Stassen Calls Truman Worst President, Cleverest Politician Ever In White House

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold A. Stassen Tuesday night called President Truman "the cleverest politician" and "the worst president ever to occupy the White House."

He said Mr. Truman is embarking on a political tour of the west "to try and get a puppet congress."

Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and former governor of Minnesota, called on Republicans to "meet the 1950 situation brought about by Truman's use and misuse of the great power of his office" by:

1. "Fighting back vigorously and hitting hard in the exposure of the conditions of his administration."
2. "Bringing forward definite, sound, constructive measures to meet the problems of our country at home and abroad."
3. "Organizing the working and voting with a thoroughness and a drive such as we have never shown before."

Stassen, unsuccessful aspirant for the Republican party's presidential nomination two years ago, spoke before the women's auxiliary of the New York Republican county committee.

Stassen called Mr. Truman's forthcoming western trip an indication that the President "will take an all-out personal part in the congressional elections."

Stassen said the President "will travel across the nation in a special train, with his trip paid for out of the taxes of the people."

"He will go out to the Grand Coulee dam; the plans for which were prepared under President Hoover; the construction of which was carried on by President Roosevelt; the payment for which was voted overwhelmingly by both Republicans and Democrats; and standing at the edge of that dam he will strike a pose and act as if he built it with his own little Missouri hands."

The Minnesotan said that of his three suggested aims for the Republicans, "the most important is the bringing forward of constructive solutions."

Stassen called Mr. Truman "a post graduate of the most effective political school in America — the Pendergast school of Kansas City, Mo."

"From that school he knows the methods of attacks on opposition, of claims for all improvement, of dodging blame for things that go wrong, and marshalling votes through organization."

GOP Leaders Learning Vote-Trapping Methods

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans are holding a vote-trapping school, and Tuesday the scholars got advice on everything from William McKinley to ways of pepping up droopy poster elephants.

The idea behind the school is this: Bring in some of the leaders and let them learn the latest details on vote trapping. Then let them go back and spread the news to the home folk.

Guy George Gabrielson, GOP national chairman and hence a full professor in the school, told the 25 students that Republicans should be more homey in their approach.

Frederick Stueck, campaign manager for Sen. Forrest Donnell (R-Mo) made most of his remarks of the record. That's because he outlined how the campaign would be carried on, and he didn't want the opposition to know about some nifty plays he has picked up.

But he did toss out the general hint he's getting tired of a dispirited elephant representing the GOP.

"I like 'em like this," Stueck said, and held up a picture of an elephant in full chase.

"See?" Stueck said. "He's going some place. He's running hell bent for 'election'."

Gambling Testimony By Press Official Branded as 'False'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R-NH) accused an official of the Continental Press service Tuesday of "falsifying."

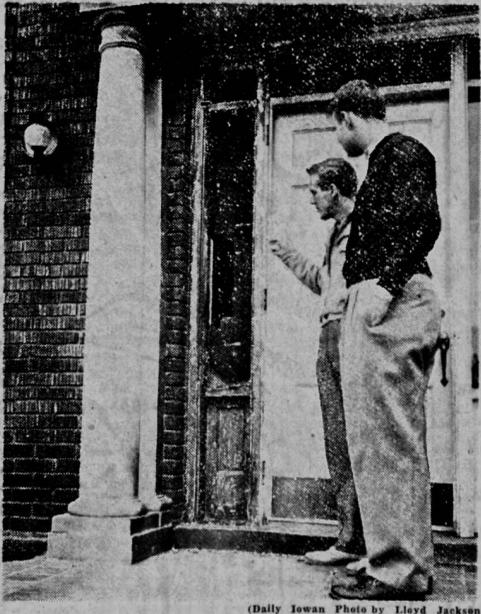

He questioned, on that ground, what weight should be given to denials by the race news organization of any tie-ups with bookmakers and crime rings.

Tobey flared up in a senate commerce subcommittee hearing after Continental officials had ridiculed the idea there is any such thing as an interstate crime syndicate, defended their business as strictly legitimate, and contradicted a federal grand jury report that their service goes to a bookmaking ring in Kansas City, Mo.

The senator was specially irked by testimony from Joseph M. Lebit, Continental accountant, that William Molasky, owner of Pioneer News service in St. Louis and a Continental subscriber, has "a very high reputation."

The committee, holding hearings on a bill to prohibit interstate transmission of gambling information, heard from a racing association official that four murders "show the strong arm influence" used to control wire services used by bookmakers.

Spenser J. Drayton, executive secretary of the Thoroughbred Racing association, named the slain men as Charles Binaaggio and Charles Gargotta in Kansas City, Jim Reagan in Chicago, and Bugsy Siegel in Los Angeles.

Students View Fire Damage

SURVEYING DAMAGE CAUSED by a fire of mysterious origin to the Delta Tau Delta social fraternity house, 724 N. Dubuque street, are Niles L. Wallgren, A2, Keokuk (pointing), and Al Devine, E3, Westchester, N.Y., members of the fraternity. The fire, about 2 a.m. Tuesday, apparently started when someone poured gasoline or kerosene on the front of the house and set fire to it, police said.

City Police Investigating Cause Of SUI Fraternity House Fire

Police Tuesday reported someone apparently poured gasoline or kerosene on the front steps of an SUI fraternity house early Tuesday morning touching off a blaze that caused only slight damage.

No charges had been filed by Tuesday night, but police were investigating the fire which occurred about 2 a.m. at the Delta Tau Delta house, 724 N. Dubuque street.

Harvester Electricians Plan Strike Monday

CHICAGO (AP) — The United electrical workers union Tuesday ordered a strike against 11 International Harvester company plants.

The strike for higher pay and other benefits was set for 11 p.m. (Iowa time) next Monday.

The UE union called for support from CIO United Auto Workers who also work for Harvester. The CIO recently expelled the UE.

Harvester negotiations with UE were broken off Monday after 10 months of talks. The UE says it represents 40,000 farm equipment workers at Harvester. The company says its plants employ only 28,244 and some of these belong to other unions.

The union seeks a 12 cents an hour general wage increase, a "satisfactory" pension and welfare plan, a 35 hour work week, special adjustments for day workers, and elimination of all wage differentials between various plants. It said the company has made no satisfactory offer.

Crash Victim Still Critical

Joe, E. Sloan, 1307 Broadway street, 74-year-old junk dealer, remained in serious condition at Mercy hospital late Tuesday night.

Sloan has been unconscious since he suffered a fractured skull and concussion Monday afternoon when a slow-moving Rock Island diesel freight locomotive struck his mule-drawn wagon.

Sloan was driving east across the railroad tracks at the intersection of Kirkwood avenue and Gilbert street.

The full extent of Sloan's injuries have not been determined since his condition makes x-rays impossible, his doctor said.

Sloan was apparently thrown off his wagon when it was struck by the locomotive.

Maragon Sentenced 8 Months to 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Maragon, dapper little Greek-American who once had access to the White House "inner circle," was sentenced to eight months to two years in prison Tuesday for lying to senate "five percenter" investigators.

He could have been handed a maximum of 20 years on two counts but Federal Judge Jennings Bailey fixed the more lenient penalty after conferring with the probation officer.

Maragon, who once numbered Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, among his closest friends, had spent the past six days in the District of Columbia jail. He was freed on $5,000 bail pending an appeal.

Maragon, whose accounts of his many activities titillated the capital for days last summer, was convicted of lying about his bank accounts and of denying he was employed by a Chicago perfume firm while he was in Greece on a state department mission.

Follow Me, Eustace, 'n I'll Show Ya Around

LOOKING FORLORN INDEED on the city park pond—but now its most important habitants—are these two new additions to the park's wildlife. The swans replace the pair killed two years ago when a park visitor threw beer bottles at them, Park Superintendent George Turecek said Tuesday. The wildlife for the park is purchased with funds appropriated to the park board by the city council.

Pepper Loses In Bid For Florida Senatorship

He Didn't Wanna Tell

KANSAS CITY, KAN. (AP)—Ex-convict Thomas Shores, 30, called police early Tuesday and said he needed an ambulance. Pressed for a reason, Shores blurted: "If you're so damned curious, I've been shot."

Police learned then that Shores had tried to hold up a liquor store. Proprietor Sangelo Pitale recognized him as the man who held him up two weeks ago.

Pitale said he fired twice when Shores tried to run. Shores was struck twice—in the buttocks.

Experts Differ On Significance Of His Defeat

By The Associated Press

Sen. Claude Pepper, veteran New Dealer, Tuesday night lost his bid for another term.

His opponent, youthful Rep. George Smathers, who has opposed some portions of the Truman program, led Pepper 314,538 to 262,090 with 1,303 of the state's 1,595 precincts counted. Pepper conceded defeat early today.

Smathers led from the start in the host Democratic primary contest and it looked fairly certain that Pepper could not overtake him, although the two ran neck and neck in Smathers' home county of Dade.

The issues were fairly clear in the hot Florida fight. But the highly personal nature of the campaign and the injection of the communist angle by Smathers left political leaders confused as to its national significance.

Republicans had given advance notice that they would regard a Pepper defeat as indicative of a national trend against the Truman "Fair Deal," since Pepper supported the national administration on almost all occasions while Smathers opposed it on several counts.

National Democratic figures held that it was more of a personal scrap and that its effect would not be felt outside Florida. Democratic nomination is equivalent to election in Florida.

Highlights in other primaries:

Alabama—Sen. Lister Hill, advocate of returning his state to regular Democratic ranks, had a three to two lead over Lawrence McNeil, Birmingham business man and state's righter, for the senate nomination.

Ohio—Joseph T. Ferguson, state auditor, had a better than two to one lead in early returns over his nearest opponent in the seven-man contest for the Democratic senate nomination. The winner will oppose Republican Sen. Robert Taft in November.

Indiana—Seven opposed incumbent congressmen—four Democrats and three Republicans—held comfortable leads in first returns.

Lattimore Lashes Back At Budenz, McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Owen Lattimore poured out a bitter three-hour denunciation of his accusers Tuesday and charged Ex-Communist Louis F. Budenz with telling "hogwash" lies for "personal profit."

Banging the witness table, Lattimore divided his attack between Budenz and Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin who has called him Russia's top espionage agent in the United States.

He termed McCarthy a man who "disgraced his party and the people of his state and the nation."

Toward the end of his long outburst before a senate foreign relations subcommittee, Lattimore drew a rebuke from Committee Counsel Edward P. Morgan for straying away from "objectivity" in his remarks.

During cross-examination, Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) asked Lattimore whether he had ever recommended to an American government official that the United States recognized Russian-dominated outer Mongolia as a sovereign nation.

Lattimore replied that he had urged such a step in his writings and may have recommended it in a memorandum to the state department last August. He said he did not recall ever speaking to an American official about it.

'Home-Made' Bomb Exploded by Currier; No One Injured

A home-made bomb was exploded in the alley entrance on North Clinton street, east of Currier hall, about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday, police said.

No one was injured.

Police found newspaper packing in the alley way between 412 and 420 N. Clinton street, but neither the type of casing nor the explosive used in the bomb was known.

Tom Dorsey, A3, Keokuk, and Jack Parker, A2, Ionia, told police they saw five youths running away from the Currier hall area just after they heard the bomb go off.

Parker said one of the five was "very slim and very young-looking," and that he might be able to identify the youth if he ever saw him again.

Police are investigating a possible connection between the explosion and the burning of the entrance to the Delta Tau Delta fraternity house, 724 N. Dubuque street, Monday night.

Committee Chairmen Elected by Tailfeathers

Tailfeathers pep club Tuesday night elected committee chairmen for the 1950-1951 school term, according to President John D. Harris, C4, Humboldt, S.D. Elected were:

Entertainment committee — Mary J. Foster, A2, West Branch, and Dick Petrik, A3, Sioux City, co-chairmen.

Pep rally committee — Darrell Croot, A3, Sioux City, and Bob Stupay, G, Lisle, Ill., co-chairmen.

Art committee — Neal Bachman, A3, Shenandoah, chairman.

Communications committee — Pat Owens, A1, Des Moines, chairman.

Hillcrest Elects Moffit President

Tom Moffit, A2, Tipton, was elected president of Hillcrest dormitory at the annual election Tuesday night.

Three Hillcrest councilmen-at-large elected were Dale Bingham, A4, Manning; Robert Blesie, A3, Des Moines, and Edwin McCuen, A2, Gray.

Three students to serve on the South Quadrangle council also were elected Tuesday night. They were William Schmelzer, A3, West Union; Robert Kramer, A3, White Plains, N.Y., and Roy Forber, A3, Valley Stream, Long Island, N.Y.

Extension of Draft Urged by Bradley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, cautioned congress Tuesday the international situation has worsened since January and appealed for a two-year extension of the draft law.

He testified before the house armed services committee in support of an administration bill to continue the selective service act due to expire June 24. No one has been inducted under the law for more than a year, and defense officials have told the committee they do not expect to draft anyone as long as volunteer enlistments remain high.

Bradley said that keeping draft machinery on a stand-by basis is a cheap way to buy "from four to six months of essential time" in the event of full-scale mobilization for war.

He repeatedly stressed that the preparedness measure is needed just as much — if not more — now than it was when congress broke with precedent to vote a peacetime draft two years ago.

Fight for FEPC Set for Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leadership Tuesday picked next Monday for the start of the FEPC fight.

Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois, Democratic leader, said the party policy committee decided that a motion to bring up a bill for a compulsory fair employment practices commission will be made Friday.

He added that debate on the motion won't get underway, until after a week-end recess.

This motion is expected to provoke a southern Democratic filibuster. Lucas told reporters he expects to let the filibuster run along "two or three days" before he circulates a cloture petition to curb the talk.

Hunger, Not Operation, Bother Siamese Twins

EDMONTON, ALTA (AP)—Canada's only Siamese twins were unhappy Tuesday in Edmonton's Royal Alexandra hospital. It was because they had no breakfast.

Brenda and Beverley Townsend were brought from their small town home for a rare operation to separate them. The twins, about six months old, are joined at the abdomen. They had to go without breakfast while awaiting X-rays.

Unless examinations bring about a delay, four surgeons will perform the delicate operation May 14.

GETS 30 DAYS

John Neal, 502 W. Benton street, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail for petty larceny by acting Police Judge C.J. Hutchinson in police court Tuesday.

China Nationalists Abandon Hainan

TAIPEI, FORMOSA (WEDNESDAY) (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists today announced they had abandoned Hainan island to the Communists, but claimed they had brought off more troops than expected.

An official government statement said the last Nationalist unit pulled out Monday from the south coast port of Yulin, completing a "prearranged" withdrawal.

The statement asserted that the conquest of the south China island had cost the Communists nearly 30,000 troops.

Former Italian Premier Denounces United States

ROME (AP) — Italy's World War I premier declared Tuesday that the United States, Britain and France are no longer Italy's friends. He suggested that Italy reconsider her participation in the Atlantic pact.

Vittorio Emanuele Orlando, discussing Trieste in the senate, accused the three western powers of abandoning Italy in favor of Yugoslavia.

'Best Man' in Party to Feature Demo Day

Mrs. India Edwards, executive director of the women's division of the Democratic national committee, will be a featured speaker at the SUI Democratic Party day program next Tuesday.

Described by prominent Democrats as one of the "best men" in the party, Mrs. Edwards was appointed recently to high government posts.

Democratic and Republican Party days, May 9 and May 23, respectively, will bring other national political leaders here to advise students in both parties of ways in which they may participate in the coming local election campaigns.

Prof. Robert F. Ray, director of the SUI institute of public affairs, Tuesday named the following other speakers on the Democratic Party day program:

Jake More, chairman of the Democratic state central committee; Mary Shadow, member of the Tennessee general assembly and Tennessee Wesleyan college, and Rep. Richard Bolling (D-Mo) of Kansas City, now serving his first term in congress.

Names of Republican Party day speakers were not available Tuesday.

The Democratic program will be held in the house and senate chambers of Old Capitol Tuesday afternoon, with an evening session at the Iowa Union, Ray said.

Mrs. Edwards will deliver the

Panther, Loose on Ship, Claws Woman, 2 Others

BANGKOK, THAILAND (AP) — A black panther broke from its cage aboard ship in Bangkok harbor Tuesday, clawed a New York woman wild game collector and two other persons, and terrorized the crew for four hours before it was slain.

Genevieve Cuprys, 25, noted New York animal handler, was knocked down and clawed by the 85 pounds of unleashed animal fury that came snarling out of its cage aboard the Norwegian motorship Bratheim.

An Invasion from Redland —

Mayor Ralph Kronenwetter of Mosinee, Wis., lay critically ill in a hospital Tuesday after suffering a severe heart attack. The mayor's illness provided the only sad note in a 24-hour clamor seriously referred to as a "mock Communist revolution" in Mosinee.

The small Wisconsin town was put on the map Monday when newsmen and photographers flocked to see Mosinee's 2,200 citizens perpetrate an invasion by phony Red invaders—performed in full costume by the local American Legion members as an object lesson in the dangers of communism.

Probably when the scheme was first conceived by the Mosinee residents, they were dead serious about it as an educational device in what to expect in case "It Did Happen Here" by courtesy of the boys in the Kremlin.

However, as the zero hour for the May Day demonstration drew near, the boys became rather overzealous in their efforts and really warmed up to their task.

Mayor Kronenwetter was dragged out of his bed early Monday morning clad only in his polka-dot pajamas by a squad of "strong-arm" men. He was forced into the snowy streets and brought before a pseudo commissar who told the shivering mayor he was an "enemy of the people."

Everybody thought this was a big joke. Kronenwetter, who had planned to run for congress this fall, showed that he could go along with a gag and went through the arrest routine several times for the benefit of press and newsreel cameramen.

Just as the town was "about to be delivered from Communist dictatorship," the mayor was stricken. Obviously the gag had backfired. But the fun did not end there. The "Reds" had a whole series of routines complete with laughs and props.

Looking like a bunch of self-conscious local clubwomen giggling their way through the annual variety show, the invaders "executed" their police chief, took over their weekly newspaper, forced housewives to line up for ration cards to buy black bread and potato soup, held "rabble-rousing" rallies in a football field labeled "Red Square," and a number of other side-splitting stunts.

Of course, there were a few uncooperative kill-joys who wanted to go about their daily business, but there are always some "party-poopers" in every crowd.

The whole shindig was touched off late Monday night by a big bonfire in the local park. All that was lacking were marshmallows or frankfurters and some beer to wash them down to make it a real picnic.

But after the phony hammer and sickle flags and Communist banners were burned, and the town settled down to its normal daily activities, one wonders exactly how effective or inspiring the demonstration was.

A millworker was quoted as saying: "The invasion opened my eyes. I was lukewarm to the whole thing until I saw Sunday how seriously all the newspaper people regarded the threat."

The mock invasion provided a field day for the press because of its color and other Mardi Gras aspects. But did it teach any of the Mosinee citizens the evils or fallacies of communism? Did it prove to them that the American brand of democracy is superior to the Russian type?

It is doubtful. The demonstrations themselves seemed ridiculous. For instance, lining up for ration cards should not have been a new experience for Mosinee housewives. During the recent, but almost forgotten war against Fascism, American housewives sweated out whole series of lines to get their sugar, shoes and other hard to get rationed articles.

And as far as the pointed lesson of regimentation under martial rule, it is doubtful whether Mosinee citizens who served in the armed forces during World War II learned anything they didn't know before. There is little that is considered democratic about military life, and veterans do not have to play at it to know the real thing.

The protest leaflets distributed by real members of the Communist party in Wisconsin Sunday night indicated a decided stupidity in their leadership. Their efforts to stop the demonstration only dignified the Mosinee festival.

When bona fide Communists are that un-intelligent, one wonders how much there really is to fear of a coup from within.

Of course, there is always a danger of a real Communist invasion under the present state of relations between this country and Russia. But the ludicrous pageantry performed at Mosinee will not prepare Americans or prevent it.

It will take more than a few widely publicized "eye-openers" to combat such an attack. United States citizens will have to really understand the danger and the principles involved in our cold war with Russia. They will have to believe in their democracy and their country in all dead-seriousness.

And amateur theatricals is certainly not the medium for such education. The Associated Press gleaned some other comments about the mock invasion.

One tavern card player said: "Too darned cold to go fishing anyway."

Said a Mosinee merchant: "It was the bunk."

Athens Reaction . . .

The following statement was printed in the editorial section of The Daily Iowan a few days ago.

"It has been said that Iowa City is the 'Athens of America' and one of the great cultural centers of the mid-west."

The "It has been said," phrase is a typical journalistic outlet for irresponsible statements; quote your sources.

The word "America" takes in a lot of territory and, contrary to the conception of many natives of our great plains this country does extend east of Chicago, south of St. Louis and west of the Colorado mountain resorts. However, we can only speak for that part of our nation which lies to the east.

Your editorial speaks of culture. Culturally Iowa is unexciting. If Iowa City is one of the great cultural centers of the mid-west, then the rest of this great, windblown area is in worse shape than we had realized. It is a fact that cultural centers are always associated with large urban communities. Rural education has statistically been proved inferior.

Of course, if a university erects a tremendous fieldhouse and large union before considering a central library building we can scarcely consider this policy a reflection of cultural awareness. The eastern seaboard is very densely populated and urbanization is one of its outstanding characteristics. Citing New York City as one example, we offer a list of a few cultural institutions to be found there:

St. Johns university, Brooklyn college, Queens college, Long Island university, New York university, Columbia university, City College of New York, the 42nd Street Library (largest public library in existence), Metropolitan Opera house, Carnegie hall, Radio City Music hall, the Broadway Belt (about 25 successful plays running), Times Square, Hayden Planetarium, Museums of natural history, modern art, science and industry, and the Times and Tribune newspaper buildings.

If any replies are to be made we should appreciate a factual, objective rebuttal rather than a stream of invectives ("go back to where you came from" etc.) or hurt-pride laments.

Prepare for a startling expose of the entire mid-west!

Interpreting the News —

Tension Still High in Berlin

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The passage of May day without serious trouble in Berlin is being looked at hopefully in allied circles as a possible omen for May 28, when the Russian-sponsored youth movement in the eastern zone will stage a mass demonstration which once looked like it might become a "putsch" to take over all of the city.

Definite "putsch" threats followed the original announcement of the May 28 program, but since then there have been denials that any overt act is planned.

Allied circles have remained nervous, however, over both the May 1 and May 28 prospects. Troops were alerted and specially trained for street fighting. The whole atmosphere has been one of extreme tension.

The Communist-controlled east German police exhibited a definite desire Monday to avoid clashes, falling back before one relatively minor attack by west Germans rather than run the risk of a riot by retaliating against taunts and stones.

This might indicate a mere desire to make May 1 a rehearsal and await the real day. But somehow or other it gives the impression that Russia is not ready for the showdown which some of the more hotheaded German Communists promised for later in the month.

One aspect of the May day demonstrations in Berlin is curiously symbolic of the situation on the two sides of the iron curtain.

In the Russian zone there was a great Hitler-like show, conducted with military precision. Hundreds of thousands of people went through their paces in rehearsed pageantry. Everything was in order, and the odor of regimentation was strong.

On the western side the people straggled to the meeting place as though going to a picnic. It was a free-will demonstration of anti-Communism; hardly more than a soap-box rally, though of gigantic size, and breaking up after only an hour and a half of speech-making.

The Communist demonstration, on the other hand, was a timed program running through the day and into the night.

Everyone knows that there is a children's hospital across the river.

It is also no secret that there is a YWCA on campus.

Few realize, however, that to follow the simple recipe of putting the two together will uncover a very pleasant episode in the life of some SUJ coeds.

One of those episodes that increases, or brings back, your faith in human understanding, cooperation and kindness.

THE YMCA HAS a program wherein on Wednesday nights the girls go over to the children's wards at the hospital to entertain and keep company with the kids from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m.

Last week, I was fortunate (I should underscore the word fortunate) enough to accompany three girls, Shirley Snodgrass, Jerry Briggs and Charlotte Bates, on one of their Wednesday evening trips.

I WENT because I wanted to see just what kind of work they were doing and if it had any purpose to it. I'm glad I did; I was both enlightened and comforted in my curiosity.

I FOUND: One lonely hour in the time that sick children were spending in a hospital, turned into an hour of complete happiness for smiling kids spending their time singing and laughing. (This holds true except for a little brunette three year old doll who, from the minute I walked in began crying and didn't stop until I left. The great personal myth held in my mind — the myth of my appeal to young womanhood was forever confounded and destroyed.)

I FOUND: These girls to be representative of many others — sincerely devoting time because they had

Giant Statue to Honor Thomas Paine, Patriot

MORRISTOWN, N.J. — At long last a long-unappreciated and almost forgotten American Revolutionary War patriot is about to receive the recognition historians agree he so richly deserves.

An heroic statue of Thomas Paine will be unveiled on July 4, 1950, here at Morristown, the "military headquarters of the American Revolution."

Years ago France recognized the great services of this heroic figure with a statue by Borglum, but this will be the first statue of this Revolutionary war figure ever erected in America on public land.

New Jersey is also considering changing the name of United States Route 202 to the "Thomas Paine Highway."

It is a question if there would be any United States today if it had not been for Thomas Paine. This was the opinion of John Adams and most historians now agree that his powerful and eloquent pen was largely responsible for the American Revolution and the independence this nation enjoys today.

The American colonies did not want to secede from the British empire, as their attachment by blood, language and other ties were deep-rooted. They simply wanted redress of what they believed were wrongs and injustices and nothing more.

The first Continental Congress

in its petition to the king in October, 1774, solemnly said, "Your royal authority over us and our connection with Great Britain we shall always carefully endeavor to support and maintain."

EVEN in the protest against the Stamp Act, congress said that the Colonies' connection with Great Britain was their "great happiness and security" and that "they most ardently desired its perpetual continuance."

However, Thomas Paine, an Englishman by birth, a French citizen by decree, and an American by choice and adoption, believed that the Colonies should declare their independence. It was his eloquent and moving "Common Sense" and "The Crisis" which aroused the people to the danger of losing their liberties.

"No writing ever more instantly swung men to its humour," said Woodrow Wilson. Without the pen of Thomas Paine we probably would have had no Declaration of Independence.

There are books written by learned scholars, like Joseph Lewis of the Thomas Paine Memorial committee, which have sought to prove that the author of the declaration was Thomas Paine, and not Thomas Jefferson.

Paine helped begin the American Revolution with his pamphlet, "Common Sense," and helped win it with his "The Crisis," that inspiring exhortation which began with the memorable words, "These are the times that try men's souls."

WHEN the colonies were shrinking from a long contest with the British empire and uncertain regarding the course they should follow, Paine cried:

"Tyranny, like Hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph."

"What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; it is dearness only that gives everything its value. Heaven knows how to put a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange indeed, if so celestial an article as freedom should not be highly rated."

Paine, in the opinion of those who are most familiar with his career, was an intellectual of the type, if not the great attainments, of Thomas Jefferson. He fought fiercely for and wrote eloquently of the rights and the dignity of the individual oppressed by all-powerful kings.

He would have shrunk with horror from Fascist or Communist totalitarianism, which merely replaces an absolute monarch with an absolute dictator. Were he alive today he would be the foremost critic of the aggressions and the enslavement of nations as practiced by Soviet Russia. These are everything he hated with the fervor of an old Hebrew prophet.

The 14-foot giant Morristown statue of Paine is the work of sculptor Georg Lober. It is a subject on which he has lavished nearly every waking hour for almost two years. He affectionally refers to the statue as "Tom."

The statue will be erected in Burnham park at the end of Colonial road. That, as near as historians can estimate, is where Paine sat when, with a drum as a desk and a flint-lock across his knees, he penned much of his "Crisis" papers. The statue shows Paine in that act.

SUI Style Show Feature Warm Weather Fashion

Landlubbers were taken on a "Spring Fashion Cruise" Monday in the River Room of the Iowa Union during a style show conducted by Oliver Berry, college fashion advisor for the Simplicity Pattern company.

The show was sponsored by the SUI Home Economics club. When the gangplank was lowered, outfits for deck sports trips on shore and swimming suits were modeled.

Miss Berry emphasized that even though there isn't a cruise in the offing, the gay and colorful clothes would fit appropriately into a college girl's wardrobe.

Variety of Dresses
Dress creations ranged from a simple beige rayon dress for "Anchors Aweigh" to a blue nylon dance frock for a "Farewell Dance."

Accessories are an important feature of the wardrobe, Miss Berry showed, by adding bright silk scarves, colorful orange boleros and coral trimmed sunglasses to many of the outfits.

Double-Duty Outfits
Versatility of styling was also shown in a white terrycloth bra and shorts play outfit. It was modeled with a shirt or "poncho" of red sateen and if desired a tapir-printed cotton halter and skirt might be added.

Another double-duty outfit was a ginger faille sheath dress and bolero. For night wear the bolero could be removed and the skirt given the added attraction of a black pleated tulle overskirt.

Coed Models
Models of the college "cruise" were Mary Lou Thomas, A4, Marion; Gladys Meeker, A4, Iowa City; Bonnie Wanamaker, A4, Cedar Rapids; Marilyn Anderson, A4, Des Moines; Dorothy Achenbach, A4, Lisbon; Helen Dee Kinsey, A4, Des Moines; Sarah Durst, A4, Danbury.

Delores Haney, A4, Glenwood; Dorothy Koivun, A3, Moline; Lois Moore, A4, Maxwell; Kathryn Kelly, A2, Iowa City; Marilyn Long, A4, Renwick; Patricia Smith, A3, Ames; Marjorie Thurn, A2, Davenport.

Norma Gerard, A2, Iowa City; Alma Jane Doornink, A4, Orono; Joyce Scott, A4, Guthrie Center; Anna Marie Bullers, A4, Newton, and Shirley Beers, A4, Waterloo.

Bach, 60 Students To Attend Church Services at Norway

Prof. Marcus Bach of the school of religion and about 60 SUI students Sunday will attend services in the Church of the Holy Jerusalem, four miles south of Norway, Iowa.

The students attending the service are in Bach's two classes, "Religious Groups in America" and "Protestant Faiths," Bach said.

"Swedenborgianism (the religion of this church) teaches us that a knowledge of God comes to us by revelation," he said. The name of the religion comes from its founder, Emanuel Swedenborg, who was a Swedish philosopher and scientist, Bach explained.

The Rev. John L. Boyer, director of the Swedenborgian philosophical center near the University of Chicago, will be the worship speaker.

Following the morning worship service, the students and Bach will be served a picnic lunch by the congregation. During the afternoon, Bach will lead a discussion group on the basic beliefs of Swedenborgianism.

"The best way to understand the groups we study is to meet the people and join them in their worship," Bach said.

Spartans Here For 2-G

Hawks Tied for 3rd With 3-2 Loop Mark

With the Big Ten race at the halfway mark, Iowa's baseball team takes on Michigan State in a two-game series on the home diamond Friday and Saturday, the games having no bearing on the outcome of the conference scramble.

The Spartans are now members of the Western conference but their games in baseball will not count in the league standings until the 1951 season.

Tied For Third

Coach Otto Vogel's Hawkeys are now tied for third in the Big Ten, having split series with Illinois and Indiana and taking the first of a scheduled two-game series with Purdue. The second game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Next chance for the Hawks to move up in the standings will be May 12 and 13 in Madison, Wis. The Friday game will be a night affair, followed Saturday by an afternoon game with the Badgers.

Michigan State has a 7-6 won and lost record to date, including victories over Purdue, Michigan and Ohio State. At present Michigan is in first place in the conference, with a 4-0 record.

Vogel will probably start left-hander Dick Hoeksema in the Friday contest, with right-hander Glenn Drahn to pitch Saturday. Hoeksema has now pitched 41 innings, allowed 35 hits and 16 runs and compiled a four and one record. He has struck out 40 batters.

Have Won 11

Including non-conference games Iowa has won 11 of 15 games played. The remainder of the schedule includes two-game sets with Michigan State, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Northwestern and Western Michigan.

As a team the Hawkeys are batting .246 and fielding .854.

There are 28 athletic events scheduled to take place for Iowa teams during the month of May, seven during the first week.

In addition to the Michigan State baseball series Friday and Saturday the first of three straight dual meets with conference opponents is next for the track team. The Iowans compete against Northwestern at Evanston Saturday.

In the indoor meet Iowa easily defeated the Wildcats. Russ Merkel, the hurdler who has scored 50 points, will lead the Hawkeys.

A three-meet trip faces the tennis team: Purdue at Lafayette Friday, Indiana at Bloomington Saturday and Notre Dame at South Bend Monday. Iowa opened its season with a 5-4 loss to Illinois last Saturday.

The Iowa golfers take on Michigan at Chicago Saturday and Minnesota on Finkbine course Monday.

Won't Name Coach Before

The new University of Iowa basketball coach won't be named before next week, Athletic Director Paul Brecher said Tuesday.

Although the Iowa athletic board hopes to have the coach picked in the near future, Brecher said, the announcement will not be made before the state board of education meeting at Ames May 10 and 11.

The athletic board's action must be approved by University President Virgil M. Hancher as well as the board of education.

Six men now remain as candidates for the job after a meeting of the athletic board staff committee, Brecher said. He did not mention names.

Paul Moon, Davenport high school coach, and Frank (Bucky) O'Connor, Iowa freshman coach, are considered to be the top prospects to succeed Lawrence (Pop) Harrison, who was fired by the athletic board April 10.

Cubs Outlast Phillies In Hitting Duel, 10-8

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs outlasted the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-8, in a loosely-played slugfest Tuesday before a shivering crowd of 6,278.

The Cubs routed Ken Heintzelman with seven runs in the first two innings and remained in the lead all the way. They hammered six hurriers for 16 hits, including nine doubles.

Bob Rush registered his second victory for the Cubs, but he needed a lift from the aging Dutch Leonard in the final two rounds. The Phillies collected nine hits and were helped along by four errors.

Rudy Kundert, the Philly batboy, was struck in the head by a line foul off the bat of Stan Lopata in the second inning. He recovered consciousness within a few minutes. However, he was carried off the field on a stretcher and taken to Illinois masonic hospital for X-rays.

Boxox Top Indians, 6-1, Doby Spoils No-Hitter

BOSTON (AP)—Maurice McDermott, string bean Red Sox left hander fashioned six consecutive hitless and eight straight runless sessions Tuesday as the Boston American leaguers gained a 6-1 victory over Cleveland's Indians.

The great majority of 11,591 paid fans and 747 women guests moaned as Larry Doby beat out an infield hit to start Cleveland's seventh inning and they groaned again in the ninth when old pro Joe Gordon belted a 3-2 pitch over the left field wall for the Indians' only run.

Cleveland, 000 000 001-1 4 0 Boston, 116 030 108-6 11 3 Garcia, Bardone, Benton (8) and Hegan; McDermott (2-1) and Tebbets, Losing pitcher, Garcia (0-1). Home runs—Williams (4th), Gordon (1st).

Pro-Tennis Match Ticket Sales Start

Reserved seats for the professional tennis matches in the Iowa fieldhouse May 15 are now on sale, according to Business Manager Frank Havlicek.

They may be purchased, in person or by mail, from the department of athletics in the fieldhouse for $1.50 each. Tickets are also on sale at Racine's and Whetstones.

The four-man troupe will play three hours of tennis beginning at 7:30 p.m. Pancho Gonzalez, the 1948 and 1949 United States amateur champion, will continue his personal duel with Jack Kramer, the world's professional titlist.

LAMOTTA IN TITLE BOUT NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight Champion Jake LaMotta Tuesday agreed to defend his title in Yankee stadium June 14 against an opponent who will be named in two weeks.

Hawks Face 'Cats In 1st Outdoor Dual

Favorable weather for the past two days has allowed Iowa's track team to get some much-needed practice on the outdoor oval before opening the conference schedule at Northwestern Saturday.

Although the cinder track is still not in top condition, the Hawk trackmen — especially the hurdlers and discus men — have sorely needed the larger space.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier is looking forward to stretching his charges' dual meet victory string to three straight at the expense of the Wildcats in the league opener. The 'Cats were victims of Iowa in an indoor dual last February, 73-41.

The Hawkeys also out-pointed Northwestern in a quadrangular meet at Champaign, Ill. last winter.

Bob Clifton, basketball player turned hurdler, has been looking good in recent practices and should help the Iowa dual cause along this year. Another cager, Chuck Darling, has been making good showings in both the shot and discus.

Nurses Study Care of Polio

Work sessions are now being held at the SUI college of nursing as part of an institute on nursing care of polio patients.

The institute began Monday and will continue through Thursday. Attending are nurses in supervisory and teaching positions, all experienced in polio nursing.

Each person attending the work sessions is expected to return to her local area and hold similar institutes, according to Institute Chairman Pauline Campbell, instructor at the college.

Discussions and panels are open to the public, but the practical training is being limited to a small group of nurses.

Eighteen SUI staff members make up the institute faculty.

Dr. W. D. Paul, associate professor in internal medicine at SUI, Monday discussed Iowa's needs in combating polio, stressing the need for preparedness.

The importance of nursing care during the acute stage of the disease was pointed out by Miss Campbell.

Mrs. Olive Farr, head of physical therapy, and Teresa Fallon, consultant for the Joint Orthopedic Nursing Advisory service in New York City, Tuesday discussed bed patient care.

Mrs. Carmelita Calderwood Hears, specialist in orthopedic nursing and formerly of the University hospitals staff, discussed nursing during the convalescent and reconstructive phases of the disease.

Prof. Amy Frances Brown of the SUI college of nursing, spoke on the need of organizing volunteer and lay personnel during an epidemic.

Gas Turbine Expert Talks to Engineers At First Conference

The first in the SUI student engineers' series of conferences on gas turbines, featuring B.A. Hatch, gas turbine specialist from the General Electric company, was held Tuesday afternoon.

A student symposium will follow on May 17 and a final lecture May 24.

Gas turbines as used in jet planes are now commonplace. Most persons have either seen or read about them. Knowledge of their operating principles is not widespread, however, even among engineers.

The present series of lectures is an attempt to provide SUI engineers with this information.

Although gas turbines had their earliest application as sources of power for jet planes, they are now beginning to be used in the industrial field, according to Prof. A.P. Boehmer of the SUI mechanical engineering department.

Their increased use points out the need for widespread knowledge of their operation, Boehmer said.

Dr. J.T. Rettaliata, dean of engineering at Illinois Institute of Technology and a foremost authority in the gas turbine field, will give the final lecture in the series.

Art Guild to Sponsor Exhibit Here Sunday

Art Guild Pres. Yvette Wright, A4, Ridgefield, Conn., said the 59 works to be exhibited will include the six prize winners chosen by Jurists Ben Shahn, contemporary artist, and Herman Cherry, contemporary sculptor.

Two in Pouch — Kangaroos Double Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joey, a baby kangaroo at the Philadelphia zoo, hopped out of his mother's pouch Tuesday and promptly was kidnapped by his aunt.

Joey wound up firmly wedged in his aunt's vest pocket alongside his baby cousin. One of the two is upside down in the crowded quarters.

The aunt won't give up the kidnapped baby despite the fact she has one of her own and there isn't room for two in her carrier.

Joey's grandmother, Susie, is aloof in the family quarrel, letting her daughters settle the matter of maternity and custody themselves. Besides Susie, at the ripe old kangaroo age of 13, is a mother herself again.

Zoo officials, who can't remember anything like it ever happening before, followed the grandmother's lead. They figured the situation would straighten itself out.

"We'll let them alone," Director Roger Conant said. "Maybe she'll get tired of carrying two babies and kick one out."

How Joey came to share his cousin's quarters hasn't been determined. Until this morning, he had done nothing more adventurous than pop out his head to see what was going on, like all baby kangaroos.

Then attendants noticed Joey's mother had no baby, and her older sister had two. They jammed the older mother's pouch, to overflowing. One had its head out. The other's legs and tail waved free. That, guessed zoo officials, was the Johnny-come-lately Joey.

49 Get Licenses to Wed

Senior SUI Woman Wins Emory Award In Home Economics

Margaret Inman, A4, Keokuk, has been awarded the Imogene Emory scholarship award of $50 for outstanding work in home economics, according to Prof. Sybil Woodruff, head of the SUI home economics department.

Miss Inman, who is majoring in home economics teacher training, said she plans to use the scholarship for graduate work. She has been active this year as a Currier hall unit chairman and member of Currier council.

The scholarship is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution from a grant by Miss Emory, and has been awarded to one senior girl at Iowa State College in Ames, one at Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls, and Miss Inman.

Selection of winners is based on outstanding work in home economics, scholarship, college activities, character and personality. The home economics faculty of each school nominated the woman they felt should receive the award.

This is the first time the scholarship has been awarded since before the war.

Nations Behind Iron Curtain To Crack Hoffman Predicts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Paul C. Hoffman, Marshall Plan administrator, predicted Tuesday that the Soviet's satellite empire will "crack quite suddenly" under the stress of tensions now building behind the iron curtain.

But he said victory in the cold war calls for redoubled efforts here and abroad to turn the "near miracle" of European recovery into a "full-fledged" one before the Marshall Plan ends in 1952.

No Date on Collapse

Hoffman set no date on his forecast of a collapse of the Red empire. "Eleven years ago," he told delegates to the United States chamber of commerce convention, "we had three dictators to worry about—Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin. Two are gone, and I expect to live long enough to see the third one go."

Hoffman's views were supported by columnist Walter Lippmann who told the forum session on "winning the peace" that the "breakaway" of the satellites has already begun.

Tito Break Hopeful

"Tito's break with Moscow is the greatest event since the end of the war," Lippmann said. "Poland would go the way of Yugoslavia if it had an open frontier to the west."

The chamber meanwhile heard Dr. Edwin C. Nourse, former chairman of the president's council of economic advisers, warn against throwing more millions into the national defense budget "every time Joe Stalin throws a scare into us."

Council to Consider Three Bids on New City Street Markers

One of the three bids on furnishing Iowa City with street marking signs and posts probably will be accepted by the city council at its regular meeting Monday night, Alderman Charles T. Smith said Tuesday.

The council received and opened the bids April 24. It had asked for bids on markers and posts for about 120 Iowa City intersections.

Bidders on four-way markers were Iowa Municipal Supply company, Marshalltown, $5.50 each; Globe Machinery and Supply company, Cedar Rapids, $6 each, and Lyle Signs, Inc., Minneapolis, $6.35 each.

On two-way markers the Marshalltown firm bid $3.50 each, and the Minneapolis firm bid $4.15.

The Minneapolis firm submitted other bids on signs with carved rather than embossed letters and on bracket signs that are not mounted at the top of posts but around light poles.

The Minneapolis firm bid 24 cents per foot on pipe for sign-posts; the Marshalltown firm, 23 cents per foot, and the Cedar Rapids firm, about 36 cents per foot plus a $20 cutting charge for preparing 120 posts.

Tired of School

NEW YORK (AP)—Police reported that three 14-year-old high school girls tried to kill themselves Tuesday because they were "tired of school."

Governor to Review SUI Military May 10

Gov. William S. Beardsley will review the SUI ROTC regiment at the annual Governor's day review May 10 at the women's athletic field south of the Iowa Union.

The review, with both advanced and basic military students participating, will start about 11 a.m. Col. Cecil Henry, representing the commanding general of the 10th airforce, will be guest at the review.

Iowa State college will send Capt. William Royal, professor of naval science and tactics, as its representative.

Beardsley will fly from Des Moines to Iowa City, SUI military department officials said Tuesday.

A dinner and reception will be held in the main lounge of the Iowa Union at noon, following the review.

SUI military department faculty members, second year advanced students and guests will attend the dinner and reception.
