Weather

Partly cloudy today. Monday occasional showers, continued rather mild. High today, 65; low, 50. High Saturday, 63; low, 22.

Election Returns

Tomorrow the voters of Iowa City will decide which form of municipal government will run the city. The Daily Iowan will be the first to carry the election results. As an added public service, a full staff will be on hand Monday night to handle your telephone inquiries.

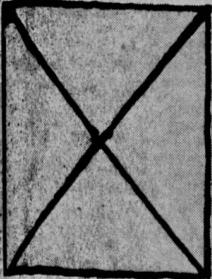

Iowa Citizens to Vote On City Government

Iowa Citizens Monday will go to the polls and decide whether or not to adopt a council manager form of government.

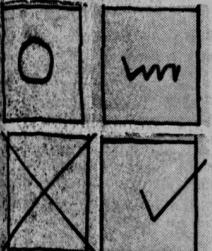

The council manager form of government also is known as the city manager form.

A second question on the ballot, to be answered either "yes" or "no" by voters, is whether the city should collect all garbage, trash, ashes and cans and maintain a sanitary landfill disposal system.

RIGHT

WRONG

THE TOP sketch indicates the correct way to mark ballots in the special city election Monday. All ballots should be marked by an "X" within the limits of the box. The bottom drawings indicate the wrong ways for voters to indicate their choice. Ballots marked in this manner will probably be disqualified by election officials.

Such a program would be paid for by a monthly fee of not more than $1 per garbage can.

Absentee Ballots

By 5 p.m. Saturday, the deadline for casting absentee ballots on these questions, 170 persons who will not be in town Monday had voted at or sent their ballots to the office of City Clerk George J. Dohrer.

Polls will open Monday at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. Precinct judges and clerks will begin counting the votes at 8 p.m. and will report their results to the city clerk's office as soon as they finish.

Election results are expected to be known as early as 11:30 p.m. Monday. The Daily Iowan will carry the results in Tuesday morning's paper.

Polling Places

Precinct polling places are: First ward, first precinct — Court house, 417 S. Clinton street; second precinct — Hawkeye Awning company, 29 W. College street. Second ward, first precinct — City hall, Washington and Linn streets; second precinct — SUI Fine Arts building. Third ward — C.S.A. hall, 524 N. Johnson street. Fourth ward, first precinct — Junior high school gymnasium, Market and North Johnson streets; second precinct — Community building, 204 S. Gilbert street. Fifth ward, first precinct — Iowa City Bottling works, 525 S. Gilbert street; second precinct — Henry Longfellow school, 1130 Seymour avenue.

The city manager plan question is printed on the ballot as follows: "Shall the City of Iowa City organize under Chapter 419 of the Code of Iowa?"

Voters marking the box beside the word "yes" will be voting to adopt the city manager system. Those marking the box beside "no" will be voting against its adoption.

Mayor Preston Koser Saturday pointed out voters can spoil their ballots by making any mark other than an "X".

This "X" should be made within the box. Any marks outside the box will spoil the ballot, and it will not be counted.

Efficient Government

The chief argument of the city manager plan advocates is that the system would give Iowa City more efficient government and save the taxpayers money. Opponents of the plan claim it gives too much power to one man, the city manager, who is not elected by the people but is hired by the council.

Since councilmen are elected at large and on a non-partisan basis, the city manager plan would destroy the two-party political system in municipal government, opponents have said.

Sponsor of the campaign to have the new system adopted here is the Council - Manager association, officials of which presented to the mayor March 2 a petition with 3,400 signatures that called for Monday's special election.

Democrats Oppose Plan

Chief opponent of the plan is the city Democratic central party committee, which Wednesday night pledged its finances to help defeat the attempt to change Iowa City's government.

If the plan is adopted Monday, Iowa Citizens will elect councilmen-at-large the last Monday of March, 1951.

Councilmen will take office the first Monday of April and will hire a city manager, whose salary would be about $8,000 yearly. The Code of Iowa authorizes three councilmen for cities with populations of less than 20,000 and five for cities with more than 20,000 persons.

SUI Students Counted

Because SUI students will be counted as local residents in the 1950 census, Iowa City would have five councilmen, supporters of the manager plan point out.

Atty. William H. Bartley, chairman of the city Democratic central committee, has pointed out a section of the code which provides that under the city manager plan a city lying in two townships separated by a river shall have four councilmen, each section of the city electing two.

'Personally, I Don't Believe in Hurrying'

WINNER BY A SAFETY PIN, and determined to "milk" his big moment dry, little Jimmy Eitel Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Eitel II, A4, Dubuque (background), nosed out 10-month old Mark Decker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Decker, G. Iowa City, (foreground), in Saturday night's baby "crawl race" at the SUI all-campus carnival in the fieldhouse. Eight contestants, all in three-cornered sarongs, vied for top honors in the race, and were roused home across a 30-foot basketball court track by parents with lollypops, milk bottles and toys. The race actually was a matter of rabbit vs. turtle, for early lead-takers blew their chances by taking breathers while their slower rivals overhauled them.

Babies Race, Beauties Thrill at SUI Carnival

By FRED HOAR

SUI's gala 1950 all-campus carnival rocked the fieldhouse rafters Saturday night, as about 4,000 persons jammed the midway and grandstands to watch babies crawl, pedagogues prance and campus beauties bounce.

Headlining the festivities was a baby "crawl" race at 8 p.m. on the basketball court, with tiny James Eitel II, one-year-old, breaking the finish tape first. Jimmy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Eitel, A4, Dubuque, pulled up on the inside rail, nosing out erstwhile leader Mark Decker, 10 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Decker, G. Iowa City.

Nosed Out

Mark took second place and Kent Olson, eight months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Olson, P4, Roland, came in third. Five other "also-rans" provided many a laugh for the grandstanders, as their parents coaxed them over the 30-foot track with balloons, bottles and toys.

A faculty-administration basketball game, geared for horseplay, followed the race.

Administrators Win

By a slim 6-5 margin, the administrators proved themselves over the teachers, in a wild and woolly joust of two six-minute halves.

The resolution states in part "... the board recognizes there still exists a housing shortage but it is no longer the acute problem it formerly was... and the board believes the interests of not only this community, but the nation as a whole, can best be served by returning the rental problem to a free enterprise system."

Admits Fraud in Diploma Scheme

DES MOINES (AP)—Madison H. Moore, 45, Des Moines, pleaded guilty Saturday to a charge of using the mails to defraud in a case that authorities said developed from distribution of fraudulent medical diplomas.

His sentence was deferred until May 13 after he told district Judge Carroll O. Switzer that "he could give valuable information to the government" if granted the postponement.

Cloyd Level, assistant United States district attorney, told the court that Moore had issued false "diplomas purporting to certify that persons named (in the diplomas) had complied with all requirements of accredited medical colleges..."

Union Leaders Discuss Threatened Rail Strike

CHICAGO (AP)—Union leaders held a three-hour meeting Saturday to discuss whether to call 110,000 firemen and engineers out on strike against the nation's railroads.

However, David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood, declined to comment on the possibility of an immediate strike as Saturday's session broke up.

Lounsbury, Jones Hawkeye 'Woman, Man of the Year'

E. K. Jones, A3, Osceola, and Patricia Lounsbury, A4, Des Moines, were named Hawkeye Man and Woman of the Year Saturday night at SUI's all-campus carnival in the fieldhouse.

They were presented with $75 apiece during a ceremony between halves of the faculty-administration basketball game.

Jones was chosen for the honor by Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary fraternity, and Miss Lounsbury by Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society.

Selection was made on the basis of campus activities, scholarship and character.

Surprised at Award

"I don't know when I've been so surprised," Miss Lounsbury said. "Receiving the award was about the most pleasant shock I've ever had." Miss Lounsbury is 1949-50 Hawkeye editor.

Jones said he was "very pleased and could hardly believe it" when he heard the news. "I didn't think I had a chance and am certainly grateful for being selected."

Jones, retiring president of the Tailfeathers pep club, has been president of Delta Chi fraternity secretary-treasurer of the Interfraternity council, co-chairman of the 1949 all-campus election committee and committee member this year.

He was co-chairman of the SUI student trips in 1948-1949. SUI delegate to the Big Ten Interfraternity conference in 1949, in charge of the 1949 all-Iowa school spirit workshop on student government, acting vice-president and pledge trainer of Delta Chi fraternity and member of the Central Party committee.

Jones is a political science major in pre-law and expects to enroll soon in the college of law.

Hawkeye Editor

Miss Lounsbury, a member of Theta Sigma Phi journalism fraternity, is 1949-50 editor of Hawkeye and vice-president of the senior journalism class.

She has been secretary and publicity chairman of the University Women's association, assistant editor of Code for Coeds and the Panhellenic Handbook, member of the Junior Panhellenic council, writer and director of the YWCA style show, vice-president of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and copy editor of Hawkeye.

TEHERAN, IRAN—Prof. Reza Jorjani of Tabriz university recited to his students Saturday this line from the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam: "Death may come any minute." Then he fell dead of a heart ailment.

Expect U.S. To Answer Russ Protest This Week

'I Should Beat My Brains Out'

PONCA CITY, OKLA. (AP)—"Wilbur the Wacky Robin" Saturday gave up his three-day fight with his own reflection — he found a lady robin more interesting.

The bird-brained battler Thursday started attacking his own image in a shiny hubcap on Earl Wright's car.

Wilbur turned out at 7:50 a.m. Saturday to continue the fight. His feathers were bedraggled, his wings hung to the ground and his beak was blunted and blood stained.

Then the lady robin came along. She chirped "Cheer-ree, Cheer-ree."

Wilbur looked up. He liked what he saw better than his own beat-up image.

Immediately he started the courtship.

U.S. Corporal Convicted Of Trying to Aid Russia

GARMISCH, GERMANY (AP)—A U.S. airforce court martial convicted Gustav Mueller Saturday of attempting to give American military secrets to Soviet Russia and sentenced him to five years in prison. He had denied the charge in tearful testimony.

Described in a report by army doctors as "immature and emotionally unstable," the young airman from St. Paul, Minn., insisted he was only trying to trap some Russian spies with melodramatic activities that led to his arrest last fall. In a clipped, British-type accent, he said: "I never meant to betray the United States. I am not a Communist. I hate communism. I am loyal to the United States and always shall be... I know I did wrong and I am sorry. I tried twice to kill myself because of this affair. But I already have been punished by six months in jail at hard labor while awaiting trial. I would never do such a thing again."

He repudiated stories he told U.S. army agents who posed as Russian operatives and obtained documents from him after he sent a telegram to the Soviet consulate in Bern, Switzerland, last September asking for contact. They testified he told them he believed in communism and wished to help out the party cause.

In addition to the prison sentence, it ordered that Mueller be dishonorably discharged from the airforce, in which he enlisted in 1948 for a three-year term.

Officers Didn't Want to Press Charges: Parents

ST. PAUL, MINN. (AP)—The parents of a young airforce corporal convicted in Germany for espionage said Saturday they will seek to learn whether the youth was court-martialed against recommendations of officers in Europe.

Edward A. James, foster-father of Cpl. Gustav A. Mueller, said young Mueller wrote that his superiors in Germany wanted to press charges against him but were overruled by Washington officials.

The 21-year-old Princess Fatima Pahlevi married Vincent Lee Hillyer, 25, a Harvard university student Thursday in Civitavecchia near Rome, after a whirlwind courtship.

The young couple was reported to have met only three and a half months ago, when Hillyer crashed a New Year's eve party given by the Shah.

HAWKEYE MAN AND WOMAN OF THE YEAR E.K. Jones, A3, Osceola, and Patricia Lounsbury, A4, Des Moines, congratulated each other on their awards Saturday. The pair each received $75 Saturday night at the all-campus carnival in the fieldhouse. Jones, retiring president of the Tailfeathers pep club, has participated in student activities ranging from president of Delta Chi fraternity to co-chairman of the 1948-1949 student trips to Minnesota and Wisconsin. Miss Lounsbury, 1949-1950 editor of Hawkeye and vice-president of the senior class in journalism, plans to enter the newspapering or magazine publications fields when she finishes school in June.

Predict Denial Of B-29 Attack On Red Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States probably will reply early this week to Russia's protest that an American B-29 airplane crossed the Soviet Baltic sea coast last Saturday and fired on Russian fighter planes which sought to force it to land.

Indications Saturday were that the Russian version of the alleged incident will be rejected outright. But state department officials are still working on the American reply and the exact line to be taken in the finished note remains to be finally decided.

Among other questions, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and his stop advisers apparently still have to determine whether evidence supplied by the defense department adds up to a conclusion that Russian fighters actually shot down an unarmed navy patrol craft somewhere over the international waters of the Baltic sea.

There is considerable speculation among officials here that this may have been what happened. The Russian note said that a Russian fighter fired on the "B-29" but claimed that it took this action only after the American plane "opened fire." It added that the "B-29" turned and disappeared.

Acheson received a formal report Saturday from the defense department covering issues raised by the Russian protest, made last Tuesday, and also results of the Baltic sea search for the navy patrol plane which disappeared last Saturday on a flight from Wiesbaden, Germany, to Copenhagen, Denmark.

Drifting Raft Sighted In Baltic Plane Hunt

WIESBADEN, GERMANY (AP)—Air searchers for a missing U.S. navy patrol bomber in the Baltic sea reported sighting a life raft late Saturday, just as the search was about to be abandoned. The search crew said, however, no sign of life was seen.

The plane has been missing since last Saturday with 10 crewmen and may have been the target of a Russian fighter aircraft's bullets. Location of the raft was given as 48 miles northwest of the Danish island of Bornholm and 23 miles south of the Swedish coast.

Darkness prevented further aerial search Saturday night, but the U.S. airforce asked Danish and Swedish coast guard vessels to go to the scene immediately with flashlights. All available planes were readied to take off at dawn Sunday to follow up the new clue.

SUI Student Slashes Youth, Police Report

An Iowa City high school student received severe cuts on the face from the jagged end of a glass said to be wielded by an SUI student about 1:00 this morning, police reported.

Bob Seydel, 18, 618 East Jefferson street, was taken to Mercy hospital after being gashed in the face at least twice by SUI student Geoffrey L. Hess, A1, Iowa City, in the D & L restaurant.

Hess was held on an open charge this morning, pending further investigation by the county attorney.

Witnesses said Hess for no apparent reason, suddenly smashed his water glass against the counter and struck Seydel, who was sitting to his right, at least twice in the face.

Police took Hess into custody and waited for County Atty. Jack Cr. White to file any possible charges.

Seydel was taken to the hospital by friends. Hospital officials reported early this morning that Seydel had received severe lacerations requiring a number of stitches. He lost a considerable amount of blood, they said.

Seydel is a student at St. Mary's. Seydel's father, William Sydel, is a night watchman at Mercy hospital.

Grad School Tests To Be Given Here

The graduate record examinations for students who plan to enter graduate schools which require entrance tests will be given at SUI May 5 and 6, according to Prof. Robert L. Ebel, director of SUI's examinations service.

Ebel said students who wish to take the examination may get application material by calling at the examinations service office, room 114, University hall.

The applicant must complete these materials and mail them so they will be received in Princeton university not later than Friday, Ebel said.

Fees for the examinations range from $8 to $12, depending upon the number of tests taken.

Ebel explained that many graduate schools require results on the examination record examination as a condition for admission of applicants.

Sheriff's Association Reports Juvenile Delinquent Problems

DES MOINES (AP) — In Keokuk, three children, aged 8, 10, and 12, broke school windows and admitted taking $100 in break-ins.

In Clinton, three school boys, 11, 12 and 13 years old, were picked up in connection with a series of purse thefts.

In Spencer, five boys — 5-2 years old — swiped things they wanted, such as key rings and cards, from Spencer stores; were caught after they were seen burying fruit jars, containing the loot, on a vacant lot. Each jar had a name in it.

Rustlers Modern Type Finds Easy Picking

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — There's a lot of cattle rustling going on these days, pards, and the thieves cuttin' strays from the herds ain't ridin' cow ponies; they don't carry shootin' irons and nary a one gets strung up to the nearest oak.

Nope, these modern rustlers are mechanized, and are causing more trouble than the old style ever did in the rustlin', shootin' days portrayed in western stories.

The rustling problem in Oklahoma has become acute as beef continues to bring high prices on the market. It's a comparatively safe and easy type of crime, and the returns are good.

Rustling has become so widespread that aroused farmers are threatening to take up arms and form vigilante committees to patrol country roads.

Carl Cannon, brand inspector for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, estimated more than 300 persons are engaged in the cattle stealing business in Oklahoma.

There's no accurate estimate of the amount of cattle stolen but Jake Sims, chief of the Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation, believes losses run into hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

Modern rustlers usually work in pairs, using a truck or semitrailer. They strike swiftly at night, driving up to a pasture or farm yard where they load the cattle.

It's a simple operation for anyone with any knowledge of cattle. With modern highways, they can be 300 miles away from the scene of the theft by morning.

Disposing of the cattle is almost as simple. Each of the 77 Oklahoma counties has at least one community cattle sale each week. The rustlers deliver their stolen cattle to a commission man for sale.

It isn't unusual for a rustler to make off with a dozen head during a night. With an average head bringing from $150 to $200, that's a good night's work.

Blaine county Sheriff Raford Scott reports that cattle rustling in his county is the worst since he took office 16 years ago.

What's the solution to this modern rustling? The association is fighting rustlers through its 95 inspectors, who are stationed throughout the southwest to check brands.

"We can usually track down stolen cattle if they are branded and appear at a market, but most farmers don't take the trouble to brand their stock," Cannon said.

Cannon, who has been with the association 15 years, pointed out it isn't always easy to spot brands. Some cattle have as many as six different brands.

While it isn't a common practice, some rustlers will use brand blotting to change brands. Cannon caught a pair of rustlers who were skillfully changing the bar — eleven mark (an 11 with a bar underneath) into a pigpen brand (two parallel lines crossing).

While the big ranches brand and also ear clip their cattle, they still suffer large losses. Rustlers take the yearlings which still are to be branded as well as marked cattle.

CHICAGO (AP) — Network television circuits will total 15,000 miles and connect 40 cities in the nation by the end of this year, an American Telephone and Telegraph company engineer said Friday.

C.E. Schooley, chief transmission engineer for AT & T, said that at present video circuits cover 9,000 miles and link 27 cities. The area involved, he said, was bounded roughly by Boston, Norfolk, Memphis and Milwaukee.

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Conservation Commission is placing greater emphasis this year on water safety and rescue work.

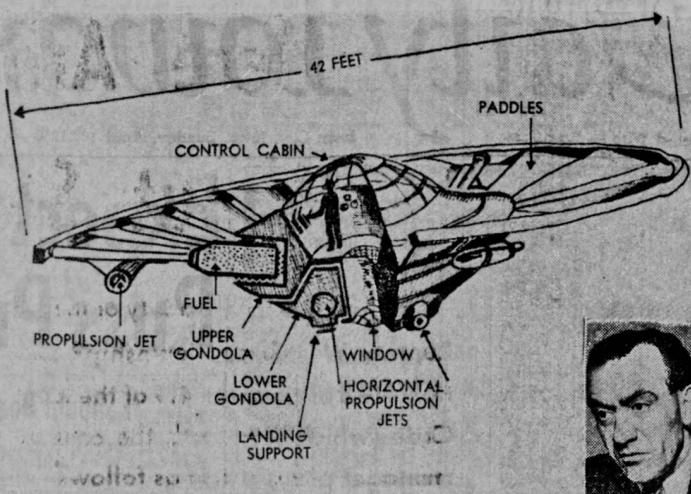

"Very few of the 75 drownings recorded in Iowa last year occurred in state supervised lakes," Commission Director Bruce F. Styles said Saturday. "But we will strive more than ever this year to prevent any drownings."

"It is good to be there to assist in case of a boating or swimming accident. But it is much better to prevent such things. To this end we are concentrating a lot of effort."

The commission held a week-long school at Fort Dodge recently, to teach water safety and rescue work.

Others included lake patrolmen and a good many conservation officers of the commission's fish and game division. First aid also was taught.

Designer Offers to Build 'Flying Saucer'

A FORMER LUFTWAFFE CAPTAIN and aircraft designer, Rudolph Schriever (inset), who says engineers throughout the world experimented in the early 1940's with "flying saucers," is willing to build one for the United States in six to nine months. The 40-year-old Prague university graduate said he made blueprints for such a machine (above), which he calls a "flying top" before Germany's collapse and that the blueprints were stolen from his laboratory. He says his machine would be capable of 2,600 miles-per-hour with a radius of 4,000 miles. Schriever is a U.S. army driver at Bremerhaven.

Commission Plans Water Safety Campaign New Senator Takes Crime Probe Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tennessee's earnest freshman Senator Estes Kefauver is preparing to take on a king-sized job in keeping politics out of a senate crime investigation.

The youthful Democratic lawmaker is slated to take charge of a $150,000 inquiry into the operation of gambling and crime syndicates operating in interstate commerce. The senate is expected to approve the inquiry next week.

"There'll be no politics played if I can help it," Kefauver says. "When we get underway, maybe I can convince everybody of the non-partisanship and sincerity of the investigation."

Some Republicans have called for investigation in Kansas City, where politics has become mixed up with crime in the slaying of Democratic Leader Charles McNamara and one of his henchmen.

This being an election year, the implications are obvious. President Truman contends that crime is a nationwide problem and not restricted to Kansas City. These same views are held by Kefauver — but the Tennesseean has said he would not "shy away" from the Kansas City inquiry.

Veteran lawmakers agree that freshman Kefauver has taken on a tough job — and a highly explosive one — in his first term in the senate.

TRUMAN TRIP WEST WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman will mix brief train appearances in 16 states, with four five set speeches on his election year western trip starting May 7.

SAN SALVADOR, EL SALVADOR (AP) — An earth shock of moderate intensity was felt here at 6:54 a.m. (Iowa time) Saturday. It caused no damage.

COUNCIL CORNER

The student council efforts to bring a displaced student united many campus organizations and city groups.

The Daily Iowan story of the plan did not include the list of cash donors helping the student, Zynowij Glowiak.

Student church groups representing the Presbyterian, Methodist, Congregational, Baptist and Episcopal faiths contributed. The Newman club and Hiller foundation also aided the fund.

Other groups contributing were the Panhellenic and Interfraternity councils, Hillcrest, Currier, Quadrangle and Eastlawn.

The Iowa City Council of Church Women and Women of the Moose also chipped in as did the Eldora Hi-Y.

Smith's restaurant will provide Glowiak with a board job and the YMCA will take care of his vacations with tours.

Ernie Pannos, manager of the Capitol theater, will give him a ticket to the show every other week.

Glowiak will attend SUI on a scholarship and expects to stay in the U.S. after graduation.

The council committee, headed by Robert Rinnan, C4, Gilman, has heard from Glowiak thanking the committee for helping him come here.

SUI Research Awaits Census

SUI sociologists and political scientists are awaiting the 1950 census tabulations for data they need to study population and income in the United States.

Prof. Harold W. Saunders, head of the sociology department, said Tuesday this year's census will be more useful than those of previous years because it will give more detailed information on income and population migration within the country than is now available.

"In Iowa, where continued higher income levels are dependent on an out-migration of persons, data on population shifts are needed," according to Prof. Robert H. Johnson of the college of commerce.

Iowa and other midwestern states have lost population since the 1940 census and may lose more of their seats in the national house of representatives.

Some New England states and deep southern states also may lose representation in the federal house. Such states, Porter said, may try to increase the size of the house above the present 435 seats rather than give up seats they now hold.

Porter said California and other far western states may gain seats in the house.

To determine the number of house representatives each state is entitled to was the original purpose of the census, Porter said, but today it is the largest statistical undertaking in the world.

New Raincoats Double for Showers or Shine

Raincoats are leading a double life — both a rainy and sunny one. New raincoat fashions range from bright colored slickers to dressy spring coats. A gay red corduroy coat with a matching jaunty beret does "double duty" as a smart spring coat and convenient rain apparel since water-proofing has come of age.

Tweeds, Plaids, Checks
Another example is an attractive salt and pepper tweed with a simple box design which is not only appropriate for dress-up occasions but is heavy enough to weather the cool April showers.

Brightening up rainy campus days are the comfortable and durable slickers. A highlight of this outfit is the seaman's matching cap which fits down snugly over the hair — good protection from any storms which might blow up. Raindrops slide off their smooth finish.

Small plaids, large plaids and even checks make the raincoat pleasing to wear in showers.

Matching Headwear
A raincoat made for shedding showers is one created of cotton gabardine accompanied by a pert hat. The coat, trimmed with a velveteen collar, can be worn belted in the front or all the way around. Some of the full-backed raincoats have elastic inserted around the waist gathering the fullness under the tie-in-the-front belt.

Headwear other than the matching raincoat hats are the flattering attached hoods which frame the face and add extra protection from the raindrops.

Silk Raincoats
Adding extra warmth and eye-appeal to any raincoat are the multi-colored plaid taffeta linings.

Silk raincoats are another new rainy day innovation. These are so light that they take up little space and can be packed away easily.

Old standbys are the transparent plastic raincoats which are handy and easy to take care of. Cleaning worries are ended by the whisk of a damp cloth.

COME RAIN OR COME SHINE, these three SUI coeds are prepared for the unpredictable weather. The hood's the thing for Marlys Metzger, A1, Ringsted, (left) as an added feature for her powder blue gabardine coat. This style may be belted all around, in front, or allowed to hang straight. Jean Brannen, A1, Sioux City, (center) models a gray gabardine raincoat for those April showers, with a black umbrella for added protection. At right, Marilyn Doran, A1, Boone, models the popular slicker in yellow with a matching down-over-the-ears hat. All three styles, popular for springtime wear, serve as protection against shower splashes as well as attractive additions to the college coed's wardrobe.

Changing Shelves Gives Housewives More Free Time

Time invested in rearranging kitchen shelves pays off in leisure time during the year.

With the speeded-up tempo of modern life, it is necessary to rearrange storage space so that every utensil is within easy reach. Of course the most-used items should be placed on the lower shelves or toward the front of the cupboards.

Open Shelves
If there is no easily-reached space for the kitchen utensils a few open shelves may be built near the range for storage of frequently used pots and pans.

Especially suitable for display purposes are the gleaming enameled utensils because they stay spick and span with little or no polishing.

Eases Work
Knives, spoons, measuring cups and food supplies also can be close to the places where they are needed. They can be hung up right alongside the pots and pans.

When the whole project is completed, cooking and dishwashing will go much faster than if ever did before.

SCHOOL RECONVENES
The SUI Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children will resume classes Monday morning after a two-week spring vacation, according to Director W. B. Schoenbohm.

Here Are The Facts About Section 419.8

Do you live in Iowa City or in East Lucas or West Lucas Township? Section 419.8 of Chapter 419 of the Iowa Code (which sets forth the council-manager plan) reads as follows:

419.8 - Exception - In any city having a population of twenty thousand or more, and less than seventy-five thousand, of which the territory embraced within the boundaries of such city lies in two townships which are divided by a watercourse, four councilmen shall be elected, two of whom shall be residents of and elected from that part of the city lying within each of such townships.

1. When the Council-Manager Association was organized to work for the council-manager plan, chapter 419 of the Iowa code was carefully studied. Section 419.8 is a part of that chapter and was studied as a part of it. This was in late September and early October of 1949.

2. This section and the section preceding it received particular attention. Legal advice was sought on the number of councilmen Iowa City would have under the council-manager plan.

3. The legal advice given was to the effect that Section 419.8 does not apply to Iowa City. Iowa City is not considered a part of either East Lucas township or West Lucas township either for elections or taxation. Lawyers say section 419.8 was put into the code to meet the particular situation of Waterloo, Iowa.

4. This fact was presented at a public meeting held at the Jefferson Hotel the evening of October 20, 1949. The conclusion was reached that Iowa City would have either three or five councilmen, depending upon the population as determined by the 1950 census. Many lawyers were present at this meeting.

5. Chapter 419 of the Iowa code was subsequently reproduced and widely distributed throughout Iowa City. Many lawyers have studied it. And now the small group opposing the council-manager plan implies that the Council-Manager Association is trying to hoodwink the people of Iowa City into voting for a plan that would mean unequal representation. Be assured that the Council-Manager Association does not now, and has never, given support to such an obviously unjust division of representation.

Why should section 419.8 suddenly be discovered now, at this late date, by those opposing council-manager government?

It is apparent that the question is raised now to confuse the issue of the council-manager plan. This puts it in a class with the garbage.

Do not be confused. Let's all vote "Yes" to chapter 419, the council-manager plan.

Council-Manager Association of Iowa City

We're Building Now the Iowa City of the Future— Will We Be Proud of It in 1960? Will It Fit Our Needs?

Are you satisfied with what we have?

Do we have good government?

Some people are afraid of change. Some people welcome it.

Whether we fear it or want it, change has come to Iowa City.

What is your estimate of the 1950 population of Iowa City? 25,000? 30,000? 35,000?

Whatever the figure, we can safely guess that it will go still higher . . . and soon. The new Veterans' Hospital will bring in more people. So will the new businesses and industries springing up here.

Are we still living in terms of 1940 when we numbered 17,138?

Or are we planning in terms of 1950 and a population of 30,000?

Let's look at Iowa City . . . Not at the fine homes and grand old trees. Let's look at some of the things that make us all say, "Why don't they do something about it?" "They" meaning the government . . . not just the present mayor and council, but the mayor and councils who have come, and gone, regularly through the years. Let's look at some of the things that could be better . . . quite a bit better.

THERE'S RALSTON CREEK. It's a troublemaker. Year after year it causes costly damage to property. It's always unsanitary. Of course, the government has done something to it . . . several times. But do you know of a plan that is being followed, one step after another as we can afford it, to end once and for all the trouble caused by Ralston Creek?

THE STREETS. How about those deep dips on Market and Jefferson, those holes on North Dodge and South Dubuque, Washington, and Melrose Avenue, those "pavement boils" every spring? OF COURSE Iowa winters are hard on the streets; OF COURSE Iowa City streets are old. But are we making headway year by year? Are we catching up and keeping up with the motor age? Must we always spend our money in patchwork mending that will not last? How about keeping up sidewalks? How about street signs, missing or turned the wrong way?

PAVING. There is some new paving right along. How much is it costing the city and property owners? We need more and better paving; how can we provide it without having to assess adjacent property more than a quarter of its value.

PARKING. Are we approaching a permanent solution to our parking problems? (It's not enough to say the students' cars create the problems.) Did we get the best possible long-range buy in the parking meters we now have? Are we making the best long-run choices in the off-the-street parking lots, or are we buying where and when we can?

ZONING. Can we count on a firm upholding of the plans of the zoning commission? So that we can be sure if we buy or build a home, it will remain in a residential district? So that if we plan to build an apartment or start a business, our plans won't be disrupted by the petitions of pressure groups?

TRAFFIC LIGHTS. Are we acquiring them at times and places indicated by careful study of traffic needs? How about those at the corner of Burlington and Riverside Drive? They're turned off now.

FRANCHISES. We don't have one now for water. Others — bus and the Crandic and the gas and light — will be coming up again within five years. Are we going to get GOOD franchises? Will they be put through hastily — while our backs are turned — or will they be given thorough study BY EXPERTS? Will they be fully explained and put to public vote?

SUPPLIES. Does the city always get the lowest possible bids on supplies and equipment? Does it buy in large quantities? Where does it buy coal for city use, in what quantities and at what prices? Are all orders inspected upon receipt? Are city trucks and other equipment kept in good repair and traded in while they will still bring a fair price?

HEALTH AND SANITATION. Who makes certain that our standards of health inspection are enforced? Are the standards as high as they should be? And the question of garbage, always with us: Are you satisfied that full and careful study was made before it was recently put up for our vote?

Have you looked at the animal cages in the park? (Perhaps we aren't allowing enough money for adequate park maintenance.)

HAVE YOU LOOKED AT A RAPIDLY GROWING IOWA CITY? What are our long-term plans for housing, for streets, for bus service, for all the services that will have to be expanded as Iowa City grows?

Do you feel that existing ordinances are sometimes ignored — in plumbing and electric wiring inspection, in building?

Is it true, as people say, that the city has several times in the past bought expensive equipment that does not meet our needs or does not work?

How do you like a system under which important ordinances can be, and have been, given three hasty readings in one council meeting and passed without ever seeing the public light of day?

ARE you satisfied? Do YOU think we have good government?

Many of these problems have been with us for years. Republican, as well as Democratic, councils have had a go at them . . . and an ungrateful public has always turned them out of office after two years . . . or four.

The fault lies in the system. We now have stop-and-go, fits-and-starts, hit-and-miss city government. There is no pattern or plan of action. Rather, there is a piecemeal attack upon problems.

When are we going to stop patching the roof and put on a new one?

Now is the time. Let's all vote "yes" on April 17 to the question, "Shall the city of Iowa City organize under chapter 419 of the Iowa code?"

Let's Plan for the Future under CMP
And Make Things Easier for our Councilmen

Every family knows about planning. Say you make fifty dollars a week. Food-clothing, a roof over your head, and some fun now and again are things you have to have. Supposing you also want a new refrigerator. Or a car. Or a trip to California. You know you can't have the refrigerator and the car and the trip all in the same year. You can save in advance for one at a time. Or you can borrow. Both of them take planning.

Every businessman knows about planning. He has to think of the months and the years ahead. A business can't expand, or move into new quarters, or keep up with new methods without planning.

Planning is important for a city too. Iowa City needs planning. Our budget is limited, and our city is growing. How are we going to manage the necessities and yet get some of the extras?

Maybe you're the kind who says, "Don't mention Ralston Creek. Why, it'll take an enormous sum to fix it up for good."

But why not mention Ralston Creek? It needs attention. And why not mention an enormous sum? Our city has an annual budget running close to three-quarters of a million dollars.

Did you ever hear of a plan for Iowa City that was made by experts back in 1934? Cost $3,000, it is said. Well, this is what happened to it:

Some people laughed because the plan suggested beautifying Iowa City.

Councils came and went. Political parties forgot about it. A war came along and was fought and won.

The plan gathered dust and was eventually lost in the files. Recently, someone uncovered it and brushed it off. That plan mentions Ralston Creek.

It mentions overpasses on railroad lines, enlargement of the city park, the need for a highway running straight south from the city, the preservation and planting of trees. That was back in 1934.

All of those matters still need attention. Why don't we do something about them?

Let's not say we're too poor. Let's not keep dragging out that old herring that Iowa City can't do what it needs to do because smack in the center of the city is a big university with tax-free lands.

Actually the value of property in Iowa City which is taxable for city purposes is comparable with that in other cities of Iowa in proportion to population. In 1948, the value of our taxable property was larger by almost three million dollars than that in Muscatine, which, by 1940 census at least, is bigger than Iowa City. It was almost double the value of the property taxable for city purposes in Ames. And it has been reassessed at a higher value since then.

We are not poor. We are using poverty as an excuse for not doing the things we could very well do as a city.

What we need is to get more out of our tax dollar and out of the funds that are available to us from other sources.

We need long-range planning.

We need efficient, trained administration.

We need continuity in government.

We need freedom from the pressure of groups with special interests.

We need the council-manager plan.

Let's adopt it and make things easier for our councilmen.

Here is how it will help:

It will give the council a full-time, paid, trained manager to run the day-to-day affairs of the city. No more piles of permits and licenses to run through every council meeting. The manager will take care of them. Department heads, inspectors, and contractors will report to the manager. He will have the facts the council needs in planning, or if he doesn't have them, he will get them at the request of the council.

This will free our councilmen for the job for which we elect them: To make the laws and guide the policies.

It will give them four years in office — except for the first two years under the plan. Every councilman or ex-councilman can appreciate what that will mean: Time to learn how to be a councilman. Time to put into effect ideas that take long and careful planning.

It will give the council continuity — through staggered terms. This is important. That turnover every two years or four years is largely responsible for our stop-and-go, fits-and-starts, hit-and-miss government. In the past twenty years, only three times has Iowa City kept the same party in control of the council for two terms in a row. It's not just the council that goes out, remember. The change may run through all the offices and departments of the government. For the council that's a serious business. With continuity in the council — which staggered terms will ensure — someone will always remain who knows what plans were under way, who will speak up for them.

It will free our councilmen from party pressures, because the elections will be non-partisan. There's no Republican way or no Democratic way of doing the city's business. Yet differences are invented at election time, and they carry over. The in's try to beat the record of the out's. The out's criticize every move of the in's. The councilman who wants to do things for the good of the city often finds himself roped and tied by the demands of his own party. And he always has to think of party support if he seeks re-election. Leaders of both parties in Iowa City have admitted that under non-partisan elections, able men who do not like party squabbles would be willing to run for the council.

Under the council-manager plan we would give our councilmen: A full-time, trained manager to handle details; Four-year terms; Staggered terms of office; Non-partisan elections.

Every one of these would help our councilmen to do a better job of planning. Let's make it easier for them.

It's a Money-Saving Proposition
Let's Make Our Tax Dollar Go Farther

What's the best buy in the long run? It's not always the bargain, for the initial cost is not the final cost. We've even made a standing joke about that: "It's not the cost; it's the upkeep." To get the best buy for the long run, we think first about quality. . . then about purchasing price. How good is it? How long will it last? Can we afford it now?

Spur of the moment buying is expensive. So is buying in small lots. So is outright "bargain" buying. In other words, planning is necessary for thrift.

Planning is the chief means by which a city manager can make the city's dollar go farther. Let's see how this would work in Iowa City.

Our manager would have the heads of all departments of the government under his direction. He would thus have a whole picture of what is going on and could make the best use of what we have. For example,

Through the department heads, he could place workers where they were most needed.

He could avoid duplication of equipment and effort.

He could produce a budget that carefully balanced the needs of the various departments.

He would do the buying for all departments in consultation with their heads.

He would be a trained man. Men training for city administration study such subjects as mathematics, accounting, statistics, and public finance. These help them particularly in handling the finances of a city. Our city manager would know the latest methods of budgeting and the best ways of cutting costs. His access to the facts would be very important in judging contracts and the quality of equipment and materials.

Some of the duties assigned the manager by chapter 419 would also be important in making our dollar go farther.

He would, for example, not only make all the purchases but also see to it that all materials and supplies purchased are received and that they are "of the quality and character called for by the contracts."

He would also have charge of making and preserving all "surveys, maps, plans, drawings, specifications, and estimates for public works or public improvements." Think this one over.

He is, further, charged with the preservation of the tools and equipment belonging to the city, and it would be his personal responsibility to attend to keeping them in good condition.

Finally, he would have to make a monthly statement to the council on the finances of the city. The council would thus have a constant check upon his spending.

These, then, are the ways in which we would have money under the plan:

Trained planning for our over-all budget
Trained planning for individual expenditures
Centralized purchasing, which means:

Purchasing in larger quantities (That means bigger discounts)

Checking of amount and quality of materials and supplies purchased

Constant upkeep of tools, equipment and city property.

Efficient handling of labor and equipment.

Perhaps the savings would not show up the first year. But they will show up. This is emphasized over and over again by cities which have the plan.

Let's make our tax dollar go farther.

Let's have the necessities and some extras too. Let's all vote "Yes" to chapter 419, the council-manager plan.

Can Iowa City Find a Competent Manager?

How Much Will We Have to Pay?

The question has been raised seriously — can Iowa City find a competent city manager?

Certainly we want a competent one. We want one with training. And experience. We want a manager who is also a GOOD PERSON. In other words, our city manager should have the same qualifications that businesses, industries, churches and schools demand when they set out to find an administrator.

What does Sears do, or A & P, or Towner's, or the Jefferson Hotel or the University, or any other institution do when they want a manager? They go out and find one.

City managers are not rare. About 1,000 cities, towns and counties in the United States now have managers. Since 1912 there have been more than 3,000 managers. These constitute a pool from which cities can draw for administrators. They are experienced; and they share their experience through their professional organization, the International City Managers' Association. Although the record of staying in one place is good, city managers do move around. In general they move from smaller cities to larger ones if they are good.

City managers are trained. Approximately half the managers in office have at least one college degree. Many have attended schools of public administration. Many of our big universities now offer special training for public administrators. They provide such courses as surveying, drafting, mathematics, accounting, statistics, public finance, law, administrative, personnel management and sanitation. A city manager must now serve as intern for one year before his training is complete.

Iowa City could get help in finding a competent administrator from the cities that have managers, from the schools that train them, and from the city manager's association.

Our job is first to get the plan, then to elect a council we know will find the best man available.

How much will we have to pay?

The answer to that is a double one: What we can afford and what we have to pay to get a good one.

Managers in cities about the size of Iowa City are now paid from $7500 to $9000.

What we can afford to pay is probably what it will cost us to get a competent manager. Possible savings are placed at many times the salary of the manager.

What About the Cost of Government?

Iowa City has been compared with Ames in terms of cost of government per person.

One speaker has said that cost per person is about as meaningful as cost per squirrel.

What we would all like to know is what is meant by cost of government.

We think it must have something to do with taxes and expenditures.

These are facts about taxes and expenditures that came from the report of the state auditor and from the administration of the two cities:

In 1948 taxes were paid as follows:

Iowa City — $292,000 (about)

Ames — $157,000 (about)

In 1949 taxes were:

Iowa City — $398,000

Ames — $153,000

In 1950 . . . We don't know yet what taxes will be. We know they have gone up.

If you want to think about taxes per person, use the 1940 census as the Iowa Taxpayer Association does. (Iowa City population — 17,000; Ames population — 13,000.) Here's what you get:

1948: Iowa City taxes per person — $17.18

Ames taxes per person — $11.31

1949: Iowa City taxes per person — $23.41

Ames taxes per person — $12.77

Then the expenditures. Figure out the per person for yourself:

1948: Iowa City expenditures — $628,000

Ames expenditures — $1,348,000 (To make these comparable, you have to subtract Ames expenditures for their water plant, their light and power plant and their city hospital, a total of $943,700. This leaves the expenditures for other government purposes of $405,000.)

Let's compare them again:

1948: Iowa City expenditures — $628,000

Ames expenditures — $405,000

In 1949 Iowa City expenditures were $607,000. (That's the published total of the budget.)

In 1949 Ames expenditures were $2,652,000, including expenditures for water works, power plant and hospital. But Ames took in $3,291,000 in 1949.

Mr. John Ames, city manager at Ames, wrote on March 31, 1950: "All of the Ames municipal enterprises are self-supporting with the exception of the cemetery and library, and bonds issued to provide improvements at the municipal hospital and airport. All of the Ames municipal enterprises are self-supporting."

He also said: "In previous fiscal years, this city has transferred $90,000 from utility funds to offset taxation; this was not possible for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1950, due to the utility expansion program."

The comparison was brought up by persons opposing the council-manager plan to suggest that Ames is not getting along very well under a city manager.

The figures speak for themselves. It looks as though Ames is getting along very well indeed.

Let's get us a city manager.

NOTE:
To the city high school students who did not get an answer to their question: The Council-Manager Association has financed its campaign by small contributions from many individuals — 221 to date. The total collected and spent will be announced after the election.

If the election for Council-Manager Government carries on Monday, April 17.

HERE IS WHAT WILL HAPPEN

1. The present City Administration continues in office until April 1, 1951, without a City Manager.
2. On March 26, 1951 a New Council of five will be elected — at large — from the whole City.
3. The candidate will be nominated by petition — not by political parties. The ballots will not have party labels.
4. Two councilmen will be elected for two year terms, and three will be elected for four year terms. After the first election all will be elected for four years.
5. The Council will select one of their members as their presiding officer, who will be Mayor.
6. All present City employees remain on their jobs.
7. The council will proceed to employ a City Manager from available professionally trained managers, probably from Iowa City. He is not appointed for any term.
8. All present laws and ordinances will remain in effect unless and until changed by the Council.
9. Civil Service laws remain in effect.

President Vetoes Kerr Bill; Says 'Not in National Interest'

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Truman Saturday vetoed the Kerr bill to exempt independent natural gas producers from federal regulation and said he did so because the measure would not be in the national interest.

The president had been under intense pressure from friends and foes of the bill.

Strategists of the Democratic national committee had urged him to reject the measure on the ground that signing it would give Republicans campaign ammunition for accusing him of knuckling under to a "vested interest."

Foes said the bill would jack up gas prices to consumers by $200 - million to $500 - million a year. Rayburn reported it would not boost costs "one red cent."

Truman in vetoing the measure sought to allay fears of gas producers that they may be subjected to harsh federal regulation. He said he had confidence in the federal power commission — if it should decide to initiate the industry.

He said the bill's proponents were "impelled only by imaginary fears."

But the bill's supporters were bitterly disappointed.

Its author, Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) said: "I know that the President has made a mistake in vetoing the bill. Time will prove that the consuming areas which want and need abundant supplies of natural gas will receive less gas and at higher prices than would have been the situation if the bill had been approved."

SUI Students Hold Religious Retreat At Lake Macbride

The annual SUI Student Christian council retreat was held Friday and Saturday at Lake Macbride, 15 miles northeast of Iowa City.

Fern Bohlsen, one of the council advisers and Lutheran student counselor, said the purpose of the retreat was to make council plans for the coming year.

The opening devotional service Friday night was led by John Mortensen, A2, Royal, the council's newly elected treasurer.

A panel discussion on "The Functions of the Student Christian Council" followed the service.

Members on the panel included Richard Switzer, SUI foreign student adviser, Prof. M. William Lampe, head of the SUI school of religion and Prof. Robert Michaelson of the SUI school of religion.

Other members on the panel were the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks, pastor of the First Baptist church here, Janet Kedney, Episcopal student director and Miss Bohlsen.

A general discussion followed the panel.

The Saturday morning devotional service was led by Thomas Olson, A2, Red Oak, the newly elected president of the council. The rest of the morning session dealt with plans for the coming year.

Ad Fraternity Plans Trip to Des Moines

Twenty-eight SUI senior members of Alpha Delta Sigma, national, advertising honorary fraternity, will tour Des Moines' radio stations, newspapers, publishing and other companies Monday and Tuesday.

Charles Cooper A4, Omaha, treasurer of the fraternity, said the seniors and faculty adviser, Prof. John V. Lund of the school of journalism, have been invited for the tour by the Advertising club of Des Moines.

The group will drive to Des Moines early Monday morning, he said.

At a Tuesday luncheon of the Advertising club the seniors will give a program explaining methods they used in setting up an advertising program for Smulekoffs, a Cedar Rapids furniture store.

The seniors devised an advertising campaign for the store's new home planning center a few weeks ago, Cooper said.

Construction Work Speeds-up at Dan VA Hospital Site

Construction work on the Danville dam project and the Veterans Administration hospital soon be going full speed, Lt. H. K. Howell, Iowa City army engineer, estimated Saturday.

A skeleton crew has been working on the hospital through cold winter months, but about men are now on the job, and Gust K. Newburg Inc., Chicago contractors, would like to do the working force when the weather becomes warm.

600 Day Job
According to the contract hospital is to be finished 600 working days after work started the site.

Dam construction ceased December after first phase was finished. Work on the second phase is expected to start following the opening of bid Rock Island, Friday.

Cost Estimated
The second phase, costing estimated $1,140,000 must be completed about 400 calendar days after the contractor receives notice to proceed.

The Texas Construction company, Dallas, Texas, is expected to get the bid. The Texas company's bid of $1,053,588.80 lowest of 10 submitted.

Four other companies also submitted bids below the army's estimated cost.

Short Story Contest To Give $50 Award

A prize of $50 will be awarded to the author of the best short story entered in the annual O'Leary short story contest, according to Instructor Verlin Cassill of the English department.

Sponsored by the Iowa branch of the Society of Colonial Dames, the contest is open to all SUI undergraduates. Entries should be submitted by April 26 to the English department office in University hall or to the writers' workshop office, UTBA, Cassill said.

The author should identify his manuscript by a pseudonym instead of his real name. However, he should clip an envelope containing his real name to the manuscript. Stories may be any length.

The winner will be announced at the commencement exercises June 10. Judges for the contest will be Prof. Ray B. West Mr. Prof. Hansford Marth and Cassill, all of the English department.

Hillcrest Addition Ahead of Schedule

Construction on the addition to Hillcrest dormitory presently is running ahead of schedule. Harold Van Horne, construction superintendent, said Friday.

Van Horne said they do not have a daily schedule to keep, but the work they have done during the winter months put them farther along than expected.

Concrete for the columns and for third floor of the building is being poured this week. Following the completion of the pouring of the third floor, only one set of columns and the roof will be left to be poured.

Bricklayers have laid the bricks of exterior walls of the addition up to the first floor level. They now are putting Bedford stone around the window areas of the first floor.

Manna Mania — Grocers Give Away Bread — In Price War

CHEROKEE (UP) — Crowds of eager customers jammed E. L. Swanson's grocery Saturday to get free bread.

Swanson announced he would give away "between 5,000 and 10,000" loaves today to climax a month-long price war.

Meanwhile, his competitor, a new super-market, put up a sign reading "free bread to our regular customers."

Housewives left both stores with bread in their shopping bags and smiles on their faces.

Swanson, a veteran of 23 years in the business, operates six other stores in Iowa and one in Minnesota.

He said he offers "sales inducements" to his customers frequently. Recently, he said he held drawings for radios and free groceries.

Finally, both stores were selling two loaves for 15 cents before Swanson made his offer of free bread to anyone.

Slightly more conservative, Bill Beckwith, 22, manager of the new super-market, restricted free bread to regular customers, but he said he was giving two or three loaves to each.

'Gorgeous Gussie' Tells Nuptial Plan

MONTE CARLO (UP) — Tennis star Gertrude (Gorgeous Gussie) Moran and actor's agent Pat Di Cicco, 40, announced Saturday night that they will be married.

Di Cicco, who once was married to Gloria Vanderbilt, said he and the 26-year-old tennis star will be married "either next week or as soon as she returns to the United States."

Gussie, whose lace-edged panties are more famous than her backhand, confirmed Di Cicco's announcement.

Connally Proposes Plan to Coordinate U.S. Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Tom Connally, (D-Tex.), Saturday disclosed a plan designed to bring the senate and the state department into a close working arrangement on foreign policy.

The Texan will recommend that the senate foreign relations committee be divided into eight subcommittees to consult with the state department on specific problems around the world. Connally is committee chairman.

"This plan," he told reporters, "is the first serious effort to set up a procedure in the foreign relations committee to get the most efficient and careful study of international problems."

The Connally plan is one of recent administration moves to rebuild bipartisan foreign policy and obtain close cooperation between congress and the state department.

Among Republicans, there have been proposals that they be invited to sit in on policy making and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich.), has urged an "unpartisan" study of a cold war pattern to follow the Marshall plan which ends in 1952.

Connally said he would place his reorganization plan before the full senate foreign relations committee probably Tuesday. He said there was a "good reaction" from senators who have seen the plan.

It would divide the committee into eight sub-groups to handle: United Nations affairs, European affairs, far eastern affairs, American republics affairs, near eastern and African affairs, economic and social policy affairs, public affairs, and state department organization.

POLIO CASE ADMITTED

Garbage Collection
If a majority of "yes" votes are cast for the second question on Monday's ballot, the city could either go into the garbage collection - landfill disposal business itself or give a contract to a private contractor who would dispose of the garbage at a sanitary landfill site.

Alderman Wayne E. Putnam said Saturday such a program is "the best thing that can be offered Iowa City at this time." It is not a cure-all, however, Putnam said.

It would not dispose of all rats and flies, but it would be a major improvement over the city's present dump. Its advantages are three:

Landfill Advantages
1. Garbage collection would be more efficient than it is now.
2. Trash would be collected along with garbage, and many people here need a more adequate system for getting rid of their trash. Now they must pay a private trucker to haul it away from their property.
3. It would make Iowa City cleaner and better looking by eliminating trash that now clutters some alleys and other property.

Loses Life

A VICTIM OF THE BATTLE in the faculty-administration basketball game at the fieldhouse Saturday night is Leo Sweeney of the profs. Sweeney is getting first aid from a nurse after being banged by the roughneck administration which eked out a 6-5 victory. The referee is Bev Vollers.

Administrators Flunk Profs, 6-5

It's a good thing that old Doc Naismith is up in the great beyond, for the good doctor, who originated the game of basketball, could never have taken the version of that sport offered by SU's faculty and administration in their game at the fieldhouse Saturday night.

Let the old gentleman rest in peace and never know of the brutal atrocities inflicted upon his invention by cads like Leo Sweeney of commerce and Waldo Geiger, the auditor, who will now return to their desks after the damage is done.

Those short pants - clad gentlemen were the chief offenders in basketball's Buchenwald, but their accomplices were many and merciless.

Russell (three reasons why city manager is better), Ross, Carl Strand, Dave Day and Clark Bloom of the profs, and Fred Doderer, Graham Marshall, Nat Kruckho and Frank Burge of the administration all shared the guilt for setting the court game back 30 years.

For the morbid curious in our ranks who must know the horrible details, suffice it to say that the administration won a 6-5 victory over their academic brethren. But it took a 20-minute touchdown run to do it!

Behind 4-0 with time rapidly running out and none of their shots coming within 20 feet of the hoop, the administration came up with its secret strategy.

IOWA GOLFERS Whip Bradley

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
PEORIA, ILL. — Iowa opened its 1950 golf season here at the Peoria Country club course Saturday with a 12-9 victory over Bradley's Braves.

Skip Carlson, Iowa senior, had the individual low for the day with a par 71. Teammate Bill Ferguson followed with a 72. Carlson defeated Don Summers, 3-0, while Ferguson downed George Gee, 2 1-2 - 1-2.

Ed Narett of Bradley defeated Gene Slack of Iowa in a singles match, 2-1. Slack and Carlson teamed to defeat Summers and Narett, 2 1-2 - 1-2 in a doubles duel.

Bradley came back with a singles victory by Jerry Ireland, over Chuck Kromer, 3-0, and a doubles triumph by Ireland and Gee, over Ferguson and Kromer.

Les Fields provided Iowa's final singles victory with a 2-1 win over Jim Eilers of Bradley. Fields had an 82.

Monday Iowa meets Notre Dame on Finkbine field, beginning at 9 a.m. Coach Bucky O'Connor said Saturday that both the singles and doubles will be played in the morning, requiring only one session for the entire meet.

Clinton Wins Iowa YM Swimming Meet Here

One national and three state YMCA records fell Saturday as Clinton piled up 182 1/2 points to win the Iowa YMCA swimming meet in the Iowa fieldhouse pool. Davenport was second with 102 1/2, followed by Waterloo with 87, Des Moines with 40, Washington with 30 and Cedar Rapids with 28. Clinton won 12 events and tied for first in two others in the 32-event program.

Al Higgins of Clinton swam the first 40 yards of the 100-yard breaststroke in the senior division in :22.9 to break the old National mark of :23.3 set by Jim Platt, another Clinton swimmer, in 1942. Joe Jones of Davenport established a new state record in the 20-yard breaststroke of the junior A division with a time of :12.5. The old record of :13.8 was set by Davenport in 1948.

The other two records were set by Clinton relay teams in the senior division 160-yard free style and 180-yard medley.

Other team scores were Burlington 13, Ottumwa 9, Newton 4, and Marshalltown 3.

Question of the Week

QUESTION: Do you think the council-manager (city manager) form of government should be adopted for Iowa City in Monday's special election?

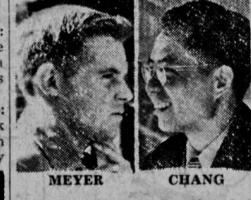

RUFF

Charles Ruff, G. Pittsburg, Pa.: "I really don't know. I'm on the fence but I think the idea of a council-form of government is better than the mayor."

Frank Houghton, G. Waterloo: "Personally, no. I don't think Iowa City will offer enough money to hire a competent city manager." Philip Nordstrom, A4, Rocky River, Ohio: "With qualifications. I think it would be a good thing if the council could pay enough money to insure qualified men for the position of council."

David Smith, C4, Hampton: "Yes, because one of the points under discussion now is about the streets and it seems the present government hasn't been doing a very good job taking care of them. I believe the manager could spend more time taking care of the physical facilities rather than catering to any special group."

MEYER CHANG

She-Wo Chang, G. Shanghai, China: "I haven't any ideas about it. If it's more democratic I think it's better to have that sort of thing."

Robert Meyer, A4, Davenport: "Yes, I do, because I feel it's the most economical form of government in a city because of the fact it embodies centralized purchasing."
