Japanese Communists Issue Strike Call to Protest Trial

TOKYO (UP) — Japan's Communists called on 1-million workers and students Thursday night to join in a national general strike Saturday to protest the trial of eight leftists for attacking American soldiers.

The strike call was issued in defiance of anti-strike decrees by both Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the Japanese government.

The fate of the Japanese Communist party may depend on developments.

In a move linked with the sudden surge of Communist activity, the government announced it is willing to sign separate peace treaties with any countries — meaning the United States and its allies — on a basis of independence and equality.

Japanese believe the government issued the statement, with MacArthur's approval, in preparation for a showdown with the Communists and also with Russia, which opposes the separate treaty idea.

It was forecast that legislation to outlaw the Japanese Communist party might be introduced in parliament soon.

Ex-Student to Face Trial Here June 12

Geoffrey L. Hess, former SUI student charged with slashing Robert Seydel, St. Patrick's high school student, in the face with a broken water glass, will face trial before Judge Harold D. Evans in district court at 10 a.m. June 12.

Hess allegedly attacked Seydel in an Iowa City cafe April 16 after the high school student had been heckling him.

Seven other criminal cases scheduled for trial this term are:

1. Kenneth Smith, Lone Tree, charged with illegal possession of liquor in his tavern April 15.
2. Paul B. Akers, indicted for driving a car April 24 without the owner's consent.
3. Joseph Gedraitis, Newton, charged with passing a bad check Nov. 27, 1948.
4. John L. Kirkpatrick, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated May 18.
5. Donald B. Tucker, charged with OVI March 1.
6. Joseph M. Mast, charged with OVI Jan. 22.
7. Carl H. Rutter, charged April 28 with driving an automobile while his license was suspended.

Say FBI Didn't 'Bungle' Amerasia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sens. William Knowland (R-Calif.) and Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) charged in the senate Thursday that the justice department "bungled" in prosecuting the "Amerasia case" of 1945.

Both senators made it clear they attached no blame to the FBI — thus countering testimony by a top justice department official that raids conducted by the FBI without a search warrant made it almost impossible to prosecute the case in court.

The Amerasia episode, involving the alleged illegal removal of some 1,700 secret government documents, is now under a renewed investigation.

Working Students Asked to Register

All students having summer jobs are requested to register at the student employment office, Robert L. Ballantyne, office manager, said Thursday.

The purpose of the registration is to facilitate locating working students in case of emergency. "Furthermore, the file will aid in collecting employment information that will help students get jobs in the future," Ballantyne said.

Students who find working conditions different from those represented by the student employment office are asked to contact Ballantyne at once, so that the situation may be investigated.

Support Claimed For Atlantic Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — Potent and growing support in congress was claimed Thursday for the Atlantic union resolution, which looks to creation of a federal union of democratic countries.

Former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts told the Atlantic Union Committee, Inc., that "30 senators have pledged their support, and more than 50 congressmen."

Student Council Honors Goetsch By Scholarship

The SUI Student Council has begun collecting funds to establish a scholarship in honor of the late Dean of Students Walter R. Goetsch. Dean Goetsch was faculty advisor to the Student Council.

Campus groups, alumni, faculty and friends of the university were invited to join in the fund, Murray Seeger, A3, Hamburg, N.Y., public relations director of the council, said Thursday.

The scholarship will be available to one or more liberal arts freshmen who had high scholastic and extra-curricular records in high school. Candidates will be selected by the university scholarship committee, Seeger said.

He said the Student Council's goal is a fund large enough to make possible a permanent, growing amount, the income from which would provide a scholarship for basic university fees.

President of the Student Council, Jack Whitesell, LI, Davenport, said Thursday night the exact sum of the fund could not be estimated since not all the campus groups have been contacted.

An account number was assigned to the project by the university treasurer's office. Checks should be made payable to the "Walter R. Goetsch Memorial Fund," Seeger said.

Harlan Calls Off School Activities; Funeral Instead

HARLAN (AP) — After the deaths of five youths near here, two events scheduled for today which would have involved young people were called off. The accident was the worst in the state so far this year.

The Harlan high school class day was cancelled and the annual kids' day was postponed for a week. Funeral arrangements were being made for the five killed Wednesday in a truck-car crash.

It Really Wasn't Any of My Business But ...

THIS COW WALKED UNCONCERNEDLY out of a upside down truck Thursday after the vehicle upset on U.S. highway 20 near Elkhar, Ind. The driver, Fred Brock, Millersburg, Ind., missed a curve. Forty calves and two hogs were killed in the accident. Brock escaped with minor bruises.

Noble, Fenton Among Scholarship Winners

Dudley Noble, A1, Ft. Madison, and Bill Fenton, Iowa City high school senior, are among the five winners of the Nile Kinnick Memorial scholarship, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher announced Thursday.

The other winners are Andrew Houg, St. Ansgar; John Tarr, Ft. Dodge; and Richard Boyce, Nevada. Jerry Davis, Ottumwa, was named first alternate, Don Gustafson, Des Moines, second alternate. All are high school seniors. Noble is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary society. He was a tackle on the varsity football squad during spring practice. At Ft. Madison high school, Noble was prominent in activities, participating in football, basketball and track. Fenton is co-valetictorian of the present senior class at Iowa City high school. He has received all-state recognition in both football and basketball. He also has been a member of the school's student government.

Houg is an honor student at St. Ansgar high school and has been prominent in band, debate and dramatics. He also starred in football, basketball and baseball.

Tarr, winner of all-state honors in football, also participated in basketball and track at Ft. Dodge high school. An honor student, he worked on the high school paper and was a class officer during his junior and senior years.

Boyce is an honor roll student at Nevada high school and a football, basketball and baseball star. He also has been active in student government, dramatics and debate.

Davis was a member of the Ottumwa high school state championship basketball team in 1949 and received all-state honors in the sport the past two years. He was president of the student council and of the Hi-Y.

Gustafson ranks near the top of his class scholastically at Abraham Lincoln high school in Des Moines. He played football, basketball and baseball and has been active in student life. The five scholarships are awarded each year as a memorial to the late Nile Kinnick and other SUI men who died in World War II. Nominations are made by the Iowa state junior chamber of commerce which started the award in 1945.

Clearance Slip, Then Graduation

SUI seniors who have received graduation clearance notices from the registrar's office have one chance in 1,000 of not graduating, SUI Registrar Ted McCarrel said Thursday.

McCarrel pointed out, however, that about 100 students get notices each commencement which list specific requirements the senior must complete before being allowed to graduate.

Diplomas of this group are withheld until the requirements are met. Five or six of this group usually don't get their work completed, he said.

Preliminary grades turned in by instructors can't be lowered, McCarrel said, but the instructors can have diplomas withheld if the student fails to meet requirements.

Instructors usually turn in a lower preliminary grade than they expect the student to get to prevent excessive deviations, he said.

From 1943 through 1948 every one with even an outside chance of graduating was placed on the commencement list and consequently there were many disappointments.

McCarrel said some students seeking employment have used commencement programs as false proof of graduation. This, together with the cost of diplomas, caused SUI to change the list to those reasonably sure of being graduated.

This system has worked well, he said. Only two or three do not graduate at each commencement.

If, for acceptable reasons, a student misses a final examination, he is allowed to make it up. Graduating in absentia is allowable on the same basis, McCarrel said.

UN Demand to Expel Nationalist China Fails

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — The United Nations trusteeship council voted down a new Russian demand Thursday to expel Nationalist China. The Russian delegation then staged another walkout.

Only Russia voted for the ouster. Britain and Argentina abstained. The other nine council members voted against it.

Eight County Republicans Seek Nomination In Primaries

(This is the first of two stories on candidates seeking nomination in Monday's primary election. A story on the Democratic candidates will appear in tomorrow's Daily Iowan.)

With the 1950 June primary election only three days away, eight Johnson county Republicans are seeking nomination to public offices.

Rep. Thomas E. Martin, Iowa City, is campaigning for renomination as Republican candidate for representative in congress from the first U.S. district, a post he has held for six consecutive sessions.

Atty. Robert L. Larson, Iowa City, Iowa's attorney general since 1948, is a candidate for renomination to that position.

All GOP candidates from Johnson county except Martin and Larson are unopposed.

G. M. Ludwig, 53, Tiffin, is seeking the Republican nomination for state representative from Johnson county. He was the Republican candidate for the same office in 1948.

Ludwig, farm editor at radio station KXIC and a farmer near Tiffin, has been a teacher and school superintendent in Johnson county for 28 years. He coached basketball about a dozen years.

He received a B.A. degree from Western Union college in 1921 and an M.A. degree from Western Reserve university in 1923. He also attended Mount Union college and took graduate work in philosophy at Ohio State university and SUI.

He appears frequently as a public speaker and has written many magazine and newspaper articles on rural life.

Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy, 50, 417 S. Clinton street, is seeking the GOP nomination to the position he has held four years. He was previously deputy sheriff five and one-half years.

Murphy was graduated from West Branch high school. He has been a farmer and a service station owner.

He is married and a member of the Knights of Columbus, Moose, Elks and the I club.

The Republican candidate for Johnson county recorder is R. L.

(Dick) Jones, who has held the office since 1932.

A lifelong resident of Johnson county, Jones lives at 107 Grove street. He is married and has two sons and two grandchildren. He is a member of the Moose lodge.

Atty. William L. Meardon, 31, is seeking the GOP nomination for Johnson county attorney. Meardon, who has practiced law in Iowa City for nearly two years, is married and lives at 336 1-2 S. Dubuque street.

He lived on a farm in Scott township for 22 years. He graduated from Iowa City high school in 1937, received his B.A. degree from SUI in 1941 and was graduated from the Iowa law school in 1948.

He served four and one-half years in the navy during World War II and was a fighter pilot in the Pacific theater.

Meardon is a member of the Elks, Moose, Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity, Sigma Chi fraternity, American Legion, VFW Post No. 2581 and the junior chamber of commerce.

He is past president of local 450, American Federation of Musicians in which he holds one of the two life memberships.

Now chairman of the Iowa City Republican central committee, he has been a delegate to the Republican state convention since 1946. He is running for public office for the first time.

The GOP candidate for justice of the peace is Atty. J. Newman Toomey, 32, 617 Rundell street.

He received his B.A. degree from SUI in 1939 and served in the army five years. He was graduated from the Iowa law school in 1949.

Among the organizations of which Toomey is a member are VFW Post, No. 3949, Knights of Columbus, junior chamber of commerce, Lions club and United World Federalists.

He was chairman of the 1950 Johnson county cancer fund drive and chairman of the Johnson county committee for the Hoover report.

He is county chairman and a state director of the United World Federalists and a director of the junior and senior chamber of commerce. He has never previously sought public office.

Roy Lewis, 68, 514 S. Dodge street, is seeking the GOP nomination for constable. He has held the office 14 years.

Born and raised on a farm three miles southwest of Iowa City, Lewis was graduated from high school at Iowa City academy. He worked as a motorman on the Grand railway three years and worked for the highway commission 16 years.

On the GOP ballot for state officers are three candidates for U.S. senator, Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Cedar Rapids, the incumbent, is opposed by Harry B. Thompson, Muscatine, and Earl F. Wisdom, Des Moines.

Governor William S. Beardsley is unopposed in the primaries. There are three candidates for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor: Richard V. Leo, Dysart; J. Kendall Lynes, Plainfield, and W. H. Nicholas, Mason City.

Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst is also unopposed in the primaries.

Chet B. Akers and Mrs. Edna C. Lawrence, both of Ottumwa, are the candidates for state auditor. Akers is the present auditor.

The five GOP candidates for state treasurer include M. L. Abrahamson, Boone; John H. Cruickshank, Sioux City; George W. Halsroad, Greene; Edward J. Kallamy, Pella, and Lawrence I. Truax, Des Moines.

Claude Spry of Bronson is the lone Republican candidate for secretary of agriculture.

Larson is opposed in the race for attorney general by Bernard A. Brown of Sioux City.

Paul B. Norris, Thompson, will attempt to win the nomination from Jessie M. Parker, Lake Mills, who has been superintendent of public instruction for 12 years.

Three candidates seek the GOP nomination for two positions on the state commerce commission. They are William Darrab, Des Moines; David B. Long, Des Moines, and B. M. Richardson, Cedar Rapids. Richardson has served five four-year terms as commissioner and Long has served two.

Herbert W. Oveson, Wilton Junction, opposes Martin in the campaign for representative in congress.

Booklet to Explain SUI Staff Insurance

The SUI group total and permanent disability and group life insurance program will be explained in a booklet to be distributed Tuesday to SUI staff members, A.C. Marks, director of SUI personnel service, announced Thursday.

Staff members who plan to leave Iowa City before Tuesday and won't return until September may obtain application blanks for the new program at the personnel office.

By filling out applications now, staff members will be eligible for benefits under the program which may go into effect as early as July 1.

The bid of Bankers Life Insurance company of Iowa has been accepted to handle the program. Company representatives will be in Iowa City beginning Tuesday to answer questions on the program. Their Iowa City address will be given in the booklet.

Fake Salesladies Swindle SUI Coeds

Local citizens were warned by police Thursday to beware of peddlers after several members of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority were swindled out of $75 for "Scottish woolen goods."

Police said that two women, representing themselves as St. Louis salesladies for a large cloth manufacturer, sold the SUI coeds pieces of material which they said were "imported woolen cloth." They turned out to be plain cotton.

The sorority girls told police the cloth was cut into large pieces and sold for $5 a piece.

Police said they also had reports that the two women had approached SUI students in Currier hall.

Citizens were reminded by police that peddlers must carry a city peddler's permit in order to carry on door-to-door sales.

Income Tax Files Opened to Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman gave the senate crime investigating committee a sharp new tool Thursday — the right to inspect the income tax returns of big-shot gamblers and racketeers.

The President's decision to give the committee access to income and other tax records opens the way for a broad exploration of the nationwide ramifications of illegal bookmaking.

Committee Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) announced Mr. Truman's decision after calling at the White House with three other members of the crime unit.

WOI ENGINEER NAMED

CHICAGO (AP)—A witness told a "blue-ribbon" coroner's jury Thursday that the motorman of a streetcar that carried 33 persons to fiery deaths last week failed to heed his signals to slow down.

Cop Gets Robbed —

DALTON, GA. (AP)—Three tough characters, one a woman, took a Tennessee trooper's patrol car away from him Thursday and headed for the north Georgia mountains toward Atlanta, firing the trooper's machine gun as they went.

FRESNO, CALIF. (AP)—John O'Reilly, the gun-waving Los Angeles war veteran who turned a scheduled airline flight into a nightmare for 23 passengers and crew last Sunday, was committed to a state mental hospital Thursday.

DES MOINES (AP)—Fifty-two slot machines and 76 punch boards were seized by a joint force of sheriff's deputies and city police in a raid Thursday.

From Fullback to . . .

HONG KONG (AP)—An American flier whose plane crashed in Communist territory said Thursday he had lost 70 pounds during six months imprisonment, eating scraps left by communist officers.

James McGovern of Elizabeth, N.J., pilot for Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's civil air transport line, said the food was "miserable" but otherwise he was treated well "by Chinese standards."

McGovern, about 30, resembled a college fullback when his transport plane crashed Dec 4 about 150 miles north of the Indo-China border. Thursday his Hawaiian shirt hung loosely on his body. He had a black, bushy beard.

Bergen to Try Television —

NEW YORK (AP)—Another radio star, Edgar Bergen, reported plans Thursday to take the plunge into television.

Bergen, stopping over here on his way from Hollywood to Paris, said he and his famous dummy, Charlie McCarthy, would make at least three television appearances next fall on the Columbia broadcasting system network. They will be in addition to Bergen's weekly radio series that will resume in October.

Port of the Pennsylvania Delegation —

In the general election this fall, Governor Duff will oppose Sen. Francis J. Myers, Democrat.

After he was nominated Duff asserted, "This primary was a referendum on what this administration stood for. The result was clear." The principal features of Governor Duff's program are cleaning up Pennsylvania's streams and expanding the state's institutions for mental patients.

FOR YEARS Duff has been directing attention to the importance of conservation measures, especially stream purification, reforestation and soil preservation. As governor he is inflexibly carrying forward the program to rid Pennsylvania of polluted streams. He is convinced that stream pollution is a menace to the health of people wherever they are obliged to depend for drinking water upon heavily polluted streams.

In 1945, when Duff was serving as attorney general in the cabinet of Gov. (now U.S. senator) Edward Martin, the general assembly passed an anti-pollution act and a desilting act. The first project in the streams program is the removing of silt from the Schuylkill river, which flows through eastern Pennsylvania from the anthracite mining region to Philadelphia, where it empties into the Delaware.

THE SCHUYLKILL was selected as the first project because that river furnishes both domestic and industrial water supply for the most populous area of Pennsylvania, including Philadelphia, the state's largest city. For a hundred years this river has been the carrier of great tonnages of silt and small sizes of coal discharged from anthracite breakers.

Under order of the state, at every one of the 47 breakers located along the river and its tributaries there has been installed a pollution abatement system to keep the silt and the fine sizes of coal, estimated at two million tons a year, from the waterways.

All towns and cities on the Schuylkill watershed are now required to build or adequately enlarge sewage treatment works. It is estimated that the cost of removing silt from the Schuylkill river will be $55-million, of which $20-million is to be paid by the federal government.

Acheson to Appeal For Public Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next six weeks will see Secretary of State Dean Acheson making more public appearances around the country than he has made in any such period of his career.

He has heeded advisers who contend he is his own best salesman and that he should work vigorously for public understanding and support of his ideas.

Another group of advisers has always held that the secretary of state should make a public speech only when he has something of major importance to say.

That theory dominated Acheson's first year in office. Some of the men around him feel that it hurt public acceptance of what he's trying to accomplish in the way of "total diplomacy."

Another factor that may have influenced Acheson's decisions is that reports were current while he was in London that he was tired, frustrated and wanted to toss over his job.

Communist Strength Waning In Western European Nations

By CLARKE BEACH
WASHINGTON (AP)—Why have the Communists failed in their shrill threats to sabotage the shipment of arms to Europe?

One possible answer is clear. Communist strength in western Europe is waning.

A high official whose job is to keep track of such matters says that the number of Communists in the Atlantic pact nations has declined about 10 percent in the past nine months.

His office has compiled a hitherto unpublished table of Communist strength in those countries. It estimated there were 2,599,800 Reds there as of last August. Now he reckons that the number has been reduced to about 2,340,000.

The shipments have been guarded with extreme caution by both the United States and European governments. The French recently amended and strengthened old laws to punish severely any sabotage of the armed forces, and the government subsequently announced that it would rigidly enforce those laws.

The American official said the French government dared to take such action, aimed directly at Communist activity, because of the weakened political position of the Communist party there. He believes that such action would not have been politically feasible in France a year ago.

American diplomats stationed in Europe have attached great significance to the very fact that the Kremlin has chosen to make such a noisy campaign against the arms aid program. Why did the Red leaders so openly defy the natural desires of the European peoples to increase their powers of self defense?

Was it just a part of their alleged "peace offensive," by which they have sought to get the U.S. and its allies to disarm?

Some experts think the explanation is that the Communists simply miscalculated their strength, that they actually hoped to prevent or seriously impede the shipment of American arms.

Others doubt that they were that naive. They are wondering if the Kremlin by that tactic might have chosen deliberately to test the strength of the "hard core" of the Communist party — the members who could be depended upon to go to the most desperate lengths to follow Moscow's leadership.

The "hard core" is a tiny fraction of the Communist party in France, according to the officials who estimated the number of Communists in the Atlantic pact nations. There were only 11,000 of them in France last August, out of 600,000 Communist party members there. The Communists claim a membership of 1-million in France.

The "hard core" in the United Kingdom was estimated at 15,000. This compared to an estimated Communist strength there of 40,000. The Communists claimed 50,000 members in Britain.

A surprising fact is that the experts who made these compilations said that all the 15,000 Communists they counted in Canada could be rated as "hard core" members. The party claimed 23,000 there.

(Federal bureau of investigation spokesmen say that the bureau has made no breakdown between "hard core" and regular members of the party in the United States. Director J. Edgar Hoover recently said the party had 55,000 members in this country.)

The Communist party is legal in all the Atlantic pact countries except Portugal. It has representatives in the legislatures of all those nations except Portugal, Canada and the United States.

The Communists claim about 3,349,000 members out of a total population of 262-million in Canada and western European Atlantic pact nations.

Spot Lookout Posts In First Maneuver For U.S. Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Selection of 9,000 observation posts has completed the first phase of the nation's civilian defense program, the defense department announced recently.

The observation posts, to be manned by trained civilians in event of air attack, are located approximately eight miles apart and are scattered through 25 states covering generally the northern half of the United States and the east and west coasts.

The distance of eight miles apart was set because a person normally can see about four miles in ordinary daylight in most parts of the country.

A defense spokesman said all but a few of the observation posts have been selected and most of the chief observers have been named.

Each post is to have a chief observer, two assistant observers, and 20 other civilian volunteers to make certain that it could be manned 24 hours a day if necessary.

The program is civilian — operated and manned, but the volunteers will be trained by the air force which also coordinates the program with state governors.

Setting up 9,000 aircraft observation posts indicates that the defense department is trying to make the aircraft observation network as tight as possible. Original plans called for 6,000 and then 7,000 such posts.

Original plans also called for enrolling and training about 150,000 civilian volunteers, but the present plans will increase that number to about 200,000.

In addition to posts to sight unidentified aircraft, the program calls for setting up 26 filter stations to which observers will telephone information about unidentified planes.

Each filter station will be manned by about 500 persons — not all working at once, but assuring sufficient trained personnel to stay on a 24-hour operation daily. Top personnel in each filter station will be military, the rest civilian.

Original tentative plans called for 300 persons for each filter station.

Since each filter station will require a large personnel, many telephones and sufficient space to work with large maps, they will be located in large cities. These locations will not be disclosed.

The purpose of the program is to supplement the air force's radar network now being set up in coastal states, Alaska, and Canada.

The civilian network will help the air force count low-flying aircraft, identify them, and trace their direction all the way across the country.

Defense officials said progress of the civilian program is satisfactory and living up to expectations.

The next step, they said, is to enroll the volunteers and train them. Then a full-scale test of its efficiency probably will be held.

About 12,000 civilian volunteers participated in "operation lookout" conducted in 10 eastern states last fall. A similar exercise was held in northwestern states. Both were considered successful.

The defense department said no plans have been made yet for such an exercise in north and north central states.

Washington Household Hints

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—The news boiling out of Washington—Truman says this congress does or doesn't do that — presents an unfair picture of this amazing capital of the U.S.

Shucks, Washington isn't all breathless news bulletins. Ordinary people, who have ordinary worries, live here, too.

I know this because I am a steady reader of a column in the Washington Evening Star entitled "Readers' Clearing House." Here the readers, mostly women judging from the tones of their letters, exchange recipes, household hints, advice.

Conducted by Betsy Caswell and her assistant, Dorothy Bihlman, the column pulls in 10,000 letters a year.

Most of these are written in a chummy, over-the-back-fence style. There are references to "us girls."

My wife, an expert household hinter, says the advice and recipes are first rate. But anyone can be carried away by the wide range of the topics under discussion.

For example, I now know how to recane a chair, how to pack a bridal dress so it will retain its freshness, and I also have a splendid recipe for dandelion punch. (Ingredients: two quarts dandelion blossoms, four quarts boiling water, three pounds sugar, 2 oranges, 1 lemon.)

Another reader says if you want to remove the smell of onions on your hands, rub them with salt. If you smell like furniture polish, rub on vinegar.

Miss Bihlman tells me that this question has been one of the most persistent in the Readers' Clearing House.

"What's the matter with my African violets?" She said African violets came up so often she finally went and bought one of her own.

And is it doing well? "Twenty-two blooms," said Miss B. proudly. It would have been a fine time to drink a toast of dandelion punch. I was sorry I hadn't brewed any.

Pie Has A Tradition, Too

Pie lovers shouldn't be upset about the current prominence of pie in popular songs, for pie has a history that easily competes with the cake tradition. Even nursery rhymes record the early days of pie in "Simple Simon, Sing a song of Sixpence" and "Little Jack Horner." Books of the sixteenth century recorded pies of berries, lemon-mint fillings — almost anything. The rare old book contains a recipe for baking live birds in pies that they could fly out when the delicacy was cut. The early custom of baking valuable documents, jewelry and other treasures in pies was probably the basis for the Jack Horner rhyme. According to legend, a man named Jack Horner was sent King Henry VII with a pie containing the title deeds for Somersetshire county. The king took a bite in his thumb and pulled out a plum — the deed for the manor of Mills. Modern slang has utilized pie in such expressions as "pie-eyed" and "pie-face." Obviously a pie is long overdue.

Volland Chosen 'Dentist of Half Century'

Roscoe H. Volland, Iowa City dentist and former SUI faculty member, has been selected as "dentist of the half century" for the state of Iowa, according to a special mid-century issue of the Journal of the American Dental Association.

The issue, commemorating 50 years of dental progress, said Volland was nominated for the honor by members of the Iowa State Dental society for his leadership as an educator and administrator in the profession.

Volland spent 21 years on the faculty of the SUI college of dentistry, from which he received his degree in 1902, and 21 years as professor of clinical dentistry at Northwestern university's dental school, Chicago. He also earned the degree of doctor of medicine in 1944. He retired from teaching at Northwestern university, and opened a dental office at 204 1-2 E. Washington street, Iowa City.

Volland headed the Iowa State Dental society in 1911 and was president of the American Dental association in 1928. He also served as treasurer of the latter organization from 1928 to 1943. He was one of the founders of the American College of Dentists and served as president in 1929. He is a life member of the American Dental Society of Europe and of the International Association of Dental Research.

In singling him out for distinction, his colleagues said, "Because of his devotion to his profession, the Iowa State Dental Society is proud to present Roscoe H. Volland as the outstanding figure in Iowa dentistry during the past half century."

Outdoor Fireplaces Versatile for Picnics

Outdoor fireplaces can be as versatile as the kitchen stove for picnickers who like to experiment with such picnic favorites as steak and frankfurters.

Steak can be cut into cubes and placed on a stick with pieces of onion. These savory bits are called "kabobs."

For the outdoor cook who wants to glamorize the common frankfurter, ingredients for "angels-on-horseback" will be in demand. To fix "angels" split the frankfurter, insert a wedge of cheese, wrap with a strip of bacon and place on a stick for roasting.

To fill out the picnic menu, potato chips, marshmallows, pickles and olives should be included.

Transporting the food to the picnic grounds is a problem made easy by the newest picnic aids. Waxed paper cartons with lids are available in various sizes for carrying salad, baked beans and desserts.

Paper sandwich bags will keep sliced tomatoes and lettuce moist, while paper plates and eating utensils are musts to insure a quick, convenient cleanup after the picnic.

Home Ec Honorary Elects Ylvaune Wiley

Ylvaune Wiley, A3, Iowa City, has been elected president of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority.

Other officers elected were Doris Ott, dietitian in pediatrics at University hospitals, vice - president, and Lorraine Weng, G, secretary - treasurer.

Zoology Professor to Attend Paris Meeting

Prof. Emil Witschi, SUI zoology department, left Iowa City by plane Thursday to attend an international symposium in Paris, France.

The symposium on "Sex Differentiation in the Vertebrate Animals" is sponsored by the French National Research council. Twenty-five scientists from various parts of the world, including Prof. Witschi and six others from the United States, will attend.

Prof. Witschi will board a transatlantic plane in New York Saturday and will arrive in Paris Sunday.

From Monday through June 12 he will participate in the conference. Each scientist will spend half a day presenting papers and discussing his research in the field of sex differentiation.

Following the conference Prof. Witschi will spend a few days visiting his sister and other relatives in Switzerland, where he lived until he became a member of the SUI faculty in 1927.

At Berne, Switzerland, he will visit Prof. Fritz Baltzer, an exchange professor at SUI during the 1948-49 academic year. He will leave Paris by plane June 17 and arrive in Cedar Rapids the next day. The entire trip is financed by the French National Research council.

Prof. Witschi was an exchange professor at the University of Tuebingen, in the French zone of Germany, during the 1948 - 49 academic year. His work was sponsored by the Rockefeller foundation.

Blotter Removes Spots Left by Wax Drippings

If candles drip on your best table linens, don't despair. Wax drippings can be scraped from the cloth with a dull-edged knife or spatula.

To remove all traces of a spot, place a white blotter over and under the area and press with a warm iron for several minutes. After laundering, the cloth will be spotless.

The same method can be used to remove candle wax on rugs. The rug should be brushed to raise the nap after using the iron.

What's A Little Sun In The Eye at A Party

Four-Year-Old Socialite Holds Traditional Party

Marianne Morrison's birthday parties are becoming traditions at Finkbine park.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Morrison, 322 Finkbine park, Marianne celebrated her fourth birthday Thursday with about 30 of the neighborhood children to help her.

During the winter, parties are limited in size because of the smallness of Finkbine homes.

The last two years Marianne has invited most of her playmates to the backyard celebration.

Marianne invited her friends so informally that her mother "had a few mothers checking up to see who was actually coming."

Several youngsters, anxious for the ice cream and cake to appear, began stopping at the Morrison home around noon "to see if everything was going okay," Mrs. Morrison said.

Opening the gifts, next to refreshments, was the highlight of the afternoon. The honoree, accompanied by her envious guests, shrieked loud "ah's" and "ah's" as she unwrapped each gift.

The wrapping threatened to engulf some of the smaller folks until Mrs. Morrison moved the presents indoors. Later they discovered several gifts still wrapped, so Marianne started all over again.

Mrs. Morrison, wife of an SUI journalism instructor, said she "nearly had heart failure" when it began to rain early Thursday afternoon.

Men, Girls Fined For Night in Park

HYDE PARK — Four youths and three girls, described as students at Yale university and Vassar and Smith colleges, were arrested Thursday after staying overnight in a cabin in nearby Norrie state park, state police said.

The seven pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct charges before Justice of the Peace Raymond Hill here. The youths were fined $25 each, the girls $10 each.

State Troopers Walter Donnegan and Joseph Donahue said the group was accused of entering a park cabin without permission and remaining overnight.

snatched a balloon out of a youngster's hand or someone's cup of ice cream got upset.

But on the whole, Marianne's birthday party was considered quite a social event by the Finkbine small - fry.

Czechs Admit Plot To End Red Rule

PRAGUE — One of 13 Czechs on trial for treason told a state court Thursday he had participated in a plot with a former U.S. ambassador and the brother of the late President Eduard Benes to overthrow the Communist regime.

Jiri Hejda, 55, former manufacturer and second Czech to plead guilty Thursday, said he took part in a "plot" to stage an armed revolt and that former U.S. Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt and Vojta Benes were involved.

Hejda, third defendant to testify, took the stand after Dr. Josef Nestaval, 49, a former government official, pleaded guilty to spying for the United States but said he did not recall transmitting reports on Czech uranium or secret weapons.

Dr. Milada Horakova, 49, a one-time member of parliament, pleaded guilty on similar charges when the trial opened Wednesday.

Hejda, former member of the government central planning committee, told the court he was "fully guilty of belonging to an organization aimed at the overthrow of the regime."

Hejda said he gathered "secret and top secret" economic reports which he gave to American embassy Secretaries Louis Schaffner and Mary Trent for transmission to the United States.

SUI Student Injured In Automobile Crash

Meryl G. Brewer, C3, Mason City, was treated at University hospital for minor cuts received when the car in which he was riding collided with another auto about 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Brewer, 24, was riding with Elmer G. Long, A3, Ft. Madison, going east on Grand avenue, when they collided with a car driven by James Cozad, C4, Waterloo, the report said.

Long, 23, said he was turning the corner onto highway 6 and didn't see Cozad's car until they collided.

Landon's Manager Spy Case Lawyer

PHILADELPHIA — John D. M. Hamilton, former Republican national chairman who managed Alf Landon's presidential campaign in 1936 was appointed Thursday to serve as defense counsel for accused atomic spy Harry Gold.

Hamilton accepted the appointment "in the public interest" after a lengthy conference with Federal Judge James P. McGranery, Gold, Arthur Cornelius Jr., head FBI agent here, and representatives of the U.S. marshal's office. The appointment was made by McGranery at the request of Gold, who asked that his counsel be one who would "not make a show, have no radical connections and no leftist or pinkish background whatsoever."

McGranery said he had given the appointment "great consideration, because of the gravity of the charge and its possible far-reaching international implications."

He termed Hamilton's patriotism "above reproach" and said he is one of the most respected members of the bar. Hamilton is a law partner of former U.S. Sen. George Wharton Pepper, dean of the Philadelphia bar.

Two Fined $500 In OMVI Charge

Dennis Ingle and James Rucker, West Liberty, each charged with two traffic violations, were released on $500 bond and their cases transferred to C.J. Hutchinson's justice of the peace court Thursday.

The two men were charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and not having valid operator's permits. The charges were filed after arrests Saturday by the state highway patrolmen.

The defendants were represented by the firm of Swisher and Swisher.

Mother, Wed to Chinese, Shoots Daughter

NEW YORK (AP) — An attractive American woman, married to a Chinese, shot and critically wounded their four-year-old daughter Thursday, police said, because she thought people were making fun of the child's Oriental features.

"I don't want my little girl to suffer and be pushed around the way I have been," Mrs. Emma Rose Curtis Tom, 30, told officers. She did not elaborate.

She was taken to Bellevue hospital for mental observation. The child, Toy Tom, in another wing of the hospital, was reported in very poor condition with a .32 calibre bullet in the right temple. Mrs. Tom, police said, shot the child as she slept in her crib in their upper East side apartment — wrapping the pistol in a towel so the cold metal would not touch the little girl's skin. After the shooting, Mrs. Tom ran to the apartment of a neighbor who called the police.

Her court - assigned lawyer, Benjamin Schmier, said the woman had felt a growing sense of desperation, complicated by the prospect of a divorce from her husband, James Tom, a waiter.

Commercial Video Here Unlikely, Snyder Claims

Iowa City may not get commercial television because of lack of room under present channel limitations, Robert Snyder, president of the Johnson County Broadcasting company, told the Rotary club Thursday.

The Johnson County Broadcasting company operates radio station KXIC, of which Snyder is one of the founders.

With 12 assigned channels, four of which are occupied or committed, there may or may not be room for a commercial television station here," Snyder said.

The federal communications commission assigned channels in 1945 when there were six television stations in the country. Now there are 104, he said.

Snyder is uncertain whether television is practical on a commercial basis in small cities. He cited the high cost of TV advertising in Milwaukee where WTMJ's station charges one-third more for television time than radio time.

He said SUI applied for a television license in 1948 but the FCC freeze on new stations has prevented further action on the application.

The cost estimated in the university application was $228,000 for construction of the station and $30,000 for the first year's operational expenses. The Johnson County Broadcasting company was capitalized at $100,000 in 1947 Snyder said.

Nothing compares with the impact of television advertising," Snyder declared. Snyder graduated from the school of journalism at the University of Illinois. He received his M.A. degree in journalism at SUI in 1946.

Southerner Refuses To Let Negro Speak

CHARLESTON (AP) — A Negro candidate for congress said Thursday he was refused the right to speak at a South Carolina political rally in Hampton, S.C., Wednesday.

A. J. Clement, first Negro to run for the house of representatives from South Carolina since reconstruction days, said he tried to speak at a rally with Gov. J. Strom Thurmond and Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) candidates for the Democratic nomination to the senate. Clement is opposing Rep. L. Mendel Rivers (D-S.C.) in the July 11 primary.

Candidates for congress had been invited by the state Democratic party to join in the senatorial campaign as it progressed from county to county. However, Clement said, the Hampton county Democratic chairman, J.H. Lightsey, adjourned the meeting before he could get on the platform.

Lightsey said he told Clement he had no instructions to let any one speak except the two candidates. For senate, Clement spoke earlier in the day at another county meeting in Allendale.

Seaman Threatens Train Passengers

PHOENIX (AP) — A baby's crying sent a 27-year-old merchant seaman on a two-hour gun-waving spree in a crowded coach of the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited Thursday.

Police, warned after trainmen dropped a note as the eastbound train sped by a desert way station, swarmed aboard as it pulled into the Phoenix station. A man police identified as H.P. Huff of Polkville, Miss., was seized without resistance. None of the passengers had been harmed.

A number of passengers became hysterical as Huff strode up and down the aisle, threatening them with a rusty pistol. Passengers said Huff became enraged at the crying of a baby, took the gun out of his luggage and told the mother: "Take that baby out of this car or I'll shoot both of you." S-Sgt. R.L. Keeton Jr., of Dallas, Texas, attempted to go to the aid of the mother.

"He (Huff) shoved the gun barrel into my ribs and told me to get back to my seat," Keeton related. "I did. After a few minutes I sneaked out of my chair and up to the conductor's room. I told him about the man and the gun. We decided to get word to the police."

Huff was jailed for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon. Detective George Van Doren said Huff told him he was "afraid three men were going to kill me with an ice pick."

ADVERTISING VITAL

DETROIT (AP) — Advertising can be a weapon in preserving the American way of life and fighting "isms," a leading newspaper executive said Thursday. "Our freedoms are fragile and perishable," General Manager Sterling E. Graham of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, told the 46th convention of the Advertising Federation of America.

'White Russian' Receives Discharge Notice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michael Lee, who describes himself as a former White Russian, was officially notified Thursday he will be fired from his $10,000-a-year commerce department post unless he can refute administrative charges against him within five days.

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer had the notice of discharge papers served on Lee yesterday afternoon. The department refused to disclose the nature of the charges, Lee himself said he had been informed the charges were "maladministration" although, he added, Sawyer and other department officials had previously attested to his "ability, competence and loyalty."

In a statement Lee said that despite these earlier statements by Sawyer, the secretary has now yielded to an "ultimatum" by members of a senate subcommittee. Lee and William W. Remington, another $10,000-a-year commerce department official, have both been under congressional fire on loyalty grounds. Both have denied pro-communist leanings.

Sawyer demanded last week that Lee and Remington resign or be ousted, although he emphasized this action was not taken on loyalty grounds in the case of either man. Both men refused to quit.

ENDORSE LOVELAND DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Railway Labor Citizens league Thursday endorsed Albert J. Loveland for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator. Loveland's headquarters announced. The organization made no other senatorial endorsement.

West Plots War, Says Red Deputy

BERLIN (AP) — The Deputy Russian Commander of Berlin accused the West Thursday of planning a new war as the East German Communist army paraded 50,000 strong throughout the Soviet zone in a show of strength.

Col. Alexei Yel'sarov said that "the Imperialists who enriched themselves in the war are now working to prepare a new war." He demanded that the "first government to use the atomic bomb be branded a war criminal." Elite units of the Peoples police, parading in jackboots and blue-black uniforms, aroused new anxiety in the West.

The army — members of the Soviet zone's "alert units" — was told by the Soviet-licensed Berliner Zeitung to prepare itself to replace Russian army occupation forces soon as the defender of the territory west of the Elbe.

FLOOD RELIEF

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman has allocated $40,000 for flood relief in South Dakota, the White House announced Thursday. The sum was set aside from the President's emergency fund for the relief of hardship and suffering in and around Perkins, Corson and Harding counties.

Fog Aids Fight of Canadian Forest Fire

HALIFAX (AP) — Heavy fog Thursday did what 1,500 men, armed with planes, pumps, bulldozers and walkie-talkies couldn't do — it stood off a fierce forest fire that raged near here since Monday.

The fog — and lack of wind — enabled the tolling fire-fighters to stamp out a few danger spots near upper Musquodoboit, where more than 15,000 acres of cut-over spruce have been destroyed. The fire swept close to the Liscomb game sanctuary but was turned aside by a wind shift.

Bears, deer, moose, and wildcats headed eastward to safety. The fire-fighters were encouraged by a prediction of showers for the area today. But officials warned this might be only a temporary relief. Another dozen fires were burning in various parts of Nova Scotia but none was reported serious. They started during a record-breaking heat wave.

The Musquodoboit blaze began Monday and swept toward the sea for two days, but was checked by a change of wind.

Then it roared down on the villages of Pleasant Valley and Dean. One dwelling and several barns with livestock were destroyed. Because the fire came unseasonably early, it was difficult to use heavy fighting equipment due to poor traction in soggy ground.

Planes equipped with loudspeakers directed ground operations from overhead. Royal Canadian Mounted Police with walkie-talkies prowled in the forests and kept up communications with the various parties and the aircraft.

Order Two to Jail; One Fined $12.50

Two Iowa City men were ordered to the county jail and an SUI student fined on charges of intoxication, in police court Thursday.

Conrad Melree, 411 E. Bloomington, and Hubert C. Rath, were sent to the Johnson county jail in lieu of payment of $27.50 fines imposed by Judge Emil G. Trott.

Leslie Vernon Connelly, C4, Marshall, Mich., was fined $12.50.

Marion Hits Home Run; Pollet Pitches 5 Hitter

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals squeezed into a first-place National League tie with Brooklyn Thursday night by crushing the Dodgers, 5-2, behind the grand slam homer of Marty Marion, the first in his lifetime. Howard Pollet held the Dodgers to five scattered hits, getting his first decision of the year over Brooklyn.

Paid attendance of 32,180 represented the largest crowd to attend a baseball game at Sportsman's Park this season.

Two key Cardinal players—Catcher Joe Garagiola and Third Baseman Tommy Glaviano—were hurt and both left the game.

Garagiola suffered an injured shoulder when he stumbled going into first and Glaviano hurt an ankle rounding third base. Extent of their injuries was not immediately determined.

It was the sixth straight win for the Cardinals.

Lucky Team!

Fan Says Yankees Get Breaks

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Yankees are a lucky team," the guy said. "They aren't as good as their record." He mused a moment, then added, "and the Giants aren't as bad as their record."

The Yankees and the Red Sox at the moment were engaged in a holiday double header. At least the Yankees were engaged. The Red Sox still looked like the perennial bridesmaid.

Lot of Breaks

"They get a lot of good breaks," the guy continued, and it was obvious he was a little peeved about the success of the New York club, a team with a huge stadium, a lot of publicity, a fat bankroll—everything they need.

"Now you take the Dick Wakefield—see what I mean?" The blurted question was prompted by a play on the infield. A red Sox batter had hit a ground ball to the left of Billy Johnson at third base. Nine times of 10 it would have gone for a hit, but Johnson stuck his glove down and the ball stuck.

"As I was saying, suppose Branch Rickey had suspended Wakefield and refused to pay his salary. They'd call Rickey all kinds of skintflints. But when the Yankees do it it's all right."

"These Red Sox, I can't figure them out. They do all their heavy hitting either when they're behind or far it doesn't do any good, or ahead so far it's unimportant. When they need the hits they don't get them."

Rally Going

The Red Sox had a rally going, with one out and men on first and second. Birdie Tebbets connected solidly, but the ball went to Phil Rizzuto on a line as it drawn by a magnet. It was a cinch double play.

"They get all the breaks," the guy said sourly. "Look at the publicity that DiMaggio, that Page, and that Rizzuto, get. What do you hear about Stan Musial? He's only the best player in baseball. If he played here they'd be running his life story and dedicating monuments to him."

New York Columnist Reports Williams Wants to Be Traded

NEW YORK (AP)—The fortunes of Ted Williams in particular and the Boston Red Sox in general came in for a major share of sports column space Thursday in New York newspapers.

1. Jimmy Cannon, columnist for the Post, said flatly the Red Sox slugger wants to be traded—preferably to Detroit.

In Boston Williams said the "rumor is absolutely false and I don't know how it got started." Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager called the report "silly and a figment of the imagination."

2. In The Daily Mirror, Dan Parker writes that Boston newspapermen think Williams is what ails the Red Sox.

3. Said Red Smith in the Herald Tribune: "If ever a club looked like a beaten team, the Red Sox did when they quit the Stadium Tuesday evening" after dropping the Memorial day double bill to the Yankees.

4. "Maybe they don't have it," declared Arthur Daley of the Times.

5. Joe Williams in the World-Telegram and Sun: "Do the Red Sox quit under pressure?"

6. And Max Kase, Journal-American: "Gold hose? Rename them the Paper Sox."

The Sox had been picked by a majority of experts to win the American league pennant.

"Boston's hostile and abusive baseball fanatics probably have succeeded in running Ted Williams out of town," wrote Cannon in a copyrighted article.

"It is his hope that this is his last year with the Red Sox. I can exclusively and positively report, Williams intends to ask the Red Sox to trade him. The choice is Detroit. Only Detroit, Cleveland and the Yankees could afford to employ him."

Williams is an expensive item. The Sox are reported to be paying him $125,000 this year—most money ever given a baseball star.

"Many baseball people estimate Williams would be a bargain if bought for $250,000 and a trinity of players such as Johnny Groth, Hoot Evers and Art Houtteman," Cannon continued.

Williams is an expensive item. The Sox are reported to be paying him $125,000 this year—most money ever given a baseball star.

"I'm almost 21 now," he said Thursday. "The season's already underway and I figure I'd better get going."

Joe figures the best way is through advertising. He has sent a $5 bill to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin for the insertion of this work-wanted-ad:

"Outfielder-major league, speciality hitting curved balls. Right-handed Joe, who stands five foot, 10 1/2 inches and weighs 185, may lack experience but not confidence. He claims no diamond experience before his induction in the army three years ago but he says "baseball just comes natural for me."

Joe attributed his late baseball start to the fact they couldn't afford baseballs in central Missouri where he was raised.

"I learned control throwing rocks at pigeons on the farm where I grew up around Monegan (Mo.)," he elaborated. "The first time I ever saw a baseball was when I was inducted into the army at Jefferson Barracks (near St. Louis) in 1947."

Joe had racked balls in an East St. Louis pool hall before he had gone into the army. His parents are dead.

"You know, there's quite a similar feeling there between a baseball and a pool ball," he said.

Patricia's short but he hopes budding diamond career has led him, he says, to two years on the baseball team of the 24th corps of the army engineers in Yokohama. The club won the Pacific service team championship last year.

He played right field. He reports they didn't keep batting averages but he remembers he got a hit about every other time at the platter.

That's where the advice came in. A friend told Jennings he'd seen the Pittsburgh (Kan.) at the Drake relays and thought it was faster than Notre Dame's.

Jennings gobbled up the advice. He made a last telephone call to Dr. Garfield Weede, the Pittsburgh coach, and invited him to compete. Weede accepted, promising to bring along his relay team "and a few other boys."

Beat Notre Dame He did, and the relay team whipped Notre Dame.

But his "few other boys" also won the 440, 880 and high jump; filled in with a few seconds and thirds—and took home the team trophy, too. Marquette finished second, with Michigan State, Wisconsin and Notre Dame trailing in that order. It was the first and only time a small school has won the crown.

As Jennings was saying—advice, there's nothing like it.

Braves Slam Pirates, 14-2

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Boston Braves pounded the daylight out of the hapless Pirates Thursday, inflicting a 14-2 shellacking topped by Sid Gordon's second grand slam homer of the year.

The setback is the ninth straight for the floundering Braves, stretching their losing streak to the longest in 11 years. Even the crowd was low—8,895 including 3,427 ladies.

Bob Elliott also slammed out a homer with one aboard in the third as the Braves racked up 18 hits. The Pirates finally put their first baseman Jack Phillips on the mound in an effort to stem the tide. He got nicked for four runs and seven hits in five frames.

When Elliott laced his round-tripper it tied him with Gordon and Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh for the National league home run lead at nine all.

In the fifth, Tommy Holmes, Elliot and Cooper came home in a wild Braves surge which greeted Phillips' first mound appearance.

But the converted first sacker settled down and retired the next 11 batters in succession. He allowed another Boston run across the plate in the ninth on a wild pitch.

FORT WAYNE, IND. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, Tenn., shot a five-under par 66 Thursday to take a one-stroke lead over three other top stars in the opening round of the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open.

Bob Vollers Signs With Waterloo Hawks
Bob Vollers, star forward on last year's Iowa basketball team, has signed a contract with the Waterloo Hawks of the newly formed National Professional league, it was revealed Thursday night.
Though terms of the contract were not immediately disclosed, it is believed that the former Keokuk all-star will receive $4,500 a year.
During the past season, Vollers scored 255 points in 22 contests, 117 coming in conference competition. It was the first year he played regularly.
Earlier in the day it was announced in Rock Island, Ill., that Murray Wier, all-American at Iowa in 1948, had been placed on the National Basketball association's waiver list by the Tri-City Blackhawks.

Marquette Director Gobbles Up Advice, Then It Boomerangs
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Con Jennings got to talking Thursday about advice.
"There's nothing like it," said the veteran Marquette university athletic director. "But it shouldn't always be taken."
Jennings was getting things set for the silver anniversary running of the Central College conference outdoor track meet here June 10. He was looking over the list of past team champions when he came to 1933. That's when he made the remark about advice.
Track Coach
In those days, Jennings was Marquette's track coach. He had a crack team in the mid-thirties, headed by Sprinter Ralph Metcalfe. He'd won the 3-C team title in 1932 and wanted to repeat. Thought he could, too, except for one thing.
"Our mile relay team wasn't so good," he recalled. "Notre Dame had a well-balanced squad and a hot relay team. The big problem was to find somebody with a relay team good enough to beat the Irish."
That's where the advice came in. A friend told Jennings he'd seen the Pittsburgh (Kan.) at the Drake relays and thought it was faster than Notre Dame's.

Army Veteran - Now Ready For Majors
KANSAS CITY, KAN. (AP)—A tip to major league baseball clubs: Joe Patricia is ready!
Joe's just back from Yokohama where he's picked up the game of baseball and he is looking for work now that he's out of the army.
Joe's not interested in minor league stuff because as he sees it he's getting pretty old for baseball and besides that he's ready.

Nine Men Die, Two Escape When Patrol Plane Crashes

QUONSET, R.I. (UP)—Nine of the 11 men aboard a navy patrol plane were killed Thursday when the ship crashed and burned while making an emergency landing at the Quonset point naval air station.

Only the pilot and co-pilot escaped death in the crash, but they both were injured seriously.

The crash occurred shortly after the bomber had taken off from Quonset for Argentia, Newfoundland, where it was to have taken part in a two-month anti-submarine exercise. The plane had come here from its base at Jacksonville, Fla.

The navy said the victims' home addresses were not immediately available since their records, which they apparently were carrying with them, were destroyed in the fire following the crash.

The navy plane was in the air only 23 minutes after leaving Quonset point when it returned because one of its engines had caught fire. It apparently tried to land in a cross-wind, tipped over on its back and burst into flames.

Bomber Crashes . . .

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP)—Three men were killed near here Thursday in the crash of a strategic air command B-29 bomber of the group which tests new secret weapons.

Four crewmen escaped injury by parachuting from the crippled plane.

Officials at Walker air base, the plane's home field, said the bomber took off at about 10 a.m. on a routine test flight. It crashed in flames a few minutes later.

Capt. A. H. White, public information officer, said the plane became uncontrollable after a routine check of equipment. The pilot, Capt. Joseph G. Liebich of Springfield, Mo., ordered the crew to abandon ship, but three men were unable to escape.

The crew of another B-29 flying nearby reported the accident. Two ambulances were dispatched to the scene. But the three victims had been killed instantly.

It was the second crash of a strategic air command B-29 in two months. The first fell and burned at Sandia Atomic Weapons base, near Albuquerque, early in April, killing 13 men. No cause was given for the first accident.

Divorcee Convicted Of Shooting Lover

FRANKFORT, IND. (AP)—A Clinton circuit court jury Thursday convicted Mrs. Frankie Miller, 29-year-old divorcee, of manslaughter in the shotgun death of Leland Holliday, 39, the man she said loved her and left her.

Frankie sobbed as the verdict was read and continued to sob as she was led from the courtroom. The conviction carried a sentence of two to 21 years in prison. Sentencing was set for

Monday at 1:30 p.m. by Judge Fred Campbell.

She had been charged with first degree murder in the shooting of Holliday in his apartment last March 19. The trial started May 22.

The jury received the case at 4:05 p.m. and announced its verdict was ready at 7:30 p.m. It had spent half the intervening time out to dinner. The verdict was read at 8:50 p.m.

Iowa City police were still investigating a break-in at the Jackson Electric warehouse Thursday. The break-in occurred early this week.

A complete inventory of the loss has not been made but it was revealed by police that two electric fans were missing. The warehouse is located near the Iowa City public library.

Entrance to the building was made by the use of a small crowbar, police believed.

Fly-Control Campaign Planned Next Week

The Iowa City junior chamber of commerce will sponsor a fly-control campaign Monday through June 10, it was announced Thursday.

The city government will cooperate in the drive by spraying alleys, the city dump and concession stands in City park, Willard Irvin, street commissioner, said.

He asked car owners to keep alleys free, beginning at 7 p.m. today.

This will be the third consecutive year of junior chamber sponsored fly-control campaigns.

Price Bill Scheduled For Vote in Senate; Senator Long to Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate Thursday agreed to start voting today at noon CST upon the controversial "basing point" price measure.

Telephoned word from New Orleans that Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) would leave his sick bed for an airplane flight here to vote led to the agreement by unanimous consent.

Long, one of the group of senators battling the house-approved measure to legalize "delivered prices," had planned to fly here Thursday but became ill in a hotel.

Majority Leader Scott Lucas (D-Ill.) had threatened to hold the senate in a late night session today in an attempt to force the vote.

In view of Long's absence Sens. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), who have been aiding him in the fight against the measure.

Lucas protested against a "fill-buster" and even said he might change his mind about voting with the opposition, when the telephone message came from Long that he would fly here although ill. That brought the agreement.

The bill would make it legal for manufacturers and others to charge uniform delivered prices, including freight, in a given area no matter how far the customer is from the shipping point.

OTIS L. and Mary K. Ellison of Solon filed a $1,500 suit in district court Thursday for an attachment on property owned by Don Stutsman of Washington, Iowa.

The plaintiffs charged Stutsman failed to pay $250 monthly rent since January on 10 acres of land he leased from them for raising turkeys near Solon.

The suit asked foreclosure of a landlord's lien on Ellison's equipment and other belongings now on the land, and for a sheriff's sale to pay $1,500 rent claimed due.

Student Engineers Find Way to Cut Wash-Outs

A method that could greatly reduce small bridge "washouts" has been evolved by SUI civil engineers at the Rocky Mountain Hydraulic laboratory during the past three summers.

An article describing this work at the laboratory appeared in the May issue of Engineering News-Record. It was written by David W. Appel, graduate instructor in mechanics and hydraulics at SUI.

Each year, according to Appel hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent to replace numerous small railroad and highway bridges washed out by flood waters.

Larger bridges are usually not affected by flood waters because they are supported by piers and abutments extending down to solid rock, or are built so massively that the worst floods cannot damage them.

These precautions are usually considered too expensive for small bridges. Now a solution adaptable to small bridges may be possible, due to the work of the engineers at the laboratory.

The inexpensive solution to this problem is the use of flexible mats which protect the bridge supports from washing out.

The mats, placed around each pier, decrease the speed of the water to a point where it no longer erodes the stream beds around the piers. This decreases erosion to a minimum upstream, and practically eliminates it downstream.

The secret of the mats' success lies in their flexibility and the fact that they have holes in them.

The flexibility of the mats, lying on the stream bed, permits them to cling to the changing contour of the stream bed.

This insures protection even at flood time, when erosion and scour lower the stream bed and the bridge is particularly vulnerable because of the increased velocity and force of the water.

Solid mats, lacking flexibility, were tried by the student engineers, but failed. They did not adjust to changes in the stream bed, and once local scour got beneath the edges of the stiff mats, it took only a short time to erode the stream bed as if there were no mats.

For their experimentation, the students used glass graduated tubes for the piers, and constructed everything else to scale.

The glass tubes, affording an important advantage over any previous method of testing, gave unobstructed vision of the erosion in progress.

A dentist's 45 degree mirror fastened on the end of a stick facilitated readings inside the graduated tube.

According to the article, the largest problem remaining is the need for testing the flexible mats in a full-scale operation, before they can be adopted for actual use on Iowa bridges.

SUI Dental Students To Take State Exams

Fifty-five SUI dental students are scheduled to take the state board examinations for dentistry and dental hygiene to be held at the SUI college of dentistry June 5 through June 9.

The written examinations of theory will be given Monday and clinic examinations will start Tuesday and continue the rest of the week.

The practical clinical examinations will include diagnosis, charting, treatment planning, and gold foil, amalgam, and gold crown restorations.

Seventeen graduates from other dental schools and seven dental hygienists also have applied to take the examinations, according to Prof. George S. Easton, director of the SUI dental clinic.
