Dixie Senators Block Action On Truman's FEPC Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern senators won their fight Friday to block consideration of the hotly-disputed fair employment practice (FEPC) bill.

Although the backers of this key measure in President Truman's "civil rights" program promised to try again, there was hardly a shred of doubt that the measure was dead for the session.

A motion to apply the debating rule failed. It would have taken the votes of 64 members — two thirds of the full senate — to invoke it. Only 52 senators voted for the so-called gag rule — 12 short of the required number. Thirty-two senators opposed it.

The cloture move was not aimed at curbing debate on the bill itself, which never has formally been before the senate. It was designed to shut off further talk on a motion by Democratic Leader Scott Lucas (Ill.) to bring the measure up for consideration. Two weeks ago Lucas moved to call up the bill, and southern opponents announced their intention of trying to talk it to death.

Southerners Jubilant
Republicans were quick to point out that a far larger proportion of their number voted for closing off the debate than among the Democrats.

The Republicans' score: for cloture, 33; against, 6. Democrats: for, 19; against, 26. Sen. Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, immediately claimed that the roll call demonstrated his party — the party of the great emancipator, Abraham Lincoln — is the only agency through which equal opportunity legislation can be accomplished.

Wherry Took Lead
Wherry took the lead in putting across the two-third rule as a compromise. Lucas declared it would not work to limit debate, while Wherry claimed it would if enough Democrats went along with Republicans.

Friday was the first test of the revised procedure. The bill would set up a permanent federal commission and instruct it to prevent discrimination in the hiring, firing and promotion of workers on account of color, race, religion or national origin. The commission would be empowered to go to the federal courts to enforce its decision.

Taft Denies Deal To Defeat FEPC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said Friday that a report he made a "cold blooded deal" with southern Democrats to defeat the fair employment practices commission bill was "an unmitigated lie."

Columbian Drew Pearson wrote the story in his syndicated newspaper column. He said Taft promised Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) to hold back enough GOP votes to defeat FEPC if Dixie senators would vote against a proposal to reorganize the national labor relations board.

Switchmen's Strike Postponed Till June

WASHINGTON (AP) — An AFL switchmen's strike scheduled for next Tuesday on 10 midwestern railroads was postponed Friday until June 1.

The national (railway) mediation board obtained the postponement and will try to settle the dispute before the next strike deadline. Mediation is to start next Tuesday in Washington.

Francis A. O'Neill Jr., chairman of the board, said the union is asking a reduction of the work week from 48 to 40 hours and double time for Sundays.

The 40 hour week, with an increase in hourly pay, was granted to members of 17 so-called non-operating railroad unions effective last September 1.

The five operating brotherhoods, including the switchmen's union, were excluded. However, three of those operating brotherhoods are now trying to win the same concessions from the nation's rail carriers under provisions of the railway labor act.

Senator Proposes Moral Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala) Friday introduced in the senate a resolution calling for a sweeping investigation of the employment of homosexuals by the federal government.

Hill submitted the resolution on behalf of the senate appropriations committee's District of Columbia subcommittee. The subcommittee earlier in a closed door session had unanimously endorsed the probe, suggested by Hill and Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R-Neb.), who had been authorized months ago to look into the matter.

Wherry furnished the committee a report quoting Washington police as estimating that 3,700 homosexuals are employed here by the federal government, with an estimated 300 to 400 in the state department alone. The state department promptly said that to the best of its knowledge there are no sex perverts on its rolls and that if any are found, they will be fired summarily.

Jersey Town Rocked by Munitions Barge Explosion

EXPLOSION OF FOUR MUNITIONS BARGES in the South Amboy N.J. harbor Friday night injured over 300 persons and killed at least two. The blast caused damage in South Amboy, Perth Amboy and Ferd and set nearby barges and docks on fire. Most injuries were caused by flying glass. Store fronts and homes were caved in by the explosion and debris from the barges was scattered for nearly a mile.

Question Ohio Arsonist About 1944 Circus Fire

COLUMBUS, OHIO (UP) — A 21-year-old Circleville, Ohio, man who told officials he set some fires when "awakened by the little red indian," Friday was questioned about the tragic Hartford, Conn., "big top" fire in which 169 persons died and 682 were injured.

Robert D. Segee was held incommunicado in Franklin county jail here as police and arson investigators fired questions at him regarding the Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey circus fire in 1944.

"Red Indian"
Prosecutor Guy Cline from Pickaway county said the "red indian" mentioned by Segee referred to the "flaming red horseman" used as an advertising symbol by the national fire underwriters association.

Segee, who was picked up in East St. Louis, Ill., Wednesday, admitted setting several fires in wastebaskets in Columbus hotels, Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff, also of Pickaway county said. Radcliff made it plain, however, that Segee had admitted nothing regarding the circus fire.

Series of Fires
Segee's arrest came as arson officials of the state fire marshal's office investigated a series of fires in the vicinity of Circleville. They said their investigation linked Segee through two convicted arsonists, William Graham, 24, and William Cradlebaugh, 46, both of Circleville.

State Fire Marshal Harry Callan, who was given custody of Segee, said preliminary investigation showed that "it should be quite a story" when all the details come to light. He said Segee was being questioned concerning fires in "three states."

Rightists, Leftists Revolt In Bolivia, 13 Killed

LA PAZ, BOLIVIA (AP) — Police and troops fought a daylong running battle Friday against left-wing and right-wing insurgents, armed with machine guns and rifles, in the hills above La Paz.

Authoritative sources said at least 13 were killed and 60 wounded in the fighting Thursday night and Friday. The dead included one soldier and four police, they said, and eight soldiers and five policemen were wounded.

1,300 ROTC Cadets Honor President Hancher

Rain chased the fourth annual President's review into the SUI armory for the second year in a row Friday when President Virgil M. Hancher was honored by about 1,300 ROTC cadets in the last formal review of this school year. Because of the crowded conditions in the armory and fieldhouse, only two of the four battalions took part in the marching. The other two groups observed the maneuver from the bleachers in the fieldhouse.

Also missing because of the small area for marching, was the SUI marching band, but the Scottish Highlanders performed as scheduled.

Following the review President Hancher, Col. W.W. Jenna, professor of military science and tactics, and Maj. Irvin Parsons, professor of air science and tactics, spoke to the assembly of cadets.

Southern Methodist Coed Bears Child In Dormitory Room

DALLAS, TEXAS (AP) — A blonde, 18-year-old Southern Methodist university coed gave birth to a baby in a campus dormitory, police disclosed Friday.

The infant was found dead Thursday morning in a cardboard box in a trash disposal unit, less than 12 hours after the birth.

University Park Police Chief Forrest Keene said the unmarried coed readily admitted mothering the child.

Attended Classes
Further, Keene said, she attended classes Wednesday afternoon, 12 hours before the birth, and again Thursday morning, some six hours after the baby was born, unattended, in a bathroom at the dormitory, Virginia Hall. Keene also said the girl worked her normal two-hour trick at the dormitory switchboard Thursday afternoon.

Keene said the girl — a sophomore majoring in sociology — was an orphan and was the legal ward of a farm woman living near Athens, Texas.

University authorities maintained strict silence. Willis Tate, dean of students, professed no knowledge of the case beyond discovery of the body, but the SMU registration office said it had orders not to give out any information on the girl student.

No Charges
Authorities said, unofficially, that they expected no charges would be filed in the case.

Keene said apparently not many, if any, of the girls living at Virginia Hall knew of the pregnancy.

"Some of them told me they noticed she was gaining a little weight," the chief said, "but I haven't found one who says she even suspected the girl was pregnant."

Her roommate, Keene said, was asleep a few feet away and professed to know nothing of the actual birth when the police chief talked to her.

U.S. KEEPS RUBBER PLANTS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The house Friday passed and sent to the senate legislation to keep the government in the synthetic rubber business for another three years.

The Chicago Tribune medals for second year basic students went to Roger Tutton, A2, Lisbon, and Donald Heaton, A1, Council Bluffs.

The first-year basic medals went to Alex Innes, A1, Sloan, and George Waller, A1, Sioux City.

William Olson Jr., E4, Iowa City, and Keith Nicodemus, E2, Vinton, received the Tribune medals for fourth and third year advanced students, respectively.

Robert Grahl, A4, Des Moines, 2nd colonel, received Airforce association citation.

The Johnson County Reserve Officer association award went to Don Woodard, A2, Kansas City, Missouri.

Munitions Barge Blast Rocks New Jersey Port

'Okay, Boys, Toss for Me!'

If war breaks out, one SUI student will give the military brass in Washington a real case of double vision.

Mike Rodin, G, Burlington, an enlisted man in the U.S. Marine corps reserve, received an appointment May 10 as civilian oceanographer with the U. S. navy hydrographic office in Suitland, Md.

The following day Mike was appointed a second lieutenant with the U.S. airforce reserve.

This last appointment automatically cancelled his marine corps enlistment but he's still classified both as navy and army personnel.

The big question now is: What happens to Mike if he's drafted?

Hess Pleads Not Guilty At Assault Arraignment

Geoffrey L. Hess, 214 N. Dubuque street, former SUI freshman, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault with intent to commit great bodily harm in a district court arraignment Friday morning.

Hess was one of 12 persons who entered pleas Friday on charges made in 11 grand jury indictments and one county attorney's information.

They included four Johnson county tavern owners, who pleaded guilty to indictments charging illegal possession of gambling devices.

Drinking Glass
Hess, 28, was charged with striking Robert Seydel, 18-year-old St. Mary's high school student, with a fragment of a broken drinking glass April 26 in the D and L restaurant.

The defendant posted bond and was released until the case comes up for trial this summer.

Hess also faces a $12,500 personal damage suit filed by Seydel's father in April.

Tavern Operators
The four tavern operators, each fined $100, were William Krofta, Schiltz tavern, Oxford; R. E. Rosenger, Town Pump, Oxford; L. J. Yutzy, Town Tavern, Oxford, and C. J. Michel, Duffy's tavern, 221 S. Dubuque street.

Clem Hartman, Iowa City, pleaded guilty to stealing a $20 jacket from a car parked on Clinton street April 16. His sentence was 60 days in jail or $100 and 30 days.

Two persons pleaded guilty to operating motor vehicles while intoxicated. They were Herman Martin Culbert, Waterloo, and Martin J. Sovers, Solon. Both received sentences of $300 or 90 days.

Pleading not guilty were: Joseph C. Gedraitis, Newton, charged with writing a false check payable to an Iowa City store Nov. 27, 1948.

Paul B. Akers, West Branch, and Donald B. Tucker, both charged with operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent April 24.

Carl Henry Rutter, charged with operating a motor vehicle while his operator's license was under suspension.

City Pool to Open On Memorial Day

The Iowa City swimming pool in City park will be open Memorial day, May 30, for persons wanting to spend their holiday swimming, but it will not open for the summer season until June 3.

J. Edgar Frame, director of the recreation center, Friday announced the opening date, which was determined by the Iowa City playground and recreation commission.

The pool will be open from 1 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. throughout the season after June 3.

Iowa Woman Killed, Husband Wounded By 'Unliked' Bachelor

GLADSBROOK (AP) — An unemployed bachelor who believed "nobody liked him" shot and killed a neighbor woman Friday and wounded her husband.

Albert Peters, 52, was captured after exchanging shots with a police officer and placed in city jail for an investigation by county authorities. His aged mother aided in his capture.

County Attorney Walter J. Willett, Tama, said he would file first degree murder charges in an information against Peters "either today or Monday."

Killed was Mrs. William Murray, 65, who had called at Peters' home at his request. Mrs. Murray's husband was wounded in the shoulder when he came to aid his wife.

Willett said Peters told him he had been planning "to get" Mrs. Murray for at least two days.

"He kind of had it in for her because she was a friend of his mother's," Willett said. "He thought that everybody had it in for him, that no one liked him."

Police Chief Jim Wolf said he was called to Peters' home soon after the initial shots were fired. He said that Peters fired at him in efforts to avoid arrest.

Peters fled to an adjoining house and attempted to escape from there by using his mother and another woman as a shield.

But his mother fell at her son's feet and allowed Wolf to close in for the capture.

Finance Chairman To Explain GOP

James S. Schramm of Burlington, Republican state finance chairman, will speak on "What the Republican Party Stands For" during SUI's Republican Party Day Tuesday.

Schramm and three other outstanding Iowa Republicans will emphasize the activities of their party in Iowa. Rep. Hugh D. Scott, (R-Pa.), will be the only speaker from outside the state.

Governor William Beardley will lead the Iowa contingent. Others in the group are Mrs. Kathryn Metz, Decatur county state representative, and Red Birdsall, Linn county chairman.

Schramm, who will appear at 2 p.m. in Old Capitol, is co-manager of the J.S. Schramm Co., Burlington. He conducted the Mediapolis forum for farmers last summer.

Mrs. Metz, who will speak on opportunities for young women in the party, is publisher of The Lamoni Chronicle. She was one of the three women members of Iowa's 53rd general assembly.

MILITARY TRAINING
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman declared Friday night that if Congress had approved universal military training five years ago "there would have been no cold war."

Several Killed, 300 Injured, Heavy Damage

SOUTH AMBOY, N.J. (AP) — Four munition-laden barges mushroomed skyward in a terrific explosion at the South Amboy docks Friday night, killing several persons and injuring nearly 300.

Officials said damage to homes and stores alone would run to more than $1-million.

The munitions were destined for overseas shipment.

The blast rocked the dock area just as most residents were sitting down to their evening meal. Cause of the detonation was not immediately determined.

Scene of Confusion
Suddenly, the city of 10,000 persons, some 30 miles south of New York, was a scene of blood, debris and confusion.

Police still had no complete estimate of the dead more than four hours later. Reports of fatalities ranged from two to six.

Fierce fires raged on shore and on two barges adrift in Raritan bay.

Mayor John B. Leonard proclaimed a state of emergency and state police riaged off the city. Leonard said 3,000 of the 4,000 homes in South Amboy were damaged.

"I thought Stalin was over here," 63-year-old Charles Bersin, a barge worker caught at the center of the blast, said.

Waves of Heat
Waves of heat were seen boiling skyward as far as three miles away.

Rescuers found the headless body of a man floating in Raritan bay.

Seconds after the explosion, confusion and panic reigned in the streets, already jammed with Friday night shoppers.

"People were cut by flying glass and they stood as if hypnotized as blood poured from their wounds," Mrs. Andrew Kudrick said.

"The center of town was utter confusion with fire engines and police sirens adding to the din," she added.

Soldiers Swarm In
Hundreds of state police, national guardsmen, soldiers, coast guardsmen and auxiliaries swarmed into the city from all over the state.

Soldiers, with drawn bayonets, guarded banks and stores left gaping open after the blast.

South Amboy general hospital was jammed beyond capacity with more than 100 casualties and nearby Perth Amboy general hospital reported 160 cases, 41 in serious condition and admitted to the hospital.

Hospital Supplies Depleted
"Most of our supplies have been depleted by the terrific onslaught of injured," A.W. Eckert, Perth Amboy hospital director said.

No mass evacuation was ordered, but many families were leaving town voluntarily and some sent their children out.

Assistant Fire Chief Thomas Conroy said seven boxcars with 600 tons of explosives were being loaded into four barges at the time the blast let go at 5:25 p.m. (Iowa time).

Barge Blast Stuns Crowds of Shoppers

SOUTH AMBOY, N.J. (AP) — "I saw a body with its head blown off and parts of bodies scattered in the debris."

This eye witness description of the blast — rocked dock area of this stunned city of 10,000 persons came from Steve Dobrynski of Keyport, a coal barge skipper who had left the scene only moments before the explosion.

One of the first persons to reach the scene, Dobrynski said he had to duck a shower of mud, parts of buildings and litter of all kinds to get to the scene. He saw the body of a man on a nearby coal barge next to where the explosive-laden boats were being loaded.

Seconds after the explosion, confusion and panic reigned in the streets already jammed with Friday night shoppers. Store windows were splintered, the glass gashing and cutting passersby.

Hypocrisy in the GOP —

The fair employment practices bill is a dead issue as far as this session of congress is concerned. For all practical purposes, this key measure in President Truman's civil rights program was killed Friday when a coalition of southern Democratic and northern Republican senators provided the one-third vote necessary to block the cloture or "gag" rule limiting debate in the senate so that the motion could be by the filibustering Southerners.

What is interesting is a seemingly hypocritical statement made by Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Republican floor leader. Wherry declared Friday that "the party of the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln (the GOP), is the only agency" through which the measure could be passed.

Wherry pointed out that more Democrats than Republicans voted against the cloture rule. Perhaps Wherry forgets that he himself led the fight to require a two-thirds vote, instead of a simple majority vote to close debate in the senate. Of course the southern Democrats were expected to vote en masse against any ruling which allows consideration of a bill intending to prevent discrimination in the hiring, firing and promotion of workers on account of color, race, religion or national origin. If there were no Dixiecrats in the senate, there wouldn't be any need for FEPC.

But six members of the "party of Abraham Lincoln" did vote against the cloture which considers all absent votes as negative votes. The measure lost by only 12 votes.

If the GOP was sincere about its announced statements of providing equal opportunity legislation, why didn't it present a united front with the liberal Democrats to get the ruling passed?

Somehow Wherry's high-toned words have a counterfeit ring. It seems doubtful at this point whether the Republican senate leaders actually wanted the measure passed.

The New Woman? —

It seems doubtful that those persons agitating for the equal rights for women amendment to the nation's constitution know what they might be starting.

The equality that women are shooting for is mainly equality of job opportunity. Can you imagine the repercussions on the SUI campus if and when these objectives are reached?

One of the main occupations — waiting tables in restaurants and dining rooms — is already coded, but what about some of the other jobs heretofore reserved for the male species?

Some students drive busses and cabs. Women have invaded those fields during the war. But imagine the upsurge in business of some cab company owner if he hired a bunch of lovely young coeds to drive for him.

It might cut down the smoking between halves at basketball games if the men could sit aside and watch a pair of campus beauties do the honors with the brooms.

Suppose too that women were used permanently as life guards on the speed boat that keeps an eye on the canoe paddlers. This could well disrupt an established SUI tradition of couples going canoeing.

Students might go out in singles instead of pairs and a rash of canoe tipplings might keep the female rescuers constantly saving men in distress from the cold Iowa river.

And still another step could be a reversal of the custom of hours for the female student. Imagine some behemoth telling his date that she has to get him home by 10:30, even pleading with her to cooperate along this line.

We're not making any predictions about the results of the amendment and we favor its adoption, but you'd better be careful, girls, you never know where things like this might lead.

Getting SUI juniors to take those communication skills examinations almost turned out to be a tricky proposition.

Interpreting the News —

Cold War Council Okayed

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The London conference of Atlantic pact foreign ministers failed in its main objective, which was to strike a balance between military needs and economic ability of their countries, but achieved something else which may be more important in the long run.

That is the creation of a full-time agency, similar to a board of directors to take over the conduct of the cold war in Europe.

This permanent high command, consisting of deputies of the foreign ministers and probably to be headed by an American chairman, will be charged with the economic problem along with all the rest. It seemed obvious from the beginning that such a problem could hardly be threshed out in a few intensive days, but would be a matter requiring detailed study.

Another problem to be handled by the permanent council will be the actual makeup of the military forces required for the "preventive defense" against hot war.

Developments in London made it clear that there are too many holes in the former idea that each country would provide its own general defense in coordination with the whole group. Some countries are just not able to do so. The new idea is that a scheme will have to be worked out for each country to contribute as best it can to a general defense force. Some would provide principally ground strength, relying on others for the major air and naval support.

One of the most significant corollaries of this idea is that it would permit certain military contributions by western Germany without at the same time building up the general German strength of which France is so afraid.

The motivating reason, however, is to prevent duplication of expense.

There will be much interest in the selection of a chairman for the council. The foreign ministers will appoint the deputies, who will then select their own chief.

This is in every respect a war council, although its prime objective is to avoid actual shooting. Civilian control has been stressed. In considering any such job the name of Dwight Eisenhower, who made a wartime success of one of the most difficult coordinating jobs in history, naturally comes up.

Eisenhower qualified technically as a civilian, although military and the presidency of Columbia university will never be able to hide the five stars on his shoulders. His name would be inevitably breed confidence. But there are others if he is not available. Harriman, Lovett and Bradley are among those mentioned.

This question of confidence is extremely important at the moment, as the nations move tentatively into a field of united action more revolutionary than any they have attempted before. When you submit your armed forces to international command you are yielding a measure of national sovereignty at a point where nations are particularly touchy.

The selection of the deputies and their chairman requires the utmost in objectivity. A good or bad council may mean the difference between peace or war.

Bean Dinner

Bostonians to Celebrate With Banquet

BOSTON (AP) — Ten thousand Bostonians will dine out tonight and eat five tons of baked beans.

That's not guesswork. That's the figure reached by the planners of a mammoth baked bean supper to be held in Boston common as part of the city's mid-century jubilee celebration.

There will be 100,000 seats at the five miles of tables spread out over the grass and walks of the common. And there will be a pound of beans for every one of those 100,000 seats.

One thousand volunteer waitresses will serve the beans to the giant gathering while 250 policemen stand by to see that the bean eaters behave.

They probably will, since they'll be fully occupied in doing away with the beans and other items gracing the miles of tables — 2,000 loaves of brown bread, 3,500 pounds of ham, three tons of potato salad, 12,000 individual apple pies, 12,000 servings of cheese and 12,000 parker house rolls.

The bean supper is a highlight of the jubilee designed to call attention to Boston as a city of business, recreational and industrial opportunities. The supper itself was planned to demonstrate the traditions and heritage of Boston and New England.

All the food was donated by greater Boston business concerns and the sale of tickets — at 75 cents each — indicated it would perhaps be the largest dinner ever served to a seated group.

Forty home economists and dietitians from leading hospitals, restaurants and colleges will act as captains of serving stations to ensure the highest degree of sanitation and cleanliness in the serving of tons of food.

And the supper has been so arranged that 1,000 waitresses will be able to serve every one of the diners a complete meal in 55 minutes.

When the supper is over, workmen will move in to dismantle the tables and remove the chairs while a detail of 300 beef scouts undertake their good deed of the day. They will clean up the debris that is left so the common will be spotless again by Sunday morning.

While the dinner and beans are to demonstrate the tradition of Boston, there will be one flaw. The beans are from California.

Not That Old

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. (AP) — A complaint charging Willie L. Williams with negligent collision said the offense was committed "Feb. 24, 195 A.D."

Williams appealed a corporation court fine. Judge C.J. Matthews dismissed the charges.

He upheld a contention there was no negligent collision ordinance in 195 A.D.; that there were no autos then and Williams wasn't around at that time.

Changing Records

Racketeers Face 'Super Sleuth'

Senate Probers Appoint Veteran Investigator

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When Harold G. Robinson arrives in Washington, D.C., sometime this weekend, the nation's racketeers will find a super-sleuth on their trail for the first time since the T-men and FBI ganged up on crime kingdoms nearly 20 years ago.

Robinson is the newly-appointed chief investigator of the senate committee on organized crime. As such, this "typical FBI-type" detective, a product of J. Edgar Hoover's school, becomes a sort of super "Dick Tracy" with a whole nation to prowling. The racketeers might label him "one of the 10 most unwanted men" in their territories.

Quiet About Work No one outside his own organization and possibly the senate committee knows where he will strike first, for with the usual non-committal attitude bred by the FBI, Robinson keeps his mouth shut.

Robinson's first action in arriving in Washington will be to huddle with the "crime committee" to set policy and establish a staff of investigators.

His general opinion of crime and racketeering is hidden from one and leaves no doubt where Robinson, a married man with a 13-year-old son, stands on the subject.

"I have been keenly interested in the threat of organized crime in the last few years to the economic and political well-being of the United States," he said.

Robinson, 38, was described by Crime Committee Chairman Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) as the "best man in the country for the job."

Probably none of the men whose activities he seeks to ferret out will meet him in person — at least not until the "kill" is well-prepared.

Accountant by Profession Robinson laughingly says, he is not much of a "gun-toter." An accountant by profession, Robinson typifies the quiet, gimlet-eyed "inside man" of the FBI, whose domain is the accounting books and records of crime syndicates and the organization of probes and legal evidence.

He looks the part of a hard-hitting FBI man, stocky, weighing in at 215 pounds and just a shade under six feet tall, given to conservative dress — the brown suit and matching tie of the criminal investigator who likes to be unobtrusive and "part of the crowd."

His home is at Burlingame, Calif., where he lives with his wife, Charlotte.

Eight Years with FBI He spent eight years in the FBI, from 1933 to 1941, and has a record of 17 years in all as a crime fighter, ranging from stalking Nazis spies to cracking a California "gambling protection racket." That reached into the office of California Atty. Gen. Fredrick N. Howser.

In 1939 he was in on the apprehension of red-headed Johannes Hoffman, the hairdresser suspected of German espionage. Later he helped take Fritz Duquesne, who operated a ham radio station in New York for a year and a half, beaming vital information to Hamburg. He was born in New Haven, Conn., in 1902, received his BCS degree at Northeastern university in Boston in 1928.

Joins Senate Committee In 1933 he joined the senate committee investigating the national defense program (the Truman committee), becoming its chief investigator in 1944, with Rudolph Halley as assistant counsel.

Significantly, Halley has been selected as chief counsel in the current probe.

He became chief investigator of the California Crime commission last year, a job he worked toward since Dec. 1, 1948, when he joined the commission's investigating staff.

Shortly after he went to work for the commission, under ex-FBI Agent John Hanson, the commission cracked a Mendocino county gambling conspiracy and bribery case and three former aides of Atty. Gen. Howser — Wylie (Buck) Caddell, James Mulligan, and Willard Griffin — were convicted.

Wilkie Campaign Leader Plugs Eisenhower Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — The second draft Eisenhower boom started in New York Friday not with a bang but with a classified ad.

John Orr Young, enthusiastic advertising consultant and the man who helped spark the 1940 boom for Wendell Wilkie, is inserting ads in the New York Herald Tribune calling on the people to draft Dwight D. Eisenhower for president in 1952.

Young hopes that small contributions from individual persons will enable him to put ads in newspapers all over the country and break his 1940 record when his similar Wilkie campaign reached a 91-million circulation.

One of Young's ads said: "Draft Eisenhower. You want him in the White House? Say so."

Another appeared among the public notices: "Eisenhower, right man for president to beat strongly entrenched opposition machine. . . . You can take part in this strictly non-profit people's campaign. Need more and larger ads in newspaper paid for by fellow citizens. Make check payable to 'John Orr Young, Draft Eisenhower.'"

Young, a dignified, white haired man in his sixties, believes he is doing his public duty. "The nation needs a man like Eisenhower," he says. "This advertising campaign is my way of helping my country."

John Orr Young should know. He is co-founder of Young and Rubicam, one of the two largest advertising agencies in the world, and now runs his own public relations agency in New York.

Although active in local politics in Westport, Conn., where he lives, Young's only earlier venture on the national political scene was the highly successful campaign he conducted for Wendell Wilkie in 1940.

"We reached a circulation of 91-million people with newspaper ads paid for entirely by small contributions, two dollars, most of them."

"Wilkie approved of that campaign," Young says, "because he knew it was just grass roots movement, not a stratagem managed by a bunch of masterminds."

Young starts off his campaign by buying one ad himself. Then, he says, contributions come in to pay for the rest.

"I'm starting early with this Eisenhower campaign," Young explains. "We started the Wilkie campaign just a few months before the elections and it was just beginning to burgeon by election time."

Former Nazis Filling State Official Jobs

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — Former Nazis are filling about half the jobs of state officials and civil servants in the American zone of Germany and their number is constantly increasing, a survey showed Friday.

The survey, taken from official German sources, disclosed that the number of onetime Nazi officials drifting back to public employment has jumped greatly in the past six months.

Most American authorities say this is "unsatisfactory" but insist it does not necessarily mean a resurgence of Nazism.

That is about the view taken by Benjamin J. Buttenwieser, assistant American high commissioner in Germany, in a speech Friday before the foreign policy association in New York. He held that despite the fact that more former Nazis are holding jobs in Germany, Nazism as a political doctrine has "been destroyed, never to rise again."

An American official here who has spent four years observing the Nazis said that he did not believe there is an organized movement to plant former active Nazis in key positions.

Committee Votes Warplane Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house appropriations committee Friday voted funds for experiments on faster warplanes and "a new anti-submarine warfare project."

The money was included in a $625,493,694 deficiency bill, an annual event for government agencies whose funds aren't enough to finish out the fiscal year ending June 30.

Well over half the total will pay for past wars, and for present military preparations.

The veterans administration alone could get nearly 40 percent — $246,151,900 — for pensions and other expenses.

Official Admits Communists Worked for Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eugene M. Foster, army finance chief, acknowledged Friday that an "abnormally large" number of Communists were employed at the army's St. Louis finance center.

But he told a house armed services subcommittee he did not know exactly how many worked at the big disbursement office, nor how many may have been fired.

The subcommittee is investigating charges the center was infiltrated by Communists and that millions of dollars in government funds, notably checks for servicemen's families, were mismanaged. After hearing Foster, it recessed until Monday when it will decide what, if any, action it should take. Assistant Secretary of the Army Karl R. Bendetsen testified that the army began investigating the center's personnel in September, 1947, and completed the inquiry in the spring of 1948. He said nine workers were fired as had security risks.

Subcommittee Chairman Paul J. Kilday (D-Texas) and Rep. Charles H. Elston (R-Ohio) questioned Foster about alleged attempts to steal uncashed checks made out to veterans' dependents.

The subcommittee has received evidence from Sally Dewey, a former inspector at the center, that a woman employe tried to walk off with 700 checks.

Homemade Shakes Turn Daily Milk Need into Pleasure

The popular suggestion, "Let's have a soda," may now be a boon to homemakers.

If the family refuses to drink milk plain, try tremping them with some "shakes" and "frosts"—so often relished at the soda fountain.

Since milk is a vital food it is important that adults get the required daily amount. Recently the government's national research council's food and nutrition board increased the minimum requirement of milk for adults from two cups to three.

This recommendation was made to insure that grown-ups get an adequate amount of calcium and protein, vitamin A, thiamine and riboflavin in generous amount.

These drinks will serve as an excellent dessert or snack. With the younger set particularly they will make a hit. The junior set will take its "medicine" and like it.

Here are some suggestions for homemade soda fountain drinks.

Honey-Apple Shake

Stir 2 tablespoons of strained applesauce, 1 tablespoon of honey, 2 tablespoons heavy cream together in the bottom of shaker.

Pour in 1 cup of milk and shake until mixture is well blended. Serve chilled. Top with whipped cream or scoop of vanilla ice cream. Makes 1 serving.

Cherry-Pineapple Shake

Stir 1-4 cup pineapple juice, 1 tablespoon cherry preserves together in bottom of shaker. Add 1 cup of milk and shake well. Top with whipped cream (if desired). Makes 1 serving.

Mocha Frost

Stir 1 teaspoon instant coffee, 1 tablespoon heavy cream, 1 tablespoon chocolate syrup and 1 teaspoon sugar until blended in bottom of shaker.

Add 1 cup of milk and shake until mixture is smoothly blended. Top with large scoop of coffee ice cream. Serve at once. Makes 1 serving.

By the Vote of the Manufacturers Whose Products You Sell—

NEWSPAPERS BECOME THE NO. 1 NATIONAL ADVERTISING MEDIUM

FLASH --
 NEW YORK -- NATIONAL ADVERTISERS INVESTED $445,015,000 IN NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IN 1949, IT WAS DISCLOSED TODAY, MAKING DAILY NEWSPAPERS THE BIGGEST NATIONAL ADVERTISING MEDIUM ON THE BASIS OF HOW U.S. MANUFACTURERS DIVIDE THEIR ADVERTISING DOLLARS.

NOW MANUFACTURERS ARE BACKING YOU WITH MORE LOCAL SALESPower THAN EVER

You who sell at retail have seen it happening right along—right here in town in the columns of this newspaper.

You've seen how, more and more, the manufacturers whose products you sell have chosen newspaper advertising to help you ring up still bigger sales.

All over America, the same thing has been happening. And naturally, national advertising in newspapers has been growing—from $270,000,000 in 1946 to $357,000,000 in 1947—to $389,261,000 in 1948—to the fourth all-time high of $445,015,000 in 1949.

All over America, it's been happening because manufacturers have been discovering what most retailers have always known:

There's nothing like newspaper advertising to make merchandise move. For the simple reason that no other kind of advertising reaches so many people—is so sure to reach all your customers and prospects, or so sure to hit them when they're ready to buy.

That's why it's good news for everybody who sells that newspapers now top all other media in dollar expenditures by national advertisers.

Actually, in 1949, national advertisers invested in newspapers—

More than 15 times as much as in farm magazines.

More than twice as much as on all four of the great national radio networks combined.

$32,000,000 more than in all general magazines combined.

Over $4,000,000 more than in all general and all farm magazines put together.

For you who sell at retail, that's local salespower plus—salespower right here in town and nearby, where you need it.

When your manufacturers back you up with newspaper advertising, may we suggest that it's smart business to make the most of this extra local salespower—with such things as good shelf position, better display, extra push in your own advertising.

When your manufacturers don't give you this kind of support—ask them why.

Iowa Needs Pair To Stay in Race

Iowa hits the most crucial spot on its Big Ten baseball schedule today, needing a sweep of two games with Minnesota to maintain its title chances.

Rained out of one game Friday, the two-game series will be squeezed into a doubleheader starting at 1:30, closing the Hawkeyes' home Big Ten season.

Now in 4th

Iowa's 4-3 record puts Otto Vogel's club in fourth place, behind leading Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio State.

Wisconsin handed Michigan its second loss in nine games Friday, placing the Hawkeyes in a more advantageous position to eventually hit the top. Ohio State was idle.

"We've got to have these two if we're going to finish third," Vogel declares.

Iowa closes out at Northwestern next week, while Ohio State and Michigan fight it out in two games at Ann Arbor.

Dick Hoeksema is Iowa's probable starter in today's opener, with Glenn Drahn following in the second contest.

Orth Returns

Dick Orth, out of action for the last few weeks due to illness, is back with the Hawks to give the pitching staff added strength.

Coach Dick Siebert is due to call on Dale Engstrand as the Gopher's starter against Hoeksema. Lefty John Garbett is expected to start the second game.

Whitey Skoog, not an unknown figure in Big Ten basketball circles, is on hand for Minnesota relief action.

Yanks Win Battle Of 3-Hitters, 2-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe DiMaggio's third inning single accounted for the meet to decide a pitchers' duel between Tommy Byrne and young Bob Cain as the New York Yankees defeated the Chicago White Sox, 2-0, Friday night before 23,691 persons.

Each pitcher allowed three hits as Byrne gained his third decision in New York's revenge for a 15-0 kayo of the Yankees by Cain in Yankee stadium May 4.

The victory, New York's tenth in the past 12 games, enabled the Yankees to retain first place in American league standings with a full game edge over second place Detroit.

Byrne also had a hand in launching the only successful offensive spurt of the game. Tommy drew the second of three walks. Cain surrendered to open the third inning.

Joe Collins doubled to right after Phil Rizzuto fouled out, and Byrne stopped at third. DiMaggio lined Cain's first pitch into left field for a single, scoring Byrne and Collins.

Track, Net Teams in Action Today

Wildcats 3-Time Big Ten Titlists

The top tennis team in the Western conference for the past three seasons will appear here this morning when Northwestern and Iowa match strokes beginning at 9.

Iowa won a non-conference match from Beloit on the fieldhouse courts Thursday afternoon, 8-1, for the Hawkeyes' second win within a week. Last Saturday Coach Don Kloz' team won its first Big Ten match after three losses, beating Minnesota, 7-2.

Friday's rain may force the meet to be shifted from the clay courts behind the fieldhouse to the asphalt surface south of the fieldhouse.

It will be the final home dual meet for Iowa. However, the Hawks have away meets with Marquette and Wisconsin before the Big Ten championships at Evanston, Ill., May 29-31.

Grant Golden, finalist in the No. 2 singles last year, now is Northwestern's No. 1 player. Other returning veterans are Bill Landin and Scott Pieters, who paired to win the No. 3 conference doubles title in 1949.

Iowa's players will be Don Lewis, Bill Ball, Gordon Chapman, Bruce Higley, Al Pierce and Jack Fletcher. Ball and Lewis are No. 1 and No. 2, respectively.

Valley Loop Meet In Davenport Today

Iowa City high school's track team will travel to Davenport today to compete in the annual Mississippi Valley conference championship meet.

Both varsity and sophomore squads will compete in the meet, with Davenport the defending champions in both divisions. Competing teams include Iowa City, Clinton, Dubuque, Davenport, and four Cedar Rapids schools, Franklin, Roosevelt, McKinley, and Wilson.

Twenty-six track and field events comprise the afternoon finals scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. at the Davenport public schools stadium. Preliminaries are set for 10 p.m.

In the conference indoor meet at Iowa City the Hawkeyes finished in third place. Davenport won the team title with Clinton taking second.

Minnesota Outdoor Champions in 1949

The final dual track meet of the season will get underway this afternoon at 1:30 as the Hawks lay their unbeaten string on the line against a powerful Minnesota team.

The Gophers are rated a likely choice to repeat as Big Ten champions which they won last year and are expected to give Iowa a good battle.

Mile May Decide

Both teams have their greatest strength in about the same events. The mile relay may decide the outcome.

Russ Merkel is favored to win both hurdle events with a fight for second and third between Iowa's Gene Freels and John Merkel and the Gophers' Fred Brass and Jim Nielson.

Marcellus Boston seems to have the edge in the 100 but may have to give way to Tom Mason of Minnesota in the 220. Jack Simpson, Iowa, could well grab points in either or both.

As was the case last Saturday, Keith Brown will have tough competition in the half-mile. Walt Ostrem and Bill Schimmel are the Gophers' best in this department and both have run under two minutes.

Davis in 2-Mile

Schimmel and Bill Torp will give Iowa's Jack Davis a close race in the mile while Dick Kilty will tangle with Davis and Bill Snook in the two-mile.

Dick Erdenberger and Jack Weik appear to be tops in the high jump. The pole vault will doubtlessly go to Harry Cooper, 1949 indoor co-champion. Cooper and Boston will hook up in the broad jump.

Tigers Bag 18 Hits, Whip Athletics, 14-8

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, who found out Thursday that 12 runs weren't enough to beat the Boston Red Sox, banged over 14 Friday as they whipped the Philadelphia Athletics 14-8 in a loosely played game.

Freddie Hutchinson, the loser in the Tigers' 13-12 setback at the hands of Boston, turned in a fairly impressive relief performance Friday to get credit for his third win.

The Tigers just about settled the game with a 10-run outburst in the fifth inning. Fourteen men went to bat in that spree with eight hits, four errors, a walk, a hit batter and a wild pitch being chalked up.

Detroit bagged 18 hits but the Athletics were close behind with 15 in the hitters' afternoon. Ten doubles, a triple and a pair of homers punctuated the game.

Second Latin Workshop To Stress Roman Life

SUI will hold its second Latin workshop, the only program of its kind in the midwest, from June 19 through July 1, Prof. Gerald K. Else, workshop director and head of the SUI classics department, announced Friday.

The two-week program, designed for high school Latin teachers but also open to students, will stress Roman culture to give teachers a broader understanding of their subject as well as knowledge of various teaching techniques.

Unlike last year's program, the 1939 workshop agenda will consist of one basic course in the Latin language and two other courses chosen from six electives. The first Latin workshop last year had four basic required courses, with emphasis on new approaches and materials in Latin teaching, Else said.

In addition to the regular two-week workshop session, one week, beginning June 12, is reserved for special individual projects, he added. The regular workshop session carries two semester hours of graduate credit, with an additional hour for the week of special projects.

The fee is $12.50 for the two-week session and $18.50 for the three-week session. The workshop is limited to 50 members, with final registration for the regular session on June 19, from 8 to 10 a. m., and for the individual projects week the morning of June 12. Registration should be made with Professor Else, 112 Schaeffer hall.

Last year's three-week workshop, made up of 24 enrollees, included eight persons from Iowa and 16 from seven other states, extending as far east as Pennsylvania and New Hampshire. The workshop staff includes Prof. Camille J. LeVois, head of the SUI foreign languages department at University high school; Prof. Dorrance S. White, SUI classical languages department; Prof. Clyde Murley, Northwestern university; Instructor Thomas G. Rosenmeyer, SUI classics department; Prof. Laura B. Voelkel, University of Virginia, and Professor Else.

Mountaineers Plan Movie Travelogues Of Outing, Wildlife

A special program of two color movie travelogues will be sponsored by the Iowa Mountaineers at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in Macbride auditorium. The first travelogue, "Washington Calling," will be presented by Reuben Scharf, Iowa City photographer and member of the 1949 Mountaineer summer outing. His movie will show some of the state parks of Washington and Oregon visited by the expedition last summer.

Murl Deusing, curator of education for the Milwaukee Public Museum, will present the second feature of the evening with his travelogue, "Canoe Country." Deusing's film is about life in the wilderness and forested lake country of central Canada. Scenes of the courtship drumming of grouse, loons with their "wounded wing" act and moose blundering almost into the photographer's camp are included.

Deusing, who has worked on assignment for Walt Disney, also filmed the building of the original type of birch bark canoe of the Canadian Chippewa Indians during his Canadian trip. He shows walleys pike and lake trout fishing from these native canoes in his film. Mountaineer officials said admission to the special travelogue will be by new Mountaineer membership, renewal of present membership or purchase of single admission tickets, all available at the auditorium door. Memberships obtained at the Sunday performance will be good for the 1939-51 season.

First Carried by Mormons on Their Historic Trek—

SUI Religion Professor 'Discovers' 100-Year-Old Travel Chest

By CHARLES MICK
A 100-year-old travel chest which was carried on the historic Mormon trek through Iowa City in 1850 was recently "discovered" by Prof. Marcus Bach of the SUI school of religion.

It was presented to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints here Thursday.

Professor Bach obtained the century-old pine chest from Mrs. Sarah Lewis, 419 S. Johnson street, in whose family it had been kept as an heirloom.

Mrs. Lewis' great-grandfather, William Patton, an Iowa City pioneer, had purchased the chest and a rocking chair from a group of Mormons as they were traveling through on their way to Salt Lake City, Utah.

Unusual Story
The unusual story of the chest was told in the records left by Mrs. Lewis' mother, Mrs. Mary Parrott, who had kept it until her death here in 1945 at the age of 82.

"The blue chest (made of pine) was bought from the Mormons when they passed through Iowa City," Mrs. Parrott wrote. "They walked and pushed a two-wheeled cart."

"A woman died. She had the chest with her clothes in it and a rocking chair on the cart and they sold them to William Patton . . . a knitted lace collar was in the chest."

"Handcart Companies"
Although the rocking chair presumably lost its usefulness the chest and piece of lace was kept through the years by the family. The piece of lace also was obtained by Bach and presented to the church.

The Mormon "handcart companies," those which traveled on foot and pushed the carts before them, included mostly groups of persons converted in England to Latter Day Saints and who wanted to migrate to Utah.

The groups traveled to Iowa City and stopped here to purchase or construct two-wheeled carts in which they would load their meager belongings for the 1,400-mile trip to Utah.

President Comments
The heroic saga of the handcart trekkers is commemorated by a plaque located on US highway

SUI Staffers to Go To Speech Meeting

'Punch Hour'

6, just west of Coralville. When the chest was presented to the church here, E. LeRoy Jones, branch president said: "Our church is delighted to receive this historic chest and we appreciate the thoughtfulness of Professor Bach in making it available to us."

We expect that the chest will make a most interesting exhibit, representing an important aspect of Mormon history in Iowa."

Bach said he was especially interested in the chest and the Mormons because he and his wife took part in the re-enactment of the trek in 1947.

148 In Trek
In the original trek in 1847 there were 143 men, 3 three women and 2 boys. In the re-enactment trek the same number of persons was used, and with the exception of Professor and Mrs. Bach, they were all descendants of the people who made the trek in 1847.

Just as the original, the re-enactment trek started at Nauvoo, Ill., and went to Salt Lake City, he said.

Over 80,000 persons participated in the first Mormon trek in 1847, and about 6,000 of them died on the way to Salt Lake City, he said.

Bach pointed out that many groups planted crops here in Iowa City, which were harvested by following groups. Iowa City was the jumping-off place for the Mormon groups, Bach said.

Chi Omega social sorority won first place in the Women's Recreation association intramural bowling tournament. Intramural Chairman Arlene Silverman, A4, Chicago, said Friday.

Boy Scouts Holding Camporee at City Park

A jumbo camporee for all boy scouts in the Johnson county area will be continued today and Sunday at City park.

The mass outing opened at 5 p.m. Friday with a campfire and songs, Harry Dunlap Jr., district chairman said. The boys and their leaders will "camp out" in the park tonight, breaking camp at 8 a.m. Sunday.

John Kelly, neighborhood scout commissioner, will be chairman of the camporee, assisted by the Johnson county troops and "explorers" (senior scouts over 14 years of age) from the two explorer posts are expected to attend.

Demonstrations of outdoor cooking, first-aid, handicrafts and other scouting activities will be given at 2 p.m. today in the lower park. Games and contests also will be held.

A "court of honor" will climax the camporee at 8 p.m. today. Headed by Alan P. Graves, Johnson district advancement chairman, the "court" will award honors and ranks to scouts.

Members of the recently-formed troop from the SUI Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, under Leader Bernard Lillick, E3, Cedar Rapids, will receive their Tenderfoot badges.

The public is invited to attend any of the programs and demonstrations at the park, Camporee Chairman John Kelly said Friday.

MARRIAGE LICENSE
A marriage license was issued Friday in the Johnson county clerk's office to George Victor Nesheim, Marshalltown, and Joanna Lou Hurst, Lewan.

Miss Mary Shadow, 24, the youngest woman state legislator in the United States, who spoke at SUI's May 9 Democratic Party day, is the new chairman of the Young Democratic Clubs of American college activities division.

The appointment was announced by officials of the Des Moines Young Democratic club.

Miss Shadow's first official duty was to appear on a panel discussion group sponsored by the national Young Democrats in connection with the National Democratic Conference and Jubilee held in Chicago May 13.

Miss Shadow is the only woman member of the Tennessee general assembly. She is a professor of political science at Tennessee Wesleyan college.

One Paving Assessment Cut, Another Upheld

Judge Harold D. Evans Thursday lowered one special paving assessment and sustained another on lots belonging to Joseph G. and Martha Wayner, 1921 F street, in east Iowa City.

The reduction on the one lot was from $763.28 to $381.64.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayner filed one of 26 appeals made by Iowa City property holders protesting a special paving assessment levied by the city council Nov. 22, 1949.

The purpose of the tax was to help pay for new pavement costing $100,000 laid on F street last year.

Evans set the value of lot 1 in the Wayner appeal at $1,526.56, and lot 2 at $11,000.

The $763.28 levy on lot 1 was declared illegal because it exceeded a legal maximum of 25 percent of the value of the property.

A $763.28 assessment was also made on lot 2, but this was sustained because of the greater value of the lot.

Out of seven appeals heard so far in district court, reductions have been made in six cases.

The Wayners were represented by Atty. Edward F. Rate. Counsel for the city were Atty. William H. Bartley and Edward L. O'Connor.
