Demos Plan Campaign Against C-M Program

A last ditch, doorbell-ringing, old-fashioned political fight against the city manager plan was promised Wednesday night by the Iowa City Democratic party.

The party's central committee, by a majority vote, declared itself in opposition to such a plan in Iowa City and pledged its finances to a battle to defeat the plan in Monday's special election. Atty. William H. Bartley and Dorothy Borchart, committee co-chairmen, said.

Invite GOP Stand

The party also invited the city Republican party to take a stand on the issue before the election. "The party will seek full support of all Democrats and Republicans alike, to maintain the present two-party system," Bartley said.

At the same time, Atty. Clair E. Hamilton told an audience of about 350 persons in the Community building that the great majority of Iowa Citizens favor the city manager plan.

Hamilton is Bartley's law partner and chairman of the local Council - Manager association, which this week will end its campaign to get the city manager plan adopted here.

'Not Going to Defeat Us'

Presiding at an association-sponsored meeting, Hamilton said those opposing adoption of the system here "are not going to defeat us."

Bartley, according to Hamilton, admits in private conversation the city manager plan is a more efficient form of city government than the mayor - council system.

Chairman in 1921

Hamilton said Atty. Edward L. O'Connor, chairman of a group of non-partisan Iowa Citizens who oppose adoption of the plan, was chairman in 1921 of a group advocating the plan's adoption here.

While Hamilton spoke, O'Connor was addressing the city central Democratic committee and was urging outright opposition to and defeat of the city manager plan.

Two Break-Ins Reported In Iowa City Wednesday

Break-ins at two Iowa City homes within four blocks of each other occurred Wednesday evening, police reported.

Lee W. Glanz, 515 Clark street, told police at 9:45 p.m. that an intruder in his home fled through the front door when Mrs. Glanz entered a back door. No thefts were reported.

Eugene H. Haler, 607 Rundell street, informed police a burglar had taken an indeterminate amount of money and some jewelry.

And the Shirt Off His Back?

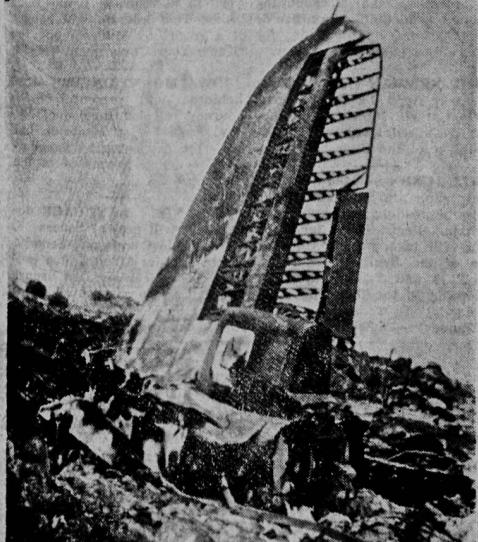

The Quadrangle dormitory's drive for old clothes Tuesday brought in enough articles to clothe the males in about 20 families and also revealed the unusual generosity of one Quad resident.

When asked if he had any clothing to donate to the World Student Service fund, Martin Tonn, G. Davenport, paused a moment and then said:

"Yeah, sure."

Whereupon he removed the suit he was wearing and tossed it in the collection basket.

B-29 Crash Kills 13 Airmen

(AP Wirephoto)

THIRTEEN MEN WERE KILLED when a B-29 crashed in a remote section of Sandia secret weapons base Tuesday night. The shattered tail assembly shown in this photograph was the largest fragment after taking off from the Kirtland New Mexico airbase. If the plane had flown 200 feet higher, it would have cleared the mountain side, authorities said.

Plan for SUI Political Party Days Praised

Prof. Kirk Porter, head of the political science department, praised SUI's new Political Party days program Wednesday and offered the full support of his department in carrying out the program's objectives.

May 9 has been set as Democratic party day and May 23 as Republican party day.

"It is a fine idea to bring men who are prominent and active in practical politics to the campus," Porter said. "Students very rarely have an opportunity to meet such people and to some students these men exist only in books."

"I am very glad," he continued, "that Dr. Ray, who has had significant experience in practical politics, has arranged for these activities."

Prof. Robert F. Ray, director of the SUI institute of public affairs, helped arrange and will supervise the program.

Porter said the program would give students who think they are interested in politics a chance to find out how they can get into the field.

"It is little short of calamity that in our universities," Porter said, "we profess to educate people to take a prominent part in all walks of life and so very few of them go into politics."

"Politics can be a very respectable calling," he said. He said the SUI program does not plan a "head-on partisan controversy." It will offer a fine opportunity for leaders of both parties to state their problems, what their parties stand for and who their candidates are.

Ray said both political parties are still working on invitations to major speakers who will represent them.

"Both parties promised they will provide top-notch representatives for their respective program," he said.

Medical College Post Filled by SUI Grad

An SUI graduate has been named head of orthopedic surgery at the SUI college of medicine, President Virgil M. Hancher announced Wednesday.

Dr. Carroll B. Larson, attending orthopedic physician at Massachusetts General hospital in Boston, will succeed Dr. Arthur Steindler, who retired Jan. 1, 1949, after 33 years of service at SUI.

He received his bachelor of science degree from SUI in 1931 and his doctor of medicine degree two years later.

Larson also is an assistant at the Harvard university medical school. He is a member of the American Medical Association, the editorial board of the New England Journal of Medicine, and various national orthopedic associations.

Until Larson assumes his duties Aug. 1, at SUI, Dr. Robert W. Newman, associate professor of orthopedic surgery, will continue as acting head of the department.

Coral Crest Man Named GOP County Chairman

Atty. William F. Morrison, Coral Crest, was elected chairman of the Johnson county Republican central committee at a party meeting in the Community building Wednesday night.

Morrison will succeed Hal Dane, route 4, who resigned. Dane said his resignation was the result of necessity to be "out of town" during the coming caucus.

Republican party primary caucuses will be held in Johnson county April 28, Dane said.

Thirteen Bodies Found in B-29 Wreckage

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—All thirteen bodies were recovered Wednesday from a B-29 which smashed into super-secret Sandia Base, home of the atomic bomb, but the airforce said the "mushroom-shaped" cloud that arose from the wreckage was caused by aviation gas, not fissionable material.

The big plane, of the type that carried the first A-bombs to Japan, crashed three minutes after it took off from nearby Kirtland airforce base, from which the big four-engined bombers fly almost daily on training missions connected with atomic research.

What Did You Say the Game Was?

IT'S ALL IN THE WAY THE BALL BOUNCES, these pre-game adversaries assert, as they iron out a few kinks in preparation for Saturday night's all-campus carnival basketball game. The game should provide plenty of bounce for everyone, and shares carnival honors only with the baby "crawl race," beginning at 8 p.m. in the fieldhouse. The gladiators shown above are (left to right) Prof. Russell Ross, political science department, captain of the faculty team; Fred Doderer, personnel office, captain of the administration team, and Graham Marshall, interfraternity business office. Carnival doors open at 7:30 p.m. and close at 11:30 p.m., with admission a mere 25 cents.

Professor Loehwing Named Acting Dean Of Graduate College

Prof. Walter F. Loehwing, head of the SUI botany department, has been named acting dean of the university graduate college for the remainder of the academic year or until a permanent appointment is made.

Announcement of Loehwing's appointment was made by SUI President V. M. Hancher Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the graduate college faculty. Loehwing will continue his duties in the botany department.

Loehwing, as acting graduate dean, will replace Prof. Harvey H. Davis, who was recently promoted from executive and graduate dean to provost of the university.

Hancher also announced Wednesday that the state board of education had approved the appointment of J. Richard Wilmet as associate professor of sociology.

Wilmet is associate professor in the division of social sciences at Central Washington college, Ellensburg, Wash. He will be in charge of an introductory social science course at SUI.

Remaining proceeds are all donated to charity, Arkoff said.

Race at 8 p.m. The baby "crawl race" gets underway on the fieldhouse basketball court at 8 p.m., with track team hurdler Russ Merkel, A4, Quincy, Ill., judging.

It will be followed by the faculty - administration basketball game, "guaranteed to be the grunt and groan joust of the century," Arkoff said.

The Hawkeye Man and Woman of the Year, chosen by ODK and Mortar Board respectively, will be announced at half-time. Each will be presented with $75, Arkoff said.

Banks to Get Key Tailfeathers' Sportsmanship Award winner Earl Banks, A4, Chicago, will be presented with a gold - and - onyx key at half-time by the Tailfeathers, he added.

Arkoff said this year's carnival will exceed last year's in size and entertainment.

Sideways will offer exotic "girl numbers" - South Sea "hula" routines included. Fortune tellers, games of skill and commissary booths all will be included in the festivities, Arkoff said.

One game gives the winner an opportunity to douse his partner (if of the opposite sex) with a bucket of "agua pura," he added.

Touhy long has contended that the kidnapping was a frameup, and his attorney, Robert Johnstone, told the board that Factor himself felt the former gangster should be pardoned.

Illinois Considers Pardoning Touhy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman started his sixth year as president Wednesday, a vastly more confident man than the shaken substitute called by tragedy to take command in the greatest nation and the biggest war. He is captain and quarterback on the first team now, confirmed by the people's vote. And as such he is calling his own plays instead of trying to base decisions on what Franklin D. Roosevelt would have done.

Called to White House It was just five years ago Wednesday that President Roosevelt died at Warm Springs, Ga., and Vice President Truman was called hurriedly to the White House to be sworn in as his successor.

Psychology Meeting To Feature Problem In Bednasek Trial

The Iowa Society of Psychologists will meet in Iowa City April 22 to decide what action to take on a legal - medical problem growing out of the Robert E. Bednasek trial.

Meeting at Hotel Jefferson, the members will decide whether to seek legal ruling on whether a clinical psychologist must testify in court on what he and his client discuss during a consultation.

The question was raised when Prof. E. J. Shoben Jr., of the SUI student counseling service, was requested by Presiding Judge James P. Gaffney to testify in the Bednasek trial.

Bednasek consulted Shoben months before he was charged with the death of SUI coed Margaret Anne Jackson. The court ordered Shoben to testify what Bednasek told him during the consultations.

Prof. Norman C. Meier, SUI psychology department, said the society probably would ask Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson's office for a ruling on the question, or would seek legislation granting psychologists the same immunity from testimony as ministers, doctors and lawyers now have.

Liberal Arts Lists Delinquent Grades

Names of SUI off-campus liberal arts students who received mid-semester marks of D or F have been placed on the delinquency list in the liberal arts advisory office, room 109 Schaeffer hall.

Prof. Clay H. Harshbarger, director of the office, Wednesday asked off-campus students to check the list.

Grade reports on students living in campus housing units have been sent to the office of student affairs, he said.

Housing unit scholarship chairman will pick up reports and notify delinquent students.

Truman Starts Sixth Year as U.S. President

And it will be five years today since he told newsmen, many of them old friends from his days on capitol hill:

"I don't know if any of you fellows ever had a load of hay or a bull fall on you. But last night the whole weight of the moon and the stars fell on me. If you fellows ever pray, please pray for me."

Full of Confidence Wednesday friends described the president as a man full of confidence - and ready to fight for his own solutions to America's problems.

The day found him in the middle of plans to do just that, in a "whistle stop" speechmaking drive across the nation next month.

Senate Row Starts On Republican Aide In Red Investigation

WASHINGTON—A row over the appointment of a Republican aide to help investigate charges of communism in the State department broke out Wednesday in the senate inquiry committee headed by Sen. Millard E. Tydings (D-Md.).

Tydings set off the dispute with an announcement to newsmen that he was holding up the appointment of Frederick Ayer, Jr., because Ayer is a candidate for political office. Ayer is seeking the Republican nomination for attorney general in the September primary in Massachusetts.

"Keep Politics Out" Tydings said he blocked Ayer from taking the post as assistant counsel to the committee on the ground that "every effort should be made to keep politics out" of the senate inquiry.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge (R-Mass), who sponsored Ayer's appointment, denounced Tydings' action as "a gross discourtesy and injustice to Mr. Ayer."

Did Not Seek Job He said Ayer "did not seek the appointment in the first place and agreed to do so at a sacrifice to himself and entirely as a matter of public duty."

The American people do not want candidates for office appointed to our staff to help conduct this investigation," Tydings said. "Every effort should be made to keep politics out of it."

Lodge, one of two GOP members of the subcommittee, promptly fired back with a statement of his own pointing out that the appointment of Ayer was "unanimously" approved by the investigators Wednesday.

"Senator Tydings has had three weeks in which to investigate Mr. Ayer's record," he said. "As a result of this investigation, Mr. Ayer won unanimous approval by the entire committee membership."

FBI headquarters said Ayer, a graduate of Harvard and Harvard law school, joined the FBI as a special agent in 1941 and resigned late in 1945 after an outstanding record on FBI assignments in Washington, Cincinnati, Boston and Europe.

Red China Ratifies Treaty with Russia

TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP)—The Peiping radio announced today Communist China has ratified its 30-year treaty of "mutual aid and amity" with the Soviet Union.

The alliance binding the world's two largest Communist countries was signed in Moscow Feb. 14 by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky and Chou En-Lai, premier and foreign minister of Red China.

The Peiping broadcast, monitored here, said separate agreements with Russia covering the future of the Changchun railway, Port Arthur and Dairen, all in Manchuria, also have been ratified. So had another providing a Soviet loan of $300-million to Red China, the radio said.

These agreements, like the 30-year-alliance, were signed by Vishinsky and Chou at Moscow Feb. 14 after 60 days of negotiations in the Russia capital by Mao Tze-Tung, the Chinese Communist leader.

Arsonist Committed

NORRISTOWN, PA. (AP)—Nicholas A. Verna, 26-year-old war veteran who admitted setting the fire that cost 10 lives at Bella Vista sanatorium two weeks ago, was sent to the Fairview state hospital for the criminally insane Wednesday.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, democratic leader in the senate, described the president's attitude and views to a reporter:

"He is confident and in a happy frame of mind. He thinks conditions throughout the country are good. He thinks world problems are not insolvable. He is ready to fight for his program."

Senator Brewster of Maine, chairman of the GOP senatorial campaign committee, expressed this Republican view:

"We wish Mr. Truman - but not his program - a long life. We still consider him the Republican's best asset."

The anniversary, with slight variations, was a business-as-usual White House day.

Pay Your Money, Take Your Choice —

A suggestion that SUI students be taxed to pay for street repairs is arousing mixed reaction. It gathers support on both sides of the fence. There are those who grin delightedly and start figuring how much less they'll have to pay in property taxes if students are assessed a wheel tax.

Then there are those who laugh off the whole business and announce the proposal is preposterous as well as illegal. A check of the city code by the city council's streets and alleys committee will probably clear up the questioned legality.

However, there is another consideration. As we pointed out in these columns Wednesday, students are already contributing to property taxes when they pay their room rent if they live off campus, and they really have a voice in the city's government.

Many indeed have availed themselves of this privilege by becoming bona fide citizens of Iowa City and voting in city elections. This is especially true in married students housing.

Many students move their families here and settle down in Iowa City. There are approximately 1,000 married students living here.

We'd like to remind these Iowa Citizens that here is their chance to make their vote felt — and soon. In the city election April 17, one question concerns whether to retain our mayor-council form of government or to try the council-manager form.

The Daily Iowan already has announced it favors a change in government. But we don't want to cram our opinion down anyone's throat. The choice is the voter's.

But we feel that Iowa Citizens will get a more judicious use of the money they spend here if they vote in the council-manager plan.

This suggested wheel tax aimed at student motorists seems tied up with the approaching election.

'Political Days' An Opportunity —

The announcement that national and state political leaders of both major parties will meet on this campus next month, marks a pleasant reversal from the days of the 1948 elections.

At that time the state board of education slapped a political speech ban on the campus, forbidding any partisan speeches on university property.

Later the board lifted the ban in a move which apparently recognized the importance of education in a democracy.

Previously, U.S. universities had tended to isolate students from politics. The universities had tried to shield students from the catch phrase, "dirty politics."

Now, however, with such events as the planned "Political Days" on the SUI campus, the Iowa board of education has indicated that it feels students are mature individuals who should participate in politics.

Prof. Robert F. Ray, director of the SUI institute of public affairs, said Wednesday one of the aims of the two one-day programs is to give students "an opportunity to participate actively in their home communities during the coming campaigns."

Actually, there is a wonderful opportunity for students to work in politics. People generally do a lot of complaining about politics, but as Mark Twain said about the weather, "People do a lot of talking about it, but nobody does anything about it."

The "Political Days" could ignite an interest in politics that would lead to the active student participation which is an objective of the programs.

Actually, on college and university campuses, potential political leaders can learn the requisites for intelligent leadership so necessary in a democracy.

The programs will include a history of each party, the objectives of each and the future of the Republican and Democratic parties. Students should figure prominently in the future of both parties.

Case of Good Judgment —

Since the Bednasek case, there has been much talk and many newspapers accounts of the "unrestrained" environment in Iowa City.

An Iowa newspaper said Sunday, "Whether deserved or not, Iowa City has had the reputation of being less restrained than other college towns in the state."

In essence the story said that in this town, students drink and carouse — but that now, due to the Bednasek case, regulations have been tightened and students are restricting themselves in a post-calamity atmosphere.

Where these misconceptions come from is a mystery. There was no mention of any source for the "reputation" statement or any facts concerning it.

Certainly, there is a percentage of older SUI students who drink — about the same percentage as could be found on any campus with an enrollment the size of SUI's.

An SUI professor has reportedly said that university rules should be more sternly enforced, "We've got to follow up hard on these things," he was quoted as saying.

It would seem the professor is trying to curb the effect without considering the cause. Such additional barriers to restrict students activities would only spur more violations and create hostility among students.

Throughout the criticisms of campus life in Iowa City, there has been no mention of the lack of sufficient recreational facilities.

The planned addition to the Iowa Union may provide these, if administered wisely, but at present, students are forced to search high and low and are often left high and dry for a decent place to take a date for a respectable evening of entertainment.

Walter R. Goetsch, dean of SUI students said, in the same newspaper account, "There are no more pitfalls for the youth of today in Iowa City than elsewhere."

In addition President Virgil Hancher has said that it is not only impractical to police 10,000 students but that the university does not feel it necessary to deal with adult students in a childish way.

That policy has prevailed at the university for many years and we feel it is a wise one.

Budget Director May Ease Conflicts

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—Despite all the strains and stresses, President Truman's relations with congress may take a turn for the better, now that canny Frederick J. Lawton has been appointed director of the bureau of the budget.

That there could even be such a possibility now — in the face of the clash between congressional investigators and the White House over security files, the civil rights controversy, and Truman's contemplated barnstorming tour in a congressional election year — indicates something deeply significant about Lawton personally and the unique job he fills.

Capital commentators have made "the powerful bureau of the budget" almost a stock phrase in their reports, but the nation at large probably still is unaware of the key role played by that branch of the executive office of the President.

And even here in the capital city, Fred Lawton's unusual ability in handling delicate situations in the highest workings of the federal government machinery largely went unnoticed until his appointment to succeed Frank Pace Jr., who was named secretary of the army, in one of this administration's few big shakeups.

The shakeup itself focused attention on the budget bureau job, and the way it has been producing key men of late. After Harold A. Smith, who was Franklin D. Roosevelt's budget director, resigned as head of the bureau in 1946 to become acting head of the new world bank setup, James E. Webb took over.

WEBB, a 39-year-old administration "fire ball," was largely unheralded in his new position, but he made such a record that he later was named undersecretary of state to spruce things up administratively in the state department when Secretary Dean Acheson concentrated on diplomacy.

Currently he shares with roving Ambassador Philip C. Jessup the job of making everything shipshape in the state department to withstand the determined assaults of Acheson's critics.

Frank Pace Jr., a lanky 37-year-old Arkansas lawyer, who a 14 was hailed as a child prodigy and whose brilliant intellect has impressed almost everyone he has come in contact with since, followed Webb. He kept the bureau in a key position, and added to his own stature.

The way was cleared for Lawton's promotion when President Truman had to find a successor for retiring Army Secretary Gray, and turned to Pace. Air Secretary Stuart Symington might have received the nod, but he already was needed as chairman of the national security resources board.

IT IS doubtful if Truman would have run the risk of weakening his administrative team in another vital quarter by transferring Pace, had not astute Fred Lawton not been so available.

Actually, the bureau of the budget fulfills a much more dynamic role than simply the preparation of the annual seven-pound document, formidable as that task is in itself.

Originally the conception of Gen. Charles G. Dawes and his stepping-stone to the vice - presidency under Coolidge, the bureau is aptly described as the "management arm" of the White House. Its staff of about 600 specialists includes efficiency experts who look over the shoulders of many high government officials, including cabinet officers themselves, who are not supposed to make a single recommendation to congress without clearance from the bureau.

NATURALLY, this tight rein on the executive department causes chaffing. Some congressmen have assailed bitterly the power of the bureau, and recalled fondly the days — when the house ways and means committee tried to do the budget job alone.

As F. D. R.'s budget "hatchet man," Harold Smith became so unpopular on Capitol Hill that finally it was decided that a suave aide with a knack for making friends with and influencing congressmen should appear in his stead. That man was Fred Lawton.

Lawton could not always make irate congressmen happy, but he won their personal regard and affection. Possessed of a "passion for anonymity," Lawton sought no higher position than his career job in the bureau. He repeatedly declined the assistant chief post in the bureau.

Now, however, he is thrust squarely into the center of the stage, and his associates are counting on his being able to continue to win the respect and understanding of congressmen, even if he cannot always make them joyful over administration viewpoints.

Originally the conception of Gen. Charles G. Dawes and his stepping-stone to the vice - presidency under Coolidge, the bureau is aptly described as the "management

Interpreting the News — Bomber Clash Stirs Fear

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
First reports regarding an incident between an American bomber and Russian fighter planes are so incomplete as to give no hints as to the merits of Andrei Vishinsky's charge of a gross boundary violation.

There are usually two sides to such a case — if the clash actually is proven to have occurred, American pilots in Europe are under strict orders to keep themselves well within their rights, and it is hard to believe that any deliberate violation has occurred.

The Russians, however, are particularly sensitive about the Baltic area. Sweden has been having trouble with them for months because the Russians entertain what seems to be a very elastic view of just how far their territorial waters extend.

Several Swedish vessels have been seized in what used to be free waters, and the Stockholm government has been unable to obtain from Russia a clear delineation of just what she considers the boundaries to be.

And the U.S. has never formally recognized Russian sovereignty over Latvia at all. In such a situation, it wouldn't be hard for an American plane, such as the missing Navy privateer lost or forced off course by weather which has been bad in the area for several days, to run into trouble with Russian patrols.

It is the sort of incident that can be blown up into a major dispute if anyone wishes to do so, or can be settled amicably. The Yugoslavs created a serious international incident by shooting down two American planes which were off course over their territory, killing five people. But the matter was negotiated and gradually forgotten.

Washington was giving no sign of its attitude in the first few hours after the report arrived, waiting for details without adopting any preconceived conceptions. Observers believed there would be every tendency on the part of the U.S. government to treat such a clash as an untoward accident, that proved possible without at the same time involving appeasement.

Vulnerable Targets . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

Three cheers for His Honor, the Mayor! In making a man pay for criticizing the government and its leaders, he should join the ranks of Uncle Joe. He should especially tax the veterans who are desperately trying to combine an education with eking out a living. They undoubtedly use the streets more frequently, anyway, in their numerous trips uptown to purchase food and clothing for their families. To these students, not generally proud possessors of new automobiles with soft, cushiony springs, these bumps have probably become sore spots.

Did it ever occur to you, Mr. Mayor, that without the student body your city would be in a desperate financial situation? What industries do you have to employ your citizens and to pay taxes toward your city's upkeep? Don't these students contribute their share by their purchasing power in your retail stores and businesses?

I don't believe that criticism from the student body is any more prevalent or violent than from other residents of Iowa City. It is merely the fact that students do not contribute to the city's treasury, and for the most part, cannot participate in city elections, that makes them vulnerable targets. Not voters, due to failure to meet either age or residence requirements, these students do not materially jeopardize your position as mayor of this city.

Because there are so many colleges and universities throughout the United States which welcome students to their cities, I do not feel that His Honor, the Mayor, was wise or justified in his attack upon Iowa University's student body.

Student 'Bleeding' . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

Mayor Koser's suggestion that SUI students help bear the cost of street repairs in Iowa City is another indication of the continued "bleeding" of students that has been in practice for a long time.

I have been a student here off and on for a number of years and

I have been impressed by the "suck the student" attitude prevalent in Iowa City. It probably is no worse here than in any other university or college town.

Mayor Koser should take cognizance of the fact that but for the university he would probably be the mayor of an unincorporated country village.

Bargain Situation . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

Although Mr. Mahaney makes a point in his letter on the equality question, it is hardly fair for women to be slaves and followers of men in exchange for the chivalrous niceties that cause Mr. Mahaney so much concern.

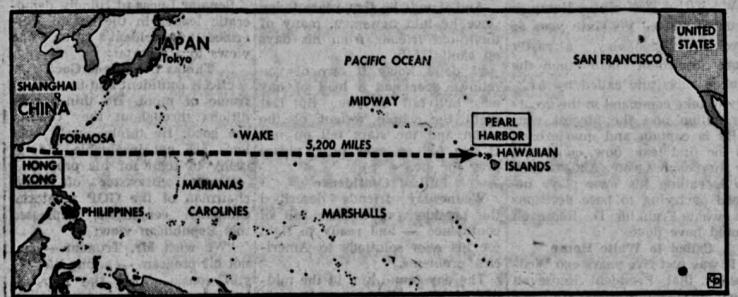

As the situation now remains the bargain is, "Opening doors for scubbing floors."

I wouldn't complain, Mr. Mahaney.

Furthermore, men enjoy babying women more than women enjoy being babyed. Pampering is a common device used by all males to inflate their own egos and make themselves feel superior.

Navy's Longest Underwater Voyage

HONG KONG TO PEARL HARBOR, the voyage of the U.S. navy submarine Pickrel made without surfacing, was the longest such trip known to navy authorities. The snorkel-equipped Pickrel traveled the 5,200 mile journey in 21 days. "Snorkel" is a German developed "breathing" device for submarines.

Mayor Urges Iowa Citizens To Plant Flower Gardens

Mayor Preston Koser issued a proclamation Wednesday announcing a petunia-planting project sponsored by the Iowa City Woman's club.

The proclamation stated: "The Iowa City Woman's club is about to launch a campaign urging all citizens to plant petunias in their yards and gardens and city officials to do likewise on appropriate public property."

"In past years SUI has set a good example by planting these flowers in the vicinity of the theater and Iowa Union.

Blanket of Flowers
"Let us gladly support the request of the Woman's club and all join in the spring and summer in blanketing our city with beauty in the manner proposed."

The campaign seeks to "beautify and unify Iowa City with petunias," according to Mrs. G.E. Grunewald, chairman of the drive. The committee is seeking cooperation from trailer residents, fraternity and sorority housing units and city dwellers.

Flower Beds
Petunias were chosen, the chairman explained, because they are showy flowers, presenting a good mass appearance. They bloom from early summer until the first frost, provide a colorful appearance and are appropriate for flower beds and window boxes. Petunias also withstand heat.

Gertrude Dennis is president of the Iowa City Woman's club. Assisting Mrs. Grunewald will be Mrs. Lee Colony, Mrs. E.W. Howe, Mrs. C.C. Erb and Mrs. E.T. Hubbard.

Gardeners Practice In Petunia Project

The "petunia campaign" to beautify Iowa City will provide an added incentive for amateur and experienced gardeners to till the soil.

Turning over the garden soil is fun if the ground is in the right condition.

To test the ground for spading, mould a ball of earth in your hand, and pat it to make a mud pie. If the pie holds together, the soil is too wet to spade. If it crumbles go ahead.

What to Spade
The first day's work might be a strip six feet wide, running the shortest dimension of the garden. At one end dig a ditch, about one foot wide and the depth of the spade.

Take a small slice of the soil, lift it up and turn the spade over, so that the top soil falls underneath and the bottom soil on top. Fertilizer should be spread over the area evenly before spading.

When you're ready to plant flowers grown in rows, remember that every minute spent in making the rows straight, parallel and precise will save an hour in the work of caring for them later on.

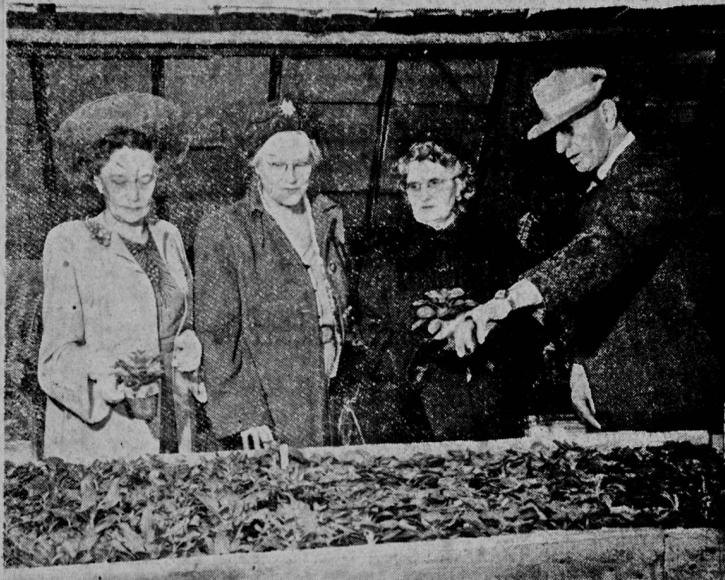

Planting Rules
Plants growing 12 inches tall or less may be spaced 10 inches to a foot apart and cultivated with hand tools.

The old rule that seeds should be sown to a depth equal to four times their diameter is a fairly good one. To some extent the depth of the larger seeds will depend upon the nature of the soil.

If flower seeds are to be sown, modern practice favors shallow planting. Just how deep to place them is not too important, provided they are not too deep. In sandy loam they may go a little deeper than in heavy clay; and in hot weather they should be at least twice as deep as in the moist spring weather.

FLOWER DEMONSTRATION
Frank Lee, Iowa City florist, will demonstrate flower arrangement and plant care to Rotary club members at their noon meeting today at the Hotel Jefferson.

Koser Backs Woman's Club to Beautify City

Welfare Conference To Hear 2 Leaders In Midwestern Work

Two leading midwestern social welfare administrators will take part in the Iowa Welfare Association conference which opens here today. Prof. Wayne Vasey, director of the school of social work, said Wednesday.

They are John C. Kidneigh, director of the school of social work at the University of Minnesota, and Edna Nicholson, director of the Central Service for Chronically Ill in Chicago.

Vasey said Kidneigh will speak at a banquet today in the River room of the Iowa Union at 6:30 p.m.

His topic will be "The Quest for Competence in Welfare Administration." Miss Nicholson will lead a discussion section concerned with "Problems of Aged Persons."

The conference is designed to improve skills for community service, he said. Ten phases of social work and correction will be studied during the two-day meeting in the Union.

The conference is being sponsored by the Iowa Welfare association, SUI's School of Social work, department of sociology and extension division, Vasey said.

Veteran Luke Appling Leaves White Sox, Tribune Reports

Wife Says Player Didn't Desert Club

CHICAGO (P) — The Chicago Tribune reported Wednesday night that Luke Appling, 41-year-old shortstop for the Chicago White Sox, has left the team at Memphis, Tenn., in a huff.

At Memphis, White Sox officials denied Wednesday night that there was any rift between Appling and the club.

The newspaper said in a dispatch from Memphis the veteran of 20 years at shortstop for the Sox had left for his home in Atlanta, Ga.

At Roswell, Ga., Appling's wife said there is nothing to the rumor that he left the club. She said Appling just stopped by at Roswell and left to join the club at Memphis.

Mrs. Appling said she was indignant about the rumor and that Luke would be too, if he knew about it.

travel to and from night games. "It also was reported that Luke is not ready to retire from active work, and thus was a little more than irked over the way his successor, Chico Carrasquel, moved into the shortstop post."

It is no secret that Sox officials are pleased with the performance of the sensational 22-year-old Venezuelan. Carrasquel's fielding has been one of the few bright spots in the Sox' exhibition tour.

Manager Jac Onsiow has announced he will start Carrasquel at short in the Sox' American league opener against St. Louis here Tuesday.

"I am forced to go with Carrasquel," Onsiow said. "He's got speed and youth on his side, and he's tops as a fielder and a thrower. We don't know if he can hit major league pitching until we give him a good shot — and that is exactly what I aim to do."

Ken Keltner Given Release by Indians

TOPEKA, KAN. (P) — Kenny Keltner said a sad "so long" to the Cleveland Indians Wednesday, never again to play for them after 12 rugged years as their regular third baseman.

Then, without apparent bitterness, Kenny packed his bags and headed for his home town, Milwaukee, wondering what he'll do now. He's never been anything but a ball player.

Keltner got his unconditional release from Manager Lou Boudreau, his pal and teammate for 11 of those years. Lou, announcing that Rookie Al Rosen will take over for Ken on opening day, called springing the news to Keltner "one of the toughest jobs I ever had."

Great Friends

"We've been great friends," said Boudreau, "and he always has been a manager's ball player. Ken took it like the great guy he is. I guess it didn't come as a surprise to him. He was rather expecting it."

"But that's the game. One of these days somebody could be telling me the same thing."

As for the new third baseman, the Cleveland manager went on: "Rosen has youth and we have Bob Kennedy ready to step in should Rosen fail to find his batting power. In fact I haven't been worrying about the third base situation at all, because Kennedy's always been in my mind."

Almost to the end, Boudreau was loyally insisting that the 33-year-old Keltner was his number one third baseman. Wednesday he admitted he was playing him regularly in the hope that General Manager Hank Greenberg would be convinced.

This didn't work. After Tuesday's game against the Giants in Wichita, Greenberg and Boudreau huddled. Keltner, they decided, must go.

'Winter' Winds Prevent Second Iowa-Irish Game

Iowa and Notre Dame were forced to cancel the second of their scheduled two game baseball series Wednesday because of cold winds and frozen diamond conditions.

Tuesday's game, the first home contest scheduled for the Hawkeyes, was called off for the same reasons. Iowa will open Big Ten competition Friday and Saturday at Champaign, Ill., playing a pair of games with Illinois.

Next home appearance of the Hawkeyes is set for April 17 and 18 when they will meet Bradley.

Legs Gone

"His legs are gone, his wrists seem to have lost their snap, too," admitted Lou. "He hasn't been able to get any extra base hits this spring."

Keltner came to the Indians in 1937 from the Milwaukee Brewers. In his first full season — 1938 — he swatted .276 and hit 26 home runs. The following year he hit .325.

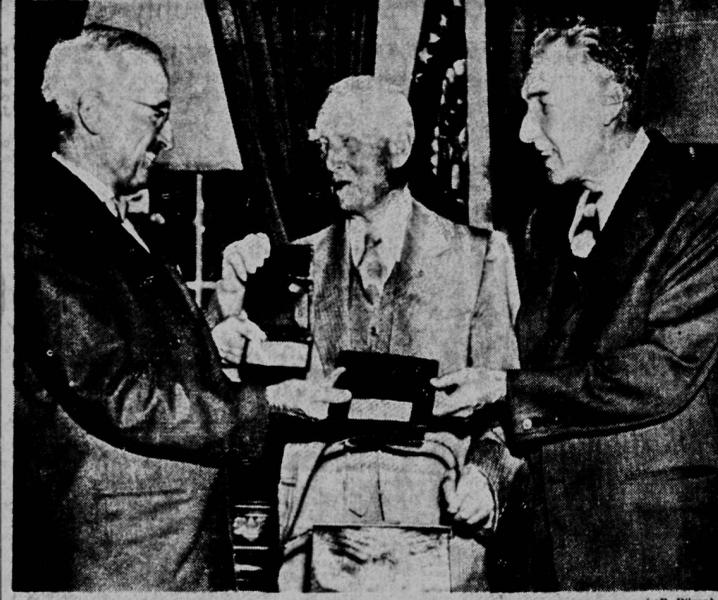

But his biggest year from the standpoint of value came in 1948 when he clouted 31 homers and batted .297, supplying a big portion of the punch that won the Indians the pennant and the world series.

Then last season he dropped to .232. He was obviously slowing in the field.

"We could have sold him," explained Boudreau, "but he deserved better treatment than that after all the fine years he gave to Cleveland. Now he's free to make his own deals."

HARDING RESIGNS

WEST LIBERTY — James Harding, former Iowa gridder, resigned Wednesday as head football and basketball coach of the high school here. Harding joined the faculty last year, succeeding John Hunter, who left to coach at Atlantic. Harding did not announce his future plans.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN RECEIVED a season pass to major league ball games Wednesday in ceremonies at the White House. Shown making the presentation are Clark Griffith, center, president of the Washington Senators and Fred Frick, right, president of the National League. Truman asked Frick if the elephant hide cover on the National League pass was of the GOP variety. The chief executive assured Griffith and Frick that he will be ready to toss out the first ball on opening day Tuesday.

Time Trials to Pick Iowa's Meet Entries

Time trials to determine whether or not Iowa will send a relay team to the Kansas relays April 22 will be held today Coach Francis Cretzmeyer announced.

Weather permitting, the trials will be held on the outdoor track.

At least one Hawk is already slated to compete in the Lawrence meet. Russ Merkel, king of the Big Ten hurdlers, was named by Cretzmeyer for the affair.

Coach Cretzmeyer also has made plans to pit his varsity thinclads against the freshmen on Saturday for additional practice before the coming meets at Champaign and Lawrence.

Chicago Whips Cardinals, 8-4

HOUSTON, TEX. (AP) — Howard Pollet suddenly lost his stuff in the seventh inning Wednesday and the Chicago Cubs pounded out an 8-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A three-run homer by Andy Pafko was the big blow in the seventh uprising which netted five runs for the windy city crew. They added two more in the eighth, aided by two balks by Rookie Johnny Yuhas.

Bob Rush and Bill Voiselle blanked the Birds in all but the sixth inning when they put over four runs, climaxed by a two-run homer by Eddie Kazak.

A crowd of 2,666 saw the two clubs close out their Texas engagement. They will play today at Little Rock, Ark.

INDIANS 9, GIANTS 4

TOPEKA, KANS. (P) — Bob Feller looked well on the comeback trail for four innings Wednesday in an exhibition game the Cleveland Indians won from the New York Giants, 9-4.

But in the fifth, Don Mueller doubled and Feller walked three, forcing in a run. Monte Kennedy then singled in two more runs and another scored on Henry Thompson's grounder.

Feller, who won 15 and lost 14 last season, pitched for six innings allowing three hits. He was followed by Al Benton and Mike Garcia.

Allie Clark's seventh inning home run with one aboard put the Indians ahead. Larry Doby hit another four-bagger in the eighth which scored three Indian runs.

YANKS 6, REDS 4

CINCINNATI (P) — New York Yankee hitting was too powerful and the pitching too good for Cincinnati's Reds Wednesday, the world champions winning an exhibition game, 6-4.

Only 2,672 overcoated fans paid to see the event.

Allie Reynolds was the winning pitcher. He was nicked for six safeties in six innings. Fred Sanford finished for the Yanks. Johnny Hetki was the losing hurler. Johnny Mize, veteran first baseman, hit a homer with a man on base in the second inning. Cliff Mapes duplicated the feat in the seventh. Yogi Berra got four hits in as many times at bat.

Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati's first baseman, got a home run in the ninth.

Battle of Decade — Faculty vs. Administration

— At Campus Carnival

By JACK SQUIRE

Now that City college and Bradley have finished their feud, the national basketball spotlight is focused squarely on Iowa City where, Saturday, two of the greatest quintets of the decade clash at the fieldhouse.

Yes, that's the night that SU's faculty, those "po' little boys," throw aside the books to meet their active rivals, the administration all-stars.

This eagerly awaited contest of court titan, which will be featured in the all-campus carnival, is, according to unreliable sources, to be aired on a nation-wide hookup, to say nothing of the many out-of-town reporters expected to be on hand for the big battle.

Talent Collection

The national interest in the affair is not surprising since never before has such a collection of talent been on display at one time.

Just consider some of the court wizards who will strut their stuff at the carnival. The pros, in particular, boast a galaxy of stars.

Heading the academic "boys" will be captain Russell (city manager) Ross who teaches a few political science classes when he isn't scoring baskets. Ross is especially deadly from outside as he often demonstrated during his years with the Minneapolis Fakers.

Another prolific point producer for the pros is Eugene Harlan of journalism and commerce fame. Harlan, formerly of the Chicago Hags, is most effective from in close.

Leo Sweeney, also of the money college (commerce to you) is the floorman of the squad and no slacker at scoring either.

Chief threats for the administration are fraternity business manager Graham Marshall, a towering center, and Flave Hamburg of the treasurer's office.

These boys handle a basketball as adroitly as they grasp dollar bills the first of every month. No further recommendation is needed.

Good Coaching

Not that they require it, but the coaching for both sides will also be of the highest calibre. No less a maestro than Bucky O'Connor, Iowa's acting head basketball coach, will reportedly guide the professors.

The identity of the administration's tutor has been kept a closely guarded secret, but according to Fred Doderer, that team's captain, "he's going to be a big surprise."

Auerbach Resigns As Tri-City Coach

WASHINGTON (P) — Arnold (Red) Auerbach resigned Wednesday as head coach of the National Basketball association's Tri-City Blackhawks.

Auerbach, pro basketball's most successful and highest paid mentor, wrote Executive Director Ben Kerner that he was resigning because of "poor health." He had one year to go on a two-year contract at a reported $25,000 a year.

The former George Washington university cage star lost more than 17 pounds during the latter part of last season. Following a complete physician examination two days ago, Auerbach is now under a doctor's care. He is slated to undergo a tonsillectomy next week.

Auerbach piloted the Tri-City club (Moline and Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport) into third place in the NBA's western division in 1949-50. When he took over a club shortly after the season began, the Blackhawks were floundering near the division cellar.

Just Because He Plays Football

SOMEWHAT EMBARRASSED by it all, Leon Hart, Notre Dame's all-American end, takes Actress Betty Adams in his arms for a recent screen test at Universal — International studio. Hart has since returned to his classes at South Bend while studio executives study the test to determine if he has a future in the movies.

Mickey Walker's Story Purchased for Filming

HOLLYWOOD (P) — The fabulous boxing career of Mickey Walker, former world welterweight and middleweight champion and one of the ring's toughest pound-for-pound fighters, is headed for the screen.

Film rights to the Walker story were bought Wednesday by H.T. (Hank) Givens, former midwest newspaper man.

The movie will be made from the recently completed book by Walker's daughter, Pat, called "The Toy Bulldog." The film will have the same title.

Requirements for five scholarships open to SUI students have been announced by Dean of Students Walter R. Goetsch.

The LaVerne Noyes scholarship which covers basic registration fees requires:

A student must be a direct blood descendant of a World War I veteran who enlisted before Nov. 11, 1918, or served overseas. A certified copy of the veteran's discharge papers must accompany the application for the scholarship.

If the student is an entering freshman he must be in the upper one-third of his high school graduating class and have an overall high school grade record average of 2.5.

Applicants for the scholarship who have had one semester in an undergraduate college must have a 2.5 grade average for that semester.

Transfer students must have a 2.5 transfer grade average.

3.0 for Merit Award

The Merit scholarship which awards $50 each semester requires:

A student must be a resident of Iowa and must have a 3.0 grade average or better for the entire school year prior to the application for scholarship. No student is eligible unless he had had at least one year of work at SUI.

Applicants must show evidence of "citizenship in outside activities," or if the student is needy, part-time employment.

The Carr scholarship which covers basic registration fees requires:

Applicants who are entering freshmen must have an over-all high school grade average of 2.5 or better and be in the upper one-third of the graduating class. All other students must have 2.5 or higher grade averages for the two semesters of work prior to the application for the scholarship.

Covers Basic Fees

The student aid scholarship covers the basic registration fees and requires:

1. Applicants to be residents of Iowa and self-supporting.
2. Entering freshmen applying for the scholarship must be in the upper one-third of their high school class and have an over-all grade average of 2.5 or better.
3. College sophomores, juniors and seniors must have at least a 2.5 grade average.

The "I" club scholarship is awarded to a student who is an outstanding participant in some phase of extra-curricular activity. Students must have a 2.0 grade

Professor to Speak On English Literature

Prof. B. Efor Evans, principal of Queen Mary college, University of London, will give the first of two lectures here today, Prof. Baldwin Maxwell, head of the SUI English department, said Wednesday.

Evans, who taught at SUI during the summer session of 1925, will discuss "Literature in England Between the Wars," in the first lecture, Maxwell said.

Friday his topic will be "The Contemporary Theatre in England." Both lectures will be held in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 8 p.m.

average or better for the two semesters prior to the application for the scholarship. Entering freshmen applying must be in the upper half of their graduating class.

Covers Tuition

The scholarship covers complete tuition fees.

The deadline for the Merit scholarship applications is May 15, Goetsch said.

Applications for scholarship renewals should be in by June 15 and applications for new scholarships should be filed by August 15, he said.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained at the office of student affairs, University hall.

Century Turns Again

Bernard Shaw's Play Recalls, Exaggerates Life During Early Years of 'Horseless Carriage'

Dearie, do you remember . . . ? The S-curved female shape, homes furnished with Victorian richness, and the first, strange horseless carriage of the early 1900's?

In George Bernard Shaw's play, "Man and Superman," opening tonight at the University theater, "first nighters" will find life in that period portrayed with the slight exaggeration necessary for comedy.

Prof. Harold Crain of the dramatic arts department said one of the reasons he enjoys directing Shaw's plays is because of the "elegance in play, body in lines and quality in ideas" the plays possess.

Shaw at Forefront

Crain said Shaw was at the "forefront of comedy writers of all ages" and called "Man and Superman" one of the "earlier plays which still has meaning."

Three sets will be used for the play, each with the exaggeration consistent with gestures and costumes.

Difficult, But Fun

Prof. Arnold Gillette of the dramatic arts department said the sets would be done in two dimensions with architectural effects painted on in the technique of the latter part of the 19th century. "It's difficult, but it's lots of fun," Gillette said, when discussing work on these sets as opposed to work on three-dimensional, realistic sets.

Ribbons and flowers, feathers and a fur boa, taffeta, organdy and net clothe the women in the play.

Mary Louise Gaupp, instructor in dramatic art, said the women's costumes would emphasize tight waists formed by actual boned corsets of the period, full sleeves, and extremely full skirts and trains.

Still Bears Price Tag

Many accessories and costumes were donated, Mrs. Gaupp said. One donated suit which will be used in the play still had the original price tag on it.

Men's costumes resemble suits worn by men today, Mrs. Gaupp said. However, suits in 1905 didn't fit quite so well as suits do today, she added.

Flat straw hats, gray - striped morning trousers, dusters, goggles and riding caps worn when traveling in automobiles also will be worn by the cast.

Kuever's Mother Dies at Lowden

Mrs. Caroline Kuever, 88, mother of Dean R. A. Kuever of the SUI college of pharmacy, died early Wednesday morning at her home in Lowden.

She had been in a weakened condition since she fell and broke her hip several weeks ago.

Dean and Mrs. Kuever, vacationing in Houston, Texas, were notified of the death immediately, according to Dean Emeritus W. J. Teeters, long-time friend of Kuever's in the SUI college of pharmacy.

Teeters said the Kuevers were driving back, and expected to get to Lowden sometime this afternoon.

Mrs. Kuever also is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Bertha Reinking of Lowden, and three brothers.

Binaggio Killing Linked To Underworld Fears

JEFFERSON CITY, MO. (AP) — Gov. Forrest Smith speculated Tuesday two gang killings in Kansas City last week stemmed from underworld fear of what a federal grand jury might learn about criminal operations.

Charles Binaggio, north side political leader and one of the Democratic governor's supporters, and Binaggio's strong arm man, Charles Gargotta, were mowed down Wednesday night in a Democratic club on Truman road.

Keota Man Fined $27.50 For Writing Bad Check

Robert G. Adam, Keota, was fined $27.50 on a bad check charge by Judge Emil G. Trott in police court Wednesday.

He was released on condition that all bad checks outstanding be paid up, and no more written, the judge said.

Roy Zinkula, 717 Iowa avenue, was granted a continuation of hearing until Friday on a hit and run charge, Trott said.

Prof. Maxwell to Teach At Bard's Birthplace

Prof. Baldwin Maxwell, head of the SUI English department, will serve as a teacher and lecturer this summer at the Stratford theater, a center for Shakespearean study, Stratford-on-Avon, England.

The British Arts council announced that Maxwell will join Prof. G.B. Harris of the University of Michigan and representatives from France, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Iran and China.

City High Pupils Hear Koser, Hamilton Discuss C-M Plan

Pros and cons of the council-manager form of government were pointed out to City high school students Wednesday by Atty. Clair Hamilton, chairman of the local council-manager association, and Mayor Preston Koser.

Hamilton explained that council-manager government in Iowa City is not being sponsored by political groups, special interest groups or SUI.

Among advantages of the plan, Hamilton listed elimination of the spoils system, equal representation and "streamlined" management to save the tax dollar.

The expense of a city manager's salary could be made up partly by the funds now going to the mayor and councilmen. The biggest saving, however, would come through long-range planning, he said.

Hamilton cited several instances in which money could have been saved through efficient investigation by a city manager.

One was the purchase of a snow loading machine by the city against the advice of the city engineer. Its operation was found to be faulty, and it now stands idle, he said.

Another instance was the purchase of a parking lot for $40,000 when the property was listed with a local real estate company for $32,000.

Hamilton also said traffic lights at the intersection at the west end of the Burlington street bridge purchased for $6,000 or $7,000 did not work.

He concluded that council-manager government would do away with the spoils system and petty politics in city government, cut red tape, permit long-range planning and get the voter the most for his tax dollar.

Mayor Koser said, "Iowa City has been governed by the mayor-council form of government for 97 years, and it must have some good qualities, or it would have been discarded long ago."

The present administration in less than three years has been responsible for the Benton street bridge, the new swimming pool, new street lights in the business district, paving Iowa avenue and re-routing highway one over Dodge street and Iowa avenue, he said.

In Ames, the most efficiently managed city under the council-manager plan, the annual cost of city operation is $20.08 a person, as compared with Iowa City's $15.68, under the mayor-council plan, Koser said.

Koser indicated that only three changes were made in public positions when the present administration came into office, in answer to the spoils system charge.

The only thing the city manager will have anything to say about in Iowa City is the eight men working at the sewage disposal plant, and it is one of the best managed plants in eastern Iowa, Koser said.

"If we vote to change to the council-manager plan of municipal government, we are making the most radical change that we have ever made in our 97 years of existence," he declared.

Union Board President To Attend Convention

Bill Tandy, A4, Pella, president of the Union board, will leave April 25 for the national convention of the Association of College Unions at Swampscott, Mass.

The convention will open April 26 and continue through April 29. Union directors, staffs and union board presidents will attend. The group will discuss programs and ideas, operating problems and new building problems.

Former SUI Student To Seek Position As State Treasurer

Henry M. McCullough, former SUI student, now living in Davenport, has announced his candidacy for state treasurer on the Democratic ticket.

McCullough, a real estate dealer, said he has been an active Democrat since his graduation from Notre Dame university in 1920.

His education included attendance at Sacred Heart school and St. Ambrose academy in Davenport, Davenport high school, SUI and Notre Dame.

His business experience includes investment banking, life insurance sales and property management.

He has been an active member of the American Legion since 1919 and is a past national deputy aide de camp of the Disabled American veterans. McCullough was injured and discharged while serving in World War I, but later re-enlisted.

He was an organizer of the Young Democrats club of Iowa in 1933 and 1934.

His grandfather, Judge G.C.R. Mitchell, was a representative to the sixth legislature in Iowa City.

Law Students to Try Mock Murder Case

A murder case will be tried in the SUI college of law practice court April 20 and 21.

Eight senior law students, who are taking the practice court course, were assigned to the case by Atty. Arthur O. Left, director of the course.

The trial, which is open to the public, will begin at 2:30 p.m. Thursday and at 1:30 p.m. next Friday in the courtroom of the law building.

The mythical case involves the death of a farmer after a quarrel over a boundary line.

Any SUI student who desires to serve on a practice court jury should contact the practice court clerk at the law building, Left said.

PTA Group to Hear Chinese Grad Student

T.C. Yu, a graduate student from China, will address a meeting of the Horace Mann P.T.A. today at the school.

He will speak on "Freedom to Grow Through World Understanding."

The program will follow a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. Mothers of second grade pupils are in charge, with Mrs. Arthur Barnes and Mrs. Clarence Studt as co-chairmen.

YWCA Radio Program To Discuss Ad Jobs

Two national officers of Gamma Alpha Chi, national advertising sorority, will discuss job opportunities in advertising on the YWCA-sponsored program, "Your Future Forecast," at 10:15 a.m. Saturday over station WSUI.

Discussion leaders will be Marilyn Adams, A1, Des Moines, and Barbara Campbell, A3, Clinton.

Unit Uses 60 Tons Of Drugs To Supply SUI Chemical Needs

The SUI college of pharmacy drug service department used more than 60 tons of ingredients last year to manufacture 384 items, ranging from pills to DDT deodorizer.

Instructor Wendle Kerr, station pharmacist for the drug service, told Iowa City Lions club members Wednesday the drug service gave advice and furnished chemicals for 90 SUI departments and University hospitals.

In one year, Kerr said, the service filled 140,456 hospital prescriptions.

A part of the department of pharmacy, the drug service has a dual function of teaching pharmacists as well as providing services for various departments such as athletics and journalism.

Junior pharmacy students are taught the manufacture of drug products in quantities ranging from a bottle of mouthwash to 40 pounds of ointment.

The student-made products are used to fill orders from University hospitals and SUI departments, Kerr said.

The drug service buys materials in quantities from several tons to several tons. More than 2,200 different items have been purchased by the service, he said.

SUI Student Files Suit To Collect $180 Note

Karl R. Hayes, A4, Indianola, filed suit Wednesday in district court to collect $180 on a promissory note from Phil W. Watters, Des Moines.

Hayes stated Watters had made no payments on a note due Feb. 1. He also asked for five percent interest a year plus court costs.

Library Work 'On Schedule'

Construction on the new SUI library is on schedule. Clarence Casey, construction superintendent for the Weitz Construction company, said Tuesday.

"Our schedule is based on each day being a workable one and according to that we are progressing satisfactorily," he said.

The outside appearance of the new building has changed considerably since bricklayers started working in March.

The combination granite, brick and limestone outer-wall is three stories high on the northeast and east sides of the building.

Granite also is now being placed at the first floor level on the northwest and west sides of the library.

About half of the first floor concrete has been poured, Casey said. He expects to finish the first floor pouring in the next two weeks.

Casey said they will use about 302,000 common bricks for backing up walls, and 84,000 finish bricks for the outside wall of the library.

About 1,900 square feet of granite and about 3,600 square feet of limestone also will go into the outside walls.

Casey estimated about 1,800 glazed tiles for corridors and rest rooms, will be needed in the building.

Nearly 25,000 sacks of cement, weighing 94 pounds each, will be needed in construction of the building, he added.

Journalism Director To Address Meeting

Eleven faculty members of the SUI school of journalism will attend the annual convention of the Iowa Press association Friday and Saturday in Des Moines.

Prof. Leslie Moeller, director of the school of journalism, said the theme of the convention would be newspaper production costs.

Moeller will give the keynote talk at the convention Friday afternoon. His subject will be "Methods of Controlling Newspaper Costs."

Faculty members attending the meeting besides Moeller are: Profs. Arthur Wimer, Arthur Barnes, E.F. Mason, Frederick Pownall, James Jordan.

Instructors John Davenport, Charles Barnum, Paul Lyness, William J. Morrison and Lecturer Henry Africa.

'Reds' to Seize Wisconsin Town

MOSINEE, WIS. (AP) — A "Communist revolution" will seize the government of this central Wisconsin town May 1.

The American Legion post and civic leaders planned the Communist coup Wednesday to show the town's residents how lucky they are to live in a democracy.

Posters of Stalin and the Communist hammer and sickle flag will replace the stars and stripes. Legion and civic officials will boss people around as if they were Communist leaders.

The town's 1,400 residents will be asked to surrender all their personal liberties. The officials said they expected little, if any, objection from them.

Iowa Academy of Science to Meet Here

The Iowa Academy of Science is scheduled to meet at SUI April 21 and 22, officials said Wednesday.

Faculty and students from the departments of botany, chemistry, geology, mathematics, physics, psychology and zoology will represent SUI at the meeting.

General headquarters, information service and registration desks will be set up in Old Capitol.

President Virgil M. Hancher will welcome academy members to the campus when the general session is called to order 10:30 a.m., April 21.

The Junior Academy of Science of Iowa also will meet here at the same time. Its high school members will convene in City high school auditorium the morning of April 21.

Prof. F. E. Brown, Iowa State college chemistry department, will present awards to member winners of the fourth Iowa talent search at 11:20 a.m. April 21. The senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The Junior academy itinerary for April 22 includes a trip to Van de Graaf atom smasher in the basement of the physics building from 10 to 11 a.m.

How's this morning?

He didn't rest well!

I know it's asking a lot, but you'll have to give up having dates and boys around. He can't have any excitement!

I got a letter from MERRY... she's simply dying for me to visit her!

Then it would be real quiet here at home, and you could look after him!

PERSONAL

Dear Joe and Jane:

Let us tell you a very sad, sad story. Once upon a time there was a peaceful little Scottish island in the Hebrides called Todday. The inhabitants were a simple and peaceful people living a serene life. But one fateful day a terrible tragedy befell them... not famine... not pestilence... but something far 'WURSE'... THEY RAN OUT OF WHUSKY... and what happened when a ship loaded with 50,000 cases of sprits ran aground of their shore provides the biggest laugh picture of the year: "TIGHT LITTLE ISLAND."

You too will grow "tight with delight" when you see...

The funniest picture that ever crossed the "Big Drink!"
