Gearing Production to Demand Aim of Brannan Plan: Loveland

By GLENN URBAN

The primary aim of the Brannan plan is to gear the production of non-perishable products to demand so that the food will go directly from the farm to the consumers instead of being stored or destroyed, Albert J. Loveland said Wednesday night.

Loveland, former undersecretary of agriculture and now a Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate from Iowa, spoke at a first district Democratic banquet at the Hotel Jefferson.

'Bring Brannan Plan To People,' Loveland Tells Newsmen Here

Farmers and workers in the cities must recognize and understand each other's problems if they are to be prosperous and eat, and the Brannan plan is the best plan for this, he said.

Loveland divided the proposed Brannan plan into three sections. 1. Non-perishable products such as corn, cotton and wheat for which no change need be made from the present policy of parities.

2. Conservation, which requires no change in program except strengthening and broadening.

3. Perishable items such as dairy products, meat, poultry, fruit and vegetable products which need no change — to put a floor under these stable items of the American diet.

Three-fourths of the farm income is derived from non-perishable produce, he said, and during the past year farm income has dropped one-third.

Because a healthy and progressive economy rests upon farm income, this downward trend will have to be stopped if a depression is to be nipped in the bud, he said.

Loveland declared the Brannan plan would stop the downward trend, and gave this example of the way the plan would work: A basic price, based on more up-to-date figures than parity prices, would be selected for all non-perishable goods.

Should average market prices during a given period be lower than the floor price, the difference would be given to the farmer.

Should the farmer sell above market price, he would keep the profit and also receive the difference between average price and floor price which other farmers get, Loveland said.

The plan would cost less than the present plan, Loveland said, and food would be eaten by the people, instead of being wasted.

The nation must have a strong interest in world trade and participate in trade agreements as well, if it is to prosper, he said.

"If the trend in the downward direction of the economy is not changed, will there be jobs for SUI graduates in years to come?" he asked in closing.

Czechs Close U.S. Information Service

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia Wednesday ordered the United States information service closed and its director, Joseph C. Kolarek, to leave the country.

In other moves, the government put on trial six Czechs accused of treason and spying under the leadership of officials of the American embassy, and announced the sentencing of 16 persons on similar charges at another trial concluded Tuesday.

Among those sentenced was a 20-year-old student, Jaromir Zastera, who claims American nationality because his father was a naturalized citizen. Zastera drew an 18-year sentence and is to be expelled from the country after his imprisonment.

Democratic Candidates, Leaders Discuss Fall Election

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR U. S. SENATOR from Iowa in the fall elections met Wednesday with local newsmen at the Iowa City Press and Radio club, 11 E. Washington street. Democratic Candidates, Leaders Discuss Fall Election

bers of the Democratic group included (left to right) W. M. Shaw, Newton; Otha D. Wearin, Hastings; Loveland, Janesville; Jake More, Democrat state committee chairman; Alvin P. Meyer, Van Meter; Atty. Frank Messer, Iowa City; Nell Smith; Harold Fleck, candidate for Iowa attorney general, and R. Bruce Hughes, L2, Sioux City.

The other candidates for U.S. senator were W. M. Shaw, Newton; Otha D. Wearin, Hastings, and Alvin P. Meyer, Van Meter. Loveland, outspoken supporter of the Brannan plan, denied rumors that he had been "planted" in the Iowa senatorial race by President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan. Wearin, a member of congress from 1932 to 1948, asserted that while the Brannan plan had "some meritorious features" the present system of parity price supports "also deserves great credit."

Chinese Communists Land Fresh Troops In Drive on Hainan

TAIPEI, FORMOSA (AP)—Reports from the flaming battle on Hainan island Wednesday night said the Chinese Reds had landed fresh troops in small numbers; and the Nationalists had brought in more warplanes.

(The arrival of reinforcements indicated the big Red drive to take Hainan was on. A civilian pilot reaching Hong Kong from Hainan said without confirmation the Communists had put 5,000 new troops ashore.)

Some anxiety was noted in high quarters, replacing Tuesday's jubilant optimism. Nationalist dispatches from the south China island still predicted the Red beachheads soon would be erased, however.

The dispatches said fighter and bomber reinforcements (probably from Formosa) had gone straight into battle. Some were said to have knocked out several gun batteries on the beachheads.

Other warplanes attacked Liu-chow peninsula, base for the Red operation 10 miles to the north across Hainan strait.

Warships offshore joined with ground forces inland in a ceaseless shelling of the beachheads.

There were wholly unconfirmed reports the Reds, who were from 7,000 to 8,000 strong when they landed Monday, had widened the beachhead to 18 miles. These rumors said at some points the Communists had driven five miles inland.

Fort Madison Explosion Injures Seven Persons

FORT MADISON (AP) — Seven men were injured, two seriously, as a fire and explosion wrecked the first floor and basement of the W.A. Sheaffer Pen company office building Wednesday.

The explosion rocked the three-story building and cracked a cement floor about 15 minutes after the fire broke out at 8:30 a.m. in the development laboratory where the company's experimental work was conducted.

Mail Nomination Ballots For University Council

Nomination ballots for representatives to the University council, a liaison agency between the SUI faculty and President Virgil M. Hancher, were mailed to the entire faculty Tuesday, Prof. Lehan K. Tunks, college of law, council secretary, said Wednesday.

Six representatives are to be elected to the council for three-year terms, one member each from the colleges of engineering, law, nursing, and the graduate college, and an associate professor and an assistant professor at large.

The nomination ballots must be returned to the Registrar's office by April 30, Tunks said. From these ballots two candidates from the colleges of law and nursing, three from engineering, five from the graduate college, five associate professors and five assistant professors will be placed on the election ballot which will be sent out before May 10.

Weather Flashes Book of Tricks

Iowa weather flashed a book of tricks Wednesday with an interspersing of rain, hail, wind and bright sunshine.

The old chestnut of "if you don't like the weather — wait a minute" was spoken many times as a consequence of the change-of-pace weather.

The mercury did the "dipsy-doodle" as it dipped and climbed from 48 degrees around noon to 44 at 1 p.m., 49 at 3 p.m., 44 again at 4 p.m. and back to 44 at 6 p.m.

Temperatures aren't expected to reach a balmy high today either as the prediction calls for clear skies and continued cool.

NO PUBLICITY WARRANTED DECATUR, ILL. — Sex and drinking parties involving at least four teen-age girls and a score of men were investigated by a special grand jury Wednesday as the prosecuting attorney labelled the newspaper publicity "not warranted."

Senate Decorates 10 Missing Airmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate in a mood of cold fury unanimously voted praise and decorations Wednesday for the 10 U.S. airmen lost in what this country calls a Russian attack on an unarmed plane over the Baltic.

The vote of 66 to 0 was preceded by denunciations of the Russian action as "criminal" and "barbarous" and by demands for steps to see that nothing of the sort happens again.

It followed by about an hour a contemptuous state department dismissal of a Russian charge that the American plane was on a mission of deliberate provocation.

The unusual senate call for posthumous honors to the navy airmen was an obvious answer to Russia's action last Thursday in bestowing the Red Banner award on four Soviet airmen for "excellent fulfillment of their duty."

New Student Council To Elect Officers

Student council officers for the next year will be elected at 7:30 p.m. today in the house chamber of Old Capitol as the recently elected members officially take office.

Officers to be elected from the 17 members of the council are president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. The new council also will elect members to the executive committee of the council.

Pres. Richard Dice, A4, Marion will present a mimeographed report to the new student council concerning the functions of the council, problems faced by the present council and recommendations for the incoming council.

Evan B. (Curly) Hultman, L1 Waterloo, president of the council in 1949-50, will also address the new council on problems faced during his term in office.

Applications Ready For Hawkeye Posts

Applications for the positions of editor and business manager of Hawkeye are available in the journalism office, room N-2, in the basement of East hall.

Candidates for the position must file completed applications before 5 p.m., May 1, in the journalism office with Lois M. Randall, secretary of the board of trustees of Student Publications Inc.

Interviewing of the applicants by the board of student publications will begin May 8.

Previous experience on Hawkeye, past executive ability and good scholastic standing are among the requirements for the applicants.

All applicants must be seniors in the 1950-51 academic year.

BUDENZ TO TESTIFY WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Communist leader Louis F. Budenz flew to Washington Wednesday on the eve of a heralded "stand or fall" test of Sen. Joseph McCarthy's (R-Wis) charges of communism in the state department.

Iowa Citizens Take Dim View of New U.S. Postal Regulation

By FRED HOAR
Iowa Citizens Wednesday took a dim view of the new federal postal regulation, issued Tuesday, which will cut residential mail deliveries to one a day.

Iowa City Postmaster Walter J. Barrows said he had "received no official word yet" on the ruling but that he expected to be notified this week.

Iowa Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson's action, described as a postoffice "economy measure," specified drastic reductions of postal service throughout the nation by July 1.

It called for a five-day week in local postoffices, with these offices remaining closed and mail deliveries suspended all day Saturday.

The reduction of delivery schedules to one a day would not affect business districts, but Saturday service would be cut.

All districts in Iowa now receive two daily deliveries except SUI married students' housing units and rural areas, Barrows said.

"I don't think it's right to cut deliveries," one housewife said. "Afternoon mail usually isn't heavy, but sometimes it contains important letters."

"I object to the postoffice closing on Saturday," Carol Meardon, 336 S. Dubuque street, complained. "I work and one of the best times I have to mail letters and get stamps is on Saturday."

Other housewives objected to the ruling that only first class mail, parcel post and newspapers will be handled between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m., and second, third and fourth class bulk mailings between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

These restrictions would inconvenience persons who depend on mail reaching a certain place in a short time, they said. Barrows indicated all mail is now handled "just as it comes in."

Richard Dolezal, 311 Iowa street, president of the Iowa City local office of the AFL national association of letter carriers, said the regulation was "ground lost as far as the fight for better postal personnel conditions goes."

Dolezal said the local union has no means to combat the ruling except through the national organization which has bitterly denounced the cutback.

"All we can do is hope the citizens will write their congressmen and ask that the order be revoked," Dolezal said.

Dolezal added that the federal economy program in the postal department would entail layoffs of personnel.

Personnel with the (Iowa City) postoffice probably will be eliminated.

A further affect of the ruling, Dolezal said, will be a "probable readjustment of route and working hours." Postal employees work on a "two - delivery, eight-hour basis now," he explained. Routes will have to be expanded to accommodate the one-delivery schedule, he said.

Several Iowa City businessmen said the suspension of Saturday service will "inconvenience" them but probably won't upset the daily routine of commerce.

Robert Yetters, general manager of Younkers, said all important mail usually arrives before the weekend anyway. Harold Reedquist, manager of Bremer's, said the only possible business handicap in the Saturday cutoff would be delayed shipments for customers.

National Comment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The post-office department's decision to put residential mail service on a one-day delivery basis was criticized hotly in congress Wednesday as a possible "pressure" move and an inconvenience to taxpayers.

Some members said the postal service is a poor place to economize. Others questioned whether the move was timed to bring public pressure on congress just as it is preparing to vote on postal appropriations.

Postal officials said the order will result in dropping some 10,000 mail carriers and handlers from the payroll. They estimated savings at an unprecise "several millions," but said it will "by no means" erase the department's annual half-billion dollar deficit.

Rail Strike Set For Next Wednesday Against 4 Systems

CHICAGO (AP)—Railroad firemen and engineers Wednesday called a strike for 6 a.m. (Iowa time) next Wednesday against four vast railroad systems. It would cut off vital segments of the nation's rail transportation.

David B. Robertson of Cleveland, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, left the door open to a possible pre-deadline settlement, however, saying:

May Be Postponed
"If they (the railroads) feel some progress is being made toward settlement, the strike may be postponed."

Oscar Anderson, 63, was given two sentences totaling 10 years after pleading guilty in district court Wednesday to assault with intent to commit manslaughter and to carrying a concealed weapon.

Judge Harold D. Evans sentenced Anderson to five years at the state penitentiary in Fort Madison on each of the two charges, the sentences to run consecutively.

This ended two years of legal battling which arose after the shooting of Clifford Kelly in the Strand cafe April 22, 1948. Kelly is still in University hospitals, paralyzed below the waist.

Anderson pleaded guilty to the two charges shortly after County Atty. Jack C. White filed the concealed weapon charge Wednesday morning.

The state had originally asked for conviction on assault with intent to commit murder.

Anderson will be removed from the Johnson county jail to Fort Madison today, according to Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy.

Exams Announced For Iowa Bar

June law examinations for admittance to the Iowa bar will be given simultaneously in Iowa City and Des Moines, beginning June 19, SUI law college officials said Wednesday.

The Iowa supreme court ordered that the written tests should begin at 9 a.m., June 19, in the SUI law building and the statehouse in Des Moines. The written tests last two and one-half days.

The oral test will be given in Iowa City on June 22, beginning at 9 a.m. It will be given in Des Moines on June 24, starting at the same time.

Prospective lawyers must pass these tests before they can practice law in the state.

HE WAS TOO MODEST
MILWAUKEE, WIS. (AP) — Justice of the Peace Theodore Fadrow Wednesday confessed he didn't vote for himself this spring — he wasn't old enough. Fadrow, who will be 21 on May 3, was elected to preside over a town of Franking motor court April 4.

Town Clerk E.J. Berg said there's nothing in the laws against a minor holding the post.

Sander Loses Right To Continue Practice

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Dr. Hermann N. Sander's right to practice medicine in New Hampshire was revoked Wednesday night by the state board of registration in medicine.

The board, in biting language, asserted the 41-year-old physician — acquitted March 9 of murder in the death of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, an incurably ill cancer patient — was guilty of "morally reprehensible action in deliberately injecting air into his patient."

The state had charged Dr. Sander killed Mrs. Borroto by four injections of air into her veins shortly before she died last Dec. 4.

The board's verdict was levied, however, by a line hinting that the doctor might apply for reinstatement in two months. The board statement put it this way: "No application for reinstatement by Dr. Sander would be entertained prior to June 19, 1950."

Tough Spring Sledding —

With congressional elections just around the corner, it looks as though many major pieces of legislation will be hanging on the hook at the end of the current session.

Many congressmen are now in their home districts mending fences for the election battles that will be coming up during the next several months.

At this break in congressional proceedings, a quick review of major bills shows that very little has been done so far during the 81st congress.

The Kerr bill designed to exempt independent natural gas procedures from federal control, passed both houses but was vetoed by President Truman.

Congress has passed a bill to curb potato surpluses and expand cotton and peanut plantings. An oleomargarine tax was repealed, over the protests of midwestern representatives, and federal credit aids for private housing were extended by congress.

Other than those bills, congress has little to show for its efforts.

It seems unlikely that congress will rush through two year's legislation during the remaining months of the session.

President Truman's Fair Deal Program, then, will be far from reality when election time comes up next fall.

The fair employment act, a large plank in Mr. Truman's platform, has been given a green light by the house, but there is little likelihood of its passing the senate.

The house is now debating changes in a $29-billion omnibus appropriations bill, but the Republicans are gunning for a $1-billion cut. That debate should eat up a week's time.

The Taft-Hartley repeal stands no chance of passing congress. A health insurance bill has a similar future.

So with little congressional action in the offing, there is a strong possibility that Democrats who rode into office 18 months ago on the shirttail of Mr. Truman will face rough sledding come election time.

Yet if the Republicans dominate the next session of congress, the President's chances of getting his Fair Deal program through congress are even slimmer.

On Taking Naps in Wartime —

A recent statement by a Minnesota educator underscores the confused thinking about Communists teaching in colleges and universities.

Prof. T. R. McConnell, dean of arts and sciences at the University of Minnesota, had this to say about the issue:

"College and universities must maintain freedom to examine and analyze any and all ideas, to investigate in a scholarly manner any issue, no matter how controversial."

This is straight enough thinking and entirely in line with the freedom of thought we stand so strongly for in this country. Where Prof. McConnell gets confused is where he says he doesn't believe there are enough Communists in colleges and universities to constitute "any serious danger."

The reference to Communists in colleges and universities concerns the controversial question of forcing faculty members to sign non-Communist oaths.

State Department Plays Patty-Cake —

A step by Iowa's Democratic Sen. Guy Gillette to put foreign policy decisions in the hands of a special bi-partisan committee seems a step in the right direction.

This system worked successfully under the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. In fact, foreign policy hasn't been the same since the bi-partisan committee ceased functioning. Extremely bad fumbling has marked most of our actions for several years.

The most outward evidence of this fact now is the seeming lack of confidence put forth in seeking a solution to the new Russian cold war attack. Nothing definite has been said about the way we will handle the situation and the state department seemingly is sitting on its hands.

We first started missing the play when Gen.

Communists who teach are a serious danger at any time. And their menace is one which cannot be ignored. This country is in "serious danger" any time it decides that a handful of Communists can do no harm.

The age level of the college student today already is dropping back to the just-out-of-high-school group that predominates in average times. Nearly gone are the 30-year-old veterans who bring wives and several children with them to college.

We need not necessarily go as far as the state of California and require our faculty to sign non-Communist oaths. But we cannot afford to be lulled to sleep in an ideological war and stop concerning ourselves with the philosophy of those who teach the college students of today.

Even though it sounds trite, we dare not forget that those college students today are the citizens who will be holding public offices and running our country tomorrow.

George Marshall went to China to report on the Nationalist situation. The state department under the direction of both State Secretary Edward Stettinius and Marshall sat on the report and did nothing until it was too late.

Then Secretary of State Dean Acheson issued his white paper. . . seemingly almost in self defense. He was, in effect, saying: "You see, it's already been messed up. I can do nothing about it."

The bad point is that the American public knew nothing about the report for several years — just as now it knows nothing about our policy in Germany. This is the situation Gillette is seeking to relieve.

A bi-partisan foreign policy under President Truman at least might be able to reach some solution and, failing that, remove the whole dangerous matter from the realm of politics.

'Spring Will Be a Little Late This Year'

Senate Passes Bill To Ban Shipment Of Gambling Devices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate passed a bill Wednesday which would ban the interstate shipment of slot machines and other gambling devices, except to states where governors certify they are legal.

As approved on a routine calendar call and sent to the house, it also would require manufacturers of such equipment to file monthly sales reports with the bureau of internal revenue and number their machines serially so authorities could keep track of them.

The bill was drafted by the justice department at the request of Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath's recent war on crime conference.

The senate commerce committee is considering a companion measure banning the interstate transmission of gambling information by some so-called "new services."

Persons who knowingly transport gambling devices across state lines could be fined up to $5,000, imprisoned for as long as two years, or both. For disobeying the registration and numbering provisions, violators could receive fines up to $2,000, up to a year in jail, or both.

The bill would ban the import or export of gambling devices. Their manufacture also would be banned in areas where the federal government enforces the laws, such as the District of Columbia.

A senate commerce subcommittee will hold hearings today on the bill against interstate transmission of certain gambling information, notably that on horse races. Municipal officials from New York, Baltimore and North Carolina are scheduled to testify, as well as state officials from Florida and North Carolina.

The speed with which the senate acted on the measure emphasized the increasing concern of congress with the national crime picture. The bill was introduced April 4 and unanimously approved by the commerce committee eight days later. Final action came just 15 days after the senate received it.

The senate also has laid the groundwork for a broad investigation of crime and its effect on local governments. But it is running into some "political" trouble.

Shortly before the senate voted Wednesday, Sen. Forrest C. Donnell (R-Mo) objected to sending consideration of an administration resolution setting up a five-man crime study commission.

Republicans have accused the administration of limiting the group to five members in an effort to exclude Donnell and Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich). Donnell would be certain to press for an all-out investigation in Kansas City, President Truman's home town.

Red Swap Seen on China Okay

By SIGRID ARNE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
At least three gates are open for the state department experts who must decide what stand the U.S. will take on permitting Red China to sit in the United Nations.

1. The United States could just continue its present passive role. So far Secretary of State Dean Acheson has merely said the U.S. will accept whatever the other nations decide to do on shifting Chinese representation from the old government to the new Communist crowd.

He has said the U.S. would not vote on the issue.

2. But now along comes the statement of John Foster Dulles, the new Republican adviser to Acheson. Dulles sets forth his ideas in a new book "War or Peace."

"If the Communist government of China in fact proves its ability to govern China without serious domestic resistance, then it, too, should be admitted to the United Nations. However, a regime that claims to have become the government of a country through civil war should not be recognized until it has been tested over a reasonable period."

Under Acheson's stand, the U.S. government would accept no official responsibility for whether or not China was represented by Communists. If, under Dulles' stand, the U.S. should take part in the debate, it would accept whatever portion of responsibility was due on the final vote.

3. The Russians have left a third gate open, which the state department now refuses to use. Several times the Russians have said they would accept nations proposed by the west, providing the west accepted a Russian state of candidates.

In effect, they've said, "You take our gang, and we will vote for yours." This is plain horse-trading, and beneath the moral standards of the U.S.

The U.S. has insisted that each nation must be considered for membership, alone, on its merits. Here's how the tally now stands on the nations seeking membership:

The west has proposed Italy, Ireland, Portugal, Nepal, Ceylon, Jordan, Austria, Finland and the southern Korean government.

Russia has proposed Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Albania and the Mongolian people's republic.

At the security council debate last summer the Russians said they would vote for the whole list — western and Communist candidates alike — or they would vote for nothing.

The U.S. insisted on taking each nation, separately, and Russia promptly vetoed the one under discussion — Nepal. None of the nations gained membership.

Asks End of Some Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Harold D. Cooley of the house agriculture committee warned President Truman Wednesday that the government may have to junk price supports for perishable farm crops to avoid wrecking the whole farm program.

The North Carolina Democrat told reporters he issued the warning at a White House meeting of Democratic members of his committee, Mr. Truman, Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan and house Democratic leaders.

Cooley said he personally believes "price supports for eggs, and such perishables ought to be abandoned" if they endanger the rest of the farm program. He said he told the President as much.

Makassar Rebels Make Unconditional Surrender

JAKARTA, U.S.I. (AP) — Rebel soldiers in Makassar surrendered unconditionally Wednesday as federal troops swarmed ashore on Celebes beaches south of that city, the Indonesian government announced. No bloodshed was reported.

Coupled with this announcement was an official declaration that the imprisoned Sultan Hamid II, a former cabinet member described by the government as the brains behind Capt. R.P.P. "Turk" Westerling's west Java revolt in January, has confessed he plotted for Westerling to kill Indonesia's three top military chiefs. All are still alive. Westerling is in jail in Singapore awaiting deportation by the British.

Your Chance to See a Real Flying Saucer

SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIF. — Be of good cheer, ye underprivileged fellow Americans who have not yet seen a flying saucer. By Christmas, maybe, you can be flying one of your very own!

At this remote California coastal city (where unidentified submarines occasionally surface to replenish their vodka supplies), it can now be authoritatively reported that:

- 1 — Flying saucers will be in production here at the rate of approximately 75,000 monthly by July or August of this year.
- 2 — These flying saucers are not from Mars or any other foreign planet.
- 3 — There are no little men (23 inches tall or any other size) piloting them.
- 4 — They are of cellulose acetate (plastic) construction, aerodynamically designed, with gyroscopic airfoils.

Yesirree, bub! Real, honest-to-goodness flyin' saucers, whose authenticity has even been admitted by the executive vice president of the ASPSS (American Society of Flying Saucer Spotters).

There! You see? You shouldn't have worried about those "mysterious flying saucer" reports any more than you would have about your old Aunt Mary's cake tin dropping out of the kitchen cupboard. 'Cause that's where the idea for the San Luis Obispo flying saucers came from — cake tins!

IF IT IS any consolation to the airforce and the White House, the two civilians holding the reins of flying saucer production — both United States aviators during World War II, one with us airforce itself, and the other with the Air Transport Command.

Absolutely harmless, of course, the "flying saucers" being turned out at San Luis Obispo are only 9 1/2 inches in diameter, and look something like an oversize automobile hubcap, with deep, turned-in edges.

The flying saucer tycoons are Fred Morrison and Warren Farnsion. Back in their high school days, they whiled away many an hour sailing cake tins through the air. In fact, the two boys even made a brisk minor business of selling the tins to interested spectators — and this long before the first flying disc or "saucer" was reported in 1947 by an airline pilot over the Cascade mountains in the Pacific northwest.

However, came the war and cake tins were discarded for real airplanes, and Francioni flew the "Hump" in the China-Burma-India theater with the Air Transport Command. Morrison became a fighter pilot, and wound up as a German prisoner-of-war after being shot down in flames.

As a couple of postwar GIs, they knocked around at different jobs, and one day remembered their old sport of sailing cake tins. After long periods of testing and re-designing, they finally adopted a plastic model (after discarding the metal one) which wouldn't hurt the thrower, break windows or shatter easily. It weighs but six ounces.

The "flyin' saucer" — that's its real name — now manufactured here is being used increasingly by adults as well as children for outdoor sports enjoyment. It has six radial fins on its top surface which provide a lifting vacuum in flight, in addition to the air stability furnished by the bowl-shaped underside of the disc.

Properly thrown in a whirling motion by a deft snap of the wrist, the flyin' saucer will float through the air gracefully, bank to right or left, return like a boomerang to the thrower, or fly absolutely straight — depending on the angle of release and wind direction.

The flyin' saucer can be "bounced" — if thrown at an angle onto a hard, flat surface, it will zoom back into the air like a flushed quail.

And, oh yes — the flyin' saucers come in three delicious colors — red, blue and yellow. What's more, they are "official"; it says so on the trademark!

WIND KILLS WOMAN
ALBERT LEA, MINN. (AP) — A gust of wind blew a 79-year-old woman to her death here Wednesday. The woman, Mrs. Molina Wold, was on the porch roof of her home attempting to remove a storm window. A gust of wind caught the window and hurled her to the ground.

A FLICK OF THE WRIST and away sails a flying saucer. If you're one of those persons who hasn't seen any of the mysterious discs that have been zooming around during the past several years, you'll be able to buy one by next Christmas. The inset shows a comparison of the plastic saucer with the girl's hand.

Former Students' Engagements Announced

THE ENGAGEMENT AND APPROACHING MARRIAGE of Dorothy June Simons, former SUI student from Larrabee, to Myron F. Berkheimer, C. Belle Plaine, has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Simons, Larrabee. Mr. Berkheimer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Berkheimer, Belle Plaine. Miss Simons is now employed in the record room of the University hospitals. The wedding will take place in June in Larrabee.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK WITTE, Sioux Falls, S.D., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Diane Witte, SUI graduate, to Donald Walton, A2, Boone. Mr. Walton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Walton, Boone. Miss Witte is affiliated with Chi Omega, social sorority, and for the past year has been an art teacher in Ames high school. The wedding will take place June 9 in Sioux Falls.

Nursing Administrators to Attend Convention

Four local nursing administrators are planning to attend the 16th biennial nursing convention at San Francisco, May 7 through May 12.

Attending from SUI will be Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell and Prof. Amy Frances Brown of the college of nursing and Emily Hanson, head of orthopedic nursing at the SUI Children's hospital. Mildren Shaffer, superintendent of nurses at Oakdale sanatorium, also will attend.

The convention will be under the joint sponsorship of the American Nurses' association, the National League of Nursing Education and the National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

Eight thousand nurses, representing 200,000 professional registered nurses in the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, are expected to attend.

The theme of the convention will be "Health — A Unifying World Influence: Nursing Accepts its Role."

The convention is expected to act on a proposed code for professional nurses, which will "spell out the ethical implications of economic and social forces confronting nurses today," according to Convention Chairman Ella Best.

Panhellenic to Hold Card Party Today

The Iowa City Panhellenic organization will sponsor a card party today at 2 p.m. in the nurses' recreation room of Mercy hospital.

Open to anyone in Iowa City, the party will feature both canasta and bridge. Proceeds will help furnish the children's playroom in Mercy hospital, according to the committee co-chairmen, Mrs. Robert Flynn and Mrs. Ted Stuck.

Committee members include Mrs. John Greenleaf, Mrs. Ansel Chapman, Mrs. Karl Schmidt, Mrs. Cloyd Sheldahl, Mrs. George Frohwein, Mrs. F.D. Francis, Mrs. Lloyd Howell, Mrs. Clayton Gerkin, Mrs. Bruce Alderman, Mrs. Paul Brecher, Mrs. John Schupdt and Mrs. Robert Green.

Y Program to Discuss Careers in Psychology

A discussion of career possibilities for women in psychology will highlight the YWCA-sponsored radio program, "Your Future Forecast," Saturday at 10:15 a.m. over station WSUI.

YWCA Pres. Flora Robinson, A4, Cedar Rapids, said the program would deal with requirements for positions of school psychologists, counselor or dean of women.

Red Cross Offers Life Saving Course

A course for instructors of life saving and water safety is being offered here under the sponsorship of the Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross, according to Prof. Virginia Dix Sterling of the women's physical education department.

The class is scheduled to meet twice weekly at 7:15 p.m. in the women's gymnasium. The first session was held Monday.

The second meeting of each week will alternate between Wednesday and Thursday, Miss Sterling said. A complete schedule is posted on the bulletin board in the women's gymnasium.

BALL AND CHAIN MEETING

Members of the Ball and Chain club of the Trinity Episcopal church will hold an informal meeting at 8 p.m. Friday in the parish house.

Daughter of Top Physicist Tells of Los Alamos Life

"So near and yet so far" aptly describes one SUI student's relationship to the atomic bomb.

Nella Fermi, 18-year-old graduate art student from Chicago, spent almost two years at Los Alamos, New Mexico — one of our top-secret atomic bomb experimental bases — but the whole thing was top-mystery to her while she lived there.

Her father, Enrico Fermi, a nuclear physicist, contributed to the completion of the atom bomb experiment there. A Nobel prize winner in 1938, he is teaching now at the University of Chicago. Fermi traveled frequently to the area known then as "Y." Finally the whole family went there about two years before the end of the war.

"A friend of the family heard that there was some sort of secret weapon under construction, but that was the extent of my knowledge throughout the entire period," the SUI student exclaimed.

Thirty SUI Students To Attend Methodist Des Moines Meeting

About 30 SUI Methodist students will attend the Iowa Methodist Student Movement conference at the Grace Methodist church, Des Moines, Friday through Sunday.

The Rev. Robert Sanks, Methodist student director here, said the Rev. Gerald McCullough of the Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ill., will be the featured speaker at the conference.

Both Rev. Sanks and the Rev. Robert Crocker, assistant Methodist minister, will attend the conference with the students.

Thomas Olson, A2, Red Oak, will be one of the five discussion chairmen at the conference, Rev. Sanks said. Rev. Sanks said he would be the counselor chairman at the meeting.

Methodist students attending the conference will include Marjorie Brickner, A1, Decorah; Charles Swisher, A2, Iowa City; Bohumir Vesely, E2, Ainsworth; Edward Mark, A2, Clarksville; Lloyd Myatt, and Richard White.

Lois Huber, A1, Manchester, Minn.; Joan Buckwalter, A4, Humboldt; Henry Jaekel, C3, Hamburg; Thomas Olson, A2, Red Oak, and Norma Brown, A2, Altoona.

Harold Elleckson, A3, Murray; Gay Mahaffy, A1, Iowa City; John Kintzinger, A2, Dubuque; Betty Miller, A1, Sioux City; Alberta Mueller, A2, Cedar Rapids; Charlene Floyd, A1, Des Moines, and Mildred Miller, A1, North English.

Ruth Johnson, A3, Mary Duros, A4, Iowa City; Clifford Mitchell, A2, Ottumwa; Jolee Fritz, A4, Allentown, Penn.; Leonard Lage, A2, Hawarden; Levi Tabler, E3, Council Bluffs; Milton Siller, E2, St. Louis; Jack Neuswanger, A4, Macleok, Ill.; Patricia Arnett, A4, Iowa City, and Ronald Rogers, A1, Creston.

PLAY TICKETS

Tickets are still available at room 8A, Schaeffer hall, for the matinee performance of George Bernard Shaw's play, "Man and Superman," Saturday at 2:10 p.m. in the University theater. Ticket clerks said Wednesday that no tickets for evening performances were available.

Collegiate C. of C. Plans Fifth Career Conference

SUI's fifth annual business careers conference, sponsored by the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce, will be held April 26 and 27.

John Peterson, C4, Nevada, member of the collegiate board of directors, said the purpose of the conference is to provide a placement and guidance service for commerce students and others interested in business and industry.

Students have been invited from all Iowa colleges. The principal speakers will be from Chicago, Minneapolis, Des Moines, the Tri-Cities and St. Joseph, Mo., Peterson said.

Discussions Planned
Discussions will be centered around:

1. Present employment outlook for graduates in various fields.
2. How to go about securing a job in these fields.
3. What students' first job will be in terms of duties, responsibilities, and compensation.
4. What the student may expect in five years in terms of duties, responsibilities and compensation.

Conference activities include 33 discussions from the fields of accounting, economics, labor marketing, general business, advertising and secretarial science, Peterson said.

Interview Instruction
The discussions in general business will include transportation, insurance and banking.

E.M. DeMoss of the J.C. Penney company will talk about student applications and interviews at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

He will tell how a student should conduct himself in an interview and how to apply for jobs, Peterson said.

District Court Hears Two Appeals Against Paving Assessments

Two special city assessment appeals were heard in district court Wednesday by Judge Harold D. Evans.

The plaintiff in one of the cases was Ada B. Baldrige; in the other, Mrs. Baldrige and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Gauper.

These were among 26 appeals to district court protesting a special levy by the city council Nov. 22, 1949, to pay for paving done on F street last year. The new pavement cost $100,000.

Says Levy Excessive
Mrs. Baldrige charged the $34.92 levy on property she owns on east Iowa city exceeded the value of the benefits she received, and exceeded the legal 25 percent of actual value maximum.

She also charged the area used in computing the assessment was more than one-half of the lot between F and Muscatine streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Gauper, the present owners of the lot in the second case, protested a $275.50 assessment. Mrs. Baldrige was also a plaintiff in this suit because she was owner of the property when the special assessment was made.

Ruling Today
They charged the levy exceeded benefits and was made over more than one-half of the lot between F street and Muscatine street.

The lots in the two cases adjoined one another.

The rulings on the two appeals probably will be made today.

Two appeals have previously been heard in district court. The city assessment was upheld in the first case. In the second case the assessment was cut by approximately one-half.

North Dakota's Riverless Flood Derails Train

LIKE A MOTHERLESS CHILD, this flood has no river. Rapid melting of the deep snow covering northwestern North Dakota has converted fields into lakes. Once the water bursts over such barriers as roads and fence lines, it rolls irresistibly over miles of land sloping gently eastward to the Red river. In places it picks up dangerous speed. An example is this four-car Northern Pacific train, derailed Monday by overland flood waters about 15 miles west of the Red river.

Col. Jenna Leaves On Inspection Tour

Col. W.W. Jenna, professor of military science and tactics in the SUI military department, left Iowa City Wednesday by automobile for a 13-day federal inspection trip of three colleges in Colorado and Wyoming.

Jenna said he will go first to the University of Colorado but will not inspect the ROTC unit there. His first inspection will be at the University of Denver Monday. Wednesday he will start his inspection of Colorado State college at Fort Collins.

The University of Wyoming at Laramie will be the last of the three schools to be inspected by Jenna. He will start his inspection of the SUI ROTC department May 3 and 9.

SUI Graduate Given Guggenheim Award For Study in Spain

Juan Lopez - Morillas, former SUI Spanish instructor who received his doctor of philosophy degree at SUI, has been awarded a Guggenheim fellowship for one year's study in Spain, Prof. E.K. Mapes of the SUI romance language department said Wednesday.

Lopez - Morillas is an associate professor of Spanish at Brown university, Providence, R.I. Born in Jodar, Jaen province, Spain, (near Granada), he has been in the United States about 14 years, Mapes said.

The fellowship is one of several hundred awarded yearly to persons throughout the United States under the John Simon Guggenheim foundation.

Mrs. Lopez - Morillas, the former Frances Mapes of Iowa City, also attended SUI, receiving her master of arts degree here.

The couple and their three children plan to leave for Spain in September.

Lopez-Morillas expects to visit Paris and travel in Spain, but most of the year will be spent in Madrid studying the works of Miguel Unamuno, contemporary Spanish writer.

Lopez-Morillas was a member of the SUI romance language department from about 1939 until 1943 when he accepted his present position at Brown, Mapes said.

He has written two textbooks in collaboration with Mapes. They are "Y va de Cuento," and an alternate to that text.

Union Dinner Held For Water Officials

Dean Allin W. Dakin, executive dean for the president's office, presided Wednesday night at a banquet in the Iowa Union for Iowa water works officials participating in the water works short course which ends today.

Prof. Milford E. Barnes, head of hygienic and preventive medicine, was speaker at the banquet.

The more than 30 Iowa water works superintendents and operators Wednesday took off their coats and worked with equipment in the medical laboratory, after three days of lectures and demonstrations.

They worked on methods of chlorinating and determining the chlorine content of a water sample. Later in the afternoon the group visited the plant of the Iowa City water service company, where they were served coffee, cookies and ice cream — and not water — according to Prof. Philip Morgan, SUI sanitary engineer in charge of the short course.

Meeting to Feature Raff, Football Staff

The Iowa City Press and Radio club today will be host to SUI's new head football coach, Leonard Raffensperger, and his coaching staff at a 6:30 p.m. dinner in the clubrooms at 11 E. Washington street.

Malcom Rodman, A3, club delegate-at-large said it will be the first group appearance of Raffensperger and his staff before the press.

Athletic Director Paul Brechler also is expected to attend the dinner.

The meal will be a buffet style, prepared by a Cedar Rapids caterer.

"Football Highlights of 1949," an SUI film of the more spectacular moments of last season's games will be shown, Rodman said.

Newman Club Plans Vatican Pilgrimages

Six Newman Club federation pilgrimages to Rome will be offered this summer. The first three groups will leave New York City June 23 and the second three groups will leave the same port on Aug. 6.

Pres. Thomas Ryan, G. Brooklyn, said several SUI students have signed up for the pilgrimages. He said any SUI student who wishes an application blank or information about the tours could contact him.

"These pilgrimages are not restricted to Catholic students but are open to all students," Ryan said.

The six different tour prices are about the most reasonable obtainable, he said.

Leave June 23
The three pilgrimages which will leave June 23 and return Aug. 2 will have three different tour prices. Tour A will cost $572, B will cost $541, and C will cost $559, Ryan said. Students on these tours will cross the ocean on the S.S. Captain, and return home on the S.S. Roma, he said.

The three groups who leave in August also will have three different prices tours. For tour A in this group it will cost $552, B will cost $521 and C will cost $539. This group of students will cross on the S.S. Captain and return on the same ship Ryan said.

The tour prices include all necessary expenses, he said. A deposit of $100 is required with each application, and 50 percent of the tour price must be paid by April 30, he said.

Audience with Pope

All accounts must be fully settled by May 31. Cancellations must be made in writing 30 days prior to the departure date, he said.

All tours will include trips to Paris, Brussels, Florence and Rome, he said. A special audience with the Pope is scheduled for each of the six pilgrimages.

Washington Official Visits Hospital Project

F. H. Briganti, a representative from the chief of engineers of the city, Washington, D.C., said Tuesday progress on the Iowa City Veterans hospital project is advancing satisfactorily.

Briganti, who is touring veterans hospital projects, was especially pleased with the work at the Iowa City site, especially in comparison with other projects, Col. H.K. Howell, Iowa City area army engineer said Wednesday.

Russia Withdraws Support Of UN's Plan for Jerusalem

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — Russia withdrew support unexpectedly Wednesday from the United Nations plan for international rule over Jerusalem.

The Soviet reversal apparently knocked the last remaining props from under the project. The plan was pushed through the general assembly last fall by a unique coalition of Communist, Catholic and Arab nation delegates.

The United States and Britain opposed the resolution after Israel and Hashemite Jordan, the countries that occupy two separate sections of the Holy City, announced they would fight down any effort to enforce it.

The Soviet bloc was a big determining factor in the 38 to 14 vote. If the five Soviet votes had been switched from the affirmative to the negative, the measure would have fallen short of the necessary two-third majority despite strong backing by the Vatican and the Arab countries.

The Russians not only joined the Arabs and the Catholic nation delegates of Latin America in supporting the resolution; they originated one amendment which told the trusteeship council it must "not allow any actions taken by any interested government or governments to divert it from adopting and implementing" the plan.

Under the assembly resolution, the trusteeship council was ordered to draft a statute for an international regime in Jerusalem. The council recently completed drafting the proposed statute in Geneva, but made no move to put it into effect.

Fifteen Men Finish First Training Year For National Guard

Fifteen men enlisted in the local Iowa National Guard company have advanced into their second year of training, Lt. Col. Edward W. Paulus said Wednesday.

Paulus is commanding officer of the clearing company, 109th medical battalion, stationed at the Iowa City armory.

In the second year of training, enlisted men learn the duties of surgical technicians and ward attendants, the care and treatment of patients and how to transport wounded persons. Medical officers of the local company are supervising the training.

Nine local men are in the first year of basic training under the National Guard's three-year program, Paulus said.

Several openings for enlisted men in the local company still remain, according to Paulus. He said men who enlist before July 30 will be able to go to summer camp at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., with the clearing company.

Sgt. Bernard K. Murphy, clearing company administrative assistant, and Robert J. Lee, caretaker, last weekend attended a school in Cedar Rapids sponsored by the National Guard adjutant general's office, Des Moines.

Col. Fred C. Tandy, Des Moines, acting assistant adjutant general, directed the school and gave instruction about administrative procedure.

Men from National Guard companies in Muscatine, Clinton, Dubuque, Cedar Falls, Oelwein and Davenport also attended the school.

Wrong Fortune

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A fortune teller advised Miss Jean Powell she'd soon get a better job.

Wax Layers Help Distribute Heat to Ease Pain of Arthritis

(Daily Iowan Photos by Jack Oris)

THAT'S HOT PARAFFIN dripping from the hand of Physical Therapist William Jahnke as he demonstrates "step one" of the paraffin bath, a treatment administered to arthritis patients in the physical therapy department of University hospitals. The melted paraffin does not burn the patient's skin because of a protective layer formed by the moisture in his skin.

A PARAFFIN GLOVE, formed after several successive dips in a paraffin bath, is pictured wrapping Jahnke's "gloved" hand in paper toweling and flannel. This covering will help retain an effective amount of heat for about 20 minutes.

Paraffin Bath Eases Aches

Jelly-Jar Seal Helps Treat Arthritic Pains With 120 Degree Heat Treatment

By MARY QUALLEY

Ever plunge your hand into a steaming tub of melted paraffin?

Although it sounds like a method of medieval torture, the paraffin bath is actually a painless and effective way to treat arthritis in the hands and arms in the physical therapy department at University hospitals.

The paraffin is kept at a temperature of about 120 degrees Fahrenheit, but the patient's skin is not burned as it would be if he dipped his hand into water of that temperature, Chief Therapist William Jahnke said.

A heat-insulating layer of water is formed between the paraffin and the skin by the moisture in the skin. This layer prevents the heat from coming in direct contact with the skin, Jahnke said.

The patient sits beside the tub which is about two feet long, 12 inches wide and 18 inches deep. When he submerges his affected hand or arm and withdraws it quickly, a thin film of paraffin hardens over the area.

The dipping is repeated several times until a "glove" about one-fourth inch thick is formed. The hand or arm is then wrapped in paper towels and flannel, and the heat is allowed to permeate the skin to the joints for about twenty minutes.

Paraffin treatment is especially good because the heat is distributed evenly to all the small finger joints and all over the hand, the therapist explained. Hot packs can contact only the top and palm surfaces of the hand.

The paraffin coating can be cut or cracked off, when the treatment is completed.

Encourages Relaxation

Two main types of arthritis are treated in the physical therapy department. They are inflammatory and osteoarthritis.

Inflammatory arthritis results in stiffening and contraction in the joints, while osteoarthritis is the more painful type, according to a University hospitals physician.

The paraffin bath is valuable in treating both types of arthritis. Heat encourages relaxation in the affected joints.

Exercise to build a wider range of motion (ability to move an arm or leg in a normal or nearly normal way) is more successful when the joint is relaxed.

In addition to arthritic patients, the physical therapy staff in the Children's hospital unit of University hospitals treats numerous cases of polio, cerebral palsy, scoliosis (crooked spine), sprains, strains and back disorders.

Woman Tries to Kill Herself, Best Friend

DECATUR, ILL. (AP) — A 23-year-old former co-ed walked into a downtown office Wednesday and shot a woman who was her "best friend," then wounded herself critically in a suicide attempt, police reported.

The girl, Marjorie Landram, a former student at James Millikin university, was taken to St. Mary's hospital where doctors said she was not expected to live.

Mrs. Jean Fonner, the victim, was in serious condition at another hospital.

State's Attorney Perley Lupton said Miss Landram signed a statement in which she said she had been "brooding" because Mrs. Fonner asked her to leave her home three weeks ago.

The two were close friends and she had been rooming with Mrs. Fonner, a 23-year-old divorcee, the girl said.

Lupton said Miss Landram had been a "maladjusted" student at the university and that Mrs. Fonner had befriended her and tried to help her. Recently she was under the care of a doctor, he said.

Former Local Resident Dies of Heart Ailment

Sidney Bloom, former resident of Iowa City, died of heart disease recently at his home in Portland, Ore., it was reported Wednesday.

Mr. Bloom, an active businessman in Portland for many years, was born in Iowa City in 1887 and was educated in primary and secondary schools here.

Mr. Bloom is survived by his widow, Marie, and two sons, Robert H., Portland, and Sidney A., Tacoma, Wash.

ALBANY, GA. (AP) — A little white hen was fastened up in the dog pound Wednesday after she furiously attacked in succession a dog, a hog, a horse, a cow and a child.

Her captors thought she might have hydrophobia. Health Commissioner D. D. M. Wolfe said, though, he never heard of a chicken with rabies.

He suggested the hen may have become mentally unbalanced. She was held for observation.

Red Sox Win Morning Game, Then Yanks Roar Back, 16-7

New York Sends 12 to Plate in 8th

BOSTON (AP) — Darkness didn't fall early enough for the Red Sox at Fenway park Wednesday, for after the Bostonians had played in fine style to achieve a 6-3 first-game decision over the New York Yankees they unraveled and suffered a 16-7 nightcap humiliation.

The latter game was mercifully called after eight innings — and three hours and ten minutes — because of darkness.

Sox Shocked

The second game, played before a virtual sellout crowd of 32,860, was similar to Tuesday's clambake when the Sox shocked an opening day throng by blowing a 9-0 lead and losing 15-10 to these same world champions.

In the morning game of this Patriots' day double program, 25,425 fans had a chance to cheer as Joe Dobson pitched a six-hit victory and Ted Williams potted his first home run of the American league's 50th season.

As they did Tuesday the Sox hustled to a quick lead in the afternoon and then the Yankees forged ahead to win, routing ace Righthander Ellis Kinder in the process.

The Bombers had a 9-7 lead after seven innings and then came the eighth which defies description.

Dozen Men Bat

The Yankees sent a dozen men to bat. Five of them walked and four of them hit for seven runs.

In all the Yankees clouted 15 hits and received a baker's dozen of 13 passes from four Boston pitchers.

In the morning game Dobson held the New Yorkers scoreless in all but two innings, struck out four, walked two and retired the last eight Yankees in succession.

Former Giants Aid Braves to Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — The big winter trade exploded in the face of Leo Durocher Wednesday as Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall and Buddy Kerr, three ex-Giants, drove home eight runs in Boston's 10-6 romp over New York.

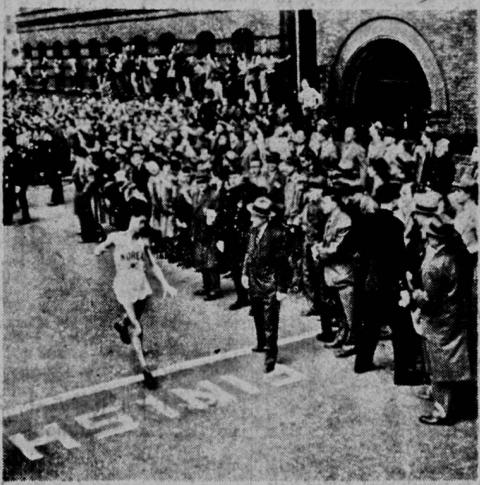

Gordon, a Polo Grounds favorite for years, led the Braves' wrecking crew with two homers, one with the bases loaded in the nine-run sixth inning. Kerr contributed a triple and single and Marshall slammed a two-run single.

Johnny Sain, starting a comeback after a poor season in 1949, yielded 12 hits in a route — going job. The Giant runs came on homers by Hank Thompson, Clint Hartung and Rookie Jack Harshman. Harshman's came with two on base in the eighth.

The Braves drove Sheldon Jones to cover in the sixth.

Cardinal Rally Falls Short, 4-3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates took advantage of a pair of fifth-inning errors by Eddie Kazak to hand the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 defeat Wednesday night. Cliff Chambers limited the Redbirds to six hits.

The Bucs in turn had just five safeties from the pitches of Red Mungler and Ken Johnson.

Danny Murtaugh walked to open the fifth. After Stan Murial made a diving catch of Stan Rokaj's line drive, Clyde McCullough grounded to Kazak who threw past first. Murtaugh went on around to score and when Steve Bilko threw to Kazak in an attempt to get McCullough, Kazak missed the ball, allowing the Pirate catcher to score.

The Pirates drew first blood in the game with a double by Ted Beard in the first inning and a single by Ralph Kiner, scoring Beard who had taken third on a ground ball play.

Kazak had a third error in the seventh when he fumbled Chambers' grounder but it led to no runs.

Pittsburgh added another run in the ninth on a single by Nanny Fernandez, a grounder by Murtaugh that Red Schoendienst fumbled, and walks to McCullough and Chambers.

Minor League President Suspended, Fined $1,000

COLUMBUS — The president of the El Paso, Tex., Arizona-Texas league baseball club was suspended indefinitely and fined $1,000 Wednesday for defying an order not to use an ineligible player plucked from the Mexican league.

But the club head, Jack Corbett, replied that he is being punished for something he did not do. Corbett said he took steps to make the player eligible before he inserted him in the starting lineup of Tuesday night's opening game.

Bradley Cage Star Reports Bribe Offer During Tournament

PEORIA, ILL. (AP) — Paul Unruh, all-American player on Bradley university's basketball team, said Wednesday he received a bribe offer in New York last month during the National Invitational tournament.

He said an unidentified man asked him in front of a New York hotel if he would like to "make some easy money."

He brushed off the fellow, went his way, and didn't mention it to Bradley officials because he didn't think it was important, he added.

Unruh, scoring ace on the Bradley team which was ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll during part of the season, first mentioned the bribe offer in a speech to a Church Dartball dinner in nearby Pekin, Ill., Tuesday night.

$500 for Two-Point Victory

He said the man offered to pay $100 if Bradley won a game by six points and $500 if it won by two points in any tournament game.

Unruh also told his audience: "It goes without saying that I turned down the money." He concluded:

"A very bad situation exists there (in New York) when it comes to gambling."

Reached by a reporter Unruh confirmed he made the statements, but said he had assumed he was not speaking for publication.

Unidentified Man

He said he received the bribe offer from an unidentified man outside the Paramount hotel in New York March 11 or 12, after the team arrived there and before it played any games in the National Invitational tournament.

Bardley beat Syracuse 78-66 and St. John's 83-72 in the NIT, before losing the title game to City College of New York 69-61. Later it lost in New York to CCNY 71-68 in the final game of the NCAA meet.

Hawkeye Linksmen Face Illini Saturday

Iowa's golf team, victor in its first two dual meets, opens the Big Ten dual meet schedule Saturday at Illinois.

The Hawkeyes defeated Bradley, 12-9, and powerful Notre Dame, 17-13, in non-conference competition.

Illinois opened its season Saturday by downing Washington University of St. Louis, 14-4. The Illini have four returning lettermen, headed by Capt. Dave Logan. Last year Iowa defeated Illinois, 15-12, at Iowa City.

Saturday's meet will be played on the new $250,000 18-hole course at Champaign. The course is laid out over 170-acres.

The six Hawkeyes named for the trip include Gene Slack, who has a 68 for the squad's low score this year; Willard (Skip) Carlson, William Ferguson, Lester Fields, Charles Kromer and Richard Miller.

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Defending champion Frank Stranahan shot his fourth — straight sub-par round Wednesday to defeat C.B. Dudley of Greenville, S.C., and sweep into the quarter finals of the 50th annual North and South amateur golf tournament.

Dodgers Edge Phillies, 7-5

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gil Hodges pounded out a home run, two doubles and a single Wednesday to lead the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 7-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phils.

Rookie Righthander Clarence Podbeilan survived a rocky start and went the distance in posting the defending National League champions' first triumph of the 1950 season. He was helped considerably by the Dodgers' 14-hit offensive.

The Phils jumped on Podbeilan for three runs in the first inning but after that the recruit from Sherwood, Ore., showed plenty of moxie as he scattered seven hits the rest of the way.

Russ Meyer, a Dodger pest last year, opened for the Phils but left during a rally in the sixth trailing, 6-4.

The Dodgers nicked Meyer for single runs in each of the first two innings before lowering the boom with a three run blast in the fourth that Carl Furillo featured with a two run homer. Hodges drove home Brooklyn's final two runs with a double in the sixth and a home run in the ninth.

Podbeilan was rocked for a home run by Willie Jones in the eighth.

Brownies Surprise White Sox Again, 6-1

CHICAGO (AP) — The surprising St. Louis Browns backed up Dick Starr's five hit pitching against the Chicago White Sox here Wednesday with three home runs for a 6-1 victory.

Round trippers by Dick Kokos, Sherm Lollar and rookie Don Lenhardt, who also cashed a single and double for three hits, accounted for five of the Browns' six runs in their second straight win over the White Sox.

St. Louis slashed away at four Chicago pitchers for 11 hits as Bob Kuzava drew the loss, the home team's tenth straight — eight of them in exhibition play.

Kokos' homer followed Tom Upton's single in the first inning. Then came the only St. Louis run scored without benefit of a homer. Lollar singled in the second and scored on a combination of Frankie Gustine's sacrifice and Owen Friend's single.

Lollar hit for the circuit in the fourth behind Kuzava's walk to Ken Wood. Lenhardt tagged Bill Connelly for his home run in the seventh when his drive reached the left field second deck.

After pitching past eight straight batters, Starr walked Kuzava with two out in the third. Herb Adams and Dave Philley followed with singles to send Kuzava around in ruining Starr's shutout bid.

Grid 'Not So Clean,' Iowa Prof Declares

DALLAS (AP) — An Iowa university professor and one-time small college coach Wednesday said football is becoming a "not so clean" big business.

Dr. Charles H. McCloy of Iowa City said the lure of big money is changing college football from a sport into a competitive big business.

"And that business," he added, "is becoming not so clean."

"There isn't a bigtime coach today that will trust another around the corner."

Dr. McCloy, a research professor at Iowa, is attending the annual convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation here.

"Even the presidents and boards of regents are becoming wondrous at this business of getting a winning football team at certain questionable costs," McCloy said.

"If one school cheats, another has to cheat to keep up. One university alumni association in the Big Ten conference keeps a hotel room office for members to donate money to pay its football team members," he declared.

Thirty Applications Received for Job

Iowa Athletic Director Paul Brechler said Wednesday that the University of Iowa will have a new basketball coach "in the near future."

He declined to say just how soon that would be, but said that there will be no trans-continental trip to interview candidates such as was the case after Dr. Eddie Anderson resigned as Iowa's head football coach last Feb. 14.

Some Interviews Here

"I will say that we will interview some candidates here in Iowa City this time," Brechler added. With that he pointed to a thick folder on his desk, which he said contained the applications of some 30 applicants for the basketball job.

The position became vacated April 10 when the board in control of athletics decided not to renew the contract of Lawrence (Pops) Harrison, Hawkeye basketball coach since 1942.

In a prepared statement the board said Harrison would not be retained because of failure to conduct his classes satisfactorily and failure to regularly attend staff meetings. It was pointed out that Harrison's illness, which forced him to give up his coaching job for most of the 1949-50 season, had nothing to do with his release.

Brechler refuted the opinion of many persons that Bucky O'Connor, who took over for Harrison in January, was "in" as the next Iowa basketball coach.

Not Out and Dried

"Naturally he is one of the candidates," Brechler said, "but this is not a cut and dried affair as some people think it is. We're interested in getting the best man possible for the job and we shall look around until we find that person. He need not be from the university."

Brechler attended a meeting of the athletic board in Cedar Rapids Monday night, at which time a successor to Harrison was discussed.

Protection of Federal Secrets May Change Maragon Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal attorneys called a sudden reversal in the perjury trial of John Maragon Wednesday pending a decision on whether to drop a major charge in the four-count indictment or risk exposure of government secrets in open court.

The question centered on a 1946 episode in Maragon's affairs involving his relations with the Allied Molasses company.

That was the case in which President Truman's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, figured during the state's investigation last summer into the operations of "five percenters" — agents who get a fee, usually five percent, for helping business men in deals with the government.

Vaughan and Maragon used to be friends, and Maragon, a one-time Kansas City bootblack, once had a pass to the White House. Vaughan acknowledged at the senate inquiry that he might have phoned agriculture department officials on behalf of Allied Molasses which was having trouble with the department.

The firm had been accused of violating rationing regulations. Its molasses quota was suspended, and it was trying to get the suspension lifted when Vaughan allegedly intervened.

Two agriculture department officials testified they got telephone calls from Vaughan about the case. One of them, Herbert C. Hathorn, told the senate investigating committee that Vaughan got rough and threatened to get his job. Vaughan denied any such pressure tactics.

New York Traffic Jams As Officer Grins

NEW YORK (AP) — Traffic got into a hopeless snarl at First avenue and Ninth street Wednesday. But a passing police inspector only grinned and waved at the cop who was supposed to straighten it out.

The cop was Officer Martin Sheehy, 63. He didn't have a chance to blow his whistle and hold up his hand. The kids of Public School 122, and their parents and grandparents, were swarming all over him — pumping hands, slapping his back, planting kisses on his flushed cheek.

Sheehy has guarded the school crossing for most of his 36 years on the force. Last Dec. 15, a car ran him down. Wednesday, when he returned to his post, the east side neighborhood let him know in a dozen languages that he'd been missed.

A grandmother elbowed her way through the crowd of youngsters and planted a kiss on Sheehy's face. The officer's ruddy complexion went several shades redder.

Ingrid to Share Custody of Child

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ingrid Bergman and Dr. Peter Lindstrom called off their bitter tug-o-war for custody of their 12-year-old daughter, Pia, Wednesday by agreeing to joint legal custody.

Dr. Lindstrom will have her with him during the school year and Miss Bergman will take her during the first half of her summer vacation. Then she returns to her father for the last half of the summer.

Dr. Lindstrom's lawyer announced he will file immediately for a divorce from the beautiful movie queen, who got her own Mexican decree last February.

Attorneys for the actress and the brain surgeon reached an agreement Wednesday dividing custody of the little girl and reaching an agreeable division of their joint $250,000 estate.

TALENT HUNT
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House started a nationwide talent hunt Wednesday for men and women specially qualified for high government jobs which President Truman says are hard to fill.

Prof. Robeson Defines Loyalty for Optimists

The standardization of thought is the denial of free thought, Prof. George F. Robeson, SUI political science department, told Iowa City Optimist club members Wednesday.

Speaking on "Loyalty," Robeson said America's strength and vigor lies in a clash of ideas. He defined loyalty as "devotion to one's country."

The problem of loyalty is to get people of a nation to feel this devotion. The way to achieve loyalty, Robeson said, is to deserve it in terms of freedom, equality and economic security.

If our system promises and delivers these things to our people, he said, there is no need to worry that they will adopt or be intrigued by any other system. "But over — concern over loyalty makes us neurotic," Robeson said. We must be tolerant of unalloyed views — they may not be new, only new to us.

Robeson pointed out that the world is smaller — in point of time — than was the state of New York when the United States constitution was first framed.

He said there has been an evolution in loyalty throughout history. Loyalty was first to the community, then to the state and then to the national government.

Robeson said that in view of the new smallness of the world we should be thinking about a possible loyalty to a world state.

North Dakota Asks State of Emergency

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Gov. Fred Aandahl asked President Truman Wednesday to declare a state of emergency in flood-battered North Dakota.

He acted as the Red Cross sent more emergency workers to help flood sufferers in North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin and state agencies rushed evacuation equipment to hard-hit areas.

Swirling rivers rising toward their highest crests of the century swept over whole towns, washed out bridges and roads, stalled highway and rail traffic, isolated communities and farm homes and inundated thousands of acres of rich farmland.

Hardest hit were 18 scattered North Dakota counties and five western Minnesota counties bordering the Red river of the North. But flood waters also caused suffering and destruction in northeastern South Dakota and northern Wisconsin.

Speech Clinic Staffers To Attend Conference

Two SUI speech clinic faculty members will attend the three-day speech and hearing conference at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, which opens Thursday.

They are Prof. Wendell Johnson, director, and Prof. James Curtis Johnson said he will lead discussions Friday on "How to Talk to Your Child," and "How to Help Stutterers." Curtis will discuss "Speech training for Cleft Palate Children," and "How to Help Children With Articulation Problems" Thursday.

Junior High Poets Honored in Contest

Four junior high school students received honorable mention in the poetry contest of the National Poetry association, Instructor Ann McManus said Wednesday.

Dorothy Dvorsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dvorsky, 730 S. Summit street, received honorable mention for her poem entitled "Iowa."

Joan Dicker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Dicker, 436 Grant street, wrote "Snow Flakes," and Mary Ann Grolmus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Grolmus, route 2, wrote a poem titled "The Consoler."

A poem called "The Good, Green Hills of Earth" was written by George Davells, son of Mrs. Stella Davells, 113 E. Prentiss street. These poems will be published in a poetry anthology, Miss McManus said. A copy of the anthology will be sent to the Junior high school library.

SUI Medics Eligible For Borden Award

A $500 award will be presented by the Borden company foundation to a senior student in the SUI college of medicine who has performed meritorious undergraduate medical research.

Dr. W.W. Morris, assistant dean of student affairs in medicine and dentistry, said a committee from the SUI college of medicine will judge the research papers and select a winner if any entry merits the award.

The Borden award has been offered every year since 1945, but no SUI student has ever won it. Research submitted in previous years was not considered deserving, Morris said.

Papers must be submitted to the dean's office, 106 medical laboratories, by May 15. Dr. S.B. Barker, professor of physiology, will head the judging committee.

New Medicine, Terramycin, Cures 19 Different Diseases

BOSTON (AP) — The new medicine, terramycin, tried on its first 300 sick persons, has cured 19 different diseases.

This record was reported to the American College of Physicians Wednesday by Dr. Chester S. Keefer, Boston. It was compiled from records of doctors in various parts of the country.

Terramycin is the newest of the antibiotics. Penicillin was the first of these medicines. The newest is a relative of streptomycin, and it comes from a thread-shaped fungus.

In the first tests this new antibiotic seems to cover a wider range of diseases than penicillin. The 19 diseases are not all for which terramycin looks good. On the other hand, it is possible that the good record will not hold for all 19 when many cases have been treated.

Kills Some Viruses

Terramycin kills some types of germs which are resistant to penicillin. It kills equally well among the two great classes of germs, the gram-negative and the gram-positive. It kills some viruses also.

This new remedy was good for "primary A typical pneumonia," a disease which has not been highly fatal, but which there was no medicine. This pneumonia made people too weak to work for weeks or months.

Terramycin has quickly cured repalsing fever (brucellosis.) This is a widespread disease for which there was no medicine until the antibiotics were combined with other medicines in a one - two punch.

Other Diseases Treated

Numerous sore throats and tonsillitis were relieved. Peritonitis, erysipelas, kidney infection, breast abscesses, brain abscesses, gonorrhea and whooping cough were healed.

One case of subacute bacterial endocarditis, a formerly fatal heart trouble, was cured. Another was not.

Bronchitis, broncopneumonia, liver abscesses, scrub typhus fever, American murine typhus fever and shingles also were cured.

The medicine causes nausea in many patients, but this has not been serious.

Application Blanks Available for Jobs On Party Committee

Application blanks for positions on next year's central party committee can be obtained today at housing units or at the service desk in the Iowa Union.

Don Guthrie, A3, Iowa City, vice-president of the Union board and member of the central party selection committee, said applications are due by 5 p.m. April 28 at the Union desk.

Late applications will not be honored.

Chairman of the selection committee is Gaige Walters, A4, Harlan. The committee is composed of the executive committee of the Union board and student council.

The purpose of the central party committee is to plan and manage nine all - university parties plus additional parties and concerts, Guthrie said.

Each housing unit is invited to nominate three students: one freshman, one sophomore and one junior for the committee, Guthrie said.

These students should be from the colleges of liberal arts, commerce, engineering, nursing or pharmacy. A dental student three years out of high school can be nominated as a junior.

Any student wishing to nominate himself for a position on the committee must obtain 20 signatures of students in his class and submit them with his application.

Each student must list current and past campus activities, include a photograph and give a summary of reasons, including reforms or suggestions, for wanting to be on the central party committee.

Dean Stuit to Speak At Texas Conference

Dean Dewey B. Stuit, college of liberal arts, will speak Friday at a conference on problems of higher education at the University of Texas in Austin.

Stuit will speak on "Some Neglected Factors in the Selection and Counseling of Pre - Professional and Pre - Graduate Students," his secretary said.

Mother's Day Plans Include Original Play By Graduate Student

SUI's Mother's Day weekend activities, May 12 to 14, will include the production of an original play, "Capital Idea," written by Louis Gardemal, G. Lake Charles, La.

Carol Thurnau, A4, Elgin, Ill., co-chairman of the Mortar Board publicity committee, said Wednesday the play would be presented twice during that weekend.

The first performance will be given May 12 and the second May 13. Both shows will begin at 8 p.m.

Play a Satire

The play, Gardemal said, is a satire on social ambition in Washington, D.C.

Mortar Board, SUI's national senior women's honorary organization, is sponsoring the weekend activities.

Miss Thurnau said the May frolic informal dance will be held in the Iowa Union beginning at 9 p.m., May 12. SUI's "Representative Mother" will be honored at the dance.

A mother - son - daughter luncheon will be given on May 13 in the River room of the Iowa Union. Tickets will be $1.

Mortar Board Tapping

New Mortar Board members will be tapped at a program on the west approach to Old Capitol at 2 p.m., May 13, Miss Thurnau said. The program will be held in the Iowa Union in case of rain.

Mrs. Virgil Hancher, wife of SUI's president, will give a tea in her home, 102 Church street, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. on May 14, Miss Thurnau said.

Tours of radio station WSUI and the SUI fine arts building have been planned, she said. The Iowa City craft guild also is planning an exhibit of their work.

2 Nurses to Attend Operating Institute

Two faculty members of the SUI college of nursing will participate today in an institute in Cedar Rapids on teaching operating room nursing.

Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell will discuss applications of educational psychology to the teaching of operating room nursing, and Prof. Amy Frances Brown, coordinator of medical - surgical nursing, will give an evaluation of student performance.

Held at the Mercy hospital school of nursing, the institute will be sponsored by the Iowa State League of Nursing Education committee on curriculum. Co-chairmen will be Miss Brown and Sister Mary Loyola of the Mercy hospital school of nursing in Cedar Rapids.

Also attending from Iowa City will be Mrs. Nylene Awbrey, assistant instructor in operating room techniques at the Iowa City Mercy hospital school of nursing, according to the director, Sister May Brigid.

Representatives have been invited from all accredited schools and colleges of nursing in Iowa, and from some Illinois schools, Miss Brown said.
