Bridges Convicted of Perjury, Lawyers Cited for Contempt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—CIO Longshore Boss Harry Bridges, stormy petrel of more than two decades on the west coast waterfront, was convicted Tuesday of lying when he said, at his 1945 naturalization hearing, that he never was a Communist.

"Frameup," immediately snorted the hawk-nosed labor leader who previously had beaten two federal efforts to deport him as a Communist.

Now the Australian-born Bridges, key mover in several strikes which have paralyzed coast ports, faced a possible order to deport him. Actual deportation, however, depends on whether Australia would accept him.

He will be sentenced next Monday. Seven years, a $15,000 fine and cancellation of citizenship are possibilities.

Two other top men in the longshore union were convicted with Bridges. They were Henry Schmidt, international representative, and J.R. Robertson, first vice-president.

The two were witnesses for Bridges at his 1945 citizenship hearing, at which he swore he wasn't a Communist. They were convicted of conspiracy to aid and abet perjury, and to obstruct operations of the naturalization department. Each is subject to the same prison term and fine that applies to Bridges.

Later Federal Judge George B. Harris called the two defense attorneys before him. He sentenced both lawyers to prison terms for contempt. Vincent Hallinan got six months, and his junior colleague, James MacInnis, three months. Both said they would appeal. (See picture, page 5)

U.S. Bar President To Speak Monday In Senate Chamber

Harold J. Gallagher, president of the American Bar association, will speak at SUI Monday night. Dean Mason Ladd, college of law, announced Tuesday.

His topic will be "The Position of the Lawyer in a Complex Society."

Gallagher will address SUI law students, faculty and lawyers in the Senate chamber of old Capitol at 7:30 p.m.

Gallagher, who now is an attorney in New York City, is the first SUI graduate to be elected president of the national bar association. He graduated from the SUI college of law with the class of 1916.

While in law school here, he was one of the editors of the Iowa Law Review and a member of the Order of Coif, honorary law society.

Pearlman Wins $25
In Hancher Contest

Gilbert Pearlman, A3, Des Moines, won the Hancher oratorical contest Tuesday night in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher awarded Pearlman a $25 check for first prize. William Skaife, A1, Dubuque won second place honors.

Pearlman will represent SUI in the Northern Oratorical league contest which will be in the Senate chamber of Old Capitol May 5.

No Definite Proof Of Subs in Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Louis Johnson indicated Tuesday there is no definite proof that Russian or other foreign submarines have been operating off the U.S. Pacific coast.

He was asked at a news conference about reports that mysterious submarines, possibly Russian, were sighted off the California coast over the weekend.

One report sent the destroyer Colahan speeding north from San Francisco to search the waters off northern California. On its return, the Colahan's skipper, Capt. J. A. Holbrook, said he was convinced he ran through a pack of foreign submarines.

Bednasek Jury Returns from Lunch

THE BEDNASEK TRIAL JURY TAKES time-out to lunch after the prosecution and defense rested their cases in the trial of Robert E. Bednasek. Bednasek, 24, is accused of murdering Margaret Anne Jackson, 20, in the "Empty Arms" rooming house last December. The case went to the jury at 10:02 a.m. Tuesday morning after final instructions from Judge Gaffney.

Bednasek Jury Retires Without Verdict

Deliberates 11 Hours, Recess Until 7 A.M.

The jury debating whether Robert E. Bednasek strangled Margaret Anne Jackson went to bed early this morning without reaching a verdict.

The panel of eight men and four women had completed about 11 hours of deliberations before they retired until 7 a.m. this morning.

Jurors sent out for a light lunch and returned to their sleeping quarters in the courthouse.

Judge James P. Gaffney gave the case to the jury at 10:02 a.m., after explaining points of law involved in the case.

Bednasek was confident and smiling in his jail cell as he waited to hear his fate. He greeted several visitors, many of them fraternity brothers, and said he was "feeling fine" and was confident he would be acquitted.

The defendant's mother, Mrs. Olga Bednasek of Cedar Rapids, spent Tuesday evening in the office of a defense attorney. Emil Bednasek, 67-year-old father of the youth, returned to Cedar Rapids because of illness.

The jury panel recessed at noon for an hour and a half. At 6:30 p.m., the jury went to supper and was out for another hour and a half.

Locked Courthouse

When the jury returned from supper, the courthouse was cleared of all persons except the jury and the jury bailiff, and the courthouse was locked.

The jurors weighed two sharply conflicting versions of the pretty sorority girl's death in a rooming-house at 411 E. Washington street.

The prosecutors cast Bednasek in the role of "a cold-blooded killer" and said he strangled the girl in a fit of jealousy when she said she didn't love him.

Love Story

The defense pictures the case as "the story of a boy and a girl deeply in love" who continued to see each other "despite objections of her parents."

Miss Jackson's father is a prominent Burlington attorney and chairman of the state parole board.

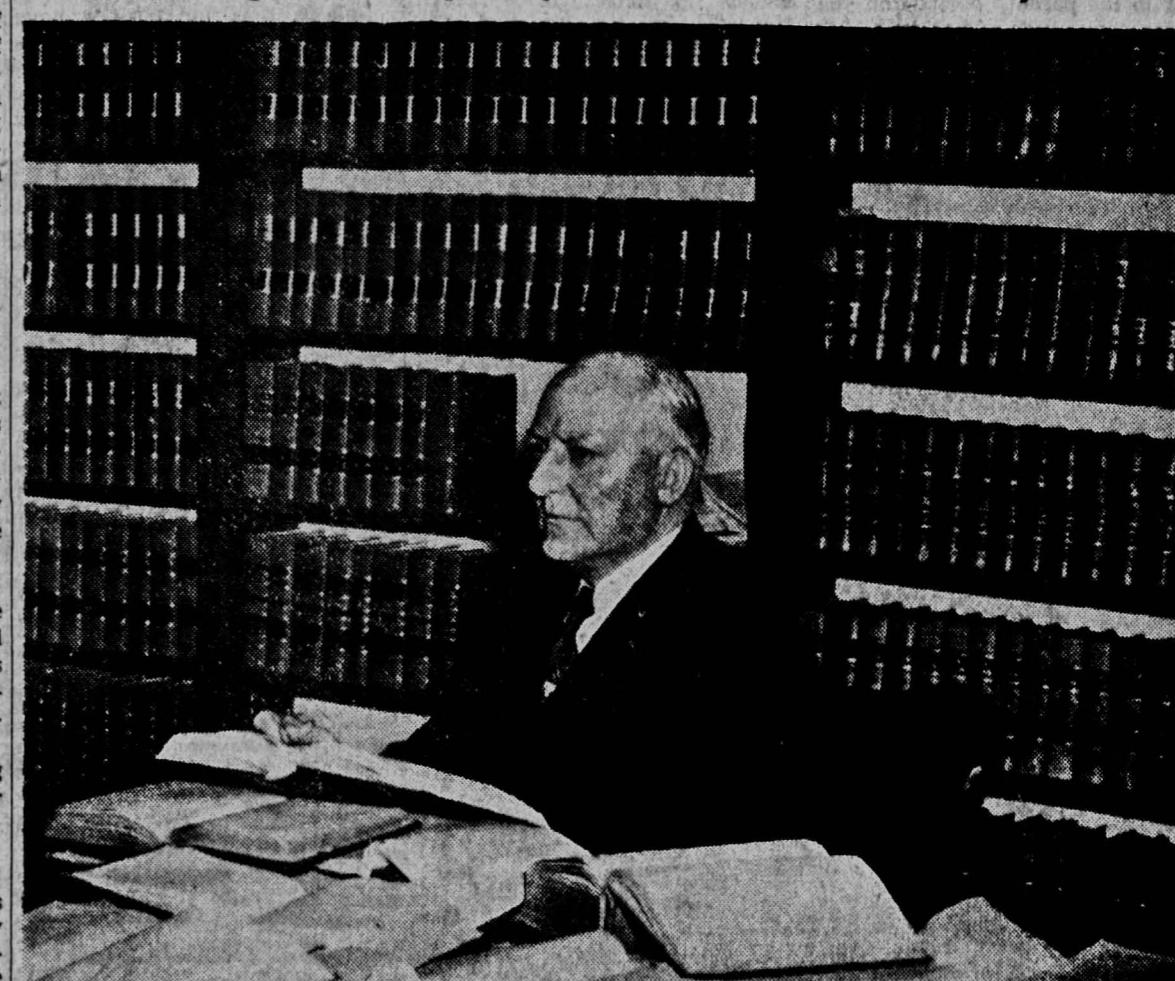

The defense contended that Miss Jackson's death was a tragic accident which occurred after the young couple playfully placed their hands on each other's throats.

"A man does not kill the thing he loves," Defense Atty. Clair Hamilton told the jury in closing arguments.

Judge Gaffney told the jury Bednasek's credibility as a witness "is a matter to be determined by you." Bednasek claimed Miss Jackson suffered her fatal throat injuries in a fall against a chair in a men's rooming-house last Dec. 11.

Judge Gaffney said the jury "is not required to receive blindly that testimony as true." But, on the other hand, he said, it was "not to be discredited only because the defendant was interested in escaping a possible conviction."

Judge Gaffney Prepares Instructions to Jury

DISTRICT JUDGE JAMES P. GAFFNEY is shown here amid a pile of law books in the Johnson county courthouse Monday night as he prepared his instructions to the jury deciding the fate of Robert E. Bednasek. In a 20-page address, Gaffney told the jury that Bednasek's credibility as a witness "is a matter to be determined by you."

Unemployment Solution Needed —

The two largest labor organizations in the nation, the CIO and the American Federation of Labor, are becoming alarmed, and rightly so, at the rising rate of unemployment.

CIO President Philip Murray last week reported that the unemployment figure is progressing rapidly toward what he considers the danger mark of 5-million.

At present, according to census bureau figures for January and February, there are about four and a half million unemployed workers — 2 million more than for corresponding months of 1947 and 1948.

The bureau says that many persons are temporarily out of work during these months because of occupational shut-downs — but the explanation does not seem to cover the proportion all figures for other years.

Murray blames the increasing use of machinery instead of manpower for the increase in unemployment — and his theory follows economic principles of supply and demand but to get the truth of the situation one must remember that there are still as many workers employed today as in previous years.

The main difficulty is that the number of

Beware, Designers Have Designs —

Maybe we're being old school conservatives on this issue, but we're going to stick to our guns, by God, and refuse to wear the latest designs in men's clothing.

If you haven't been alerted to the situation, the clothes stylists are trying to change man's way of dressing — his way of life. They've invaded the sacred sanctuary, our closet. We prefer mothballs any day.

Designers want to redress that dull, drab, the American male — re-do him in "calor from head to toe." Here are just a few innovations they plan this year: caps, tam, berets and bucket hats all in pulsating plaids and patterns, and buckskin shoes in subtle shades from fuchsia to tawny.

These designers aren't satisfied with the profitable emerald pastures they've found in changing women's fashions yearly. Now they want to make annual alterations and profits in men's clothing.

They've got the modern women jumping through their style hoop — cutting off attractive locks, changing hemlines, hiding waistlines and even wearing "Studebaker" stockings with seams in front and back. Now designers are after the men.

For years the male has been too comfortable and too tight with his clothing expenses. Shirt and slack styles have been so lax that the same ones can be worn for several years — even until they're worn out. So the manufacturers push jobs available is remaining constant while the number of workers is increasing rapidly. Also, labor is getting more and more expensive.

This situation is recognized by the AFL which recently said their "Labor's Monthly Survey" that at present there is no prospect that business activity will increase enough in 1950 to restore "full employment."

The AFL is pushing a movement to establish "Full Employment Committees" throughout the country to solve the unemployment problem at local levels, an effort to increase the number available jobs.

This idea is good, but the big problem is in how to create jobs. That usually takes much capital — and capital is getting equally as scarce as jobs.

Regardless of how the problem is approached or who approaches, it should be considered at once and in a constructive manner. We certainly can't afford to return to the days of huge outpouring of government funds for man-made work and relief.

If it isn't tackled sooner, the unemployment question will certainly be, and should be, a major issue in the next November elections.

A Profound Observation

Love by Long Distance

Telephonic Tenderness

— Sparked by Science

By RUSS PAULDING

When electrical or mechanical long distant love making devices are finally developed the telephone will have gathered much dust in antique shops along with radio and television. Until then SUI students contend the "phone" rates second only to sex — it is the only good method for long distant love making.

May we're much closer to a substitute for sex than we realize. The telephone is a medium for long distant speech, television gives us sight and who knows what scientists may develop in the near future? Maybe transmitters for sense, touch, smell and taste.

Until that day the old fashioned techniques will undoubtedly see love through its troubles — the telephone carrying the burden of long distant love making.

Old fashioned love making techniques are stubbornly resisting future scientific threats, but the impetus of the telephone is slowly pushing old techniques into the back seat.

What does the telephone mean to the average SUI student? "It's the greatest thing since the carrier pigeon," claimed one student. "If I didn't call the little woman at least once a day, I'd be through."

Had Farraday and his colleagues known that their research might someday reveal itself in the form of a love making machine like the telephone, they might have been frightened from research — science would have been retarded for centuries. But love found the way — a few of rusty condensers, coils, a spark of two, batteries and the telephone was born.

Seventy-five years have passed since the telephone's birth. It is now a permanent fixture in every walk of life. SUI for example contracts the use of 1734 phones. More than half this number, 1121, are located in university residences.

When the vast majority of telephone switchboards are closing down for the day, 1121 SUI phones leap into action. They become a medium for love, relaying the pitter-patter of life, heart beats signs, sobs and sniffs.

Assuming that one call every phone is made during the hour before midnight, nearly 27,000 long distant love making machines are put to work. Imagine what Cleopatra could have accomplished with a gadget like this — a private telephone exchange at her disposal and a few thousand hotlines awaiting her call.

Take the telephone away from the average student and he would be as lost as an unherded citizen of the 80's. It is on the campus where love making machines get their greatest work-out. Here they must carry on love work after hours, accepting new techniques which often result in receiver slamming, dropping, racking against the wall and murderous blasts, screaming into its sensitive ear.

Today these electrical love making machines carry approximately one quarter of love's burden. Papa calls mama two or three times a day from the office to tell her what time he won't be home for dinner and how much he loves her.

Mom in turn keeps tab on her four sons. Sis loves two or three young hoodoo and big brother at SUI, with a new case of telephoneitis, "loves 'em

Murray Proposes Merging CIO, AFL

WASHINGTON (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray Tuesday proposed creation of a labor unity committee to work toward eventual merger of the CIO, AFL and other major segments of organized labor into a 16-million-member federation.

More immediately, it would provide for cooperation between big union groups on economic, legislative and political issues.

Murray made his appeal in letters to the AFL, John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, the railroad brotherhoods and the international association of machinists.

There was no immediate reaction from other union leaders to Tuesday's appeal by Murray.

LIFE IN AN OYSTER

By GIL PEARLMAN

Inington, Ind. (home of the University of Indiana) (the Western Conference Debate League held a special banquet honoring Baird.

They honored him not only as a leader for many years in the field of argumentation, discussion and debate, but also as a wonderful and human person . . . touching the hearts of all those who know him."

JOHN W. ASHTON, Dean of Indiana's department of arts and sciences gave the initial address. After reminiscing about his friendship with Baird at Bates College, he said, "Prof. Baird stands as one of the great teachers, one of the great men in education."

Halbed E. Gulley presented Baird with a collection of letters from "A. Craig's" former associates. Gulley, one of Baird's former students himself and now director of forensics at the University of Illinois, stated, "His (Prof. Baird's) greatest tribute that we can pay as present teachers is that he is the kind of teacher we would all like to be!"

Then Baird was presented with a scroll from the Western Conference League by Eugene C. Chenoweth, director of forensics at Indiana. The scroll summarized the esteem held for Baird by all who knew him.

"A source of inspiration to his students, colleagues and the nation."

THEN BAIRD rose to speak. All those present stood and applauded. It was a standing ovation not only out of politeness and an honor not only on paper for respect and admiration filled every square inch of the room.

Watching that ovation, I thought to myself (not in the least profound, but to the utmost, sincere) . . . if we as students do not take advantage of the association and teachings of such men, it is not fortune, opportunity or education that has failed us, but ourselves!

Brannan Attacks 'Coalition'

ST. PAUL (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan said Tuesday that a "strange coalition" of big business and big farming is trying to undermine the nation's grain storage programs and cripple farm cooperatives.

In a speech prepared for delivery before Minnesota farmer commissioners of the production and marketing administration, Brannan said the coalition "stands exposed" as a result of arguments over the administration's farm program recommendations.

Brannan's prepared text contained heated attacks on the "coalition" and on the national leadership of American Farm Bureau Federation which the secretary deleted from his actual speech. However, he later authorized their publication and said they were omitted only because of time limitations.

Brannan said arguments over the administration's recommendations have spotlighted differences in philosophy toward all farm legislation.

"Under the full glare of that spotlight," he said, "today there stands exposed the strange coalition of big business and big farming that has tried and is still trying to undermine the nation's grain storage programs to cripple farm cooperatives."

In a speech prepared for delivery before Minnesota farmer commissioners of the production and marketing administration, Brannan said the coalition "stands exposed" as a result of arguments over the administration's farm program recommendations.

Brannan claimed the farm bureau is helping "stack the cards" against the family-type farm.

"The national leadership of the farm bureau advocates a 'sliding scale' of lower farm prices that would squeeze out the family-farmer not the big industrial producer with ample cash reserves," he said.

Four SUI Stutterers Give Davenport Video Program

Stutters on television? Some program directors, accustomed to fluent announcers, might not like the idea.

But recently four stutterers, members of the Demosthenes club, appeared on the University hour, a program originating from WOC-TV in Davenport.

Members of the club who participated include George Herndon, G. Pineville, La.; Arnold Golub, G. Boston, Mass.; Fred McKenney, A3, Toronto, Canada, and Dean Brown, Iowa City.

Prof. Wendell Johnson, director of the SUI speech clinic, was program moderator for the group.

Program Well Received

Prof. Orville Hitchcock of the speech department, who introduced the show, commented, "It proves that TV has great educational possibilities. The program was very well received and most dynamic."

Prof. Johnson considered it "very effective in giving the boys new encouragement and motivation."

Members of the Demosthenes club have presented nearly 50 talks to Iowa civic, service, church and educational organizations in the last year.

They have appeared before Iowa City service clubs, Information First, Daughters of the American Revolution and have spoken to speech classes at SUI, Iowa State Teachers college and Parsons college.

Stuttering is Topic

The topic on these appearances is always stuttering. "They have the two-fold value of building confidence for the stutterer and of educating the public about stuttering," Golub said.

Much scientific information is known today to aid parents in understanding stuttering and make it possible for many stutterers to overcome their handicap.

Emphasis is put on the fact that there is no hereditary or organic cause of stuttering, said Miss Dorothy Drakesmith, clinic supervisor.

The talks also demonstrate to the stutterer "that people are more interested in what he has to say than how he says it," she added.

All Eligible

Everyone in the clinic is potentially eligible for speaking engagements.

"All stutterers speak to clinic group meetings before attempting more difficult speaking situations," Miss Drakesmith said. "Stutterers participate in these talks when they feel they can handle them successfully," she added.

Participation in these programs is also determined by the nature

Journalists to Hold 'Pica Party' April 14

"Pica Party," an annual event for SUI journalism students, will be held Friday, April 14, Chairman JoAnn Thein, A4, Oelwein, said Tuesday.

Washington. Theta Sigma Phi, national fraternity for women in journalism, will sponsor the event.

Highlight of the party will be the crowning of "Miss Print" for the first time on the Iowa campus. Couples attending the dance, the chairman said, may cast their vote for one of four SUI candidates.

Candidates as chosen by the respective staffs are Barbara

Bloxom, A4, Council Bluffs, The Daily Iowan's candidate; Jean Meggers, G. McGregor, Frivoli; Winifred Allen, A4, Laurens, Hawkeye, and JoAnn Thein, WSU.

Entertainment will include the "Varga Calendar," dancing to recorded music, various skits and soloists, prizes for the best costumes, and distribution of the "Pica Sun," humorous newspaper, which will be sold the following night at the all-campus carnival.

Guests at the party will include over 30 members of Gamma Alpha Chi national advertising honorary fraternity, who will be attending a national convention in Iowa City during the week-end.

Tickets priced at $1 per couple will be sold starting today by members of Theta Sigma Phi.

Babies'll Race, Faculty To Puff at SUI Carnival

SUI's faculty and the administration staff will organize teams of their own members for a basketball game on the fieldhouse court as part of a special entertainment period at the all-campus carnival, April 15.

George McBurney, L.I., Council Bluffs, Tuesday said babies of university married students and faculty members will compete in another event for prizes in a crawl - race.

Rules for booths at the carnival were announced at a meeting of booth chairmen Tuesday, Chuck Thoedt, A4, co-chairman of the carnival organization committee.

Clean - Up Rule

Booth construction may start at 10 a.m. April 15, but must be completed by 5:30 p.m. of the same day. Doors will open at 7 p.m. and booths will open at 7:30 p.m.

All booths must close during the main entertainment events that begin at 8 p.m., Thoedt said.

Organizations are responsible, he said, for clearing rubbish and taking their booths down after the carnival. Violators of the cleanup rule will be fined $10 and will not be admitted to take part in next year's carnival.

All booth and concession chairmen should consult Waldo Geiger, auditor of student organizations, in the business office, University hall, for information on the entertainment tax.

Two-Bit Admission

Twenty-five cents will be charged for general admission to the carnival, Thoedt said. Each entertainment booth also will have its own admission price.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, has been added to the list of 48 organizations which will participate in the carnival.

The Hawkeye Man and Woman of the Year awards and the Tailfeather award will be made at the carnival.

The carnival is sponsored by Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa, SUI senior women's and men's honorary societies.

Local Woman Sues Driver for $25,000

Mrs. Tillie Johnson, 309 S. Dubuque street, who was injured while crossing a street last September, Tuesday filed a petition in district court suing Francis H. Creps, Hartwick, for $25,104.75.

Mrs. Johnson charged Creps was driving a car which struck her as she was walking across the intersection of Clinton and Burlington streets Sept. 18, 1949, at 11:30 p.m.

The plaintiff said she suffered a fractured neck vertebra, a broken left leg below the knee and had cuts and bruises about the upper part of her body.

In her petition, Mrs. Johnson asked for a trial by jury.

Meat CaseAppealed To Iowa High Court

The $200 judgment awarded Donald R. Ferree, L3, Dubuque, for tongue injuries from a piece of wire, allegedly imbedded in canned meat he ate in March, 1949, has been appealed to the Iowa supreme court.

Notice of the appeal was filed Monday in district court by the Libby, McNeill & Libby canning company and Ralph Wescott, Iowa City grocer.

The law student, who originally sued for $2,500, was granted $200 damages by a jury in district court last March 4.

Bridges Kissed After Conviction

(AP Wirephoto)

HARRY BRIDGES GETS WIFELY KISS Tuesday after a federal court jury in San Francisco convicted him of perjury. The west coast CIO longshore leader was accused of swearing falsely that he was not a Communist in his citizenship hearing in 1945. Two co-defendants, J. R. Robertson and Henry Schmidt, also were convicted.

Pierre Danel, prominent French hydraulics engineer, said Tuesday hydraulics research and development is of ever-increasing importance to Europe.

Danel, who spoke to the SUI mechanical hydraulics seminar Monday evening on "Action of Waves on Breakwater," explained this remark by saying France, with an acute shortage of coal, had exploited only about one-third of its hydro-electric potential.

The French engineer's Monday lecture was supplemented by a movie made by the Neyropic hydraulic laboratory of Grenoble, France, which Danel represents. The hydraulics expert was visiting the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research in Iowa City.

Neyropic is the largest hydraulic organization in Europe. With 80 professional engineers and a total staff of 350, it does research work for almost all European countries, Danel said.

The Neyropic Hydraulic laboratory also has an extensive research program in other parts of the world, Danel said. He cited the subsidiary laboratories in Portugal and in Africa.

Danel is no stranger to this country. This is his ninth trip to the United States. It is the fourth time he has consulted with the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, which he commended very highly as outstanding in its field.

Prof. Hunter Rouse, director of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, has visited Danel at the Neyropic laboratory in Grenoble.

Rouse called Danel "one of the key figures in the Neyropic organization, and a brilliant engineer."

Danel expects to spend about two weeks more in this country before returning to France. He left Tuesday night for Denver to visit the hydraulic laboratory there.

The paintings include "The Getaway" and "Dull Evening" by Walt Louderback, "Self Portrait" by Henry Mattson, "Matador" by Fletcher Martin and "Merry-go-round" by Aaron Bohrod.

House Armed Forces Leader Seeks More Fighting Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Carl Vinson of the armed services committee asked the house Tuesday for $583,289,211 extra for fighting planes because, he said, the Russians are building toward an atomic "Pearl Harbor."

At the same time the heads of the nation's defense forces started a review of their needs and their budget requests, to determine whether they shall make such a plea of their own.

Vinson, a veteran of 36 years in the military legislation field, told his colleagues in a formal speech that the $13,911,127,000 defense budget for the year beginning July 1 "will wither American air power on the vine."

Minimum Sum

The Georgia Democrat added that the sum he asked is the minimum necessary for an up-to-date 48-group airforce and an effective air arm in the navy.

"The atomic blitz of tomorrow is a real, a genuine possibility," he said, and went on:

"It is universally known today that Russia is building the largest airforce in the world. What are they building it for? They are building it for use whenever their carefully timed Pearl Harbor day comes around."

$200 - Million for Airforce

He proposed $200 - million for the airforce to give that service a total of $1,550-million for new planes next year, and $383,289,211 for the navy, raising the sea forces to $1,033,289,211 for the same purpose.

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson told a news conference at the Pentagon he had asked the joint chiefs of staff to reexamine the plane buying figures for all services.

He said he hopes for an answer from them by next week when he will testify before a senate appropriations subcommittee.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HERE are a few stories I picked up on my recent visit to the Ozarks: An arthritic mountaineer came into a small and totally unexpected inheritance and decided to buy a second-hand jalopy to ease the burden of his declining years. The cheapest he could find in all Missouri was $135, but the dealer reminded him, "You get five good tires thrown in free: they haven't gone more'n 30,000 miles." "Forget the tires," said the mountaineer, "I don't want any on my car. When I'm riding I want to know it."

The same character had his own system for telling the hour. A neighbor drove past the shack and called out, "Know what time it is, Jonathan?" The mountaineer studied the shadow on his porch, shifted the terbacyc in his cheek, and answered, "Bout four and one-half planks till supper time."

An Eastern visitor was brought to admire the paintings of Vrbenia Abernathy, the Grandma Moses of the Ozarks. "What an original talent!" gushed the Eastern lady. "How I wish I could take those glorious colors home with me!" "You're going to get your wish," cackled Verbenia happily. "You're hitting on my palette."

White House Denies Idea Flying Saucers Are War Weapons

KEY WEST, FLA. (AP) — The White House Tuesday pooh-poohed the idea of the existence of "flying saucers" as a secret weapon of this or any other country.

President Truman's press secretary, Charles G. Ross, said neither the President nor any of his staff has any knowledge whatsoever of the mysterious flying objects reported from time to time.

"Do you think it likely that there would be any secret weapon project underway without the President knowing about it?" Ross was asked at a news conference.

Real Aircraft

"I think it extremely unlikely," he said.

Interest was revived Monday when David Lawrence's weekly magazine, "United States News and World Report" declared the "flying saucers" exist. The magazine said they are real aircraft of revolutionary design developed in the United States.

Special Study

"The airforce in December, 1947, set up a special project to investigate all rumors and reports as to flying saucers," Ross said. Gen. Robert Landry told him, "The project was carried on until last August when a report was made to the effect there was nothing to the flying saucer reports."

L. Noble Robinson, managing editor of U.S. News and World Report, issued a statement standing firm in the magazine's report, despite official denials.

"Although we are not at liberty to identify our sources by name," he said, "we can say that we obtained the information from thoroughly competent technicians, men who are in a position to know the facts."

Book Drive to Start Monday

A faculty-wide drive for funds for the Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe, Inc., book program will begin Monday, Prof. Robert Michelsen of the SUI school of religion said Tuesday.

Michelsen, who is chairman of the public affairs committee of the SUI chapter of the American Association of University Professors, which is sponsoring the drive here, said a goal of $2,000 has been set for the faculty and administrative staff members.

Each faculty member and administrative staff member has been asked to contribute $2 to the drive. Anyone who contributes $10 or more may designate the type of books that CARE will send libraries overseas.

The number of volumes destroyed in the recent war is staggering. Even the basic material rehabilitation of devastated communities rests upon a foundation of knowledge, to say nothing of cultural, intellectual and spiritual rehabilitation necessary to the survival of civilization," Michelsen said.

Michelsen said that SUI students also may donate money to the drive. Students who wish to donate should send their money to the Care Book Program, 20 Broad street, New York 5, N.Y., or contact Michelsen.

Delivery of all CARE books will be made at publishers' list prices, with no extra charge for transportation costs, Michelsen explained.

Questions concerning the SUI drive may be directed to Michelsen or any one of the committee members. The committee members include Instructor Allen Vestal of the SUI college of law, Prof. Fred Schueler of the SUI college of pharmacy, and Prof. Arthur Ro-

Professor Attending Chicago Conference

Prof. E.B. Kurtz, head of the SUI electrical engineering department, left Tuesday afternoon to attend the Midwest Power conference today, Thursday and Friday in the Sherman hotel in Chicago.

The annual three-day conference is sponsored by the Illinois Institute of Technology at Chicago in cooperation with nine other midwestern engineering colleges including the SUI college of engineering — and several national engineering societies.

Kurtz is official conference representative for the SUI engineering college. He will preside over the session on "System Planning and Design" scheduled for this afternoon.

Two former SUI engineers will give reports at the conference. Erich Farber, a student here from 1941 to 1945, will report on a study in "Steam Separation in Boilers." A. A. Kalinske, a former SUI engineering faculty member, will read a paper on "Hot Process Softeners and De-aerators."

Bridges Convicted of Perjury, Lawyers Cited for Contempt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—CIO Longshore Boss Harry Bridges, stormy petrel of more than two decades on the west coast waterfront, was convicted Tuesday of lying when he said, at his 1945 naturalization hearing, that he never was a Communist.

"Frameup," immediately snorted the hawk-nosed labor leader who previously had beaten two federal efforts to deport him as a Communist.

Now the Australian-born Bridges, key mover in several strikes which have paralyzed coast ports, faced a possible order to deport him. Actual deportation, however, depends on whether Australia would accept him.

He will be sentenced next Monday. Seven years, a $15,000 fine and cancellation of citizenship are possibilities.

Two other top men in the longshore union were convicted with Bridges. They were Henry Schmidt, international representative, and J.R. Robertson, first vice-president.

The two were witnesses for Bridges at his 1945 citizenship hearing, at which he swore he wasn't a Communist. They were convicted of conspiracy to aid and abet perjury, and to obstruct operations of the naturalization department. Each is subject to the same prison term and fine that applies to Bridges.

Later Federal Judge George B. Harris called the two defense attorneys before him. He sentenced both lawyers to prison terms for contempt. Vincent Hallinan got six months, and his junior colleague, James MacInnis, three months. Both said they would appeal. (See picture, page 5)

U.S. Bar President To Speak Monday In Senate Chamber

His topic will be "The Position of the Lawyer in a Complex Society."

Gallagher will address SUI law students, faculty and lawyers in the Senate chamber of old Capitol at 7:30 p.m.

Gallagher, who now is an attorney in New York City, is the first SUI graduate to be elected president of the national bar association. He graduated from the SUI college of law with the class of 1916.

While in law school here, he was one of the editors of the Iowa Law Review and a member of the Order of Coif, honorary law society.

No Cutting Allowed As Vacation Starts; Transportation Set

One semester hour of academic credit will be added to the total number of semester hours required for graduation for every class cut by an undergraduate. The rule does not apply to graduate students.

Travel Facilities

The Union Bus depot had made arrangements for special buses to run this afternoon to take care of the expected rush. The Rock Island railroad has scheduled a special student train to run from Grinnell to Chicago. The train will arrive in Iowa City at 2:50 p.m.

The Cedar Rapids and Iowa City railway has also scheduled additional coaches to operate this afternoon to take care of students traveling to Cedar Rapids.

Libraries Remain Open

Prof. Earl Harper, director of the Iowa Union, said the union would be closed at 10:30 p.m. tonight and will reopen Sunday at 2 p.m.

The recreation facilities of the fieldhouse will be available to students during Easter vacation, according to Eric Wilson, sports information director.

Macbride and Reserve libraries will be open until 5 p.m. today. Thursday and Friday, the libraries will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Saturday, from 9 a.m. to noon. The libraries will be closed all day Easter.

McCarthy's Documents Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating charges of Reds in the state department told Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) Tuesday they want the documents he says he has to back up his charges.

McCarthy quickly replied that he would give them any information he considered pertinent, but none that would help the state department locate the sources of his information. The senator explained he doesn't want any of his informants to lose their jobs.

Otherwise, he told the investigating group headed by Sen. Millard Tydings (D-Md.), "Your committee will be supplied with any material which I consider of value in aiding you to perform the task assigned to you by the senate."

Tydings promptly wrote McCarthy a second letter asking him to turn over to the committee by noon today whatever information he is willing to furnish. "We do not desire to know any of your sources unless you feel you can give them to us," he assured McCarthy.

The senate foreign relations committee named a subcommittee to check McCarthy's charges that the state department is infested with Communists and that Owen Lattimore, an adviser on far eastern matters, is the top Soviet agent.

The persons McCarthy has accused publicly of having Communist leanings have denounced his charges categorically. Lattimore, who called the accusations plain lies, is to appear before the subcommittee Thursday.

Pearlman Wins $25 In Hancher Contest

Gilbert Pearlman, A3, Des Moines, won the Hancher oratorical contest Tuesday night in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher awarded Pearlman a $25 check for first prize. William Skafte, A1, Dubuque won second place honors.

Pearlman will represent SUI in the Northern Oratorical League contest which will be in the Senate chamber of Old Capitol May 5.

Eads, Ebert Named Quad, South Quad Student Councilmen

William Eads, A3, Ida Grove, and William Ebert, A2, Mt. Pleasant, have been named student council representatives for the South Quadrangle and Quadrangle dormitories, respectively.

Douglas Freyer, C3, Onawa, South Quadrangle council secretary, said Eads was elected by the residents of South Quad.

Eads was a candidate for delegate-at-large on the student council in the 1949 election.

He said he would support a cooperative book store and represent the interest of the South Quadrangle on the council.

Ebert was a candidate for the delegate-at-large posts on student council in the recent all-campus elections. He came in fourth in the balloting for the men's position.

Ebert advocates promotion of good relations with the citizens of Iowa through student council activities. He also said the council should stop the "fighting" among campus groups in order to promote more student projects such as Panacea, the campus musical comedy.

Doctors Check Ellis On Judge's Orders

DES MOINES (AP)—Two Des Moines psychiatrists Tuesday examined Tommy Ellis, 17, charged with the hunting knife slaying of an 85-year-old widow.

Dr. Frank A. Ely and Dr. Paul T. Cash talked with the youth for about three hours in Dr. Ely's office. They are to report their findings to District Judge Loy Ladd.

The judge appointed them to examine the youth after his attorneys requested a sanity trial. Attorneys Verne Lawyer and James McDowell contend Tommy is insane and incompetent to go to trial on the murder charge.

Tommy, an AWOL soldier from Fort Riley, Kan., is charged with stabbing Mrs. Flora A. Bryan after robbing her of $5 in her small home here Feb. 4.

Smith is five feet, six inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, and has light brown hair and brown eyes, police said. He was reported last seen Sunday wearing a red plaid jacket, work shoes and blue jeans.

Smith is a witness to be determined by you."

Jury Deliberates Twelve Hours, Gives Benny Clear Verdict

Robert E. Bednasek was declared "not guilty" of the strangulation death of Margaret Anne Jackson.

The verdict was returned at 9:55 a.m. today. The jury was out 22 hours and 55 minutes and deliberated 12 hours and five minutes.

When the verdict was announced, the former SUI student, waved to friends in the courthouse and cried out.

Defense Attys. Clair Hamilton, William Bartley and Bednasek shook the hands of the 12 jurors who gave Bednasek a not guilty verdict.

Bednasek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bednasek of Cedar Rapids, who had sat through the long, tedious trial in the courtroom, were not present when the verdict was returned.

Mr. Bednasek, 67-year-old retired Quaker Oats employee, has been ill in Cedar Rapids during the past two days.

Bednasek went to sleep in his cell when the jury retired, and was roused from a sound sleep this morning when Sheriff Albert (Pat) Murphy brought him his breakfast.

Sheriff Albert (Pat) Murphy brought him his breakfast.

Murphy said the youth appeared "quite confident" when he awoke and resumed the vigil to learn his fate.

The jury filed into the courtroom at 9:24 and the foreman handed the verdict to the court clerk, who in turn gave it to Judge James P. Gaffney.

Judge Gaffney read the verdict, returned it to the clerk, and Jury Foreman Robert Bothell then intoned the verdict.

The crowd, which had jammed the tiny courtroom, burst into spontaneous applause.

As Bednasek walked from the courtroom Hamilton threw his arm around the youth. They went to the lawyer's office behind the courtroom.

As he walked from the room, the former psychology student clapped a fraternity brother on the back and said, "You've been a real friend."

Hamilton said, "I'm happy I never lost faith in this boy."

"It was settled in the American way and we have to accept it."

Prosecutor Edward Rate said, "The first ballot showed seven jurors favored acquittal and five were opposed, Rate added.

Judge James P. Gaffney gave the case to the jury at 10:02 a.m., after explaining points of law involved in the case.

Bednasek was confident and smiling in his jail cell as he waited to hear his fate. He greeted several visitors, many of them fraternity brothers, and said he was "feeling fine" and was confident he would be acquitted.

The defendant's mother, Mrs. Orla Bednasek, of Cedar Rapids, spent Tuesday evening in the office of a defense attorney. Emil Bednasek, 67-year-old father of the youth, returned to Cedar Rapids because of illness.

The jury panel recessed at noon for an hour and half. At 6:30 p.m., the jury went to supper and was out for another hour and a half.

Locked Courthouse

When the jury returned from supper, the courthouse was cleared of all persons except the jury and the jury bailiff, and the courthouse was locked.

The jurors weighed two sharply conflicting versions of the pretty sorority girl's death in a rooming-house at 411 E. Washington street.

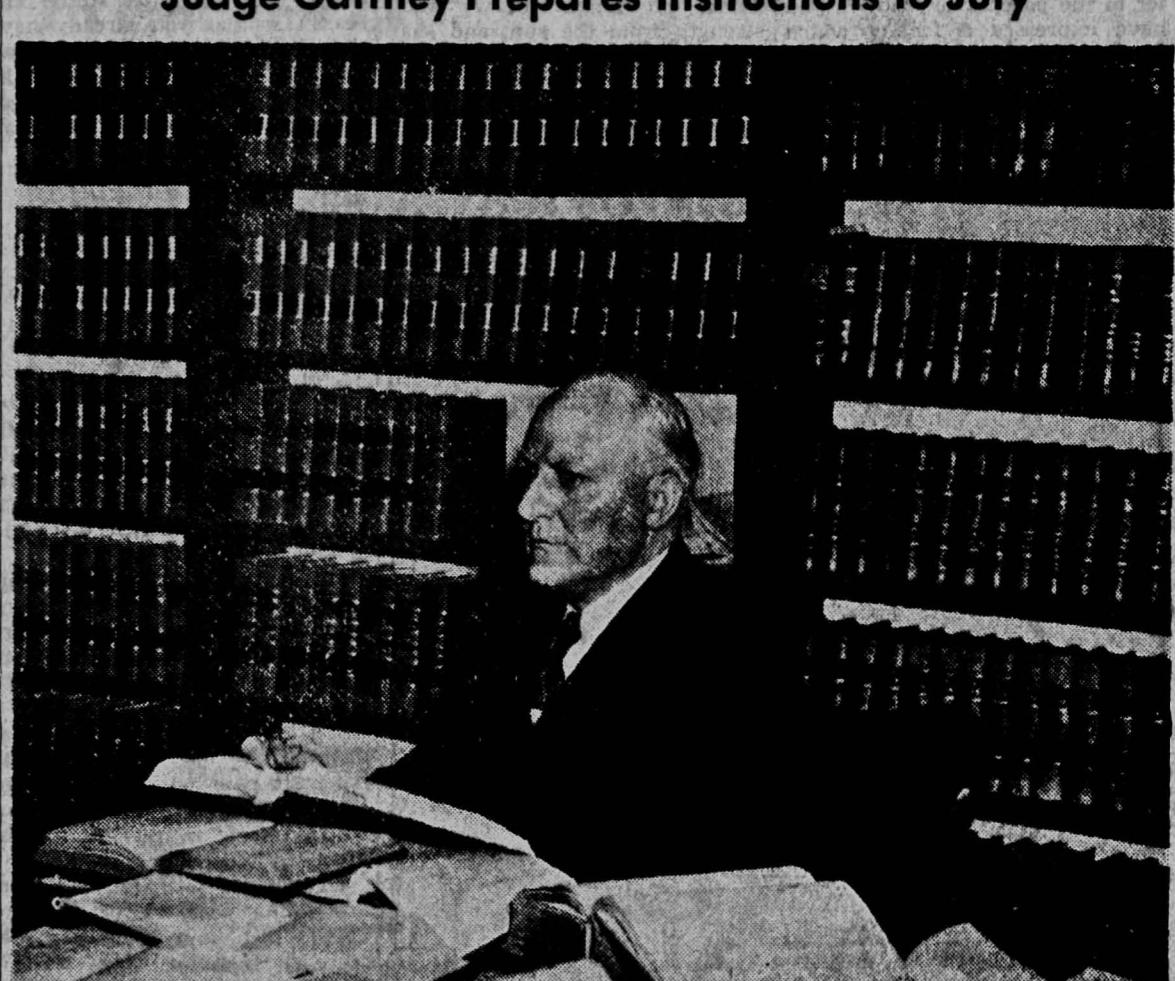

The prosecutors cast Bednasek in the role of "a cold-blooded killer" and said he strangled the girl in a fit of jealousy when she said she didn't love him.

In a 29-page report, Judge Gaffney listed the various degrees of murder.

Judge Gaffney Prepares Instructions to Jury

Unemployment Solution Needed —

The two largest labor organizations in the nation, the CIO and the American Federation of Labor, are becoming alarmed, and rightly so, at the rising rate of unemployment.

CIO President Philip Murray last week reported that the unemployment figure is progressing rapidly toward what he considers the danger mark of 5-million.

At present, according to census bureau figures for January and February, there are about four and a half million unemployed workers — 2 million more than for corresponding months of 1947 and 1948.

The bureau says that many persons are temporarily out of work during these months because of occupational shut-downs — but the explanation does not seem to cover the proportion all figures for other years.

Murray blames the increasing use of machinery instead of manpower for the increase in unemployment — and his theory follows economic principles of supply and demand but to get the truth of the situation one must remember that there are still as many workers employed today as in previous years.

Beware, Designers Have Designs —

Maybe we're being old school conservatives in this issue, but we're going to stick to our guns, by God, and refuse to wear the latest designs in men's clothing.

If you haven't been alerted to the situation, the clothes stylists are trying to change man's way of dressing — his way of life. They've invaded the sacred sanctuary, our closet. We prefer mothballs any day.

Designers want to redress that dull, drab cad, the American male — re-do him in "color from head to toe." Here are just a few innovations they plan this year: caps, tams, berets and bucket hats all in pulsating plaids and patterns, and buckskin shoes in subtle shades from fuchsia to taupe.

These designers aren't satisfied with the profitable emerald pastures they've found in changing women's fashions yearly. Now they want to make annual alterations and profits in men's clothing.

They've got the modern women jumping through their style hoop — cutting off attractive locks, changing hemlines, hiding waistlines and even wearing "Studebaker" stockings with seams in front and back. Now designers are after the men.

For years the male has been too comfortable and too tight with his clothing expenses. Shirt and slack styles have been so lax that the same ones can be worn for several years — even until they're worn out. So the manufacturers push jobs available is remaining constant while the number of workers is increasing rapidly. Also, labor is getting more and more expensive.

This situation is recognized by the AF of L which recently said their "Labor's Monthly Survey" that at present there is no prospect that business activity will increase enough in 1950 to restore "full employment."

The AF of L is pushing a movement to establish "Full Employment Committees" throughout the country to solve the unemployment problem at local levels, an effort to increase the number available jobs.

Their idea is good, but the big problem is in how to create jobs. That usually takes much capital — and capital is getting equally as scarce as jobs.

Regardless of how the problem is approached or who approaches it, it should be considered at once and a constructive manner. We certainly can't afford to return to the days of huge outpouring of government funds for man-made work and relief.

If it isn't tackled sooner, the unemployment question will certainly be, and should be, a major issue in the next November elections.

The main difficulty is that the number of

Love by Long Distance —

pastel shirts with French cuffs and bold look collars, and special cut slacks and even short pants.

So far, the pushing has done little good. We've been quite indifferent to sack-style European trousers, paid only a little attention to pastel shirts and ignored the His and Her matched sports wear and beach outfits.

Men still stick to hats that will keep sun or rain off and be warm in winter and cool in summer — no ostrich plumes, nets or fruit salads dangling over a man's face after a drizzle. But, if the designers get men to wearing plaid berets — well, pheasant feathers could follow.

The designers are out to get us and they've all kinds of very offensive weapons in mind. We don't mind a little color in the wardrobe, most men like loud sport shirts and ties, but going too far with this will just lead to style serfdom.

Despite Georgeous George's appeal, we like our hair short and pants long and hats practical and shoes durable and comfortable.

We prefer our old cigarette ash grey smoking jacket to the latest cerise lounging robes from Paris or Hollywood. Maybe that's being old school conservative, but we'll just never carry our wallets by a shoulder strap or go for raised cufflinks.

So let's keep our toes inside our shoes and not go wearing our heads in any off-the-shoulder fashion, and maybe we can keep men's clothing comfortable, practical and even a little bit colorful and inexpensive.

Interpreting the News —

Dear Edward: You Do Not Fear Alone

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

This was going to be a piece about Bernard Baruch's idea for a "general staff for peace."

He wants a reorganization of the National Security Council along lines which he has advocated for some time, with the addition of a program of full time devotion to "peace waging."

But another matter fundamental to "peace waging" has come up.

Edward Stephens, a fourth grader at an East 14th street school in Manhattan, has written a letter to the school's parents association. He wants to know if, in the light of the hydrogen bomb and all the things people are saying about the state of the world, it is really worthwhile to go on studying.

Why plan for the future, he asks, if bombing like that is to come from "some selfish people who think only of themselves and not of anything that really matters?"

This is an open letter for him.

Dear Edward:
You are young, but in your letter to the parents' association you have expressed a feeling which has weighed heavily on the hearts and minds of men for several years. Having fought two wars in this century to achieve freedom from the fear of aggression, and having won these wars on the battlefields only to lose them at the conference tables, they find little has been achieved.

So, Edward, you are not alone in your fears.

But man is not giving up and you mustn't either. In spite of their conflicts with each other, all the nations including Russia are still paying their money for the support of the United Nations, and sending men there to study the possible roads to peace.

Bernard Baruch was born 70 years before you were, and one might think he had seen enough failure to make him give up. But he is still working and studying, and producing ideas for peace. Thousands of men of every nationality are doing the same. This is bound to include many Russians.

I can't believe that the force which put our universe together would permit the destruction of this very wonderful and mysterious world in which we live. Shall the trees and the flowers and the wheat no longer draw their strength from the sun, and shall not animals and man continue the intricate processes by which this food is turned into human energy and human thought?

Figures in Sino-Soviet Oil Pact

SINKIANG PROVINCE, described by far eastern affairs experts as "the time bomb of inner Asia," now takes on a new significance following the signing of a 30-year Communists China-Soviet pact of exploitation of oil and nonferrous metals. Capital, control and profits, the Peiping radio admitted, will be shared commonly. The importance of Sinkiang, in terms of politics, lies (as map shows) in its strategic position in the heart of Asia where the borders of China, Tibet, Russia, India and Afghanistan meet.

No Deaths Listed In Iowa Industries' February Activities

DES MOINES (AP) — Death took a holiday in Iowa industrial activity during February, the State Bureau of Labor reported Tuesday. There were no deaths that month, compared with three in January.

But amputations increased from six in January to 16 in February. Lost time accidents in February totaled 536, a gain of 2.9 percent over the previous month.

The bureau explained that a sharp increase in lost time accidents in February compared with the same month last year means little. This is because of the bureau's efforts in recent months toward more complete reporting.

Of the 536 mishaps in February of this year, 466 of them involved men, and 70 women; 359 were in manufacturing and 17 in non-manufacturing industry; 159 were in iron, steel and their products plants; 151 were in food and kindred products plants; the next highest total was 49 in the wholesale and retail trade division.

A Profound Observation

Brannan Attacks 'Coalition'

ST. PAUL (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan said Tuesday that a "strange coalition" of big business and big farming is trying to undermine the nation's grain storage programs and cripple farm cooperatives.

In a speech prepared for delivery before Minnesota farmer committeemen of the production and marketing administration, Brannan said the coalition "stands exposed" as a result of arguments over the administration's farm program recommendations.

Brannan's prepared text contained heated attacks on the "coalition" and on the national leadership of American Farm Bureau Federation which the secretary deleted from his actual speech.

In a speech prepared for delivery before Minnesota farmer committeemen of the production and marketing administration, Brannan said the coalition "stands exposed" as a result of arguments over the administration's farm program recommendations.

Brannan claimed the farm bureau is helping "steak the cards" against the family-type farm.

"The national leadership of the farm bureau advocates a 'sliding scale' of lower farm prices that would squeeze out the family-farmer not the big industrial producer with ample cash reserves," he said.

Brannan said arguments over

U-High Defends Title Today

Drahn Goes Route, Grants Three Hits

CONWAY, ARK. — Arkansas State Teachers college evened a two game series with the Iowa Hawkeyes here Tuesday afternoon with a 1-0 decision.

The two teams battled to a scoreless deadlock in the first five innings before Arkansas State Teachers broke the stalemate in the bottom of the sixth with the game winning run.

Iowa, which played errorless ball in the season opener and committed one miscue Monday, was charged with three errors afied Tuesday to contribute to the Arkansas victory.

Dizzy Dean

Couldn't Beat Yanks, Joins Team

NEW YORK (AP) — "I never could beat them Yankees, so I joined them."

Old Dizzy Dean was talking. The onetime pitching great of the St. Louis Cardinals had signed to telecast the Yankees' baseball games this summer and now he was meeting the press.

Dizzy said he was 39 and he looked very fit indeed. A little portlier than when he pitched and his hair was gray.

Signs Contract

He signed a make believe contract for the benefit of photographers and then returned to the reporters with a grin.

"I wasn't no holdout this time."

Earlier Dean had been talking with reporter about his annual salary disputes with the Cards when he used to pitch for them.

No figures were announced but Diz mentioned several weeks ago in Texas that he was going to get $20,000 for his Yankee programs.

He's going to do a daily program before and after Yankee home games and every other day he's going to do the commentary on the play by play.

Only Diz calls it "commutatin."

No Change

He has no intention of changing his way of speaking which proved so successful in 11 years of radio and TV work in St. Louis.

Can't Count Cards Out of Title Chase

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. (AP) — As long as Stan Musial is in his prime, the St. Louis Cardinals cannot be counted out of any pennant race.

However, Rookie Steve Bilko's failure to fill the bill at first base and the absence of a stout right-handed hitting outfielder will hurt the Redbirds despite the presence of the National league's best pitching staff.

Bilko, the overstuffed slugger from Rochester may yet come through. But off his work thus far, both at bat and in the field, the lumbering 240-pound giant needs a lot more minor league breeding and a lot less home feeding. The 22-year-old, who clouted 34 home runs at Rochester, collected only 10 hits in his first 99 times at bat. He has been slow and awkward around the bag.

Only a back operation, which still leaves him weak, keeps Nipper Jones from daily play at first.

State Champions Favored in Meet

By OZZIE JENSEN

The Eastern Iowa Hawkeye indoor track meet gets under way today at the fieldhouse with U-high's state Class B champions rated as the favorites to retain their conference championship.

"If Mt. Vernon's rights can give us a lot of trouble," Dr. M.F. Carpenter, U-high coach said Tuesday. "They have strength, I think Mt. Vernon was a bit over-awed in Saturday's state championship meet."

Close Race

Carpenter expects a repeat of last year's close high hurdle race between U-high's Karl Harshbarger and Mt. Vernon's Kenny. He also said that the Blue Hawks' Ronald Colden will be pressed to defend his 50-yard dash crown.

He indicated that he hopes to break some records in today's meet. The mile medley team, which set a new state record Saturday, can beat the conference mark, he said, but may be hampered by lack of competition.

Bruce Nolf and Curt Miller have run under the record in the quarter-mile run this year, Carpenter added. And Bob Ballantine has run under his own record this year.

Harshbarger, U-high's track captain, turned in quite a feat Saturday. First he won honors in six divisions to help his school take first place in the Iowa High School Forensic league Class B finals.

Then he showed up for his track meet and aided U-high's victory with his efforts in the broad jump and the half-mile relay.

When his achievements Saturday were mentioned, Harshbarger replied, "Well, sometimes you're lucky to know. No kidding, we were lucky in this state meet—one point. So many things could have happened."

Last summer Dr. Carpenter decided he had the school's first championship team in the making. He was right. The Blue Hawks won the state indoor Class B track title in the SUI fieldhouse Saturday. They dethroned the defending champions, Nevada, 34-33.

"This was the first time I ever thought we could win," Carpenter said Monday. "I thought if it could be won with 35 points we could manage it."

Relay Strength

Carpenter added that he and the team talked about winning the state title as long ago as last summer and decided that if they relied primarily on relay strength they might win.

He said his present team is the best he has ever coached, but hastened to add that he has no outstanding performer.

"We have a good competitor in every event except the pole vault and the high jump, but no outstanding individuals," Carpenter declared.

The fieldhouse was a madhouse Monday as the U-high boys worked out.

At the same time City high's track team was practicing, the Iowa football squad ran through spring drills and the Scottish Highlanders beat their drums till the rafters shook.

Above the din Carpenter shouted that the Blue Hawks, with on victory under their belts, have at least five more meets on their schedule.

After the conference indoor meet there are dual meets with Muscatine and West Liberty, the conference outdoor meet early in May and the state outdoor meet in May. He hopes to schedule more if possible.

No Arm Trouble For This Pitcher

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A mechanical pitcher that does batting-practice duty for Wake Forest pitched an 8-0 victory for the Deacons over North Carolina State college Tuesday in an exhibition baseball game.

While letting the Wolfpack down with three hits, the iron-armed monster, which did the hurling for both sides, gave its own teammates 11 hits, including three home runs.

The game was run off as an otherwise regulation affair, with umpires on hand to make the calls on the machine pitcher. Each team stationed a hurler near the device to do the fielding. About 600 fans turned out for the show.

The mechanical hurler was charged with seven walks — two for the Deacons and five for the Wolfpack — and one wild pitch. It struck out one State player.

Armbruster Thinks Iowa Won

By OZZIE JENSEN

Iowa Swimming Coach Dave Armbruster was quite outspoken today in declaring that officials in the NAU swimming meet last week cost the Hawkeye 300-yard medley relay team a victory which they had apparently won.

Armbruster, in a telegram sent to The Daily Iowan after the meet Saturday night, declared, "The judges gave us third place. Our boys felt very badly about it because they really had won it."

Outside Lane

"They swam in an outside lane to the Daily Iowan after the meet Saturday night, declared, "The judges gave us third place. Our boys felt very badly about it because they really had won it."

Iowa officially was given third place behind the New Haven Swim club and Brighton - Drake, two teams composed of former college stars.

"Duane Draves, lead-off, finished close up. Then Bowen Stassforth swam a great 100 yards to finish two body lengths ahead of the field. Rusty Garst held the lead and was at least a yard in front."

Armbuster, in a telegram sent to The Daily Iowan after the meet Saturday night, declared, "The judges gave us third place. Our boys felt very badly about it because they really had won it."

Swimmers

To the amazement of coaches and spectators, Iowa was placed third. Armbruster said that non-partisan spectators came down from the stands to state that "Iowa was robbed" and that other coaches also protested.

The winning time was given as 2:51.6, second place time was 2:51.8, and third was also 2:51.8.

Armbuster unofficially timed his team in 2:51.2.

Settled Dispute

The Giants' center fielder already has settled one dispute this spring. The Pittsburgh Pirates thought their young outfield rookie, Ted Beard, could scoot, but Thompson polished him off by a good 10 yards, going away, in a 75-yard test here the other day.

Asked if he would like to try his luck with Jethroe, Boston's high-priced Negro outfielder, the Glasgow-born Thompson grinned broadly and said:

"Sure, why not? I hear that he's a real track man and probably would beat me, but I'd like to find out."

Fastest Man

"That's the first thing that comes up in every locker room bull session — who's the fastest man in baseball? Somebody says one player is, and another picks his man, and the argument goes on for hours. Why shouldn't it be settled every season?"

The main reason is, of course, that some managers are wary about letting their speedsters compete in such match races, fearing they say that they might pull a muscle or strain a tendon, or something, and be lost to the club for a time.

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The Harlem Globetrotters clowned and toyed their way to a 69-60 victory over the College All-Americans Tuesday night before 12,000 Coliseum fans. It was the second victory in three games for the all-Negro outfit in their 17-game cross-country exhibition tour.

The appointment was announced by President William E. Morgan of Colorado A & M, member of the Skyline Six conference, and President Robert Stearns of Colorado A & M.

Babies'll Race, Faculty To Puff at SUI Carnival

SUI's faculty and the administration staff will organize teams of their own members for a basketball game on the fieldhouse court as part of a special entertainment period at the all-campus carnival, April 15.

George McBurney, L1, Council Bluffs, Tuesday said babies of university married students and faculty members will compete in another event for prizes in a crawl race.

Rules for booths at the carnival were announced at a meeting of booth chairmen Tuesday, Chuck Thott, A4, co-chairman of the carnival organization committee said.

Clean - Up Rule

Booth construction may start at 10 a.m. April 15, but must be completed by 5:30 p.m. of the same day. Doors will open at 7 p.m. and booths will open at 7:30 p.m.

All booths must close during the main entertainment events that begin at 8 p.m., Thott said.

Organizations are responsible, he said, for clearing rubbish and taking their booths down after the carnival. Violators of the clean-up rule will be fined $10 and will not be admitted to take part in next year's carnival.

All booth and concession chairmen should consult Waldo Geiger, auditor of student organizations, in the business office, University Hall, for information on the entertainment tax.

Two-Bit Admission

Twenty-five cents will be charged for general admission to the carnival, Thott said. Each entertainment booth also will have its own admission price.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, has been added to the list of 48 organizations which will participate in the carnival.

The Hawkeye Man and Woman of the Year awards and the Tailfeather award will be made at the carnival.

The carnival is sponsored by Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa, SUI senior women's and men's honorary societies.

CHANGE THEIR TUNE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Chinese Reds, who have been admitting famine conditions in many parts of China, changed their tune Thursday and declared their regime had a surplus of 4.5-million tons of grain.

Chemical Engineers Plan Industry Tour

SUI chemical engineers are making their 31st annual spring inspection tour this week, visiting industrial plants near St. Louis.

The trip was scheduled for Sunday through Thursday.

Tour directors, Profs. Hubert L. Olin and J.O. Osborne, department of chemical engineering, will accompany 40 student engineers on the trip. The group will travel in a chartered bus and pay all the costs of the trip.

Plants to be visited on the trip are the Owens - Illinois Glass company and the Alton Box Board company at Alton, Ill.; the Missouri Portland Cement company, north of St. Louis, and Shell Oil company at Wood River, Ill.

Aluminum Ore company plant and the Monsanto Chemical company at East St. Louis, Ill., and the Coal - to - oil demonstration plant operated by the Missouri Bureau of Mines at Louisiana, Mo.

Local Woman Sues Driver for $25,000

Mrs. Tillie Johnson, 309 S. Dubuque street, who was injured while crossing a street last September, Tuesday filed a petition in district court suing Francis H. Creps, Hartwick, for $25,104.75.

Mrs. Johnson charged Creps was driving a car which struck her as she was walking across the intersection of Clinton and Burlington streets Sept. 18, 1949, at 11:30 p.m.

The plaintiff said she suffered a fractured neck vertebra, a broken left leg below the knee and had cuts and bruises about the upper part of her body.

In her petition, Mrs. Johnson asked for a trial by jury.

Meat CaseAppealed To Iowa High Court

The $200 judgment awarded Donald R. Ferree, L3, Dubuque, for tongue injuries from a piece of wire, allegedly imbedded in canned meat he ate in March, 1949, has been appealed to the Iowa supreme court.

Notice of the appeal was filed Monday in district court by the Libby, McNeill & Libby canning company and Ralph Wescott, Iowa City grocer.

The law student, who originally sued for $2,500, was granted $200 damages by a jury in district court last March 4.

Bridges Kissed After Conviction

HARRY BRIDGES GETS WIFELY KISS Tuesday after a federal court jury in San Francisco convicted him of perjury. The west coast CIO longshore leader was accused of swearing falsely that he was not a Communist in his citizenship hearing in 1945. Two co-defendants, J. R. Roberson and Henry Schmidt, also were convicted.

Hydraulics Development Vital: French Expert

Pierre Danel, prominent French hydraulics engineer, said Tuesday

hydraulics research and development is of ever-increasing importance to Europe.

Danel, who spoke to the SUI mechanical hydraulics seminar Monday evening on "Action of Waves on Breakwater," explained this remark by saying France, with an acute shortage of coal, had exploited only about one-third of its hydro-electric potential.

The French engineer's Monday lecture was supplemented by a movie made by the Neurpic hydraulic laboratory of Grenoble, France, which Danel represents.

The hydraulics expert was visiting the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research in Iowa City.

Neurpic is the largest hydraulic organization in Europe. With 80 professional engineers and a total staff of 350, it does research work for almost all European countries, Danel said.

The Neurpic Hydraulics laboratory also has an extensive research program in other parts of the world, Danel said. He cited the subsidiary laboratories in Portugal and in Africa.

Danel is no stranger to this country. This is his ninth trip to the United States. It is the fourth time he has consulted with the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, which he commended very highly as outstanding in its field.

Prof. Hunter Rouse, director of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, has visited Danel at the Neurpic laboratory in Grenoble.

Rouse called Danel "one of the key figures in the Neurpic organization, and a brilliant engineer."

Danel expects to spend about two weeks more in this country before returning to France. He left Tuesday night for Denver to visit the hydraulic laboratory there.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Union board fine arts committee.

Mary Louise Anneberg, A3, Carroll, chairman of the committee said the 10 watercolors and 25 oils by contemporary artists are on a temporary loan from the Davenport gallery.

The paintings include "The Getaway" and "Dull Evening" by Walt Louderback, "Self Portrait" by Henry Mattson, "Matador" by Fletcher Martin and "Merry-round" by Aaron Bohrod.

City High Coach Names Golf Team, Meet Planned

The team includes Jim Galihier, Gail Greene, Ronnie Oathout, Pete Stark, Richard Boyer, Phil Ware, Ronnie Cochran, Jerry Bush, Russel Cress, Jim Africa, Gene Worton, Don Luben, Jay Buchele, Bill Grimm, Vernon Nerad and Don Reese.

The 16-man team will meet high school teams from Davenport, Franklin and Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, Fairfield, St. Ambrose of Davenport, and Dubuque at Finkbine field April 15, Austermiller said.

House Armed Forces Leader Seeks More Fighting Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Carl Vinson of the armed services committee asked the house Tuesday for $583,289,211 extra for fighting planes because, he said, the Russians are building toward an atomic "Pearl Harbor."

At the same time the heads of the nation's defense forces started a review of their needs and their budget requests, to determine whether they shall make such a plea of their own.

Vinson, a veteran of 36 years in the military legislation field, told his colleagues in a formal defense budget for the year beginning July 1 "will wither American air power on the vine."

Minimum Sum

The Georgia Democrat added that the sum he asked is the minimum necessary for an up-to-date 48-group airforce and an effective air arm in the navy.

"The atomic blitz of tomorrow is a real, a genuine possibility," he said, and went on:

"It is universally known today that Russia is building the largest airforce in the world. What are they building it for? They are building it for use whenever their carefully timed Pearl Harbor day comes around."

$200 - Million for Airforce

He proposed $200 - million for the airforce to give that service a total of $1,550-million for new planes next year, and $383,289,211 for the navy, raising the sea forces to $1,033,289,211 for the same purpose.

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson told a news conference at the Pentagon he had asked the joint chiefs of staff to reexamine the plane buying figures for all services.

He said he hopes for an answer from them by next week when he will testify before a senate appropriations subcommittee.

Need Air West Point, Says Major Parsons

The airforce needs more officers, trained in an airforce school similar to West Point Military Academy and Annapolis Naval Academy, Maj. Irvin Parsons, professor of air science and tactics at SUI, said Tuesday.

Parsons made the statement in referring to a proposal for the founding of an airforce academy, a "West Point of the Air."

Davenport's municipal airport, near Mt. Joy, is one of about 200 sites being considered for the school.

Two engineers and one real estate expert, all from the Missouri river division's engineers' office in Omaha, Neb., made a two-day inspection of the Iowa location March 22 and 23.

About 1,000 additional airforce officers will be needed for the 1950 fiscal year, Parsons said.

Parsons said the two service academies furnish only about one-third of the necessary number.

The proposed "West Point of the Air" will handle about 2,500 cadets, he said.

CITY MANAGER CHOSEN
DES MOINES (AP) — P.F. Hopkins, an engineer and former state board of control member, has been chosen as temporary city manager for Des Moines.

President Truman's press secretary, Charles G. Ross, said neither the President nor any of his staff has any knowledge whatsoever of the mysterious flying objects reported from time to time.

"Do you think it likely that there would be any secret weapon project underway without the President knowing about it?" Ross was asked at a news conference

Real Aircraft
"I think it extremely unlikely," he said.

Interest was revived Monday when David Lawrence's weekly magazine, "United States News and World Report" declared the "flying saucers" exist. The magazine said they are real aircraft of revolutionary design developed in the United States.

The airforce in December, 1947, set up a special project to investigate all rumors and reports as to flying saucers," Ross said. Gen. Robert Landry told him, "The project was carried on until last August when a report was made to the effect there was nothing to the flying saucer reports.

L. Noble Robinson, managing editor of U.S. News and World Report, issued a statement standing firm in the magazine's report, despite official denials.

"Although we are not at liberty to identify our sources by name," he said, "we can say that we obtained the information from thoroughly competent technicians, men who are in a position to know the facts."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HERE are a few stories I picked up on my recent visit to the Ozarks: An arthritic mountaineer came into a small and totally unexpected inheritance and decided to buy a second-hand jalopy to ease the burden of his declining years. The cheapest he could find in all Missouri was $135, but the dealer reminded him, "You get five good tires thrown in free: they haven't gone more'n 30,000 miles." "Forget the tires," said the mountaineer. "I don't want any on my car. When I'm riding I want to know it."

The same character had his own system for telling the hour. A neighbor drove past the shack and called out, "Know what time it is, Jonathan?" The mountaineer studied the shadow on his porch, shifted the terbacy in his cheek, and answered, "Bout four and one-half planks till supper time."

An Eastern visitor was brought to admire the paintings of Vrbenia Abernathy, the Grandma Moses of the Ozarks. "What an original talent!" gushed the Eastern lady. "How I wish I could take those glorious colors home with me." "You're going to get your wish," cackled Verbenia happily. "You're sitting on my palette."

White House Denies Idea Flying Saucers Are War Weapons

KEY WEST, FLA. (AP) — The White House Tuesday pooh-poohed the idea of the existence of "flying saucers" as a secret weapon of this or any other country.

President Truman's press secretary, Charles G. Ross, said neither the President nor any of his staff has any knowledge whatsoever of the mysterious flying objects reported from time to time.

"Do you think it likely that there would be any secret weapon project underway without the President knowing about it?" Ross was asked at a news conference

Book Drive to Start Monday

A faculty-wide drive for funds for the Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe, Inc., book program will begin Monday, Prof. Robert Michelsen of the SUI school of religion said Tuesday.

Michelsen, who is chairman of the public affairs committee of the SUI chapter of the American Association of University Professors, which is sponsoring the drive here, said a goal of $2,000 has been set for the faculty and administrative staff members.

Each faculty member and administrative staff member has been asked to contribute $2 to the drive. Anyone who contributes $10 or more may designate the type of books that CARE will send to libraries overseas.

"The number of volumes destroyed in the recent war is staggering. Even the basic material rehabilitation of devastated communities rests upon a foundation of knowledge, to say nothing of cultural, intellectual and spiritual rehabilitation necessary to the survival of civilization," Michelsen said.

Michelsen said that SUI students also may donate money to the drive. Students who wish to do so should send their money to the Care Book Program, 20 Broadway, New York 5, N.Y., or contact Michelsen.

Delivery of all CARE books will be made at publishers' list prices, with no extra charge for transportation costs, Michelsen explained.

Questions concerning the SUI drive may be directed to Michelsen or any one of the committee members. The committee members include Instructor Allen Vestal of the SUI college of law, Prof. Fred Schueler of the SUI college of pharmacy, and Prof. Arthur Rbers, SUI director of nuclear physics research.

Others on the committee include Prof. W.R. Irwin of the SUI English department, and Prof. Richard Popkin of the SUI philosophy department.

City High to Hold Group Ear Tests

Group hearing tests will be conducted at City high school April 12 and 13 under the supervision of Scott N. Reger, ear specialist, Principal Ralph Austermiller said Tuesday.

Reger will be assisted by a group of SUI students, Austermiller said.

Students with hearing difficulties will be given individual tests and consultation with the school nurse. Parents of the students will be notified of their hearing condition.

The testing is part of an extensive program being carried on in Johnson county. Iowa City grade school pupils also will be tested.

Two former SUI engineers will give reports at the conference.

Erich Farber, a student here from 1941 to 1945, will report on a study in "Steam Separation in Boilers." A. A. Kalinske, a former SUI engineering faculty member, will read a paper on "Hot Process Softeners and De-aerators."

Professor Attending Chicago Conference

Prof. E.B. Kurtz, head of the SUI electrical engineering department, left Tuesday afternoon to attend the Midwest Power conference today, Thursday and Friday in the Sherman hotel in Chicago.

The annual three-day conference is sponsored by the Illinois Institute of Technology at Chicago in cooperation with nine other midwestern engineering colleges including the SUI college of engineering — and several national engineering societies.

Kurtz is official conference representative for the SUI engineering college. He will preside over the session on "System Planning and Design" scheduled for this afternoon.

Two former SUI engineers will give reports at the conference.

Erich Farber, a student here from 1941 to 1945, will report on a study in "Steam Separation in Boilers." A. A. Kalinske, a former SUI engineering faculty member, will read a paper on "Hot Process Softeners and De-aerators."

Congress' Noise —

Lotta Talk, Few Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the current rate of exchange, it takes 19 hours of congressional talk to equal one law.

This statistic crept out of the "Congressional Record" Tuesday, in its monthly report card on Congress.

The report showed that during the past three months, the Senate has been in session 340 hours and three minutes, the House 247 hours and 25 minutes.

The result: a total of 587 hours in the legislative mines, 31 bills actually passed into law, and enough oratory to spill over 4,634 pages of the "Record."

The "Congressional Record" reports only on time spent in session.

Most, if not all, congressmen spend far more time in committee work than they do in the House or Senate chamber.

It is the committee which hears the witnesses say why they are for or why they are against the bill. It is the committee which actually drafts the bill's working. It is the committee which shepherds the legislation once it reaches the floor for debate.

Nobody knows how much time is spent on committee work, but Tuesday's schedule gives a fair sized clue.

Twenty-two committees met, on everything from a reclamation project in Arizona to a plan to reorganize the national labor relations board.

Clarinda Flu Epidemic Prompts Investigation

Dr. A.P. McKee, associate professor of bacteriology at the SUI college of medicine, will conduct experiments to isolate the virus which caused the influenza epidemic at the Clarinda state mental hospital recently.

The bacteriologist has been working in the laboratory set up at SUI by the United Nations world health organization to study influenza. He will take specimens in Clarinda over a two-week period for his study.

The report showed that during the past three months, the Senate has been in session 340 hours and three minutes, the House 247 hours and 25 minutes.
