Upsets Begin

"Another upset, just like last year," commented Ron Kester after he had led his Winfield team to a 63-41 victory over East Des Moines Tuesday afternoon.

Ray Fontana Scores 36 Points for Record

By ALAN MOYER Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Winfield, Sioux City Central, Marion and Ankeny came through with victories Tuesday afternoon and evening in the opening day of the 23rd annual Boy's state high school basketball tournament being held in the Iowa fieldhouse.

The first day's action, played before 9,000 in the afternoon and 11,000 in the evening, produced one upset and a new all-time scoring record.

Winfield produced the upset with a crushing 63-41 triumph over East Des Moines high in the first game of the five-day tourney. The Class B school — total enrollment 80 — extended its undefeated streak to 29 by the stinging defeat of East — enrollment 1,354. Winfield last lost in the consolation game of the 1949 state tournament.

In the second game of the evening Ray Fontana, a 6-foot, 4-inch senior who has played in the state tournament for three straight seasons, scored 36 points to smash the previous record of 23, set by Bob Michael, Roosevelt of Des Moines in 1933.

Fontana divided his withering attack on the fieldhouse nets by scoring 20 points in the opening half and 16 in the final 16 minutes. Fontana had a season's mark of 748 points in 28 games before Tuesday night.

He and his teammates eliminated Class B Melrose, 56-45. In the first game of the evening Marion continued its winning ways by ousting Loras, a double A school from Dubuque, 52-39.

The only Class AA school to survive the opening day of play was Sioux City Central. The Little Maroons, back to the state tourney after a lapse of three years, downed Albert City, 40-35.

This afternoon Keokuk and Shelby meet at 1:30, followed by Deavenport and Newkirk at 2:45. In the evening Dinsdale and Montezuma square off at 7:30 and at 8:45 Mason City Holy Family meets Atlantic.

Ankeny Downs Melrose, 56-45

By JOHN ROSSI

Big Ray Fontana unfurled one of his best scoring performances of the season at the fieldhouse Tuesday night to lead Ankeny to a 56-45 victory over Melrose in the first round of the Boy's state tournament.

Fontana, working from his center slot, set three tourney records by scoring 36 points. He broke the tournament records for most points in a single game, by most points in a single game by a center and most field goals — 15 — by a player in a single game.

Fontana's record performance was slowed down late in the third quarter as he committed his fourth personal foul, but he returned to play the last two minutes and scored four points.

Joy Wilson, Guthrie List Campaign Aims In Student Elections

(This is the second in a series of stories about student council candidates.)

Student council campaign platforms reviewed today are those of Joy Wilson, A3, Ottumwa, and Don Guthrie, A3, Iowa City.

Miss Wilson is treasurer of Alpha Xi Delta social sorority and a member of the YWCA cabinet. She is a member of the University Women's association's foreign student committee and was a member of the Religion-in-life week committee.

In her platform she supports the actions of the present student council and advocates continuing them. She asks student representation on the university committee on student life.

Miss Wilson also favors a better freshman counseling service and requests better use of the present Union space.

Her platform supports more low cost recreation, to come about through council pressure on the Union board.

She asks that all-campus election campaigns be run on a political party basis and that the student council be better publicized.

Guthrie is vice-president of the Union board, chairman of the men's orientation committee for 1950, and a member of the student board of publications. He worked on the 1949 homecoming parade committee and is a member of Delta Upsilon social fraternity.

His platform lists four major points, including the establishment of regular polls to sound out student opinion on specific issues. He also proposes a regular "gripe" session every semester for airing student opinions.

Guthrie favors revising the requirements for candidates in the student elections.

He proposes closer cooperation between the student council and other groups to enable students to produce Panacea, a musical comedy.

He suggests a "freshman follies" show to discover new talent on the campus.

Youngest Cheerleader Congratulates Marion's 'Duz' Twins

"YOU'RE TOPS!" beams Connie Jones, three-year old mascot and youngest cheerleader of the victorious Marion basketball quintet. The Indians Tuesday night beat Loras 52-39. Connie is shown here congratulating the Marion "Duz twins," Forwards Jack King and Barrie Gable. King, who scored 17 points for his night's work, gets the glad hand here from Miss Jones. Gable is trying to convince the gal that he merits the same approval. Gable netted 19 points for his team.

McCarthy Charges Official as Top Spy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy charged Tuesday that a man connected with the state department is "the top Russian espionage agent in this country," but Senator Millard Tydings said McCarthy had not produced any "primary evidence" to back up the accusation.

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, made his charge in talking to newsmen and was quickly called into a closed-door session of a senate committee investigating his allegations of Red infiltration in the state department.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) later said that McCarthy had merely pinned a new label on an old case, and had suggested the investigators look into government files for evidence to back up the charge.

"The name of the individual had already been given to us before," Tydings said.

SUI Professors Protest Scientist Loyalty Check

The SUI chapter of the American Association of University Professors has passed and sent to congress a resolution protesting the loyalty check amendment recently passed by the house of representatives.

In the resolution the chapter declared, "The amendment establishes the principle of guilt by association, a principle which appears to be a serious departure from our constitutional theory of the right of the individual."

Mud, Rain Plagues Local Pedestrians

Spring weather has proven a "mysterious stranger" here as drizzles, snow and mud continue to plague Iowa Citizens.

However, the U.S. weather bureau sent a ray of hope, predicting warmer temperatures today.

Bespeckled pedestrians walked Iowa City streets gloomily Tuesday, wary of mud splattered by motorists.

But the "mud slinging" wasn't confined to just motorists. Pedestrians could splatter themselves slopping through the muddy film that covered most of the streets and sidewalks.

The mercury hovered around the 39 degrees mark Tuesday but the temperature was expected to go higher today.

Italian Reds Call Nationwide Strike

ROME (AP) — The Communist-controlled National Labor Federation (CGIL) Tuesday night ordered a nationwide general strike for today to protest police action at Lentella, 150 miles south of Rome, where one worker was killed and a score of other injured Tuesday.

The call for an Italy-wide work stoppage was a clean about-face on the part of the Communists in one day. Earlier the CGIL executive committee had declined to act on a similar recommendation made by its directors.

The executive committee, in another surprising action, also offered to negotiate a permanent accord "without ideological discrimination" with non-Communist unions.

Protest FBI Power

The chapter also protested provisions of the house loyalty check amendment which would grant the federal bureau of investigation "not only the power of investigation, but also the power of judgment regarding an individual's loyalty."

This procedure would mean the loss of right of personal appeal to the courts for both individuals and groups, the chapter stated.

Southern Jury Convicts White of Slaying Negro

KOSCIUSKO, MISS. (AP) — A jury Tuesday night convicted Leon Turner, 38-year-old white man, in the slaying of three Negro children.

The jury was not able to agree on punishment. In such cases, life imprisonment is mandatory under Mississippi state law. Circuit Judge J.P. Coleman sentenced Turner to life imprisonment.

Geege's Evening Gown Displayed In Courtroom

Coroner Denies Foul Words at Police Grilling

The clothes worn by Margaret Ann (Geege) Jackson the night she died were identified Tuesday in the murder trial of Robert E. Bednasek.

Bednasek, a 24-year-old former SUI student, is accused of fatally choking Miss Jackson last Dec. 11 in a roominghouse at 411 E. Washington street.

An evening gown, a pair of golden slippers, a pair of gloves, stockings and underclothing were identified by Dr. George Callahan, county coroner, in Tuesday's testimony.

When Special Prosecutor Edward Rate attempted to enter the clothes as evidence, Bednasek sat with head bowed, occasionally rubbing his eyes with a handkerchief. Spectators in the crowded courtroom craned their necks to see the clothing worn by Miss Jackson at the Sigma Phi Epsilon formal party Dec. 10.

Bednasek never looked at the clothing piled on a table a few feet away.

Callahan also identified a small diary which he said belonged to Bednasek. The state did not quiz Callahan on the contents of the diary.

Callahan denied under cross-examination that he pushed the clothing in Bednasek's face while questioning him at the police station. On re-direct questioning, the witness said he showed Bednasek the clothing when the defendant "called me a liar when I told him Miss Jackson was dead."

Callahan also denied he cursed Bednasek and told him to "come clean."

Dr. Isom A. Rankin, the first physician to arrive at the death scene, testified that Bednasek asked police to let him sign a confession when he was arrested.

"Let me sign a confession. I must have done it. No one else was there," Rankin quoted Bednasek as saying.

Bednasek now claims the death was an accident, caused by a playful demonstration of "how to choke a person."

Dr. Rankin, a state witness, also admitted under cross-examination that Miss Jackson's life could have been saved if "competent medical help had arrived in time."

Defense Atty. Clair Hamilton asked Dr. Rankin, "Didn't you mention that you could have performed an operation (which might have saved Miss Jackson's life) with a pen knife?"

Dr. Rankin replied, "I never did the operation. I never saw the operation performed and I doubt if the patient's chances of living would have been greatly improved if I had done it."

Highway Patrolmen Joseph L. Smith and Virgil Johnston told the jury that Dr. Rankin was preparing a blood test for Bednasek after his arrest when the former objected to the use of a "truth serum."

When Dr. Rankin "was getting out the needle for the blood test, Bednasek said, 'I know what that is. It's sodium pentathol. You want to find out the truth,'" Smith testified.

Under cross-examination, Smith later said Bednasek spoke of sodium amthol instead of pentathol.

Johnston said Bednasek pleaded with police officers to shoot him and said, "You both have guns, why not shoot me and get it over with?" He testified Bednasek was asked if he was making love to Miss Jackson. "No, no, don't put it that way," Bednasek was quoted as saying.

"Then I asked if he ever made love to her and he said 'Yes, many times,'" Johnston said.

Cab Drivers Gilbert L. Ayers and George Loerzel, an SUI student, were identified as the drivers who took Bednasek and Miss Jackson to and from the formal party.

Loerzel, C4, Iowa City, said the couple was cheerful except for a minor dispute over where they

Police officers who testified were Cletus J. Stimmel and John Ruppert. Stimmel demonstrated how Bednasek had shown him the "game" he and the girl had been playing.

"I asked Bednasek what he had been doing," Stimmel said, "and he said, 'It's hard to explain, but we were playing a game.' He showed me by putting his hands around my throat in a choking motion."

Stimmel demonstrated the choking motion on County Atty. Jack C. White in court and again with Defense Atty. William Bartley during cross-examination.

State Board Okays Joint Sewage Plan

The sewage disposal contract between Iowa City and Coralville has been approved by the state board of education, Fred W. Ambrose, SUI business manager, said Tuesday.

The board's approval was necessary because of the joint investment of Iowa City and SUI in the city's sewer system. SUI contributed 40 percent of the original cost of the city's sewage disposal plant.

The Iowa City council authorized the contract Feb. 27 so Coralville could go ahead with plans to construct a new sewer system.

The contract provides for the carrying of Coralville sewage through part of Iowa City's sewage system to the disposal plant. Coralville residents will pay 10 cents per 100 cubic feet of water used for sewage disposal service. This rate is two and one-half cents more than that paid by Iowa City residents.

Students Face Charges For Waylaying Girls

LINCOLN, NEB. (AP) — The county attorney said Tuesday that charges will be filed today against six University of Nebraska students jailed for waylaying teen-age girls and forcing them to be photographed in the nude.

County Attorney Frederick Wagener said the six admitted waylaying two high school girls, driving them to a private garage where they forced them to undress and be photographed, then molesting them.

Wagener said that the girls had not been raped. He said he would file charges against the youths, ranging in age from 18 to 20, today.

Committee Slashes Budget

It approved for house consideration next week an omnibus $29,045,030,164 bill wrapping into a single package for the first time in years almost all federal appropriations except those for foreign assistance, fixed charges such as interest on the public debt are not included in the measure.

Congress Divided On European Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign committees of the senate and house split wide apart Tuesday over the question of substituting surplus U.S. farm products for $1-billion of European recovery cash.

Each gave final approval to its version of a foreign spending authorization bill with $3.1-billion provided for economic cooperation administration programs in Europe. But in the senate's measure it is all cash while in the house's bill a billion is farm surplus.

The senate foreign relations committee action was unanimous.

Parents Face Offering Quads for Adoption

(AP Wirephoto)

LACK OF MONEY has forced the parents of the five-months-old girl quadruplets shown here to say they "may have to consider offering the four girls for adoption." The father, Ozlie Hargreaves, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, a $224-a-month pulp mill worker, said he and his wife could not keep the children unless the city backed up their promise of a home and education fund. The parents' new call for help caused some townspeople to label it a publicity stunt to get all the money they could, and others blamed the town for not providing adequate help. The picture is one taken of the quads shortly after their birth last Oct. 13.

Housing Bill Headache —

The U. S. senate March 15 passed a major part of President Truman's housing program. The bill now goes back to the house of representatives.

The 81st congress has gone further than any previous congress to provide public housing, but it has not gone far enough.

As it went to the house, the bill contained these provisions:

1. $1,750,000,000 to continue and expand government insurance of housing operated by the federal housing administration.
2. $500-million of insurance on mortgages for low cost homes ranging up to $5,000 a unit.
3. $300-million for direct loans to colleges and universities to provide housing for students and faculty. Loans would be for 40 years at 2 1/2 percent interest.
4. $150-million for direct loans to veterans unable to obtain housing credit elsewhere.
5. $400-million for large scale rental apartments started during the war.

The senate defeated by a 43 to 38 vote a $1-billion co-operative loan plan to finance housing for middle income families—those with incomes between $2,400 and $4,700 a year. Public housing should not be restricted to lower income families to the neglect of families in the middle income level.

According to recent estimates, about 44 percent of the housing in this country needs minor repairs, 15 percent needs major repairs and 2 percent is completely unfit. About 17 percent of housing units are overcrowded and about 10 percent of the population has inadequate housing.

The federal government cannot provide adequate housing by the piecemeal and haphazard methods it has used in the past. To insure a really effective housing program it could:

1. Start an educational program to overcome a widespread belief that certain groups do not deserve decent housing. The campaign should be designed to shake the public out of its indifferent attitude toward housing.

2. Enact permanent rent control flexible enough to meet changing economic conditions.

3. Subsidize to a greater extent builders of low cost rental housing. For families of average income, renting is apt to be more advantageous than home ownership, especially during periods of inflation. Interest payments, low resale value and upkeep make home ownership more costly in the long run.

4. Regulate prices of materials used in house construction, such as cement, glass and lumber.

5. Standardize mortgage laws.

6. Encourage states to use their police power to clean up slum areas.

7. Start a program of housing research. This should include research in home planning and construction, architecture and housing standards. It should include research into minimum health standards. The nature of neighborhoods and the composition of their population should be studied.

8. Start a housing program for rural sections. Housing aid in this area still is neglected. If congress would enact legislation to carry out an effective housing program, it is not unlikely that every American family could have decent housing within 10 years.

America long has been noted as the land of opportunity for the young and stout of heart, but the British this week came up with a better-than-the-usual Horatio Alger story.

A man who began his theatrical career as the hind half of a musical comedy "horse" became general manager of Britain's biggest theatrical firm.

Neither Horatio Alger nor Abe Lincoln can top such a humble beginning as that.

Pills — Public or Private? —

The current controversy over the administration's health insurance bill is not whether we shall have health insurance or shall not have it.

It is, instead, whether the health insurance shall be on a voluntary or a compulsory basis—and whether medicine shall remain free and progressive, or whether it shall be strait-jacketed in political controls.

The American people must want health insurance, because they're buying it, according to the Health Insurance Council. Figures recently released by the council show that 61-million Americans were protected against hospital costs by August, 1949, and 34-million against surgical bills. Over 13-million Americans were insured against medical expenses.

On the surface it would seem that America has no medical problem, but it has, and a very serious one, too. However, we are solving that problem gradually, and by purely voluntary means.

To put the government into the picture as the dominant influence in medical practice would create an infinitely worse problem than the one we are trying to solve.

In a recent Reader's Digest article, based on an investigation of Britain's compulsory health insurance scheme, Harold E. Stassen charged that mass-medicine—which Britain has, and the U.S. will have if the compulsory bill is passed into law—is inferior medicine.

Under the voluntary system, we are getting high quality service, Stassen said, and we are getting an increasing quantity of service.

Striped Pants Laid Aside —

Diplomats Need Bullet-Proof Vests Today

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Suppose you were a second secretary at the American embassy in Moscow. You could tell your wife what was going on at the office only if you did one of two things:

1. You could motion her into the bathroom, turn on the water full force and then tell her what you wanted to say.
2. You could go for a walk, wait until you hit a broad place in the street, make sure no one was directly on her heels, then spill it.

On account of listening devices in your home, of course.

Besides that, there would be Russian guards at the doors of your office and your apartment. They would report on when you left and entered and where you went. They would report on who called on you, whether Russian (which is practically never) or people of other nations.

In Moscow you just take for granted that the government has tapped all your phone lines. Usually when you dial your number you get nothing. You hang up, dial your number again and get it right away. The American gag is that it takes the Russians that long to hook up their recording machines.

Your servants would be secret police. You have to hire Russians because someone who speaks Russian has to get to the markets at the crack of dawn before all the food runs out.

The government sends your servants to you, and they are all trained as spies, finger-print gents and riflers of desk drawers. That's what Americans are up against when they are assigned to Moscow, or the satellite nations, by either the government or by business concerns.

There is little room anymore on such a job for a pair of striped pants. Today's diplomat is much better prepared if he knows how to write code, how to duck a bullet and, if need be, how to send one.

Our diplomats have become the front line men in the cold war.

Restrictions differ, country by country, in the nations that the Communists have grabbed, but they are all slowly approaching the Russian pattern of espionage.

In Romania, for example, restrictions have not gone so far as in Moscow — but there is an added worry for that reason.

Americans have tried to keep up friendships with decent, democratic Romanians. But now that is beginning to mean that these Romanians finally disappear.

Says a former diplomat in Romania:

"It's always unpleasant to work anywhere in the Russian sphere, but in the satellites it is also depressing because you hear every so often of friends being dragged off. It has a psychological effect, and of course the Russians want to make it as hard as possible for us to work there."

Even in Russia the lines are still lightning. Recently the government forbade the sale of Russian provincial papers to foreigners. Foreign missions had gotten a good deal of information on where the Communist state was breaking down, stumbling or wasting by reading the provincial papers.

But a diplomatic group that was really up against life-and-death was the group which went to Bogota, Colombia, in April, 1948.

The American corps went down for what looked like another one of those peaceful inter-American conferences. Then on April 9 the Liberal leader, Jorge Gaitan, was shot down on a main street. Riots followed for days, wrecking Colombia's capital as badly — said some former war correspondents — as though the city had been bombed.

The state department officer who had to take the worst of it was Michael McDermott, special assistant to the secretary of state for press relations. He had to stick to his downtown post, with a few secretaries and some newspaper men, to keep the news rolling out to Washington.

The whole first night McDermott, his skeleton staff and some newsmen held the fort in a downtown office building just across from the American embassy.

They had been given permission — by Secretary of State Marshall and the Colombian government — to get out a "pooled" story for the U.S., sent out over U.S. state department wires to Washington. American reporters wandering around through the mobs, called "Mac."

Mac took their notes by repeating them. His secretary took them short-hand. Two American reporters turned those notes into the stories you and I read.

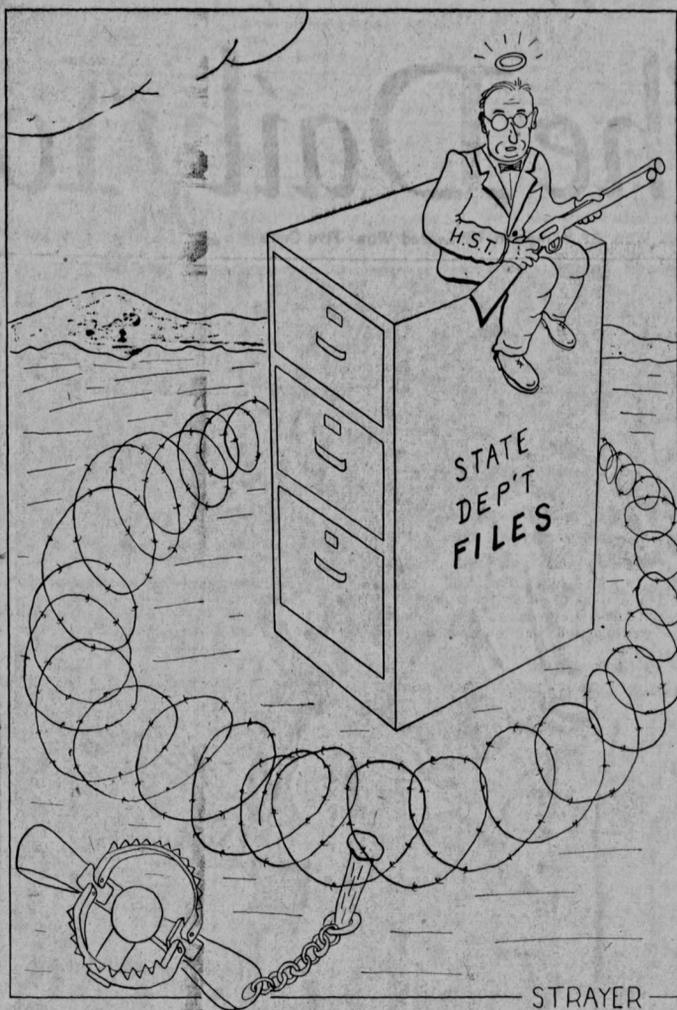

This went on for 27 hours, without food, in a building in the center of rioting. Water mains had been broken, and the lights out. All through the night Mac's secretary sat on a window sill (with snipers all around) taking notes in the only light available — the red-yellow light of burning buildings.

Drunken rioters tried to storm the building. An iron gate held them at the first floor, but they finally brought up a long ladder which reached second story windows.

The silvery-haired Mac saw it from his upper balcony. He yelled and led his gang, racing like a lad, down five flights of stairs. In the face of snipers they pulled in the ladder and then raced back upstairs to man the wires to the U.S.

Around noon the next day Colombian troops got around "evacuating" Mac and his crew. They guarded them en route to their hotel, and baths, and bed,

Interpreting the News —

German Rearming Proposed

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The question of rearming Germany has been raised again on both sides of the Atlantic. Winston Churchill has come out for it, saying western Europe cannot be defended without it.

Sen. Walter George (D - Ga.), a member of the senate foreign relations committee, takes a similar line. He says that without a rearmend Germany it is just a waste to send military material to western Europe. He says none of the North Atlantic pact nations could resist a Soviet attack, and that under present circumstances the arms being shipped would just be taken over by the Russians in case of war.

General Charles De Gaulle did not mention the rearmend angle in his suggestion for an economic and political union of France and Germany. As a soldier, however, it is assumed he would not wish to be joined to a country which was in no position to contribute to the common defense.

As a Frenchman, however, De Gaulle could hardly be expected to see any sort of military revival in Germany without trepidation.

This position in which he must find himself is typical of one of the tough problems involved in both the economic and military revival of western Europe. In both fields, German competition is feared by the other countries who must cooperate if she is actually to be integrated into the type of Europe which the United States desires and is spending so much money to foster.

The fear that, once rearmend, Germany would join Russia and make a sphere of influence deal for joint conquest, is serious only if one situation should develop. That would be in case the west failed to maintain sufficient strength, leading the Germans to think that Russia was a sure winner.

The danger that Russia will move in and take over western arms when she feels like it seems to me to be remote. There is in Germany already a far greater deterrent to war than could be provided for a long time through any rearmend program. It is a thin line of American troops, a constant reminder to Russia that, even if she could gobble Europe, she would have to digest America.

Tucker Sues, Wants $1-Million of Accusers

CHICAGO (AP) — Preston Tucker, acquitted recently of mail fraud, violation of securities and exchange commission regulations and conspiracy in his attempt to produce a revolutionary new car, filed a $1-million damage suit Tuesday against his accusers.

He charged three government prosecutors, four SEC employees and a Chicago lawyer with malicious persecution and conspiracy with Detroit auto manufacturers to prevent him from mass-producing his car.

By GIL PEARLMAN
Surely there is something you don't know about human nature. I used to be in the same boat until I met Mike Palamidy.

And I suggest to you that if you are in doubt concerning the whims and behavior of our cult . . . just get hold of Mike and he will be more than happy to answer your inquiry.

FOR YOU SEE MIKE is in the position to view the antics of the male and female man and woman at their best. He is a waiter in one of the local bistros. This enables him to observe human actions minus the code of inhibitions we carry around with us. This is especially true on Friday afternoons and Saturday nights.

HE IS A STUDENT here at SUI, from New Joisey, majoring in commerce. It is my suggestion that he transfer his endeavors into the field of psychology where he could analyze the favorite mockings of the human voice, such as "draw two!"

Some of the incidents concerning "beasts in the booth" he has unselfishly passed on to me. Here are some of same. Caution: Don't look too closely . . . you might find yourself as a couple of nights ago . . . I think I did!

ONE OF MY FAVORITES concerns a new addition to the establishment of Mike's employment. Seems they have obtained a new, revolutionary pinball machine. This machine is of the question-answer type. You know, the kind where you put a nickel in to see how stupid a guy can be. A question flashes on a screen, then you attempt to answer it by pressing one of five buttons.

A GUY WALKED in the other day, put a nickel in, and the victim of immediate frustration when he discovered there was no rolling steel ball.

He saw no reason for losing the federal coin so he went to work revealing his I.Q., of which there was little to reveal.

AT THE END OF FIVE attempts at showing his genius, he had a raw score of "O." Anyway you look at it, "O" is a pretty raw score.

The dismayed guest calculated "Thish ish the crazistest makine I'b ever sheen!" Whereupon he ran up to the bar exclaiming he was a law student and if there were any questions concerning "habeous corpus" he would have broke "the ?&! makine" with his legal intellect.

AS IF THAT WERENT enough . . . following him some lovely walked casually up and scored 63,000 without a bat of her false eyelashes. (It is only fair to insert here that every question asked her dealt with the cinema . . . but still we must admit, a college education is developing the mind of the weaker sex.)

Another episode, which is of the periodic type, concerns a young lady who frequents the warehouse often with a various assortment of escorts.

After three or four "draws" she "Was he ever in civil court?"

gets lost in the hallucination that she is a second cousin to Sally Rand. This brings about no end of complications, especially due to the fact that about this time most of her escorts begin imagining themselves as Larry Adler, and sentimentally play the harmonica while she flings her scarf on the hat rings.

AND SO, as our ship sinks slowly into the harbor, we return to Mike Palamidy, male boy, as he faces life and a den full of squirrels.

Can Russian Missile Bomb U.S.?

THE RUSSIANS HAVE DEVELOPED a rocket missile said to be capable of delivering an atom bomb from the Reds' rocket base at Penemuende on the Baltic sea to New York, say German seamen employed in hauling rocket personnel. Already the Russians have fired rocket missiles from the Leningrad area to Penemuende, more than 1,000 miles. The Leningrad rockets, 30 feet long and five feet in diameter, carry radar, rise to 15,000 feet and are guided by radio.

Local Couple Transforms Garage Into Modern Home

An Iowa City couple has discovered that even a garage can become a livable home through interior decorating.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Chapman, 214 S. Riverside court, heard about a barn for sale and decided to transform it into an apartment. After investigating they found it was a triple garage.

"Our friends shook their heads with pity when they discovered we were planning to live in such a nondescript place," the Chapmans recalled.

But they saw the building's possibilities and were impressed with the landscaping and dormer effect.

"With the exception of wiring and plumbing we did every bit of building," Mrs. Chapman said. "Gene was the carpenter and I was the decorator, but I've also learned a great deal about pounding nails," she laughed.

Husband Laid Floors
Even the floors were laid by Mr. Chapman. Aluminum foil insulation was placed over the original cement slabs and a false floor laid to keep out dampness.

"Fine paneling dominates the walls. Mrs. Chapman says the panels are 'easy to care for' and lend atmosphere to the room.

"She ash-stained the pine to keep from turning red with age, then sanded and sanded it. 'Of course, looks just as it did before,'" Mrs. Chapman said, "but it will keep its creamy light tone for years."

Kitchen Project
One of the first projects was the kitchen, a room in the front of the house secluded from the living-living room. Attractive built-in, or wooden partitions, separate the breakfast nook from the rest of the room. California linoleum has been used for the breakfast table and floor. A spacious Hutch cupboard, resembling an old New England cupboard, fills one corner of the room.

"Since there is no basement Mrs. Chapman's washing machine fits into an enclosed cupboard.

"Attractively-upholstered leather chairs in the kitchen provide a relaxing spot for relaxing and entertaining.

"A love seat and two chairs in the dining-living room have been constructed from walnut. The dining windows on the south wall are a sort of solar heating system.

Ample Storage Space
"Gone - With - the - Wind" lamps decorate the tilt-top waist table and small stand in the living-living room. Ample storage space is found here, too, with a small wardrobe closet just inside the door. A small cabinet built into the stairs contains clubs and irons belonging to Chapman, a professional golfer, and toys for the children.

"Upstairs, Mrs. Chapman says, wings to the children. The elder daughter, Karen, a University high school student, lives in an upstairs room decorated in brown, chartruse, aqua and grapefruit green.

The two younger children, 12-year-old Joselyn and 7-year-old Andrea, occupy a dormitory-like room.

Antique walnut pieces give the upstairs guest - room - study a old-world charm.

"The satisfaction we got from working on the house and seeing the finished product was worth the long hours of work," Mrs. Chapman said.

Twenty-three women were initiated Sunday into the local Sigma chapter of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority.

A banquet in the chapter house followed the ceremony. Awards were presented to Carol Miller, A2, Waterloo, for the highest grade point; Mary Lou Bixler, A1, Rolfe, and Patricia White, A1, Farmington, for outstanding activities.

Crockery, Drapes Replace Wrenches, Tires

JUST A STEP AWAY FROM THE STOVE—that's where the telephone is located in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Chapman, 214 S. Riverside court. A portable radio adds to the housewife's kitchen comfort. Lending a different touch to this room is the Hutch cupboard (shown above) which resembles an old New England cupboard. Red Swedish scroll work decorates the construction with two tones of gray matching the cupboards below where ample space is provided for Mrs. Chapman's washing machine and other kitchen utensils.

Winfield 'Mighty Happy To Win' Over East

Marion's Coach 'Proud' After First Tourney Win

By DON MOYER

Those Winfield Wolves really had something to howl about Tuesday afternoon after their opening game victory over East high of Des Moines, 63-41.

East, boasting the tallest team in the state this year, was one of the tourney favorites, but the class B club handled the Scarlets with ease.

Big Ron Kester, the Wolves' center who accounted for 21 of his team's points, flashed a big smile after the game and said, "Guess we scored another upset just like last year." (In 1948 Winfield defeated favored Waverly in the second round.)

Tough All the Way

Kester didn't belittle the East high team however. "They were tough all the way," said the 6-foot, 5-inch senior.

Coach Orrie Rew, who brought his team back to the state again this year after it placed fourth in the 1948 meet, said of the victory, "We're mighty happy to win. I knew the boys could do it after they got over their tense-ness in the early part of the game."

The Winfield players stayed to watch the Albert City - Sioux City Central game and were then going home until Thursday. The Wolves will meet Central in the quarterfinals Thursday afternoon.

East filed dejectedly into the dressing room and it was easy to tell they had dropped an important game. It was the first trip to Iowa City for the Scarlets and they had been defeated in the opening round.

The loss was only the second of the season for East and ended a winning streak of 19 games for the Des Moines school.

Central high of Sioux City, playing in the state tournament for the fifth time, was the victor in the second game Tuesday afternoon. They turned in a not too impressive win, 40-35, over another Northwest quintet, Albert City.

Not Up to Par

Harold Stevens, coach of the Little Maroons who has brought two teams to Iowa City previously, said, "We weren't up to par offensively. The boys were missing too many of their shots and when they became conscious of it they tightened up all the more.

"They should snap out of it and come back strong though Thursday," he said confidently. The second game loser, Albert City, was none too happy about its loss but the players were not glum over it. Little Jerry Lawler, 5-8 sophomore forward said, "Well, every game has a loser — I think someone has said."

Bob Rohwedder, the Hurricanes center and top scorer, said "We outplayed them for three quarters but that second one lost us the ball game."

Albert City Coach Steve Everett voiced the same opinion. "The boys came back in the second half but the game was lost in the second period. Guess all we can do now is have a good time during the rest of the week."

The Marion Indians, playing their first state tourney game, opened the evening session Tuesday by downing Loras Academy of Dubuque, 52-39.

Coach Les Hipple was mighty proud of his boys' performance. When he was asked how it felt to turn in the first victory in state competition he answered with only three words, "Fine, fine, fine."

"Weren't Easy"

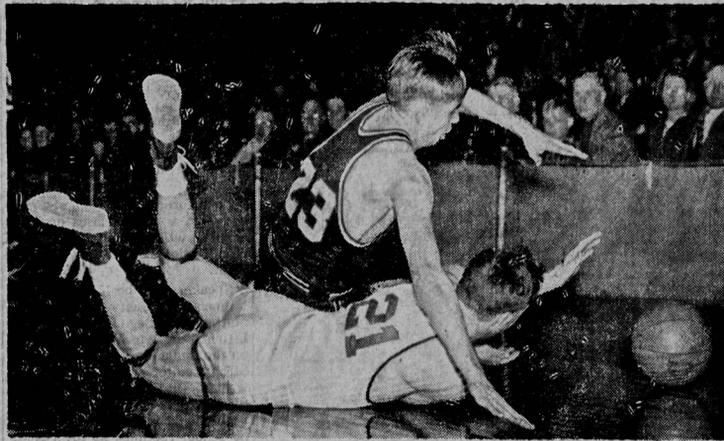

"I thought they (Loras) would be tougher than they were, but they still weren't easy," he added. "Our boys' passing was off in the first half but they played fine ball after that."

Barrie Gable, the Indians star forward, thought those Loras players "sure looked big out there." The 5-11 senior who led his team's scoring went through the game without a foul. "Could have been I wasn't watching my man too close," he volunteered.

Going — But Coming Back

Hipple told the players they could watch the first quarter of the Ankeny-Melrose game and then they would return to Marion. Ankeny, putting in its third straight appearance at the state meet, defeated a stubborn Melrose team, 56-45. Ray Fontana, burned up the nets, as was expected, but he also broke all tournament scoring records by totaling 36 points, on 15 field goals and six free throws.

Ray, who has now accumulated 784 points this season, unassumingly said his scoring accomplishment "was nothing much." While Ray autographed several programs, Coach Merritt Parsons added that Ray has equaled the 36 point mark several times this year.

Proud Father

Ray and Ron's father, Joseph Fontana, was in the dressing room after the game displaying great pride in his two sons. He wasn't the only Ankeny fan in the field-house Tuesday night, however. Practically the whole town turns out every year to see the Hawk-eyes play.

"There would have been more people here, too, but we could only get two buses for tonight," said the boys' father.

The Melrose team was disappointed over their loss but they took defeat graciously. The Shamrocks' coach, Gene Mullan, said, "We don't mind losing to a club like that. Our boys played a fine game."

East Des Moines players spent their time outs and periods between quarters reclining on a big scarlet blanket spread on the court floor.

The Ankeny team brought 15 gallons of drinking water with them from home because they had heard the Iowa City water was especially bad this year. When the Hawk-eyes arrived at the field-house Tuesday night, however, they discovered they had forgotten to bring the water along and so had to drink the Iowa City variety.

sailing as long as Ray was in the lineup but when the big 6-foot, 4-inch center was relieved for a few minutes, Melrose closed the gap.

At the end of the third quarter

Ankeny held a 40-35 lead after leading by nine points most of the quarter. The fourth quarter started slowly for both clubs until Ray returned to the lineup.

Guard Harold Hildreth turned in a masterful job of defensive guarding for the Hawks from Folk county as they won their 23rd straight win this season. Hildreth also contributed eight points to Ankeny's cause.

Melrose was led by Guard Jerry Navin who tallied 15 points. The Shamrocks finished their season with a 32-6 record.

Marion Trips Loras, 52-39

By OZZIE JENSEN

Marion's Indians defeated Loras Academy of Dubuque, 52-39, Tuesday night in the first round of the state basketball finals at the fieldhouse. The loss knocked Van Combs' Gubs out of the title race.

The Indians' high-scoring fore-court combination of Barrie Gable and Jack King, dubbed the Duz twins, accounted for 36 of Marion's 52 points. Gable led all scorers with 19 points on eight fielders and three free throws. King got all of his 17 tallies in the first half.

23rd Victory

It was the 23rd consecutive win for Les Hipple's short but speedy club. Marion will test its 25-1 record against undefeated Ray Fontana and company of Ankeny in the quarter-finals Thursday afternoon.

Both teams were ragged in their floor play, but Marion had what it took to score the points. Gable and King hit consistently on their pet push shots from the side, King in the first half and Gable after the middle of the second period.

Tied Six Times

The score was tied six times in the first 12 minutes, the last time at 19-all. Loras didn't score again until early in the third quarter, while Marion was pulling away to a 30-19 lead.

Meets Winfield

Sioux City will now meet Winfield Thursday afternoon in a semi-final contest at 1:30. The trip was Albert City's first to the state finals since 1940.

Bob Rohwedder of Albert City led both teams in scoring. He tallied five field goals and five free throws for 15 points. Sioux City's scoring was divided among Harlan (Lefty) Melton, Charles Daniels and Neal Brandes. Melton scored 12 points, Brandes and Daniels 10 each.

Both teams repeatedly missed shots at the basket and were reluctant to let loose with the fast break both schools employed during the regular season.

Albert City, guilty of bad passing during the entire game, refused to shoot from far out. When Sioux City resorted to a tight defensive set-up it effectively bottled up Albert City's attempts to get the ball to its center.

The Hurricanes jumped to a 4-0 lead and were ahead, 7-4, at the close of the first quarter.

Takes First Lead

When Daniels scored on a follow-up shot with slightly more

15 points as he and his teammates outscored Sioux City, 22-18, in the last 16 minutes.

With Rohwedder leading the way the Hurricanes cut the lead to 28-32 mid-way in the fourth period. Three baskets by Melton in the final three minutes gave Sioux City its winning margin.

Kester Scores 21
The lanky Kester poured in 21 points while East's highly publicized 6-foot, 7-inch center, Jack Shockley was held to a meager 4 points.

It was Winfield's 29th straight win without a defeat this year and the second loss in 23 outings for the Des Moines school.

Winfield never trailed as it moved to a 9-6 lead at the end of the first period.

Picking up steam, the Wolves hurled in 18 more points during the next period while East failed to keep pace with half as many.

It was more of the same medicine in the third period as Coach Orrie Rew's crew saluted the game and set the score 44-26 going into the final eight minutes.

Largest Lead
Proving that the win was no fluke, Chrissinger's jump shot gave the Wolves their largest lead of the afternoon, 57-35, with slightly more than two minutes of game-time remaining.

Seemingly, after the opening minutes of play in which both clubs appeared to have a bit of stage fright, the Wolves could do nothing wrong. When Hill missed a long shot or one of Chrissinger's drive in's failed to drop in, Kester was there to bat it in.

Student Named Outstanding in Home County

William D. Perrin, A3, Waterloo, has been named the "outstanding young man of Black Hawk county in 1949" for his activity in Waterloo civic organizations.

He will compete for the title of "Iowa's Outstanding Young Man." The winner will be announced May 15.

Now an SUI pre-medical student, Perrin is married and the father of three young children.

As a member of the SUI debating team, he participated in a debate with the University of Missouri, Columbia, Tuesday night.

Perrin was sales manager of a Waterloo bottling company from 1932 to 1949. He also was a member of the Waterloo school board and president of the Junior chamber of commerce in 1949.

Perrin also was a delegate to the Junior chamber of commerce international congress at Brussels, Belgium, last year.

Mountaineer Movie To Show Expedition In Antarctic Region

The Iowa Mountaineers will sponsor a color film travelogue at 8 p.m. Sunday in Macbride auditorium, showing the exploration of a large section of the Antarctic.

U.S. Naval Comdr. Finn Ronne, polar explorer, and his wife, Edith, will present the film, which tells the story of their 15-month Antarctic expedition in 1947-1948.

Ronne and his 23-man crew explored about 250,000 square miles of previously unknown territory on this trip, a Mountaineer official said.

They found new mountain ranges and glaciers, islands and frozen bays. The film includes views of all these scenes as well as the wild life of the Antarctic.

Some of the animals in the movie are seals, whales and penguins, "the comedians of the Antarctic."

Ronne has said he is eager to make another trip to the Antarctic, where "an area larger than the United States is still unknown."

Mrs. Ronne acted as recorder for the exploration. She will give a short talk to the Mountaineer audience, pointing up the woman's viewpoint of the trip. She also will participate in a question and answer period after the film has been shown.

Postpone Selecting '50 Chest Chairman

Selection of the 1950 campus chest chairman has been postponed, according to Robert Kramer, A3, White Plains, N.Y., present chairman.

The deadline for the applications was Saturday but Kramer said Tuesday he was not satisfied with the number of applications received.

"We are looking for someone for the post who has had experience in the past with public relations or solicitation," he said.

Applications will be accepted this week at the student council office in Old Dental building. All students are eligible for the post, he said.

A campus chest conference will be held Saturday at the University of Illinois, to which the new chairman would be sent.

Kramer said, however, he doubted if a chairman would be selected by that date.

Engineers Plan Exhibit To 'Electrify' Audience

SUI engineering students will be busy today and Thursday setting up exhibits for their "Engineering Preview," to be held Friday and Saturday.

Engineering open house is usually part of the engineers' Mecca week festivities, but was postponed a week this year to coincide with the state basketball tournament now being held in Iowa City.

The yearly engineering exposition is presented by all four departments of the college of engineering.

This year an effort is being made to give visitors a chance to participate in many of the demonstrations.

No Charge for Charge

One of the demonstrations in which the audience will take part will send a current of high voltage electricity through a group of onlookers.

The group will form a circle linked together by fluorescent tubes. The high voltages passing through the group will then cause the tubes to light up.

Visitors will also have an opportunity to see how their voices look when changed into a series of sound waves.

Big Squeeze

The civil engineers will give visitors a chance to guess how much pressure it takes to fracture a wooden beam subjected to a hydraulic compression testing machine. The machine is capable of exerting pressures up to 200,000 pounds.

In addition, a Bailey bridge which is only 40 inches wide and can be expanded to 25 feet, will be shown. Many of these bridges were used by the armed services during World War II.

In the aeronautical engineering section a Link trainer and a wind-tunnel complete with model airplane will be demonstrated.

Model Refinery

A glass miniature working model of a distillation tower such as are used in oil refining will feature the chemical engineering exhibit.

A complete range of the latest power equipment will be displayed by the mechanical engineers, including a machine for testing the octane rating of gasoline.

All the exhibits are prepared, demonstrated and operated by student engineers.

Local School Board Re-Elects President 3rd Year in Row

Clark R. Caldwell, 512 River street, was unanimously re-elected president of the Iowa City school board at a reorganization meeting of the board Monday at Junior high school.

The board also reviewed school district election results and declared the proposed $62,700 bond issue for enlarging Roosevelt grade school had carried by a vote of 791 to 103, and that Mrs. Kenneth E. dent. Both his one-year presidential term and his three-year term as board member will expire next March.

Mrs. Greene, 713 Seventh street, and Osmundson, 225 Richards street, were sworn in as board members by Caldwell. Mrs. Greene was re-elected after a year of board membership, and Osmundson was newly elected.

A vote of appreciation was given by the board to L.R. (Pat) Beals, 714 Brown street, retiring board member who was a third candidate in the March 13 school district election.

Beals was appointed to the board last summer, following the resignation of Mrs. Charles Mott, 420 W. Park road.

Caldwell commended Beals for his work on the board, saying, "He did a fine piece of work, was very interested in the task and put in a lot of time for us."

Stutters Appear On Video Show

Four stutters from SUI's speech department appeared on a television program over station WOC-TV, Davenport, Sunday afternoon, according to Instructor Dorothy Drakesmith, speech department.

Miss Drakesmith said the group appeared in a demonstration-lecture on the regular Sunday afternoon "University Hour," from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Prof. Wendell Johnson, speech department, conducted the forum.

Appearing on the TV program were Frederick A. McKenzie, A3, Toronto, Canada; George Hernandez, G, Iowa City; Dean Brown, G, Iowa City, and Arnold Golub, G, Boston.

Belgian King Urged To Give Up Throne

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM (AP)—King Leopold will be asked to agree before returning to Belgium to abdicate later in favor of his 19-year-old son, Prince Baudouin, it appeared Tuesday night.

Former Premier Paul-Henri Spaak, leader of the powerful Socialist party, urged the king in an open letter in the party newspaper Le Peuple to turn over the throne to the prince to restore order and unity.

Threatened by Socialist "abdication strikes" and still without a government to replace Gaston Eyskens' cabinet, which collapsed over the royal question, Belgium faced this development Tuesday:

Liberal senators and representatives in a resolution declared they would refuse to join Leopoldist Social Christians in a coalition cabinet for the purpose of convening a special joint session of parliament to recall Leopold.

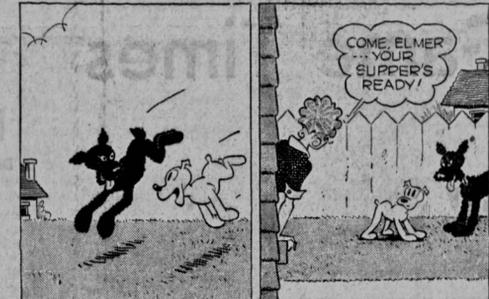

Woman, Child Bruised In Auto Crash Here

Mrs. Vivian M. Akers, 28, and her daughter Nancy Lee, 8, route 4, suffered bruised heads in an auto collision on Burlington street between Clinton and Capitol streets early Tuesday, police said.

They were riding in a car driven by Patrick M. Akers, 31, husband and father, when it collided with an auto driven by Kenneth Stock, 17, route 4, police said.

Damage to each auto was estimated at $75.

SUI Professor Calls —

Mayor-Council Form 'Weak'

The mayor-council form of city government is "weak," Prof. Russell M. Ross, SUI political science department, told Iowa City Kiwanians Tuesday at Hotel Jefferson.

Ross spoke on "The Problem of Municipal Government," in which he described briefly the three forms of city government provided for by the Iowa code.

The mayor-council plan is weak because the mayor lacks power necessary to head the government, Ross said.

Under this system the mayor is handcuffed, he said, and cannot enforce his program, as the council has this power by statute.

On the other hand, Ross pointed out, under the council-manager form of city government policy determination rests with the council and the administration is the responsibility of the city manager, he said.

The manager is given 18 specific duties to carry out, the three most essential being the extensive power of appointment, the preparation of the budget, and the power to handle purchases for the city, Ross said.

Ross pointed out, however, that under the Iowa code cities adopting the council-manager form of government must give it a six-year trial.

Delta Zeta Sorority Returns to Campus; Absent Since 1936

After 14 years absence from the SUI campus, Delta Zeta, national women's social sorority, has re-established a colony of 20 university women that may become a recognized sorority next year.

The women students were formally pledged into Delta Zeta Saturday by Mrs. George Havens, the national sorority's extension vice-president.

The colony will operate on a probationary status for two semesters. If it meets the requirements of the SUI fraternity code after this time, a Delta Zeta chapter will be established on campus.

Delta Zeta left the campus in 1936 when a drop in university enrollment forced some 15 fraternities and sororities out of existence.

Women pledged were: Phyllis Hewitt, A1, and Helen Hewitt, A2, both of Louisville, Ky.; Rose Lou Randolph, A3, Havelock; Janet Karl Johnson, C3, Eagle Grove; Norma Strunce, P2, Creston.

Doris Edwards, A1, Chicago; Jean Anderson, A3, Princeton, Ill.; Mary Ruth Offringa, A2, and Mary Lou Hemingway, A2, both of West Branch.

Mary Jeanette Foster, A2, West Branch; Agnes Elsenbast, A3, Grattinger; Harriet Woods, A2, Iowa City; Mary Jo Clark, A1, Iowa City; Florine Clark, A3, Neola.

Barbara Heath, A1, Mt. Auburn; Colette Stanzel, A2, Calamus; Ruth Ann Lowry, A2, Cresco; Ruth Lakes, A1, Cedar Rapids, and Charlotte Pierson, A3, Fairfield.

Return of Flogging Asked in England

LONDON (AP) — The restoration of flogging in Britain was demanded Tuesday by the public, the press and some members of parliament to halt an upsurge of violent crimes.

But the labor government replied it had no intention of reintroducing the cat o' nine tails as corporal punishment. Its stand was put forth by Lord High Chancellor Jowitt during debate on the matter in the house of lords.

Until 1948 the whip was applied to the backs of gun, knife and blackjack (cosh) wielding bandits. It was outlawed in the criminal justice law of that year.
