearly demonstrated their superiority over the inexperienced Iowans by completely sweeping the saber event, 9-0.

Iowa scored two and a half points in the epee division and picked up three more in the foil class.

Not one man on the Iowa fencing squad has had previous fencing experience. The three experienced members originally reorienting for drills were declared ineligible just prior to the Wisconsin meet.

In the epee event, Iowans Ron Feldman and Dick Johnson posted victories while Dick McDaniel held Wisconsin's Les Soyka to a tie.

Chester Miller of Iowa decided on Don Casida, 5-4, and Chester Cartwright by the same score in the foil class. Iowa picked up an additional point in this class when Sheldon Tannenbaum defeated Casida, 5-3.

Wisconsin faces Michigan State tonight. The Iowa teams plan to return to Iowa City today.

TOO SOON TO SAVE MONEY! The new parking violation rate BEGINS MONDAY. Police Chief E. J. Ruppert explained over and over again Friday at the station. Many motorists hurried to the police station with over me parking tickets, thinking they could pay the new 25 cent fee, instead of the customary $1. Ruppert said. This thrifty minded motorist, who wished to be unidentifiable, and many others were highly embarrassed over the mix-up. The police chief explained that beginning Monday, parking violators can bring their pink summons slips to the station and deposit a quarter in a new meter, instead of paying the $1 fee. However the violator must appear within one hour after the summons has been issued. Otherwise he pays $1. If the violator shows up within one hour, however, the desk sergeant will accept his pink summons slip, and the new meter will accept his quarter. Ruppert said. He stressed only quarters could be used in the meter, not combinations of nickels and dimes.

Airborne Love Riot

Blonde's Sudden Craving for Affection Nearly Wrecks Chartered Plane

WASHINGTON (UP) — A tempestuous 37-year-old platinum blonde, who developed a sudden craving for affection, staged an airborne love riot over the capital area Friday that nearly caused a fatal crash.

The sometimes-amorous, sometimes-pugnacious woman carried a driver's license issued to Miss Willie Jane Frost, Coral Gables, Fla.

Alone with her in the small Beechcraft plane were the pilot, K.H. Dubanovich, and co-pilot, T.O. "Tex" Sallee, who was co-pilot for the late Bill Odom on a round the world flight. She had chartered the plane in New York City. It made a brief stop here and then took off again for Palm Beach, Fla.

Dubanovich said the aerial melee started when Miss Frost awoke from a nap when they were about 15 miles outside Washington. Without warning, he said, she came at him with both fists, attacking so violently the small craft shook dangerously.

The beleaguered pilot almost lost control of the ship, before the co-pilot tried to cool down Miss Frost.

The woman promptly yanked Sallee from his seat and, after pushing him to the rear of the plane, began mauling and kissing him.

"Do you love me? Sallee said she suddenly demanded. "Yes, Yes," he replied hastily. Whereupon, Sallee said, she kissed him mightily.

But a few minutes later, he related, she screamed:

"No, you don't love me," and began pounding and kicking again.

At this point, pilot Dubanovich radioed Washington national airport that he was in distress and was returning.

Sallee, afraid Miss Frost again would attack the pilot at the controls, lay face down on the floor of the plane, covered his head with his arms, and let the woman beat him all the way back to the airport.

When the plane landed, the two men jumped out and let police take over. They carried her bodily to a scout car, still fighting, and took her to Alexandria, Va., hospital for observation.

She was given sedatives.

Florida reports said Miss Frost was a sculptress and a voice student. They quoted neighbors as saying that she comes from a "quiet family and that she never before has shown such tendencies. The two fliers reported the incident to civil aeronautics administration officials immediately after landing.

Sallee, co-pilot and flight engineer with pen maker Milton Reynolds and Odom on their round-the-world flight in 1947, said: "I'd take that trip anytime instead of this. It was simple. Life's been easy up to now."

Wilbur Schramm, Formerly of SUI, Elevated to Dean

Wilbur L. Schramm, former director of the SUI school of journalism, has been appointed dean of a recently created division of communications at the University of Illinois.

Trustees of the university announced the appointment Thursday. They said Schramm, who has been a member of the Illinois faculty two years, would continue as professor of journalism and director of the university press.

Schramm joined the SUI faculty as an assistant professor in English in 1935. He became an associate professor in 1938 and a professor in 1940. Between August, 1943 and June, 1945, he was director of SUI's school of journalism.

Starts Fiction Workshop
In 1937 Schramm founded the writer's workshop at SUI, a practical discussion class for fiction writers. He directed the class until 1941.

He also was the founder of "American Prefaces," a literary quarterly published by SUI. He edited the publication until 1941.

Wins O. Henry Prize
Schramm won the O. Henry prize for fiction in 1941 and has had four books published. Two other books, which he wrote in collaboration with others, also have been published.

From 1942 to 1943 Schramm was on leave from SUI. During that time he was director of the educational services of the Office of War Information, educational adviser for the war and navy departments and consulting editor for the U.S. Armed Forces Institute, Washington, D.C.

Schramm received his B.A. degree from Marietta college, Marietta, Ohio, his M.A. degree from Harvard university, and his Ph.D. at SUI in 1932.

Atty. Asks Picturing Students, Faculty Exhibit Prints in East Of OMVI Offenders

DES MOINES (AP) — County Attorney Ed S. Thayer Friday sent a written request to Chief of Police Loren Miller, asking the police department to photograph and fingerprint all persons arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Thayer said his move was designed to prevent second and third offenders for drunken driving from escaping the greater penalties provided in the state law.

(On several occasions within the last two years, the grand jury has failed to return second offense indictments and the accused escaped with first offense penalties.)

Thayer pointed out that it was important for the link in the state's case against repeaters for driving while intoxicated, that fingerprints and pictures be made.

SUI STUDENT FINED

John W. O'Meara, Ireton, was fined $12.50 in police court Friday for failing to stop for a red light. Two safety checks were recommended and one case was dismissed, Judge Emil Trott said.

Deny 'Snapping Bra's' Charge

ROYAL OAK, MICH (UP) — State investigators took secret testimony Friday in an attempt to verify charges that Madison high school teachers "snapped brassieres" of young girl pupils.

The Michigan Department of Public Instruction acted after widespread reports of "improper familiarities" by men teachers.

Assistant State Superintendent Norman E. Borgerson promised a "full investigation" of reports by angry parents that instructors swore in class, walked out to smoke and were "overly familiar" with the girls.

All but four of the 17 teachers in the suburban Detroit school resigned earlier this week in protest against the charges.

Borgerson questioned five girls and two boys behind locked doors. He said others will be asked Monday about conditions in the school.

Spokesmen for the complaining parents group said one male student who reported the brassiere-snapping incident was "coerced" into signing a statement that the charge was false under threat of failing grades.

Borgerson said teachers against whom complaints are lodged will be questioned and a complete report forwarded to Dr. Lee M.

Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction.

Teachers classified the charges as "preposterous." They said the reports were "maliciously motivated."

Robert Peters, music teacher and spokesman for the 13 who resigned, said instructors "possibly" put their arms around girl students, "only to comfort them" when they were distraught.

"There's nothing immoral about that," he said. "It's the most natural thing in the world."

The revolt boiled over into a "protest strike" by about 100 of the 800 students Monday.

The parents milled in the high school corridors Thursday night before they were admitted to a meeting of the board of education. The meeting was orderly.

Board members said they will take no action until after the state investigation is complete. The mass resignation is effective in 30 days.
