Girl, 17, Dies in Truck Crash After Graduation Ceremony

Irene Louise Crow, 17-year-old Iowa City girl, was killed Friday in a truck accident less than 12 hours after she and 140 other City high seniors heard their commencement speaker plead for safety.

Miss Crow received her diploma Thursday night. She died on the way to University hospitals after the truck and three companions were riding in, went out of control and overturned about 7:30 a.m. Friday one mile west of Tiffin on highway 6, according to state highway patrolmen.

The other three youths, Charles Yordi, 21, Riverside; Doris Dolezal, 22, Iowa City, and Delores Holstead, 18, Livermore, Calif., received minor injuries.

Coroner's Report

Johnson County Coroner George D. Callahan said Miss Crow's death was caused by a crushed chest and internal hemorrhages. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Oathout funeral chapel with burial in the North Liberty cemetery.

According to statements made to investigating officers, the truck in drove to Iowa City where they picked up the other two girls again at the Crow home, the statements said.

Stopped in Oxford

From the Crow home, they went to an all-night restaurant in Iowa City and then for a ride in the truck to Oxford and back, the statements continued. They were in Oxford for about 30 minutes, the statement said.

At about 7:20 a.m., they said, the four approached Tiffin on their way to Iowa City at "less than 50 miles per hour."

The statement said Miss Holstead was sitting on the Crow girl's lap, Miss Dolezal was in the middle of the cab seat, and Yordi was driving when the crash occurred.

"Something seemed to go wrong with the front end of the truck," Yordi told police, and the truck went out of control.

Miss Crow is survived by her father, Charles E. Crow of Ft. Myers, Fla., and her mother, Mrs. Edith Crow of Iowa City, a brother, Junior Dale Crow, 13, and a grandmother, Mrs. Millie Lininger of Cedar Rapids.

Another teen-age girl was killed in a similar highway tragedy Friday. Margaret Nicholson, 18, Fort Dodge, died when the car in which she and three companions were riding struck a concrete bridge nine miles west of Fort Dodge.

Robert Zakeer, 26, Fort Dodge, driver of the car, was critically hurt, and two other passengers escaped with less serious injuries. Friday's accident marked the second time in nine days that an Iowa teen-ager has been killed on the state's highways following high school commencement exercises.

Five Harlan high school students were killed May 31 in a truck-car collision a few hours after graduation exercises at that city's high school.

Red Deserter Tells Of Guerilla War

BERLIN (AP) — A Soviet army deserter told the British Friday that a guerrilla war is being fought against Soviet rule in the Caucasus mountains.

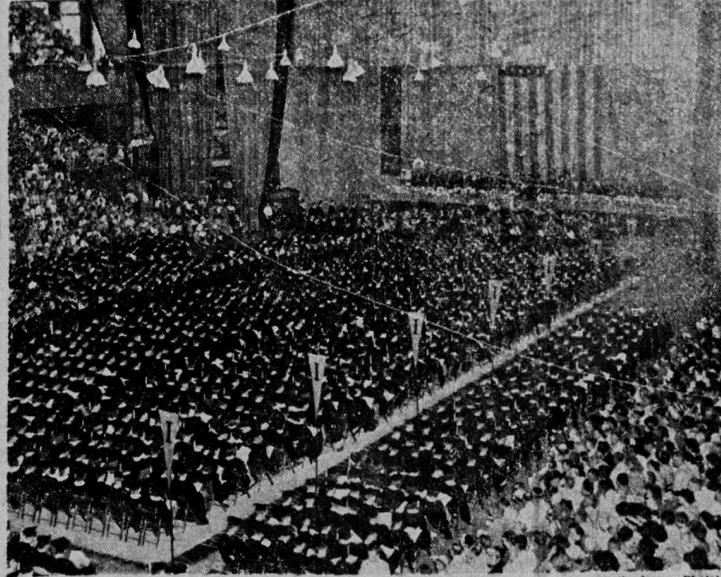

The deserter is 24-year-old S.G. Mikhail Amurkmanovich Kuratsyev, who fled from the Soviet occupation forces in east Germany two weeks ago after returning from home leave in Russia.

Authorities in the British zone where Kuratsyev sought protection as a political refugee said they would refuse to send him back.

Kuratsyev identified the mountain rebels as survivors of the Chechen and Ingush peoples who had been deported from their southern mountain homeland to Siberia in 1944.

A main reason for Kuratsyev's desertion, the British reported, was "the crimes and violence against the minority peoples in his country by the Soviet regime." His home is only five miles from the border of the former Chechen-Ingush autonomous republic, whose Moslem inhabitants were deported en masse.

A RECORD NUMBER OF SUI GRADUATES — approximately 1,850 — received diplomas Friday at commencement exercises before a new capacity crowd in the Field house. Eric A. Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, delivered the Commencement address at the ceremony, which began at 1:45 p. m.

Law Degree, Phi Beta Kappa Key Awarded Truman

COLUMBIA, MO. (AP) — President Truman, speaking before a rain-soaked crowd of fellow Missourians, pledged his country today to carry on its aid to other free nations until they are safe from Russian "internal subversion or external attack."

From a yellow canopy-covered stand in a football field, he voiced a warning to Communist imperialism that "our vital national interest in a healthy world economy" will not end when Marshall plan aid ends in 1952.

The solemn, gray-haired Missourian, who couldn't find time to finish his law course at the University of Kansas City night school, spoke before receiving an honorary doctor of laws degree — one of many that has come his way as President.

But something new was added Friday, the coveted golden key of Phi Beta Kappa, usually awarded for outstanding scholastic achievement.

He was elected to honorary membership for outstanding service as "public servant, statesman and patriot."

Rain started falling as he began his prepared address warning that post-Marshall plan abandonment of aid to western Europe would be disastrous to peace.

In a "world full of dangers," he went on, the United States must not desert its post-war allies lest "the communists move in."

The downpour grew worse. Umbrellas opened up all over the stadium stands in front of him. Mr. Truman began reading more rapidly, grinning as newspapermen and graduates covered their heads with the commencement programs. By the time he had concluded, the deluge came, and the crowd broke.

Acheson Called 'Red Dean of Fascism' By Sen. McCarthy

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) receiving a thunderous ovation from his home state Republicans, Friday branded Secretary of State Dean Acheson as the "Red Dean of Fascism" and demanded that he be fired "this very day."

McCarthy, keynoting the Wisconsin GOP convention, appeared before his home state political organization for the first time since he first raised charges of communism and perversion in the state department last February.

He was greeted by a standing ovation and a shower of streamers when he entered Milwaukee auditorium for his speech, and after he spoke well-wishers and autograph seekers mobbed him for 10 minutes.

McCarthy charged that Acheson was working on a "team of world strategy to create a Red China and a Red Poland."

He was interrupted 19 times by applause, some of it heavy. The 2,500 convention delegates and several hundred spectators interrupted him four times in one short paragraph in which he called upon President Truman again to dismiss Acheson immediately.

As soon as McCarthy finished, the convention resolutions committee went into a meeting to consider a resolution backing McCarthy's campaign against Communists in government.

The resolution will be submitted to the full convention today. State GOP leaders already have predicted that it would receive a thumping approval.

There have been reports that Forrestal wanted to delay the case until after the United Nations conference in San Francisco in order to avoid friction with Russia over this country's trusteeship rights to islands in the Pacific.

Filibuster Halted On Rent Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate halted a one-man filibuster by Sen. Harry Cain (R-Wash) Friday night for a new attempt to get a voting agreement on a rent control bill.

Cain had held the senate floor for exactly 11 hours when Sen. Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, asked him if he would be willing to halt briefly while a third attempt was made to reach an agreement.

When Cain yielded, Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, asked for the ten-minute recess. There was no objection from among about a dozen weary senators present on the floor at the time.

Lucas earlier had said he intended to keep the senate in session all night, if need be, in the hope Cain would talk himself out.

The wily, western state lawmaker fortified himself with occasional sandwiches and sips of milk and coffee as he walked back and forth in the center of the chamber.

The rent measure would continue controls, which are due to expire June 30, until the end of the year. It would give individual cities the right to keep them in effect another six months if they voted to do so.

WASHINGTON (AP) — William W. Remington, 32-year-old commerce department economist indicted Thursday for alleged perjury, resigned his $10,000-a-year post Friday to give full attention to his forthcoming trial.

Remington, who was accused of lying when he denied ever being a Communist, said in a letter of resignation to Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer that he took the action with "heavy heart." The resignation is effective Monday.

1,500 Alumni To Complete Registration

Registration for all alumni classes ending in zero and five will continue from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. today, Loren Hickerson, director of the alumni service said Friday.

More than 1,500 alumni are expected to attend the second half of the weekend program, marking the largest alumni celebration in SUI's history, Hickerson said.

Three special events mark today's alumni activities, in addition to special class luncheons and dinners.

First is the Silver Jubilee luncheon for all members of the class of 1925. About 400 guests are expected at the luncheon which will start at 12:30 p.m. in the River room of the Iowa Union.

The second event is the all-alumni coffee hour to which alumni and faculty are invited. This will be held in the main lounge of the Iowa Union from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

During the coffee hour the traveling cup will be presented to the alumni class having the greatest percentage of returning members. Last year the medical class of 1914 won the cup with nine of its 12 living members present.

Forty-two graduates of the class of 1900 will receive gold medals engraved with the SUI seal. In 1900 there were only five colleges at SUI; all will be represented at the dinner.

The oldest returning graduates listed Friday afternoon were: Eleanor S. Briggs, liberal arts class of '87, from Lansdowne, Pa.; Marvin H. DeY, engineering class of '87, from Iowa City; F.W. Clark, class of '90, Palo Alto, Calif.; T.S. Stevens, class of '90, Des Moines and C.R. Musser, class of '90, Muscatine.

SUI's oldest living graduate, Mrs. Lavinia Shepherd Wilson, of the class of 1870, Whittie, Calif., will not be present today.

Honor 50-Year Alumni Friday's alumni events featured the Emeritus club dinner which annually honors graduates of over fifty years ago. Eleven new members were initiated. They are: A.G. Bush, law '95, Davenport; F.W. Clark, law '90, Palo Alto, Calif.; Clark C. Griffin, medicine '95, Vinton.

Charles Leithhead, medicine '95, Lakeview, Ore.; C.R. Musser, liberal arts '90, Muscatine; E.E. Nowak, medicine '95, New Prague, Minn.; P.E. Sawyer, medicine '95, Sioux City; John K. Scott, '95, Davenport; T.S. Stevens, law '90; Des Moines; F.D. Wilson, medicine '95, Calesburg, and Benson E. Wright, medicine '95, Portland, Ore.

C.F. Clark, '94, Cedar Rapids, L.W. Harding, '90, Lexington, Ky. Mrs. Harry Keefe, '95, Walthill, Neb., and Mrs. H.S. Richards, '95, of Madison, Wis., were the members attending.

An open house this morning will offer the returning alumni an opportunity to inspect the many changes that have taken place in the SUI college of medicine since their student days.

Four scientific papers will be presented by alumni in the medical amphitheater of the university hospital beginning at 9:30 a.m. as part of today's program.

Speakers will be Rear Admiral Frederick C. Greaves, class of '20; Dr. Dewin G. Bannick, class of '20; Dr. Frank Peterson, and Dr. H. Close Hesselbine, class of '25.

A 6:30 p.m. dinner party at the Elks club will conclude the medical reunion.

The alumni board of directors will meet in Old Capitol at 9:30 a.m. today. A general association meeting will take place at 11 a.m. in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Accused of Perjury, Resigns $10,000 Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — William W. Remington, 32-year-old commerce department economist indicted Thursday for alleged perjury, resigned his $10,000-a-year post Friday to give full attention to his forthcoming trial.

Remington, who was accused of lying when he denied ever being a Communist, said in a letter of resignation to Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer that he took the action with "heavy heart." The resignation is effective Monday.

Democracy's Threat Told To Graduates By Eric Johnston

Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, said at SUI's commencement exercises held Friday that communism is not the chief threat to democracy.

Speaking before 1,850 degree candidates, he said that "corrupting influences" which erode "spiritual and human values" are the greatest threat to the nation's security and welfare.

"If democracy goes down, it will be because of dry rot at the core — because we have not nourished the roots with faithfulness and honesty," he declared.

Democracy exacting "Democracy is the hardest taskmaster devised by man. It is the most exacting of any system man has created. It demands restraint and self-discipline."

It is moral corruption, Johnston stated, when a politician makes fantastic promises and then accepts contributions from interests he denounces; when a union boss speaks for free speech and fires members who disagree with him, and when a businessman or a farmer praises private enterprise and runs to congress for a subsidy.

"Indifference by any of us to these corrupting influences leads to a state of mind — an attitude — fatal to democracy." Johnston asserted that the "mightiest armor of all is the sword of the soul."

Contrasting the public attitude toward the graduates of 1900 and 1925 with that of 1950, the former president of the U.S. chamber of commerce said that the class of 1900 entered society as apprentice citizens and the class of 1925 as probationary citizens.

Participating Citizens Speaking of the 1950 graduates he said, "Society needs you as fully participating citizens — citizens with maturity of character and understanding that has nothing to do with calendar-age."

"Confusion and tension have replaced the placidity of 1900 and the cohesiveness of 1925. In this sundered world the guidon of all the democratic peoples has been thrust to us for leadership."

The modern world lacks peace and confidence, Johnston said. It is afraid of things it can see and is also fearful of shadows.

"We in the United States show our fear in our tinkering with the idea that the government should do all things for all men. This is part of the world wide search for security that's going on everywhere," he stated.

Child's Hand Caught in Machine

LITTLE CYNDIE GATENS had to wait about 50 minutes Friday while efforts were made to release her hand from a Coca-Cola machine in the Community building. Cyndie, three-and-one-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gatens, route 7, had shared a coke with a little girl friend. When the bottle was empty, Cyndie told her mother she wanted another. Mrs. Gatens said she told the child: "Okay, in a minute." A few moments later the mother turned to see the youngster's hand in the opening through which the machine deposits full bottles. And a few moments after that, the child was crying because she couldn't remove her hand. Shown here watching Cyndie point to the spot where her hand was caught is Kenneth McShane, manager of the local Coca-Cola branch, and Mrs. Gatens. The mother said Cyndie cried for a few moments after getting her hand caught, but during most of the wait while McShane was freeing the child, she was calm and talked about "her puppy and Cinderella."

which the four were riding went out of control after rounding a curve east of Tiffin. The truck zig-zagged twice and overturned, patrolmen said.

Total damage to the truck was estimated at about $2,000, patrolmen said. The left side of the truck and the top of the cab were demolished, they said, and the engine was torn loose and thrown sideways in its compartment.

Went to Tavern Graduation exercises at City high ended at 9:30 p.m. Thursday. About midnight Yordi finished work at a Riverside tavern and went to the "Nibble Nook" on highway 22 between Riverside and Lone Tree where he met the three girls, he said in a signed statement.

Kenneth Smith, operator of the "Nibble Nook," was taken to Johnson county jail Friday night after Judge Harold D. Evans revoked Smith's parole, granted in January.

Smith was convicted at that time for illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days in jail. The jail sentence was revoked "on good behavior."

Smith was indicted again in May on a similar charge. It was on the basis of the second indictment that the court ordered Smith's arrest Friday night, the judge explained.

(A court may cancel a parole at any time without stating a specific reason, Judge Evans said.) The parole was revoked on request of County Atty. Jack C. White.

The students said in their statement that they were at the "Nibble Nook" until about 2:30 a.m. when the Dolezal and Holstead girls left.

Yordi and Miss Crow stayed on until about 4:30 a.m. when they

McCarthy Produces Documents

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), handed out 2,000 packets of documents and photographs at the Wisconsin Republican convention Friday which he said he used as source material in his campaign against communism.

A photograph picturing three men and two women bore a handwritten cut line which said: "Taken in Yenan, headquarters of Chinese Communists, during four months which Lattimore, Jaffe and Bisson and Smedley spent with Mao Tse-Tung, Communist leader. Smedley was named by Gen. MacArthur's intelligence section as a Communist spy."

The men were identified as T. A. Bisson, writer of Far Eastern Affairs; Philip Jaffe, editor of the former magazine Amerasia, and Owen Lattimore, specialist in far eastern affairs.

Miss Agnes Smedley, mentioned in the cutline, was not specifically identified as one of the two women in the picture. She was an American writer, known for her reports on China, who died May 6.

Miss Smedley was named by MacArthur's intelligence section as a Communist spy, but the army later said it lacked proof.

Each of the packets McCarthy handed out included 42 pages of copy including mimeographed and photostatic copies of documents. They had been made public in Washington earlier.

AWOL's Go AWOL

SHERIDAN, ILL. (AP)—Two soldiers, serving a sentence here for going AWOL, Friday went AWOL again in a guard's car after overpowering him and tying him to another prisoner, army officers reported.

The fugitives were identified as Laverne H. Bough, 23, Oakland, Calif., and John M. Landers, 20, of Davenport, Iowa.

The pair were cutting grass with the other prisoners, when the guard pointed to a car nearby and told them it was his.

Bough and Landers then overpowered him, took his carbine and car keys, bound him to the other prisoner and fled in the car.

Armed Forces Decide

Planes to Carry Patients

— Ships Obsolete

WASHINGTON—Hospital ships and hospital trains, like the muzzle-loader rifle of the frontiersman, are now a thing of the past.

All hospital ships of World War II have been decommissioned. The last of these ships, the Hope, made its final voyage in November, 1949.

Airplanes are now the standard method of transporting the ill and wounded of the armed services throughout the United States, as well as from overseas in our far-flung military hospital system around the world.

During one recent month hospital planes flew 1,562,200 miles domestically and 1,982,600 miles in overseas flights, transferring 1,562 patients in this country and 580 from overseas.

While not as dramatic as the Berlin air lift, which saved that city from starvation and abject surrender to the Soviets, the medical air transport service may well prove of greater significance in the future.

In the event of another World War it may save more lives than would have been lost if Berlin had been forced to surrender to Russia.

THE SUCCESSFUL evacuation of thousands of sick and wounded from overseas bases in Europe and the Pacific in World War II, was responsible for the decision to replace the old methods of transportation with a vast medical air transport service.

This experience demonstrated that patients were more comfortable in an airplane flying above bad weather conditions than in a hospital ship in a rough trip at sea; made possible a shorter period of hospitalization for the patient; resulted in a greater reduction in man hours of medical and other personnel with many other economies.

A hospital ship that will carry 300 patients, 10,000 nautical miles requires a staff of 126, including eight doctors, for the round trip.

By air the same number of patients can be transported an equal distance with only three medical personnel and no doctor. This amounts to 282 man days by air instead of 5,670 man days by hospital ship.

The map of the medical aerial network shows that the routes link up at six major points in the United States — at Westover Air Base at Chicopee Falls, Mass.; Fairfield — Suisun Base near San Francisco; Brookley Base at Mobile, Ala.; Kelly Base at San Antonio, Texas; McChord Base at Tacoma, Wash., and Biggs Base at El Paso, Texas.

ONCE A WEEK a hospital plane picks up its cargo of sick and wounded at Weisbaden in Germany, which is the assembly point for Europe, and flies over the Atlantic to Westover. A flight nurse and two medical flight technicians watch over the patients during the 23-hour trip.

Five flights are made weekly into the Fairfield-Suisun Base in California with airborne patients from Tokyo, Manila, Guam, Hawaii and other Pacific stations. Patients from Alaska are landed at McChord Base in Washington.

There is a steady stream of domestic flights, transferring patients to hospitals where they can receive more specialized and advanced medical treatment.

The planes used in overseas flights are war - tested four-engine Constellations, Skymasters and C-54s. These planes have pressurized cabins and can accommodate 20 patients in stretchers and 22 in seats. Every moment during the flight the patients are under constant expert attention.

It requires less than one day to transfer a patient from Europe to a hospital in this country. Critically ill patients have repeatedly been carried on 10,000-mile flights from India and islands in the Pacific to hospitals in this country in less than four days.

It is believed that even the outbreak of war will not reduce the speed of this medical service. Tests have shown that the wounded on a battlefield can be placed on stretchers, picked up by helicopters and flown to base hospitals in an amazingly short time.

Louisiana Threatens Contempt Charges Against Publisher

BATON ROUGE, LA. (AP)—Publisher David Stern of the New Orleans Item told state senators that "we have a right to express our opinion and not be questioned." He faces possible contempt charges because of an editorial criticizing the Louisiana legislature.

Stern and Editor Clayton Fritchey were summoned before a special committee of the senate in an unprecedented proceeding. The senate by resolution complained of an Item editorial referring to the legislators as "trained seals" and "lacks" of Gov. Earl K. Long, brother of the late Huey P. Long.

The hearing in the senate chamber ended without immediate action.

Then committee Chairman C.H. Downs of Alexandria strode over to Fritchey, clenched his fist and raised it waist high saying, "I'm taking this thing personally."

The two men glared at each other and another committee member, Sen. Oscar Guldry of Church Point, grabbed Downs' arm and said, "Don't do it."

Spectators and a senate sergeant-at-arms crowded between the senator and editor.

Downs said a full report of the hearing would be made to the senate Monday night.

One by one the committee members rose to denounce the Item editorial. Then Sen. C.E. Barham of Ruston, a committeeman, turned to Stern.

"Do you have any questions?" he asked.

Stern looked surprised. "We're here as witnesses," he replied.

"You're here as defendants," Barham snapped.

Midway through the hearing, Barham faced Fritchey at the floor microphone.

"When you said we were 'trained seals' and 'lacks' of the governor," that hurt me tremendously," Barham said.

"You've never seen me before today, I presume. You heard my statement that I wouldn't need a resolution if you called me that to my face. Do you still contend I am a trained seal and a lackey?"

"Fritchey answered, 'The editorial did not refer to any individual, including you.'"

"I am a member of that body," Barham said. "Do you call me a trained seal and a lackey?"

"Fritchey replied: 'The editorial will speak for itself.'"

Movie 'Czar' Johnston Says

U.S. Industry's Future in Employees' Hands

Industry must give its employees a sense of belonging in order to survive its competition, Eric A. Johnston, president of the Motion Picture association said Thursday.

Johnston is an erect man, above average in height with blue-gray eyes that escape being hard because of crow's-feet at their corners. He dresses well but conservatively and converses in a free style seldom associated with businessmen.

"American industry must do anything within reason to give its employees an interest in their work. Since raw materials cost any given manufacturer as much as they cost his competition, the only way he can get ahead of that competition is through increased efficiency," Johnston said.

He listed three ways in which industry might awaken the employee's interest in his work: pension plans, profit sharing and giving employees a voice in management.

"The shape of the pension plan is a question of balance. What shall constitute a proper pension plan can only be determined by experimentation but a pension plan itself is valuable in arousing the employee's interest in his job."

Johnston established a profit-sharing plan and a system for giving his employees a voice in management in 1946. He is president of the Columbia Electric and Manufacturing company and chairman of the board of the Washington Erick company.

"The nature of employee participation must be determined by each individual manufacturer on the basis of his own needs. I feel that our plan adequately fits the need of our plants," he said.

Johnston is a firm believer in specialization in education. Graduates of commerce colleges in the United States come into industry well trained for their careers. The liberal arts graduate has learned to reason but has little else to offer an employer, he said.

Interpreting the News

Russia Antagonizing Germans

By J.M. ROBERTS JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The east German - Polish agreement on the Oder - Neisse boundary may not be a permanent settlement — the allies contend it isn't — but it helps to solidify another boundary, that of Russian penetration into western Europe.

Russian disregard for German feelings is beginning to look like a trend, and perhaps an abandonment of hope for any German support of the Kremlin's expansionist aims.

Moscow recently announced that all German war prisoners had been returned home, meaning that the Germans could expect no further word of a number variously estimated by the allies at nearly half a million, and by the Germans at nearly three times that. East Germans were also notified that they would be required to continue reparations payments for 15 years.

German Agricultural Loss

Now the east German government, Moscow's puppet, has agreed to let Poland keep the rich Pomeranian and Silesian territories in which Russia installed Poland after taking large areas of eastern Poland herself.

Aside from its very questionable legality, the decision is no more popular in east than in west Germany. One issue on which Germany is united is the return of the Polish - occupied territories. Not only national pride but pressing economic problems are involved. The eastern area, while dotted with important industrial centers, was a heavy contributor of agricultural products for all Germany. Without them Germany's economy remains permanently unbalanced. The necessity of caring for nine million Germans expelled by Poland also created a serious problem in west Germany, and has been made one basis of demands for a decrease in allied occupation charges.

The allies agreed to let Poland occupy part of Germany pending a peace settlement, just as they agreed to let France, another liberated but relatively prostrate country, occupy part of western Germany. France has made her occupation more or less permanent in the Saar, but there has been nothing like the Polish expulsion of residents and resettlement by Poles, and government expropriation of everything east of the Oder - Neisse river line.

Ruled Not Wooded

If Russia thought to ease the German pain by a simultaneous substitution of civilian for military rule in eastern Berlin, her hopes are vain. The military in Berlin have always acted as agents of Politburo Member Beria's MVD, and the removal of the military merely means that the people are now in more direct contact with their real masters. A separate peace, which has been suggested as one possibility for east Germany, would merely formalize its position as a strictly-controlled satellite.

But there may be significance in the fact that east Germany is more and more ruled rather than wooded, and that the feelings of west Germans are disregarded. Russia may be recognizing — pending some new phase of the cold war — the solidity of the allied line of containment.

Or she may be closing what she now considers a back door in Europe in favor of opening wider a front door in Asia.

Kidnapped by Husband, Indiana Woman Escapes

MEMPHIS, TENN. — An Indianapolis mother of three children told officers Friday that her estranged husband kidnaped her at gunpoint Monday and held her prisoner until they reached Memphis.

Mrs. Charles Burton, 28, said she was kidnaped in the Indiana city by her 33-year-old husband, who had been a wartime emergency police officer there.

She said Burton parked his car near Memphis and fell asleep. She said she escaped through a window before dawn and went to Shelby County Sheriff Jimmy Thompson's office to tell her story.

Deputies were sent out to arrest Burton, but were unable to find him. Mrs. Burton said her husband was armed with a sawed-off shotgun and had no money.

Legislators Study Municipal Tax Set-Up

DES MOINES (AP) — State Sen. John Hattery (R-Nevada), chairman of the state municipal code study committee, said Friday the committee hopes to develop one "simple, understandable special assessment procedure that will be applicable to all cities and towns and to all types of municipal improvements so financed."

Hattery said during a committee meeting at the statehouse that the committee now is devoting most of its time to a study, and hoped for simplification of state laws governing municipal special assessments and their financing.

"Cities and towns long have been handicapped in financing street surfacing projects, sewer work and other municipal improvements because of the complicated procedures required under present state law," Hattery said.

"Present prescribed procedures are highly technical, requiring the aid of various legal and financial specialists which of course adds to the cost of the improvement and to the taxpayers' bill," he continued.

Hattery said the committee has progressed in its work to the point that it believes material savings can be made in the cost of such improvements through a simplification of state laws governing them.

The committee of three state senators, three state representatives and two lay members was set up by the last legislature to recommend simplification and clarification of municipal laws to the 1951 legislature.

Student Gets $500 Award For Polio Research at SUI

Three summers of research in the SUI physiology department were rewarded Friday when Dr. John A. Morgan, Oskaloosa, received the $500 Borden Foundation award. Morgan received the award at commencement, along with his M.D. degree from the SUI college of medicine.

He had made a study of the regeneration of rats' nerves after they had been crushed. The purpose was to evaluate a new treatment for polio which was being tried in some clinics.

During the winters since 1946 he has been enrolled in the college of medicine; during the summers he has studied physiology in the graduate college, terminating with his M.S. degree in 1949, he said.

Morgan said he had always wanted to study medicine, but that was not possible until he became eligible for benefits of the G.I. bill.

Previously he received a B.S. degree in chemistry from Harvard university. He also did research for Iowa State college and the navy.

Morgan, 28, said he owed much of the credit in receiving the award to his wife and three children (Mary, 4; John, 2, and Nancy, 1 month).

"My wife began typing the paper the week after she returned from the hospital with the baby," he said.

"The children helped by not bothering my wife while she typed."

Morgan plans to take his internship at the San Diego, Calif., naval hospital, where he will become a lieutenant, j.g., for a year.

He then plans to take post-graduate work in medicine and become a general practitioner.

Atomic Physicist to Lecture at Colloquium

Prof. Edward Teller of the Los Alamos, N.M., atomic research laboratories will give four lectures at a Colloquium of College Physicists at SUI Wednesday through Saturday.

G. W. Stewart, director of the course, said Friday this is the 11th annual colloquium at SUI, and is the only meeting of its type in the United States.

More than 100 teachers are expected to attend, representing 70 colleges from 20 states.

"Hydrodynamics in Cosmic Physics" will be Teller's topic in the "associated June lectures" which will be given the last two days of the meeting. They are sponsored by the Research corporation.

Stewart said the purpose of the colloquium is to stimulate creative and original thinking and work in teaching of college physics. Thirty of the physicists attending will enter original devices in the new devices exhibit to be held Thursday night.

This exhibit of experimental and non-experimental teaching devices is a high point in the course, said Stewart. Three prizes for experimental and one for non-experimental devices will be given.

These prizes will be presented by N.S. Gingrich, head of the physics department at the University of Missouri, at a luncheon Friday, followed by an informal discussion of the relations of government and research led by Teller.

In addition to Teller's lectures, there will be six lectures, two presentation of research reports and two laboratory round tables. Each meeting will be followed by a general discussion with all members participating.

One of the lectures, "Some Chemical Evidence Relative to the Origin of the Earth," will be given by Harold C. Urey, 1934 Nobel prize winner in chemistry. During the past few years he has been active in research with heavy water and U235 for the atom bomb.

Registration for the colloquium, which is open without fee to all college physics teachers will be held in room 109, physics building, beginning Wednesday at 8 p.m. Housing will be arranged in segregated sections of Hillcrest dormitory and Currier hall.

St. Louis, Brooklyn Win; Remain Tied

Cards Nip Braves; Musial Gets 3 Hits

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Despite four home runs the Boston Braves fell before a St. Louis Cardinal attack 8-5 Friday night. Three balks by Boston Starter Bob Hall helped the Redbirds cause as Walker Cooper homered twice for the visitors and Earl Torgeson and Sam Jethroe hit for the circuit once. Enos Slaughter hit a four-bagger for St. Louis and Stan Musial slammed out two doubles and a triple in the attack.

All the Boston hitters came with the sacks empty. Hall's first walk was in the opening frame and allowed Musial to score from third after Slaughter singled to score Red Schoendienst earlier in the inning. Slaughter's homer scored Musial from second in the third. Hall committed a balk in that inning but it didn't lead to a run. But in the next frame it did — the ball slipped from Hall's hand while he was winding up and Max Lanier scored from third. Harry Walker went to third on the balk, then scored on a long fly by Schoendienst.

Cleveland Edges Nats, Feller Gets Win, 8-7

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Relief Hurler Sam Zoldak in a hero role, the Cleveland Indians managed to stifle a ninth-inning Washington rally Friday and trimmed the Senators, 8-7. Zoldak, the fourth Indian hurler to take the mound, needed only two pitches to get two men out. Bob Feller, Cleveland's starter, got credit for the win, his fifth of the season.

Fred Saigh, Cardinal Owner, Hits Ruling on Sunday Game

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The owner of the St. Louis Cardinals said Friday he will ignore an order by baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler to cancel a Sunday night game until the club is given a hearing on the matter.

Fred Saigh, the Cardinal owner, told Chandler in a sharply-worded telegram that until he is given a chance to present his case the scheduled contest with Brooklyn Sunday night, July 16, "will remain in status quo."

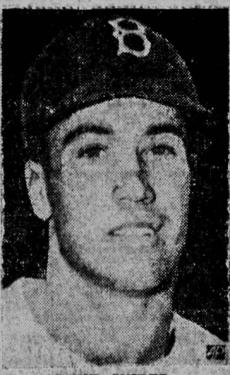

Later in the day Ford Frick, president of the National league, also ordered Saigh not to play the game. Frick said an amendment to the National league rules adopted last winter prohibits Sunday night games.

Not so, Saigh declared. He told a newsman the rule plainly states that a game may be re-scheduled on a Sunday night if consent is obtained from the opposing club.

"That's what it says," Saigh insisted. "Anyone can read it." The Cardinal owner contends that Owner Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn club gave such consent orally. He said Rickey had not withdrawn his agreement to play the Sunday night contest.

Asked what he intended to do in view of Frick's order, Saigh replied: "I don't know. We'll have to wait and see what develops." The St. Louis owner told Chandler he considered the commissioner's order unfair.

Chandler declined to comment on Saigh's statement. Saigh's statement taking issue with reasons advanced by Chandler for cancellation of the game was highly unusual for a club owner. The commissioner has the power of a czar over organized baseball. His word usually is regarded as law.

DUKE SNIDER Hits Home Run

Four Homers Let Dodgers Win, 9-7

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers belted four homers Friday but they had to call on Don Newcombe in the last inning to snip Pittsburgh, 9-7.

Roy Campanella's two-run homer in the eighth proved to be the decisive blow. Although Pee-Wee Reese hit a four-bagger with the bases empty in the ninth, Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider clouted the other homers for Brooklyn, both with none on. Snider also connected for two singles, the second driving in two runs in the seventh.

The Pirates, who took a 4-1 lead in the third on Wally Westlake's three-run homer, battled the Brooks all the way. In the ninth they threatened once more against Clarence Podbellian, third Brooklyn hurler.

Ralph Kiner led off with a single but was forced by Westlake. Henry Schenz singled to right, sending Westlake to second. At this point Brooklyn Manager Burt Shotton halted play and waved in Newcombe from the bullpen.

Big Don worked carefully on Danny Murtagh and was rewarded when the Pirate hit a double play grounder to Pee Wee Reese to end the game.

Giants Club Chicago For 7th Straight, 9-3

CHICAGO (AP) — The surging New York Giants whipped the Chicago Cubs, 9-3, to make a clean sweep of their three-game series, win their seventh straight game and advance into fifth place in the National league standings Friday.

Catcher Wes Westrum, with two home runs, and Second Baseman Eddie Stanky, with four singles, led a 16-hit attack against two Cub pitchers, Southpaw Johnny Schmitz and ex-Yankee Frank Hiller.

Schmitz, who started, was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh inning, after he had yielded 11 of the New York hits and four of the runs. He was charged with the defeat, his third of the year.

Larry Jansen went the full distance for the Giants, posting his fourth victory, to pull him up all-even for the year.

Badgers, Ohio U. Meet In NCAA District Meet

EAST LANSING, MICH. (AP) — Michigan dynamited Michigan State 13-6, and Ohio university upset Western Michigan 4-2 Friday in the NCAA district four baseball tournament.

A 16-hit onslaught shoved Wisconsin past the Spartans into a playoff with Ohio today for the right to represent the district in the collegiate "little world series" at Omaha, June 15-22.

Tigers Score Eight In Sixth, Beat Yanks, 13-7; Porterfield Hurt

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Tigers broke their shackles Friday and snowed under the New York Yankees, 13-7, wrapping up the game with an eight-run blast in the sixth inning.

Detroit, in salvaging the final game of the three game series, pounded four Yankee pitchers for 16 hits including four triples. The victory enabled the second place Tigers to pull within a game and a half of the pace-setting Bombers.

Yankee Pitcher Bob Porterfield suffered a fractured left upper jaw and concussion when struck with a pitched ball in the seventh inning of the game.

Porterfield was reported in "good" condition Friday night at Lenox Hill hospital where he was taken after the accident.

Chisox Out of Last, Clip Philadelphia, 3-2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chicago's White Sox escaped the American league cellar as they salvaged the series final from the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-2, Friday night with an unearned eighth inning marker providing them with the margin of triumph.

Rookie right hander Bob Hooper was the victim, suffering his fifth loss, as another freshman, Chico Carrasquel, tallied the decisive marker. Carrasquel got a triple with one out in the eighth when Wally Moses missed an attempted shoestring catch.

When Billy Hitchcock muffed Moses' outfield relay, Carrasquel was waved towards the plate.

A's for Sale

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hoary Connie Mack, for 50 years boss of the Philadelphia Athletics, sold admitted Friday that he would sell his baseball team to a trucking magnate's syndicate if it can pay the price.

But, the 87-year-old Mack added, the price is "in the neighborhood of" $5,000,000 and he does not think the group, headed by

Mackey Soars to 81

Harrison Leads U.S. Open

ARDMORE, PA. (AP) — The boy from Birmingham blew up Friday with a report heard in adjoining suburbs. He shot an 81 over Merion's scorched acres, and the 50th annual Open golf championship returned to something resembling normal at the halfway point.

While Lee Mackey Jr., the Birmingham "phenom" who hit the jackpot with a record 64 in Thursday's opening round, was getting his lumps in a manner painful to behold, one of the old pros, E.J. (Dutch) Harrison, moved in quietly and took over with two fine rounds of 72-67-139.

millionaire Trucker Jim Clarke, would pay that much. Clarke, who now owns the Philadelphia Eagles football team, first revealed Thursday night that he is attempting to purchase the floundering Athletics.

GOLFER KILLED

PONTIAC, MICH. (AP) — A jealous suitor shot and killed Pontiac's women's golf champion, Mrs. Thelma Clark, 39, in a deer-rifle ambush early Friday, police said. Her male-escort and her mother were wounded.

Ben Hogan Close

And right behind this trio, close enough to scare them silly, was game little Ben Hogan at 141. The bantam, who only 17 months ago was supposed to have been so terribly injured in an auto wreck that he would never again be a major factor in championship golf, was breathing down their necks with 72-69-141 and showing no signs of tiring.

Anti-Climax at Boston; Browns Bounce Bosox

BOSTON (AP) — Friday was anticlimax day at Fenway park. Boston's heavy hitting Red Sox broke only one record and equalled another as they were beaten, 12-7, by the lowly St. Louis Browns, victims of Thursday's 29-4 slaughter.

When Bob Doerr slugged his seventh homer of the season, his fourth in two games, it gave the Sox a total of 15 in four games, matching a mark of the New York Yankees.

The seven runs gave Boston 56 in three games — four better than the previous mark.

Blind 22 Years, SUI Student Graduates in Law

By BARNEY SEIBERT

"I'm a lazy man," says Richard Schrempf, Rock Island, Ill., but his record doesn't show it.

High school valedictorian, Augustana college debate team, a B.A. in three years and one summer session, a radio singer on station WLBS in Jacksonville, Ill. — nothing so unusual so far. But Dick Schrempf is blind.

Schrempf received his J.D. degree Friday from SUI's college of law, climaxing an uphill fight which began when he was stricken with pneumonia and measles 22 years ago. The illness caused his loss of sight.

He enrolled at the Illinois school for the Blind, Jacksonville, Ill., when he was five years old and began learning Braille at six.

Graduating from high school as class valedictorian in 1944, Schrempf enrolled at Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill. He was a member of Gamma Alpha Beta social fraternity and Pi Kappa Delta national speech fraternity.

He received his degree magna laude from Augustana in 1947 and was selected for "Who's Who in American Colleges," a publication listing outstanding college students.

Schrempf entered SUI's law college that same fall.

By employing readers and taking class notes in Braille, Schrempf breezed through his three years of law. He believes he can take notes in Braille as fast as the average student in longhand.

AN UPHILL FIGHT WAS CLIMAXED Friday when Dick Schrempf, (second from right), Rock Island, Ill., received his J.D. (law) degree from SUI Pres. Virgil M. Hancher. Blind for 22 years, Schrempf went through his three years of law by employing readers and taking class notes in Braille.

Work on 13-Story Vets Hospital on Schedule

Work on the Iowa City Veterans' hospital is progressing on schedule, Resident Engineer Ralph Brooks said Friday.

Brooks said concrete has been poured for the center section of the seventh floor of the 13-story building, and brick work on the west wing has been erected as high as the second floor.

Brooks stressed the fact that brickwork was being slowed by a shortage of experienced labor. He said 40 more bricklayers were needed immediately. An experienced bricklayer can earn as much as $3 an hour or $25 for an eight hour day, he said.

Thirty percent of the steam pipes for the building have been installed in the basement, and ventilation ducts are now being installed in the basement, first and second floors.

Brooks said two of the building's boilers have been partially installed in the sub-basement of the main building. Part of the concrete for the independent parking building has been poured, and two partitions have been installed in the interior.

A retaining wall has been erected along the west side of the hospital grounds. It will form an enclosure for a parking lot which will be covered with a stabilized base paving of rolled rock and asphalt oil, Brooks said.

The remainder of the hospital grounds will be graded and probably seeded this fall, Brooks said, as the ground will be too damp in the spring to finish landscaping before the completion date next May.

Highlights Of SUI's 1950 Commencement

WHERE, OH, WHERE? Despite careful planning for entrance into the fieldhouse, many of Friday's graduates probably gulped and wondered if they'd ever find their right place when they first viewed the crowds from a distance. Closer view, though, found clearly marked signs, designed to facilitate the whole "Operation Commencement." But no amount of planning could do anything about the sun, which brought many gowns off to be slung over arms and many caps to be used as fans.

WHAT'S EVERYBODY SO SOLEMN FOR? Kirk Donald Anderson, two-and-one-half-years old, brought along a toy in case he found the grown-up commencement ceremony too boring. Kirk paused long enough from playing to watch the black-gowned figures file past him. "No so impressive, if you ask me," he seemed to say. Kirk was a visitor from Chicago, here to see his cousin, Mrs. Robert Feragen, receive her bachelor of arts degree.

WHERE'S DADDY, MOMMY? Little Donald Cahalan probably came nearer beating the heat during commencement exercises Friday than anyone in the fieldhouse. Held by his mother, Donald waited not-too-patiently to see his dad, Joseph D. Cahalan, Iowa City, march by. Dad received his degree in dentistry. And before the ceremonies were over, many of the spectators, including Dad, probably wished they were dressed as briefly as Donald.

"THE PARTICIPATING Citizen" was the topic of the commencement address given before a record number of 1,850 SUI graduates at the fieldhouse Friday. The president of the American Motion Picture Industry, Eric Johnston, told the graduates to enter society as fully participating and discerning citizens and to recognize the threats to democracy.

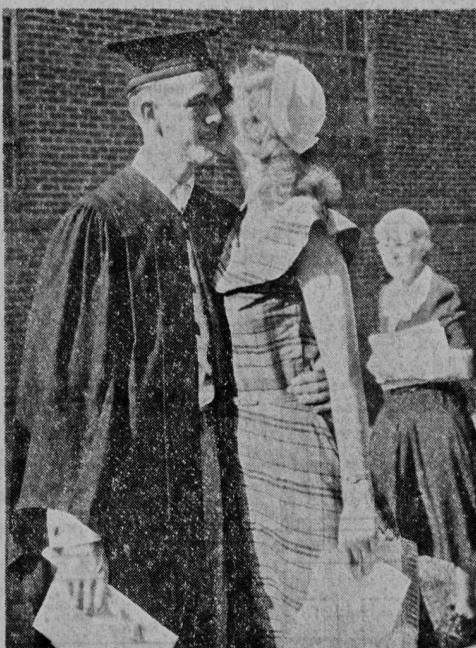

Eric Johnston, told the graduates to enter society as fully participating and discerning citizens and to recognize the threats to democracy.

CONGRATULATIONS, Doctor! And the greeting's mutual SUI conferred doctor of philosophy degrees on a married couple Friday during commencement ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bilodeau, the happy recipients, are from Hopdale, Mass. Both majored in psychology while attending SUI. And they both will now work with the airforce, conducting research on problems in human resources.

THERE WAS MORE THAN A DEGREE in store Friday for Evan Tallman, Iowa City, commerce graduate. Patty Ricketts, A3, also of Iowa City, added a touch not scheduled in the program distributed to the participants when she kissed Tallman after the ceremonies were completed. And there were probably many similar "awards" not seen by the camera. Proud parents, wives, children and girl friends hugged and kissed graduates as they were met in the fieldhouse following commencement.

IOWA CITY POLICE DID A GOOD JOB Friday but there were more bad traffic spots than there were officers. Many intersections reminded students and Iowa Citizens of the heavy traffic seen here during football games. The heavy visitor count for the commencement ceremonies called for patience and fortitude during traffic jams and long waits for lines of cars to move. But the whole program was favored with weather beautiful enough to call forth the best nature in people.

STEP UP AND GET THE REAL THING. Graduation wasn't complete Friday for SUI's 1,850 graduates until they turned in the "blanks" they received on the stage in the fieldhouse for the real diplomas. After the commencement ceremonies, the streets between the fieldhouse and Campus stores were dotted with sweltering graduates ambling back across the river to finish up the little details. Shown here is a line of graduates passing through Campus stores and receiving their real sheepskins.
