124 Iowa Towns Suffer In Severe Ice Storms

CLINTON (UP)—Severe dust storms whipped across Kansas wheatlands Monday in the wake of a midwest ice storm that wrecked power and communication facilities in this Mississippi river town.

Communication Skills Tests to Be Given Third Year Students

Reading, writing and speaking skills tests will be given to all SUI juniors in liberal arts to determine their ability in communications.

Easter Storm Hits Iowa City Area, Damages Utilities

Easter parades of ice and sleet also hit Iowa City and caused considerable damage to utility facilities.

'Mercy Killer' Gets 6-Year Prison Term

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Harold A. Mohr, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the so-called mercy killing of his blind, cancer-ravaged brother, Monday was sentenced to three to six years in prison.

Clinton Mayor Don Allison called for state aid to cope with one of the worst disasters in the city's history.

The Easter storm laid a sheath of ice one and one-half inches thick over the Mississippi river town, felling trees and telephone lines.

Some 1,000 telephones were out of order in the town of 30,000 population and 90 percent of homes and business places were without power.

Allison estimated damages of at least $1-million, but there were few reported injuries.

Northwestern Bell said 800 long-distance circuits were out in Iowa. Other towns glazed and crippled by ice were mostly smaller communities.

A strong wind accompanied the storm and the weather bureau reported blowing dust in the western plains states.

Moderating temperatures changed Sunday's sleet to rain and were expected to free Iowa of its ice coating.

Gov. William S. Beardsley ordered "every facility" available to the relief of stricken cities, most of them in the northeast part of the state.

He said a few power failures were reported throughout the city, but they weren't concentrated in any specific area.

He said some rural areas had been affected by the ice storm but all but two places were back in operation by 11 p.m. Sunday.

He added that rural and city phones would all be back in operation today, and that the toll circuits were back in operation Monday.

The damage was attributed by utility companies to the combination of falling branches and ice laden wires.

The Cedar Rapids and Iowa City railway reported Monday all service was discontinued Sunday because of the ice on the traction wire.

The Australian-born longshore chief, who faces eventual deportation, declared after the verdict: "It stinks! It's been a frameup from beginning to end and it's beginning to air now. It'll be a while yet before I'll be doing the five years."

Students in doubt as to their status may call at the registrars office for information.

The schedule for registration was announced as follows: On Thursday, students with last names from Adam to Lans will register...

Friday, students with last names from Lap to Zogg will register. Lapo to Mead at 8:30 a.m.; Mead to Paxt at 9:30 a.m.; Paxt to Ross at 10:30 a.m.; Ross to Speer at 1:30 p.m.; Speer to Viet at 2:30 p.m.; Viet to Zogg at 3:30 p.m.

A jury of eight men and four women found the three men guilty last Tuesday after 81 days of trial, the longest in northern California federal court history. The jury decided specifically that Bridges lied at his naturalization hearing in 1945 when he denied he had ever been a Communist.

Coach Failed To Conform, States Board

The formal statement issued by the board in control of athletics was: "The board in control of athletics at the State University of Iowa announced today that it will no longer retain the services of Mr. Lawrence Harrison."

"Mr. Harrison's employment by the university is being terminated as the result of his failure to perform certain duties assigned to him, his failure to conform to certain practices and policies of the athletic department and his failure to otherwise conduct himself in such a manner as to bring credit upon the university and its athletic department."

"The board regrets the coincidence of this action and Mr. Harrison's recent illness and recovery and wishes to state further that this action is not predicated upon Mr. Harrison's illness and his subsequent request to be relieved of his duties at mid-season."

AFL Boss Okays Merger Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL President William Green strongly endorsed CIO President Philip Murray's proposal for ultimate merger of the two big unions Monday.

He said he will refer the overall proposal to the AFL executive council meeting at Philadelphia May 8. In the past, the council always has insisted that joint political action must be preceded by "organic unity"—complete merger of the two unions.

Murray in a letter to all the big anti-Communist unions last week proposed an immediate political alliance and eventual merger of their 16-million members for an all-out fight against what he called the "forces of reaction" in congress.

John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and President A. J. Hayes of the International Association of Machinists—world's largest independent union—promptly threw their support to the idea.

'Pops' Cleans Out His Desk

DISCHARGED COACH Lawrence 'Pops' Harrison cleans out his desk Monday following his dismissal by the SUI athletic board as head basketball coach.

SUI students should help pay for street repairs if they want to complain about the condition of Iowa City streets, Mayor Preston Koser told the city council Monday night.

Students Should Bear Street Expenses: Mayor

Referring to an editorial in Saturday's Daily Iowan, which listed sections of local streets motorists should avoid, the mayor suggested a wheel tax, or tax per car for students.

The suggestion was referred to the council's committees on ordinance and streets and alleys. The council earlier authorized City Atty. William H. Bartley to prepare two resolutions, one asking for bids on repaving local asphalt-paved streets and one calling for a public hearing on street repair May 8.

City Engineer Fred E. Gartzke submitted a report estimating at $28,837 the cost of resurfacing about 23 local asphalt streets and sections of streets.

In other action Monday night the council agreed to offer $25,000 for part of the late Martin Koser estate on College street. The lot, about 80 feet by 150 feet, would be used as a third off-street parking lot.

The Iowa City Real Estate board appraised the property at $27,600 in February. A motion by Alderman Clark F. Mighell that the resolution to buy the lot be tabled, or removed from the council's consideration, pending further discussion on the price to be offered, was defeated.

The council adopted an ordinance permitting Iowa City to enter fire protection contracts with individuals and governmental units outside the city limits.

SMALLPOX CLAIMS SIX GLASGOW, SCOTLAND (AP)—An outbreak of smallpox claimed its sixth victim here Monday when Miss Catherine Wilson, 20-year-old nurse, died in Knightswood hospital where she had worked.

Dispute With Brechler, Says Irate Mentor

Lawrence (Pops) Harrison, head Iowa basketball coach since the fall of 1942, was discharged from that post Monday by the board in control of athletics.

In a formal statement, the board stated that Harrison was dismissed because of "failure to perform certain duties, failure to conform to certain practices and policies of the athletic department and failure to otherwise conduct himself in such a manner as to bring credit upon the university and the athletic department."

"Personality Dispute" The board would not elaborate on this charge but Harrison indicated that he was dismissed because of a "personality dispute" between himself and Athletic Director Paul Brechler.

Harrison said that the board charged him with: 1. Failure to teach satisfactorily a two-hour physical education course in basketball theory. 2. Failure to attend athletic staff meetings called by Brechler.

3. Failure to maintain good relations with Big Ten officials. Harrison indicated that this charge referred specifically to an incident with a Big Ten official after the Purdue game two years ago.

Harrison, in regard to the incident, said the official had notified the Big Ten conference of Brechler's conduct after the game.

"I become excited during the course of a ball game," Harrison said. "But I'm not the type of coach to tell anyone after the game that we were robbed. I always took the blame for all our defeats and never tried to shift it to anyone else."

Harrison, 43, admitted that the news of his dismissal came "like a bolt out of the blue." He spiked any rumors that he was physically incapable of carrying on as head coach with the statement, "I feel better now than I have in the last seven or eight years."

Harrison was relieved as head coach, at his own request, in mid-January. It was believed at the time that Harrison's withdrawal from active coaching would be only temporary. He underwent a kidney operation in November and only last month underwent a second major operation.

Harrison asserted that six weeks ago Brechler informed him that he would continue as Iowa coach. "Now that they've waited this long to fire me they have also deprived me of an opportunity to get some good coaching jobs that were up for grabs," Harrison said.

Denies Charges Harrison categorically denied the three charges that the athletic board enumerated. "I don't care how they wanted me to teach that class in basketball theory," Harrison said. "I would have done it any way they wanted me to. They (the athletic board) charged that I only attended the class four times in a semester. This is absurd. I have the class book to prove that this isn't true but they didn't even want to look at that."

Harrison, who called the dismissal a "doublecross," also indicated that he didn't think that failure to attend staff meetings or any of the other two charges were sufficient grounds for his dismissal. "It was like being tried by the

Bridges Sentenced Five Years for Perjury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Harry Benton Bridges, the most powerful leftwing labor leader in the United States, was sentenced to five years in prison Monday for lying about his Communist party membership so he could become an American citizen.

His two lieutenants in the CIO international longshoremen's and warehousemen's union received sentences totaling two years apiece, for conspiring with him to obtain his citizenship by fraud.

After a brief recess, court was reconvened to hear a government motion asking that Bridges' citizenship be revoked. However, that move to strip him of his citizenship was postponed until today.

Bridges was freed on $25,000 bail pending the outcome of an appeal which the defense has promised to carry to the United States supreme court if necessary.

Schmidt and Robertson were freed on $10,000 bail each. All had been free on $5,000 bail. Federal Judge George B. Harris, denying defense motions for a new trial, sentenced Bridges to two years in prison for conspiracy and five years for perjury, the sentences to be served concurrently.

He sentenced both Robertson and Schmidt to two years for conspiracy and two years for aiding and abetting perjury, also to be served concurrently.

Harris levied no fines against the three, declaring any such fines would have to be paid by the "rank and file" of Bridges' union.

Plots Still Available For SUI Gardeners

About 75 garden plots for student families living in SUI married housing areas were still available Monday, J. Robert Cotter, manager of married students' housing, said.

Cotter said the 20-foot-square lots are at the southeast corner of Park road and Ferson avenue. No rent is charged for use of the lots, which are donated by SUI. A fee of 50 cents for plowing and staking out the plots is charged, however.

Families wanting to sign up for a garden plot may do so at the housing offices at Riverside park, Hawkeye village and Finkbine park.

MENTAL EXAM FOR ELLIS DES MOINES (AP)—Tommy Ellis, 17, charged with the hunting knife slaying of an elderly widow here, will be given a psychiatric examination today at the Des Moines child guidance center.

Gotta Wash That Car Someday

LONG BEACH, CALIF. (AP)—Long Beach had a hard weekend rain. It did several things, not the least of which was the solving of an automobile "theft."

Police officers Harry Libbe and Edward Wyszoki called on a woman who reported that thieves had taken her automobile. After getting a description they saw a car parked at the curb. The license plates tallied with the number they had just been given. The woman was asked to inspect the car.

"Yes, that's it all right," she admitted. "I guess the rain washed it clean. I didn't recognize it."

McCarthy Wants 'Mystery Witness'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) Monday asked senate spy hunters to subpoena a mystery witness who will swear, he said, that Owen Lattimore is or was a member of the Communist network in the U.S.

McCarthy indicated to newsmen the witness was a former "high up" member of the Communist party and had appeared as a government witness in another case. On Capitol Hill, there was speculation that the witness is Louis F. Budenz, former managing editor of the Communist Daily Worker, now a member of the Fordham university faculty.

Budenz could not be reached in New York for comment. After 10 years in the Red party, he renounced communism in 1945 to re-enter the Roman Catholic church, and subsequently appeared many times as a federal witness in Communist cases. Lattimore, 49-year-old Johns Hopkins university professor and occasional state department consultant on far east affairs, has testified under oath he was never a Communist. He has denounced McCarthy as a contemptible liar for making the accusation. McCarthy turned over the name of his key witness to Edward P. Morgan, counsel for a senate investigating committee. Morgan said he plans to make the name public tomorrow, after the man has been subpoenaed to appear before the committee.

Meanwhile, Senator Henry C. Lodge Jr., (R-Mass.) said he had reached "no final conclusions" about any phase of the Lattimore investigation. Lodge is one of five senators studying the Lattimore case as well as McCarthy's six-weeks-old charges the state department harbors Communists and Red sympathizers. The Massachusetts Republican said in the senate last Monday that "all we can learn so far shows clearly that none of the current charges have been proven."

Blood-Letting Campaign —

The suicide Apr. 1, of Harvard Prof. F. O. Matthiessen, accused of Communist-front activities, plants another "mouse" under the already blacked eyes of congress' anti-Red "security" program.

Matthiessen, internationally-known scholar, critic, and author, and head of Harvard's history and literature department, leaped 12 stories from a Boston hotel room because he was "depressed" over world conditions. Major causes of this despondency were the state department "loyalty" investigations of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) and the perjury-conspiracy trial of leftist laborite Harry Bridges on the west coast.

Matthiessen's suicide illustrates tragically the damage done to our culture and society by the post-war "witch hunt" in congress. Red-baiting ceases to be a pasquinade of senatorial folly and comedy; it becomes a deadly campaign, not only of mud-slinging but blood-letting — and it lets the very life blood of the real peace-makers of this world.

Matthiessen was essentially a peace-maker — notwithstanding his politics or his activities. As a member of the Progressive party and a leading "liberal" light at Harvard, he worked fervently toward ends which had no relevance to Communism or Soviet Russia but, by his own confession, to peace in "Christian" and "Socialistic" terms.

An incident at Harvard during the pre-established histrionics of 1948 revealed Mat-thiessen's underlying political philosophy.

Matthiessen, conducting a course in poetry appreciation, had scheduled his class at a time coincident with a proposed "Peace Rally" in Harvard yard engineered by proponents of the Wallace group. Members of the class expected the professor would cancel that day's session in deference to the rally, but he appeared, ready to lecture on Chaucer, at the appointed time.

Several students, of "liberal" persuasion, later asked him why he had not attended and helped promote the peace rally. Matthiessen replied:

"In my opinion, the poetry of Chaucer (a conservative in his day) and all the other beauties of our language are as conducive to permanent world peace as any rally or political extravaganza conceivable."

This seems a far cry from political extremism or subversion. Yet, because of Matthiessen's socialist penchant (along Shavian, not Marxian lines, by the way), the sages in congress chose to label him "Red." This stigma, coupled with increasing dissension and warmongering throughout the world, led Matthiessen to take his own life.

It robbed America of an outstanding force in letters and art — the author of the "American Renaissance," "The Achievement of T.S. Eliot," and other standard critical works. It also robbed America of a strong, articulate voice for peace; and this theft, it seems, can have no atonement.

Iowa Spring Song —

Spring — it's wonderful. Birds yappin', warm air brings that "make you want to sleep" feeling, and then the evening chill brings the "makes you want to sneeze" feeling.

And rain - rain - rain. Followed by a freeze that coats trees, wires and roads with shining ice, breaking communications, ruining the summer shade media, and leaving Clinton almost cut off from the world.

April is the most pleasant month of all. It so consistently makes for dependable weather. Anyone knows if a picnic is planned it is bound to snow, or if a bike hike is in the offing — raincoats will be the best attire.

Not to mention, of course, that if an evening at home beside a cozy fireplace seems plausible — the sun will come out at about 5 p.m. to brighten and warm things up outside.

Yes, spring — it's wonderful.

Supreme Court Refuses Appeal by Writers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supreme court Monday refused a hearing to two Hollywood writers convicted of contempt of congress, thus letting stand a decision that congressional committees may compel witnesses to say whether they are Communists.

The vote was 6 to 2.

By the action, the high court refused to interfere with a lower court decision holding that congress may abridge either the freedom of speech or the freedom to remain silent "when legislating to avert what it believes to be a threat of substantive evil to national welfare."

Gave No Reasons

The high court handed down no opinion and did not explain its reasons. It took the action in a brief order which said it would not hear the appeals of Screen Writers John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo. They had been pending since last Aug. 11.

Lawson and Trumbo are each under sentence to serve a year in jail and to pay a fine of $1,000. They have been free under bond.

The justice department presumably will make no attempt to carry out the sentence for at least the 15 days in which the two writers may ask the supreme court to reconsider.

Robert W. Kenny, attorney for the pair, said in Los Angeles he will file such a petition.

Clark Abstains

The supreme court's order noted that Justices Black and Douglas favored a review of the case, and that Justice Clark took no part. Clark was attorney general at the time Lawson and Trumbo were prosecuted.

That meant that the six man majority included Chief Justice and Justices Reed, Frankfurter, Jackson, Burton and Min-ton.

The case arose during the communis-m - in - Hollywood investigation conducted by the house un-American activities committee in October, 1947.

Others Waive Trial

Lawson and Trumbo were two of ten prominent screen figures who refused to tell the committee whether they were or had been members of the Communist party. They contended the constitution protects individuals from congressional examination of their political beliefs.

The other eight were not brought to trial. Instead, they agreed to waive a jury trial, to accept the law held to be binding in the Lawson and Trumbo cases, and to submit their cases to the district court here on the record.

They had been pending since last Aug. 11.

Interpreting the News —

U.S. Policy Inimical to Britain's Trade

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Two developments Friday serve to point up the complexities which beset the allies in their attempt to attain complete mobilization for the cold war.

The house of commons was told that Lancashire, Britain's great cotton textile center, was "laboring under a shadow of fear," because of Japanese competition.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) proposed an investigation of allied policy in the allied zones, charging that British fear of competition is paralyzing America's attempts to revive German industry.

Bridges indicated he was basing his view on the testimony given to the senate appropriations committee recently by John J. McCloy, U.S. high commissioner in Germany. The appropriations committee has to pass on the money the United States is spending to revive the economies of the former enemies and so get them off the U.S. relief rolls.

Bridges and the British MP's are merely bringing out into the open something that has been well known to observers of Anglo-American affairs and mentioned in this column before.

Politically and strategically,

Britain and the United States have inseparable interests. Economically, they are natural competitors.

And in the occupied countries the American financial burden produces procedures which are inimical to Britain's economy.

Politically, Britain has not been unreasonable. It is not so much that she does not believe in the objectives of freer trade and self-support advocated by the United States. It is more that she is in a critical economic condition and in no position to take even temporary losses in favor of long-term world gains.

It should be easy for Americans to understand the argument of Laborite Samuel Silverman when he tells parliament that Lancashire cannot compete against a 50 shillings ($7 a week) wage in Japan and maintain its own five, six or seven pounds ($14 to $20 a week).

The U.S. tariff system grew out of similar problems. Our system was directed against price cutting imports. The British problem is competition in her vitally-needed export markets.

This leads to such statements as that of Conservative Stanley Prescott, who told commons Britain did not take a firm line in making policy in Japan, allowing it to be done by the U.S. state department.

In Germany, too, Britain was forced, when she had to ask the U.S. to underwrite her occupation costs, to give the U.S. "an extra vote" in policy making.

These are only two examples of the difficulties which Britain and America seek to iron out for the sake of larger over-all affairs. They are approached on both sides, at the top levels, as problems to be solved jointly by partners. At lower levels it is only natural that they should be discussed from individual viewpoints. The world causes of the democratic front will not be served if this develops into acrimony.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer said Monday the business outlook for the rest of the year is "excellent" but he warned that the problem of unemployment cannot be ignored.

Sawyer told a news conference, however, that it is dangerous to set a specific figure as the danger point in unemployment because "people will get panicky" whenever that figure is reached.

He also said the commerce department is not drawing up any specific plan to combat joblessness. The chief problem now, he said, "appears to be finding jobs for new employables, such as school graduates."

He added that it was impossible to draw any firm conclusions from a recent report showing that unemployment dropped to 4,123,000 in March after reaching an 8-1-2 year peak of 4,680,000 in February.

While the drop in unemployment was hailed as good news, some economists said the upturn in employment was not as great as might have been expected. They pointed out that industrial employment sometimes spurts in the spring. This time they said, much of the rise was on farms.

President Truman underscored his concern over unemployment last week when he urged congress to set up a uniform federal-state unemployment compensation system.

The plan, which seems bound for a congressional pigeon-hole, would bring another 6-million workers under the protection of the job insurance program and raise benefits to an average of 20 percent. In some states, where payments are lower, the increase would be larger.

Sawyer backed Mr. Truman's program. He said there are "definitely indications of a need for improving the present system."

His estimate of the business outlook for the remainder of 1950 was good though not totally unexpected news. The rising stock market of recent weeks has been a reflection of general business optimism.

People Now Starving —

Communists Block U.S. Food Aid to China

By JOHN GOETTE

Central Press Staff Writer

AMERICAN RED CROSS food and drugs for China's current famine victims have neither been invited nor indicated as welcome by the stricken nation's Communist bosses.

Chinese now starving in the seven northern provinces between the Yangtze river and the Great Wall can vividly recall similar disasters since 1907. Generous Americans gave a total of $13,698,477 to China via the A.R.C. in the last 43 years.

The 1950 famine in China, it is feared, may exceed the great famine of 1878, when 9.5-million men, women and children perished from starvation.

In the present 200,000 square mile foodless area, desperate farmers already are selling their implements, domestic animals and children alike.

Smallpox, diphtheria, tropical fever and the bubonic plague are rampant, particularly in Anhwei province, according to non-American observers. Our doctors, nurses, food and drugs are badly needed.

As in other famines, men and women workers of the American Red Cross would have been on the scene by now, but the deliberate Communist closure of China to American endeavor makes this impossible.

OF THE TOTAL $13,698,477 American Red Cross funds expended in China, the first $331,100 in cash, flour and seed wheat was sent over in 1907.

To another $75,000 spent in the following three years, the Red Cross added the services of technicians who undertook a survey to prevent floods and famines by engineering projects.

After the birth of the Chinese republic in 1912, The A.R.C. poured a further $374,000 into China up to the terrible famine of 1921, when a record $816,000 was donated for relief and road construction. The Americans then built 850 miles of modern highways, which were turned over to the Chinese government.

In the following years there never came a call from China which Americans, through the Red Cross, failed to answer promptly. This was particularly true during the devastating floods and famines of 1931 and 1937.

CHINA WAS at war with Japan from 1937 to 1945, and during this period and in the postwar years, the Red Cross provided $11,214,212 for various types of Chinese relief.

However, with the international complications brought on by the Communist victory, no American Red Cross assistance has been deemed possible in China since the end of 1948.

Washington headquarters of the American Red Cross explains that now its "foreign program is restricted to aiding national societies in the development of their services."

Parisian Designer Wants Ruffles on Men's Clothes

A Parisian fashion designer, Gaston Waltener, is trying to put men on an equal footing with women by introducing silk shirts trimmed with two rows of ruffles and homburgs trimmed with red satin.

Waltener held a fashion show recently in Paris. The style highlight of the evening was a man's sport coat with shoulders 2½ feet wide and a pinched-in waist fastened with a drawstring.

These features enable males to taper from their shoulders to a "mere wisp," he claims.

Wasp Waist

"In the first place all men with a hint of hip or front fullness should go on an immediate diet to fit the spring fashion trend for 1950," Waltener said. "The new line for men is svelte, with broad shoulders, pinched-in waist and absolutely no tummy and hips."

For round-the-clock masculine elegance, Waltener showed: Beachwear—black linen shorts, trousers with cuffs and pinched-in waist, worn with a black linen shirt.

Riding — pearl gray jodhpurs with a checked shirt-jacket and four-in-hand tie.

Broad Shoulders

Sports — roony, long gray gabardine jacket, three inches above the knees; shoulders with padding, 2 1/2 feet across and ultramarine blue slacks.

Rain — a full tent coat of gray checked tweed lined in tomato red satin.

Afternoon — a blue pinstripe double-breasted suit with four buttons (the top one only should be fastened) leaving a glimpse of the gray double-breasted waistcoat with two rows of four tiny gold buttons.

Evening — three startling new possibilities: first, a white linen busby or Eton jacket worn with a day-time shirt, plum colored trousers with a black braid stripe down the side and a violet satin cummerbund and matching bow tie.

Red Jacket

Another possibility was a tomato red dinner jacket in wool with red satin lapels and bow tie, a white ruffled shirt with two borders of ruffles down the front, and a black homburg with the

Hawkeyes Whip St. Louis, 11-8; Kurt Slashes Three-Run Homer

Drahn Goes Route For First Triumph

(Special to Daily Iowan)

ST. LOUIS — First Baseman Merlin Kurt's three-run homer in the ninth inning gave Iowa's Hawkeyes a 11-8 victory over St. Louis university here Monday afternoon.

The victory marked Iowa's seventh win on its eight-game tour of Arkansas and Missouri. The game Monday was slowed considerably by a heavy wind and was marred by five St. Louis errors.

Glenn Drahn went the route for the Hawkeyes and gave up 10 hits, three of them home runs. Iowa collected 11 hits from four St. Louis hurlers.

The Hawkeyes moved into a one run lead in the first inning, added two more in the third and scored another run in the fourth before St. Louis came back with two scores in the bottom of the sixth inning.

St. Louis went into a 7-4 lead on a five run spurge in the seventh but this advantage was quickly erased with a four-run Iowa rally in the top of the eighth.

This set the stage for Kurt's game winning blow in the first of the ninth inning. St. Louis scored one run in its half of the ninth to pull within three runs.

The line score:

Iowa	102	100	043	11	11	2
St. Louis	000	002	501	8	10	5

Wet Grounds . . .

Wet diamond conditions Monday indicated a postponement of today's game between Iowa and Notre Dame. Athletic officials expressed doubt that the diamond, which hasn't been played on this season, would be ready for the Wednesday game with the Irish.

The next scheduled home games are with Bradley April 17 and 18.

Iowa is slated to open its 44th Big Ten season Friday against Illinois at Champaign. The Hawks are to meet Illinois Saturday in the second game of a two game series. Iowa is the defending co-champion in the conference race this season. The Hawkeyes tied with Indiana and Michigan for top honors in the 1949 season.

Central Association Definitely Disbands

BURLINGTON — Lee Thomas, president of the Central association, admitted Monday night the last effort to keep the class C league alive this summer had failed and it would suspend operations.

"However, we will maintain the status quo and try to operate in 1951," Thomas said. He indicated plans were underway for an eight team league next season.

The final blow for league operations this summer was the report of Clinton that it could not field a team. Thomas said he had one more possibility in mind but "it fell through."

He declined to say what his final attempt was, but reported the arrangements could not be completed.

IHSA Votes Down Coach Amendment

BOONE — The Iowa High School Athletic association board of control Monday rejected an amendment to its constitution which would have established rigid requirements for coaches.

The board, acting on the decision of the association attorney, decided the proposed amendment was "unconstitutional, illegal and therefore void," Lyle Quinn, executive secretary, said.

The amendment would have required that all coaches hold valid Iowa teacher's certificates and teach at least two classes daily. No person failing to meet those qualifications could act as a team coach.

The amendment would have suspended violators from participation in state tournaments and sanctioned meets.

Giants Batter Cleveland, 15-8

TULSA, OKLA. (AP) — The New York Giants battered the Cleveland Indians 15-8 Monday in a game limited to eight innings because the teams had to catch a train.

Home runs by the Giants' Wes Westrum and Joe Lafata, each good for three runs, highlighted a 14-hit assault which rang about the ears of Starter Gene Bearden and his replacement, Hal Saltzman.

REDS 9, BRAVES 7

BLUEFIELD, W. VA., (AP) — Cincinnati's slugging Reds greeted Southpaw Warren Spahn like a long lost cousin Monday and clouted five home runs — two each by Walker Cooper and Bob Usher — as they trimmed the Boston Braves 9-7 in an exhibition baseball game.

Sid Gordon and Louis Olmo also belted four — baggers for the Braves. Gordon hit for the circuit in the fourth after Willard Marshall and Bob Elliott had singled to account for three runs.

RED SOX 7, NASHVILLE 5

NASHVILLE, TENN., (AP) — Boston's Red Sox came from behind to tally three runs in the eighth inning to shade the Nashville Vols, Southern association champions, 7-5, Monday in an exhibition baseball game before a 6,692 crowd.

A'S 6, SAVANNAH 1

SAVANNAH, GA. (AP) — Alex Kellner scattered five hits Monday to pitch the Philadelphia Athletics to a 6-1 victory over their class A Sally league farmhands, the Savannah Indians.

Kellner pitched eight innings. Harry Byrd took over in the ninth. Sam Chapman got a double and two singles and Barney McCoskey two singles for five of the A's eight hits off two Savannah pitchers.

PHILS 9, LITTLE ROCK 1

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. (AP) — Robin Roberts held the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern association to three hits Monday while the Philadelphia Phillies won a six-inning contest, 9-1.

Rain ended the contest in the Phils half of the seventh inning. In an inning earlier the Phils broke loose for six runs on a walk, four singles and Del Ennis' home run with two mates on base.

AUSTIN 3, BROWNS 1

AUSTIN, TEX. (AP) — The St. Louis Browns stranded 11 runners and went down 3-1 before the Austin Pioneers of the Big State league in an exhibition game here Monday.

Southpaw Roger May held the Browns to one run and five hits in the first seven innings. Bill Walker, a right hander, then worked two scoreless innings.

DOGERS 10, MACON 1

MACON, GA. (AP) — A grand slam home run by Peeewe Reese in the eighth inning, plus a two-run homer by Roy Campanella, led the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10-1 victory over the Macon Peaches of the Sally league Monday.

HARRISON . . .

athletic board without a counsel or an opportunity to defend myself," Harrison said.

"Brechtler had to discharge me now when I've been out of the public's eye for a season," Harrison charged. "I would have come back next year and had a good team. And we would have a good team the next year and the year following that. He (Brechtler) had to fire me now because he knew that three years would be too long."

Major Regret

One of his major regrets in leaving Iowa now, Harrison said, is the wealth of material available to next year's coach. "This is the best material I've had since I became head coach here," Harrison declared. "When I came here, Iowa was in the cellar of the Big Ten. Now they are third best."

"A lot of people will probably forget that I brought Paul Brechtler into the athletic department as my assistant," Harrison observed.

Another charge allegedly made by the athletic board according to Harrison was that he was only interested in winning ball games and not his other duties.

"That is absurd," Harrison declared.

Harrison said that the first time he was informed of his dismissal was at a meeting called by the athletic board about 9:30 Monday morning. "All they called me in for was to give me a chance to resign and tell me I was all through."

"They told me that it would be easier for me to get a job if I resigned rather than being fired. I told them that I wasn't worried about getting another job and if I resigned it would be the same as an admission of guilt. I'm guilty of nothing."

No Plans

Harrison said he had no definite plans for the future although he indicated that he would like to remain in Iowa City. "I've lived here 43 years and I don't intend to leave now," he said.

"A business man called me up today," Harrison said, "and said that he was withdrawing his support of Iowa athletics and offered me a job tomorrow if I wanted it."

Brechtler was unavailable for comment Monday. Earlier Monday he refused to comment on the "personal issue" charge of Harrison's other than to say, "It was a board action and not my own. I am one of 13."

Harrison said Monday that he had contributed $4,500 to the Iowa athletic fund years ago when it was in need of financial assistance.

21 Years

Harrison has been affiliated with the athletic department for 21 years plus four years as an athlete. He played basketball on the teams of 1926, 1927 and 1928. Following graduation, Harrison coached a year at Westminster college in Pennsylvania before returning here in 1931 as an as-

"LIKE A BOLT OUT OF THE BLUE," says Lawrence (Pops) Harrison speaking of the surprise action taken Monday by the Iowa athletic board in discharging him as head basketball coach. In an interview in his home Monday afternoon, Harrison charged the dismissal came as a result of a "personal feud" between Harrison and Athletic Director Paul Brechtler. Harrison said he was fired after he refused the board's request Monday that he resign.

Anderson Packer Franchise Bought

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball association Monday purchased the franchise of the Anderson (Ind.) Packers and will determine distribution of the players at a meeting in Chicago two weeks from Monday.

League President Maurice Podoloff, who announced the sale, said that it was brought about because of the league's inability to meet with the scheduling conditions as set up by the Packers.

The sale was made during a preliminary league meeting here Monday at which it was reported that Owner Ike Duffy of the Packers sought to extend the posting of a $50,000 performance bond by league members.

Podoloff said that the required extension was granted and that the bond, due this Thursday, will not fall due until next Monday.

Duffy said he had no statement to make until the meeting in Chicago later this month but asserted the Packers had not been able to play all other league members on an equal home and home basis. This determined the sale as much as anything, Duffy said.

Al Widmar Threatens to Sue Baseball Under Anti-Trust Act

SCRANTON, PA. (AP) — Al Widmar, 25-year-old St. Louis Browns' right-hander, threatened Monday to sue baseball under the Sherman anti-trust act.

He said, "The Browns are preventing me from earning a decent living in baseball."

The big pitcher quit the Browns recently and came to his home at suburban Dunmore to sit out his bid for a higher salary.

And, said Widmar, "If I don't get at least $10,000 this year, I'll sue baseball in the courts the way Danny Gardella did."

Gardella brought a $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball after he was banned from baseball for jumping to the rival Mexican league.

With Baltimore

Widmar contends he made $8,000 last season with Baltimore of the triple-A International league. He won 22 games for the Orioles and barely missed being named the league's most valuable player.

But, he said, the Browns first offered him the major league minimum salary of $5,000. Further offers weren't much better, Widmar said, stating the highest the Browns went was $7,000.

In San Antonio, Tex., President William O. DeWitt of the Browns said he doesn't care to discuss the case, adding that "if Widmar is going to court, it becomes a battle with baseball, rather than with the Browns."

Much of the dispute centers around the fact that Widmar does not want to play with the St. Louis club, "long a doormat for American league opposition. He played with the Browns in 1948, winning two and losing six. "Frankly," Widmar said last year, "I won't report if the Browns claim me in the working agreement."

Wants Trade

"My own suggestion is that I be dealt to another major club. I'd rather pitch for Baltimore than for the Browns, for that matter, even if St. Louis is in the major leagues."

At one time last season, it was reported the Chicago White Sox wanted to buy Widmar.

Widmar said he would rather be placed on the voluntary retired list than play with the Browns. During the offseason he sold automobiles and worked as assistant basketball coach at the University of Scranton.

He told newsmen he wrote baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler "but I've never gotten an answer in my request for help."

Chandler was "traveling and unavailable" for comment Monday on the Widmar statement.

Jobs Open on Men's Orientation Committee

Students interested in jobs on the men's orientation committee for the 1950-51 academic year should leave their names, addresses and phone numbers at the office of student affairs.

Orientation Chairman Don Guthrie, A3, Iowa City, said the deadline for presenting names at the office is Saturday noon.

Several positions are open on prospective orientation phases to be undertaken this year by the committee.

One of the positions is editor of the booklet, "Man About Campus." This booklet dedicated to freshman orientation is financed by the office of student affairs and put out by the orientation committee. Another position open is chairman for the Hancher tea.

Guthrie said the orientation committee needs help to acquaint new students with SUI.

A chairman also is needed to take charge of the proposed freshman varsity show. This show would be limited to freshman students and would be produced 3 or 4 weeks after school had started, Guthrie said.

The orientation committee will need a chairman to take charge of the freshman sports night to be held early in the year.

Students are needed, Guthrie said, to help faculty advisors make out schedules for new students.

He said the orientation committee was planning a bigger program than ever before and the committee would need more help. Any student returning to SUI next year is eligible to take part.

The students will be accompanied by Benson and Instructor Dolores Hughes, G, Sioux City.

Need Leadership Spirit, Says U.S. Bar President

Young lawyers must strive to recapture the leadership spirit associated with the legal profession, Harold J. Gallagher, president of the American Bar association, said Monday night.

He spoke in the packed senate chamber of Old Capitol to SUI college of law faculty members and students, and to members of the Johnson county bar.

A graduate of the law school in 1916, Gallagher is the first SUI alumnus to head the national bar association.

He said, "Entry into law is entry into a profession where public service is the greatest attribute."

Because of the large legal firms and organizations of today, many lawyers have lost the sense of belonging to a profession which the general practitioner of a few years ago felt, the New York City attorney pointed out.

Thus, a general inertia and commercialization has brought a waning of the public leadership of the profession, he said.

The bar president urged schools to indoctrinate the youth of America with the principles of good Americanism and to help it to appreciate the rights which early American colonists did not have.

He advised law students to ground themselves in the history of the American nation and its government so "you may take your places as leaders of men" to preserve the spirit of freedom.

As a contrast to American ideals, Gallagher described the Soviet ideology as one which holds man subservient to the state.

While recalling his youth in Clinton and at SUI, Gallagher praised Iowa and called the midwest the "great balance wheel of liberty and freedom."

Fraternity's Arsenal Stolen over Easter

Six guns, one gun scabbard and some gun cleaning equipment were reported stolen from the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house, 729 N. Dubuque street, during Easter vacation, police said.

It was believed the articles were taken Saturday night. The house was closed Saturday morning, Thomas C. Kays, C4, Sioux City, fraternity president said.

The theft was discovered Sunday afternoon when the students living in the house returned from Easter vacation.

Vacation News: Chris Safe, Housing Safer

Easter vacation, playing second fiddle to Robert E. Bednasek's acquittal, came as sort of an anticlimax to most SUI students, but they didn't let that jade their appetites for home cooking, egg nog and a long rest.

Wednesday night's exodus left the campus in a ghost-town state. Before Thursday broke on the few holdouts left, however, news started stirring again.

More than 200 persons with flashlights joined a search Wednesday night for 2 1/2-year-old Christopher Griffith, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Griffith Jr., who disappeared from his home, 103 Finkbine park, about 6:30 p.m.

At 2:45 a.m. Thursday, after combing Finkbine golf course for more than seven hours, Christopher's mother called from a sound truck and a weak voice replied: "Mommy!"

Small Chris probably walked along the fringe of Finkbine park, as he and his mother had often done, crossed the Rock Island railroad tracks and rambled back of the stadium until he stumbled and fell asleep in some bushes near the far west fence of the course.

The child suffered no ill effects from his junket, despite the penetrating cold of the morning. Police, firemen, students and citizens disbanded and the child, after a hospital checkup, was taken home.

SUI Approval

Dean of Students Walter R. Goetsch Wednesday night said Robert Bednasek would have to obtain the approval of the SUI discipline committee if he chooses to return to the university.

The former SUI student, home in Cedar Rapids after a jury found him innocent of slaying his campus sweetheart, allegedly violated university regulations against women and liquor in rooming houses.

Goetsch also announced Saturday that no housing units are expected to be dropped from the approved list in the process of an off-campus housing survey now being conducted.

The survey will stress two points, he said: (1) physical living facilities, and (2) adequacy of adult supervision. Recommendations will be given to the student affairs committee in hopes of a general rewriting of the code of student life housing section, Goetsch added.

Hawks Win

SUI's touring baseball team made a clean sweep of a series with Arkansas Poly at Russellville, Ark., Wednesday and Thursday, thumping their opponents 6-4 and 7-1. A repeat performance was staged Friday and Saturday at the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Ark., where the Hawks racked up 18-3 and 16-1 wins.

High School Track

U-high clipped Mt. Vernon for the Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference track championship last Wednesday night at the SUI fieldhouse. Three of 8 records were broken by U-high performers at the meet.

East high of Des Moines took a running-away championship Saturday in the Iowa class A high school track meet in the fieldhouse. Iowa City's Little Hawks captured fifth position, with North high, Davenport and Clinton ahead of them.

Warren Rogers, E4, Mt. Pleasant, Wednesday afternoon was selected to represent SUI at the American Society of Mechanical Engineers annual regional student conference in Louisville, Ky., April 20 and 21. Selection was made by secret ballot of all junior and senior mechanical engineers.

Atty. Edward W. Lucas, Johnson county Democratic chairman, said Wednesday two state Democratic senatorial candidates plan to attend the Johnson county party dinner in Iowa City April 19. They are former Undersecretary of Agriculture Albert J. Loveland and Gene Poston, Corydon.

Asst. Librarian Grace Van Wormer Thursday reported the manuscript of "The Girl in the Spike-Heeled Shoes," by SUI graduate Martin Yoseloff, had been received at the Iowa Authors section of SUI libraries.

Alfred C. Mueller, 74, 1897 SUI law graduate and four times mayor of Davenport, died Thursday at his Davenport home of heart disease. Funeral services were held Saturday in Davenport, with burial at Oakdale cemetery.

Census-Taking

Local census-takers called off nose-counting during vacation, since large numbers of SUI students were out of reach and couldn't be figured in the tabulation.

A new silk United States flag, about 3 feet by 5 feet, mounted on a 9 foot flagstaff, was installed in Iowa City police court room Friday to "increase the dignity of the court."

Seven Iowa City residents Friday petitioned the city council to erect signs cautioning motorists to drive slowly where children are playing in the 1300 and 1400 blocks of Rochester avenue.

Judge Harold D. Evans Friday took over the bench in Johnson county district court as Judge James P. Gaffney went to Marengo for the new term in the Iowa county district court there.

Easter Sunday brought intermittent bursts of wind and rain to Iowa City, ruling out the frills, tripperies and vanities of the citizenry.

However, church attendance held its own on the Day of Resurrection and the elements simply conspired in their distemper to give SUI students a long day of rest and rejuvenation for Monday's classes.

SHOBEN TO SPEAK

Prof. E.J. Shoben Jr., director of SUI student counseling service, will speak today at a noon meeting of the Iowa City Kiwanis club at Hotel Jefferson. His subject will be "Student Counseling Services in Universities."
