Apologies Demanded by U.S. For Reds' Attack on Plane

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States charged Russia Tuesday with shooting down an unarmed American spy plane over the Baltic sea, and demanded indemnities, apologies and punishment of the Soviet fliers responsible for the "unprovoked" attack.

The firm U.S. stand in one of the gravest incidents of the cold war was spelled out in a note delivered to the Soviet foreign office in Moscow by Ambassador Alan G. Kirk.

It held Russia accountable for the lives of 10 American crewmen of a four-engine navy privateer patrol bomber which vanished April 8 on a flight over the Baltic sea. And it bluntly dismissed a Russian protest of April 10 that the U.S. plane was flying over Soviet Latvia when it was intercepted by Red air force fighters.

Asserting that the defenseless American plane was blasted out of the sky while it was flying "over the open sea" and nowhere near Russian territory, the note sternly warned there must be "no repetition, under whatever pretext, of incidents of this kind."

The Russian note charged that a "B-29 type" American bomber "violated" the borders of Russian Latvia. When Soviet fighters ordered the plane to land, the Soviets said, it fired at them and then disappeared over the sea when its fire was returned.

But the state department bluntly rejected that version and said the United States "confidently expects" that the Soviet government will:

"Express its regret for the unlawful and provocative behavior of its aviators."

"See to it that those responsible for this action are promptly and severely punished."

"In accordance with established custom among peace-loving nations, pay appropriate indemnity for the unprovoked destruction of American lives and property."

Congressional leaders of both parties immediately expressed full approval of the state department's action.

Some Antihistamines Good, Doctors Say

BOSTON (AP)—Antihistamines—the kind the doctor gives, but not those sold to you without a prescription—were declared good for common colds Tuesday.

This report came at a panel of the American College of Physicians, one of the nation's top medical organizations.

It wasn't unanimous. One new study was reported finding no value even in the doctor kind of antihistamines.

The difference between the two kinds is potency. Those restricted to prescriptions are powerful and dangerous. Those sold over the counter have been held safe by the federal food and drug administration, provided they are taken in the doses written on the labels.

U.S. Colleges Must Revamp Ideas, Says Minnesota Educator

CHICAGO (UP)—American colleges don't have too many students, a prominent educator said Tuesday, but "too many students are in the wrong places" for their special abilities and interests.

Alfred L. Vaughan, assistant dean of the general college, University of Minnesota, predicted that colleges and universities will have to "revamp" their ideas to meet increased enrollments and changing student needs.

The colleges will have to help students find their "proper places" and offer studies that strike a happier medium "between strictly technical training and general educational background," he said.

"There won't be so many young people with knowledge of their own occupational fields and little else. And fewer will be graduated with a broad cultural background and no special skill," he said.

Vaughan said a panel of educators at the National Conference on Higher Education here decided that "college education is not for the few but for everyone who is willing and able."

Students who go to college for the social life, athletics or extra-curricular activities have as much right to be there as individuals who go for vocational or intellectual pursuits, they decided.

"A young person can gain poise and balance from college social and extra-curricular life that will make him a happier person, much more capable of making a fine contribution to society," Vaughan explained.

Mr. and Mrs. 'Raise Cane'

CANES FOR THE MR. AND MRS., carried by Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Diehl, both seniors in the college of law. The traditional black cane which senior law students must carry until Supreme Court day, April 27, was given a feminine touch by Mrs. Diehl when she tied a ribbon to her walking stick. The Diehls hope to open a general law office somewhere in Iowa after their June graduation. "We want to make certain we are both on the same side in law suits," Mrs. Diehl remarked.

GOP to Get Bigger Foreign Policy Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman moved to heal the angry political breach in bi-partisan foreign policy Tuesday with a solemn pledge to give Republicans a more active role in the conduct of international affairs.

He made the pledge in a statement issued after a long White House conference with Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Senator Styles Bridges (R-NH) who recently has attacked vigorously the administration's handling of foreign affairs.

The president promised that Republicans will not only be kept fully informed, but their views will be solicited and will receive serious consideration in forming policy and carrying it out.

S. B. Walden Takes Job As SUI Vets' Advisor

S.B. Walden, veterans training officer, has taken over the position formerly held by the late E.E. Haase as advisor to all veterans attending SUI under Public Law 16.

Walden will be in his office, rooms 205 and 206 of the Iowa State Bank and Trust company building, between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, each week.

The training officer's office formerly was located in MBT.

Bogus Money Ring Smashed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—Two men identified by secret service agents as leaders of a $500,000 bogus money ring, were charged with counterfeiting Tuesday night and held for arraignment before U.S. Commissioner Boyce H. Butterfield.

Secret service agents identified the two as Salvatore Salli, 39, and Anthony Iraci, 36, both of Buffalo. The federal agents said the two were leaders of a ring which circulated phone $10 and $20 bills in New York City, Buffalo, New Orleans, St. Louis, Cleveland, Atlanta and other cities across the country.

Iraci was arrested in a west side coffee shop and Salli was picked up in a downtown bar as the climax of a months-long investigation during which secret service agents claimed to have cornered more than half of the allegedly counterfeit bills.

Agents, who declined to disclose where the money was printed, termed it "unusually deceptive." They said the bills were sold in large quantities at rates which varied in proportion to the amounts purchased.

Edwin Manning, secret service agent in charge of the Buffalo district, said 21 distributors of the bills were arrested earlier here.

He said another 25 were taken into custody in New York City and "about a dozen" in New Orleans.

Cooler Weather In Return Showing

Temperatures dropped steadily Wednesday afternoon as U.S. forecasters predicted cooler weather to follow summertime temperatures recorded in Iowa City Sunday and Monday.

Civil aeronautics administration officials at the airport said only a slight trace of precipitation had been recorded Tuesday.

The cooler weather was expected to continue until Friday with morning lows near the freezing mark and with the mercury rising to about the mid- to forties by late afternoon.

A slight trace of precipitation Tuesday caused the grass to become greener and the trees to show signs of budding.

The mercury fell steadily Tuesday to a 51 degree reading at 6 p.m.

Find Smallpox Cases in Iowa, Start Vaccinations

CENTERVILLE (AP)—Plans were made Tuesday to set up smallpox vaccination centers in seven southeast Iowa towns after two cases were reported at Cincinnati, Iowa. These were the first smallpox cases in Iowa since 1947 when there were three.

Dr. Ralph Heeren of the state health department, who came here to investigate reports of smallpox, said the illness of a young man and his wife who live south of Cincinnati had been diagnosed as smallpox. Several other cases rumored to be smallpox proved upon investigation to be measles, Dr. Heeren, director of the division of preventable diseases, said.

Students Ordered To Vacate Shop

Two SUI students were ordered in district court Tuesday to vacate the building where they operate the Dixie Cream Do-Nut shop, 325-325 1/2 S. Dubuque street.

They were John Smola, A1, Central City, and Carl R. Hayes, A4, Indianola. The owner of the building, Mrs. J. D. Harkey, 325 S. Dubuque street, claimed in her petition the two students refused to execute a written lease which was to go into effect after certain improvements were made.

They also failed to pay rent for the months of March and April, according to Mrs. Harkey's petition.

Parts of North Dakota Under Raging Floods

JAMESTOWN, N. D. (UP)—Flood waters rampaged over thousands of acres of North Dakota Tuesday, fed by melting snow from a punishing, winter-long series of blizzards.

The Red Cross designated a widespread area reaching into western Minnesota a "number one disaster" area.

The Missouri, Knife, Heart and Cannonball rivers swamped scores of farms and communities in the southwestern part of the state.

On the eastern boundary, the Red river of the north and its tributaries threatened some of the highest crests of this century as it blocked highways and halted railroad travel.

Postoffice Cuts Delivery Of Mail To Once A Day

Making Pigs of Themselves

FRANKLIN, TENN. (AP)—Drunken swine littered the floor when revenue agents raided a moonshine whisky still near here Monday.

Federal alcohol tax agent Oscar Crowell said a sow and her litter of pigs were "so drunk they couldn't walk."

They'd gorged themselves on mash.

Three men were charged with illegal manufacture of whisky.

Budget Deficit Forces Postal Service Slash

WASHINGTON (UP)—Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson Tuesday ordered mail deliveries to city residential districts cut to one a day and decreed other drastic reductions of postal service to take effect by July 1.

His action followed congressional demands for economy measures to cut down on the postoffice department's huge annual operating deficit.

In the department's bi-weekly bulletin to all postmasters, Donaldson also said that as many postoffices as possible will be put on a five-day week, remaining closed all day Saturday and Sunday.

Postmasters were instructed to begin the reduction in service at once, and to complete all changes within the next two and one half months.

The cutback was promptly denounced by Pres. William C. Doherty of the National Association of Letter Carriers (AFL) as "a rape of the postal service."

He said the union has asked the senate postoffice committee to take steps to block "this devastating, ill-advised and unnecessary order."

The house recently passed a bill to raise postal rates on post cards, parcel post and second class matter. The aim was to bring in an additional $181-million a year in revenue.

But this measure, now pending in the senate, would meet only about one-third of the department's estimated $554,607,000 deficit for the 1951 fiscal year which begins July 1.

In most city residential districts, mail is now delivered twice daily, and in a few heavily populated areas, three times.

Under Donaldson's order, weekday mail deliveries to business districts will not be affected, but Saturday service will be cut.

In cities where business offices now get three deliveries on Saturday, they will be cut to two; those receiving two now, will get one.

Other service reductions include: Street box collections will be kept "at a minimum" with the final collection of each day made by 8:30 p.m., local time.

All window service at post-offices will be stopped at 6 p.m. and in some places at 5 p.m.

Only first class mail, parcel post, and newspapers will be handled between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Bulk mailings of second, third and fourth class mail will be accepted only between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Donaldson noted in the bulletin that the department is dropping 13,000 employees under previously announced economy plans, and will be down to 504,000 workers by July 1.

Not Informed Here

J.P. Soucek, 412 Ronalds street, assistant postmaster of the Iowa City postoffice, said early Tuesday evening the local office had not yet been informed of the order.

Soucek said he could make no definite statement about local mail service until he knows the details of Donaldson's order.

Engineer Lied for Love; Plotted Death of Family

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Aircraft Engineer John H. Grant told pretty Stewardess Elizabeth Suomela, "a pack of lies" to keep their romance alive, he said Tuesday, while he plotted the deaths of his wife and children in an airplane crash.

"I never gave a thought to the other passengers on the plane," Grant told police who questioned him on his plot to blow up the airliner with 16 persons aboard.

Grant denied his scheme to place an incendiary bomb in the plane Monday was linked with his promise to marry Miss Suomela as soon as he was free from his wife.

The golden-haired stewardess, said however, that a few hours before the bomb plot was discovered Grant drove her to work and said he expected to have his marital entanglements cleared up that afternoon.

Grant repeated in his statement to police that Miss Suomela had no part in motivating his plot. He said his only thought in planning to blow up the airliner was 'to collect $25,000 insurance on his family.'

"Let me again stress her complete ignorance as to my true intentions and my activities and particularly my future plans," Grant said. He did not explain what he meant by his "future plans."

The engineer said he told Miss Suomela so many false statements about his personal affairs that he had to "make up more stories" when she began doubting him.

McCarthy to Call Former FBI Men

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), said Tuesday he will offer three former FBI agents as witnesses to back his charges that Owen Lattimore is Russia's top spy in United States.

He told reporters the former G-men will "corroborate or supplement" testimony to be given to senate investigators Thursday by ex-Communist Editor Louis F. Budenz.

McCarthy has said Budenz will swear he knew Lattimore, now a Johns Hopkins university professor, as a Communist party member subject to the party's "disciplinary powers." Lattimore has denied any Communist or pro-Soviet ties.

McCarthy gave the names of two of the one-time FBI men to Edward P. Morgan, counsel of the senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating his Communist charges against Lattimore and the state department. Their identities will not be disclosed until they are subpoenaed.

BADGE, GUN TAKEN

SAN DIEGO (UP)—A 10-year-old junior traffic patrolman at a San Diego elementary school was dismissed from the force for conduct unbecoming an officer. He confessed he made three dawning little girls speed up their crossing of a street by peppering their behinds with an air rifle.

49 SUI Students Make Phi Beta Kappa

Victory Not Complete —

Iowa City became the 15th city in Iowa to adopt the council-manager form of government Monday with a large segment of the voters participating in the election.

The victory of the CMA in no way assures that the new form will be successful. Rather, there are many hurdles yet to clear.

Slightly more than a year ago, Des Moines voted to adopt the council-manager form. Like Iowa City, the campaign was heated, the voting heavy and the returns conclusive.

The defeated forces apparently hoped that the victorious manager proponents would settle back and wait for the results of the new form.

Men who formerly held public office in Des Moines were put up as candidates to serve on the new council under the new type of city government.

TV: A Sports Saviour? —

Sports, once expected to be the boon of the infant television industry, turned its back recently when the Western conference decided not to televise any league games next fall.

The directors of the Big Ten schools were unanimous in their belief that televising games will reduce the number of fans who ordinarily attend a game.

Out of the board's action grew a ban on direct broadcasting of the games. There was a stipulation that the games may be rebroadcast on TV the day after the game, after 6 p.m.

In arriving at the decision, the board pointed out that smaller schools are hurt by TV. Since fans would be able to view major games on their TV sets, the board reasoned they would stay away from small college games Saturday afternoon.

Small colleges have combatted the problem by scheduling their games at night, in order to avoid a conflict with major televised games.

But another conflict has come up between

As it turned out only one of the former office holders won a seat on the council. The other four posts were won by persons who had worked for the adoption of the new form.

There might be a lesson in the Des Moines incident for Iowa City. It only seems reasonable that those who worked for the adoption here should be given the opportunity to see that the new form works.

They are the persons who know most about council-manager and they are the ones who would work hardest to see that the new system turns out all right.

The plan will not be installed here until next March, when the present mayor and council complete their regular terms.

Civic interest, which must have reached a near-record height during the recent campaign, must continue if Iowa City's new governing system is to work.

small colleges and high schools. Prep schools, which used to play many of their games on Friday nights, have seen the limelight taken over by the small colleges, who have been playing Friday nights.

Now that the Big Ten, undisputed kingpin of college football conferences, has taken a step toward easing the sore spot, other conferences can be expected to follow suit.

However, major league baseball stood up well at the turnstiles despite the threat of TV. Crowds continue to witness baseball games, even though most of the major league games are televised.

The big test that TV faces in coming soon in Madison Square Garden. CBS recently contracted to televise all sports events originating there.

If the turnstiles still hum at the Garden despite television, TV sports may stick. If not, TV's future in sports will be dim.

Lattimore: A Strange 'Radical' —

Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) has accused Owen Lattimore, state department consultant on far eastern affairs, of being the "top Soviet agent" in the state department.

So far McCarthy's "evidence" has consisted largely of excerpts from various articles written by Lattimore. The articles, says McCarthy, prove that, among other things, Lattimore has fallen for the Communist line in China.

Since McCarthy likes to quote from Lattimore's articles, he might take a look at the January 1950 issue of the Atlantic magazine.

In an article entitled "Rebuilding Our Policy in China," Lattimore wrote: "At the same time, any new departure in United States policy in Asia must be proof against the accusation of appeasing communism as a doctrine of Russia as a state."

There is only one way to escape this dilemma. United States policy should aim to increase the ability of countries in Asia to do without Russia by encouraging a steady improvement of the three-way economic relationship between Asia, Europe and America, including the resumption of the supply of raw materials from Asia, the sale of Europe's manufacture in Asia, and American financing both of industrialization in Asia and recovery in Europe.

"The American financing should be undertaken as a sound enterprise in increasing production and consumption, not as a doling out of subsidies to keep the economies of Asia and Europe stagnantly alive."

"It would be foolish to think that the United States could ever win the real friendship of a Communist government."

For a "top Soviet agent" Lattimore certainly has radical ideas.

Politico Brands Pepper Red Sympathizer

MIAMI (AP) — A youthful Florida congressman is staking his hope of unseating veteran Sen. Claude Pepper largely on this issue.

Do Florida voters believe Pepper has given comfort to pro-Communist elements?

Rep. George Smathers of Miami, seeking a seat in the senate after two terms in the house, says Pepper has done just that. He is making the accusation the focal issue of his campaign.

Pepper denies the charge hotly. He says it is "nothing in the world but a Republican campaign against me in a Democratic primary," regarded as equivalent to election in this traditionally Democratic state. Since there are only two candidates no runoff will be required.

Smathers, a husky marine corps veteran, recently began naming at the rate of one a day groups which, he said, were Communist or pro-Communist and which, he claimed, Pepper had addressed or helped in some way.

Pepper counters by branding communism "an odious doctrine" which he is fighting "through voting for the Marshall plan and arms for Europe, and working for better medical care, broader social security protection and other advantages."

Seniority Threat. Smathers, 36, tells listeners that Pepper's 14 years of seniority in the senate is a threat to national security because he is fourth in line of Democrats on the powerful foreign relations committee, and if named chairman would "have a lot to do with relations between the United States and Russia."

Pepper, 49, retorts: "Republican senators have been hurling charges of communism against the secretary of state, against the President, our ambassadors and our United Nations representatives. Republican senators have announced they will go on repeating these charges. And here in Florida my opponent has announced that he is going to make these same charges every day. He has been following the now apparent Republican plan."

Sharply Drawn Issues. There have been several issues sharply drawn. Smathers assails "socialized medicine." Pepper favors a national health insurance program.

Smathers endorses the Taft-Hartley act as "basically good." Pepper opposes it.

Each side has raised the racial issue. Smathers cancelled a talk to a Negro group when newspaper photographs showed up. Pepper asserted he had affidavits to prove that a Negro had been paid $25 to rush up and shake his own hand at a Leeburg rally.

Interest High. Florida voters have been stirred by the campaign. Registration is at a new peak. Many Republicans are changing over to Democratic affiliation. Just what this means remains to be seen.

The Republicans have a senatorial candidate of their own. He is John P. Booth of Miami. But the party is holding no primary election because the few who have announced for offices are unopposed.

The senatorial nomination is the only important statewide prize in the May 2 primary. The four-year terms of Gov. Fuller Warren and other major state officers have two years yet to run.

Report Shows Rise In County's Income From Current Taxes

Johnson county's income from current taxes swelled to $862,204.13 in March, according to the monthly report of County Treasurer Lumir Jansa.

The increase over last month's $118,964.70 total was due to the March 31 deadline on first half payments of property taxes, Jansa said.

Under miscellaneous collections for March, Johnson county received military credits totaling $11,487.25 and homestead credits totaling $153,839.22.

This money is credited to the county by the state to cover exemptions granted on property taxes for military service and homesteads.

From March's current tax income, $386,317.59 was apportioned to schools and $180,097.98 to corporation funds.

TV Heralded as Aid To Cross-Eyed Kids

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Television is tough on night vision but it may prove a blessing to children with crossed eyes, a group of Philadelphia optometrists have observed.

The optometrists have been viewing for the last year the effects of man's latest device to forget himself and concluded that even its harmful effect on the ability to see at night is not a permanent damage.

Directed by the Pennsylvania State college of Optometry, the survey was based on studies of patients as well as of 40 senior students who watched TV under controlled conditions.

Dr. John C. Neill, professor of ophthalmic mechanics at the college and head of the contact lens section of the American Academy of Optometry, declared that TV is a good thing for training youngsters who suffer from "squirrel or cross eyes."

He said there's nothing like a western movie or a puppet show to get the kids to concentrate on the screen.

Then, he advised, cover the child's healthy eye and the child's concentration on the TV screen will provide a beneficial exercise for the "lazy eye" or the one generally known as "crossed."

As to TV's effect on seeing in the dark, Dr. Neill explained that the indigo part of the spectrum uses up the chemical element in the body known as "visual purple," which helps man see at night.

However using vitamin A or getting it in the raw by nibbling on carrots reduces this condition, the optometrist said.

He added that tubes used in newer TV sets help eliminate the robbing of the "visual purple."

Dr. Neill cautioned TV novices to "take it easy" when the set is installed.

Eyes, he said, are at first confused by television screens and some discomfort results. Over-indulgence, before the eyes are accustomed to the new task set out for them, is a bad thing, he explained.

Dr. Neill and his associates who made the survey offered some other advice to TV fans:

1. Don't view television through dark glasses.

2. Measure the height of the TV screen, multiply that by eight and don't sit any nearer than that measurement to the screen.

3. Don't turn out all the lights.

A generally illuminated room reduces the contrast between the screen and the surrounding area.

Shirley Denies She's Engaged to Socialite

CARMEL, CALIF. (AP) — Shirley Temple Monday denied she's engaged to socialite Charles Black but refused to rule out the handsome, dark-haired son of a public utilities executive as her next husband.

He's a "wonderful person" and a "good friend" according to the young actress. She vigorously denied reports of an engagement.

Asked if they might marry after her divorce from actor John Agar becomes final in December, Shirley said: "I don't know and it's too soon to tell."

Sprightly Comic — 'Tight Little Island' — Opens Here Today

By VINCE BRANN

It has been a long time since any movie comedy of the merit of "Tight Little Island" has come our way.

In fact, it is hard to believe that there can still be fresh, different humor on the screen, done to a turn (as only the British can do it). But such is the case with this J. Arthur Rank production which opens at the Capitol theater today.

Adapted from Compton Mackenzie's novel, "Whiskey Galore," this is the sad tale of a mythical Hebridean island which tragically runs out of whiskey in 1943. It is a deadly serious matter, and bids fair to get worse, until fate casts a vessel upon the shoals near the island. The vessel is carrying 50,000 cases of spirits.

Fanciful Delight. The way in which the whole matter is resolved would hardly be fair to divulge here. Suffice it to say that a coalition of talent has triumphed to make "Tight Little Island" a pure, fanciful delight. From the opening, heavily intoned words of the narrator to his punch-line finish, the script never bogs down. There is nothing in the film which isn't necessary to it, no loose ends, no digressions for the sake of a few extra gags. The whole thing is as well-knit and solid as one could wish.

No Special Stars. There are no special stars in the film; the leading roles are all of about equal importance. It is almost as though Director Alexander Mackendrick shied away from big names for fear their presence would destroy the balance.

What makes "Tight Little Island" so rich is the utter sincerity and earnestness with which it is told. The travelogue effects produced by the camera also aid considerably, as do the many visual sources of laughter it provides.

The script and the camera are just as much stars as are the actors.

From all of which one might infer that keeping the elements of a movie in their proper proportion is a guiding principle of British film makers. It has worked in the past in their serious dramas, and it certainly works in their comedies. If "Tight Little Island" is any indication.

Jews Warned of Possible War

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL—The "cold war" between the Arab states and Israel is worsening—and Jews daily are warned there might come a sudden "hot blitz."

The nation's newspapers join army and government leaders in telling Israelis there's plenty of good, sound reason for thinking the Arab states might try a "second round" attack against the country.

They point to the recent Arab league's council decisions in Cairo and the formation of a political, economic and military alliance by the Arab nations. There no longer appears to be much doubt, in the average Israeli mind, but that the Arab countries would again resort to arms if they fail to crush Israel through an economic blockade.

Jews Aren't Afraid. The Jews aren't afraid. The average one is confident — and so is the newspaper he reads — that if the Arabs try to smash Israel by force as they did after the Jewish state was proclaimed May 15, 1948, the Arabs once again would be whipped.

Under the Arab league's decisions, any Arab country that dares to talk peace with the Israelis would be expelled and made the target of economic sanctions by other Arab states.

Aside from banning separate peace talks, the Arab league has tightened the noose of economic blockade about Israel.

Arab countries are denying supplies and port facilities to any vessels bound for any Israeli port. They also are refusing to give visas to anyone who already possesses a permit to enter Israel.

Furthermore, it seems that no ship bound for an Israeli port can get through the Suez canal, regardless of what cargo it may be carrying.

Arms Problem. In face of all this, Israel also has to cope with the problem of how she can arm herself.

The Arab states, under treaties

Mrs. America Is Broke

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Mrs. America is broke.

An affidavit by Mrs. Frances Cloyd, 24, who won the title last summer in the annual New Jersey show, said she had spent all her money on family expenses. She has three children.

The statement was filed in superior court Monday in connection with her divorce suit against Arthur T. Cloyd, unemployed automobile mechanic.

Salesmanship Pays

About 120 SUI military students—all good salesmen—will be excused from their regular Friday drill periods for selling the most tickets to the Feb. 17 military ball. Military department officials said students in companies N and F will not have to attend drill and Friday.

Atomic Energy Water Relieves Weariness

BOSTON (AP)—The magic drink of water made by atomic energy is relieving heart pains, shortness of breath and tired feelings.

The report on this new medical step was made to the opening session of the American College of Physicians by Drs. Herman L. Blumgart, A. Stone Freedberg and George S. Kurland, of Beth Israel hospital and Harvard medical school.

The magic drink is radioactive iodine in water. The amount of iodine is so small as to be almost tasteless, but some patients say it tastes like nectar to them. The drink was given to 22 patients with either angina pectoris, or congestive heart failure. All were complete invalids. Four returned to work and a number of others began again to enjoy life at home.

The iodine does not go near the heart, but enters the thyroid gland and there the radioactive rays destroy part of the gland. They destroy as much as the doctor wants. He regulates the amount by how much hot iodine he puts in the water.

'Market Manor' Modernized by Owners

The modernization of Market Manor, a project undertaken by its owners a year ago, is progressing now toward its final stages.

Frank and Myrne Druyor, 115 E. Market street, were dissatisfied with the old style of architecture and interior design of Market Manor and planned a series of improvements to renovate the old building.

Druyor is a former student in the SUI college of commerce and his wife is a dietitian at Currier hall.

Original Idea

Their original idea was to redecorate the inside of the house, using the latest treatment of interior decoration with regard to lighting, design, furnishings and color. Because of the great expense involved, progress has been rather slow, and both redecoration and furnishings are executed a little at a time.

The Druyors began their redecoration project by utilizing the existing lines of the interior wherever possible. The old mantle over the fireplace was stripped down and rebuilt into an indoor partition flower box and bookcase combination.

The space it formerly occupied above the fireplace became a clear sloping wall on which a friend, Dean Warnholtz, former SUI art student, painted a neo-primitive mural.

Drapes and paint, plastics and cloth — all are blended to provide a colorful and tasteful design in their living quarters.

Pastel Colors

The color scheme throughout the home now consists mainly of light grays, soft greens, yellows and browns, a factor which ties in with spring suggestions for pastel tones.

Druyor, who is employed at a local furniture and decorating shop read and studied a great deal before attempting the reconstruction of his house. His evenings were spent working around the house with his wife.

Together they made and planned the redecoration. What they couldn't construct themselves, they ordered according to their financial ability.

Although their project is well underway, the Druyors still plan many more improvements, particularly in their upstairs rooms which house male university students.

RELAXING AT MARKET MANOR is a pleasure with the innovation of a modern atmosphere. Myrne Druyor has a cup of tea after a day as dietitian at Currier. The part on flower box behind her was formerly the mantle over the fireplace. On the other side of the back-lighted drape partitions, the flower box becomes a bookcase. The new lounge chair in the foreground and the free-moving lamps on the right are the latest additions to the Druyor parlor. The chair is made of foam-rubber covered by soft upholstery.

THE NEW AND THE OLD are contrasted in the parlor of Market Manor. Frank Druyor, owner, poses by his renovated fireplace. The free-form indirect fluorescent ceiling light has its pattern repeated in many ways throughout the room. The light, which was designed and made by Druyor, supplies a soft illumination that blends with the pastel colors in the room.

SUI Professor's Art Works To Feature Print Exhibit

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Ginzler, graduate art students at SUI, will present a graphic arts exhibition at the University of Omaha early in May.

All 30 prints to be exhibited in Omaha are the property of the Iowa Print group, an organization instigated by Prof. Mauricio Lasansky, of the SUI art department. Graphic arts students automatically become members of this group.

Among the prints to be exhibited by the Ginzels will be several by Prof. Lasansky.

Prints Widely Displayed

His work has been displayed throughout the United States and South America, Ginzler said. Many of Lasansky's prints are owned by museums, including the Museum of Modern Art in New York City and the Chicago Art Institute.

The Ginzels will present the same kind of demonstration at the Omaha exhibition which brought them to the SUI department three years ago.

They will give illustrated lectures explaining the "intaglio process" and various techniques and procedures employed in the SUI graphic arts department.

Promoted Graphic Arts

Lasansky came to SUI in 1945 to promote interest in a graphic arts department. He has attracted attention to the department and is known widely for his pioneering efforts in placing graphic art on a level of importance with painting, Ginzler said.

Since the time of its formation the graphic arts department has expanded from one room and one press in 1945 to four rooms and three presses in 1950, including three work studios and a special color studio.

Lasansky and his students planned much of the equipment used in the department, according to Ginzler.

Initiated MFA Degree

Particularly notable is Lasansky's success in instituting a master of fine arts degree in graphic arts, Ginzler added.

His idea was to locate his graduate students in other colleges and universities where they could inaugurate new graphic arts departments.

Some of his former students are now heading graphic arts departments in such places as the Universities of Minnesota, Missouri, Alabama and Colorado.

Braves Clip Iowa In Second Game, 6-2

Seven Hawkeye Errors Help Bradley to Victory

A four-run rally with the benefit of only one base hit enabled Bradley to defeat Iowa, 6-2, on the Iowa diamond Tuesday afternoon and thus gain a split in the two game series.

Iowa won the opening game Monday, 1-0, in an 11-inning pitcher's battle.

The Hawkeyes contributed seven errors to the Bradley cause Tuesday, the misplays figuring in both innings in which the Braves scored.

Batted Around

In the fourth inning Bradley sent nine men to bat. Bill Tuttle, Bradley center fielder, pushed two of the runs across the plate with the only safe hit of the inning, a single to left.

Starting and losing pitcher George Schamberger had retired the first batter on a ground ball but Bradley Pitcher Don Alford was safe at first when Shortstop Bob Christoph fumbled his infield roller.

Alford went to third when the usually dependable Jack Dittmer fumbled Bill Wilson's grounder and then threw wild to first base. Alford scored and Wilson went to second when Dittmer held onto Jack Hills roller for Dittmer's third error of the inning.

Adolph Friedrich then drew a base on balls and Tuttle followed with his single, scoring Hills and Wilson. Melchiorre fled deep to center field to bring in the fourth run.

Glenn Drahn came on to pitch in the fifth and gave up three hits and two runs in the last five innings. The right hander struck out five, three in succession.

Melchiorre Hits

Melchiorre provided the punch for the final Bradley runs in the fifth, with a double, scoring Tuttle. The little Bradley basketball spark plug then scored the sixth run when Drahn threw wild to Dittmer covering second base.

Iowa's scoring came after two were in the bottom of the fifth, with the Hawks trailing 6-10. John Sullivan walked, then scored on Christoph's triple down the right field line.

Christoph, who had a double and a triple in three trips to the plate, came home on a single by Dittmer, who also gathered two hits for three times at bat.

The Hawkeyes are now idle until Friday when Indiana is here for a two-game Big Ten series.

Spahn Hurls Braves To Win Over Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Southworth's renovated Boston Braves flexed their home run muscles three times Tuesday to crush the streamlined New York Giants, 11-4, in full view of 32,441 opening day customers at the Polo Grounds.

Warren Spahn, a 21-game winner with the disension - riddled 1949 Braves, rode home with an eight - hitter, walked six and fanned six in the process.

Bob Elliott, Connie Ryan and Rookie Sam Jethroe, the Negro speed demon, battered Giant pitching for homers. Jethroe also singled and walked in an auspicious debut. On the other side Hank Thompson and Whitey Lockman homered off Spahn.

A five - run eruption in the fifth inning chased Larry Jansen, Boston, .002 1052 .030-11 12 0 New York .100 120 .000-4 3 0 Spahn and Grandall; Jansen, Maglie (5) Higbe (7) Hartung (8) and Westrum. Losing pitcher, Jansen.

Jack, Why Can't You Behave?

Chicago Cubs Blast Cincinnati, 9-6

Andy Pafko Leads Extra Base Attack

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, who weren't supposed to have any batting punch, clubbed the Cincinnati Reds to death Tuesday with home runs and doubles and took an opening day 9-6 victory. There was a crowd of 31,213.

Andy Pafko, one of the few familiar players in the Cubs' lineup, cracked out two homers and added a double and a walk for good measure.

Preston Ward, up from Fort Worth, where he was a Brooklyn Dodger farmhand, socked the other homer and it came in the third with two on.

Pafko's first wallop for the circuit went over the center field wall in the second with none on. In the ninth, the Cubs were nursing only a one run lead when he lofted another over the left field barrier with two on the bags.

The Cubs got seven of the game's 11 doubles, but most of them were ground-rule affairs that went into the overflow crowd in left and center fields.

Ken Raffensberger, the losing pitcher, was belted out early. Last year he defeated the Cubs six consecutive times. Johnny Schmitz, another southpaw, got credit for the victory, but he gave way in the ninth to old Dutch Leonard.

Chicago .000 000 000-4 7 1 Cincinnati .000 000 000-6 14 0 Schmitz, Leonard (9) and Owens; Raffensberger, Hetki (3) Smith (6) Erazut (9) and Cooper. Winning pitcher, Schmitz. Losing pitcher, Raffensberger.

Philadelphia Hands Brooklyn Defeat, 9-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The largest opening day crowd in Philadelphia history saw the hustling Phillies batter five Brooklyn pitchers — including Dodger Ace Don Newcombe — for 16 hits and a 9-1 victory over the defending National league champions at Shibe park, Tuesday.

Robin Roberts, 23-year-old right-hander who never had beaten the Brooks before, turned back the Dodgers with seven hits to the delight of 29,074 spectators.

Every player in the starting lineup with the exception of Roberts connected safely as the Phillies scored all but one of their runs in the first four innings to take an 8-0 lead.

Rookie Second Baseman Mike Goliat, with four hits in as many times at bat, enjoyed a field day. Gran Hamner and Eddie Waitkus, playing his first league game since he was shot last June, smacked three hits apiece. Hamner drove in three runs with his double and pair of singles.

Roberts, who split 30 decisions last year, lost his bid for a shutout in the seventh inning when Jackie Robinson's double followed by a single by Carl Furillo, scored the lone Brooklyn run.

It was obvious from the outset that Newcombe, Negro right-hander who sparked Brooklyn into the 1949 world series with a 17-0 record, had nothing on his hand but his glove.

New York Yankees Trail by Nine Runs, Blast Red Sox, 15-10

BOSTON (AP) — The world championship New York Yankees spotted the Boston Red Sox nine runs and then whaled six pitchers including Starter Mel Parnell, the 25-game winning southpaw, for a 15-10 victory Tuesday before an amazed 31,822 opening day crowd at Fenway park.

For seven innings until just before Parnell blew up, he had what seemed a safe 10-4 lead. The Yanks had rapped him for four runs in the sixth with Tommy Henrich hitting a triple and Bill Johnson a double.

Yogi Berra's single launched the Yankee's eighth inning drive, during which 14 men went to bat to produce nine runs. Parnell was yanked when the Boston lead was cut to 10-7. Walt Masterson then took over and he departed with Boston leading 10-9 after putting on the tying and winning runners, who scored after Earl Johnson was rushed in.

Application Blanks Sent Out For 1950 Campus Chest Staff

Application blanks for appointments as 1950-51 campus chest chairman and committee members have been sent out to various SUI housing units, according to Reynold C. Landon, A4, Council Bluffs.

Landon, public relations chairman of the student council, said other applications may be picked up at the office of student affairs.

The deadline for the return of the completed applications to the office is 5 p.m., April 28, Landon said.

Campus Chest is a drive conducted annually in the fall semester to raise funds for world student charity.

The chairman and committee members will be organized and promoted under the supervision of the student council, Landon said.

He said it was part of the policy of the council to pick a student chairman who is not a member of the council to head the activity.

On the application the student should list qualifications for the campus chest post and other extra-curricular activities he has participated in, Landon said.

All candidates for chairman and committee members will be interviewed and selected by the student council and last year's campus chest chairman, Robert Kramer, A3, White Plains, N.Y.

Five Local Residents Accepted For 1950 Frosh Medical Class

Five Iowa City residents have been accepted for the 1950-51 freshman class in the SUL college of medicine, according to SUI officials.

Four of them are now SUI students: Rowen Boylan, A3, Martin Griffin, A3; Carl Mangelsdorf, A3; Lombard Sayre, A3.

Bernard Kalina, 10 N. Van Buren street, who formerly attended SUI, also was selected.

The SUI college of medicine will admit 120 students to the September class, an increase of 30 over the number previously accepted. Laboratories and classrooms are being expanded to accommodate this increased enrollment allowed by a resolution passed in the last session of the Iowa legislature.

Since November the SUI college of medicine admissions committee has been screening applicants, totaling more than twice the number that could be accepted.

Admission is based on a thorough investigation of the prospective student's background, personal interviews by two staff members, grades received in college work and individual results of national medical college admission tests.

In addition to the 120 students accepted, 20 alternates will be chosen to fill vacancies that may occur before the fall semester begins.

Engineers' Council Assumes Functions

The newly adopted engineering council last week took over complete legislative, judicial and executive functions of the SUI Associated Students of Engineering, according to Pres. Warren Rogers, E4, Mt. Pleasant.

The new council form of government for student engineers is the result of a new constitution adopted by ASE members at a meeting last Feb. 16.

The council, representing various engineering classes, societies and fraternities, is made up by the following members:

Donald Jackson, E3, Iowa City; Carl Wickes, E1, Des Moines; Francis Long, E2, Oxford; Kurt Hauer, E4, Bettendorf; Paul Bohnsack, E1, Davenport; Owen Mann, G, Flin Flon, Manitoba, Canada; Warren Pagel, E1, Tama; Warren Rogers, E4, Mt. Pleasant; Earl Compton, E3, Iowa City; Warren Essler, E1, Iowa City; Peter Newspiel, E3, Flushing, N.Y.; Elmer Bannick, E4, Davenport; Bruce Andrews, E3, Iowa City; and Krishna Khandewal, E4, Calcutta, India.

Engineers to Attend Regional Meeting

Nine mechanical engineering students will leave today for Louisville, Ky., to attend the American Society of Mechanical Engineers' regional convention for student branches, Thursday through Saturday.

The group representing the SUI chapter of ASME includes Warren Rogers, E4, Mt. Pleasant; Harold Price, E4, Muscatine; William Ward, E4, Fairfield; Thomas Kauffman, E4, Audubon; Harlan Bjork, E4, Wapello; Gerald Ard, E4, Cedar Rapids; David Miao, E4, Kunming, China; Wilfred George, E4, Grinnell; and Prof. R. L. Sutherland.

Rogers will represent SUI at the convention by delivering a paper entitled "Interpretation of a Pressure - Time Curve." This paper was voted the best of six presented by SUI students at recent ASME meetings.

Prof. Wimer to Go To Journalism Post At San Diego State

Prof. Arthur Wimer, head of the SUI school of journalism reporting and editing sequence, will leave his position at the end of the 1950 summer session to become chairman of the department of journalism at San Diego State college, California.

The announcement was made last week by Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism.

Wimer, who has been an SUI faculty member since October, 1947, is chairman of the Iowa Press Institute, head of the SUI bureau of newspaper service and assistant publisher of The Daily Iowan.

A native of Newcastle, Pa., Wimer studied at the University of Florida and graduated from the Columbia university school of journalism. He received an M.A. in journalism at SUI in 1949.

After working for one year on the New York Times, Wimer spent 17 years as Washington, D.C., correspondent for the Hartford, Conn., Courant and for about five business publications, including the Magazine of Wall Street.

YMCA to Sponsor Study Tour of Mexico

Application banks for a YMCA-sponsored 33-day study tour through Mexico from August 12 through September 14 are now available at the YMCA office.

YMCA Vice-President William Davis, A4, Burlington said a registration fee of $60 should be deposited with the application at the YMCA office.

Any SUI faculty member or student may apply, Davis said, but the travel truck the group intends taking accommodates only 18 persons.

The group will visit Mexico City, Guadalupe shrine, cathedrals, Maximilian's mansion, fiestas, bull - fights, Indian villages, the Xochimilco Floating gardens, the volcano Paracutin and Chapultepec castle, Davis said.

Couple Drops Suit In Insurance Claim

Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Jenkinson, 220 River street, Tuesday dismissed a $1,000 suit against the Washington National Insurance company of Chicago in district court.

The couple had claimed the company failed to pay them $1,000 as beneficiaries to a life insurance policy covering their son, Rogers Leighton Jenkinson, who died in 1945 in the armed services.

The company had held it was not liable because of a clause concerning death in the armed forces during wartime.

The case had been pending in district court since 1946.

Elect Hughes to Post In Law Organization

R. Bruce Hughes, L2, Sioux City, has been elected presiding officer of the eighth circuit of the National Law Student association, junior bar conference, a law college spokesmen said Tuesday.

The election took place at a meeting of the law student organization for the eighth judicial circuit in St. Louis last Friday and Saturday.

Hughes also will be the eighth circuit's candidate for vice-president at the September national convention of the organization in Washington, D.C.

The convention decided to hold its next circuit meeting in Iowa City in April 1950, authorities said. Hughes and Clark J. Sloan, L3, Manchester, attended the St. Louis meeting as SUI representatives.

Delegates from law schools in Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota took part in the convention.

Must Conserve Ground Water In Iowa, State Geologist Says

Unless positive action is taken to conserve Iowa's ground water, we soon may be in trouble, Dr. H. Garland Hershey, state geologist, told the second session of the water works short course Tuesday at SUI.

About 340-million gallons of water are consumed daily in Iowa, Hershey said. He added that the demands are not going to lessen, and will probably increase.

Hershey cited the increased domestic, industrial and agricultural demands as the cause of the additional water consumption.

Daily Consumption
He said the daily private-domestic consumption in Iowa was 100-million gallons, with 120-million for industrial users and 120-million in rural areas.

Increased use of air conditioning in industry has caused more water depletion, Hershey said. He said "future new demands on water supply, such as for use of atomic energy, may cause the daily consumption of water to increase still further."

In addition, natural and planted vegetation reduce the supply, using an estimated 40 percent of all the annual precipitation.

Only Solution
The only solution for this heavy drain on Iowa's ground water supply, according to Hershey, is to "set up formal plans and policies."

Hershey told short course students "we must develop a continuous record of ground water over many years as a basis for combating the water problem."

The short course will continue through Thursday.

The play is to be presented for the first time on WSUI's "Fiction Parade" program at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday.
