Davenport Vs. Ankeny In Tourney Final

Says Bednasek Had 'Homicidal Impulse'

Robert Bednasek admitted to an Iowa City policeman having had an "impulse to kill" Margaret Anne (Geeg) Jackson, Harland F. Sprinkle testified Friday.

Two other state witnesses quoted the 20-year-old Miss Jackson as saying before she was strangled last Dec. 11 that "she would never marry" Bednasek.

Bednasek is charged with the fatal choking of the Burlington coed in a rooming-house at 411 E. Washington street after a fraternity formal dance.

In other action Friday the state failed to get admitted as evidence two vest-pocket-size books described as diaries and kept by the 24-year-old defendant.

Sprinkle, former Iowa City police chief, testified Bednasek told him that a month before Miss Jackson's death he had a "homicidal impulse" toward the girl, whose parents objected to the campus romance.

Bednasek also told Sprinkle he had talked to a psychologist about the homicidal impulse, Sprinkle said. The psychologist was identified as Prof. E. J. Shoben, director of the SUI student counsel office.

Shoben was called to testify Friday morning. Defense attorneys objected to calling Shoben on the grounds that a confidential relationship existed between Bednasek and the assistant professor of psychology.

After a conference of the lawyers, Judge James P. Gaffney and Bednasek, the judge said he would rule Monday on the defense objection.

Doris Hall, A2, Iowa City, testified that she roomed with Miss Jackson in Denver last summer when both worked as waitresses.

She said Miss Jackson told her she considered Bednasek "repulsive" to her and she never wanted to marry him.

On cross examination, Miss Hall said that Miss Jackson dated Bednasek in Denver and had "several dates with him last fall."

Ellie Leedham, A3, Webster Groves, Mo., told the jury that Bednasek once told her over the telephone he had done a "terrible thing." He said he had struck Miss Jackson, Miss Leedham testified.

In referring to the diaries, Judge Gaffney said, "Until the court knows what some of these notations mean they are not going into the record. Whether with the aid of a magnifying glass some of these entries could be read, I don't know."

Authorities have reported the

HARLAND F. SPRINKLE

diary contained notations of dates with Miss Jackson.

Earlier C. Warren Shelton, A4, Denver, Colo., testified Miss Jackson was in apparent good health the night before she died. Shelton attended a formal dance at the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority house Dec. 9.

State Agent Ray Connor identified a two-page statement taken from Bednasek Dec. 11, after Bednasek had been questioned about three hours.

The statement recounted a "playful demonstration of how to choke a person," which resulted in the death of the golden-haired coed.

The state introduced as evidence four interior and exterior pictures taken at the rooming-house. Also admitted was a head and neck picture of Miss Jackson taken at a funeral parlor.

The court reversed a previous ruling on three colored pictures of Miss Jackson. Earlier Judge Gaffney had admitted the pictures, on condition that portions below the neckline be covered. Friday's ruling excluded the pictures from state's evidence.

The court adjourned until 10 a.m. Monday.

CZECHS SEEK FREEDOM
FRANKFURT (AP) — Three planes loaded with 85 Czechs fleeing their communist-ruled homeland landed in American occupied Germany Friday. It was the largest mass escape from behind the iron curtain, U.S. Army officers said.

Young Demos Say SUI Party Split Possible

At least three members of SUI's Young Democrats admitted Friday they had heard that the state Democratic party might ask the William A. Eads faction of the local group to form a club of its own.

Eads, a liberal arts junior from Ida Grove, was influential recently in placing Mary A. McMahon, A3, Manning, in the presidency of the organization. Miss McMahon had been vice-president under Robert Cosgriff, C4, Tipton, who resigned.

Objection Brings Rift
A member who declined to be identified said he had heard a report that "the idealist (faction) would be asked to request their opinions on matters of a controversial nature, or form a club of their own."

The rift which is believed to have precipitated the alleged report, came about when Eads objected to an election to fill the presidency vacated by Cosgriff.

Eads contended that an election was invalid on the ground that the vice-president should succeed the president when the latter resigned.

'Fleeting Interest'
The report is quoted by certain members as saying the state organization has only a "fleeting interest" in the faction which supports Eads, and that it contends Eads is using whatever influence he can muster "to make political gains of his own in an unobtrusive way as possible."

Robert Cosgriff admitted he had "heard the rumor, but doubted if it could be substantiated."

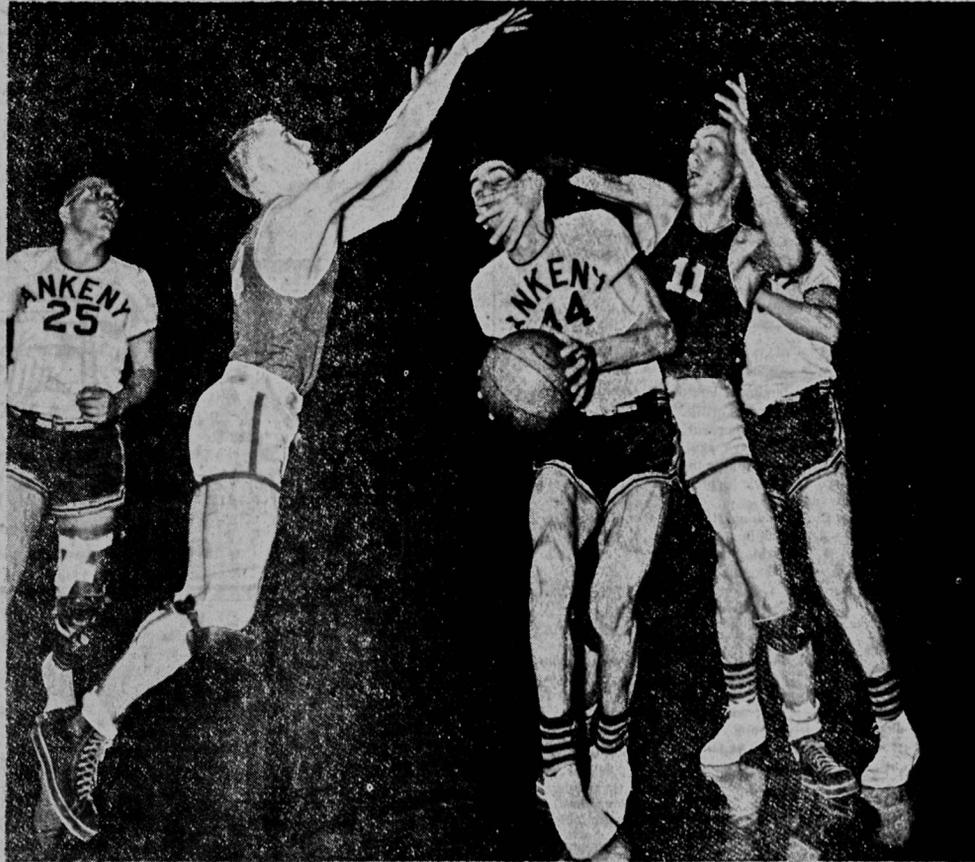

Eads could not be reached for a comment.

Miss McMahon said, "the whole thing is news to me, but I think it's nothing more than a big rumor."

'The Old Haw-Haw'
Another member who declined to be quoted said, "all this bickering over ideals certainly makes fascinating reading for opposing parties on the campus. I hope they are really giving us the old haw-haw."

Arnold Buehler, C3, Fort Dodge, said he had "not heard a thing." He said he thought the rumor to be without foundation, and that he was certain "the Young Democrats will continue supporting liberal principles of the party in the future as they have in the past."

Prof. Harold Laski, English Socialist, Dies of Pneumonia

LONDON (AP) — Prof. Harold Laski, 56, noted political scientist and leader of the British Labor party's intellectual wing, died here Friday night of bronchial pneumonia.

Laski, former chairman of the party's executive committee, once had been considered the power behind the throne of British Labor. He fell from grace after the party scored its greatest victory in the 1950 general elections and retired from the executive committee last year.

Always a leftist, he was alleged to have advocated violence, even revolution, during the 1945 election campaign, in order to make Britain a socialist state. He denied making such a remark and entered an unsuccessful libel suit against the newspaper which quoted him.

He was the author of more than 20 books and scores of pamphlets, credited with leading more non-working class men and women into the party than those of any other Laborite.

Born June 30, 1893, in Manchester of wealthy Jewish parents, Laski took high honors at New College Oxford.

He entered the teaching profession in 1914 as a lecturer at McGill university in Ottawa, Canada, then shifted, in 1916, to Harvard. He also lectured at Amherst in 1917 and at Yale in 1919 and 1920.

He broke with Harvard in 1920 when his support of the Boston police strike raised a storm of criticism.

He then returned to England, fired with Socialist zeal, and entered party work.

Belgian Mounted Police Battle Anti-Leopold Mob

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM (AP) — The government sent mounted police with drawn sabers into action Friday night against anti-Leopoldist rioters who damaged scores of Brussels street cars, operated in defiance of a Socialist-sponsored general strike.

A 100-man police detachment crashed its way through a crowd of about 1,000 strikers and students attempting to halt rush hour traffic by pulling trolleys or smashing windows. Three of the strikers were trampled by the horses.

Senate Okays Farm Bill After Three-Vote Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — A farm price bill, winner in a curious best-two-out-of-three voting test in the senate finally was sent to the White House tonight.

The clinching tally was 38 to 31. Southern backers of the measure scrambled hard for that seven-vote margin after an apparent victory Thursday was upset by an unexpected reversal on a succeeding roll call.

The bill, approved by the house earlier, tightens the rules for potato price supports and increases the permissible cotton and peanut acreages under the government's crop price program.

The senate passed the bill Thursday by a 37 to 33 roll call. Then its backers made a routine motion to reconsider the vote, followed by another motion to lay the first proposal on the table. If the tabling motion had prevailed, the bill would have been safely passed.

But something happened, and the tabling motion lost, 37 to 35. With the southerners charging skulduggery, the senate adjourned in a fine parliamentary tangle.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) and other patrons of the peanut and the cotton plant went to work overnight. By noon they were able to report that everything was under control again. The vote followed a few hours later, when several Democratic senators absent Thursday had time to rush back to the capital.

Four Appointments Puzzle President

KEY WEST, FLA. (AP) — President Truman's personnel problems mounted Friday with the resignation of another key defense strategist.

He accepted the resignation of Tracy S. Voorhees as undersecretary of the army, effective no later than June 30.

Voorhees' superior, Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray, is stepping out in the summer to become president of the University of North Carolina in September.

And the President is still looking for a chairman of the atomic energy commission as well as a chairman of the national security resources board, and a man to fill the vacancy on the economic advisory council.

White House aides disclosed, meanwhile, that the President expects to remain at the "winter White House" until April 10.

Eisenhower Invited To Tell Congress Of Arms Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A warning from General Dwight D. Eisenhower that America is dangerously underarmed got him a prompt invitation Friday to tell congress how to spend where it's needed.

Eisenhower said the country had disarmed below the safety point in some directions. A senate appropriations subcommittee working on the $12-billion annual military department bill voted in one voice to ask him for his advice.

The house armed services committee approved an increase of $137,142,771 for addition of projects of "highest priority" to a military public works bill already passed by the senate. The increase brought the authorization to a total of $639,058,181.

Eisenhower, now president of Columbia university, sounded his warning in a speech at New York Thursday night in which he said it is dangerous to trim our defenses as much as we have unless all nations do the same.

Eisenhower's summary of America's preparedness contrasted with Defense Secretary Louis Johnson's optimistic view expressed recently that defense preparations are "sufficient unto the hour."

The wartime allied commander in western Europe spoke more in line with Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington's recent warnings against reduction in "our payment for national security."

Warmer Weather Predicted Today

The weather man has been sponsoring his own quiz show this week with a change-of-pace type weather that has kept Iowa Citizens changing from light jackets to heavy coats.

Continuing the line of diversity, partly cloudy skies and warmer temperatures were predicted for Iowa City today.

In fact, it almost will be shirt-sleeve weather if the expected high of the U.S. weather bureau holds true. They predicted temperatures to reach 65 by this afternoon.

Civil aeronautics administration officials at the airport reported winds averaging about 35 miles an hour Friday. High temperature was 43 degrees.

Dinsdale Flops, 71-22; Ankeny Tops Winfield

By ALAN MOYER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Davenport's mighty Blue Devils showed further proof to 14,000 persons in the Iowa fieldhouse Friday night that they are the cream of Iowa's high school basketball crop for 1950 when they walloped Class B Dinsdale in a semi-final state tournament game, 71-22.

In the other half of the semi-final doubleheader Winfield met defeat for the first time since last year's consolation round, bowing to Ankeny, 46-41, in a battle of undefeated quintets.

Tonight at 8:45 Class A Ankeny and Class AA Davenport tangled in the state tournament finals. In the consolation game Friday's losers, Winfield and Dinsdale, a pair of B clubs, meet for third place.

Break Point Record
Not only did Davenport steamroller Dinsdale Friday night, but the Blue Devils broke their own record for total points scored by a team in one tournament. In 1948 Davenport was upset by Manning in the finals, the Blue Devils tallied 212 points in four tourney games. This year in three games Coach Paul Moon's team has scored 219 points, for a 73-point average per game.

First it was Class B Newkirk, 70-29, then Class B Shelby, 78-15, followed by the 71-22 slaughter of Dinsdale.

Ankeny, in the finals for the first time after three straight trips to the state tournament, eliminated Melrose, 56-45, then Marion, 47-40, and Winfield, 46-41.

Snapped String
Winfield staged a determined rally Friday night before having its 30-game winning streak snapped. With less than three minutes remaining Orrie Rew's Wolves trailed by five points, then suddenly came to life and moved to within two points of a tie, 41-39.

It appeared that Winfield was going to do as it had done Thursday afternoon when the Wolves turned what seemed to be certain defeat into victory in the final minute and a half.

Lost Punch
But this time, with big Ron Kester again on the bench via the personal foul route the tired little B club from Henry county didn't quite have the necessary punch to come from behind.

Tonight will be the first time in the tournament that Davenport has had to face anything but a B team and indications point to it being Davenport's toughest assignment in the road to its fifth state championship.

Imps Advance Over Dinsdale

The clock struck midnight for little Dinsdale Friday night when the Red Devils went back to being a strictly B team caught in the path of mighty Davenport. The score was 71-22.

For two state tournament games Dinsdale had risen to the occasion by bumping two A schools, first Montezuma, then Thursday night Atlantic.

Early Lead
Nobody gave the smallest school to make the state finals much of a chance to cope with Paul Moon's Blue Devils. After the first five minutes even the staunchest devotees of Class B were convinced

Bednasek, Lawyer Confer During Recess

ROBERT E. BEDNASEK charged with the strangulation slaying of Margaret Anne (Geeg) Jackson conferred briefly with Clair Hamilton (right) Friday during a court recess. During Friday's testimony an Iowa City policeman testified that Bednasek admitted to have had an "impulse to kill" his campus sweetheart. The tragedy occurred last Dec. 11 in a rooming-house at 411 E. Washington street.

Candidates Ask Student Group Coordination

(This is the fifth in a series of stories about the candidates running for student council in the March 29, all-campus election.)

Today's candidates are Barbara Campbell, A3, Clinton, and Margaret Foster, A3, Cedar Rapids.

Miss Campbell is house president of Gamma Phi Beta social sorority, member of the 1950-51 orientation council and chairman of the semi-finals for the women's division of this year's university singing.

Her platform advocates the formation of student council subcommittees whose members, after a year's service, would run for student council.

She advocates, in her platform, the formation of a cooperative bookstore and the continuation of the present student council's work.

Her platform favors the creation of a committee including representatives from the University Women's association, Union board, YMCA, YWCA and student council to coordinate their activities.

Miss Foster is vice-president of Pi Beta Phi social sorority and the University Women's association, and is a member of the publicity committee for Information First.

She states in her platform that she believes the student council create more interest on the part of students.

Miss Foster's platform advocates making the student council the coordinator for all campus organizations. She proposes a monthly meeting of representatives from the different groups.

To bring campus problems before the council, she advocates the placing of a suggestion box in the Union where students could leave notes of their ideas.

Loyalty Check Protest -

SUI's chapter of the American Association of University Professors has sent to congress a resolution protesting the loyalty check amendment passed by the U.S. house of representatives.

The local AAUP can be proud it has not bowed to this type of legislation as have many colleges and universities.

The loyalty program calls for investigation of every government employe and dismissal of any whose continued employment "might be a risk to the security of the United States." The program was declared constitutional by a three-man federal court of appeals, but it will be appealed to the U.S. supreme court.

In its resolution, the SUI chapter declared, "The amendment establishes the principle of guilt by association . . . the provisions of the amendment are based on the assumption that anyone who is a member of, or has been a member of, an organization listed by the attorney general as subversive is necessarily and automatically subversive himself."

The court decision handed down this week involved the case of Dorothy Bailey, a training officer in the federal security agency. Miss Bailey was suspended in Nov., 1948, on grounds that her loyalty was questionable. She was dismissed three months later.

Miss Bailey sued for re-instatement and denied she had ever been a member of the Communist party or a Communist sympathizer. The court of appeals refused to reinstate Miss Bailey by a 2 to 1 decision. Said the majority, "It is our clear opinion that the President may remove from government service any person of whose loyalty he is not completely convinced."

The dissenting opinion was vigorous and to the point. It declared, "Without trial by jury, without evidence and without even being allowed to confront her accusers or to know their identity, a citizen of the United States has been found disloyal to the government of the United States."

"Even if such dismissals strengthened the government instead of weakening it, they would still cost too much in constitutional rights. We cannot preserve our liberties by sacrificing them."

Conspicuous by Absence -

Time magazine last week selected what it considered the U.S. senate's most dependable men. They are Kenneth D. McKellar (D-Tenn), Glen H. Taylor (D-Idaho), Patrick A. McCarran (D-Neu), William Langer (R-ND), Harry P. Cain (R-Wash), George W. Malone (R-Neu), William E. Jenner (R-Ind), and Elmer Thomas (D-Okla).

The list is a pretty good one, but it's hard to explain the absence of bumbling John W. Bricker (R-Ohio).

Bricker's voting record on 15 crucial issues in the first session of the 81st congress is almost 100 percent reactionary. The lone exception was the vote he cast for the north Atlantic pact, which formally binds the U.S. with 11 other north Atlantic nations.

- Bricker voted for:
1. A cut in aid to foreign countries.
 2. $50-million aid to Fascist Spain.
 3. A reduction in reciprocal trade.
 4. Confirmation of the Taft-Hartley law.
 5. A crippling amendment to the 75-cent minimum wage bill.
 6. The basing point system which would have permitted the addition of freight rates to prices of goods. Consumers would have paid the freight rates. It was backed by the big steel and cement companies.

7. A cut in public power funds.
 8. A landlord-sponsoring amendment permitting local authorities to abolish rent controls with the approval of state governors.
- Bricker voted against:
1. An amendment to the national currency clause to eliminate provisions for anti-strike injunctions.
 2. Federal aid to education.
 3. Public housing.
 4. Confirmation of Leland Olds as chairman of the federal power commission. Oil and natural gas interests have for years tried to remove Olds from the FPC because of his vigorous stand for low gas rates. They finally succeeded.
 5. A motion to amend outmoded senate rules that prevent limited debate.
- Bricker failed to vote on only one crucial issue - an amendment to the displaced persons act which would have eliminated discriminations against Jews and other minority groups.

Lone Light Burns Tonight -

A lone light will burn tonight on the map of Iowa that hangs on the north wall of the Iowa fieldhouse.

It will represent the best that basketball in a basketball-happy state has to offer. Whether it will stand for a team of double A's, or a freckle-faced handful of country kids probably isn't so important.

What is important is that the team had the stuff to come through when the pressure was on, to sink a basket when the crowd boomed, and to play a hard fast game fairly and squarely.

The light will represent a group that played together as a team, that sacrificed individual glory for the good of all. It will represent basketball in Iowa as played by Shelby as well as Davenport, Toddville as well as East Des Moines.

Each year, the march that culminates in the state championship begins, not with the sectionals in February, but with practice in hot gymnasiums in October.

Only 16 teams make the coveted trip to Iowa City, and they are aptly called the "sweet sixteen." They transform, this city, from a quiet college town to a place where a square meal is at a premium and a quiet stroll down Clinton street is impossible.

But you hear few complaints. It's worth it to have the best in high school basketball come to Iowa City. It's an honor to have the best in the state chosen on the SUI basketball court.

It's more than just a slam-bang game. It's a symbol of American youth - the thing that keeps our democracy young.

Old Planter, New Crop Prospects

Interpreting the News -

France, Germany May Settle Old Differences

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The attitudes of Robert Schuman and Konrad Adenauer toward European unification have caused observers to wonder whether their history might at long last have produced in each country, at the same time, two personalities who might lead France and Germany to a settlement of their ancient differences.

It seemed too much to ask. Such things, like the complete brotherhood of man, are hopes for the future, but not something which a man expects to live to see. Strange and almost unbelievable things can happen, however, under international pressures produced by such times as these.

Not that there is any real prospect of a Franco-German political union, even through the gradual processes of step-by-step cooperation which Adenauer suggests. But that these men can even talk about it is significant of the possibilities for a degree of collaboration which has for many years seemed impossible.

Schuman started it several years ago with the statement that France would welcome a reform Germany into the type of union which is being sought through the council of Europe.

Adenauer has followed up with the suggestion for economic and political union, beginning with an "economic parliament" representing both countries. He says it could be done in such fashion as to satisfy French security demands, prevent the revival of German nationalism, and raise the living standards of both countries. He suggested a structure which would be a fact invitation to membership by Britain and the low countries.

The general idea was recently approved by General Charles DeGaulle, veteran of two wars with Germany and leader of France's right wingers.

Schuman and the French government are not ready to take the over - all plunge which Adenauer suggests, but emphasize that they are ready to talk about anything.

Their idea is to work through the council of Europe, seeking objectives similar to Adenauer's, but depending on the force of the whole group rather than on bilateral agreements with Germany. The experience of the small Benelux nations - Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands - in seeking to set up a customs union is cited as one reason for this. Their attempt has proved to be a long-term and highly complicated project.

The French point out that such a project between two great nations is an infinitely more difficult thing. They have found this to be true in the case of Italy where, with all the good will in the world, both sides have been seeking customs union without attaining more than very minor and tentative approaches.

When these difficulties are considered, it may seem very naive for Adenauer to inject also the idea of ultimate political union. But it is impossible that men of good will, arriving on the scene at the same time in different countries, shall some day be able to achieve as powerfully as have men of ill-will in the past?

UAW Rejects Bid To Settle Strike

DETROIT (AP) - Chrysler corporation, making its first major concession toward ending the 59-day CIO united auto workers strike, offered Friday to put $30-million in a UAW pension fund.

The union immediately rejected the proposal, but hopes soared for a quick return to work by 80,000 strikers.

Negotiators began conferring at 2 p.m. after a brief recess to give UAW President Walter P. Reuther and his aides time to study the peace bid thoroughly.

A major barrier to agreement appeared to be Chrysler's failure to include a "satisfactory" medical-hospital program, part of the 10-cent package demanded by the UAW.

But the world's third-biggest automaker reversed its position sharply in offering funded pensions, a vital issue in the walk-out which has kept 150,000 from their jobs.

Reuther said the proposal, which grants the union a partial voice in administering the retirement program, "still falls short of the pattern established by other Chrysler competitors."

He had called Chrysler's "best offer," which provided for $100 monthly pensions for 65 year old workers, "arrogant and insulting." Chrysler had insisted that its "business integrity" was sufficient guarantee to pay retirement benefits, which include federal social security.

The company offered to continue pension payments despite any contract breaks. The UAW had objected to its earlier "pay-as-you-go" plan, charging that the benefits could be stopped after the proposed five-year agreement expired.

Iowa Citizens to Vote - Garbage Collection Method - In Special Election

By JACK BERNET

Should Iowa City go into the garbage collection business, maintaining a sanitary landfill for garbage disposal and finance the system by charging a monthly fee of $1 per garbage can?

City councilmen have asked local voters to decide this question at the special election April 17. Councilmen want an expression of opinion on the garbage question at that time for the following reasons:

1. The one-year contract between the city and the private trucker who collects garbage here expires April 30. The trucker is paid by the city.
2. The trucker collects only garbage. Trash, ashes, cans, boxes and other discarded junk are hauled to the city dump at the individual citizen's expense.
3. From the public health standpoint the condition of the city dump is not satisfactory. (A. L. Bennett, public health engineer for the first congressional district of Iowa, made this report to the council recently.)

Councilmen have said they are not satisfied with the present method of garbage collection. Persons living near the city dump have complained of paper and other debris being blown into their yards from the dump, especially on Sundays when there are no attendants present.

In an effort to improve both garbage and dump situations, councilmen are considering combining the two in one of the following ways:

1. Through city collection of both garbage and trash and disposal at a sanitary landfill site, possibly at the location of the city dump.
- (Councilmen have asked that estimates on the cost of equipment needed to collect garbage and to establish a sanitary landfill here be submitted to them by their March 27 meeting.)

2. Through collection of garbage and trash on a three-year contract by a private trucker, who is to use a landfill method of disposal.

(The council also asked private truckers to submit by Monday bids on three-year contracts for hauling garbage and trash with packer trucks and using the landfill method of disposal.)

Under the landfill method, garbage and trash are dumped into trenches four or five feet deep. It is then covered with a two-foot layer of dirt taken from other trenches.

According to Bennett, a landfill at the Iowa City dump would eliminate the breeding and growth of rats there.

Robert Gage, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, has estimated the cost of equipment needed to collect garbage and to establish a sanitary landfill at about $44,000.

Equipment would include a bulldozer and packer trucks. Bennett told the council Monday night a community the size of Iowa City should have at least three trucks.

The landfill system in Iowa City could not be financed through taxes. State law limits a general levy for garbage disposal to three-fourths of a mill, and such a tax here would not be enough.

Instead, residents will be asked to vote on whether a monthly fee of $1 per garbage can should be charged. Collections of garbage and trash under such a program probably would be made twice weekly in the summer and once a week in winter.

Atomic - Powered Plane Being Developed by U.S.

CLEVELAND (AP) - Development of an atomic-powered airplane, able to circle the globe at supersonic speeds, is in progress, an Oak Ridge atomic scientist said here Friday.

Chief engineer of the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic center, Andrew Kalitinsky, said work on the plane is on a definite time-table and a date has been set for testing.

The plane will be of larger dimensions than currently used bombers, but will resemble present supersonic models in appearance.

Development of the aircraft, Kalitinsky said, is an attack on the problem of delivering the A-bomb.

Six Sciences Fight Cancer War

By Central Press

BETHESDA, MD. - A tremendous search for basic medical knowledge is under way at the National Cancer Institute's research laboratories here in this Washington suburb.

At least six biological sciences have been harnessed in the search for information that may lead to a victory over cancer - the second most important disease. Only heart disease kills more people every year than cancer.

Despite our limited knowledge, progress is being made. Dr. John R. Heller, director of the Federal Government's National Cancer Institute (NCI), says that we now have enough basic medical knowledge to save almost half of the 200,000 people who die from cancer every year. But, the disease must be found and treated early.

In cancer research it is not a question of finding a specific cure.

The orders to scientists are: "Find something!" We know little about this dread disease. We know it is not contagious - you can't catch it from someone who has it. Also, humans are not the only ones who get cancer. Plants, insects, fish, fowl, reptiles and mammals get it too. That's because they all have one thing in common - they are made up of cells. Starting from one cell in the mother's womb, the human being at birth is made up of about two billion cells. Growth continues at a slower rate during life.

THE BEHAVIOR of cells is the clue to the search for a cure. Scientists at NCI and at several other cancer research laboratories have found that cancer is simply an uncontrolled growth of cells. Therefore, to understand cancer, scientists must first find how cells grow. And this is a big order. For, to find how cells grow, is to find one of the great "secrets of life."

Cancer is the most curable of all major causes of death if it is found early. There are only three accepted methods of treating cancer - surgery, X-ray, and radium.

Recent advances in surgery are making it possible to get successfully at cases of cancer of the lung, the stomach, and the pancreas. Cases of this kind were given up as hopeless a few years ago.

Spread of cancer can be controlled in many cases by the selective action of X-ray and radium. Radiations from an X-ray tube, or from a minute quantity of radium injected into the afflicted organ destroy cancer cells but apparently do not affect normal cells.

What are your chances of survival if you find you have cancer?

Statistics gathered by researchers at the NCI show that the probability of surviving one year or more from the time that the disease is found depends almost wholly on the advance that the disease has made.

IF THE cancer is at an early, localized stage, the probability of survival is 93 percent. If there is a regional involvement, or beginning metastasis, the probability drops to 64 percent. Metastasis is a condition when living bits of the cancer are broken off and carried through the blood vessels to other parts of the body.

When cancer is found in several places in the body, the probability that the person will live a year or more drops to 29 percent.

These figures point out the need for early diagnosis. NCI figures show that only 30 percent of cases are actually found in the early stages, 39 percent in the mid-stages, and 31 percent are found with advanced cancer which has spread through the person's body.

Cancer control programs are looked upon as a means of saving as many as possible of the 50 percent of the people whose cancer can be healed if found in the early stages.

New Color Schemes Favored by Majority Of American Women

Most Americans are no longer singing the blues in the selection of color schemes for their homes. An entire new combination of colors has moved to top place among the paint color favorites of American women during the past year.

These facts were indicated in a study of color preferences and styles conducted over the past 10 months by a Chicago paint company.

The survey was made on the basis of actual sales of the more than 1,000 available paint colors in over 100 major paint, hardware and department stores from coast to coast.

The survey showed radical changes among the favorites. It indicated that the top nine colors are composed either of yellow, neutral grays or grayed yellow greens.

One significant development of the survey recorded the trend away from yesteryear's blue colors. The cool, quiet and relaxing blues and blue greens have regularly appeared among the top favorites of American home-makers year after year.

In this year's survey, they simply disappeared from the list of favorites and not a single blue was to be found in even the first 20 most-purchased colors.

Last year a gray-green was top favorite among all the hundreds of colors available for decorating American homes, but that color has slipped to sixth place this year. A delicate pink, formerly a top favorite, has slipped far down the list.

In this survey the trend is toward the deeper tones of the new favorites — yellow, neutral grays and grayed yellow greens. One startling new development during the past year is the presence of some very definite geranium red colors and definite deep pinks.

Survey conductors were reluctant to make any guesses regarding why American women's preferences change color styles, but they noted several factors which may have a bearing on the most recent style trends in color planning for interior decorations. Styles in furniture, draperies and other furnishings have some effect on color selections for the walls, ceilings and trims.

The blue of previous years are generally believed to present a cool, calming effect upon the mind and emotions by those who dabble in color psychology.

On the other hand the same authorities define the reds and yellows among this year's top favorites as warm, cheerful and ever gay.

Best Baking Secret - 24 Years Experience

FROSTING CAKES AND BAKING PIES is an old story to Mrs. Elsie Parker, a Johnson county champion pie baker, who has been cooking in Iowa City restaurants 24 years. Mrs. Parker advises that experience is the secret of good cooking. She gives some helpful hints in her cherry pie recipe.

Iowa City Pastry Expert Gives Hints for Pie Baking

Mrs. Elsie Parker, one of Johnson county's champion pie bakers, has made as many as 110 pies a day.

Mrs. Parker, 904 third avenue, has been cooking in Iowa City restaurants for the past 24 years and says simply, "I love it."

Most of the time has been spent as a pastry cook and for six years she has been in charge of pastry cooking in Reich's restaurant.

She divulges her pie baking secrets in a cherry pie recipe, although she says a good cook must have a lot of experience.

Cherry Pie Filling

- 1 No. 2 can of cherries.
- 1 cup water
- 1 1-2 cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon butter (unmelted)

Let the above ingredients come to a boil, then stir into the boiling mixture until clear, two rounded tablespoons of cornstarch dissolved in 2-3 cup of cold water. One teaspoon of red fruit coloring and 1-2 teaspoon of cinnamon will give it added taste appeal, then it is ready for the pie crust.

Pie Crust

- 2 cups flour
 - 3-4 cup shortening (lard can be used)
 - 1-2 teaspoon salt
- Blend lard and flour with a table fork and add 2-3 cup of ice water. This makes one double crust.

Mrs. Parker adds the helpful hint of sealing the pie crust by using a mixture of egg and milk and brushing it on the top pie crust. The mixture makes it nice and brown.

Bake the pie from 30 to 45 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

She has found in her long pie baking experience the best filling does not have too much cornstarch in it and the pie crust should not be handled any more than necessary.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

Marriage licenses were issued in the Johnson county clerk's office recently to Stauros Hadjiathanasion, Philadelphia, Pa., and Bessie Santos, Cedar Rapids; Thomas F. McBride, A3, Elgin, Ill., and Margaret Olney, A4, Marathon, and to Michael J. Brice, Washington, and Virginia Walker, Morning Sun.

Convention in May Scheduled for Omaha To Honor War Dead

American War Dads, auxiliary members, their families and friends will meet in Omaha, Neb., May 6 and 7, to honor the war dead, Hoyt Clark, president of the Greater Omaha, Council of War Dads and Bellevue Council of AWD, has announced.

Clark said the May convention will mark the fifth time the AWD has met in Omaha to honor those who died in the service of their country. The convention will be held in Hotel Paxton.

The only credential necessary for persons who wish to attend is that they be members of AWD, auxiliary members, or friends of the American War Dads, Clark said.

Those who served in the armed forces during World War II and those now serving are especially invited, he said.

Clark said presidents of all AWD chapters are being asked to check carefully with members of their groups, and other possible delegates, so that the housing committee can get an estimate of the probable number who will attend.

All mail should be addressed to the Greater Omaha, Council Bluffs and Bellevue council, AWD, 14th and Farnam street, Omaha.

Clark said a full two-day educational program has been planned for the convention.

Students at U-High Form Transportation Communication Club

Thirty-five University high school students are now members of the school's newly organized Transportation and Communication club, according to Sponsor Paul Bitzer, G. Davenport.

Purpose of the club is to give students a better understanding of today's transportation and communication conditions, Bitzer said. The club meets each Wednesday from 3:30 to 5 p.m., when travel movies are shown and members study maps, timetables and travel literature.

Club members also learn to plan trips. From time to time model bus stations, railroad ticket offices or airline offices are set up with the use of a loudspeaker to enable the students to deal with such systems under realistic conditions.

It is hoped that student trips can be taken later in the semester, Bitzer said.

Club officers are Steve Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carson, 316 Lee street, president; Joyce Rebal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rebal, route 1, vice-president; and Titus Evans, son of Prof. and Mrs. T.C. Evans, 505 S. Johnson street, secretary-treasurer.

City High Postpones 'Atomic' Play to April 13

Performance of City high school's play about the atomic age, "E Equals MC Squared," will be postponed from April 5 to April 13, Director Robert Pendleton, G. Iowa City, said Friday.

The date was changed at the request of several Iowa City ministers, who asked that the play be postponed until after Holy Week, Pendleton said.

The Rev. A.C. Proehl of the Zion Lutheran church commented, "I think it is very considerate of them to do this, and I am sure the public will give the play all the more support."

Written by Hallie Davis, a Grinnell college graduate, the play is called "a living newspaper about the atomic age," and is of an educational nature.

Miss Davis has shown great interest in the City high production and has furnished records and movies to be used in the performance, Pendleton said.

"The play is really a three-ring circus," he said. It includes movies, a boys' chorus, drum ensemble, ballet sequence, caricatures, explosions and voices from the audience in its 35 scenes. The cast consists of 87 persons.

Two performances will be given if the ticket sales warrant, Pendleton said.

Janitors 'Brass' Shows Length of Service

SUI janitors are not military men but they do have characteristics of army "big brass." Gold service stars on custodians' chests do not represent rank, but years of service to the SUI physical plant. Each star is an award for five years of work as a full-time janitor.

Raymond Phillips, superintendent of the division of maintenance and operation, last year awarded the first set of service stars to his employees, at the suggestion of Janitor Superintendent Raymond Wagner.

Only full-time janitors are eligible to wear these stars, Wagner said. Each janitor may wear a maximum of five stars, although service records show some men are entitled to more.

The physical plant employs about 75 part-time and 75 full-time janitors. Most of the part-time men are students.

Wagner said SUI's janitors, even without their stars, outclass other college janitors.

"We are the only school I know of in the western conference where janitors wear uniforms," he said. Full-time custodians at SUI wear grey shirts, black ties and dark trousers.

Wagner also said he holds a monthly class for janitors on new and better methods of caring for buildings, safety problems and care of equipment.

Wagner formerly taught two short janitor courses at Iowa State college, Ames.

Loney has been an SUI custodian for 19 years and wears three of the service stars awarded full-time janitors by R. J. Phillips, superintendent of the SUI division of operations and maintenance. Stars are awarded for each five years of service as a janitor. Loney will receive his fourth star in about a year.

Tickets Available Today for Concert By Mixed Chorus

Tickets are available today at the service desk of the Iowa Union for the concert Wednesday by the University mixed chorus, to be held in the Union main lounge.

Prof. Herald Stark of the music department, conductor of the chorus, said the 8 p.m. concert will be the "most interesting program we've ever given."

Included in the program is a number for double chorus. The 158-member chorus is separated into two separate choruses and each sings as an independent choir. The number, "Sing to the Lord a New Song," is by Heinrich Schütz.

Three of the numbers the chorus will present are by William Billings, considered to be the first American composer for chorus, Stark said. He lived from 1746 to 1800.

Soloists for the program are Inabelle Morris, 19 Park road, soprano; Robert Eckert, G. Grand Island, Neb., tenor; and Paschal Monk, G. Minto, N.D., baritone. Dorothy Krebille, A3, Donnellson, will accompany.

THE novelist Fanny Hurst was asked by Harry Hershfield to recall the most beautiful compliment she ever had received. "That's easy," said Miss Hurst. Army Engineers to Rent Out U.S. Land in Coralville Area

Army engineers are beginning to lease out some of 30,000 acres of Iowa river land in the Coralville flood control area which will not be flooded in the near future.

The engineers explained some of the land in this area will be flooded only during periods when the Iowa river is high. They said much of the land could be used for agricultural purposes in the meantime.

Sealed bids from prospective renters of 579.1 acres of this government owned land will be accepted until 11 a.m. April 3 in the Clock Tower building of the Rock Island, Ill., arsenal.

Bidding information is available at the office of the district army engineer, Col. R.L. Dean, at Rock Island, Ill., according to C.E. Kelley, chief of the arsenal real estate division.

The policy followed by the government in leasing the land is to give the original owners and tenants first chance.

Owners of five tracks of land up for lease bidding have not taken advantage of their preference, army engineers said Friday. Three of the five tracks are in

ROTC Rifle Team Places Seventh in Fifth Army Match

SUI's ROTC rifle team placed seventh out of 28 teams competing in the Fifth army area postal rifle match, Sgt. J.P. Anderson, military department instructor and team coach, said Friday.

The University of Illinois won first place with a score of 7,367, according to the final tally sheet sent to Anderson from Fifth army headquarters in Chicago.

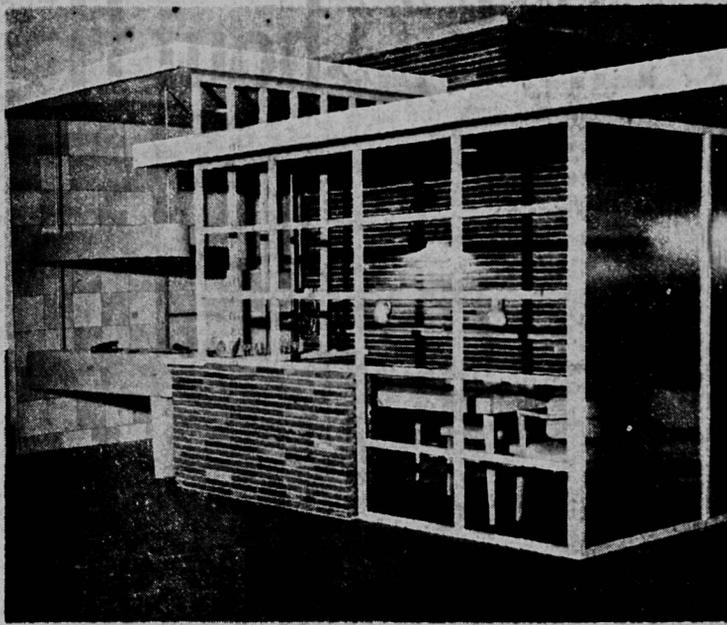

Anderson previously received notification that the SUI team was in the top third of Fifth army area teams and was qualified to fire in the national postal finals.

Kansas State college placed second with 7,324; Washington university of St. Louis, third, 7,278; University of Wichita, fourth, 7,270; Ripon college, fifth, 7,221, and Michigan State college, sixth, 7,215.

The firing for the Fifth army match was in four stages: prone-sitting; prone - kneeling; prone-standing; and kneeling-standing.

SUI scored their total of 7,201 points by firing 1,910 in prone-sitting; 1,844 in prone - kneeling; 1,771 in prone - standing; and 1,676 in kneeling - standing.

New Design Eliminates Interior Walls

A FULL-SIZED MODERN HOUSE, made of real building materials, is currently displayed in the main gallery of the art building as part of the annual design show, "Art in Your Life." Constructed by Robert Randolph, A4, Centerville, the house consists of four rooms: the entrance vestibule, living room, dining room and kitchen. The latter two rooms are shown above. The house has no interior walls, but privacy is achieved by making other structures, such as a fireplace, serve as separations between rooms. The exterior wall of the dining room is translucent ripple-glass, which allows both light and privacy. The art gallery is open from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays, and 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. The show will continue through April 19.

Land Tax Credits Total Over $10,000 For County in 1948

Johnson county has received $10,060.11 in agricultural land tax credits for the 1949 tax year, County Treasurer, Lumar Jansa said.

The agriculture land tax credits are based on an act of the 1945 Iowa legislature which provides for refund of school taxes in excess of 15 mills on all agricultural plots of 10 acres or more.

State Comptroller Ray Johnson said a total of $2-million were returned to Iowa's 99 counties.

Cheques will be mailed to Johnson county tax payers as soon as figures are complete, Jansa said.

Figures for Big Grove district number three already compiled show a range in returns to tax payers from 1 cent to 46 cents, William L. Kanak, deputy auditor said.

The Tiffin district will receive the highest Johnson county return, about $1,188, he said.

The largest county share, $54,063, went to Woodbury county. Polk county received the second largest amount, $53,179, and Benton county was third with $52,874.

Whooping Cough Hits 5 Residents

Five cases of whooping cough in Iowa City were reported Friday to City Clerk George J. Dohrer.

No new measles cases were reported, but the total for March stood at 188 Friday. Six cases of chicken pox and four of mumps also have been reported here this month.

During March, 1949, one case of measles, 14 of chicken pox and 12 of mumps were reported here.

Rural Youth Leader To Attend Meeting

Kenneth Smalley, route 3, president of the Iowa State youth association, was scheduled to leave for Nashville, Tenn., today to attend the national convention of rural youth organizations.

He and the Iowa association's board of directors will spend four days at the convention. They also will attend a training school aimed at teaching youth organizational methods.

Smalley was elected president of the state organization at a convention in Ames early in March. He is the son of Ray Smalley, director of the Johnson county farm production and marketing association.

Former Professor Honored by French

Prof. Adolphe J. Dickman, former SUI faculty member, recently received the Legion d'honneur for services rendered to France in World War II as a representative of French thought in the U.S. Prof. C. E. Cousins, chairman of the romance languages department said Friday.

Dickman, chairman of the department of modern and classical languages at the University of Wyoming during the last 18 years, was a professor at SUI from 1922 to 1932. He received his Ph.D. degree here in 1925, Cousins said.

Cousins said this was the third honor conferred upon Dickman by the French government. He became an Officier d'Academie in 1935, and received the Croix de Guerre, with one gold star and one bronze star, during World War II as a U.S. army liaison officer with French forces in the field.

Cousins said Dickman holds five battle stars, the European - African - Middle Eastern service medal, the American service medal, and Victory medal.

Cadaver Shortage Threatens Med School

By MARY QUALLEY

Teaching techniques at the SUI college of medicine may be restricted by the increasing difficulty of obtaining cadavers for dissection purposes.

Future classes may have to contend with "inadequate experience in anatomy," because of this problem, according to Dr. W. R. Ingram, head of the anatomy department.

The problem is two-fold. The number of bodies received by SUI has declined steadily during the last few years, while the need has and will continue to increase with the enlarged enrollment in the college of medicine.

Last year, 98 students were admitted to the college, an increase of eight over previous years. In accordance with a resolution passed during the last state legislative session, 120 students will be accepted for the 1950 fall session.

18 Months Supply

The class will need 45 bodies for study and experimentation. Since the college of medicine now has about a year and a half's supply of cadavers, there will be an adequate number for the next class, Ingram said.

According to state law, if there are no relatives or friends to claim a body, it is the responsibility of the state department of health to send the body to SUI or to Still Osteopathy school, Des Moines.

Iowa is not a populous state, has few persons who die paupers and no large cities—factors which partly account for the shortage of cadavers here, Ingram said.

Not only are bodies necessary for instructional purposes, but for study by post-graduate resident physicians doing specialized research work.

Cadavers also are used by staff doctors to learn operative procedures and to devise new methods.

Bodies Can't Be Sold

The college of medicine receives numerous offers from persons now living who want to sell their bodies for scientific use after they die. SUI cannot buy bodies in this way, contrary to common belief. Legally a man's body is not his property to market, Ingram said.

Ingram cited several occasions when persons have asked to sell their bodies, expecting to get large sums of money.

"There are pathetic cases," he said. "Often a person has a relative in the hospital for expensive surgery. He decides to sell his own body for the funds he desperately needs."

Occasionally someone stipulates in his will that he wants his body used for experimental purposes. Sometimes the court will not recognize the request, particularly if relatives object, he said.

One man, in gratitude for the free medical attention he had received from physicians and hospitals in the state, asked that his body be used for scientific purposes.

The college of medicine pays $90 to $100 for a cadaver to cover the mortician's fee and transportation expenses.

Ingram said that the problem threatens to become so acute that SUI is investigating the possibility of obtaining cadavers from states that do not have Iowa's problem.

However, strict state laws concerning deporting cadavers may make such an arrangement difficult or impossible.

Midwest Specialists In Psychology Open Clinic Here Friday

SUI will be host to the Midwestern Electroencephalographic association meeting to be held Friday through April 1, according to the group's secretary-treasurer, Dr. John Knott, associate professor of clinical psychology at the SUI Psychopathic hospital.

Members of the association are brain-wave specialists. They will study recent experiments and clinical advances in the field. About 65 members are expected to attend the spring meeting.

The program will include three doctors who received doctor of philosophy degrees from SUI.

Dr. Herbert Jasper, director of the laboratory of neurophysiology of Montreal Neurological institute, Montreal, Quebec, will present papers on clinical recordings directly from the cortex and experimental investigations of the various parts of the brain. This refers to the recording of brain waves during a brain operation, Knott explained.

Dr. Charles Henry, director of the laboratory of neurophysiology at the Institute of Living at Hartford, Conn., will discuss changes in brain waves after lobotomy operations, and methods of recording during lobotomies.

A lobotomy is an operation on the brain to relieve mental and emotional distress, Knott said.

Dr. B.K. Bagchi, director of the electroencephalographic laboratory of the University of Michigan, will present a paper on electrical activity of the brain during sleep.

Eight Law Students Win In Freshman Arguments

Eight freshman law students were named winners in the opening week of first year law club arguments at the SUI college of law, Instructor Richard C. Huber announced Friday.

Winners were: George R. Benedict, Dyersville; Robert E. Ford, Cedar Rapids; Morris S. Gould, Marshalltown; Albert C. McClain, Iowa City; Walter F. Johnson, Chillicothe; James S. Nettleton, Des Moines; Richard C. Swanson, Odebolt, and Wayne M. Newport, Dixon.

Two arguments were heard each evening, Monday through Wednesday, at the law building, and one Thursday.

The four students who participate in each argument present their cases by arguing an appeal to a simulated supreme court—called the McClain supreme court.

The winners of the arguments will compete in junior arguments next year, from which the students who will argue on SUI's Supreme Court day are chosen.

On Supreme Court day, scheduled for April 27 this year, arguments are presented at the college of law before members of the Iowa supreme court.

Second place winners in arguments this week were:

Albert Habbab, Fort Dodge; John J. Murray, Iowa City; William H. Miles, Corydon; George W. McBurney, Council Bluffs; William K. Doran, Boone, and Richard M. Hemingway, Waverly.

Church Plans Dedication Of Memorial To Veteran

A formal dedication of the Lester Norton memorial tape recording machine will be held during the regular worship service at the First Christian church, 217 Iowa avenue, Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

The Rev. Leon E. England, pastor of the church, said the machine was purchased as a living memorial to Lester Norton, an Iowa City war veteran who died early this year.

Members of the church and friends of Norton contributed money for the purchase of the machine, he said.

Mrs. Vernel Norton, widow of the veteran, and Dr. C.I. Miller, SUI director of student health and chairman of the church board, will receive the machine in behalf of the congregation at the dedication.

'We Made The Finals' Shout Happy Ankeny Players

'Boys Just Tired Out' Says Winfield's Coach

By DON MOYER

Those Ankeny fans really mobbed the players after the Hawkeyes downed Winfield. The crowd followed the boys all the way to the dressing room steps and even kept them from going down for several minutes.

Most of the team members came in for an embrace from one or another of the Ankeny cheerleaders but little Keith Hildreth rated a big kiss from one of the girls.

Made the Finals

"We made finals this year," was the cry from the team as they finally reached the locker room. "It's a darned good feeling, too," said Harold Hildreth.

The fellows refused to pose for any pictures until Coach Merritt Parsons arrived and then really worked him over, mussing his hair and pulling his tie.

It's a new tie every night, by the way, purchased by the team. "We still have one left, coach," they assured him.

"It looks like I got myself into something, taking over this team," remarked Parsons, who is in his first year of coaching. "Here I am pushed into the state finals. Don't get me wrong, though. I'm not complaining."

Predicted Wrong

Ray Fontana wanted to know the final score and someone told him, 46-41. "And one of the papers said we were going to be beaten by five points," said the slim center.

In the Winfield corner the atmosphere was slightly different but the Wolves took their loss well. Bob Mason, who left the game on fouls, said, "The best team won. If everyone had played as poorly as I did, we'd have lost by even more."

"They're a great team," said Center Ron Kester who also left the game with five fouls. "We just weren't up to them tonight. Man, am I tired," he added as he continued to dress.

Coach Orris Rew thought the boys were "just too tired." "Rock (Kester) was off tonight and the fellows couldn't hit at all on their free throws," he said.

Red or White Jerseys?

Roland Hatton thought maybe the fact that the Wolves wore their red jerseys might have played some part in the loss. "We lost to Forest City last year when we wore them and now again tonight," he said. "We'll win tomorrow night whether we wear red or white," asserted Red Hill.

In repudiation of the belief held by not a few basketball fans that the boys from the large school have the "big head," Davenport players Ken Buckles and Bob LeBuhn were among the first to shake hands with Dinsdale's coach J.P. Jones and congratulate him on the game his boys played.

LeBuhn said, "There are really a swell bunch of fellows at the tournament this year. I've never seen a better group. Sure wish we didn't have the crowd down on us every time we played though."

Asked if he'd have rather played Ankeny or Winfield Buckles replied, "We take them one at a time, just as they come. Ankeny won, guess that's who we'll play."

Coach Paul Moon said, "Certainly I'd rather play Ankeny. This is their third year down here and their first time in the finals. We defeated them in 1948 and they should be all fired up."

Davenport has the finest ball team I have ever seen," said Coach J.P. Jones of Dinsdale. "We tried everything in the books, but nothing worked. They just couldn't miss. They really are a power-house."

Ed Philp, Red Devil forward, said, "There should be some kind of a national tournament for those guys to play in. They're great."

This is the sixth year of play together for Davenport's Ed Lindsey, Bob LeBuhn and Bill Stenger and they didn't get an extension of their eligibility either. The three attended the same junior high school in Davenport.

Art Crissinger, who led Winfield's scoring against Ankeny, was ordered by his doctor not to play in Friday night's game because of a neck injury. Art was determined to play, however, while the doctor kept an eye on him from the stands.

The fans were quite amused when the Davenport pep band struck up "Rock-a-bye Baby" as the Dinsdale team went into a stall in its game against the Blue Devils.

Assistant varsity coach Jack Spencer, a former Davenport star himself, said Friday, "This year's team is the best the Blue Devils have had. In fact it's the best high school team I've ever seen."

Ankeny's Hawkeyes had one trophy to their credit Friday night already. It's probably not quite as ornate as the one they will receive tonight though. This one, given to them by Ricko Logli, an Ankeny grocer, was made of a plastic cup topped with a rotten grapefruit and bacon slice, and flanked by two over ripe bananas.

Des Moines A.I.B. Girls Lose in Women's AAU

ST. JOSEPH, MO. (AP) — The Des Moines A.I.B. girls were unable to halt a second half drive by Nashville's Goldblumes and fell from the Women's National AAU basketball tournament here Thursday night, 34-28.

The Des Moines team, last Iowa entry left in the championship bracket, led at halftime, 20-16. However, the defending champions from Nashville changed their defense at the half and the Des Moines club never was again able to find an effective scoring combination.

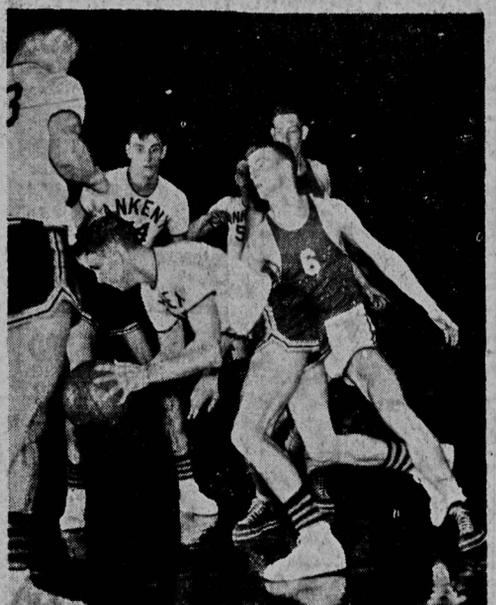

Poughkeepsie Regatta Moved to Ohio City

NEW YORK (AP) — The famed "Poughkeepsie Regatta" was moved Friday from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., to Marietta, Ohio for its 48th running June 17.

Bradley Wins, 73-59

KANSAS CITY — Bradley's Braves wiped out a seven point deficit in the late minutes Friday night to defeat UCLA, 73-59, in a western NCAA playoff. Baylor edged Brigham Young, 56-55, in the first game of the evening on Don Heathington's free throw with seven seconds remaining to play. Bradley, the pre-tournament favorite, and Baylor meet tonight in the championship round.

ANKENY FORWARD VERN HERRING dribbles through a maze of players under the basket Thursday night in the Winfield-Ankeny semi-final game. Other players are Barney Allemen (left) and Ray Fontana (44), both of Ankeny and Red Hill (6) of Winfield.

WINFIELD'S ART CHRISSINGER at left spreads his arms like a trackman breasting the tape as he reaches for a loose ball in the semi-final game between Winfield and Ankeny Friday night. Ankeny gained a 46-41 win to advance to the championship round where they will meet Davenport tonight. Other players shown are Red Hill (6) of Winfield and Ray Fontana (44), of Ankeny.

Scarpello in NCAA Wrestling Semi-Finals

Garst Wins 50-Yard Freestyle in NCAA Tank Championships

COLUMBUS, OHIO — Ed Garst of Iowa captured the 50-yard freestyle title Friday night in the NCAA swimming meet here with a close win over Jim Erkert of Northwestern in 23.4 seconds. Henry D. Paton of Michigan State was a nip-and-tuck third. Garst's winning time was three-tenths of a second slower than the fastest qualifying time registered Friday morning by Paton.

Iowa's Bowen Stassforth finished third in the 200-yard breaststroke behind Robert Brawner, who established a new NCAA meet record, and Joe Verdeur of LaSalle. Brawner's time of two minutes, 14.3 seconds bettered the old mark of two minutes 14.7 seconds held by Verdeur.

Ohio State scored a one-two triumph in the 150-yard backstroke Friday night. Sophomore Jack Taylor — already winner of the 1500-meter freestyle in record time — capped his second first of the meet.

Bruce Harlan of Ohio State, tiny blonde Olympic champion of the lowboard, dived to another NCAA championship. He topped David Browning of Texas by a substantial margin with a total of 435 points. Charles Chelich of Northwestern was third.

Ohio State ended the second day of the NCAA meet eight points ahead of the field as it sought to retain its championship. The Ohioans had a total of 31 points. Yale was in second place with 23 points. Iowa was third with 14, followed by Michigan, Stanford, Michigan State, Northwestern, Princeton, Texas A&M, LaSalle; Texas; U.S. Military Academy; Washington State; Wisconsin; Purdue and Southern Methodist.

Don Rehfeldt Most Valuable in League

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Rehfeldt of Wisconsin, Big Ten scoring champion, Friday was named most valuable basketball player in the conference in the Chicago Tribune's annual poll.

The 23-year-old Chicago center becomes the fifth player to receive the silver basketball awarded by the Tribune. He was selected by vote of Big Ten basketball coaches and conference officials after being chosen most valuable player by his Badger teammates.

Rehfeldt is the second Wisconsin cage star to win the Tribune trophy. The other was Glen Selbo, who won the honor in 1947.

Walter Osterkorn of Illinois was runner-up in the final tabulation.

Rehfeldt, a senior, scored 265 points this season. He tallied 229 in capturing the scoring title last year.

The trophy will be presented to Rehfeldt at a time and place to be selected by Harold (Bud) Foster, Badger coach, and Harry Stuhldreher, athletic director.

Previous winners were Max Morris, Northwestern, 1946; Selbo, Wisconsin, 1947; Murray Wier, Iowa, 1948; and Dwight Eddleman, Illinois, 1949.

Cedar Falls — Iowa's Joe Scarpello advanced to the semi-final round in the 175-pound class of the NCAA wrestling tournament here Friday night when he scored a fall over Frank Solomon of Kansas State in 6:48.

Scarpello had previously defeated Dewey McConnell of Wyoming 7-0 in an afternoon second round match. The 1947 national champion will meet Bill Vohaska of Illinois in the semi-final round this afternoon. Vohaska scored a close 2-1 victory over his quarterfinal opponent, Paul Buhler of Oregon State, 2-1.

Other Survivors

The other two wrestlers in the 175-pound class surviving preliminary eliminations are Dan Mantrone, Alabama Poly, and George Gebhardt of Syracuse. The winners of the two afternoon semi-final matches will meet tonight for the national championship.

Iowa's other two representatives in the meet, Ken Carman, at 128 pounds, and George Tesla, at 155 pounds, were both eliminated in the quarterfinal round Friday night. Carman lost to Charles Hetrick of Oklahoma A&M, 8-1, and Tesla was defeated by George Bender of Michigan State, 3-0.

In the afternoon session, Carman decided George Dannaway, Pennsylvania State Teachers, 10-7, and Tesla whipped George Miller of Brigham Young, 7-4.

The top favorites advanced in all classes, but a scattering of upsets marked other matches in the quarterfinals.

Peninger Beaten

Anthony Gizoni of Waynesburg took a 4-2 decision over Grady Peninger of Oklahoma A&M. Peninger was runnerup in the 121-pound class last year, and had been looked upon as the chief competition for defending champion Arnold Plaza of Purdue.

Don Ryan, Big Ten king in the 155-pound division, fell victim to unheralded Bob Dwyer of Illinois, 3-1.

Don Meeker of the defending champion Oklahoma Aggies was defeated by Floyd Oglesby of Iowa Teachers in the 136-pound class on a referee's decision in another upset.

Big Ten Tracksters Threaten American Records at Purdue

LAFAYETTE, IND. (AP) — They brought out the neon lights and green sawdust Friday night to match the brilliance of the stars competing in the Purdue relays today.

At least two American indoor track records will be threatened by teams from Ohio and Michigan. And four champions are expected back to defend their titles in the eighth annual event in Purdue's fieldhouse.

Both Ohio State and Michigan State represent threats to the distance medley relay mark of 10:10.3, set ten years ago by Indiana university. The real contest may boil down to a match between Michigan State's Bill Mack and the Buckeyes' Leonard Truex.

Favorite's Role

Two other Michigan schools share the favorite role with Michigan State in the 240-yard shuttle hurdle race, won last year by Michigan State in a record-breaking 30.1 seconds. Michigan and Michigan Normal are rated as rival threats.

Iowa's representatives in this event will be Russ and John Merkel, Gene Freels and DuWayne Dietz. Russ Merkel, the conference indoor high and low hurdle champion, has missed practice since Monday of this week because of a flu condition and will not be in top shape for the meet.

Coming back as champions are Fred Johnson, Michigan State, who holds the meet title in the 60-yard dash; Garion Campbell, Michigan Normal, 60-yard low hurdles; Jack Heintzman, Bradley, high jump and Don Laz, Illinois, pole vault.

Avenge Defeat

Marcellus Boston, Iowa's 60-yard sprinter, will attempt to avenge his defeat by Johnson in the invitation dash of the Chicago Relays last week. Boston placed first in the Illinois Tech 70-yard sprint two weeks ago.

Notre Dame's Bill Fleming has been out of action two weeks with a bone bruise and a sprained muscle and may not be able to defend his 60-yard high hurdles title. But the field includes such talent as Merkel, Penn State's James Gehrdie and Bradley's Roy Grieve, all indoor winners this year.

The Hawks will be represented by Jack Weik in the high jump and Jack Davis in the special 1,000-yard race. The Purdue relays will mark the last indoor meet for Iowa this season.

Gophers Lose, 13-9

COLLEGE STATION, TEX. (AP) — Texas A&M outslugged and outfielded Minnesota Friday to defeat the touring Gopher nine, 13-9. The Aggies rapped out 12 base hits, including a home run by Yale Lary, while taking advantage of six walks and four Gopher errors.

TOURNAMENT...

It was all Davenport. The score by that time had mounted to 19-5. Seeing that it was no use to try and run with Davenport, Coach John Paul Jones of Dinsdale ordered his team to go into a stall, not let the Blue Devils have the ball, and keep the score somewhere close to being respectable.

The stall, while not popular with the 14,000 fans who had seen a nip and tuck battle earlier between Winfield and Ankeny, did hold the score down. At halftime Davenport led, 26-8.

Davenport's starting five of Bill Stenger, Ed Lindsey, Bob LeBuhn, Ken Buckles and Bill Newman proved they could score at will. Their chief weapon, a devastating fast break, was unstoppable.

Marvin Reese, Dinsdale center, had two field goals, Ed Philp one, and that was all the Red Devils could muster from the field in the opening half besides two free throws.

When Dinsdale decided to run and shoot with its opponents in the final half the Blue Devils quickly raced to a new tournament record for points scored in an entire state meet. Davenport finished the evening with 219 points in three games. Two years ago the Blue Devils tallied 212 in four games, to establish the former mark.

Increase Record

Davenport will push that mark even higher tonight when it meets Ankeny in the state finals at 8:45.

By the end of the third quarter Friday night, Davenport led 56-12, Dinsdale coming up with four big points in the eight-minute period. With Jones giving his second-stringers a chance to play in a state tournament semi-final, Dinsdale scored two of its three second half field goals.

Lindsey and Buckles shared high scoring honors for the winners, with 16 and 17 points respectively. Stenger chipped in with 10.

Ankeny Whips Wolves, 46-41

By REY HERTEL
Displaying the same well-balanced attack that defeated Marion in the quarterfinals, Ankeny's Hawks Friday night advanced to the finals of the 1950 Boys' state basketball tournament.

They defeated Winfield, darlings of the near capacity 16,000 crowd, 46-41.

Both teams entered the game with long 30 game winning streaks. Neither had been defeated since the 1949 state tournament. And Friday night it was Winfield that didn't have it in the clutch.

A late fourth quarter rally by the Wolves fizzled after they had closed a 28-36 deficit to 37-38 with three minutes left. But the Class B school lacked the unerring accuracy from the field — they had the spark — that enabled them to nip Sioux City Central, 44-42, Thursday.

After big Ron Kester, their 6-foot, 6-inch center, fouled out with a little over a minute remaining and the Wolves trailing, 39-42, Winfield's hopes flickered. They went out when Ankeny's Ron Fontana hit a lay up with just 36 seconds to play. That made it 45-39.

In the end, it was Ankeny's deadliness at the free throw line that payed off. The Hawks hit 14 out of 18 — including their first eight in succession — while Winfield dropped only 7 out of 16.

The Wolves outscored Ankeny from the field, hitting 17 goals to the Class A school's 16. Winfield opened the game in the same explosive fashion which marked their earlier round victories in the tournament. Duane Hill slammed in two quick fielders before the game was a minute and a half old.

Ankeny hacked away at the margin and pulled ahead, 7-6, with three minutes left in the first period.

After that the Hawks built margins of from five to eight points only to have Winfield pull up abreast with spurts of red hot shooting. The scoring duel between two of the state's outstanding centers—Winfield's Kester and Ankeny's Ray Fontana — never materialized although each spearheaded his team's rebounding.

Each bucketed only three fielders but Fontana rimmed 10 out of 12 free throws to garner 16 points.

Winfield's driving little forward, Art Chrissinger, paced the Wolves hot and cold attack with 19 points, high for the game.

Big Ten Gymnastics Meet Opens This Morning

Eight Conference Teams to Compete

By JOHN ROSSI

Gymnasts from seven schools in the Western conference began arriving here Friday to compete in the Big Ten championships this morning and afternoon in the fieldhouse.

Purdue, which does not have a gym team, and Michigan State are the only schools in the conference that will not be on hand for the 20th annual conference meet.

Afternoon Finals

Because of the high school basketball tournament this evening, the gymnastics meet will be held at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the north gym.

The gym has accommodations for at least 1,000 spectators. There are no reserved seats to the meet. General admission tickets will be sold at the door at the prices of $1 for adults, 60 cents for students and 30 cents for children under 11 years.

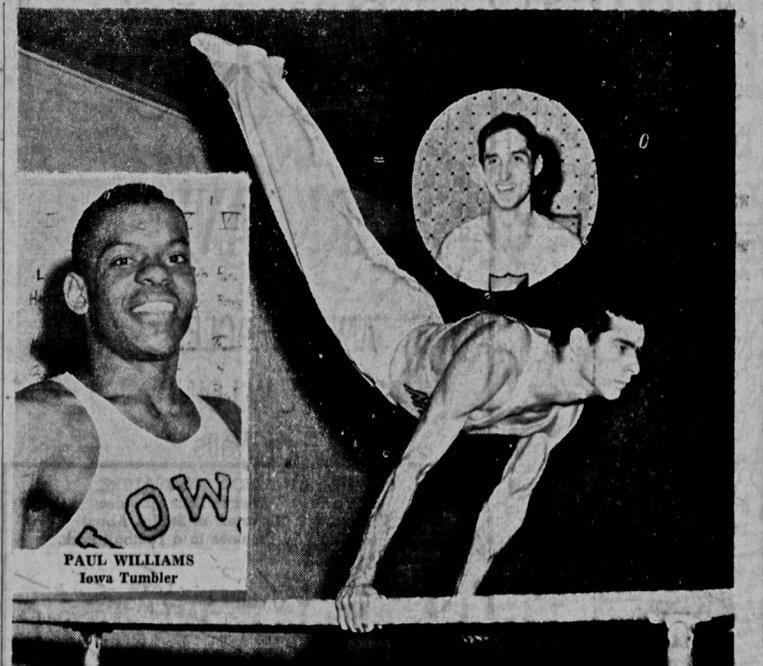

The side horse event will open the meet in the morning. Other morning events will be the horizontal bar and parallel bars.

Flying rings, tumbling and trampoline are scheduled for the afternoon session. Contestants for the all-around championship will compete in their respective events along with the remainder of the athletics.

60 Athletes in Meet

A total of 60 athletes have been entered in the meet. The entrants in the events include 26 in rings, 24 in parallel bars, 21 in side horse and trampoline, 20 in horizontal bars and 19 in tumbling. At least 15 athletes will compete in the all-around competition.

It appears that Minnesota, Illinois and Michigan will fight

MICHIGAN'S PETE BARTHELL, the Big Ten champion in the parallel bars and tumbling events, will be competing in these events in the Iowa fieldhouse this morning and afternoon as Iowa is host to the conference championships. Barthell is captain of the Michigan gymnastics team. Minnesota will be after its third straight championship. In inset is Irvin Bedard, NCAA tumbling champion for the past two years, now competing for Illinois.

for the team championship. Both from 1949 will return to defend their titles. They are Herb Loken of Minnesota, side horse; Pete Barthell of Michigan, winner of both parallel bars and tumbling titles, and Edsel Buchanan of Michigan, trampoline winner.

The Hawkeyes, with a full team for the first time since 1942, will depend upon Bill Harris, unbeaten in 1950 trampoline competition; Clair Jennett, flying rings, and Paul Williams, tumbling, for points.

SUI Students Win Prizes for Posters In CMA Contest

Harold W. Bradley, A3, Chicago, Friday was awarded top prize of $25, and Lindsey Decker, G, Iowa City, won a second prize of $10 in the local Council-Manager association's poster contest.

Bradley won a $15 award when his poster on the theme "Streamline City Government" was judged first prize winner in the group of posters submitted by SUI students.

He won an additional $10 prize when judges called the poster best in the contest.

Two City high school senior girls took the prizes in the contest for high school and junior high school students.

They are Lois Moellering, 18, 629 N. Dubuque street, who took top first prize of $15, and Janey Condon, 17, 427 S. Dodge street, who received second prize of $10. Miss Moellering is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Moellering. Miss Condon's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Condon.

Mrs. A.C. Kern, treasurer of the Council-Manager association, presented the awards at the executive committee's noon meeting.

Contest judges were Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the SUI art department; Mrs. Will Hayek, 900 N. Dubuque street, and Mrs. Jessie Gordon, 1412 E. Court street.

The posters will be displayed at the association's office, room 206, Hotel Jefferson, from Monday through April 8. They will be displayed in the window of The Bookshop beginning April 10.

Graduate Students Hold Political Science Tea

Graduate students in SUI's department of political science entertained the department's faculty at a tea in the Congressional church basement Thursday.

About 50 persons attended the tea, according to Prof. Russell Ross of the political science faculty.

City Hi Drivers . . .

Gals Do Well Behind Wheel

Take care what you say about lady drivers!

Instructor George Bowman reports that girls do as well as boys in his City high school driving instruction course.

"They catch on to the mechanics and are just as good drivers as the boys," he said.

Behind-the-wheel training is in its second year at City high, where it is offered on a one semester, no credit basis. Such instruction has been called by safety experts "the most effective means yet discovered for reducing accidents."

Bowman emphasizes the seriousness of traffic violations and calls attention to accidents by means of clippings and wreck pictures posted in the classroom.

The course is divided into 36 hours of class time, 20 hours of driving observation and five hours of actual driving.

"People have the wrong idea about the course," Bowman said, "we can't make expert drivers out of these people in five hours of driving experience, but they can get down the basic, fundamentals of driving and form good attitudes toward it and others drivers."

Two texts are used in the course, "Sportsmanlike Driving" and "Man and the Motor Car." Classroom work includes discussion of the general breakdown of a car, operation of a motor, physical fitness of the driver, auto insurance, traffic habits and driving on the open highway.

The first few weeks are spent in studying for the state drivers' test. Students must pass this and an eye test before taking the course.

Dual Controls

The dual control car used in the course is loaned to the school by a local auto dealer during the school year. The only expense to the school is gas, upkeep and insurance.

Bowman takes four students out in the car at a time. Each one drives for 15 minutes and observes for 45 minutes. These students have a drivers' training permit, which allows them to drive only in the training car with the instructor.

They may also obtain a 60-day permit to allow them to drive with any person over 21 having a driver's license.

Most of the driving is done in the enclosed school area. Stanchions are used to practice parallel and angle parking, Bowman said.

During the student's last hour of driving, he is permitted to move into heavier traffic.

Sometime in May, a state patrolman will spend 15 or 20 minutes with each of the 45 driving students, licensing those who can pass the required state tests.

The course is popular, Bowman said, and those who register for it say they would like to take another semester.

Students Okay Core Courses

The ideas behind SUI's core and basic skill courses make sense in helping to prepare students for modern life.

So believe ninety-four percent of the students who have submitted answers on the core course questionnaires circulated by the liberal arts college.

Dean Dewey B. Stuit, college of liberal arts, said Friday results of the questionnaires have been partially tabulated and the figures favor the core course system.

About 75 percent of the questioned students thought the choice of courses within each are—literature, social science, natural science and historical culture—were "about right."

Some 70 percent of the replies reflected a belief that students should be allowed core and regular liberal arts courses.

Two hundred and fifty-six questionnaires of the 390 sent out were completed and returned.

Complete results on student comments will be released next week, Stuit said.

Short talks were given by Leonard Raffensperger, SUI head football coach; Prof. Paul Brechler, SUI athletic director; Prof. Frank (Bucky) O'Connor, acting SUI basketball coach; Lyle Quinn, executive secretary of the IHSAA, and Robert Davis, vice-president of the chamber of commerce.

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism, acted as toastmaster.
