Hawks Win, 1-0

Iowa's Hawkeyes won a 1-0 decision over Bradley university Monday afternoon in an 11 inning game. A walk, a single and an error provided Iowa's winning margin. The Hawks meet Bradley again this afternoon.

Iowa Citizens Adopt City Manager Plan

Hess Free on Bail After Face Slashing

Geoffrey L. Hess, 21, Iowa City, Sunday was freed on $2,500 bond after waiving preliminary hearing on a charge of assault with intent to maim.

Police Judge Emil Trott bound over the 28-year-old youth to the Johnson county grand jury, which convenes in May. Bond was posted by Hess' attorney, William J. Hayek, Iowa City.

Hess was arrested about 1 a.m. Sunday at the D & L Grill, an all-night restaurant, after he reportedly lacerated the face of Robert Seydel, 18, 618 E. Jefferson street, with a broken water glass.

SUI Men's Counselor M. L. Hult said Monday university officials would release "no statement" on disciplinary action regarding Hess until the "particulars of the incident have been ascertained."

A preliminary information Sunday morning was filed by County Atty. Jack C. White, charging Hess with the assault on Seydel. The charge carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment, White said.

Seydel said Monday Hess struck him with the broken water glass when the two were sitting side by side in the restaurant. "Hess ordered ham and eggs," Seydel said, "and I mentioned to one of the fellows I was with that I thought it was a funny time of the morning to be ordering ham and eggs."

After making this remark, Seydel said he heard a glass break beside him and then Hess lashed out at his face with the jagged edge.

Seydel said he started to get up from the stool at which he was sitting when Hess struck him again in the face. Seydel said he "remembered being struck only twice."

Glenn Urban, 44, Larrabee, grabbed Hess and knocked the broken glass from his hand, police said.

Seydel was taken to Mercy hospital by his two companions, identified as Bob Long and Mickey Mead, seniors at St. Mary's high school with Seydel.

More than 30 stitches were taken in the youth's face. Seydel was taken home and stayed in bed until Monday afternoon. He said he reported to his school Monday afternoon but did not attend classes.

Hess, who lives at 214 N. Duquesne street, declined to comment Monday until he "conferred with his attorney."

Hess said, however, that Seydel made an "antagonizing remark" just prior to the incident. "Otherwise I'd have never done what I did," he added.

Hess' attorney, Hayek, said Monday the 28-year-old student would offer a plea of "not guilty" to the charge made against him. The accused youth said he entered SUI in September and "was majoring in journalism." He is a veteran, attending school under the G.I. bill.

Hess' father is an engineer in Guatemala and his mother, and sister are "in the east," Hayek said. White said Hess told him early Sunday his mother was in England.

Hess' grandfather, the late Lincoln Hess, was a long-time resident of Iowa City. Hayek said he is administrator of the elder Hess' estate.

West Side Blackout Lasts 50 Minutes

Electrical power for all SUI buildings on the west side of the Iowa river, except University hospitals, was cut off for about 50 minutes Monday afternoon when a cut-out leading to the hydraulics laboratory blew out.

R.J. Phillips, superintendent of the SUI division of maintenance and operation, reported the high tension line, which carries 2,300 volts, went out of service during the morning.

Workers did not repair the cut-out until about 2:30 p.m. because of the heat in the high tension line.

Buildings, which were in darkness when the hydraulics laboratory, fieldhouse, Quadrangle, stadium, filter house, Hillcrest and South Quadrangle.

WSUI spokesmen said their transmitter building is also on the west side of the river but they have an emergency generator and were off the air only a "few seconds."

University hospitals receive electricity from the city when there is trouble at the power plant.

Tommy Dorsey to Play At Currier 'Cotton Ball'

Tommy Dorsey and his band will play for Currier hall's "Cotton Ball" April 28 in the main lounge of the Iowa Union, Ruth Celke, 44, Cleveland, Currier hall social chairman, announced Monday.

Miss Celke said the band's contract was signed Saturday for the annual spring dance. Tickets for the dance will cost $3 per couple and they will go on sale Wednesday.

They may be obtained in the south lobby of Currier, at Westlawn and in the office of student affairs for town women. Miss Celke said the dance is sponsored by the Currier association but town women and Westlawn residents will be permitted to buy the 800 tickets to help pay for the high cost of the band.

Boys Find Pistol, Give Clue in Death Of Ames Canner

AMES (AP) — A rusty automatic pistol found by two small boys in the bottom of Squaw creek near here gave police their first major lead Monday in the 1948 slaying of Henry Chavis, prominent Ames canner.

The two boys, Cole Foster and Boyd Larson, told police they found the rust-covered .32 caliber automatic pistol Sunday while playing in the shallow creek.

At Des Moines, state bureau of criminal investigation technicians said they determined from the serial number the small weapon belonged to Chavis himself.

Chavis was shot to death Nov. 8, 1948, shortly before dawn as he stepped to the rear door of his farm home near here. Thirty-two caliber bullets were removed from his body.

Chief R.W. Nebergall of the investigation bureau said it probably would be "several days" before experts could get the rusted pistol in condition to conduct tests.

Attempts to locate the automatic stolen from Chavis' home, he said, have been one of the chief objectives in the murder investigation. Meanwhile, the murder weapon had not turned up.

Chavis, 55, was owner and operator of the Ames canning company, which has been sold since his death. No money was on his body when it was found with a bullet through the heart.

U.S. Criticizes Russ Approach To Plane Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department sharply criticized Russia Monday for a lack of "calmness and restraint" in its diplomatic claim that an American plane fired on Soviet fighters over Latvia 10 days ago.

Department Press Officer Michael J. McDermott said that, unlike Russia, the United States is waiting for all available information and the "true fact" before replying to Russia's protest that the U.S. plane fired first and then was driven back to sea by the Soviets.

"This government believes that this careful approach is the only proper one in an important and delicate matter of international relations," McDermott said, "and regrets that the Soviet government has failed to show equal calmness and restraint."

He told a news conference his criticism was leveled at Russia's handling of the "whole incident." The Soviets claimed the U.S. plane was of the "B-29 type" but U.S. officials said the only American plane in the area was an unarmed navy Privateer.

Motorists Requested To Observe Rules In Housing Areas

Motorists driving in the SUI married student housing areas were asked Monday to check and obey all traffic regulations outlined in the traffic control plan of the University Married Students organization.

UMSO Pres. David Ray, 43, Memphis, Tenn., said the request was made because of the increased traffic that comes with the warmer weather.

"So many children are playing outside now and there is more traffic on the village and park streets," he said.

Frequent drivers in the areas, such as those of taxis, delivery and visitors should observe the signs posted in the areas, he said.

Ray said the regulations most frequently violated were: blocking fire lanes (lanes are designated by signs), exceeding the speed limit (the speed limit is 10 miles w.p.).

Improper parking (taking more than one space in a parking area, leaving less than 10 feet passable clearance on a road, double parking and parking on lawns and other grassy areas), failure to close gates after passing through, and making unnecessary noise in the use of vehicles.

Prof. Hickman Takes Illinois U. Position

Prof. C. Addison Hickman, college of commerce, has resigned to accept a professorship at the University of Illinois, it was learned Monday night.

Hickman, 33, will assume his new duties Sept. 1 as a research professor of economics in the college of commerce and business administration at Urbana, Ill. Hickman received his B.A. degree in 1937, his M.A. in 1938 and his Ph.D. in 1942. He earned all of his degrees at SUI.

Hickman has been on the faculty here since 1942, except for two years in the army. He taught at John B. Stetson university, Fla., from 1938 to 1940. Appointed a full professor last year, Hickman is married and has two children. He lives at 1307 Rochester street.

Koser Votes in City Election

MAYOR PRESTON KOSER CAST HIS BALLOT Monday in Iowa City's election to determine whether or not the council-manager form of government should replace the mayor-council system. Koser is shown leaving a voting booth at the fourth ward, first precinct polling place in the Junior high school gymnasium, corner of Market and North Johnson streets.

McGrath Asks Denial Of Wires for Bookies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney General J. Howard McGrath told congress Monday it could deal organized gambling "a knockout blow" by denying bookmakers the use of telephone, telegraph and radio service they need in their operations.

Testifying before a senate commerce subcommittee, he urged passage of law forbidding the transmission of gambling information across state lines. The subcommittee is considering such a bill.

While McGrath said that gambling runs to large proportions in some cities, he was unable to confirm reports of the existence of any "national crime syndicate."

Senator Ernest McFarland (D-Ariz.), subcommittee chairman, raised that question. McGrath replied: "I could not with honesty say that we know there is any great syndicate presided over by any great czar."

Senator Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) told reporters later that he was surprised at McGrath's statement that the justice department knows of no national crime syndicate.

"Personally, I think there is," Capehart said. The attorney general said that in addition to illegal bookmaking on horse races, big time gambling apparently has moved in on such sports as baseball, football and basketball, amateur and professional.

Chinese Communists Invade Hainan Island

TAIPEI, FORMOSA (TUESDAY) (AP)—Chinese Communist invaders of Hainan island have established two beachheads and bloody fighting still is going on, the Nationalist announced today. The Nationalist defenders were trying to throw back into the sea an estimated 7,000 to 8,000 Reds who landed on the big island off south China early Monday.

Latest reports said 6,000 to 7,000 Reds stormed ashore in the area of Limko cape, about 40 miles west of Hoihow, Hainan's capital. This is the main beachhead. Another landing force of about 1,000 Reds made it to the shore of Limko bay to the east of the cape.

Dispatches estimated the total strength of the Communist invading force at about 15,000 men. This made the assault the most formidable one the Reds have hurled at Hainan.

ELIZABETH EXPECTING LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace confirmed Monday night that Princess Elizabeth is expecting another baby this summer. The Palace said simply that Princess Elizabeth is cancelling all further public engagements.

5,418 Votes Cast; Proposal For Garbage Disposal Loses

Iowa Citizens Monday voted to adopt the city-manager plan of government, but refused to install a landfill garbage disposal system, in a nip-and-tuck election race which piled up one of the largest votes in local city election history.

A net total of 3,132 ballots were cast in favor of the council-manager plan, with 2,286 votes in opposition, according to election officials early today. The proposed disposal system was defeated by a decisive 1,569 to 3,771 vote.

Officials reported a tentative city-wide total of 5,418 votes on the city-manager question and 5,342 on the disposal issue. These totals may be modified slightly when an official tabulation of disqualified and absentee votes is made today.

The vote exceeded 1949's mayoralty vote of 5,203, one of the heaviest in mayor-council elections.

Concedes Defeat Mayor Preston Koser, opponent of the new form of government, conceded defeat at 10:30 p.m. Monday.

"The people of Iowa City have spoken and have expressed the type of government they want," Koser said. "That is the democratic way. We offer our congratulations and our full cooperation to further the interests of the people of Iowa City."

Ballots polled for and against the city-manager plan varied by small margins in most of the city's nine polling places. Widest variance was in the second precinct of the second ward, with 555 votes cast in the affirmative and 84 in the negative.

Garbage Plan Loses While they voted in the new plan of government, Iowa Citizens nullified a proposal by the city council for the city to collect all garbage, trash, ashes and cans and maintain a sanitary landfill disposal system. Such a program would have cost a monthly fee of not more than $1 per garbage can.

Monday's election climaxed weeks of campaigning for the new plan of government, spearheaded by the Council-Manager association, whose officials March 2 presented Mayor Koser with a petition of 3,400 signatures calling for the special election.

The election brought to an end 97 years of mayor-council government in Iowa City. The present mayor and council will continue in office until regular city elections the last Monday in March, 1951, when voters will choose five councilmen-at-large in a non-partisan election.

Council Names Mayor The new council then will name one of its members mayor and appoint a city manager, whose salary will be about $8,000 a year. The council will hire a manager "who has been trained and educated in the business of operating the city's affairs," according to Atty. Dan Dutcher, member of the local Council-Manager association.

Panacea: A Passed Buck —

The student council decided last Thursday to toss the problem of a musical comedy at SUI into the laps of the new student council which takes office this week.

It has been five weeks since the sponsoring organizations of Panacea decided to drop the musical comedy production this year. At that time these groups said they would investigate the possibilities of establishing a permanent Panacea committee so that the failure of this year's production would not be repeated.

At Thursday's meeting one council member recommended that such an organization be set up within a month so that it may start work toward staging the production next fall.

No action was taken on this proposal.

In fact, nothing has been done along this line since the sponsoring groups issued their reasons for dropping the show, and the buck is now passed to the incoming council.

One of the recently-elected members to the council stated in his platform he would strive to establish a permanent organization for the production of Panacea.

We hope he is provided with more impetus and less apathy than displayed by the present council members in doing something about the SUI musical comedy. We feel that the most effective proposal he could make would be to set up a working Panacea organization completely divorced from the student council and the other sponsoring groups.

As we have stated before, the production of a musical comedy takes a lot of know-how and experience. Only persons familiar with the problems of production of any show at SUI should be committed to the task.

There was no 1950 Panacea mainly because the Panacea committee was completely unfamiliar with the many problems involved, and could not take effective action when they were encountered.

The council and the other sponsors have become rather touchy over the whole issue. They say they consider the show a big headache and wish they were rid of it.

If they would design an effective plan to set up a permanent Panacea organization, they could relieve themselves of the burden.

The Iowan and the student body will be watching the new council to see how lethargic or interested it really is in seeing that SUI has its own original musical comedy show annually.

Another 'Saucer' Version —

Those amazing "flying saucers" which have been observed during the last two years have been described variously as fragments of excited imaginations, as an ominous new Russian weapon, and as space ships carrying observers from another planet.

Observers last week reported seeing "flying saucers" in Burlington and Sioux City. And one student let it be known around the Daily Iowan newsroom last week that he thought he had seen a saucer also.

And maybe he really did. Maybe all those who have claimed to have seen "flying saucers" really did see them. Because, according to an article in U.S. News & World Report, "flying saucers" really exist.

The so-called "flying saucers" really are revolutionary U.S. aircraft, piloted by living pilots, but definitely not "Buck Rogerish" in concept or design, claims the magazine.

The magazine reportedly has gathered and briefed non-secret data from responsible sources — including a group of scientists who were able to track a saucer for several minutes with advanced measuring instruments.

And here is what the magazine believes to be the true saucer story:

The first successful saucer was built in 1942 and made more than 100 test flights. Current advanced models are circular, 105 feet in diameter, and about 10 feet thick. They have no protruding surfaces of any kind.

They are powered by jet engines using a secret fuel. The power is exerted through a series of jet nozzles around the saucer's rim.

The aircraft's performance, according to the magazine, is next to unbelievable. It can stand still in the air, like a helicopter, and rise almost vertically. Its cruising speed may be as high as 600 miles an hour, but it can land or take-off on a dime.

Flight control is achieved by tilting the jet nozzles to desired angles, and by turning certain nozzles. Maximum forward speed is attained by turning the nozzles to the rear and applying full power.

The principles on which the saucers "allegedly" are built are known, are sound, and are accepted by the top aeronautical engineers, according to the magazine.

In a recent Saturday Evening Post article, famed German aircraft designer Willy Messerschmitt was quoted as saying that the Germans built similar saucer-type crafts in 1939 and 1940. Messerschmitt also believed that the saucers reported in this country were of Russian design.

Who really is building the "flying saucers" and scaring the jabbers out of the American public? U.S. News & World Report editors believe it is the U.S. navy — in spite of that service's denials.

The navy has been given twice as large a guided-missile research budget as the airforce, and no public accounting is made of how the money was spent, the magazine points out.

Regardless of which U.S. agency is building the saucers — and we hope it is a U.S. agency — their significance is tremendous.

"In war, the combination of helicopter and fast jet plane will easily outfly any present types of military aircraft. In peacetime, the safety of a nearly crash-proof aircraft may be expected to revolutionize civil air transport," according to the U.S. News and World Report.

A Public Victory —

Elmo Roper, public opinion analyst, recently surveyed the public's attitude toward the government's anti-trust case against the nation's largest food chain system, the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, and found that four out of every five Americans who read about the case oppose the government's action.

"Clearly, at this point the A & P has won the battle of public opinion. . . . Interestingly enough, we found that more women than men were sympathetic to the company. This is an indication of the appeal of lower prices which the company connotes to the member of the family who totes the shopping basket, and who makes the grocery budget balance out," Roper said.

One point developed by the poll is that Americans are not afraid of "big business" as such. . . . The common impression is that 'bigness' produces efficiency, and that means lower prices," Roper observed.

This would seem to be a logical attitude. It seems obvious that the A & P does not and cannot, have a monopoly — the thousands of other stores with which it must compete prove that.

A nation which has witnessed the enormous growth of businesses, from the smallest to the largest, does not condemn bigness alone.

To Men of Extinction —

The FBI recently reported it had found nearly 2,000 "moonshine" stills in operation over a two-month period.

The loot of the raids on the homemade stills came close to half a million bottles of mountain dew.

One still-operator threw federal agents off balance when he denied that he was making moonshine. He insisted that he was concocting a secret explosive.

The inevitable question arises: Is there a difference?

Interpreting the News —

By GLENN WILLIAMS
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The man with the biggest secret in all Britain came out of the sheep-dotted Cotswolds hills this week with a bagful of bad news for the citizenry.

He is Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, and his bad news is the nation's annual budget, a dun for taxes that now rake off 40 percent of the national income.

Come today he'll give the bad news to parliament.

More high taxes are certain. Estimated expenditures are just as high as ever and he has to raise the money.

The rich will continue to be soaked by immense income taxes. But he may cut the stiff levies on things like beer and cigarettes. The reason is to please many labor unions whose members are rebelling against his policy of holding down wages.

Cripps believes the policy is necessary to hold off inflation.

Tight Secret

The precise details of just how he intends to tax the citizenry are as tight as a state secret as, say, atomic bombs. Like the rest of Britain's unwritten constitution, it's a rule that has grown up only as "the right thing to do."

The reason for it is to keep financial gamblers with inside budget dope from making a killing on the stock market.

Breaking the rule can pitch a promising career heading toward lunbo. For instance, there years ago; its little brass lock has sealed the battered red leather case around budget secrets ever since.

Once Cripps delivers his budget speech, his hardest work of the year will be over. He's been polishing it for a week in the seclusion of his country home in the Cotswolds. After he speaks, the new taxes will be law unless parliament repudiates him.

That's far different from the United States, where the President presents the budget but it doesn't become law until both houses of congress shape it to their own liking and levy the taxes to pay the bills.

Cripps will still have to watch out, though. He has only a four-man edge in the house of commons and the opposition may well rally for a try at upsetting his new load of austerity.

Iowa law defines a political party as a group that drew more than two percent of the vote at the last general election. The Republican and Democratic parties were the only parties to qualify under that law. Representation at the two one-day political party days was based on that interpretation.

Britain Due for Budget Estimate Today

Two and a half years ago, when he was bringing in an emergency budget, he confided incautiously to a reporter that cigarette taxes were going up.

Hasty Resignation

Political foes proved the newsy tidbit was published a few minutes before Dalton told it to parliament. Big, bald Hugh resigned the next day, and has never returned to his one-time place among the government's "big four."

Cripps replaced him — and his coming was like manna from heaven for political cartoonists.

Dalton's well-fed facade fitted poorly with the austere menu he meted tight-belted Britons. But Cripps was perfect for the limning pencils; his slat-like body and long face are a symbol of austerity.

Cripps, however, is not the sour character he is often made out to be. He puffs a pipe contentedly, displays a friendly smile to news conference questioners, and can illuminate a tangled question with a witty remark.

Like a 'Possum

His biggest smile, though, is saved for the budget. Every year as he marches through the entrance to parliament he holds high his dispatch box and grins wide as a 'possum.

The dispatch box itself is a widely known character — and it's ever older than Cripps. William Ewart Gladstone first used it 70

Patients to Be Counted In 1950 Census Report

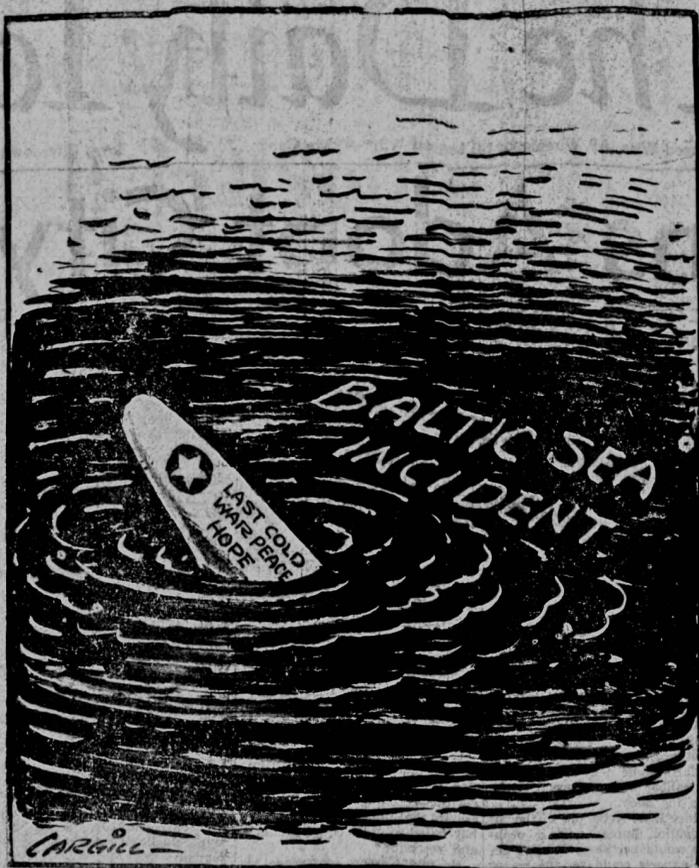

Hospital patients will be included in the 1950 census figures. Statistics on patients at University hospitals will be compiled from the admission cards of April 1. The hospitals recorded 709 patients on that date.

Nearly 350 nurses and student nurses living at Westlawn and some 60 staff personnel with permanent residence at the hospital will be included in the hospital figures.

'Politicians' Victory . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

The announcement by Robert R. Ray that SUI will hold "political party days" next month has been ridiculously heralded by some people on and around our campus as the beginning of a new era of political freedom and democracy here at SUI.

If this coming event is any kind of victory at all it is only so for the amateur politicians on our campus. The fact that certain party spokesmen will be allowed to parade our campus for the first time since 1948 in no ways alters two opposing facts: (a) political freedom, a la Prof. Ray, is restricted to the two major parties, and (b) that the state board of education committed the political fallacy originally of believing that they had the right to limit free speech and political criticism.

The mere fact that a particular party may be holding power by a majority vote does not mean that any single agency (supported by the majority party) has the right to assume such absolute power as to restrict fundamental political rights. On what grounds then is this political victory when minority groups have not been invited to participate?

However I am not as much concerned with the plaudits the party boys are going to spout as I am with the vital party truths about which they will say nothing. Will they tell us, for example, about the way in which the party boys will run their ruthless machines in cities and states throughout America; will they tell us about the shady political deals pulled off in smoke filled hotel rooms; will they criticize, and tell us how and why pompous reactionaries like Rankin, McKellar, Langer, Bilbo, McCarthy, Jenner, and dozens of others get elected year after year on the major party tickets; will they tell us who decides what candidates shall be nominated for office, and who it is that decides party policy other than the chamber of commerce, NAM, American Legion, etc.; will the Republicans tell us a vote for their party is a vote for the free enterprise myth?

the play in The Iowan.

My own reactions toward the production and those I have heard expressed by other members of that audience differ to a great degree from those opinions expressed by Mr. Brann.

To be specific, I disagree when Brann accused Shaw (author of the play, George Bernard Shaw) of becoming too verbose. Talk he does, but it is interesting and diverting talk, it is talk that the audience enjoyed.

While I did feel there were a few slow moments, they were of short duration, and certainly did not infringe to any great extent on the enjoyment I derived from the play.

I'm afraid I must also take Mr. Brann to task in his treatment of the women in this play. He found them "weak" and "basically false." On the contrary, I found Judy McCarthy as Ann, and Jane Leckberg as Violet to be charming, incisive, completely in keeping with the style of the play, and completely in command of their characters.

I found the play, as a whole, above my expectations.

Apology for Sins . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

Being a member of the male sex who has degraded women for some 22 years by opening doors and footing the bills, etc., I feel that it is only my honor-bound duty to offer my apology for my irrevocable sins. Believe me, I had never realized that I was only part of a universal plot to enslave women.

I first strayed from the path of righteousness at the age of five when I opened the door for my lame mother. Spurred on by this first taste of male superiority, I became addicted to more deplorable devices of degrading women and giving vent to my ego in this manner. Over the years I found myself performing such abhorrent deeds as giving flowers on Mother's day, buying corsages for formal and innumerable other feminine acts of "self-pampering."

Then, while browsing through The Daily Iowan the other day, I chanced upon your brave expose. Suddenly, like a drowning man, my life of sin passed in review. Thunderously my unmerciful acts of attempted enslavement of the opposite sex crashed upon me.

I immediately became obsessed with the desire to redeem myself. After undergoing a state of violent psychological torment, I finally reached a climax and relieved my state of tension by defiling the picture of Sir Walter Raleigh in my history book and burning Emily Post in effigy.

After much torturous deliberation with my conscience, I finally have decided to embark on a personal crusade against this abominable injustice. (A very insignificant contribution for my crimes. I realize) Here is my proposition: I feel that it is only my duty to reverse the situation and offer myself for enslavement in return for the years of your life in chains (figuratively speaking, of course). Turnabout is fair play! Any night that you would like to kill two birds with one stone by pampering yourself and enslaving me, I will be willing to sacrifice myself in exchange for the chivalrous niceties (in reality diabolical contrivances against womankind, of course) which we must have so unmercifully used in suppressing you.

Petunias Tops for Garden, In SUI Botanist's Opinion

Petunias are tops for attractive flower beds. This is the opinion of A. DeHaan, foreman of the SUI botanical greenhouses, who has 28 years of flower planting experience.

"I'd like to see many more petunias growing in Iowa City because they make a very fine showing," DeHaan said.

The botanist approved the "petunia planting campaign" being sponsored by the Iowa City Woman's club to "beautify and unify Iowa City."

Gardening Tips
DeHaan offers tips to Iowa City flower growers in selecting, planting, arranging and caring for petunia plants.

Seeds planted now would flower in mid-summer, he said, and suggested it would be easier "just to buy the small plants at greenhouses rather than try to grow them." The flower gardener also can obtain the colors he wants and the early blooming he desires in this way. Planting should be done between the first and the middle of May.

DeHaan also offers suggestions on selecting some of the better varieties of petunias and those which can grow "almost anywhere."

Choice of Varieties
"A very good pick" and a free flowering plant, he says, is the celestial rose, a dwarf type flower in pink, 2 1/2 to 3 inches across.

The white queen is another "one of the very best" variety which has velvety leaves and is about 4 1/2 inches across, DeHaan adds.

Mixed color combinations may be found in the dwarf type California giants. Beautifully colored flowers are dark purple elks pride and the newly developed fiery red fire chief.

When planting time comes, DeHaan says, petunias will grow more easily in Iowa City soil if manure is added, about one part manure to six parts soil. If the soil is a heavy clay, peat moss should be added, approximately one part peat moss to four parts soil.

Recommends Spraying
Petunias should be planted in sunlight or partial shade, DeHaan says, and spaced from 10 to 12 inches apart. They should be given a commercial fertilizer once in a while and watered occasionally.

The flowers should be sprayed once a month or when insects appear. The botanist suggests a nicotine sulfate, 1/2 ounce to a gallon of water.

Interesting flower combinations can be patterned with petunias, DeHaan noted, either as the center or bordering flower.

Color Combinations
"Geraniums bordered with petunias," "pink petunias bordered with dwarf ageratum plants (small blue flowers)" or "petunias bordered with dwarf marigolds" are several of the many combining possibilities, DeHaan says.

"Other annual cut flowers, easy to care for, are the rust-resistant outdoor snapdragons, tall and dwarf zinnias, marigolds and perennials such as the delphinium and the painted daisy.

DeHaan says his work with cut flowers, potted plants and outdoor plants is also his hobby. He has spent 11 years in commercial greenhouses and 17 years with the botany greenhouse.

Double Boilers Help Housewife Save Time, Prevent Scorching

Where would housewives be without their trusty double boilers?

The hostess need not be a household drudge while entertaining. Double boilers can take over last minute details, and also eliminate clock-watching.

The slow-cooking water in the lower part of the boiler prevents scorching and keeps the temperature the same.

Fewer Trips
To the hostess, this means food cooked, reheated and kept hot with no meal-time attention. It also means fewer trips to the kitchen and more time with guests.

For double use from a double boiler, the best buy is porcelain enamel. Foods can be stored, cooked and reheated in them without transferring food to another utensil.

In addition, dishwashing presents no problem with the smooth glass finish of enamelware.

Tips for Cookery
Here are a few tips for everyday cookery, especially for company cooking:

Heat delicate soups or sauces in the double boiler.

Prepare stew, chop suey or creamed dishes in advance. Shortly before serving, put into an enameled double boiler and heat over gently simmering water.

For vegetables which require no last minute preparation, make a rich cream sauce in the top of an enameled double boiler.

Store in Refrigerator
Store in the refrigerator. Before serving, add cooked diced potatoes, peas or other vegetables and heat over boiling water.

Keep mashed potatoes hot by placing in double boiler over hot water. Add a bit of butter or cream and beat thoroughly before serving.

Reheat rolls or steamed puddings in the double boiler.

Nursing Group Plans Organizational Meeting

An organizational meeting of District Five of the Iowa State Nurses association to set up an administrative nurses section will be held Thursday in Cedar Rapids.

The meeting has been called by the district administrative chairman, Prof. Amy Frances Brown of the SUI college of nursing, to consider proposed by-laws and elect officers.

It will be held at the Mercy hospital school of nursing in Cedar Rapids.

The administrative nurses section will include nurses actively engaged in teaching, supervising or administering work in District Five, Miss Brown said.

In the district are nurses from five hospitals and four schools or colleges of nursing in Cedar Rapids and Iowa City, including Oakdale sanatorium.

The objects of the administrative section will be to promote better nursing care of the public, to provide an opportunity to consider problems in nursing administration and to consider employment conditions of the members of the administrative nurses section, Miss Brown said.

Hawkeyes Nip Bradley In 11 Inning Game, 1-0

Dick Orth Gets Victory; Marsh Pitches 9 Innings

By ALAN MOYER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa combined a walk, a single and an error in the last of the 11th inning Monday afternoon to open the home baseball season with a 1-0 victory over Bradley university.

Both teams received excellent pitching, the Hawkeyes gathering five hits off Fred Weeks and Bradley gaining four off the combined efforts of Bruce Marsh and Dick Orth.

Marsh fooled the Bradley batters with a variety of slow breaking curves and an effective fast ball. He was removed in favor of a pinch-hitter in the bottom of the ninth and another left hander, Orth, came on to pitch the final two innings and get credit for the win.

Walks Orth
Murlin Kurt started the 11th by flying out to left field, but Weeks followed by walking Orth. As often happens, it spelled disaster, as Johnny Sullivan immediately rapped a single over second base to advance Orth to second.

Bob Christoph then struck out and Weeks was within one out of getting out of trouble. Then Jack Dittmer, up for the third time with a man on base, hit a hard ground ball that skidded through the second baseman's legs, permitting Orth, who was off with the crack of the bat, to score.

Only threat in earlier innings came in the second when Bill Tuttle of Bradley was out at home plate when he attempted to score from third on an infield out. Bob Primrose nipped the runner with a good throw to Catcher Ed Browne.

Tuttle was the only player on either side to get two base hits, both singles. On two other times at bat the Bradley center fielder hit long fly balls to left field.

Iowa's hits were divided between Sullivan, Christoph, Dittmer, Rex Vana and Primrose.

Ninth Win
It was the ninth win of the season for Iowa against only two losses. The Hawks won seven of eight on a swing through Arkansas and Missouri during Easter vacation and divided a two-game series with Illinois in Big Ten contests.

The game-winning run in the 11th was the first run Iowa had been able to score since the final inning of the first Illinois game last week. Since that time the Hawks had gone 19 innings without scoring.

Weeks faced only three men an inning from the third through the eighth innings. During that time he gave up one hit and one base on balls, but both men died on base.

The two teams meet this afternoon in the second game of the series, at 3:30. Neither coach has named his probable starting pitcher.

TAFT SIGNS
BOSTON — Righthander William Taft, a University of Michigan pitcher for the last two years, has signed a contract with their Denver Bears farm club, the Boston Braves announced Monday night. Taft, 22, is from Munith, Mich.

(Daily Iowan Photo)

DON'T LOOK TOO HARD for the ball. It's in the first baseman's glove and Hawkeye leftfielder Murlin Moran is out by ten feet. Making the catch for the Bradley Braves is Jack Mowery, while Umpire Leyes is about to signal the out. The action occurred in the fourth inning of Monday's game which went eleven innings before the Hawkeyes pushed across a run to win their first home game, 1-0. Iowa meets Bradley again this afternoon at 3:30 to wind up the two-game series.

Hawk Golfers Defeat Irish, 17-13

Win Doubles, 7-2, For Meet Victory

By OZZIE JENSEN

The Iowa golf team won all three doubles matches Monday morning to gain a 17-13 victory over highly touted Notre Dame on the Finkbine field course.

It was Iowa's second victory in as many meets this season. The Hawkeyes defeated Bradley Saturday, 12-9, at Peoria, Ill. The meet was the season's opener for NOTRE DAME'S TOM VEETCH shown at left shot a 69 Monday morning at Finkbine field to lead the Irish golfers in a match won by the Hawkeyes, 17-13. Gene Slack paced Iowa to the upset victory with a three under par 68. Monday's win was the second for the Hawkeyes this season. Veetch was a semi-finalist last season in the NCAA tournament. Others shown are Maury White and the Rev. George Holderith, Notre Dame coach.

Eight Games Open Baseball's Diamond Jubilee Year Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Big league baseball opens its diamond jubilee season today with games in eight cities.

Crowds totalling 260,000 are expected to witness the inaugurations, with the largest gathering of 60,000 turning out for the Cleveland-Detroit contest at Cleveland.

President Truman, true to tradition, will throw out the first ball at Washington, where the Nationals open against the Philadelphia Athletics led by venerable Connie Mack.

Seven games are scheduled in daylight. The eighth, a novelty number, matches the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates under the lights at St. Louis.

By vote of the nation's sportswriters, the Brooklyn Dodgers are top-heavy favorites to repeat for the championship of the National League, the Boston Red Sox to succeed the New York Yankees for the American League crown.

The game's two highest-salaried stars, Ted Williams of the Red Sox ($125,000) and Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees ($100,000) will display their wares in the opener at Boston's Fenway Park.

It will mark only the sixth time since he joined the Yankees in 1936 that DiMaggio, the famed "Clipper," has conquered illness and injury to appear in his team's first game. He has looked great this spring.

Prospects are for a bumper crop of debates between umpires and managers as the season progresses and the men in blue call the new one-second balk rule written into the book during the winter.

The rule, which requires the pitcher to pause a full second before delivering when men are on base, has proved a terrific headache to the flingers in spring games. They insist, bitterly, that it is only another effort to help the offense and hamstringing the poor pitcher.

Following is the opening schedule:

American League
Philadelphia at Washington
St. Louis at Chicago
Detroit at Cleveland
New York at Boston

National League
Boston at New York
Brooklyn at Philadelphia
Chicago at Cincinnati
Pittsburgh at St. Louis (night)

Court Lowers Special Paving Assessment

A city special paving assessment on two lots on F street in east Iowa City was lowered $531.56 in district court Monday. The question of the legality of the assessment was raised by an SUI education professor and his wife, Prof. and Mrs. Harry A. Greene, 353 Lexington avenue, owners of the property at the time of the assessment.

One of 26 Appeals
This was one of 26 appeals to district court opposing assessments by Iowa City to pay for part of the cost of $100,000 in new paving laid last year. Judge Harold D. Evans ruled the city's assessment on the property exceeded the legal maximum of 25 percent of the actual value of the property.

The city set the assessment at $783.28 on each of the two lots.

Evans said he found the actual value of the lots was $1,350 each when the levy was made Nov. 22, 1949, by the city council.

Lowered to 25 Percent
Using this figure, the judge ruled the assessment should be $337.50 on each lot, based on the legal 25 percent maximum levy.

The case was tried last Friday in district court, but Evans did not hand down his judgment until Monday.

The judge also granted a request by the plaintiffs to add Paul S. Griffith, 2107 F street, as another plaintiff in the case. Griffith recently contracted to buy the two lots in question from Prof. and Mrs. Greene.

Assessment Upheld
This was the second case of the 26 appeals to be heard. March 9, Judge James P. Gaffney upheld the city assessment on property in the Barry vs. Iowa City case.

The Baldrige vs. Iowa City appeals will be heard in district court beginning Wednesday morning. Two appeals are involved in this hearing.

Woman to Exhibit Mexican Dances

An exhibition of native Mexican dances and costumes will be given tonight at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium. The program is sponsored by the department of romance languages and is open to the public.

Senorita Maria de Lourdes Chaves will present a number of dances and will model Mexican costumes.

Senora Elizabeth Camacho de Campo will describe Miss Chaves' dances and costumes. She will also give a short lecture on "Education and Its Problems in Mexico."

PING PONG TOURNAMENT
The first two rounds of the all-university men's singles ping pong tournament which opened Monday must be played by Wednesday night, tournament co-chairman John Hogeland, D2, Marshalltown, said Monday.

Prof. Moeller to Attend Press Meetings in East

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism, will leave Iowa City today for Washington, D.C., and New York City to attend a session of the American Council on Education for Journalism and meetings of several professional newspaper organizations.

Moeller will speak at a reunion dinner of SUI journalism alumni at the University club in Washington Friday.

Don Richardson, SUI graduate and former city editor of The Daily Iowan, is in charge of arrangements for the dinner. Richardson is now research secretary for Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

To Attend SDX Dinner
Also in Washington Moeller will attend the Founders day dinner of the Washington chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and sessions of the annual convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

The American Council on Education for Journalism, at a meeting Sunday in New York, will discuss plans for continuation of the accrediting program for journalism schools. Moeller is a member of the council.

To Attend AP Convention
Monday Moeller will attend the annual convention of The Associated Press. Next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday he will attend the sessions of the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers association.

Next Tuesday evening he will speak at the reunion dinner of SUI journalism alumni in the New York area. This dinner will be held at Bonat's restaurant, 330 W. 31st street, William Porter, member of the school of journalism faculty now on a year's leave of absence in New York, is in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

World Federalists Plan Joint Meeting April 26

The student and city chapters of the United World Federalists will hold a joint meeting April 26 at 8 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Walter McMahon, G. Clinton, president of the student chapter, said a panel group would discuss ways to obtain world government. McMahon invited all interested persons to attend.

Skills Enrollment Thursday For Non-Registered Juniors

SUI liberal arts juniors who have not registered for the communication skills proficiency tests have been asked to sign up for the exams Thursday by Dean Dewey B. Stuit, college of liberal arts.

Stuit said Monday that a letter has been sent to the students who have not registered requesting them to do so at the registrar's office between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

The purpose of the tests is to determine the degree of proficiency in reading, writing and speaking of all SUI juniors, he said.

No Remedial Work Required
"No 'lower - limit' (or passing) score must be achieved as a requirement for graduation," Stuit said, "and no remedial work need be taken unless desired by the student."

Stuit said any student who fails to register for the exams will be asked to see him personally to discuss the matter.

Arrangement of Tests
The registrar's office, he said, will make every effort to arrange the testing time to suit students' schedules.

Remedial courses will be provided for students showing serious deficiencies in the tests but these courses will not be required, Stuit emphasized.

Iowa Church Group Chooses New Name In Meeting Here

The Iowa Congregational-Christian Student fellowship changed their organization's name to the United Student Fellowship of Iowa at the state-wide rally held in the Congregational church here Sunday.

The name was changed to conform to national policy. The national organization changed its name two years ago, when it merged students of Congregational - Christian and Evangelical faiths, according to Grace Hadley, SUI Congregational student director.

The Congregational - Christian churches have not yet accepted the merger plan, but the students have taken this action and have a combined membership now, Miss Hadley said.

There was only one dissenting vote to the resolution to change the name, she said.

New state officers elected at the rally included Richard Brown, Grinnell college student, president; Jean Lovig, of Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, vice-president; Luanne Woodruff, of Iowa State college, secretary-treasurer, and Jane Cheyney, A2, Glenwood, Log editor.

The Rev. John Craig, minister of the First Congregational church here, was elected state adviser for the organization, Miss Hadley said.

Ruel Bell, A3, Nichols, was one of three candidates nominated for the office of president.

Instructors Plan 'Career Day' Trip

Four SUI staff members will participate today in "Career Day" at Carroll high school, consulting with students of Carroll county who are interested in future careers or college training.

Making the trip are Lola L. Reppert, instructor and supervisor of field work at the SUI school of social work; William J. Mason, assistant professor in the college of commerce and head of the University high school commerce department.

Prof. William Gower of the SUI music department, and Instructor Jean Baer of the SUI college of nursing.

CONTINUATION GRANTED
Karl R. Hayes, A4, Indianola, appeared in justice of the peace court Monday and was granted a continuation of hearing on a charge of conducting a business under a trade name without proper registration.

Loveland to Talk in Iowa City

Former Undersecretary of Agriculture Albert J. Loveland, Janesville, will head the list of the Democratic senatorial candidates scheduled to speak in Iowa City at the Democratic party dinner Wednesday, Atty. Edward W. Lucas, county Democratic chairman, said Monday.

Loveland and four Democratic senatorial candidates will speak at Hotel Jefferson to Johnson county and 1st district delegates who will meet here to plan strategy for the June primary. The 1st district is composed of 12 counties, Lucas said. The party dinner has been scheduled for 6:30.

Subject of Loveland's speech will be "The Brannan Plan," one of the major items in his platform.

Lucas said over 200 tickets have been sold for the dinner. A general press conference will precede the party dinner. It will be held at 5 p.m. in the Iowa City Press and Radio club room, 11 Washington street.

Other Speakers
The following senatorial candidates will speak during the party program: Gene Poston, Corydon; Alvin P. Meyers, Van Meter; Otha Wearin, Hasting, and W. M. Shaw, Newton.

Jake More, Harlan, chairman of the state Democratic central committee, also will speak on the program, Lucas said.

Faulty Brakes Listed As Cause of Collision
Cars driven by Mrs. George Yoder, a housewife from Kalona, and Mrs. R.W. Middleton, 1225 S. Riverside drive, collided Monday at the intersection of Riverside drive and Benton street.

Damage to the Yoder car was estimated at $350 and to the Middleton car at $100. Faulty brakes were listed as a cause of the accident, police reported.
