Not Serious About Installing Wheel Tax, Koser Declares

Mayor Preston Koser said Thursday he is entertaining no serious thoughts about a wheel tax on automobiles in Iowa City to make students help pay for street repair expenses.

"It was merely a suggestion to the council at the April 10 meeting, which was not acted upon," he said.

Instead, the council decided on a plan which will resurface 77 blocks of asphalt-covered streets, he said.

The plan will start about June 1.

Program to Cost $27,000

Twenty-seven blocks will get an extra layer of asphalt to smooth them out in a general street improvement program which will cost about $27,000, Koser said.

"The money is available," he added, "and no assessments for the program will be made — the money will come from the street construction fund."

Brick streets, the mayor said, will be repaired under the regular street repair program as soon as the weather permits.

Will Take Six Weeks

The program, which will take about six weeks to complete, couldn't start sooner "because early in the season material cannot be bought, due to technical difficulties of suppliers," City Engineer Fred Gartzke said.

Asphalt streets, portions of which are to be resurfaced, are Bloomington, Capitol, Court, Dav- enport, Dodge, Dubuque, Evans, Friendly, Grant, Governor, Jef- ferson, Linn, Madison, Market, Pic- kard, Prentiss, Ronalds, Summit and Washington streets, and Iowa, Melrose and Muscatine avenues.

Prayer Saved Sight, Harvard Man Says

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (AP) — A Harvard student credited prayer with saving his sight Thursday when a home-made bomb exploded on a dormitory window sill.

Robert Dobbie, 21, of Ludlow and Alenstown, Pa., escaped with a gashed wrist as he prayed — his hands covering his face.

The blast hurled the piece of glass that cut his wrist. Had his hands not been over his face, he told authorities, the glass might have struck his eyes.

One hundred and fifty freshmen were thrown into an uproar by the explosion.

Yard Police Chief Alvin Randall said the bomb apparently was made of dynamite — maybe the work of pranksters.

"It was fortunate," he said, "that none of the students was killed."

Young Dobbie said another prayer — of thanks.

S'NO FOOLIN'

LOGAN, W.VA. (AP) — It has snowed or rained here every Thursday since the first of the year, Weather Observer Wilson Ruff reported Thursday. That's 15 straight Thursdays. It snowed Thursday. The previous six Thursdays it snowed, too.

Meeting Scheduled To Fight Adoption Of C-M Government

Another formal effort to oppose adoption of council-manager government in Iowa City will take place at a public meeting in the Community building at 7:30 to- night.

The first opposition to the plan came Wednesday night when the city Democratic central committee, pledged its finances and a door-to-door campaign to defeat the plan at the polls Monday.

Speakers at tonight's meeting will be Austin Finnessey, Des Moines, educational and information director of the Iowa State Federation of Labor; Johnson County Atty. Jack C. White, and Atty. Edward L. O'Connor, chairman of the non-partisan group sponsoring the public meeting.

O'Connor will preside at the meeting. Finnessey, who opposed the council-manager plan in Des Moines before it was adopted there last year, will speak on "Lulled to Sleep by the City Manager Plan."

O'Connor explained Thursday why in 1921 he was chairman of a group advocating adoption of council-manager government.

Thirty years ago, O'Connor said, Iowa City was in debt beyond its legal limit, the city council wanted and was asking for help in solving the problem and there was reason to change the type of government.

"Today there is no such need," O'Connor said. "The city is now in the best financial condition it's been in since I've lived here," he said.

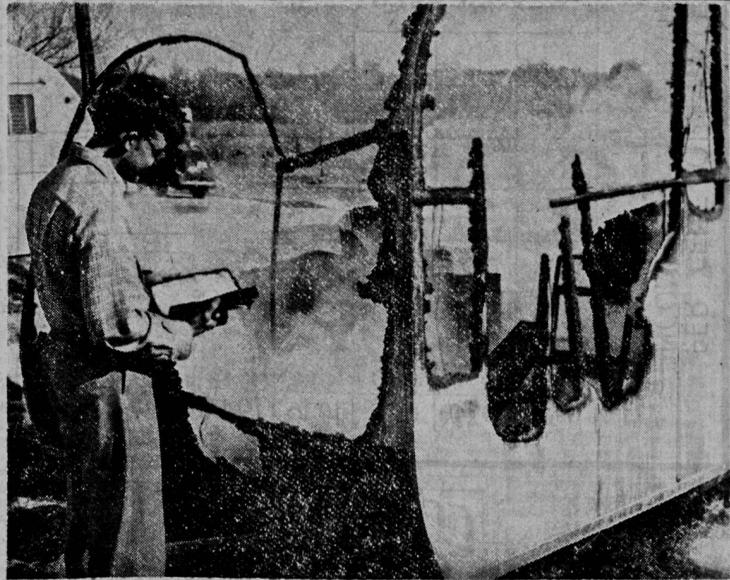

Low Temperature Sets Local Record

A cold wave from Canada Thursday dropped temperatures to an all-time April 13 low for Iowa City, and may shatter more records today.

The mercury dropped to 20 degrees early Thursday morning, breaking the 1904 mark of 24 degrees for April 13.

A new record for April 14 may be set if temperatures sink to a predicted 18 degrees early this morning, according to the Iowa institute of hydraulic research.

Later today the mercury may climb higher than it has so far this week. U.S. weather forecasters predicted temperatures ranging upwards of 40 degrees. They attribute the warmer weather to a warm front moving in from the southeast.

Fire Guts Student's Trailer Home

SURVEYING WHAT IS LEFT of his trailer home is John M. Daily, G. Kirkwood, Mo. A fire that started at 2:30 p.m. Thursday destroyed the trailer in which he and his wife lived at Dinty's trailer camp, Coralville. Losses totaled $3,000, Daily said. He is shown above holding the charred remains of a text book he was reading shortly before the fire started. Both he and his wife escaped uninjured.

Fire Wrecks Coralville Trailer

Fire destroyed the trailer home of SUI psychology student and Mrs. John M. Daily at Dinty's trailer camp, Coralville, Thursday afternoon.

Daily, G. Kirkwood, Mo., estimated losses at $3,000. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Daily was injured in the blaze, but Daily's hair was slightly singed before he escaped from the rapidly spreading flames.

The fire started about 2:30 p.m. when Daily accidentally dropped a lighted match into some oil which had dripped to the base of their oil stove, neighbors said.

The only thing salvaged from the wreckage was a dishpan. Casualties included a white rat Daily had used for experiments in psychology.

Coralville firemen kept the sides of an adjoining trailer soaked to prevent the spread of fire, neighbors reported.

The Dailys were given lodging Thursday night by Jack Blankenship, G. Eldora, owner of another trailer at the trailer camp.

Filmland Investigator Pledges No 'Peeping'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie Investigator Judge Stephen S. Jackson made clear Thursday that he isn't in Hollywood to do a "Kinsey report" on movie morals.

The judge, sent to movietown to collect information for a senate committee hearing on Hollywood, said he would not go in for any transom-peeping.

"Our chief concern is the exploitation by the studios of unfavorable publicity of stars in the advertising and promotion of their movies," he said.

'Code of Life' Memos Sent Group Leaders

More than 100 presidents of student organizations received letters from Dean of Students Walter R. Goetsch Thursday reminding them of the regulations covered in the "Code of Student Life."

The letter said in part, "The university expects all student organizations to comply with all the rules and regulations covered in the Code of Student Life."

Goetsch said the letter was just a method of communicating with the many new presidents who are taking office this spring. He said he wanted to remind them of the regulations if they had lost their copy of the code.

The letter also emphasized the rule "requiring ALL student organizations' activities to be registered with the office of student affairs prior to the event — and to be held only in approved quarters."

TRUMAN INVITED TO CHILE WASHINGTON (AP) — President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla of Chile Thursday invited President Truman to pay him a return visit this fall, and Mr. Truman indicated he may do so.

Recommend Incoming Student Council Act On Panacea Problem

A recommendation that further action on Panacea — SUI's musical comedy — be left to the new student council which takes office next week was made Thursday night by Council Member Charles Barker, L2, Iowa City.

This recommendation came after a report from James Pritchard, L3, Storm Lake, member of the Panacea committee. Pritchard suggested that an organization be set up to be responsible for the production of Panacea every year.

He emphasized that the organization should be formed within a month and that it work toward staging Panacea next fall with the present script and lyrics.

The independent Panacea organization and the present Panacea committee would jointly produce the production next fall, according to Pritchard's report.

Several new council members raised the question as to the merits of the present script. At that time, Barker made his recommendation that the problem be left to the new council.

The council also decided to leave the financing of next year's show to the incoming council.

The present Panacea committee, which consists of members from Mortar Board, Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary fraternity, and student council, will continue to function until the committee members from the incoming council are appointed.

Libel of McCarthy Doubtful: Truman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Thursday fired a new blast at Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy by raising a pointed question whether it is possible to libel the Wisconsin legislator.

Mr. Truman's barbed comment was made at his news conference when reporters asked him about a statement by Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio).

Taft had accused Mr. Truman of "libeling" McCarthy by saying that McCarthy was the Kremlin's biggest asset in the United States.

Did the President think he had libeled McCarthy, a newsman asked.

"Do you think that's possible?" Mr. Truman snapped.

McCarthy, who has been goading the administration for weeks with his charges of communism in the state department, declined to comment on Mr. Truman's jab.

McCarthy was reported ready to spring a new key witness, described as an ex-Communist, in an attempt to bolster his case against Owen J. Lattimore as the alleged No. 1 Soviet spy in the United States.

Claims Credit . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman in a review of his five years in office said Thursday the country is in fine shape, its foreign affairs on the upgrade, and the credit belongs to him.

Looking to the future, he anticipated still greater domestic prosperity and expressed hope for continued improvement in international relations.

Russians Admit Firing On Missing U.S. Plane

She'd Rather Work for a Living

TULSA, OKLA. (AP) — A young beauty from Bolivia, rebelling at the prospect of becoming a "captive bride" in her native land, Thursday asked for refuge in the United States.

Mireya Urguidi said she would rather work for a living as a secretary than go home and marry a rich man twice her age.

That, said 22-year-old Mireya, was the fate that awaited her in her hometown of Cochabamba, Bolivia, because "it is my father's order."

For nearly eight months, Mireya has been a fugitive from matrimony in Bolivia. She has been in Tulsa, on a visitor's visa, and what she has seen of life in the United States only reinforced her determination.

"I want only to marry for love," she said. "I don't want to go home and be the wife of a man I can never love."

She said the bridegroom awaiting her in Bolivia is a friend of her father. Mireya described him as a wealthy diplomat, twice her age.

She said she had no romantic interest in any young Tulsan. "I have not been dating any boys," she said. "I'm just entirely too busy. I spend my time studying, studying and more studying. I have noticed, of course, that American men are very handsome. There are many possibilities here."

'Expect' Juniors to Take Tests; Extra Courses 'Voluntary': SUI

Liberal arts juniors taking the special communication skills tests April 27 through April 29 will not be required to take any "remedial" or extra courses because of them, Dean Dewey B. Stuit, college of liberal arts, emphasized Thursday.

Stuit explained that all liberal arts juniors are expected to take the tests. No penalty has been determined as yet for those students refusing to take the tests, he said.

However, all junior students who do not register for the tests will be requested to see Stuit personally. Stuit added that students ignoring the requests are subject to expulsion under the SUI code of student life.

Not a Threat But he said that this was not meant as a threat, and that the conferences were intended to explain the purpose of the tests.

Registrar Ted McCarrel Thursday reminded all liberal arts students with more than 56, but less than 96, semester hours credit that today is the last day of registration for the communications skills tests.

Stuit explained that the tests are designed to determine "how well students at the junior level read, write and speak."

Decision Elective He said that the college was also attempting to compare the proficiency in these skills between SUI students who had completed their regular communication skills requirements here and transfer students who had satisfied similar courses at other schools.

If any student should show a decided deficiency in any of these skills, he or she would be advised to take corrective instruction, he said. However, the decision to take this instruction would be purely elective and not mandatory, he added.

McCarrel explained that these tests will not affect any student's graduation requirements, no matter what score they get.

Red Airmen Honored for 'Fulfilling Duty'

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK (AP) — The Russians admitted Thursday that a missing United States navy plane was the one they fired on Saturday and announced the award of the "Order of the Red Banner" to four crack airmen "for excellent fulfillment of their service duty."

It was believed that the Soviet airmen were those who attacked the unarmed navy plane which disappeared Saturday on a flight from Wiesbaden, Germany, to Copenhagen.

Pravda Comments As hope faded for the four officers and six enlisted men aboard the navy plane, after five days of vain search over the Baltic sea, the Moscow newspaper Pravda, official organ of the Russian Communist party, said of the search:

"The representative of the American airforce in Wiesbaden on April 11 declared . . . that an American plane was missing allegedly during a normal training flight over northern Germany and Denmark."

"He was silent, however, about the fact that this plane violated the Soviet frontier and engaged in so-called training over Soviet territory."

"Impudent Spies" Pravda said the "impudent American spies" on the plane "got a proper lesson and were compelled to beat a retreat."

The official Russian version is that its fighter pilots fired on a plane of American military type which crossed the coast of Soviet-held Latvia, far east of the Wiesbaden-Copenhagen course.

A few hours after the Pravda article, Moscow radio broadcast that the president of the supreme Soviet — the Russian cabinet — had awarded the high honor of the Order of the Red Banner to four airmen. All four were officers in the crack "guards" corps which is an army inside an army, composed of picked men.

Student Convicted On Assault Charge

LINCOLN, NEB. (AP) — A district court jury Thursday convicted David Darlington, 19-year-old University of Nebraska student, of assault with intent to commit rape. The jury of seven women and five men returned the verdict 25 minutes after receiving the case.

Darlington is the first of six Nebraska students to be tried on charges that grew out of the alleged molestation of high school girls.

Professor Winter Named Commerce Dean; Phillips Retiring

Prof. Sidney G. Winter, head of the SUI accounting department, has been named dean of the college of commerce, succeeding Dean Chester A. Phillips.

Approval of Winter's appointment by the state board of education was announced Thursday by President Virgil M. Hancher at a meeting of the commerce faculty.

Winter will assume his new duties July 1, when Dean Phillips retires under SUI's retirement age regulations for administrative posts.

Phillips will remain as professor of commerce on a full-time basis until July, 1951, when he will become a part-time professor.

The retiring dean, a national authority in the field of banking, has headed the college of commerce for 29 years. He joined the SUI faculty in 1920 as professor of economics and finance and was appointed dean in 1921. He was acting president of the university for three months in 1940.

A past president of the U.S. chamber of commerce, Phillips was economist for the federal reserve bank of Chicago from 1937 to 1942. He is a member of the economists' national committee on monetary policy and a director of the Iowa City First National bank.

Winter, who joined the commerce faculty in 1924, said Thursday he "recognized the challenge" his appointment as dean offered to "assist in the development of the college of commerce as a unit of the university."

"I look forward to the continuing development of the college of commerce as a significant part of SUI and as an agency well-calculated to serve the business interests of the state," he said.

The 53-year-old Winter became head of SUI's accounting department in 1929. A 1921 graduate of Colorado college, he received his M.S. degree from the University of Illinois in 1923.

Winter is a certified public accountant in both Iowa and Illinois, a member of the Iowa board of accountancy and the National Association of Certified Public Accountant Examiners. He was president of the latter organization in 1949.

The new dean is one of 15 accounting educators who have been asked to serve on the nominating committee to make selections for the Accounting Hall of Fame at Ohio State university.

He served on the committee on accounting procedure at the American Institute of Accountants for two years and is a member of the Iowa Society of Certified Public Accountants. He was president of the society in 1944.

Winter also was president of the American Accounting association in 1939 and was a member of the executive committee of the association from 1937 to 1941.

National Gamma Alpha Chi Convention Begins Today

The 30th birthday of Gamma Alpha Chi, national professional advertising fraternity for women, begins today at 9:30 a.m. as the two-day national convention opens here.

A pre-celebration will be the welcoming breakfast at the Iowa Union at 8 a.m., where faculty members of the SUI school of journalism will be on hand to greet the visitors from nearly a dozen states from New York to California.

Registration for the convention will be held at WSUI beginning at 9 a.m., with reports from the 19 chapters represented expected to occupy the delegates during the remainder of the day.

Sample Luncheon Planned

A sample luncheon will be served at the Alpha Delta Pi chapter house, 222 N. Clinton street. Samples and favors for the menu were donated by various firms.

Afternoon business will end with a tea given by the SUI journalism faculty wives at the Delta Gamma chapter house, 932 E. College street.

After a Saturday morning business meeting, when the national officers will be elected, representatives will be entertained at a luncheon at the Amara colonies.

Job Clinic Included

The afternoon program will include a talk by Mercedes Hurst, public relations director of the International Harvester company at Chicago.

Elaine Byous, assistant to the vice-president in charge of sales for Carson, Pirie, Scott and Company, the second largest department store in Chicago, will be the evening speaker.

A job clinic will be held Saturday afternoon at Old Capitol.

MERCEDES HURST

The clinic will be conducted by four women from the advertising field: Phyllis Sharer, formerly with Carson, Pirie, Scott and company, and a former Lambda president of Gamma Alpha Chi here.

Folly Carlson, who writes the "Shopping with Sue" column for the Des Moines Register & Tribune; Mrs. Bea Johnson, a former national Gamma Alpha Chi president and homemaker broadcaster over KMBC and KFRM.

Leila Cornelison, supervisor of the order-handling and makeup section for Meredith Publishing company in Des Moines.

Meville C. Gordon, sales executive of the St. Louis branch of the General Outdoor Advertising company.

Lambda Chapter Pres. Anne Smith, Galesburg, Illinois, said Thursday anyone interested in advertising journalism is invited to attend all the sessions.

Faculty Members Write for Journal

Articles written by five staff members of the SUI college of medicine appeared in the April issue of the Iowa State Medical society journal.

For eight years, the college of medicine has annually contributed most of the material to one issue of this publication.

The staff members and titles of their articles are: Dr. R.L. Jackson, pediatrics, "Feeding of Healthy Infants;" Dr. R.R. Rembolt, pediatrics, "Infant Feeding in Acute Illness;" Prof. Genevieve Stearns, pediatrics, "Nutritional Requirements During Infancy."

Dr. J.C. MacQueen, pediatrics, "The Nutritional Management of Some Common Intestinal Disorders;" Dr. H.H. Comly, psychiatry, "Emotional Aspects of Infant Feeding."

Miami Triad to Feature Dinner, Dance Tonight

The Miami Triad, yearly event sponsored by three social fraternities, will feature a formal dinner-dance at 7 p.m. tonight in the Iowa Union.

Participating fraternities are Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi.

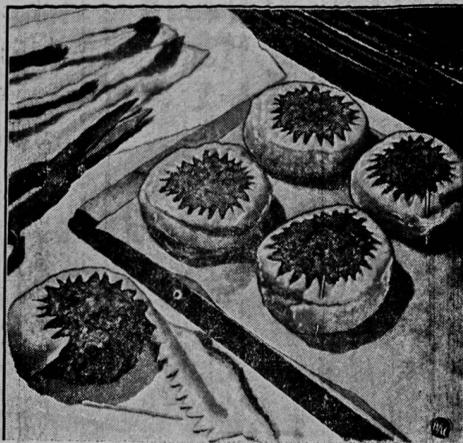

Music will be provided by Bill Meardon and his orchestra.

Special guests include Dean and Mrs. Walter R. Goetsch, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Marshall and the three housemothers, Mrs. Thomas Hammill, Mrs. Grant Dahl and Naomi Hoult.

TO HOLD DANCE

The Judson fellowship, married Baptist student group, will hold a dinner and dance in the Baptist student center, 112 E. Bloomington street, Friday at 7 p.m., the Rev. Elmer Dierks, Baptist student director, said Thursday.

Economical Spring Dish

Bacon-and-Lamb Patties

Lower Meat Prices Mean Kitchen Thrift

The 20 percent reduction in bacon prices in the past six months provides homemakers with excellent opportunities to use this meat in spring recipes.

Spring is also the season for lamb and experts suggest dressing up the old favorite, lamb patties, with saw-toothed bacon strips. The strips may be fashioned with the kitchen scissors.

The completed dish is inexpensive, nourishing and attractive.

The first step in the bacon-and-lamb recipe is to ask your butcher for ground lean meat from thrifty breast, neck, shank or shoulder of lamb. Then follow this recipe:

- 1 1-2 pounds lean lamb
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1-8 teaspoon pepper

6 slices bacon
Use lean meat from breast, neck, shank or shoulder for grinding. Season with salt and pepper and form into inch patties.

Wrap a strip of bacon around each and fasten with small skewers of toothpicks. Have regulator set for broiling. Place the patties so there is a distance of about three inches between top of patties and source of heat.

If the distance must be less, reduce the temperature accordingly so that the patties will broil at a moderate temperature.

When patties are browned on one side, turn and finish the cooking on the second side.

Fatties one inch thick will require twelve to fifteen minutes for broiling. The recipe will provide six patties.

Party Line

PHI EPSILON PI — An informal party will be held at the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity house from 10 p.m. to midnight Saturday after the carnival. Mrs. Sonia Sands and Mrs. Viola Heidenreich will be chaperons.

CLINTON PLACE — "Blue Champagne" will be the theme of a semi-formal dance to be given by Clinton place residents at 9 p.m. today. Leo Cortimiglia will furnish the music. The dance will be held at Clinton place, 322 N. Clinton street.

Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae Elect New Officer Slate

Mrs. Karl Schmidt and Mrs. Roy Stoddard were re-elected president and secretary respectively of Zeta Tau Alpha alumnae Tuesday.

Elections were held in the home of Mrs. Graham Marshall, 423 Ronalds street.

Other officers elected are Elizabeth Kerr, vice-president; Mrs. Joseph McFarland, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Hodges, historian.

Lutheran Students Plan New Meeting Location

The Lutheran Student association will hold their regular Sunday evening meeting at the Zion Lutheran church, Johnson and Bloomington streets, for the remainder of the year, Fern Eohlken, Lutheran student counselor, said Thursday.

The group has met formerly at the First English church, she said.

Local Club to Fete Pan-American Day

The local Pan-American League will celebrate Pan-American day Friday with a 12:15 p.m. luncheon in the Iowa Union.

Highlighting the luncheon will be speeches by Latin-American students and a student of Latin-American politics.

Three students will tell how the event is observed in their countries. They are Sara Jaraslowsky, Argentina; Julio Sanjines, Bolivia; and Graciela Andrade, Chile. Elroy J. Steele, a graduate student in the department of commerce, will be chief speaker at the luncheon. He will discuss "The Development of Pan-American Cooperation." Steele received his M.A. from SUI in political science and is now working on his Ph.D.

Mrs. Ben P. Wallace will relate the history of the Iowa City Pan-American league.

Mrs. Elmer DeGowin is chairman of the committee in charge of the program. Assisting her are Mrs. LeRoy S. Mercer, Mrs. Stuart Cullen and Mrs. Clark Caldwell.

Baptist Group to Attend Student Retreat at Ames

An SUI Baptist student delegation will go to Ames Saturday to attend the state-wide Baptist student retreat, the Rev. Elmer Dierks, Baptist student director, said.

The retreat meeting is to evaluate past Baptist student activity on Iowa campuses and to make suggestions for the coming year, Rev. Dierks said.

SUI Baptist students attending the retreat will include Lewis Lowe, C3, Chariton; Barbara Keil, A1, Grundy Center; William Shores, A1, Kinlock, Mo., and many others, he said.

An election of state officers for the Baptist student groups in Iowa will be held at the retreat, Rev. Dierks said.

TO CONDUCT SERVICE

A Baptist student deputation team (students who conduct religious services) will go to Des Moines Sunday to conduct services in the Corinthian Baptist church in the morning and in the Calvary Baptist church at night, the Rev. Elmer Dierks, Baptist student director, said Thursday.

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED

A marriage license was issued Thursday in the Johnson county clerk's office to Vincent L. Harney and Marquerite Dostal, both of Iowa City.

Engineering School to Start Commercial Program in Fall

A modified curriculum in commercial engineering will be put into effect at SUI in September, 1950, Dean F.M. Dawson of the college of engineering announced Thursday.

The program is designed to combine basic technical training with a sufficient knowledge of business to prepare the student to enter distinctively commercial phases of engineering, Dawson said.

"The adoption of the commercial engineering curriculum is in keeping with the growing trend in colleges of engineering throughout the country," he said.

Not Separate Department
Establishment of a commercial engineering department is not intended by the college, Dawson pointed out. Instead, the new curriculum will supplement the regular courses of civil, chemical, electrical and mechanical engineering with study offered in the college of commerce.

There will be no administrative change in the engineering college. Students will keep their present advisors and continue their basic engineering courses.

Students wishing to enter commercial engineering will declare that major during their sophomore year, and from then on follow a modified departmental program including the commerce courses. The freshman year will remain unchanged.

Supplemental Courses
Eighteen to 21 hours may be elected in the college of commerce. Courses included in the modification of the four-year engineering program are from accounting, economics, statistics, labor, management and marketing fields.

Commercial phases of engineering for which the new sequence is planned include sales and application of mechanical and electrical equipment, operation of public utility plants, administrative direction of commercial shops and factories and appraisal of investment and bonding concerns.

Advanced ROTC Bids Due Today

Today is the deadline for submitting applications for three branches of the advance course in ROTC, military department officials said Thursday.

The three branches are airforce, infantry and engineering. Applications received later than today will be considered, but they will not have priority, officials said.

Maj. Irvin Parsons, professor of air science and tactics said students in the advance course receive about $27 a month. Students are paid at the rate of $75 a month when they attend a summer camp, and all uniforms, books and equipment are furnished.

Other advantages in the course are reserve commissions and reserve retirement pay for those completing the course.

SUI Home Economists To Attend Conference

Six members of the SUI Home Economics club and the club adviser, Prof. Lula Smith, will confer in Dubuque Saturday with members of 12 other Iowa home economics clubs.

The clubs will hold their meeting at the University of Dubuque where they will discuss problems and plan programs for next year.

SUI Home economics club representatives are: Ernestine Rashid, A3, Ft. Madison; Helen Dee Kinsey, A3, Des Moines; Margaret Drahn, A3, Cedar Rapids; Elaine McComas, A2, Iowa City; and Alice Pitz, A4, Middle Amana.

Military Department Names 25 Students To Receive Awards

The SUI military department Thursday announced 25 names of ROTC students receiving awards for scholastic and extra-curricular achievements.

William Olson Jr., E4, Iowa City, and Keith Nicodemus, E2, Vinton, will receive the scholastic award from the Society of American Military Engineers.

The airforce association air-ROTC award will go to Robert Grahl, A4, Des Moines.

Don Woodard, A2, Kansas City, Mo., will receive the Johnson county Reserve Officers' association bronze medal.

The military medal for scholastic achievement will be presented to Charles Glatty, A2, Sioux Falls, S.D.; Richard Ward, A1, Newton; David Hart, A2, Iowa City; John Petro, A2, Cedar Rapids.

Donald Spaine, A2, Iowa City; Howard Swaine, A2, Des Moines; Richard Coultrick, A2, South Bend, Ind.; Thomas Hulme, A2, Iowa City; Arthur McGiverin, C3, Cedar Rapids; and Ralph Thomas, A3, Council Bluffs.

Advertising Society Sends 3 to Meeting

Two members and the faculty advisor of SUI's Alpha Delta Sigma, national honorary advertising fraternity, will represent the organization at a regional convention of the fraternity's chapters beginning today at the University of Illinois.

Chuck Cooper, A4, Omaha, treasurer of the fraternity said Robert H. Adler, C4, Brooklyn, N.Y., vice president of the fraternity, William Mallory, A3, Detroit, and Advisor Prof. John V. Lund, school of journalism, would leave today for the convention.

The three day convention will meet at the Allerton Park estate of the University of Illinois he said.

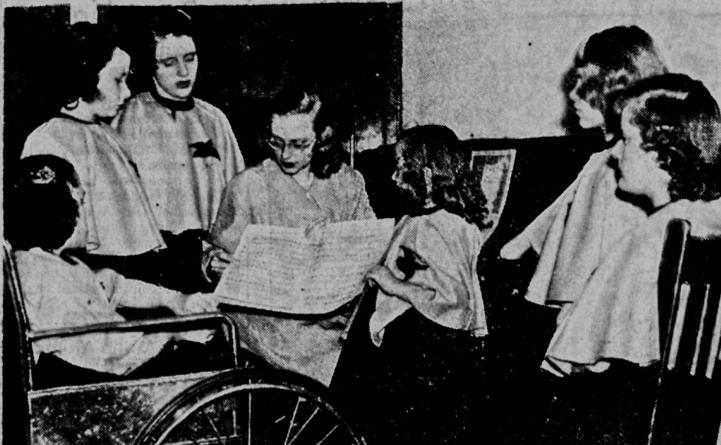

Change of Bars

DES MOINES (AP) — After being sentenced to seven years in prison on false check charges, Denny Roy Hildebaugh, 32, Thursday told Judge Lou Ladd "it's the best thing that could happen to me."

Hildebaugh pleaded guilty to two check charges. He told the judge he had a previous record for false checks and said his trouble resulted from heavy drinking.

Hildebaugh said he plans to study theology in the penitentiary.

'Golden Songsters' of SUI Children's Hospital

Six Handicapped Girls Look, Sing Like Birds

The "Golden Songsters" of the SUI Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children are competing with the early spring birds.

The "Golden Songsters" are six little girls who have formed a sextet and sung their way into the hearts of many Iowa City church and civic groups.

Ranging in age from six to 15 years, the girls are under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Lillick, musical therapist and recreation director at the school.

Meeting strangers, Mrs. Lillick said, offers the children excellent "social contact." Each time they share their music the girls get to meet new people "on the outside," and more people "on the outside" get to know them.

After Hospital Days
This way, they will be more able to adapt to living in the world when their hospital school days are over, she said.

The Songsters look the part. They appear in gold shoes, royal blue gowns and gold capes with the bluebird of happiness over their hearts.

The blue dresses — their latest addition — are their pride and joy. The garments are the handiwork of the Book and Basket club, chairman of which is Mrs. R. R. Sherman, 220 Ronalds street.

8 Speech Staffers To Attend Meeting

At least six SUI faculty members and two graduate assistants will attend the mid-century conference of the central state Speech association in Columbus, Ohio, Friday and Saturday, Prof. Wendell Johnson, director of the speech clinic, said Tuesday.

Johnson said the conference will be held in collaboration with the Ohio Association of College Teachers of Speech.

Sectional meetings in the conference will include "graduate Possibilities in the Field of Oral Interpretation," "New Quarters for Speech Departments," "Voice and Diction," and "Speech Therapy," Johnson said.

In addition to himself, Johnson said the following persons from the speech department would attend the conference and participate in sectional meetings: Profs. James F. Curtis, Jacqueline Keaster, A. Craig Baird, Hugh Scabury, and Orville Hitchcock.

McKenzie W. Buck, G, Denver, Colo., and George A. Smith, G, Iowa City, will be SUI's student participants, Johnson said.

Information First Job Applications Due Today

Applications for positions on the Information First committee should be filled out and returned by noon today to the Office of Student Affairs according to Chairman Mary Louise Annerberg, A3, Carroll.

College of Nursing Ends Institute Today

An SUI college of nursing institute on counseling will close today with discussions on the use and interpretation of records, tests and case histories, according to Institute Chairman Jean Baer, counselor at the college of nursing.

The theme of the institute has been basic principles and techniques of counseling and personnel work applied to schools of nursing.

Participating in today's discussions will be W.W. Morris, assistant dean in the colleges of medicine and dentistry; Robert L. Ebel, director of the SUI examination service; Miss Baer, Gwen Tudor, superintendent of nursing at Psychopathic hospital; Florence McAninch, Miss Tudor's assistant; Instructor Pauline Campbell of the college of nursing, and Mrs. Kathryn Gay, instructor at the Mercy hospital school of nursing.

A summary discussion will be given by guest consultant Milenka Herc, counselor and assistant professor of the Wayne university college of nursing.

School of Journalism To Honor First Class

The SUI school of journalism this year will observe the 25th anniversary of the graduation of its first class.

A dinner honoring the journalism alumni of the class of 1925 has been scheduled for June 10, during Commencement week.

The celebration will be part of the expanded alumni program being held this year in connection with graduation.

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school, and Mrs. Moeller, both members of the class of '25, are in charge of dinner arrangements.

Price Support Lifted On Turkeys, Chickens
WASHINGTON (AP)—Supply and demand will be allowed to determine the price of chickens and turkeys this year without government intervention. The agriculture department announced Thursday it no longer will maintain a floor under prices of these farm products.

Withdrawal of supports for poultry was decided upon because of their perishable nature and the department's inability to dispose of stocks acquired under support operations.

She Got The Bird

SEDALIA, MO. (AP) — Census enumerator Mrs. Leo Bopp knocked on the door at a Sedalia residence this week.

"Yoo hoo, just a minute," replied a voice inside.

Mrs. Bopp waited a minute, which grew to five minutes.

Again she called, "It's the census enumerator."

"Yoo hooo just a minute," came the answer again.

After waiting 15 minutes, Mrs. Bopp went to the next house.

There she discovered that the answers had come from a parrot in the home.

Market Basket Shows — Cost of Eating Rises Slightly

The Daily Iowan market basket survey of Iowa City food prices showed that over a two-week period there had been little increase in prices.

The cost-of-living index for a family of three was $15.43, according to Thursday's survey.

The cost of 10 pounds of potatoes rose 4 cents and a two-pound box of Kraft Velveta cheese now costs 89 cents, a 2 cent increase.

Sugar prices have tumbled slightly — a five pound package sells for 3 cents less than it did two weeks ago.

Below are the results of a survey of seven Iowa City grocery stores, giving the medium price for food items included in The Daily Iowan survey.

Tickets Available For Pianist's Talk
Tickets for the April 24 lecture Pianist Boris Goldovsky will be available at the service desk of the Iowa Union Thursday.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts and chairman of the University lecture committee which is sponsoring Goldovsky, said Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of SUI's music department, would introduce the speaker.

Goldovsky, who is master of ceremonies for the Metropolitan Opera News of the Air broadcast, became a professional pianist during the Russian Revolution of 1917 when he was accompanist for his violinist mother.

Truman Orders Crime Hunt To Stop Nationwide Rackets

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said Thursday he has ordered the justice department to get to the bottom of nationwide crime rackets.

The president told reporters he himself called for setting up a federal grand jury which for several months has been at work on the crime situation in Kansas City, Mr. Truman's home bailiwick.

Some senate Republicans are insisting that a forthcoming senate investigation of organized gambling and interstate rackets in general include Kansas City where Charles Binaggio, a Democratic party figure, was mysteriously slain this month.

The senate will fight it out shortly over which committee shall run its inquiry with Republicans opposing the Democratic idea of a special panel of five senators. The political battle developing could carry over into the congressional campaign.

The Kansas City killing was brought up in the President's news conference when a reporter stated that Binaggio, and an ex-convict slain with him, had been witnesses before the Kansas City grand jury investigating rackets.

The reporter added that Governor Smith of Missouri had asked for FBI help in the case but that Attorney General J. Howard McGrath had found no ground for the FBI to step in.

Mr. Truman was asked whether he regards it as a federal matter and whether he would ask McGrath to put the FBI on the trail. He replied that this was a subject for the attorney general to figure out.

Education Fraternity Announces New Officers

New officers have been elected by Phi Delta Kappa, professional education fraternity, according to Kenneth McLaughlin, G. Des Moines, retiring secretary.

They are: president, Don F. Blood, G. Tacoma, Wash.; vice-president, Jim Curtin, G. Milwaukee, Wis.; treasurer, Richard Mohr, G. Northwood; recording secretary, John W. Walker, G. Iowa City, and corresponding secretary, David Meade, G. Clinton.

Fraternity historian is Ernest B. Morrison, G. Hattiesburg, Miss.

Pennsylvania Professor To Speak at U-Hospitals

Dr. J.S. Boydin, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine in Philadelphia, will speak on "The Direction of Surgical Effort" Monday at 4:10 p.m. in the medical amphitheater of the SUI General hospital.

This is the fifth in a series of medical lectures sponsored by the college of medicine. The next lecture will be April 25.

Quad Residents Give Clothes to World Students

(Daily Iowan Photo)

AT LEAST 25 MEN can be outfitted completely with the clothing being loaded into the car shown above. The clothing was collected in a drive at the Quadrangle dormitory Tuesday for the World Student Service fund. About 25 pairs of pants, 50 pairs of shoes and numerous shirts, sweaters, sport coats, jackets and underwear were donated. Shown loading the collection are, left to right, Bill Davis, A4, Burlington, representing the YMCA; Dick Fontaine, A3, Marion, chairman of the Quadrangle drive; Art McGivern, C3, Cedar Rapids, member of the Quadrangle committee, and Ann Klingner, G. Chanute, Kan., representing the YWCA.

Clerk's Office Open To Absentee Voters

Registered voters out of town Monday, special election day, may vote on absentee ballots at the city clerk's office today and Saturday, City Clerk George J. Dohrer said Thursday.

The clerk's office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. No one can vote by absentee ballot after 5 p.m. Saturday.

The questions to which Iowa Citizens will answer either "yes" or "no" are stated on the ballot as follows:

"Shall the City of Iowa City organize under Chapter 419 of the Code of Iowa?"

 (Chapter 419 calls for the organization of the government under the city manager plan.)
 "In the interest of public health and convenience, should the City collect all garbage, trash, ashes, and cans and maintain a sanitary land fill, all to be paid for by a per can fee not in excess of $1.00 per month?"

12th Annual Ghost Hunt Draws Blank

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—This could have been one heck of a story. Unfortunately, however, we must report:

There still is no activity in Abbey mausoleum at Green Lawn cemetery.

(This is the 12th year we have made this same report.)

If the spirit of Magician Howard Thurston is hanging about his burial place, he doesn't care to let anybody know.

For the 12th year Claude D. Noble, a 58-year-old Detroit advertising man, tried Thursday to contact Thurston's spirit on the anniversary of his death.

Noble stood in the mausoleum and held a can of cement. If Thurston's spirit was near (and able), it was supposed to knock the cement from Noble's hand.

Before the magician died in 1936 he and Noble made a pact to try experiments, such as Thursday's. Thurston promised to manifest himself after death, if he could.

In previous years Noble held objects such as a wand, a photograph, a coin, and a Thurston olograph.

Thursday's can of cement was made by a company which Thurston formerly owned.

If that can had dropped, oh brother!

But it didn't.

Lone Tree Bank Sues To Collect Two Notes

The Lone Tree Savings bank, Lone Tree, filed suit Thursday in district court to collect $433.20 from Cecil H. Peterson, Lone Tree, on two promissory notes.

The bank stated Peterson had not made payments on two $200 promissory notes dated Dec. 3, 1948, and March 9, 1949. The $433.20 included unpaid interest on the notes.

CHICAGO (AP)—Unsung heroine of the day: census taker Miss Margaret Glasch, 33, fled with 100 others early Thursday when fire swept her apartment building. She didn't have time to change from her nightclothes, but clutched in her arms was her bulky portfolio of census tabulation sheets.

Art Show Entry Deadline Monday

Entries for the art guild show which opens April 23 are due at 8 p.m. Monday in room 17 of the art building.

Art Guild Vice-Pres. Milton Levey, G. Flint, Mich., said only art guild members will be eligible to submit work. Each person will be limited to three entries. Application blanks can be obtained at the bulletin board in the art building.

Judge for the show will be Artist Ben Shahn who will address the 20th annual art conference of Iowa high schools while he is here. Levey said $150 worth of prizes from the art guild treasury would be awarded winning works.

Hawks Meet Illinois In Opener Today

Iowa Opens Defense Of Conference Title

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — Iowa's Hawkeyes open defense of their 1949 Big Ten baseball title here this afternoon against Illinois.

Undeclared Illinois is the top favorite to win the conference championship jointly shared last season by Iowa, Indiana and Michigan.

Iowa Coach Otto Vogel will probably send Dick Hoeksema, leading pitcher on the Hawkeyes' recent tour of Arkansas and Missouri, against the Illini today. Hoeksema won two games on the southern swing without defeat.

Saturday Game
Dick Orth, with a 1-0 record this season, will probably start the second game of the two game series Saturday.

Before leaving Iowa City, Vogel voiced his disappointment that Iowa's two scheduled games with Notre Dame had to be cancelled because of cold weather. He pointed out that the Iowans need to face tougher competition after the relatively weak teams faced on the southern tour.

Potentially Strong
Today's game will mark the first time Illinois has faced good competition this season. Coach Wallace Roettger, in his 18th season, considers his club potentially strong. Catching and pitching are the two doubtful departments on the team.

Illinois' probable lineup is: Juny Tangman, pitching; Bill Hoffman, catching; Russ Steger, first base; Herb Flewis, second base; Dick Rakovits, third base; Hank Anderson, short stop; John Neal, left field; Glen Truglio, center field and Burdette Thurlby, right field.

In the only other conference game today, Minnesota, rated as a second division club, faces Ohio State at Columbus.

Rice, Oklahoma Baptist Join Drake Relay Field

DES MOINES (AP) — Two crack mile relay teams from the south-west, Rice and Oklahoma Baptist, Thursday joined the field in the Drake relays.

Rice will defend its university mile relay crown at the annual track classic April 28 and 29, seeking a new mark, while the Baptists will try to lower the college relay standard.

Rice will have the same quartet back that won the 1949 title. The mile relay mark in the university class of the Drake meet is 3:14.1, set by Ohio State in 1941. Coach Emmett Brunson predicted his foursome will be ready to clip the distance off in 3:12 by the end of the month.

BETS BY PHONE

PARIS (AP) — Pari-mutuel horse-race betting by telephone was inaugurated in France Thursday. The system, the first of its kind in Europe, allows a bettor to deposit a sum of 5,000 francs (about $15) at a local pari-mutuel headquarters. He can then place daily bets by telephone. Any winnings will automatically go into his account.

Harrison Interested in Tri-City Position

Contacted Monday By Hawk Officials

Lawrence (Pops) Harrison, ousted Iowa basketball coach, revealed Thursday that he had been contacted by Tri-City Blackhawk officials in regard to a coaching vacancy created when Arnold (Red) Auerbach resigned Wednesday.

Harrison, who claimed he was fired from the Iowa job because of a personality feud with Athletic Director Paul Brechler, said he was approached Monday by officials of the National Basketball Association team.

Willing to Accept
He indicated his willingness to accept the job, if offered, with the remark, "That's where the money is in coaching. You can't buy bread and butter with loyalty. I've found that out." Harrison declined Thursday to name the Blackhawk officials or what progress had been made.

"If I do get the job," Harrison said, "I want the Blackhawks to make the announcement." He added that he wasn't legally free to take another job until September when his contract at Iowa expires.

Tri-Cities finished third in the western division of the National Basketball Association during the 1949-50 season.

Wier with Hawks
One of Harrison's most famous stars developed during his eight years as head coach of the Hawkeyes was Murray Wier, now a member of the Blackhawks.

Auerbach, professional basketball's most successful and highest paid coach, resigned his post at Tri-Cities because of ill-health. He had one year to go on a two year calling for a reported $25,000 annually.

Auerbach is reported a candidate for the basketball coaching post at the University of Maryland.

Harrison repeated Thursday that he wasn't guilty of any of the charges outlined in the athletic board's "bill of particulars."

"I don't want to get in a chewing match with the athletic department," he said, "but I don't like bare-faced lies."

Calls Offer
"A Des Moines radio announcer called the Big Ten office in Chicago after I was fired," Harrison said. "Commissioner 'Tug' Wilson said that his office was in no way responsible for my dismissal."

The athletic board had previously announced that Harrison's failure to maintain good relations with Big Ten officials, as reported by the commissioner's office, was partially responsible for his discharge.

Meanwhile, Brechler said the Iowa athletic board had not begun the process of selecting a new coach to replace Harrison. He reportedly will be held Monday to begin preliminary work.

Inside Track . . .

COLLEGE PARK, MD. (AP) — H. A. (Bud) Millikan, former Oklahoma A. & M. court star, and now an Iowa high school coach, apparently has the inside track on the vacant head coaching job in basketball at the University of Maryland.

Coach Flucie Stewart resigned last week after a poor season. Since then, there have been more than 70 applicants for the job.

The university athletic committee announced Thursday that, after screening the applications, Millikan was chosen for an interview. He is expected here within the next day or two.

It was indicated that if satisfactory arrangements can be worked out he will get the job.

Millikan, 30, is now coaching the Newton, Iowa, high school team.

Good Quarterbacks Scarce as Big Ten Teams Hold Drills

CHICAGO—Good quarterbacks, preferably with outstanding talents in passing and ball handling, were in great demand by Big Ten coaches today as most of the Western conference teams rounded out their fourth week of spring football practice.

Key Problem
A survey of Big Ten football camps showed that the development of a varsity quarterback for next fall is the key problem at several schools. Five of the squads—Illinois, Indiana, Northwestern, Ohio State and Purdue—need T quarterback replacements while the other two, Michigan and Minnesota, are searching for the single wing variety.

Seldom has there been such an exodus of starting quarterback material. From 1949's varsity rank there are departing, via graduation, Illinois' Bernie Krueger, Indiana's Nick Sebek, Michigan's John Ghindia, Minnesota's Jim Mal'sky and Stan Thiele, Northwestern's Don Burson, Ohio State's Pandel Savic and Purdue's Bob Hartman and Ken Gorgal.

A total of 759 gridiron candidates are working out at the nine conference schools which make up the league's football-playing schedule for 1950. (New-member Michigan State will not begin conference football competition until 1951).

142 Wolverines
Topping the list is Michigan's turnout of 142 candidates. Only four lettermen are included in that whopping list inasmuch as it is Wolverines policy to devote spring drills primarily to the development of sophomores and junior varsity players.

Although lettermen and hold-over regulars are competing in other spring sports at the moment, 194 lettermen are scheduled back for competition next fall. Coach Leonard Raffensperger's Iowa team, although it lost most of its line starters, will have 30 lettermen returning, followed by Illinois and Wisconsin with 25 each.

Cubs Hand Cards 3rd Loss, 7-4

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, generally accepted as a National league cellar contender this season, Thursday belted the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-4, to take three out of four from the Red Birds.

The Cubs clubbed the road portion of their exhibition campaign with a 20-10 record and 12-8 against major league foes.

The game was called with three Cardinals on base, two out and two runs across in the first of the ninth to allow both teams to catch trains home.

The Cubs' win came at the expense of an old Bruin nemesis, Harry (The Cat) Brechler. Brechler was touched for 10 of the Cubs' 12 hits and all of their runs in the six innings he worked.

First Sacker Pres Ward slammed a homer and a double for the Cubs whose Frank Hiller gave up only six hits in seven innings, but two were homers by Joe Garagiola and Eddie Miller.

TIGERS 7, CHISOX 5
MEMPHIS, TENN. (AP) — Vic Wertz and Pat Mullin smashed home runs Thursday to give the Detroit Tigers a 7-5 exhibition victory over the Chicago White Sox.

It was the final exhibition game away from home for the Sox and their fifth straight defeat. The game was played in 40-degree temperatures before a crowd of 1,271.

Luke Appling was back in the Sox lineup at shortstop — the position he has held down for 20 years. Manager Jack Onslow said he had returned Appling to a starting post for the first time in two weeks "to give Chico Carrasquel a rest." The 41-year-old Appling and Carrasquel, the youthful Venezuelan, are rivals for the No. 1 job at short.

Freddy Hutchinson, who hurled seven innings for Detroit, was the winning pitcher. Mickey Haefner went seven for the Sox and got tagged with the loss.

Gus Zernial swatted his fourth homer of the spring season for the Sox.

Television Question Will be Considered At Weekend Meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — Put somewhat on the spot by Notre Dame's signing of a 1950 football television contract, the Big Ten will meet here this weekend to determine a conference grid policy on video.

Notre Dame which Wednesday agreed to permit a national telecast of its five home games next season, had been invited with Pittsburgh, Nebraska and Marquette to attend the Big Ten confab.

Set Pattern
The Big Ten had hoped to set a pattern for midwestern treatment of football television, even to the extent of deciding at the Saturday-Sunday meeting whether banning of live telecasts might be in order.

Notre Dame's deal with the Dumont television network for chain telecasts over 21 or more stations next football season obviously threw a monkey wrench in the Big Ten approach to the subject.

When asked if Notre Dame's signing would affect the meeting, Big Ten Commissioner K.L. (Tug) Wilson replied:

"It was unfortunate that Notre Dame was unable to put off making a television commitment for the 1950 season until after our meeting, this weekend.

"Institutions invited to the meeting were requested to hold in abeyance all television matters in the thought that these midwestern universities could freely discuss the problem in an objective manner.

Want Representatives
"However, we certainly do want the Notre Dame representatives to be present at our meetings and we will welcome their attendance and comment."

Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Marquette and Nebraska had been invited to the session, Wilson explained, because the conference has "normal athletic relations with them."

The weekend's discussion on the vexing grid television subject since the National Collegiate Athletic Association marked time on the subject at its annual meeting in New York last January. At that time, the NCAA instructed members to limit television commitments to one year.

Appling Returns to Sox Lineup; Says 'I Ain't Mad at Anybody'

MEMPHIS, TENN. (AP) — Old Luke Appling returned to the Chicago White Sox lineup Thursday with the words, "I ain't mad at anybody."

Appling set at ease some of those rumors of a rift with the Sox management by playing the entire nine innings in the exhibition game here Thursday which the White Sox lost, 7-5, to the Detroit Tigers.

"Old Aches and Pains" cavorted around shortstop like a rookie. The 41-year-old Appling got a single and double in four trips to the plate, had one putout and one assist, scored one run and drove in two.

Chico on Bench
The 22-year-old Chico Carrasquel, who was reported to have brought on the trouble, was on the bench.

But Luke denied he had ever been sore because Manager Jack Onslow planned to start Carrasquel at short when the Sox open their season against St. Louis in Chicago Tuesday.

"If he wants Chico, that's all right with me," Appling said. "He's boss."

The Chicago Tribune said in a Memphis dispatch Wednesday night that Appling went home to Atlanta in a huff because Carrasquel might be beating him out. And there was some mystery as to why he was sitting in the stands at the Sox-Tiger game here Wednesday night.

Had Club Permission
But he shrugged it all off. He said he had club permission to go home to straighten out some business and he got back here sooner than expected. But he said he arrived too late to dress for the game.

Club officials agreed there was no ill feeling.

As for that talk about Carrasquel, Appling said, he wasn't worried about that: "I've had to battle ever since I've been with the Sox."

And, said the man who has held down short for the Sox for 20 years, "I can't play forever, anyhow."

Teen-Age Boy Kills Sister, Parents Dog—Then Himself

HUNTINGTON, W. VA. (AP)—Billy Blanks, bright but moody, wiped out his family in a murderous frenzy Thursday. Even the dog.

Detective Azel Bryant said the good looking 18-year-old high school boy used a hammer and a 16-inch butcher knife on his father, mother, and a 10-year-old sister, and then killed himself.

He set several fires in the two-story home near the downtown district and ducked out the back door, killing the family dog on the way with a swipe of the knife.

Police found him in the garage behind the house two hours later. They ordered him out. There were means and two pistol shots. Billy died in a hospital of self-inflicted head wounds.

A passerby saw the William A. Blanks home was afire and turned in an alarm. Police and firemen battered their way into the house a little before 3 a.m.

They found the girl, Valinda Brent, beaten and stabbed to death on the charred bed in her room. In another bedroom were the parents. Mrs. Blanks, who was 40, had been stabbed in the back 15 times and her head crushed. The father, a 46-year-old clerk for the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, was dead on the floor. It looked as if he had been trying to get away.

Billy had been arrested twice for stealing cars. Last October after a mental examination at the federal reformatory at Ashland, Ky., he was put on parole.

Bryant described him as a "sadist—a reader of crime and detective stories."

Lindsey C. Yost, the probation officer to whom Billy has reported weekly since October, said: "Unusual personalities. If guided in the right direction he could have gone as far as he wished. Everything possible had been done for him. Good family. Nothing in his background to indicate he was a criminal. He told me he had moods—sometimes happy, other times depressed. Sensitive and unusually bright. As a youngster he received much attention from his mother and father. Some of the attention was transferred to the sister when she was born."

Columbia Instructor Named Art Critic For Exhibit at SU

Edwin Ziegfeld, head of the department of fine and industrial arts at Teachers' college, Columbia university, New York City, will be evaluator of SU's 20th annual Iowa high schools art exhibit, April 17 through 30.

Prof. Frank Wachowiak, head of SU's department of art education, said no prizes will be awarded. Instead, Ziegfeld will discuss the exhibit with high school teachers and art supervisors.

Fifty-two schools have entered the exhibit. Wachowiak said 915 other entry blanks have been requested by the schools.

In connection with the exhibit,

EDWIN ZIEGFELD

Ziegfeld will attend the annual art conference in Iowa City April 20 through 22.

At the conference, he will participate in a panel discussion on the topic, "What the College Should Expect of the High School."

Ziegfeld is a graduate of Harvard university and the University of Minnesota. President of the National Art Education association, he has written many books on art education including "Art Today" and "Art for Daily Living."

The simplest is merely a large area of glass, either single or double thickness, on the south and east sides of the house.

Another type is the sun-wall collector in which the south wall of the house is replaced by the solar heat-storage wall. This type has an insulating partition to prevent the heat from escaping again. It also has conventional windows.

The third kind of solar heat unit can be used as a roof collector, with conventional wall construction. It collects the sun's heat for gradual release in the home with no need of operation or control.

Transit Proposes—Solar Heated Iowa Homes

Would you like to cut down on heating bills and laugh off pending coal strikes? Build yourself a solar home this summer.

Solar houses, which use rays of the sun as their sole heating element, are practical in Iowa, according to an article in this month's Iowa Transit.

The article, entitled "Tapping the Sun," was written by Elmer Bannick, E4, Davenport.

Bannick points out you need not live in Florida or California to take advantage of this scientific home heating advance.

Iowa has enough sunny days to make solar homes practical. The new solar heating systems not only utilize the sun's rays as they stream through glass walls, but also store heat to carry through days when the sun doesn't shine.

The degree of solar efficiency is also dependent upon the construction of the home. There are three general types of solar heat collecting units.

The simplest is merely a large area of glass, either single or double thickness, on the south and east sides of the house.

Another type is the sun-wall collector in which the south wall of the house is replaced by the solar heat-storage wall. This type has an insulating partition to prevent the heat from escaping again. It also has conventional windows.

Drama Critic Says —

Play Below Expected Par

— But Still Worthwhile

By VINCE BRANN

Bernard Shaw is nothing if not persistent. The current Broadway theater season has turned up with two Shaw plays, both roughly a half-century old, and both are hits. His Don Juan play, "Man and Superman," is about as old, and though not as tightly knit or as funny as others, it has some merit of its own.

It would be nice to say that the current production of "Man and Superman" which opened Thursday evening at the University theater is as good a show, on its own scale, as its Broadway brothers are. But it is not, to our way of thinking, and for several reasons, bearing in mind all the while that Riverside drive is not Broadway. No one expects it to be.

Four Acts Too Long

In the first place, "Man and Superman" involves a dilemma. It actually has four acts, one of which ("Don Juan in Hell") is rarely presented. With it the play would be far too long and the main story line would not be helped appreciably.

On the other hand, to omit this fantasy-scene deprives an audience of some refreshing political discussion, to say nothing of a colorful band of Spaniards to give us some relief from our talky principals.

Wholly aside from this "dilemma," the play — even cut to three acts — frequently goes off into a sea of verbiage that slows it considerably. As usual, Shaw is full of ideas. This play covers marriage, labor, radicalism, to mention a few. There are so many more, they often get in the way of Shaw's great wit.

Sparkling Performance

What literally saves the whole evening is a rich, sparkling and immensely intelligent performance by Harold Shiffler in the role of Don Juan. Shiffler romps through Shaw's lines with relish, turning the phrases out as though they were completely his own and being uttered for the first time anywhere. His characterization is so complete and enjoyable that one scarcely notices several other weaker performances, notably in the women's roles.

The pace, which is quite slow in act one, picks up considerably in the second act with the appearance of an antique Hummobile and its driver, "Eury Straker," played in this case by Jack Brookline. In his scenes with Shiffler, Brookline gives the clue to the whole play and some of the best laughs besides.

Male Actors Best

If it were not for something which seems basically false in the performances of both Judy McCarthy as "Ann" and Jane Lekberg as "Violet," we would be as pleased with the final act as we were with the third. Their playing just does not begin to measure up to Shiffler's and Brookline's. Indeed, the men come off with the honors, as has been the case so often this season, with exceptions here and there.

None of this should keep you away from "Man and Superman," however. There are enough good performances and enough laughs per square yard of dialogue to make it highly worth while.

Top Demo Woman To Talk at Party Day

India Edwards, head of the women's division of the Democratic national committee, will be one of the speakers for Democratic party day here May 9, Mary McMahon, president of the SUI Young Democrat, told organization members Thursday.

The Democratic state party chairman, county chairmen, nominees for state offices and national leaders will take part in the program.

Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin may be one of the national figures to speak here, Miss McMahon said.

Prof. Robert F. Ray, director of the SUI institute of public affairs, is helping to arrange and supervise the party day.

Miss McMahon appointed five committees to aid Ray prepare and make arrangements for the program.

SUI Professor Plans To Attend Indiana Meet

Prof. Marguerite McDonald, occupational therapy department of the SUI college of medicine, will attend a meeting of the American Occupational Therapy association in French Lick Springs, Ind., today through Monday.

This is a mid-year board of management meeting, Miss McDonald said. She is a member of the committee on schools and curriculum for the association.

City High Students Present Atomic Age Play

ATOMICALLY SPEAKING, City high school students gave a performance Thursday that went over with a bang! A cast of 87 presented a 35-scene play about the atom bomb, "E Equals MC Squared." Left to right seated are Marcia Raffensperger, a stranger; Marilyn Harris, Cleo, the muse of history; Donna Ebert, Atom. Standing are Charles Larew, a professor; Bill Fenton and Kenneth Hay, both stage managers. The presentation included explosions, mimes, a ballet sequence, caricatures and voices from the audience. The play was directed by Robert Pendleton, G. Iowa City.

SUI Mountaineers To Show Travelogue, Take New Members

The Iowa Mountaineers will accept new members at the showing of their travelogue, "Swiss Journey," Sunday night, a Mountaineer official announced Thursday.

Present members may renew their membership at the same time, he said.

Travelogue memberships are 34 and are good for admission to the 13 travelogues to be shown during the 1950-51 season.

Associate memberships at $4.50 also permit participating in all the Mountaineer outdoor activities this summer and throughout the coming academic year.

Since new memberships may be limited because of the limited seating capacity of Macbride auditorium and the number of persons interested in the performances, the official advised interested persons to take advantage of the chance to get their membership cards Sunday night.

"Swiss Journey" is the last travelogue in the current series, the official said, but persons joining the Mountaineers Sunday may attend "Canoe Country," a special travelogue to be presented by Muri Deusing on May 21. All 13 travelogues for next season have been contracted for, the official reported.

Law Students to Attend Association Conference

Clark J. Sloan, L3, Manchester, and R. Bruce Hughes, L2, Sioux City, were scheduled to leave today for St. Louis to attend a Junior Bar association conference, Hughes said Thursday.

They are delegates from the Iowa Law School Students association. Representatives from Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota will attend the meeting, which will be held today and Saturday, Hughes said.

Restore Statues' Modesty

ROME (AP) — Red-faced police goaded by hecklers pinned temporary fig leaves on three male statues in downtown Rome Thursday.

Metal fig leaves had been stripped from the marble warriors by pranksters, police said.

The fig leaves have been installed on Rome statues during the past two years in preparation for Holy Year. The statues were ordered veiled Thursday in order not to offend pilgrims.

Atom Explodes in Play

City High Students Stage Two Hour Drama Personifying World Destruction

By TERRY RINK

An atom exploded with characteristic force Thursday night when City high school produced Hallie Davies' play, "E = MC Squared" in the school auditorium.

The ominous shadow of a man smashed into a wall by the blast at Hiroshima started a chain reaction of audience interest in the first scene that lasted through the final, dramatic end of the world by atomic power at the close of the production.

As the atom, Denna Ebert put all the exploding energy into her personification that an actual atom, out to explain itself, would have.

Lighting System

Neither the set nor the script attempted reality. To manage the staging of 35 scenes without wasting time, a system of lighting was devised which lighted only a small section of the stage at a time, leaving the rest dark for set-changing.

A series of eight boxes of different sizes, black drapes for background and two screens on which pictures were projected was the total amount of scenery.

Poses Question

By placing the boxes in symbolic patterns and with the narration of the stage managers, Kenzie Hay and Bill Fenton, scenes were set all over the world. Instead of the customary plot, this production played a question. Although humorous characters and situations were sprinkled throughout the drama, the play was fundamentally serious.

For a good two hours, scene followed scene with a snappiness that should be characteristic of a professional troupe.

Purchase Survey To End Tuesday

Interviewers for the SUI Student Publications Inc. buying-habit survey are receiving good co-operation in their talks with faculty, students and SUI personnel, J. Leslie Bayless, G. Lebo Kan, field operation director, said Thursday.

"All interviews are being conducted on schedule and the survey will end Tuesday," he said. The survey will show the buying-habits of the SUI community and will disclose the value of those buying - habits to the purchasing area.

Graduate marketing and advertising students are conducting more than 600 interviews to obtain the buying - habit information.

Survival of Israel Depends on Peace, Visitor Tells Hillel

Israel can survive as a democratic leader and educator in the middle east "only as long as there is peace," Capt. Adam Yaacov, former Israeli sea captain and representative of the Jewish National fund, said Thursday night.

Yaacov, addressing an audience at the SUI Hillel foundation, said Israel's efforts for peace, particularly in reclaiming desert waste land, has been hampered both by Arab hostility and lack of necessary funds.

He showed a film which depicted reclamation work in the Nagob desert area of Israel. The Jewish National fund, Yaacov said, is providing money to buy border lands which before have been unused.

This land is communal and belongs to Jewish persons the world over. Leases are obtained on this land for periods of 49 or 98 years by the payment of a small "symbolic" fee, he said.

Villages are being erected on the borderlands in the threat of the Arab hostility, he said, so that Israeli citizens can produce necessary foodstuffs and raw materials and still maintain a vigil. These new villages help to absorb the influx of immigrants to Israel, he said.

Yaacov was the first graduate of the Haifa officers school and was executive officer on the first Israeli warship.

During World War II, he served in the British navy and fought with the Free French forces, seeing action in the North sea, Atlantic and Pacific theaters.

RAINMAKING STARTS NEW YORK (AP) — A hundred pounds of dry ice were sprinkled into clouds over New York's watershed area Thursday in the first attempt to relieve the big city's water shortage with man - made rain. Some snow fell in the area, but Dr. Wallace Howell, the city's chief rainmaker, said he was not sure whether his cloud "seeding" caused it.

Dewey Hits Selfish Reactionaries Within GOP

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey Thursday night pictured the Republican party as the one of individual freedom but said there was too much talk of "free enterprise" by some of its selfish reactionaries.

"When such men have shouted about 'free enterprise' they have not meant 'free enterprise' at all," the New York governor said. "They have been thinking of their own interests."

It was another night of political soul - searching into the Republican party by its former presidential candidate. He cautioned Republicans to stop rocking the boat in the nation's bi - partisan foreign policy planning.

Thursday night's talk was the last of Dewey's series of four lectures at Princeton university on the American political system. The series was sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson school of public and international affairs.

"From time to time, individual, unrepresentative members of my party, seldom holding public office, have presumed to regard the rights of labor as inferior to the rights of property," Dewey said.

But Dewey said that "no Republican president — from Abraham Lincoln to Herbert Hoover — ever endorsed so reactionary a position." The Republican party, he said, could boast today of a long tradition of support for the rights of free labor.
