McCarthy Names Four More 'Reds' in State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) cited four new names Tuesday in his charges of Red influence in the state department. Then he left before his "Case No. 1," Miss Dorothy Kenyon, took the stand to denounce his charges against her as "outrageous."

The Wisconsin senator's charges also drew quick and angry denials from most of the new "case histories" he named in a forenoon session.

McCarthy went to lunch and was absent when Miss Kenyon, peppery 62-year-old former New York judge, testified this afternoon at a jam-packed hearing before a senate foreign relations subcommittee.

Miss Kenyon has previously denounced McCarthy as a cowardly liar. McCarthy charged at the outset of his four-day-old presentation that Miss Kenyon, a former state department official attached to the United Nations, was affiliated with at least 28 Communist-front organizations.

Miss Kenyon told the committee, "I am not and never have been a Communist."

Those McCarthy named as pro-Communists Tuesday were:

1. Dr. Harlow Shapley, 64, Harvard astronomer-lecturer and former American delegate to a United Nations commission. McCarthy said Shapley has been connected with at least 36 Communist-front organizations.

At Cambridge, Mass., Shapley called McCarthy's charges "grossly untrue."

2. Dr. Frederick L. Schuman of Williams college, who once accepted a state department invitation to give a one-hour training lecture to U.S. diplomats on U.S. relations with Russia.

3. Spanish-born Gustavo Duran former state department official now working in the United Nations.

At Lake Success, N.C., Duran vigorously denied McCarthy's charges. "I'm not now and never have been a Communist," Duran said.

4. John Stewart Service, foreign policy adviser to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Japan in 1945, now American consul at Calcutta, India.

Says Board Will Not Discuss Union Plans

Plans for the proposed $3-million addition to the Iowa Union will not be presented at the monthly meeting of the state board of education at Oakdale Thursday, SUI Business Manager Fred Ambrose said Tuesday.

A scheme to finance the new building has not been completed and, therefore, the plans cannot be presented to the board, he explained.

Ambrose said the plans for the $750,000 Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children probably would go before the board sometime Thursday.

Committees of the board will meet today.

Airmen Chute to Safety After Jet Planes Crash

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Three jet airmen parachuted safely Tuesday from planes that collided two miles up in the sky above semi-secret Sandia base.

Two of the fliers received minor injuries. The third was not hurt. The two planes were part of a four-plane group enroute from Williams airforce base, Phoenix, Ariz., to Albuquerque, and El Paso, Tex.

Dean Jacobsen Named to Post at New NYU

Carlyle Jacobsen, executive dean of the SUI division of health sciences and services, has been appointed executive dean of medical education at the new State University of New York.

The appointment was announced Tuesday morning in Albany, N.Y. Jacobsen will assume his new duties on a part-time basis April 1 and on a full-time basis in June. He will receive $15,000 a year.

Jacobsen's duties will include helping the university's board of trustees and president establish policies for the school's two medical centers in New York and Syracuse.

He also will coordinate the work of the two centers with that of the rest of the university.

The State University of New York was created by the New York legislature in 1948. It incorporates 32 separate school units, distributed over the state, into a

Kremlin Agent Gets Czech Ministry Post; See Future Purges

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA (AP) — Vlado Clementis, Czechoslovakia's suave foreign minister for two years, was replaced Tuesday by a tough, Kremlin-trained underground fighter.

President Klement Gottwald indicated recently that a purge may be underway.

Clementis, it has been suspected by western sources, bore a "western taint" in the eyes of ascending Communists here because of his wartime service in London with the government-in-exile of the late President Eduard Benes.

The official news agency said Clementis asked to be relieved of his duties and that President Gottwald accepted his resignation at the weekly cabinet meeting Tuesday.

Then Gottwald handed the job over to Viliam Siroky, deputy premier and a product of the Moscow Communist training center.

No reason was given for the resignation. Clementis still is a member of parliament.

One western diplomat, who asked that his name not be used, said he thought the change may mean a hardening in Czechoslovakia's anti-west campaign, and possibly the start of a series of trials of the so-called "pro-western" group in the Communist party.

Wife Can't Recall Shooting Husband

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — Mrs. Yvette Madsen, holding a dog-eared, tear-smudged snapshot of her two children in her hands, testified in her own defense Tuesday that she could not remember shooting her airforce husband.

The 22-year-old Brooklyn beauty whispered "Yes," when she was asked: "Are you sorry you killed him?"

A few minutes earlier she had declared: "I did not mean to shoot him. I did not know I shot him. I loved Andy."

Mrs. Madsen is on trial for the murder of Lt. Andrew E. Madsen last Oct. 20. She has pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity.

Williams and Miss Elliott had a 15 minute radio program, "Talent Time," on WSI during the fall semester. The pair sang each Tuesday from 7:30 to 7:45 p.m.

Hancher Denies Rumors Of Seeking Senate Post

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher said Tuesday: "The State University of New York is to be congratulated on its appointment of a man of Dean Jacobsen's abilities to this new post."

"His appointment reflects to the credit of SUI as well as to the credit of Dean Jacobsen."

Jacobsen said he was "one and the same time happy with the honor of being selected for this new position and sad with having to leave Iowa."

"My new duties in New York will really be a continuation and an expansion of the administrative responsibilities which I have had in the division of health sciences and services here."

"The new State University of New York is one of the major new projects in education in the nation and its two medical centers offer one of the great opportunities in medical education of the present decade."

Gubitchev Staying Here To Appeal Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — Convicted spy Valentin A. Gubitchev chose Tuesday to stay in jail rather than give up the right to appeal his conviction. His decision meant that he probably won't leave for his native Russia next Monday as scheduled.

The government, through U.S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol, gave the Soviet engineer an ultimatum: Drop all appeals or stay behind bars.

"I won't let Gubitchev have his cake and eat it," Saypol declared. "If he wants to proceed with the appeal he will have to do it from jail."

Promptly, Gubitchev's lawyer responded: "The deal is off." He meant the "deal" by which Gubitchev was promised that his 15-year prison sentence would be suspended if he left this country within two weeks "never to return."

"There probably will be no sentencing on Monday," said the lawyer, Abraham L. Pomerantz. "We are going ahead with the appeal."

Gubitchev was convicted along with Judith Coplon, former justice department employe, last week on charges of conspiring to spy for the Russians.

SUI Men Honored At Finkbine Dinner

Fifty-five SUI students were honored as outstanding campus leaders at the 28th annual Finkbine dinner Tuesday night in the River room of the Iowa Union.

Iowa Supreme Court Justice Theodore G. Garfield and SUI President Virgil M. Hancher were featured speakers.

Murray A. Kniffen, A4, Rock Rapids, president of the SUI forensics association, was the spokesman for the students present.

Guests at Tuesday's dinner included members of the faculty and business and professional men who once attended one or more dinners as students here.

Loren L. Hickerson, director of alumni service, was toastmaster. The dinner was organized in 1917 by William O. Finkbine, 1880 law graduate, and Carl Kuehnle, then a Denison banker, and also an SUI graduate.

Hancher Denies Rumors Of Seeking Senate Post

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher Tuesday squelched campus rumors that he will seek nomination for U.S. senator on the Republican ticket.

"I emphatically disclaim any aspirations of that nature," Hancher said. "I can't imagine what started the rumors circulating."

"Probably someone wants a head start on April Fool's day," he added.

Seat 12 Tentative Jurors As Bednasek Trial Opens

Gaffney Warns Press Against Sensationalism

In a formal statement to newsmen and photographers, in which he laid down rigid restrictions on pictures, Judge Gaffney rapped American treatment of some types of news.

"Will Safeguard Freedom" However, he said, "This court believes in and will safeguard the freedom of press and radio."

In an interview earlier, Judge Gaffney criticized news treatment of the recent love affairs of Actresses Ingrid Bergman and Rita Hayworth.

"Most of our daily press and radio are doing much to demoralize the people of our nation, especially the youth," he declared.

"Destructive Influences" "Sensationalism and front-page glorification of tragedy and the multiple marriages and divorces of celebrities are depressing and destructive influences upon the welfare of the nation."

The judge warned photographers, under penalty of a citation for contempt of court, against taking pictures of Bednasek in the courthouse without the former psychology student's written permission.

The judge's dictum was an opening day highlight of the trial, which is expected to last at least two weeks.

Canadian Jeweler Sentenced to Die

QUEBEC, QUE. (AP) — Jeweler J. Albert Guay was convicted and sentenced Tuesday to be hanged June 23 for murdering his wife by time bombing a plane that carried her and 22 others to death.

A French-speaking jury returned its verdict 17 minutes after receiving the case from Judge Albert Sevigny at 12:10 p.m. (Iowa time).

The prosecution stressed Guay's love for a 19-year-old waitress, Marie-Ange Robitaille, and a $10,000 life insurance policy on his wife, Mrs. Rita Morel Guay, 28, as the motives for his blasting of a Canadian Pacific airliner Sept. 9 on a flight east from Quebec. All aboard the plane perished.

Asked by Judge Sevigny whether he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Guay murmured, "No."

Judge Sevigny, 68, wept as he finished his three-hour charge to the jury: "The law of God and of her country gave Mrs. Albert Guay the right to live. Nothing escapes the law of God. You have to fulfill the law of your country."

Ann Arbor Coed Reported Missing

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP) — A petite University of Michigan coed vanished from her dormitory Monday morning and has not been seen since, school officials disclosed Tuesday.

Mystified police, called into the search for 18-year-old Jeri Lou Ely, could discover no reason for the attractive brunette freshman's disappearance.

Friends, however, said Miss Ely had appeared "somewhat distressed" about her scholastic standing. University officials said her grades were satisfactory the first semester.

Horses, Mules Try For Freedom Today

Rescuers today will attempt to lead to safety the five horses and seven mules marooned for seven days on a mile-wide flooded lowland near Swisher.

Fred Cochran, Ely, owner of the animals, said rescue operations will begin about 10 a.m.

Ely said the animals will swim the flooded area or, if conditions are satisfactory, be led over the ice to a nearby bridge to high ground.

Workers Sunday chopped their way through the ice to bring food to the stranded animals.

Three saddle horses and a prize pulling team are among the group of animals. Ely valued the stock at $1,500.

Cochran said all 12 animals were in good condition.

Rationing of Coal Ends Here Today

Mayor Preston Koser said Tuesday local coal dealers have reported they will be able to handle all coal orders after today.

Since the end of the coal strike, their supplies have been building up.

The Iowa City Coal Dealers association hired Mrs. Paul Beecher, 11 W. Harrison street, to take emergency telephone orders for fuel during the emergency.

Defense May Claim Death An Accident

Twelve prospective jurors, six men and six women, were seated Tuesday in the opening of the murder trial of Robert E. Bednasek, former SUI psychology student.

The 24-year-old Cedar Rapids man is charged with the strangulation slaying last Dec. 11 of his campus sweetheart, Margaret Jackson, 20, pretty SUI student from Burlington.

In case of conviction on the first degree murder charge, the death penalty will be up to the jury, it was learned Tuesday evening. Conviction in Iowa carries a penalty of death by hanging or life imprisonment.

The court recessed until 9:30 this morning.

Possible Defense Strategy Early defense questioning of the prospective jurors indicated Bednasek's attorneys may try to show that Miss Jackson's death was accidental.

On several occasions the defense counsel asked prospective jurors a hypothetical question: "If the court should instruct you that the defendant was the last person to see Margaret Jackson alive and that she died of injuries, and if the court should instruct you that the wounds were not of a criminal origin, would you follow these instructions?"

All questioned answered "yes." Two of the twelve prospective jurors seated in the jury box are SUI alumnae. They are Mrs. Eleanor Green, 27, of 283 S. Lucas street, wife of an SUI graduate student and instructor in history, and Mrs. Holly Campbell, SUI Information Service employe, and wife of an SUI senior. Mrs. Green told attorneys she is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Other Tentative Jurors The other jurors tentatively seated Tuesday were Lauren R. Geringer, 41, Iowa City pressman; Mrs. Mary Meyers, 112 E. Court street, mother of two married daughters; Mrs. Velva Vioosh, 530 N. Van Buren street, wife of an Iowa City policeman; Vernon Moore, Sharon township carpenter and farmer; Mrs. Beulah Whittington, elderly widow, a member of the Solon school board.

Mrs. Dell R. Sidwell, 223 Melrose street, housewife and mother of two daughters and a son; Willard W. Watters, 66, Lincoln township farmer; Thomas J. O'Brien, 25, assistant teller at the Iowa City First National bank and a Marine war veteran; William Unick, Solon farmer, and Howard K. Zou, Newport township farmer.

Judge James P. Gaffney opened the trial at 10 a.m. Tuesday with special instructions to the press forbidding the taking of photographs in the courtroom or in adjoining halls.

The defendant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bednasek, Cedar Rapids, appeared in the courtroom and took seats a few feet from their son inside the railing that separates the spectators from persons participating in the trial.

Wearing a dark gray flannel suit and black tie, Bednasek showed no emotion. He sat with his attorneys on one side of a large table. His defense counsel consists of Clair Hamilton and William H. Bartley of Iowa City and Milo Hanzlik of Cedar Rapids.

Seated on the other side of the table were County Atty. Jack C. White and Special Prosecutor Edward R. Rate, who is assisting White with the state's case.

Approximately 18 SUI law students studied the proceedings of the jury selection in a specially reserved section of the crowded courtroom during the morning and at noon sessions.

Bednasek An Only Child All of the prospective jurors who have families were questioned by the attorneys as to the number and age of their children. Bednasek is an only child as was Miss Jackson.

The jurors were also asked if they had any prejudices against college students or fraternities or sororities. Bednasek is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon social frat-

Nobody Here But Us Americans —

One result of the cold war has been to help the American public make up its mind what it thinks about Communist Russia and Red sympathizers.

This may not seem, on casual reading, to be anything unusual. Hark back, however, to the situation existing before the beginning of World War II, the situation before and then just after Great Britain and France became involved in the war.

When Hitler marched across the borders of Czechoslovakia, in September, 1939, most Americans were appalled. We knew also that we didn't favor the Munich pact where Neville Chamberlain negotiated and then came home to make his now famous "peace in our time" speech.

Even when the war began, all we knew was that we were neutral. But as the common joke went: "Whom are we neutral against?"

Since most of our literature and folkways, not to count our language and judicial system, came from Britain, we were slanted toward England's viewpoint before we had a chance to think.

Then American business realized its advantage in being pro-British and pro-French, and we were on our way to war before the smoke had died away from Dunkirk.

Side-Stepping Needed —

We are still paying wartime excise taxes, imposed with a clear moral promise that when the war was over they would be removed.

The excise taxes are of two kinds, according to Sen. Wayne L. Morse (R-Ore.). One is imposed upon jewelry, leather goods, furs, cosmetics and other commodities. The other falls upon essential services, such as transportation and long distance telephone calls.

There is no excuse for maintaining either kind now, Morse said recently. He charged the government is violating a "moral promise" by continuing the wartime measure.

The taxes have been a depressing influence on the industries affected, Morse said. All concerned — labor leaders, manufacturers, retailers and representatives of the service industries — have offered overwhelming evidence to that effect.

A Moral Promise —

A jam up in the senate interior committee is holding up two bills which would admit Alaska and Hawaii as the 49th and 50th states in the United States.

The house has given the nod to both bills and tossed them into the senate grinding machine and hence to the interior committee. Two years ago another bill to admit Hawaii died of inaction in the same committee.

Interior Committee Chairman Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said he hopes to get around to the Alaska and Hawaii bills soon but the committee has other business to take up first.

This sounds bad for the statehood aspirants. Under latest regulations, both bills will die a natural death unless they are brought to the floor of the senate before the first session ends July 1.

But if it were only a jam up the bills had to contend with, their chances of getting some action would brighten. There are other gloved hands keeping the door locked.

First, if the two were annexed and each given two voting seats in the senate, the southern Democratic block might be endangered —

This time, however, we have gone off on a different tack. We have even carried out our enmity for Soviet Russia in our political struggles. Henry Wallace was the first to feel the pinch that came to Soviet sympathizers.

Later to feel the whip of anti-Russian opinion was Singer Paul Robeson. This distaste for things Siberian made itself most manifest last summer in Peekskill, N.Y., when the singer's scheduled appearances were broken up by Americans who had decided they knew whom they were against.

There was no doubt then that Red radicals would need to watch their attitudes in this country. Latest in the group of episodes was the cancelling of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's television program over NBC.

The company was flooded with phone calls from persons who objected to seeing Robeson given another chance to air his pro-Russian views.

This time we may not yet know how to prevent war. One thing, though, we do know. We know whom we are against and we make no bones about making our feelings known.

Perhaps it's a good thing. You can't win a scrap when you're shadow-boxing. You have to know whom you're fighting.

Only immediate repeal of the taxes can restore these businesses to their proper place in the economy and make possible maximum employment, Morse charged.

Producers probably have a legitimate reason for wanting the excise taxes repealed, but it would seem that consumers suffer more of a burden than the producers.

It is the consumers who pay the excise taxes on movie tickets, automobiles, jewelry, cosmetics, and long distance telephone calls.

If business stimulation would result from the repeal of the excise taxes, it would probably be largely the result of increased buying on the part of the consumer.

With excise taxes repealed, the consumer's dollar would buy quite a bit more than it does now.

This will undoubtedly be kicked around when the bills do reach the senate floor.

Then, there are some lobbies representing what is sometimes referred to as "absentee enterprises" who haven't been sitting on their hands in regards to the statehood bills.

These "absentee enterprises" consist of canneries, lumber mills, steamship companies, mining corporations, etc., all owned by U.S. corporations.

If Alaska and Hawaii become states, the income taxes and property taxes paid by these interests would take quite a jump — amounting to a sum that would support many a congressional lobby.

Regardless of the opposing factors and legislative jam, backers of the statehood aspirants are still pushing and are still hopeful.

It may take some kind of a compromise as to the southern Democrats and some side-stepping political moves to brush past the powerful enterprise lobby, but the territories should be admitted if we are to keep faith with our constitutional promises and our democratic principles.

CARACAS, VENEZUELA — A pretty girl was the undoing Saturday of Armando Gonzales, 30, "blind" beggar who panhandles in the city's central streets.

As the girl passed by, Gonzales lifted his dark eyeglasses and exclaimed: "What a beautiful girl!" He couldn't explain the remark to police.

By MURRAY SEEGER
The time for electing all-campus delegates to the student council has arrived.

Four positions on the council are filled in the elections, March 29, two for men and two for women. Last year, 13 men and 3 women ran for council.

The total vote in 1949 was about 2,415 as compared with 3,199 in 1948.

These two sets of figures point out the weaknesses in the all-campus elections so far.

Enough men ran for the council to assure a good representation of the divergent groups on campus.

However, the women did not hold up their end of the bargain. The council guarantees them the same number of delegates at large (2), but only three gals got out and campaigned.

The male - female ratio on campus offers no excuse for this difference.

There are certainly more than three women on the campus with strong enough ideas on student government to want to run for student council.

The other weakness of the elections is the poor turnout of voters.

This comes from a lack of issues in the election and could be cured by a spirited campaign.

The council's record for last year is certainly no prize.

The most significant thing they did was to adopt and recommend a faculty rating system. They helped get an extra day at Christmas vacation and are helping now with an extension of Easter vacation.

They have the guarantee of Frank Havlicek, business manager of athletics, that they will be consulted when student seats are assigned for next year's basketball games.

But other issues such as the cooperative book stores and the Panacea show have not been solved to anyone's satisfaction.

For the many obvious weaknesses of the student council, the most promising cure is a group of ambitious candidates willing to dive into SUI politics.

Day of Reckoning

Matchmaker Seeks Marryin' Men

BUFFALO, N.Y. — A lady love expert said Tuesday she knows a lot of clinging vines who want husbands and she's looking around for men to marry 'em.

Mrs. Nelle Brooke Stull, sixty-six and convinced people would rather get married than do anything else, thinks it's a shame "that so many nice gals never find husbands."

But Nelle, who already claims to have master minded more marriages than anyone else in the world is set to correct that. She's calling a convention of her Widows and Widowers club as soon as she finds a town where men like their women womanly.

The W&W has been the 200-pound Nell's pet project since 1922. It's not strictly limited to widows and widowers, either.

Anyone from 18 to 80 can write Nelle at her Elyria, Ohio, home and ask to be introduced to someone of the opposite sex. Nelle blames arthritis for slowing the club down in the last year but says she again is geared to do the job.

Arthritis sent Nelle to California to soak up sunshine. While she was gone, she says, the W&W piled up a terrific backlog of womanly women looking for manly men — object, in most cases, matrimony.

A lesser number of suitable men also applied, Nelle says. She wants to get both groups together along with some extra men and let nature take its course.

Our Nelle won't absolutely guarantee she can get anybody married. Not absolutely. But she claims remarkable success just introducing people for friendship's sake.

"Usually," the black-haired matchmaker observes, "when a man and a woman get friendly, they get married.

"Men want to marry womanly women," she says. "And women who want to get married have found that out.

"Now, women have reverted to being the clinging vine type as a matter of good sense."

And Nelle thinks business will boom.

As soon as she finds a town which believes a lady's place is on a pedestal, she's going to call her convention. She thinks Buffalo would be a nice spot, but as yet the city hasn't invited the W&W to meet here.

"If we're invited, I think we'll come," the sapphire-eyed Nelle mused. "They could go right on to Niagara Falls for their honeymoon."

LIFE IN AN OYSTER

By GIL PEARLMAN

Hey, give me a little clue, will ya, huh? When is Halloween? I was always under the impression that it falls somewhere around October.

BUT EITHER I'M WRONG or someone is toying with the idea of moving it up a few months like Thanksgiving was a few years back.

NOW WE'RE BACK on the open road. The big husky man with the fiendish mind finally arrives at the 'house' and rings the buzzer for the evening's match.

The dainty one flips down the stairs with unrequited grace. She expects to see Romeo . . . she sees instead an exact copy of Cyrano de Bergerac. Immediately, all the sentimentality she ever had, is scattered out of her limp body.

If it is a blind date . . . if she had never seen her escort before . . . a leap through the nearest plate glass window would probably be the closest guess to her reaction.

AFTER THE SHOCK, then, the cutie will simply die if she can't try them on. It is now the males' turn to suffer. Usually, that is . . . for sometimes the artificial deal is a lesser evil than the original and the escort will coyly ask her to leave them on, laughing gaily.

"Ha! Ha! It's really very funny, honey." (Aside, to himself, like Richard II—"Now, I hope none of my friends will recognize her.")

A GUY OR GAL will spend, normally speaking, just short of three hours and many a pain is accepted in the attempt to impress your companion as another Clark Gable or Lana Turner.

So what happens? On the way to call for the luvvies the heroes stop in a drugstore for some cigarettes, chewing gum, or even a good magazine if their date is a bore.

AND WHILE PAYING for their purchase they discover, residing by the cash register, the glasses and the nose . . . the answer to a Dick Tracy character's dream.

Naturally, the drive is so great, they just have to buy one. Diffused with nostalgia, they think back to childhood practices and eagerly exchange the aforementioned attempt at Clark Gable for Bell Lugosi.

Truman, Party Find Atlantic Trip Rough

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL ESCORT WILLIAM C. LAWE (AP)—President Truman and his party began getting their sea legs Tuesday after a rough trip down the Atlantic coast in the President's yacht.

For the first time in two days, the entire party showed up for a meal. Mr. Truman himself was reported "feeling very well," but conjectures that there had been a good deal of seasickness aboard were officially confirmed by Press Secretary Charles G. Ross.

The "primary victim," Ross reported, was Maj. Gen. Harry H.

Vaughan, Mr. Truman's military aide.

As the seas smoothed during the afternoon, the President came out of his cabin, took several turns around the deck, and finally took a seat on the fantail of the U.S.S. Williamsburg.

Ross strongly hinted Mr. Truman will not try it this way again, but make any future trips to the "Little White House" by plane.

"Without consulting the President," Ross radio-telephoned reporters aboard this escorting destroyer, "I will say that this will not be one of his favorite ways to go to Florida."

Interpreting the News — Religion Finds Place in U.N.

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER (For J. M. ROBERTS, JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

LAKE SUCCESS — There are two signs that religion has come to stay in the UN which began its work four years ago by taking a frosty, hands-off attitude on the subject.

First, the general assembly is to open and close its annual session with a minute of silence.

Second, plans for a mediation room in the permanent headquarters are well under way. The room is expected to be in use shortly after the UN staff moves to Manhattan next January.

These things came about largely because the average man and woman, mostly American, interested in religion would not take "no" for an answer. The UN had said there were too many religions among the 49 members to single out one.

The chief United States delegate to the UN, Warren R. Austin, and others worked quietly behind the scenes with Trygve Lie, secretary-general, and many UN delegates. Last spring Lie announced he was proposing a minute of silence at the beginning and end of each assembly and also proposing a prayer building in the Manhattan home of the UN.

The minute of silence idea got by with little trouble. The Russians, whose top delegate, Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, proclaims he does not believe in God, made no objection when the time came to vote.

The common prayer building aroused considerable opposition from several denominations and religions. Some said it could not be used unless particular symbols of their religion were included, which would make it practically a chapel of their belief.

McKinley Downs Wilson, 53-43, in AA Duel; Elwood Easy B Winner Over Douds, 56-39

Faces Davenport In Tourney Finals

By HOBERT DUNCAN
McKinley of Cedar Rapids eliminated its city rival Wilson from sub-state competition Tuesday night in the fieldhouse with a convincing 53-43 win in a battle of offenses.

The victory pits McKinley against Davenport in the finals of the first class AA tournament. McKinley holds a one-point victory over the Blue Devils in regular season play.

Fast Pace
Tuesday night Wilson couldn't maintain the fast-breaking pace established by McKinley and gradually fell behind after holding brief leads in the first period. McKinley pushed in 17 of 31 fieldgoal attempts in the first half for a sizzling .548 accuracy percentage.

Wilson repeatedly lost the ball on attempted down-court fast breaks due to erratic passes and McKinley's ball-hawking basketball. In the second half, McKinley's height supremacy was a telling factor as it controlled both boards and limited the Ramblers to single shot attempts at the bucket.

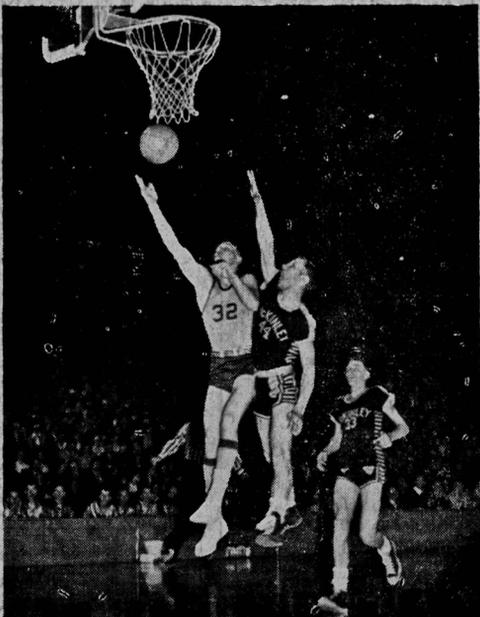

The winners held a 22-16 lead at the end of the first period and went on to increase this margin to 34-25 at halftime. Wilson sliced the deficit to eight points early in the third period but couldn't muster enough strength to overtake McKinley.

Maintain Lead
McKinley maintained its 10 point edge at the end of the third quarter, 45-35, and then employed a semi-stall in the final quarter to protect the game winning margin.

6 Iowans in Chicago Relays

Iowa will be represented by six men competing in three events Saturday in the Chicago Daily News relays to be held in the huge Chicago stadium.

Marcellus Boston, winner of the 70-yard dash in the Illinois Tech relays last Saturday, and Russ Merkel, Big Ten and Illinois Tech relays hurdles champion, are the Hawks' individual entrants.

In addition, Iowa will enter a team in a matched university relay. Included with Iowa will be Minnesota, Northwestern and Indiana.

Boston, who was hard pressed to win the 70-yard dash last Saturday, will run against some of the top sprinters in the country.

Opposing Merkel in the 60-yard high hurdles will be world champion Harrison Dillard and possibly Bill Flemming of Notre Dame.

The Hawk relay team will be composed of Craig Harper, DuWayne Dietz, Tom Sangster and Keith Brown. Quarter-mile DeReef Greene is still unable to compete because of a pulled leg muscle sustained in the quadrangular meet three weeks ago.

Burke Scores 23 In Eagle Triumph

By EVERETT MONTGOMERY
Paced by Ray Burke's 23 points, Elwood's Eagles raced by Douds, 56-39, in a class B sub-state basketball game at the Iowa fieldhouse Tuesday night.

The two clubs battled on even terms during the first quarter until Elwood gained a 12-11 lead on Ray Burke's goal with a little over two minutes left. Coach Bob Pollock's lads never gave up that advantage.

Impressive Victory
The Eagles, Clinton county conference champs, made their first bid in a sub-state tourney an impressive one. Their foe in the final round will be Winfield's Wolves.

Bob Finney got Douds off to an early but short-lived lead with a bucket at the 14-second mark and followed up with a gift shot after Charles Burke's foul.

Ray Burke hit the first of his eight fielders of the evening to cut Douds' margin but Finney dumped in bucket No. 2 for a 5-2 Panther lead. Ray Burke dropped two from the floor to give Elwood its one-point first period advantage.

Stu Schoenthaler scored a basket to open the second period and then Wayne Adrian hit three fast fielders while Finney grabbed a free shot and a basket.

The Eagles lengthened their lead as Ray Burke, Charles Burke, Jack Botkin and Schoenthaler hit to make it 26-18 at the intermission.

Douds Held
Adrian and the Burke brothers boosted the Eagles' count to 42 with one minute, 25 seconds remaining as Douds could score only two points on Jim Wainwright's bucket early in the period. The quarter ended with Elwood in front, 47-26.

Defending Champions Playing Here Tonight

Tonight's schedule of sub-state basketball games at the fieldhouse brings together A teams Marietta and Washington in the first game at 7:30 and AA teams Oskaloosa and Ottumwa in the second game at 8:45. Ottumwa is the defending state champion.

WSUI will broadcast a play-by-play account of the second contest.

State Track Meets Set for Fieldhouse

The indoor track and field championships of 1950 among Iowa high schools will be decided in the Iowa fieldhouse, April 1 and 8, according to plans of the high school athletic association.

Class B schools will compete April 1, Class A the 8th. Hawkeye track coach Francis Cretzmeier will be meet manager.

All preliminaries of each 14-event meet will be held in the afternoon. The finals are scheduled for the evenings. Points will be scored in two sections of the quarter and half mile runs. Five places will win points in each event.

Burlington won the Class A title in 1949, with North Des Moines as runner-up. Meet records were broken in the medley relay, 440-yard dash and shot put and tied in the 50-yard dash and low hurdles.

The Class B title went to Nevada last year, with Harlan second. Medley relay and broad jump records fell and the high hurdle mark was tied.

These are the events that between 400 and 500 athletes are expected to enter in each meet: 50-yard dash, 60-yard high and low hurdles, 440, 880 and one mile runs, half mile, mile, two mile medley relays, shot put, pole vault, broad jump and high jump.

Kentucky Out, 89-50, To CCNY; Duquesne Trips LaSalle, 49-47

NEW YORK (AP)—Aroused City College of New York, getting an all-America performance from big Ed Warner, shoved heavily favored Kentucky to the sidelines Tuesday night, 89-50, in a stunning quarter-final of the National Invitation Basketball tournament.

Playing like champions before an awed crowd of 18,000 at Madison Square Garden, Nat Holman's eager Beavers stormed into the round of four where they play Duquesne Thursday night. Duquesne won a 49-47 thriller over La Salle of Philadelphia in the opener Tuesday night.

Bradley Plays St. John's
The other semi-final game Thursday sends top-seeded Bradley against St. John's of Brooklyn. Both advanced Monday night. The finals are scheduled Saturday night.

Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats, the team he labels as potentially his best ever, was confused and inept in the face of the torrid pressure poured on by the home town collegians.

Warner, dropping them in from all angles, scored 26 points—the same number he got in CCNY's opening game won San Francisco Saturday.

The sensational Wildcat sophomore, 7-foot Bill Spivey, incurred four fouls in the first half and sat out the last nine minutes of the session. He came back in the second half to spark a Kentucky rally but his marksmanship and that of the entire Wildcat team was badly off.

The Iron Dukes from Pittsburgh played 37 minutes of the first game with their starting five, and clinched the verdict on a superior performance from the foul line.

Trailing with five minutes to go, LaSalle pulled into a three-point advantage at 44-41 with 3 minutes and 20 seconds to play, but the Dukes wouldn't give up.

Steve Skendrovich converted two free throws, and 6-foot, 5-inch Chuck Cooper got another pair of charity tosses to put the Dukes in front.

The New Staff's All Present Now

The newest member of Iowa's football coaching staff arrived in town Tuesday afternoon, and in line with the times, his first problem was not a 200-pound griddle, but was finding a place to live.

Ben Douglas arrived from Rolla, Mo., where he has been assistant football coach at the School of Mines. Until such time as he can locate housing for his family of three, Douglas will probably stay in Cedar Rapids, where his mother now resides.

"I don't know the exact day I'll go to work with the staff," he said, "but the sooner the better." He is scheduled to see Leonard Raffensperger, the head coach, today.

We happened onto Douglas just as Bucky O'Connor, basketball-golf coach, was recruiting coaches for a round of golf. Bucky got one look at the warm sunbather and started rounding up an "outing."

"I've played several rounds of golf this spring," Douglas remarked. "The weather has been pretty nice down in Missouri." Mr. O'Connor just shook his head.

Happiest man in the fieldhouse when he thought about the warmer weather was baseball Coach Otto Vogel. If it wasn't for six inches of mud infield drills would have been held on the diamond.

Bernie Masterson, new Iowa backfield coach, is another "coach without a house." His family will move to Iowa City from a Chicago suburb when the "hunt" ends.

Masterson, who coached the New York Yankee backfield last season, said he'd never seen Earl Banks play, so didn't feel qualified to comment on Banks' chances of sticking with the professional club, now the Bulldogs, with whom Banks recently agreed to play in 1950.

"Of course he's small as professional linemen go," Masterson said, "but you never can tell. The Bulldogs have some mighty good linemen coming back, but they also have some good ones who are nearing the end of their playing careers."

Bucky (getting back to golf) O'Connor reached for a handy stack of leaflets when we asked about the latest on his venture into the world of inventive genius—a golf putter he and a partner or so have been working on since last spring.

"We're starting to get them out on a national scale," he said, "but of course we don't know how it'll go over yet."

The putter is called "Tru-Put" and its got a mallet head with adjustable steel step-down shaft. It's built so any member of the golfing family can use the putter. It can be adjusted to any stance.

To prove it's really big league, the putter carries Bucky's autograph. All in the group discussing the new club agreed that was the "clincher" to its selling success.

Any price is too much at the 15th of the month. This is our first payment.

Michigan State, which will be butting heads with Big Ten opponents next year in a few varsity sports, played nine conference basketball teams this year. The Spartans didn't win a one, but they played 'em.

Tank Star, But Eyes Gridiron

By JACK SQUIRE

Bowen Stassforth, Iowa's all-American breast-stroker, may be a highly successful swimmer, but he's also a mighty frustrated one.

Bo, who left the sunny skies of Los Angeles to become the greatest breast-stroker in Hawkeye tank history, has nothing against the water sport, but given his choice, he'd rather be scoring touchdowns on the gridiron or sinking baskets for Bucky O'Connor and his boys.

"I was too small for football, too short for basketball and couldn't throw a baseball," the 5-foot, 10½-inch junior said. "I tried just about everything and finally took up swimming, mainly to keep active."

While in high school Bo joined the famous Hollywood Athletic club with a friend and present team mate, Duane Draves, the back stroker. Entering the service in 1944, he and Draves did considerable swimming at San Diego naval training station. Then in the fall of '47 he came to Iowa, reuniting with Draves who had come here a year earlier. "I guess you can say that I started to develop when I came to SU," he stated. "Jim Counsilman and, of course, Coach Dave Armbruster, did wonders for me. Jim was a great breast-stroker at Ohio State and showed me an awful lot."

Bo holds the varsity pool record in the 200 and 100 yard breast-stroke with times of 2:20 and :50.9 and placed second in both those events in the recent Big Ten meet. He also boasts a third-place in last year's National A.A.U. championships.

If Bo still harbors any thoughts about stardom in other sports, he doesn't show it. There's no harder trainer on the entire squad and you have Armbruster's word for that. "Bo is one of the hardest workers I've ever had," said Armbruster who's been at the Iowa helm for 33 years. "He's a tremendous competitor and a fine boy. We're proud of him."

Council Manager Poll Plans To Be Set Up Within 10 Days

Election officials and polling places for the April 17 election to determine whether Iowa City will adopt the city manager plan probably will be selected within the next 10 days, Mayor Preston Koser said Tuesday.

The city council and City Clerk George J. Dohrer will designate polling places and appoint officials, Koser said.

The council Monday night approved the ordinance committee's report that "it would be much more satisfactory to have a decision by the people" than by the council on the city manager question.

Bartley's Suggestion
The report referred to a suggestion by City Atty. William H. Bartley that councilmen consider adopting the city manager plan by ordinance for the remainder of their terms.

If Iowa Citizens vote April 17 to adopt the plan, it will go into effect April 1, 1951, and, under Iowa law, remain in effect at least six years. Voters would elect five councilmen — at — large March 26, 1951.

Councilmen Monday night decided to present local voters with a second ballot April 17, asking them to vote on whether the city should adopt the sanitary landfill method of garbage disposal.

New Police Car
To finance equipment needed to collect garbage and trash and to establish a landfill program, a monthly fee of $1 per garbage can probably would be charged.

In other action Monday night the council authorized the purchase of a new Pontiac police car from the Mann auto market, 221 E. College street.

The council also granted a class B beer permit to the Veterans of Foreign Wars post 2581, 22 1-2 E. College street.

Phi Gamma Deltas Elect Mason Citian President

William Nicholas, C3, Mason City, was elected president of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity, Monday night.

Other officers are Ray Walther, A2, Des Moines, treasurer; Warren Thompson, A3, Kenilworth, Ill., recording secretary; William Shields, C3, Newton, corresponding secretary; and Robert Mau, A1, Charles City, historian.

World Affairs Expert To Speak Thursday At 'Information First'

The last Information First program of the season will feature Louise Leonard Wright, foreign affairs expert, according to Publicity Chairman Helen Hays, A2, Iowa City.

Mrs. Wright will speak at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol on a woman's place in world affairs. The title of her lecture will be "Women Take Wings."

Active in the National League of Women Voters, the Woodrow Wilson foundation and the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, Mrs. Wright also has seen American foreign policy in action in Europe, the Near East, the Far East, Russia and Latin America.

She has represented the United States government at international UNESCO conferences in Paris, Mexico City and Beirut. Last summer she went to Rome as a United States delegate to the Second World Health assembly.

Warn Against Driving Without 1950 Licenses

Persons operating motor vehicles in Iowa without 1950 licenses will be given summons tickets starting Thursday, highway patrolmen said Tuesday.

The new license plates should be properly displayed, they said. "Do not throw away the old license plates where they might be picked up and used in some illegal manner," they added.

Blast!! Engineers Use Dynamite In 'Blarney' Hunt

Probes, spades and dynamite were brought into play by SUI's senior engineers Tuesday afternoon as they continued their search for the Blarney stone, emblem of Mecca week — which started Monday and will continue through Friday.

Twenty sticks of dynamite were set off to break through frozen ground where the original Blarney stone is believed to be buried, according to Kenneth Rogers, E4, Mt. Pleasant, president of the Associated Students of Engineering.

Rogers said the seniors were looking for what is thought to be the 1912 Barley stone. This stone was lost when the 1947 graduating class failed to find it. Plans which the 1947 class used in an effort to locate the stone are still held by Robert Adams, G, Iowa City.

Look for Original
Rogers said seniors decided to try to find the original stone, rather than the substitute stone hidden last year, when it became apparent that they didn't have all the instructions necessary to find the stone hidden by the 1949 graduating class.

A special-delivery letter with three additional problems was delivered to Mary Sheedy, secretary to Dean F.M. Dawson, Tuesday afternoon.

Rogers said only one of the problems had been worked out by Tuesday evening.

Search Near City Dump
Rogers said seniors felt sure they would locate the original stone this afternoon. He said they had dug a hole about six feet deep Tuesday afternoon, but were hampered when it kept filling with mud and water.

Search for the stone is being made near the city dump. This location tallies with the location the 1947 class obtained from the same problems, Rogers said.

Rogers said he and Thomas McCracken, G, New Hampton, president of the law students organization, had decided that neither engineering nor law students should engage in activities which would reflect badly on the school. This trace was the result of "a little trouble at Law Commons Tuesday afternoon," according to Rogers.

Fraternity Initiates 14 at Joint Meeting

Fourteen men were initiated into Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity at a joint meeting of the three Iowa chapters in Des Moines Saturday.

The joint meeting was sponsored by the National Alumni association of Des Moines. Chapters from Iowa State college at Ames, Drake university and the University of Iowa were represented.

Dr. John Mosley, Evanston, Ill., spoke at the initiation ceremonies. He is past national president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and president of the National Alumni association.

New members of the local chapter are Robert McCarville, C3, Jefferson; Don Crouse, C3, Webster City; Don Linden, C4, Davenport; Joseph Reagan, C3, Cedar Rapids; Frank Shidler, A1, Cedar Rapids; James Bullard, A1, Dubuque; Robert Hubbell, A1, Rockford, Ill.; William Jenna, A1, Iowa City; William Merner, A1, Cedar Falls; Richard Lierlie, A1, Iowa City; Donald Knoepfer, A1, Iowa City; and Thomas Rigler, C3, Kenilworth, Ill.

SUI - Missouri U. Debate Plans Set

Instructor Merrill Baker, SUI speech department, said Tuesday plans had been completed for the first half of the SUI - University of Missouri debate series which opens here Thursday.

Two-member teams will participate in the debate which will discuss "Resolved: That Western Germany Should Be Rearmed Immediately."

Henry Grodshir and Robert Wilson will represent the University of Missouri, and George McBurney, L1, Council Bluffs, and C. David Cornell, G, Knoxville, will compose the SUI team, Baker said.

The debate will be held in the senate chamber of Old Capitol, and will close with a public forum, Baker said, at which time members of the audience will be permitted to ask questions.

TAXES, TAXES, TAXES
CHICAGO (AP) — An unmarried woman Tuesday filed an income tax return calling for a $1,164,656 tax on an income of $1,653,293. Internal Revenue Collector John Jarecki refused to name the woman or give the source of her income. He said deductions on the return totaled $140,000, mostly for charity.

Out-Foxing The Foxes

Two men lugged 95 fox pelts into the county auditor's office Tuesday to claim bounties.

Elmer P. Kasper and William Maier, who live west of Iowa City, said they had shot the animals in Clear Creek, Union and West Lucas townships, according to Deputy Auditor William L. Kanak.

When they dumped the skins on the auditor's front office floor, there was scarcely room to walk. Maier had 62 pelts; Kasper, 33. They were paid $2 bounty for each animal.

When the county was paid, authorities clipped the ears on the pelts so the hunters could be returned to the hunters for later sale.

A bystander asked one of the men if he had hit all the foxes with one shot.

"No," was the reply. "It cost me $2 in shells just for one of those animals."

Missing Coal Found To Heat IC Schools

After location of a carload of coal which had been ordered—but missing until now — Iowa City's public schools will be warm for the remainder of the cold weather, Verne Miller said Tuesday at a meeting of the school board.

Because of poor railroad service, two truckloads of coal were hauled directly from Illinois mines, the superintendent of school buildings and grounds added.

The board, under the temporary chairmanship of Chan Coulter, 440 Grand avenue, voted to allow the Iowa City Music auxiliary to hold its annual Red and White carnival on the Junior high school grounds May 19.

The board also voted to grant the request of Junior high school students for some time off from studies during the boys state basketball tournament next week.

Following the regular meeting, the board reconvened to hear reports from school principals in a closed meeting.

DES MOINES FIRE

DES MOINES (AP) — Fire which apparently started in a pressure stove on the back porch caused a $4,000 damage to the four-room frame home of Rex Green here Tuesday.

ernly. Miss Jackson was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority here.

Mrs. Meyers told the court that one of her sons-in-law is a fraternity brother of Bednasek.

A number of the veniremen were also queried by the defense:

"If the evidence in this case should show that the defendant, Robert E. Bednasek, and Miss Margaret Ann Jackson were in love with each other and continued to see each other and date each other in spite of the fact that her parents objected strenuously, would that prejudice you against the defendant?" None of those questioned answered yes.

Prejudice Against Drinking

The defense also sought to determine any prejudices on the part of the prospective jurors against drinking. In response to that question, Moore remarked that while he didn't drink, he wasn't prejudiced against persons who do drink. "That's their business," he commented.

Miss Jackson's death followed the couple's candle-light supper with wine and lobster and a formal fraternity dance at which both had some drinks.

Three prospective jurors were asked if they had any prejudices against persons of Bohemian descent. Bednasek's father is an immigrant from Czechoslovakia. Unick and Kroul indicated they were also of Bohemian descent.

Prosecutor White asked the court to dismiss one juror, Philip McNamer, 59, 233 1-2 S. Dubuque street, after McNamer stated, "I've got my mind all made up."

Challenged "For Cause"

Hamilton challenged Mrs. Vitosh "for cause" on the grounds that she knew a number of Iowa City policemen who may be called as state witnesses. However, his challenge was overruled by Gaffney.

After 16 prospective jurors are selected, the state is allowed a peremptory, or no cause, challenge. This challenge is revealed only to the judge and attorneys involved.

If a venireman is challenged, then another member of the jury panel is questioned and seated. The defense is then allowed a peremptory challenge, and the process may be repeated with a maximum of eight challenges allowed by both the prosecution and defense. This is designed to leave 16 unchallenged jurors.

When this number is finally reached, the prosecution and state are each allowed to reject two additional jurors, cutting the jury down to the prescribed 12 members.

Judge Gaffney has not indicated whether an alternate jurymen will be selected.

SUI to Receive Grant From Swift Company

SUI will receive a grant from Swift and company, meat packers, it was reported Tuesday.

The grant is one of 22 which total more than $120,000 to universities, colleges and other research institutions.

The amount SUI will receive was not announced.

Prof. Henry A. Mattill, head of the biochemistry department, said, "I don't know if the report is true or not, I haven't heard from them."

SUI has had grants from the meat packing company in previous years. The present grant expires in May.

Toomey said the meeting will be a public affair, and will be open to all persons interested in world peace.
