Seydel Asks $12,500 in Suit Against SUI Student Attacker

A $12,500 personal damage suit was filed Thursday against former SUI student Geoffrey L. Hess, 214 N. Dubuque street, for injuries he allegedly inflicted on Robert Seydel, 618 E. Jefferson street, last Sunday.

Seydel was injured at the D and L restaurant, 10 N. Dubuque street, when, witnesses said, Hess smashed a water glass on a counter and struck Seydel in the face at least twice with the jagged glass.

The suit was entered in Johnson county court by the 18-year-old high school youth's father, William E. Seydel. The law firm of Messer, Hamilton, Cahill and Bartley is representing Seydel.

Withdraw Registration
The suit requests $12,000 for permanent damages and $500 for doctor and hospital expenses.

Hess, 22, an SUI freshman voluntarily withdrew his registration from the university Tuesday.

Atty. Clair Hamilton requested a writ of attachment Thursday for the amount of the suit against Hess' Iowa City property, Hamilton said.

Hess is the heir by will to one-third of the property in the estate of his deceased grandfather, Lincoln Hess, which is valued at about $45,000, Hamilton said.

Hess Free on Bond
Legal action on the will is expected to be closed in Johnson county court today, the attorney added.

Hess is free on $2,500 bond. Police Judge Emil G. Tortt bound Hess over to the Johnson county grand jury after Hess' attorney, William J. Hayek, posted the bond and waived preliminary hearing on a charge of assault with intent to maim.

Hayek, who also is the executor of the Hess estate, said Hess would plead "not guilty" to the charge.

The civil damages case is expected to go to court in September, Hamilton said.

CIO Ends Strike At Pittsburgh Plant

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The CIO union steelworkers Thursday suddenly called off a seven-hour strike which closed the sprawling Homestead works of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation.

Maintenance workers — the plant has 2,500 of them — forced the shutdown to enforce demands for a guarantee of five days work weekly and back pay for the time lost since they went on a reduced work schedule last July.

The executive board of the plant's steelworker local 1397 voted eight to seven for the men to get back on the job. A union spokesman said the strike was disproved by union international headquarters.

Expect Sander to Lose Academy Membership

KANSAS CITY, MO. (AP) — The membership of Dr. Hermann N. Sander in the American Academy of General Practice will have to be suspended under the organization's bylaws, Mace F. Cahal, general counsel and executive secretary, said Thursday.

The academy, now about two years old, has no precedent in its files to cover the case of Dr. Sander.

Cahal said no formal action has been taken.

Science Conference to Start Here Today

The Iowa Academy of Science will hold its 62nd annual conference at SUI today and Saturday.

Prof. Norman C. Meier, psychology department, chairman of the local Academy of Science committee, estimated that approximately 800 scientists from throughout the state would attend the two-day conference.

One of the main features of the conference will be a public address tonight by Prof. Alfred E. Emerson of the University of Chicago.

He will speak on "Evolution of Animal and Human Societies" at 8:15 p.m. in the chemistry building auditorium.

He is recognized as an eminent biologist and an authority on his subject. He has conducted field studies in Central and South America and in the Belgian Congo.

Meier said, Emerson has been specially invited to attend the conference, Meier said.

The conference will be divided into eight sections, representing eight different areas of science. Each section will hold two separate meetings for the presentation of scientific papers on subjects in the area represented by the section.

The eight sections include botany, inorganic and physical chemistry, organic and biological chemistry, geology, mathematics, physics, psychology and zoology.

SUI Publication Positions Open For Application

Applications for the positions of editor and business manager of The Daily Iowan, of Frivol and of Hawkeye are now being accepted, the board of student publications, announced Thursday.

Candidates for Frivol and Hawkeye positions must file their applications with Lorie M. Randall, secretary of the board, in room N2, East hall by May 1.

Appointments to these posts will be made May 8, the board said. The Daily Iowan applications must be filed in the same office by May 8.

The Daily Iowan editor and business manager will be named May 15.

Eligibility Requirements
Only students who will be seniors during the summer term or fall semester are eligible to become Hawkeye editor.

Candidates for all publications posts must have had experience on the publications for which they apply, must have demonstrated executive ability and must have good scholastic standing at SUI.

The written applications should include proof of good scholastic standing, the board said.

The board of trustees will consider applications, interview the applicants and then vote for the persons to take over the positions.

Board Members
Members of the board of trustees are: Prof. Leslie G. Motter, director of the school of journalism; Prof. Wendell Smith, college of commerce; Dr. George S. Easton, director of the dental information; Prof. Mason Ladd, dean of the college of law.

Lloyd Jackson, A3, Iowa City; Anne Smith, A4, Galesburg, Ill.; Don Guthrie, A3, Iowa City; Richard Dice, A4, Marion, and Max Sowers, A3, Ames.

Seek to Include Germany in Pact

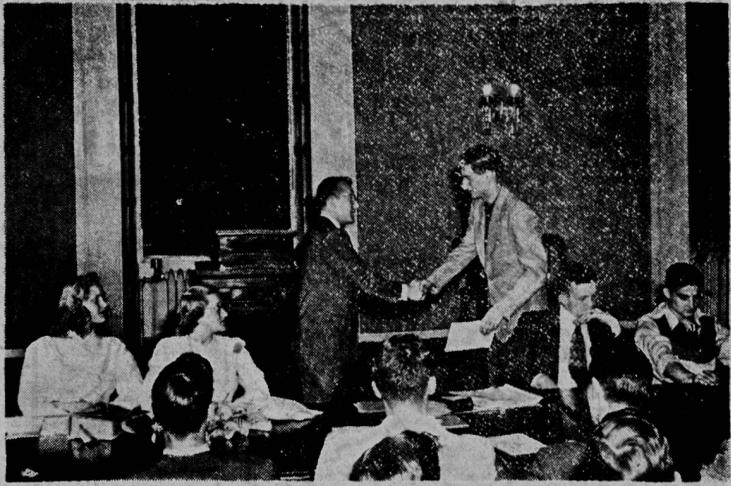

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — Informed sources said Thursday that the United States will seek a formula to include Germany under the protection of the Atlantic pact.

The effort to secure Europe's acceptance of the idea will be made at the meeting of United States, British and French foreign ministers in London on May 8. Ministers of the Atlantic pact nations will get together after the big three meeting.

Informants said the effort will be made for two purposes:

1. To integrate Western Germany with Western Europe to the maximum degree;

2. To give Western Germany the security guarantees she is demanding against possible Soviet aggression.

Student Gets Congratulations for Job Well Done

Ruling Won't Affect City for a Month, Postmaster Says

The new federal postal ruling which calls for one-a-day residential mail deliveries probably won't go into effect in Iowa City until late May or early June, Asst. Postmaster J. P. Soucek said Thursday.

Soucek said that official notification of the new ruling had been received at the Iowa City postoffice.

Open Saturdays
Soucek said the Iowa City postoffice will be open until 12 p.m. on Saturdays, despite previous reports from Washington, D. C., that offices would be closed all day Saturday.

The measure, designed to cut down the huge postal department deficit, also may affect postal personnel. Soucek said he expected "temporaries or indefinite war service employees" would be laid off under the ruling.

Handling Restrictions
Other provisions of the law include restrictions on the handling of specific types of mail.

All types of mail will be handled between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., Soucek said. Between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m., however, only first class, airmail, newspapers and parcel post will be handled.

Soucek said the ruling will involve "rearrangement of routes to conform to a one-delivery-a-day pattern." Postal employees now work on a two-delivery, eight-hour daily schedule.

Czechs Plead Guilty To Spying for U.S.

PRAGUE (AP) — All six defendants in one of Czechoslovakia's biggest public trials since the Communists came to power pleaded guilty Thursday to high treason and spying for the United States.

The trial opened Wednesday at the grim Pankrac prison and court building on the outskirts of Prague. It will end Saturday when sentences are handed down.

meeting at 6:30 p.m. today. Reservations for the dinner will be accepted at the headquarters desk on the second floor in Old Capitol until noon today. The dinner will be held in the River room of the Iowa Union.

Prof. L.R. Ford of the Illinois Institute of Technology will address the mathematics section of the conference.

The psychology section will feature a program in clinical psychology by Dr. Samuel J. Beck of the Michael Reese hospital, Chicago, Ill.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will open the conference at 10:30 a.m. today with a welcoming address.

Following Hancher's address, Prof. J.B. Culbertson, president of the society and head of the chemistry department at Cornell college, will give an address on "Some Social Implications of Science." Culbertson also will preside over all general session of the conference.

In conjunction with the conference, the Junior Academy of Science will hold its annual 17th annual convention today and Saturday. Meetings of the junior society will be held in the Iowa City high school auditorium.

Whitesell Elected Council Head Amidst Charges of 'Pressure'

Jack Whitesell, L1, Davenport, Law Commons representative, Thursday was elected president of the SUI student council for the 1950-51 academic year.

The new council officially took office Thursday night in a joint meeting with the retiring student council.

After four members were nominated for the presidency, Florence Schuck, A2, West Point, told the council she had experienced "political pressure" during the past few days by members trying to get their candidates elected to officer positions on the council.

Miss Schuck, Currier representative, emphasized that the members should "vote individually." She urged the new council members not to be influenced by the "pressure."

Admits Soliciting Votes
Don Callahan, L1, Dubuque, not a member of the council, but who attended the meeting, asked the council what was wrong with "pressure." He admitted he had done so because he believed his candidate (Whitesell) was a good choice.

George Vuicich, A4, Chisholm, Minn., said, "I was interested in Whitesell because he was interested in the presidency. I contacted him. He did not contact me."

Other council members elected were Louise Bekman, A2, Ottumwa, vice-president; Miss Schuck, secretary, and Dick Turney, A2, Oelwein, treasurer.

Outlines Procedure
Before the election of officers, retiring Pres. Richard Dice, A4, Marion, outlined the procedure of the council, explained in a 22-page report.

Dean of Students Walter R. Goetsch told the new council he believed the biggest difficulty faced by the council members was their coming to meetings unprepared to discuss the issues at hand.

He recommended a docket procedure whereby issues would be mentioned one meeting before consideration.

Evan B. (Curly) Hultman, L1, Waterloo, a past-president of the council, told new members the council should not try to run the university, but should assist SUI as a voice of the student body.

Eleven Injured in Fight At West Virginia Mine

MORGANTOWN, W. VA. (AP) — Eleven men were wounded Thursday when a quarrel between union pickets and operators of a small non-union mine over organization of the pit broke into open gunfire.

State police arrested Asa Province, owner of the mine and seven of his employees and partners, and seized three of the four weapons allegedly used in the barrage. Two were shotguns and the other a high-powered rifle.

He Just Didn't Use His Head

RACINE, WIS. (AP) — A defendant lost his temper and began berating the judge. Attorney J. Lester Johnson rapped his client's shins as a hint to cease and desist. He got no response. He kicked harder. The prisoner talked on.

Later, Johnson demanded to know why his warning was ignored. "That's simple," said the defendant, "that was my wooden leg."

Sen. McCarthy Claims He Is Misunderstood

Budenz Calls Lattimore Red 'Cell' Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — Louis F. Budenz, former Communist leader, swore Thursday that Owen Lattimore was a member of a "Communist cell" and helped betray China to the Reds, but a onetime U.S. military intelligence officer scoffed at such charges.

Brig. Gen. Elliott R. Thorpe, who was Gen. Douglas MacArthur's counter-intelligence chief during World War II, said he had investigated Lattimore three times and he declared:

"My strong conviction, based on careful examination, is that Owen Lattimore is a loyal American citizen and is in no way an agent of the Communist party nor of the U.S.S.R."

Budenz left the stand amid a burst of applause. He had been called at the request of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R - Wis) who has charged that the state department is infested with Reds and who has called Lattimore, one-time department consultant, the top Soviet spy in this country.

Budenz' testimony included:

1. An assertion that Soviet Dictator Stalin's chief aim is "to conquer the U.S."

2. A promise to give the senate committee, headed by Chairman Millard Tydings (D - Md), a list of federal employees "I know to be Communists" within two weeks.

Russians Demand Trieste Settlement

LONDON (FRIDAY) (AP) — Russia has told the United States, Britain and France that a government must be set up immediately for the free territory of Trieste and foreign troops withdrawn, the Moscow radio said today.

In a note handed to diplomats of the three western powers in Moscow Thursday night, the Soviet union charged that the United States, Britain and France had broken the Italian peace treaty by their failure to get foreign troops out of Trieste.

The note called for withdrawal of American and British troops now in Trieste and the elimination of what it terms the "illegal Anglo-American naval base" there.

New Housing Bill Cuts FHA Interest Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top interest rate on new federal housing administration home mortgages will be cut to 4 1/2 percent — a 1/4 of one percent drop — effective with applications received Monday.

This was announced Thursday night shortly after President Truman signed without comment a bill providing for an expansion of nearly $4-billion in the federal housing program.

LOUIS F. BUDENZ Testifies at hearing

Iowa Bar President To Talk at Supreme Court Day Banquet

William Riley, Des Moines, Iowa Bar association president, will speak at the annual Supreme Court day banquet Thursday night at the Iowa Union.

Dick Schlegel, L3, Iowa City, president of the Law Students association, said Thursday that visiting members of the Iowa supreme court will be honored all day Thursday by the SUI college of law.

The main part of the program will be held in the afternoon when the supreme court justices will hear arguments by law students who have won in junior class argument competition.

Besides the arguments and the banquet, there will be an initiation into Coif, an order for law seniors of high scholastic standing, Schlegel said.

The first number of the "Iowa Law Rebuttle," law college humor magazine, will be distributed sometime during the day, he said.

The Supreme Court day schedule is as follows:

10:30 a.m. — Coif initiation in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Noon — Coif luncheon for initiates.

2:30 p.m. — Supreme Court day arguments.

6 p.m. — Banquet in the main lounge, Iowa Union.

Ellis Pleads Innocent; Trial Set for May 15

DES MOINES (AP) — Tommy Ellis, 17, a soldier from Fort Riley, Kan., pleaded innocent Thursday to a charge of slaying an elderly Des Moines widow in a $5 robbery last Feb. 4.

He entered the plea after District Judge Loy Ladd denied a defense request for a sanity hearing. Ellis' trial was set for May 15, and he remained in county jail without bond.

A Des Moines child guidance center report showed the boy was sane when he was examined last week.

Been Branded An 'S.O.B.' He Declares

From the Wire Services
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R - Wis) declared Thursday night that because he "challenged the Communists and their agents in the U.S." he "automatically became a revolving s.o.b."

(As defined in an old joke, a "revolving s.o.b." is "an s.o.b. any way you look at him.")

In a speech prepared for delivery to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, McCarthy said:

Rakes "Phony Liberals"
"I knew it would be thus — that vilification, smear and falsehoods would follow, peddled by the Reds, their minions and the egg-sucking phony liberals who litter Washington with their persons and clutter American thinking with their simple-minded arguments."

McCarthy told the editors that some of those of whom he spoke "write columns for your newspapers" and he said: "It is your privilege to buy them; mine to ignore them."

McCarthy's speech to the newspaper group was drafted against the background of Tuesday's testimony by former Communist Louis Budenz at the senate inquiry into McCarthy's charges that Communists and Red sympathizers have infested the state department.

Rips into Marshall
In another blast, McCarthy termed former Secretary of State George C. Marshall "a pathetic thing... completely unfit" to have held that high post.

He said it had been "a crime" to place Marshall in charge of persons like John Stewart Service and Owen Lattimore — two of the persons McCarthy has charged with influencing state department policy along Communist lines.

Reds Claim Gains In Hainan Invasion

HONG KONG (AP) — Peking radio said Thursday that Communist troops stormed ashore at four beachheads on Hainan island and "broke through line after line" of Nationalist defenses to establish two strong positions inland.

Telephone reports from Hainan Thursday afternoon said Nationalists had been unable to erase the beachhead and that the air force was concentrating on the operations to prevent 3,000 to 4,000 guerrillas from reinforcing the Red troops.

Pro-Nationalist dispatches here said the Communists were being punished by a heavy artillery barrage and that it was believed Red Gen. Lin Piao was making desperate attempts to get more reinforcements through the air and naval blockade of 10-mile-wide Hainan strait.

Kerr Bill: Key Issue —

President Truman's veto of the Kerr natural gas bill climaxed one of the most outlandish bits of legislative leger demain in recent congressional history.

It's quite possible, however, that Mr. Truman's bag of tricks will prove his undoing in this instance. For, unless he manages to uncrack a miracle comparable to his 1948 election feat, the President now is in a position of having to defend himself, not only against Republicans but against members of his own party.

The Kerr bill, which would have exempted independent producers of natural gas from price regulation by the federal power commission, was passed by narrow majorities in both houses of congress earlier this month. The bill slipped by the senate on a 44-38 vote, and cleared the house, 176-172.

The vote could hardly be said to have reflected any party alignments. In the senate the bill was carried mainly by the Democrats, whereas in the house the bill rode a Republican pony.

But the bill claimed among its most zealous retainers a large segment of Truman Democrats. The bill's sponsor, Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) is owed a substantial debt of gratitude by the Democratic party. House Speaker Sam Rayburn, a staunch Fair Dealer personally took the floor in debate and plumped for the measure.

The President's veto flew in the face of these kinsmen and quite naturally they are not shouting "hosanna" because of it. We may well ask what motive the President could have had in deliberately alienating key members of his own party. Mr. Truman justified his veto by charging the measure was "not in the national interest" but he did not explain why he blew a whistle on his own colleagues without some effort at appeasement.

What seems to have happened is quite clear, however: Mr. Truman simply failed to provide the leadership in this instance which has characterized most of his other relations with congress.

The complete lack of party unity and cohesion on the issue revealed indecision on the part of Democratic leaders in congress as to what the party line should have been. Mr. Truman, on vacation in Florida, maintained a strict silence which had his lieutenant in congress baffled.

Because of this indecision, party ranks split wide open. Speaker Rayburn attempted to take the helm, and did succeed in mustering house Democrats to the Kerr standard. But, once the bill passed, it ran smack into presidential "sleeper" veto.

Had Mr. Truman confided in his leaders the stand he wished taken on the issue, the Kerr bill fiasco might have been averted. As it is, the President's labeling the 80th congress a "do-nothing" congress rings somewhat hollow when the Democratic 81st congress, with its own threadbare legislative record, encounters presidential vetoes on the few laws it does pass.

Student Council Highlights —

In a final report to the Student Council Thursday night, outgoing President Dick Dice struck the tone of difficulties confronting all student groups.

Said Dice: "It is my belief that the Student Council will be more effective when it has some actual authority. I think that this is one of the fundamental misunderstandings of present student government by the administration."

"It is my belief that the Student Council can assume but limited responsibility for student action without some type of authority."

It is always an uphill battle for any group, in or out of the academic sphere, to gain authority unless the group seeking authority demonstrates mature judgment.

Even with mature judgment authority-granting organizations are reluctant to dole out authority because of the transient leadership, peculiar to university groups.

Dice also said, "Another problem which has pressed the council, but never been accentuated, is the historical ambiguity of the council's position in relation to other groups."

"These other groups have grown up and secured a foothold on campus long before the present council was organized. Suddenly, a student council, or an overall student governing body was initiated. These other groups feel their autonomy, although the feeling is subsiding; they are jealous of this autonomy."

At SUI, there are many student groups. The difficulty arises in defining clearly what organization operates in what area.

There is no ready-made solution to the conflicts of jurisdiction, but some attempt should be made to bring order out of the duplication of effort we now have.

A different system of representation on the Student Council, or on the recognized top student body, should be made.

If heads of various campus groups were given seats on the council, there could be no dispute over the recognized student governing body. The student presidents would be the real Student Council.

Another restriction on current student groups is the difficulty in coordinating the several segments of student activity.

As Dice points out, however, "Cooperation with other members of the university community doesn't mean to rubber stamp all actions of the faculty or administration."

If the Student Council were representative of all student interests, it could speak authoritatively for student opinion.

Then, when situations arise where student opinion is looked for, the council could applaud or criticize with the full support of the student body.

It is in this area of jurisdiction, where the new Student Council can perform its greatest service.

House Calendar Serves as 'Conscience'

By THE CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON — On the first and third Tuesday of every month the house of representatives sits as a "court of last resort" to aid those who seek justice tempered with mercy.

These are the days set aside for consideration of the private calendar, a legislative agenda which mirrors the hopes and tragedies of people who look beyond the letter of the law for help.

Rep. Sidney R. Yates of Illinois, calls it "the conscience of congress." He said it was an acknowledgment that "there are many situations where the undeviating rigidity of a law may result in cruel and harsh consequences."

When Viktor Kravchenko, author of the best - seller, "Chosen Freedom," broke with the Communists, he sought asylum in this country as a Russian refugee.

Deportation would have meant his death. Congress came to his aid and passed a private law authorizing him to remain here and become an American citizen.

The perplexing case of Ellen Knauft, a German war bride of an American combat veteran, is another problem weighing on the conscience of congress. Immigration authorities wanted to deport her without a hearing. A private bill introduced by a congressman halted her deportation.

Recently, the house approved a private bill for the "relief of Abe Lincoln." This Abe Lincoln is a New Mexican Indian.

He and his wife were trying to collect some money owed them by the government. The strict letter of the law was not on their side. Their case was just, however, and the house voted them $1,413.

In San Mateo, Calif., an American couple waited for congress to take steps to permit them to adopt a Danish orphan.

Their own son had died under tragic circumstances at the age of four. Heartbroken, they sought to adopt the Danish youth.

Under the quota laws, the youth would have to wait for years before he could enter. Their congressman succeeded in getting the green light on the adoption.

All over the world, men and women wait for "the conscience of congress" to act.

In Chicago, 67-year-old Oscar Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion of the world, waits for the veterans' administration to act on his plea for a Spanish-American war pension. On the ropes financially, Nelson has friends in congress who are willing to step in and obtain a pension for him through a private bill if the VA rejects his plea.

They claim that ample proof exists that Nelson served in the war of 1898.

Recently, blame Washington was charged by the arrival of Mitsue Shigeno from Tokyo. It took a special act of congress to enable her to come here to marry Carroll Klotzbach, her American sweetheart.

Klotzbach met her while she was a waitress and he was American director of a horticultural project in Japan. President Truman signed the private bill admitting her on Valentine's Day.

Not marriage, but death, awaits an anti - Communist Chinese actor who came to this country in 1949 if congress does not come to his aid.

The Communists swept over his city while he was in Washington. Deportation means certain death. His fate is now in congress' hands.

The fate of many others, at home and abroad, rests also with congress when it sits as a "court of last resort" to consider the private calendar.

Planes Add Fuel to Cold War

shot down over Yugoslavia in 1946 and Yugoslavia appeared reluctant to release survivors or accept responsibility, the U.S. delivered a 48 - hour ultimatum threatening United Nations action.

Yugoslavia came across. That same year Communist-ruled Albania denied responsibility for the mining of two British destroyers off Corfu, countering that the British ships were violating Albanian waters. Britain appealed to the international court of justice, a United Nations subsidiary, and won damages. Common usage regarding the waters involved played an important part in that action.

Census Takers Count 'Down-&-Outers,' Too

By UNITED PRESS

The down and out fellows who "don't count" have been counted by Uncle Sam in the census and may be a little better off because of it.

A specially chosen group of 90 husky men moved in on the skid rows of the nation last week and counted the bums, drunks and transients living in them.

Many were drunk, some were sober and all were hungry, but a Salvation Army captain said most were pleased.

"Being counted by the census taker lifts men up," Captain Tom Crocker of Chicago said. "It reminds them that they still are individuals and a part of the government, and God knows, they need lifting up."

Crocker helped the census takers count the men who live in and around the 37 flophouses in the Madison street area. Some men wanted to be counted twice, but he gently pushed them out of line.

The story was the same in New York's Bowery and Detroit's Michigan avenue.

Some of the Bowery's homeless greeted the counters with howls of derision or sullen silence. The enumerators did their work "by observation" instead of the usual system.

Most of the tramps took the counting in good spirits however and many interviews started off with "Want a drink, pal?"

Occupations listed included laborers, freight handlers and "no occupation." But there were also former bankers, former college professors and former doctors.

Education ranged from none to doctor of philosophy.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH E. HADLEY, Andover, Mass., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Grace, 23 N. Dubuque street, to Richard V. MacMillan, E3, Piermont, N.Y. The bride-elect was graduated from the University of Wisconsin and received her M.A. from Chicago Theological seminary. She is director of student activities at the Congregational church here and is affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi social sorority. Mr. MacMillan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. MacMillan, Piermont, N.Y., and is affiliated with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The wedding date has been set for May 26 in the Little Chapel of the Congregational church.

Local Housewife Recalls Japanese Foods, Rituals

Japanese dishes are a favorite with Mrs. Jack Hinman, 121 McClure avenue. The reason she and her husband, Col. Hinman, spent two years in Japan while he was stationed at Yokohama.

Mrs. Hinman attended many colorful Japanese events and recalls particularly the "cherry viewing picnic."

"Except for the New Year's festival, the cherry festival season is the most extensive Japanese holiday," she explained.

Towns Display Trees
The cherry festival is celebrated between the first and twelfth of April. Each town displays lanes of cherry trees along the main streets, up and down the river banks and around temples and shrines.

"Food is put up in 'bentos' or lunch boxes for these picnics," Mrs. Hinman said. "At one such picnic, the bento contained fried chicken, beef, squid, brussel sprouts and young ginger and bamboo shoots," she said.

Typical of entertainment enjoyed by the Hinmans was the tea ceremony. Originally, Mrs. Hinman explained, the ceremonial was an outgrowth of the Buddhist desire to withdraw from the world and place emphasis on the spiritual aspect of life.

Most of the ceremonies are conducted in a special room dedicated to the ritual.

Kneel on Pillows
Participants kneel on pillows called "tatamats" which are placed on the floor.

Local Church Plans For 'College Sunday'

"College Sunday" will be observed at the First Congregational church, 30 N. Clinton street, Sunday, Grace Hadley, Congregational student director, said Thursday.

The purpose of "College Sunday" is to let church members know what kind of a student program is being carried on in the various church student centers, Miss Hadley said.

Prof. Robert Michelson of the SUI school of religion will give the sermon, "Loyalty and Learning" at the worship service, and Scott Libby, A3, Fort Dodge, will lead the service.

At 5:30 p.m. a buffet supper will be served at the church. Installation of the newly elected United Student fellowship officers will be held after the supper, she said.

'Y' Boone Confab Set for May 5-7

The annual YWCA - YMCA Boone conference will be held May 5 through 7 at the YWCA camp at Boone.

Ann Klingner, G, Chanute, Kan., YWCA office manager, said anyone interested in attending the conference should register before April 28 at the YWCA or the YMCA office.

The purpose of the conference is to discuss Y work in the United States, Miss Klingner said.

Highlight of the conference will be a discussion of the student Christian movement and student leadership. Speakers will be Frances Mains, student secretary of the Geneva region; William Overholt, north central area student executive secretary, and Harold Calvin, Geneva region executive secretary.

SUI Student Weds In Double-Ring Rites

SUI Student Helen Elizabeth Murchison, A3, Sidney, was married to Clinton E. Thomas, former SUI student, April 7 in the Des Moines Central Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Alvin Morris officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Murchison, Sidney. Mr. Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Thomas, 1904 F street, Iowa City.

Wedding attendants were Betty-mae Corwin, former SUI student, and Donald Ketelesen, both from Anamosa.

The couple is residing at 1105 Keokuk street.

Dean's Daughter Picked For Work in Sweden

Ursula Dawson, A3, Iowa City, daughter of Dean F.M. Dawson of the SUI college of engineering, will be one of about 70 volunteers who will go abroad this summer to attend international work camps.

Miss Dawson is being sent to Sweden by the American Friends Service committee, Lewis Hoskins, executive secretary of the organization in Philadelphia, said Thursday.

She has spent two previous summers working for the service committee. In 1948 she went to a work camp in Mexico, and last summer she worked at the Overbrook Essex county mental hospital in New Jersey.

Hospital Social Worker Leaves for Atlantic City

Mary M. Maxwell, director of the social service department at University hospitals, left Thursday for Atlantic City, N.J., where she will attend meetings of the Executive committee of the American Association of Medical Social workers today and Saturday.

She also will attend the National Conference of Social Work and meetings of board members of the six professional associations concerned with practice and education in social work.

Miss Maxwell is vice-chairman of the health section of the National Conference of Social Work.

Housewives Urged to Try Rice for Enlivened Menus

National Rice week from April 23 to 29 will give housewives an opportunity to enliven menus and acquaint the family with rice.

Governors of rice producing states are emphasizing the importance of the rice industry to the economy of the entire nation, the nutritional qualities of rice and dishes which can be made from this food.

In the files of Rice Consumer Service, Louisville, Ky., are 1,890 recipes for various methods of preparing rice. For example, such recipes might combine rice with chicken or meat.

Cuban Rice Dish

An easy to serve recipe is a Cuban rice dish called "Picadillo." It is said to have originated in Cuba where flavors of garlic, onion and raisins are often combined in meat dishes.

The success of the dish depends largely on the proper preparation of the rice.

Picadillo

- 1 1/2 cloves garlic
- 1 onion
- 1/2 green pepper
- 2 tablespoons lard or other shortening
- 1 No. 2 1/2 can tomatoes or 5 fresh tomatoes (drain off juice if canned tomatoes are used)
- 1/2 tablespoon salt
- Cayenne pepper to taste
- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1/2 pound pork
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons olives
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1 tablespoon capers (optional)
- 2 cups raw rice

Fluffy Tender Rice

To prepare the fluffy white rice, put two cups of white rice, two teaspoons salt and four cups of cold water in a large saucepan. Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. During this time the rice will absorb the water and come out deliciously tender. Remove the lid to permit the rice to steam dry. Lift rice with a fork to test its consistency.

Never stir rice while cooking—the grains will be separate and tender. This produces very firm rice grains. If you prefer more tender grains, use 1-3 cup additional water for each cup of rice used and increase your slow cooking period four or five minutes.

Rice topping is prepared by first chopping the garlic, onion and green pepper very fine. Fry them in part of the lard. Add chopped tomatoes, salt and pepper. Cook this mixture, known as "sofrito," over medium heat for 20 minutes. Add the meat and stir to break into small bits. Add the remaining lard and other ingredients. Cook over low heat for one hour, stirring occasionally. Add salt if desired. Serve hot, over fluffy white rice. This will serve four or five persons.

Sabin School Pupils Make Soap in Class

Henry Sabin third graders are trying a little soft soap this week and making it themselves, according to Instructor Lynne Forward.

The pupils pour water over wood ashes to make lye. When the lye eats the down off a feather, it is ready to use, Miss Forward said.

Fat is boiled with the lye until the mixture somewhat hardens, and then it is poured into pans for molding. While cooking, the soap gives off a strong, unpleasant odor.

Resulting bars of soap are a brownish color and far from fragrant, but help students to understand some of the details of pioneer life, Miss Forward said.

Art Guild to Screen Russ Film Saturday

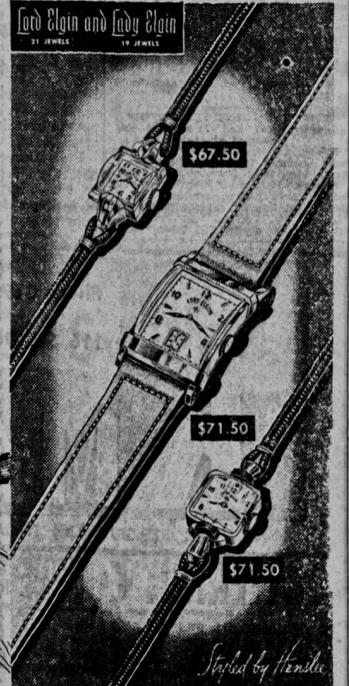

Two showings of the Russian film, "End of St. Petersburg," will be sponsored by the art guild at 4:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday in the art auditorium.

Milton Levey, G, Flint, Mich., vice - president of the guild, called the silent film "one of the great Russian epics" of 1927.

Included in the program will be technical short on Henry Moore, contemporary English sculptor.

Tickets can be obtained at the door for 40 cents.

X-Rays Detect TB Early

University Hospitals Use Miniature Films Of Chest to Screen Incoming Patients

By MARY QUALLEY

An X-ray machine for taking miniature films of the chest is helping detect early cases of tuberculosis, cancer and heart disease at University hospitals.

All patients who entered the hospital or the out-patient departments since the service started last July have had a routine chest X-ray.

Under the direction of Dr. S. A. Forbes, the service is a cooperative project of University hospitals and the Iowa Tuberculosis association.

Technicians find they can survey the large number of patients rapidly because the equipment is compact and X-rays are taken rapidly.

To simplify filing thousands of individual films, miniature X-ray film measuring 4 by 10 inches is used. A regular X-ray film is 14 by 17 inches.

Economical Examinations
An examination with miniature film costs approximately one-sixth as much as one using regular film.

By Jan. 1, 1950 the radiology department had made 11,600 chest examinations under the routine service, and expects to complete 24,000 miniature films by the end of the first year, Forbes said.

During the first six months, 72 cases of tuberculosis were discovered, Forbes said. All of the patients were given further study and those suspected of having an active form of the disease were hospitalized. Eight of the 72 patients were SUI students.

The films are "read" as they are developed. A report of the radiologist's findings is sent to the hospital ward or out-patient department with recommendations for further X-ray examination if necessary.

Study Chest Conditions
A record of this information is sent to the SUI statistical service. There it is transferred to an international business machine (IBM) card.

After June 30, when the chest film survey will have been in operation for a year, the statistical service will make a study of the occurrence of chest conditions, Forbes said.

The survey is essentially a screening process. It is not ordinarily recommended for X-raying chests of obviously sick individuals, and is not a substitute for the detailed examination given a patient who has a specific disease, he said.

Although detecting tuberculosis is one of the most important aspects of the X-ray service from a public health standpoint, the method also may uncover numerous other abnormalities of the chest, Forbes said. Often these conditions are unsuspected by the patient.

Former ROTC Men Enroll at Ft. Benning

Two SUI 1949 graduates, one a former cadet colonel and the other a cadet major in ROTC here, are now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., taking a six-month basic infantry course, SUI military department officials said Thursday.

Lt. Robert Berens, the 1949 cadet colonel, and Lt. Fritz Haesemeyer, a cadet major in the SUI ROTC unit, are taking the special course open only to regular army officers.

Berens and Haesemeyer both received regular army commissions upon graduation from SUI. Military department officials said persons receiving regular army commissions this year will take a two-year tour of duty with troops in the field before they may attend any army schools.

Military Instructor Joins SUI Medical Division

Sgt. Frank Glascock, new instructor in the SUI military department, started his teaching duties in the medical division this week, military department officials said Friday.

Glascock, whose home is in Harrisburg, Ill., served two tours of duty in Japan since the end of the war. His last tour was with the 161st Station Hospital on the island of Hokkaido.

His wife and two children accompanied him on both tours. A son, Charles, 9, and his wife also came to Iowa City with the sergeant. A daughter, Joanne, 14, remained in Harrisburg where she attends high school.

Lutherans to Hold 2nd Of Post-Easter Sermons

The second in the series of post-Easter sermons will be given Sunday at the regular worship service in the First Lutheran church, 102 N. Dubuque street, the Rev. Ralph Krueger, pastor of the church, said Thursday.

The sermons to be given include "We Believe in God," April 23; "We Believe in Jesus Christ," April 30; "We Believe in the Holy Ghost," May 7, and "We Believe in the Church," May 14.

Other sermons will be "We Believe in the Forgiveness of Sins," May 21; "We Believe in Life Everlasting," May 28, and "Help Thou Our Unbelief," June 4.

SUI Men Study Effects of Census on Iowa

The effect of the 1950 census on Iowa's state and local governments is the subject of a study now being made by two SUI men.

Dean Zenor, research specialist in the SUI institute of public affairs, and Prof. Jack T. Johnson, political science department, are making the study.

Population, under Iowa laws, determines representation in the Iowa general assembly, some of the taxes that may be levied by cities and towns, the salaries paid local government officials and other aspects of government.

The study will relate all these provisions of state law to governing units in the state according to their 1950 population.

Iowa is expected to continue to send eight representatives to the U.S. congress, but some counties in the state are likely to send an additional representative to the Iowa general assembly because of population changes.

Changes in population affecting the classification of towns and cities also will be discussed in the study.

The new policy of considering college students as residents of the city where they attend school will influence the population changes. Results of the study will be published by the institute of public affairs soon after the population statistics are available, probably after July 1.

SUI Research Chief To Speak at Beloit

Edith Baikie, chief of research of SUI's institute of public affairs, will discuss opportunities for women in government service at the Career conference for women at Beloit college, Beloit, Wis. Thursday.

Miss Baikie will be one of a panel of three to discuss careers for women in the area of the social sciences. She will speak on opportunities in various phases of civil and foreign service.

Tells Why She Shot Ex-Husband, Love Rival

From the Wire Services
ATHENS, GA. — The ex-wife of the University of Georgia's journalism school dean described him Wednesday as "a deliberate deceiver and sinner in the worst sense" and a man of "extraordinary sex desires."

Mrs. Kathleen Merry Drewry said her 23 years of marriage to Dean John E. Drewry were "a living hell."

Mrs. Drewry, 45, read a 42-page unsworn statement to the jury trying her on two counts of assault with intent to murder and a charge of carrying a pistol without a license. Such a statement is permitted under Georgia law which sets forth that the jurors may give it such weight as they see fit, believe or disbelieve it "in whole or in part."

"Not Fit to Live"
"They were not fit to live," Mrs. Drewry testified in explaining why she walked in on the couple in an intimate living room scene and emptied a pistol at them last Dec. 23.

She said she shot her husband first, then her love rival, Miriam Thurmond, and fired a parting slug into her ex-husband "cringing cowardly over in the corner."

In the lurid account, which took her more than four hours to read, Mrs. Drewry traced a stormy 20 years with the noted dean.

She said he twice threw her over for the willowy Miss Thurmond.

The dean first tried to win back her love when he thought he had a chance to ascend to the university presidency and again after the divorce when he decided he didn't want to marry Miss Thurmond, Mrs. Drewry testified.

Drewry did marry his 27-year-old ex-secretary, a month ago after they recovered from pistol shot wounds.

"Used a Rusty Pistol"
Drewry had just left her after an intimate dinner when she called him to tell him how much she loved him and found that he was not at home, Mrs. Drewry said.

She said she got a "rusty little pistol that we had had for 15 or 20 years" and drove to Miss Thurmond's home. She walked in and found her husband and Miss Thurmond sitting close together in the living room.

"Frozen With Horror"
"I just stood there watching them, nauseated and frozen with horror at what I saw," Mrs. Drewry testified. "I did not start in and begin shooting without warning. I did not call them names. I gave them time to get themselves in order."

"Then I shot John, and Miriam next. John jumped up and ran into a corner and I walked around Miriam, still seated, to get close to John. Then I shot at John again, still cowardly cringing in the corner."

Four SUI Students Get Debate Awards
Four students received the Frank O. Lowden award for excellence in intercollegiate debate at the annual forensic achievement dinner held in the Iowa Union Tuesday.

Receiving the awards were Charles Thodi, A4, Walcott; Murray A. Kniffen, A4, Rock Rapids; Betty J. Peterson, A4, Rippey, and Patricia Sloan, A4, Des Moines, instructor Merrill Baker, speech department, said Thursday.

In addition, Baker said 50 other students received certificate awards for outstanding participation in intercollegiate forensic activities for the current school year.

The Frank O. Lowden awards are restricted to seniors and are awarded each year to those seniors who, in the estimation of members of the speech faculty, have done most to advance SUI speech activities, Baker said.

The awards are made possible by Frank O. Lowden, SUI class of 1885, who set up an endowment for this purpose, Baker said.

KATHLEEN DREWRY (left), ex-wife of Dean John Drewry of the University of Georgia school of journalism, sits with her sister, Mrs. Thomas Hicks, at end of the first day of her trial in Athens, Ga., Wednesday night. Mrs. Drewry, 45, is charged with assault with intent to murder after she fired five pistol bullets into the dean and his wife of a month, the former Miriam Thurmond, last December. Thursday Mrs. Drewry took the stand and read a 42-page unsworn statement describing the dean as a "deliberate deceiver and sinner in the worst sense."

Emily Pratt Heads Pan-Hellenic Organization

SUI's 12 social sorority presidents have been elected and assigned to executive and chairmanship offices with the Panhellenic association. SUI women's intrafraternity organization.

Helen Reich, assistant director of student affairs, said Thursday that Emily Pratt, A3, Council Bluffs, president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, is the 1950-1951 president of the association.

Ruth Swanson, A2, Red Oak, president of Delta Gamma, is the new vice-president, Miss Reich said.

The president and vice-president of the association assume duties according to the year their sororities were founded on SUI's campus.

There are 12 social sororities on campus and once every 12 years each sorority's president becomes the head of the Panhellenic association, Miss Reich said.

She said other sorority presidents to assume duties with the association were:

Marian O'Connor, A3, Iowa City, Pi Beta Phi, became secretary; Joan Sywassink, A3, Muscatine, Delta Delta Delta, treasurer; Janice Lind, A4, Burlington, Alpha Chi Omega, is the representative to the University Women's association.

Jo Fran Kouba, A2, Cedar Rapids, Alpha Delta Pi, scholarship chairman; Betty Bootjer, A3, Cedar Rapids, Kappa Alpha Theta, social chairman; Louise Wilmeck, A3, Newton, Alpha Xi Delta, rushing chairman.

Anne Wall, A2, Collinsville, Ill., Zeta Tau Alpha, activities chairman; Marjorie Ott, A1, Bettendorf, Gamma Phi Beta, philanthropic chairman; Margaret McRoberts, A2, Des Moines, Chi Omega, junior Panhellenic chairman.

Esther Baumer, A3, Omaha, Sigma Delta Tau, became the publicity chairman.

Two non-sorority presidents became the association's representatives to other organizations: Nancy Wilson, A3, Des Moines, student council representative and Louise Bekman, A2, Ottumwa, women's judiciary board representative.

Court Hears Fifth Of Paving Appeals
The fifth of 26 appeals to district court opposing a special Iowa City paving assessment was heard in district court Thursday morning.

The appeal was made by David B. Foerster, 340 Ellis avenue. The paving assessments were levied by the Iowa City council Nov. 22, 1949, to pay for new pavement on F street last year which cost $100,000.

Judge Harold D. Evans did not rule on the Foerster case Thursday. A ruling is also pending for two appeals heard Wednesday: Baldrige vs. Iowa City, and Baldrige, Gauper and Gauper vs. Iowa City.

Scheduled for hearing today is an appeal by Dean A. Fitzgerald, 335 S. Dubuque street.

Prepare for Old Age While Still in Youth, Club Members Told

What you sow — you reap, SUI Prof. Emeritus Andrew Woods told Iowa City Rotary club members Thursday, as he explained what was to be done about old age.

"The powers, capacities and qualities of older life result from the habits and machinery for living we acquire while younger," Woods said.

He explained some of the worthwhile habits a younger person should cultivate so that not only would his life be richer while he was young, but would be a serene one when he reached old age.

Accomplishment Helps
Accomplishing things a person regards as worthwhile gives him confidence in figuring things out and a healthy self-confidence.

There are few great accomplishments in life, Woods said, but a really great man is content doing what he was made for, doing what he has decided he can do best.

The feeling that one has done this helps to make old age a consummation of all periods of life.

Fixed Beliefs Strengthen
The fixed beliefs we carry in younger life are apt to be ingrained when we reach old age. Therefore, open-mindedness is something to cultivate while young, he said.

He quoted Benjamin Franklin as saying "The first duty of man is to be a healthy animal."

Woods said he advocated muscular exercise such as golf or wood chopping to keep muscles in good order and add to the well-being in old age.

City Engineer Issues 9 Building Permits Here Since April 11
Nine building permits totalling $59,180 have been issued here since April 11 by City Engineer Fred E. Gartzke.

They were granted to: Henry Schomberg, $15,000, to build a residence and garage at 226 Lowell street.

Joseph L. Knoedel, 818 E. Jefferson street, $11,000, to build a residence at 1622 Wilson street.

Prof. Walter T. Smith Jr., of the SUI chemistry department, $10,000, to build a residence at 1020 Marcy street.

John Mellecker, route 4, $10,000, to build a residence and garage at 852 Rundell street.

Bert R. Hughes, 821 1-2 E. Jefferson street, $7,000, to build a residence and garage at 721 Walnut street.

Robert J. Brown, 2217 H street, $2,000, for an addition to his residence.

Warren F. Burger, 1615 E. College street, $1,000, to attach a garage to his residence.

J.M. Mariner, 513 Grant street, $180, for an addition to his garage.

'Freedom Stamps' Go on Sale Today

Twenty thousand three cent "freedom stamps" will go on sale at the postoffice today to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the founding of the nation's capital at Washington, D.C.

J.P. Soucek, assistant postmaster, said an image of the "Statue of Freedom" which stands on the capitol building appears on the stamp.

The government has authorized the printing of 125-million of the sesquicentennial stamps.

Iowa City's postoffice has only 20,000 of the stamps for sale, Soucek said. Once they are sold no other sesquicentennial stamps will be available here.

Professors Attend Ames Conference

Prof. D.E. Metzler and Herman Tachau of the mechanical and hydraulic engineering department will be in Ames today to attend the third annual building industry conference.

Metzler is scheduled to speak at 11 a.m.

He will read a paper on "Plumbing Research" at the three-day conference at Iowa State college to discuss new developments and problems confronting the building industry.

His address will be illustrated by slides made in the SUI materials testing laboratory.

About 200 engineers, architects, building officials, contractors, inspectors, building crafts representatives, and material and equipment men are attending the conference.

The conference, featuring lectures, classes and informal discussions led by national and Iowa authorities, will close Saturday.

14 Kids, But — Mom to 'Take it Easy'

— No Gray Hairs

A 42-year-old woman gave birth to her 14th child early Tuesday morning at University hospitals.

Mrs. Edna Dougherty, Centralia, Ill., said the infant wasn't expected until May 30, and is spending his first days in an incubator.

The five-pounder, named James, doesn't know he has a nephew 48 days older than he.

Mrs. Dougherty's daughter, Elena, 17, has a baby boy who was born Feb. 28. "My baby looks just like Elena's," Mrs. Dougherty said.

The ages of the other Dougherty children range from 4 to 26 — eight girls and six boys. Two of the girls are married, one son is in the army and the others are at home. Two babies died a few hours after they were born.

Hospitalized 3 Months
Mr. Dougherty, 45, a former refinery worker, is now in a mental institution in East Moline, Ill.

Mrs. Dougherty said she has been in the hospital about three months. Relatives brought her here when she became ill from a heart condition.

Married when she was 15 years old, she said this was the "first good long rest" she has had in a long time. "I guess my washing and ironing days are over," she said. "I'll take it easy from now on."

No Gray Hairs
But there aren't gray hairs on Mrs. Dougherty's head. "The family all pitches in to help me at home," she said. "I haven't scrubbed or swept a floor in three or four years."

Mrs. Dougherty said she probably will leave small James at University hospitals for a while. Some of the children have been staying with relatives in Decatur, Ill., and Davenport, where several cases of whooping cough have been reported. She wants to make sure none of the other children has caught the disease before she brings the baby home.

The other children in the family are: Pearl Marie, 26; David Jr., 21; Esther, 19; Elena, 17; Noreta, 14; Norma Jean, 12; Maxie Lee, 11; Sharon, 8; Sarah Jane, 7; Ronnie, 5; Susie, 4.

Doctor Files Court Petition to Collect Note

Dr. Rolf Howde, Winthrop, filed a petition Wednesday in district court to collect $142.14 on a promissory note from Al H. Ohland, West Branch.

Howde said this amount was due, including interest, on a note dated April 29, 1949. He asked for seven percent interest and court costs.

Emil G. Troit is the attorney for the plaintiff.

FILES DAMAGE SUIT
WEBSTER CITY (AP) — Mrs. Peter Nellie Bly of near Radcliffe has filed a $45,000 damage suit in district court here against Marshall Hodenfield, also of near Radcliffe. She alleges she is an invalid as a result of injuries suffered in an auto accident Oct. 13, 1948 on highway 175 near Radcliffe and that Hodenfield is responsible for her injuries.

NEW YORK (AP) — These thieves were more hard-working than clever. They pried open, in succession, a cellar door, an iron door, a dumbwaiter entrance, and two windows of a candy store. They climbed one flight inside an airshaft, and broke down an inside door.

Then they carted a 250-pound safe back through the door, window, airshaft, another window and two more doors. The safe contained a few worthless papers and $4 worth of stamps. And it wasn't even locked.

Hawkeyes Open Home Big Ten Season Today Against Indiana; Hoeksema Scheduled to Pitch

Hoosiers League Co-Champs in 1949

Indiana, which shared the 1949 Big Ten baseball title with Iowa and Michigan, furnishes the opposition for the Hawkeyes today and Saturday as the Iowans open their home conference play.

The Hoosier team, winner of six of seven non-conference games, except two losses to professional minor league teams, has a good number of veterans who helped to rack up an 8-4 record last year.

Iowa opened its conference campaign last weekend by breaking even with Illinois and now holds a record of nine wins in 12 games. The Hawkeyes split a two-game series with Bradley Monday and Tuesday, 1-0 and 2-6.

Left-hander Dick Hoeksema, who scattered 10 Illinois hits to defeat the first conference foe, 6-3, last Friday, is Coach Otto Vogel's likely pitching choice for today. Saturday's possible starters are Dick Orth, Bruce Marsh and Glenn Drahn.

Jim McGee will probably pitch for Indiana today, leaving the Saturday job to right-hander Bill Tosheff or Bob Bauer, a junior left-hander. McGee, a right-hander, pitched a 5-4 victory over the Hawkeyes in the second game with the Hoosiers last year.

Woody Litz, second baseman and lead-off batter, is one of Indiana's mainstays. His triple drove in the winning run against Iowa last year when the Hoosiers collected 10 hits off Hoeksema and Wes Demro.

Basketball star Lou Watson plays left field for Indiana. He batted .348 in conference games last season. At shortstop for the Hoosiers is Gene Ring, who batted a rousing .370 in Big Ten play. Three-letter winner John Gor-

No. 1 batter for the Hawkeyes in their 12 games is Second Baseman Jack Dittmer, with .348. Murland Moran, left fielder, ranks next with .288. Third is John Sullivan, right fielder, .270.

Hoeksema leads the pitchers with a 3-0 record. He has allowed 20 hits in 23 innings, and has struck out 24 batters. Orth has pitched 22 innings, allowed 15 hits, and struck out 14 in winning two of three games.

Vogel's Iowa teams have won eight of 12 games from Indiana. The Hoosiers are coached by Ernie Andres, Indiana basketball and baseball star of the 30's, who later played major professional ball in both sports.

His Answer: 'Shove Off'

PAUL UNRUH (right), Bradley university basketball player has revealed he was offered and refused a bribe before last month's National Invitational tournament in New York. Shown at Peoria Thursday with Bradley's basketball coach Forrest Anderson, Unruh said he told the man who offered the bribe to "shove off."

Bribe 'Minor Incident' to Unruh

PEORIA, ILL. (AP) - Bradley university's athletic officials and its all-America basketball star, Paul Unruh, expressed surprise Thursday that his story of a bribe offer in New York got nationwide publicity.

Unruh, 21-year-old scoring ace, said his report was "of minor incidence to me." His formal statement concluded: "I do feel it is an unfortunate incident, and I feel that it does not merit the notoriety it has received."

Surprised at Publicity
Bradley's athletic director, Arthur Bergstrom, said the university is "very much surprised at the nationwide publicity" and believes the bribe offer "was not made by any big time operator."

He said "it could have been very easily the work of a crank, a practical joker, or some small time hanger-on."

Unruh told a church banquet in Peoria, Ill., Tuesday night that an unidentified man whom he assumed was a bookie, offered him "some easy money" March 11 or 12 outside the Paramount hotel in New York.

The Bradley team had just arrived to play in the National Invitational tournament in which Bradley later won its first two games by good-sized edges and lost the title contest to City College of New York, 69-61.

Had Forgotten Matter
Unruh said the man offered him $100 if Bradley won a game by six points and $500 if the team won by two points in any tournament game.

Unruh said he laughed off the proposal and gave it no further thought, Thursday he said in a brief statement:

"I spoke of it to no one and I had forgotten it" until talking about commercialization in sports at the dinner. Then he mentioned the incident "merely to illustrate a point in the discussion."

Bergstrom and Coach Forrest Anderson also issued formal statements Thursday as a result of Unruh's remarks at the dinner.

Bergstrom said, "Paul's comment was made during a question and answer period and was injected more in the nature of conversation rather than a direct statement."

Iowa Track Team To Kansas, Illinois For Outdoor Meets

Twenty-three Iowa trackmen will leave this afternoon to compete in two meets Saturday. This is the first outdoor competition for Iowa.

Top competition on the card is the Kansas relays at Lawrence, Kan., which will draw five of the Hawk's 23 men. Stated for this meet are Russ Merkel, Marcellus Boston, DuWayne Dietz, Tom Sangster and Jack Simpson.

Four - Team Meet
The other affair on tap for Saturday is the Illinois Spring relays at Champaign, Ill. In all probability it will be a four-team meet with Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Northwestern competing.

The Kansas-bound Hawks will be entered in the 440- and 880-yard relays, the 100-yard dash, the 120-yard high hurdles and possibly the broad jump.

Boston in 100
Boston, Sangster, Simpson and Dietz will carry Iowa's baton hopes while Boston will run the 100. Merkel will compete in the hurdle event.

In Champaign, Iowa has planned to enter the 440, 880, mile, mile medley, distance medley and two-mile relays besides the high jump, pole vault, shot put, discus, two-mile run, hurdles and possibly the mile run.

Two Hawks make their debut in Iowa suits in the Illinois meet. They are Darling and Herriott who will both compete in the discus with Darling doubling in the shot put.

Tigers Edge Indians, Lou Boudreau Injured

CLEVELAND (AP) - The Detroit Tigers made a clean sweep of their two-game series with the Cleveland Indians Thursday by edging the Tribe 5-4. Cleveland Manager Lou Boudreau was injured in the game.

Boudreau was hit hard on the left elbow in the ninth inning, by a pitch of southpaw Ted Gray.

Extent of the injury was not determined immediately. But it seemed likely Boudreau, who danced in pain at the plate, would miss Saturday's game in St. Louis.

Gray rattled six hits to the Indians - no two of them in the same inning. But he threw two wild pitches in the third, permitting Catcher Ray Murray who had doubled, to come home.

In the ninth, rookie Third Baseman Al Rosen, who hit his first major league homer Tuesday, hit for the circuit again, scoring behind Ray Boone, who was running for the injured Boudreau.

Outfielder Pat Mullin's double was the big blow in a three-run first inning Detroit rally. Mullin's two-bagger to left center scored Gerry Priddy, who had singled, and George Kell, who walked. Then Mullin came home on Johnny Groth's single to right.

The Tigers added two unearned runs in the fourth after Pitcher Early Wynn spoiled an easy out by failing to keep his foot on first base. A single by Myron Ginzberg and a double to right by Johnny Lipon accounted for the pair of runs.

Frosh Mat Meet Plans Announced
The second all-university freshman wrestling tournament to be held since the war has been set for the fieldhouse wrestling room April 26, 27 and 28, according to plans announced by Coach Mike Howard Thursday.

To date 18 freshmen have entered the eight weight event meet, with the addition of several more expected by Howard. Entries will be accepted anytime up until a day before the competition begins.

The championship bouts in each weight class will be held Friday afternoon, April 28, at 4:30. A special award will be presented to the individual selected as the "most outstanding" wrestler in the journey. Last year's winner was Manuel Macias, now a member of the varsity team.

Bouts will be of six minutes duration, divided into three two-minute periods.

The entries to date:
121-pounds Dale Hecox
128-pounds Dick Burget, Phil Duggan, Jerry Seiler
136-pounds Don Hartzell, Laverne Ross, Dick Boone, Floyd Starr
145-pounds Dale Croser, Dick Hickenbottom, Ed Johnson
155-pounds Culver Klinkenberg, Sam Fried, Arnold Schneobelen
165-pounds Dick Peterson
175-pounds Don Heaton
HW Dick Bushnell, George Meyers

NEWTON COACH LEAVES
NEWTON (AP) - H. A. (Bud) Millikan, Newton high school basketball coach, said Thursday that he had decided to accept a new job as head basketball coach at the University of Maryland.

Stassforth Sets 2 New Records

Iowa swimmer Bowen Stassforth will soon make application to the Amateur Athletic Union record committee for recognition of two new times in the breast stroke division.

Stassforth swam the 400-yard breast stroke over a 20-yard course in 5:16.8. The present listed mark is 5:30.7, made in April, 1939, by James Werson of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, Calif.

Stassforth's time for the 440-yard breast stroke, made in the same race, was 5:58.5, set in 1937.

The Iowan made the records in the YMCA pool in Cedar Rapids Wednesday night at a swimming carnival, according to Jim Counsilman, assistant Iowa swimming coach.

Counsilman said that Stassforth's performance was remarkable, especially considering the fact that he had been out of the pool for several days and had just returned from California because of a death in the family.

In the same meet, Ed (Rusty) Garst was timed in :18.2 for the 40-yard free style, faster than the pool record of :18.6 made in 1928 by John Weissmuller.

Mike Howard to Help Pick All-Americans

Mike Howard, Iowa's veteran wrestling coach, has been named to the selection board to choose an all-American wrestling team for Body Builder magazine.

John Hordines, wrestling editor of that publication, is in charge of the selections. Other members of the board include coaches from all parts of the United States.

One of the Howard's first team members is a fellow not unfamiliar to wrestlers and wrestling fans all over the country, Joe Scarpello. The Olympic team member and all-time Iowa great at 175-pounds completed his college competition this season by never losing a dual meet bout.

After winning his second NCAA title, in Cedar Falls, last month Scarpello and his coach traveled to New York for the National AAU meet. There Scarpello barely missed coming behind in the finals as he lost to the defending champion, Shuford Swift of the Baltimore YMCA.

Howard will choose five men in 10 weight divisions. Thursday he permitted us to have a peak at his first team choices, which included the following grapplers:

John Harrison, Iowa State Teachers, 115 pound; Tony Gizoni, Waynesburg, Pa., 121; Joe Patacisi, Purdue, 128; Lowell Lange, Cornell, 136; Keith Young, State Teachers, 145; Bill Nelson, State Teachers, 155; Bill Smith, State Teachers, 165; Scarpello, 175; Brad Glass, West Side YMCA of New York, 191, and Dick Hutton, Oklahoma A & M, heavyweight.

Hutton, three-time NCAA champion, was selected by Howard to captain the all-Americans.

There is a good chance the Big Ten will pioneer another change in intercollegiate wrestling next year, with the addition of the 191-pound class to regular dual meets.

Last month when the Big Ten championships were held in the Iowa fieldhouse the coaches met and decided to add the weight class to all meets, in place of the former custom of adding the 115 and 191 pound classes only in the National AAU competition.

"The coaches passed the rule unanimously," Howard said Thursday. "Now it's up to the Big Ten directors to pass on it at their meeting in May." That meeting is held in Evanston, Ill.

There is reason to believe that the directors will OK the idea, then in a year or two, after seeing its success in the Western conference, the National rule committee (NCAA) will probably follow suit.

Assistant Athletic Director Rollie Williams told this one Thursday about Elroy Hirsch, former Wisconsin football star who had a weakness for poker games on team trips.

Harry Stuhlrehr, Badger coach, issued a stern warning that there would be no poker on a trip from Evanston to Madison, after a Wisconsin-Northwestern game. But Hirsch gathered some of his teammates in what he thought was a safe place on the train and proceeded to clean house.

As the train entered Madison the game broke up and Hirsch stepped out of the car cupping a handful of change he'd won from his less fortunate mates, only to come face to face with Stuhlrehr.

Seeing what had obviously been going on, Stuhlrehr thundered at Hirsch, "I thought I said no poker."

"But coach," Hirsch retorted, "you always tell us to play to win."

Hawkeye Golf Team to Illinois for Dual Meet

Iowa's golf team leaves today for Champaign for a dual meet with Illinois, its third outing of the season. The Hawks enter their first conference competition after a non-league win over Bradley and Notre Dame at Iowa City.

The match, originally scheduled for Champaign's new $250,000 18-hole course, has been switched to the Champaign Country club. The new course has not been completed in time for the meet, Iowa's coach, Bucky O'Connor, said Thursday.

O'Connor expects a close match with the Illini who defeated Washington university of St. Louis in their only meet of the year. Last year Iowa topped Illinois, 15-12, at Iowa City.

Heading the seven man Iowa squad are the veteran Skip Carlson and sophomore Gene Slack, whose 68 is the squad's low score of the season. Carlson, however, will be the Hawks' number one man.

Chief threat of the Illini team is Captain Dave Logan.

Pittsburgh's Dickson Subdues St. Louis, 8-4

ST. LOUIS (AP) - The Pittsburgh Pirates were as hot as the weather was chilly Thursday as they scored an easy 8-4 victory over the seemingly benumbed St. Louis Cardinals in the only contest played in the National League.

The swash-buckling crew hopped on Howard Pollet and Fred Martin for eight runs in the first four innings and then coasted to victory behind the classy flinging of little Murry Dickson, who again demonstrated his mastery over his former teammates.

Likes Redbirds
Dickson, who beat the Redbirds in five of eight starts last year, seemed unaffected by the 50-degree temperature as he stopped the St. Louisians with six hits, including Stan Musial's second homer of the series. Manager Eddie Dyer started eight left-handed batters in his lineup in an effort to bolster the Redbird attack, but they all looked alike to little Murry.

Rookie Cramer Beard and John Phillips led the Pittsburgh attack with home runs and Dickson helped his cause by batting across two runs.

Errors, which cost the Cards Wednesday night's game, plagued them again Thursday. Miscues by Glenn Nelson and the usually dependable Musial figured largely in the Pirate scoring. A bobble by Phillips also gave the Cards an unearned run.

Shaky Start
Beard opened the game by hitting Pollet's first pitch to the pavilion roof for a home run. Musial hammered his homer in the third with the bases empty. Fine relief flinging by Tom Poholsky, Cloyd Boyer and Ellis Deal put the damper on the Smoky City outfit in the latter innings, but the damage had been done.

A sparse crowd of 4,235 braved the chilly winds to see the Cards drop their first series of the season, two games to one.

Iowa's Grid Staff Welcomed

SPORTS INFORMATION EDITOR Eric Wilson (standing) welcomes Iowa's new head football coach, Leonard Raffensperger, and staff to the Iowa City Press and Radio club. The Hawkeye grid staff (left to right), Pat Boland, Ben Douglas, Raffensperger and Bob Fitch, were guests of the club at a dinner given Thursday night. Bernie Masterson, backfield coach, was unable to attend the dinner because of a previous appointment. A movie showing the highlights of Iowa's 1949 football season was presented following the dinner.

Truman Tells Editors U.S. Engaged in Truth Campaign

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman, branding Russian peace talk a "cloak for imperialism," revealed Thursday that the United States has embarked on "a great campaign of truth" to tell the world the difference between communism and democracy. He made the disclosure in an important foreign policy speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors as it opened its three-day annual convention here.

Find Lady Lawyer Met Violent Death In Bahama Islands

NASSAU, BAHAMAS (AP)—The nude, beaten body of Betty Renner, 38-year-old Washington attorney, was removed from a well here to throw this tranquil vacation isle into turmoil over violent death for the second time in a decade.

Miss Renner's body was recovered Wednesday, stripped of all clothing except her brassiere and dumped, unconscious, into the well to drown. She had been in the water 24 hours.

Major G. H. Ranoe, chief of police, said a Negro "of the hotel waiter type" was being sought. He was seen bicycling with Miss Renner in the area before she disappeared Tuesday.

There was a ragged cut on the top of her head and bruises on the face. There was no positive evidence of rape but Dr. H. B. Taylor, who performed an autopsy, said this was still being investigated.

"The whole town is upset," said Etienne Dupuch, editor of the Nassau Daily Tribune. "Every section of the community, rich and poor, black and white, is urging a quick solution and quick justice."

Curious throngs examined the bloodstained spot where Miss Renner was struck down, and trod the rough coral rock to the well where the body was placed and the slacks she wore thrown in behind her.

MARRIAGE LICENSES Marriage licenses were issued in the Johnson county clerk's office Thursday to Frank A. Polpnick, G. Breckenridge, Minn., and Carol Louise Kessler, A3, Cowen, W. Va., and to Conrad McCreel and Lois McCreel, both of Iowa City.

A pre-training camp for the group will be held in City park April 22 through 24, Hunter said. At the camp, the scouts will go through an orientation period before leaving for Valley Forge, April 24.

On the way to Valley Forge, the group will visit Chicago, Detroit, Niagara Falls and New York City. They will arrive in Valley Forge, June 30, Hunter said.

More than 40,000 scouts and scout leaders from all over the nation are expected to attend the jamboree. Representatives from foreign countries that have scouting programs also will attend, Hunter said.

Hunter said the jamboree will be the highlight of the 40th anniversary of Boy Scouts, which is being celebrated across the nation this year.

The program is a feature of carrying out the Boy Scout theme to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty."

On the return trip, the scouts will visit Philadelphia and Washington and will arrive in Iowa City, July 9.

Above she demonstrates her technique as a milkmaid—one of the youngest in the country. She gets up at 4 a. m. to help with the milking. Little Sandra explained it all, saying: "When I grow up and have a farm of my own I'll be able to do it."

Scout Leaders for National Jamboree Named

Adult leaders of the Iowa River Valley Boy Scouts going to the second national scout jamboree have been announced by local Scout Master Martin L. Hunter.

Glenn D. Jablonski, leadership training chairman of the Johnson county district, was named jamboree scout master.

Two assistants who will accompany Jablonski are Fred W. Moore, scout master of the English Lutheran troop number 3, Iowa City, and Harold D. Hazelett, scout master of the Methodist troop number 37, Washington.

Thirty-three scouts and explorer scouts and the three scout leaders will attend the jamboree representing the Iowa River Valley council, Hunter said.

CMA Committee To Meet Today

The local council - Manager's association's executive committee will meet at 11:30 p.m. today at Hotel Jefferson to consider its future plans and activities, Chairman Clair E. Hamilton said Thursday.

The association's campaign urging adoption of the city manager form of government here ended victoriously in Monday's special election. New councilmen will be elected at large on a non-partisan basis next spring.

The association permanently closed its office in room 206, Hotel Jefferson, the day after the election. The office had served as campaign headquarters and as information center for persons inquiring about the city manager plan.

Prof. Knowler to Lead Discussion in Chicago

Prof. Lloyd A. Knowler, head of the SUI department of mathematics and astronomy, will preside at a session of the Institute of Mathematical Statistics at the University of Chicago, April 28.

Knowler said the Chicago meeting will be held in conjunction with the American Mathematics society April 28 and 29.

Boston Train Collision Injures at Least Twenty

BOSTON (AP) — Some 20 persons were reported slightly injured Thursday night in a collision of two New Haven railroad trains at Jamaica Plain.

A preliminary check showed eight persons at City and Beth Israel hospitals. This, however, did not include a number of persons who claimed injury.

The collision involved two local trains outbound from south station at the rush hour. One was the 5:08 p.m. train to Providence, R.I., the other the 5:14 local to New Bedford.

Railroad officials explained the two locals had been sent into a siding to permit the New Haven's crack Yankee Clipper express to pass. The Clipper is due in Boston from New York about that time.

Legal Path Clears For Ingrid's Wedding

ROME (AP) — Roberto Rossellini said Thursday that he hopes the last legal technicality in the path of his marriage to Ingrid Bergman will be removed within the next five or six days.

Then, he said, he and Miss Bergman plan to be married as soon as possible, arrange for the baptism of their son Renato, take a long vacation and return to Rome to live.

"Miss Bergman is through with movies, once and for all," Rossellini said. "The brilliant Italian movie director said that he and Miss Bergman were 'terribly happy' when they received the news — at 4 a.m. Thursday by telephone from Hollywood — that lawyers for Ingrid and her husband Dr. Peter Lindstrom had agreed on a divorce settlement."

Truman Allocates N. Dakota $100,000 For Flood Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Thursday allocated $100,000 for emergency flood control work in North Dakota, where the Red river was at its highest level in 50 years.

The president notified Gov. Fred G. Aandahl that he made the allocation from his emergency fund.

The money will be used to relieve suffering and hardship in the area of the Red, James, Heart and Cannonball rivers and their tributaries.

6,000 Homeless An estimated 6,000 persons were homeless as the Red river and its tributaries, fed by melting snow and gluttied by ice, poured over vast areas of eastern North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota.

Flood troubles also threatened in South Dakota and farther east in Minnesota.

Hardest hit were communities of the Red river valley in northeastern North Dakota, northwestern Minnesota and southern Manitoba.

Highest in Half-Century There the Red and its many tributaries, at their highest levels in more than a half-century at some points, isolated whole communities as their rushing waters spread over plains forming what once was the bed of Lake Agassiz, extinct for about 20,000 years.

One of the hardest-hit communities was Grand Forks, N.D., a Minnesota-border city where the Red river already had driven 275 families from their homes and at 42.73 feet — almost 15 feet over flood stage — was at its highest level in 53 years.

The entire north end of Grand Forks was flooded, with water in 40 to 50 homes. A street had to be dynamited to release water from the swollen English coulee.

Russians to Shoot At Strange Planes AUGSBURG, GERMANY (AP) — A German radio monitor reported Thursday that all Russian fighter pilots and anti-aircraft gunners had been ordered to shoot at any unannounced foreign plane that crossed any Russian frontier and ignored orders to land.

The order, it was said, was broadcast in Russia with the explanation that "numerous planes of unknown nationality but of unmistakable American construction" had crossed Russian borders. Schwabische Landeszeitung, a large independent newspaper influential in Bavaria, published the report as coming from a German who monitors Russian broadcasts for internal consumption. The editor of the newspaper vouched for the listener's complete reliability. Americans regard the newspaper as highly reliable.

Hawkeye Parking Lot to be Completed Today

THESE NEW FENCE POSTS, shown above, mark the new limits to the Hawkeye village parking lot addition. The addition will make room for about 10 more cars. J. Robert Cotter, manager of married students housing areas, said Thursday. The lot, which is located at the west end of Washington street, will be finished sometime today, Cotter said. Work on the additional space began Wednesday. More cars can be parked in the allotted area if proper parking practices are used.

Ballistics Test Today On Slaying Case Gun

DES MOINES (AP) — State bureau of investigation officials said Thursday they hope to be able to make ballistics tests today on a Henry W. Chavis slaying case gun.

The rust-covered .32 automatic pistol which may have been used to kill Chavis, Ames canning plant executive in November, 1943, was still in a chemical solution Thursday.

The solution is being used in an effort to remove rust and corrosion which accumulated during the 13 months the gun lay in the muck of Squaw creek near the Chavis home. It was found last Monday by two boys.

Meanwhile, R.W. Nebergall, chief of the state bureau, said agents are reappraising earlier information gleaned from their continuous investigation of the case.

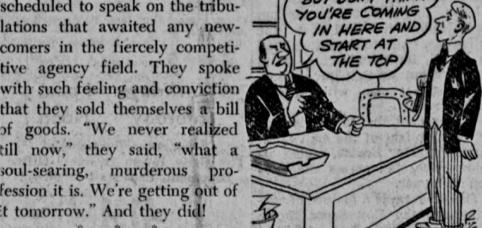

"We are retracing a whole file of information in light of the finding of the gun," Nebergall said.

SUI Presbyterian Students Plan Conference

The student Westminster fellowship, Presbyterian group, will hold a state-wide conference at the Presbyterian church here April 28 and 29, Wilma Grossheim, SUI Presbyterian student director, said Thursday.

Featured conference speakers will include Harold R. Viehman, member of the board of Christian education at Philadelphia, and Dr. Glen W. Tuttle, a member of the student volunteer movement, and for 26 years director of a Belgian Congo hospital.

Registration will begin at 5 p.m. April 28, followed by an evening convocation. At 8:30 p.m., there will be a barn dance for the group at the Rev. Louis Penningroth farm, route 6, Miss Grossheim said.

There will be addresses April 29 by the two featured speakers and discussion groups. SUI student discussion leaders will include Edith Tiempo, G. Dumaguete City, P.I., and Marshall Milligan, G. Iowa City, she said.

Presbyterian students who will help with conference work include Robert Messerli, A.2, Manchester, registration; Phyllis Beebe, A1, Bedford, and William
