Golfer Hogan Licks Par, Pain

ARDMORE, PA. - Bantam Ben Hogan battled pain and par to a standstill Saturday and his fighting heart conquered faltering legs to carry him into a three-way tie for the National Open golf championship. His trembling legs tormenting him in every throbbing tendon, the tight-lipped Texan staggered home through the heat with a four over par last round 37-37-74, which put him into a triple playoff this afternoon. Lloyd Mangrum and George Fazio carded 287's Saturday. Out there under the blazing sun, fighting heat and hazards and physical torture, came Hogan. For a time it looked like the tiny Texan might take it all. But it was just too much to ask of this little man who captured America's most coveted golfing prize in 1948 and then almost lost his life in an automobile accident in February, 1949. Saturday every shot was an effort and he was limping visibly as he dragged himself to the ninth green one over par. But it was to get even worse. For on the 12th he twisted that screaming knee and from there on in he wasn't even able to bend down and pick his ball out of the cup. The caddy did that - and Cary Middlecoff, who was playing with Hogan, helped kick away the championship he had won last year by doing Hogan's bending to line up the Texan's putts. After the day's grueling ordeal was over, Hogan suggested, "Let's not say anything about it. I imagine people are getting tired of reading about my injuries." (For full details, see page 4)

Summer School Registration to Start Monday

Summer session registration will begin Monday at 1 p.m. in the fieldhouse. Following is the alphabetical schedule to be used by students in the colleges of liberal arts, commerce, education, nursing and the graduate college in registering at the fieldhouse. Monday - 1 p.m., R-Sag; 1:30 p.m., Sah-Slom; 2 p.m., Slon-Swar; 2:30 p.m., Swas-Wae; 3 p.m., Waf-Wom; 3:30 p.m., Won-Bak, and 4 p.m., Bal-Bram. Tuesday - 8 a.m., Bran-Cam; 8:30 a.m., Can-Com; 9 a.m., Con-Dav; 9:30 a.m., Daw-Dum; 10 a.m., Dun-Flar; 10:30 a.m., Flas-Glas; 11 a.m., Glat-Ham; 11:30 a.m., Han-Hog; 12 m., Hoh-Jag; 12:30 p.m., Jah-Kem; 1 p.m., Ken-Las; 1:30 p.m., Lat-Mac; 2 p.m., Mad-McM; 2:30 p.m., McN-Mus; 3 p.m., Mut-Os; 3:30 p.m., Ot-Pes, and 4 p.m., Pet-Q. Registration materials will be available Monday and Tuesday for students in the colleges of liberal arts, commerce, and engineering at room B4, University hall, according to Registrar Ted McCarell. Student number cards must be presented. Students in the colleges of law, nursing and pharmacy may get materials at the offices of their deans Monday. A new code for liberal arts advisors will be put into effect beginning in the summer session. Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, executive secretary, liberal arts advisory committee, said Saturday. Formerly each advisor had a letter which was his identification in all administrative work. This was used together with the university department number. The letter is being replaced by a number in the new system.

51-Year-Old Mother Gets Degree

51-YEAR-OLD MOTHER, Mrs. Florence Duke proudly showed her University of Maryland diploma to members of her family Saturday in Clinton, Md. Mrs. Duke who taught music lessons to finance her studies, received a B.A. degree. Admiring the sheepskin are Teddy, 13, Mrs. Duke; her husband, Paul; (back row) David, 22; Katherine, 24, Florence, 18; Joan, 14 and Richard, 20.

High Court May Face Segregation Issue Again

WASHINGTON (AP) - The supreme court probably will be asked in its next term to strike a final, knockout blow at segregation of Negroes. But the court is traditionally reluctant to take action so sweeping unless it is absolutely unavoidable. Therefore it is a good guess that such a request will not be granted in the immediate future. The court took a lusty swing at segregation in two decisions announced last Monday as the 1949-50 term ended. Chief Justice Vinson, speaking for himself and all his associate justices, banned segregation as practiced at the Texas and Oklahoma State universities. Basis of the decisions was that the two universities did not provide truly equal opportunities to Negroes. While emphasizing that the decisions applied only to the circumstances involved in the cases of the two, Vinson spoke these 13 possibly fateful words: "The fourteenth amendment precludes differences in treatment by the state based upon race." Many lawyers doubt that the ruling will be restricted in the future to state universities. They believed that in time it will be extended to "unequal" high schools, grade schools, and other tax-financed state and municipal services. Attorneys believe that many suits will be filed by Negroes in lower federal courts, protesting that different treatment is given them because of race. Some of these suits eventually will reach the supreme court and the decision on any extension of coverage of the ruling may then be made. However, new decisions in such cases presumably will be mere virtual repetitions of last Monday's rulings: if the state (or county or municipality) is not giving Negroes the same treatment as it gives whites in tax-supported services, it must admit the Negroes to white schools, cafeterias, libraries, parks, swimming pools and the like.

Architects' Contract For Union Signed

A contract to draw up final plans for the $3.5-million addition to the Iowa Union, was signed Saturday, Prof. Earl E. Harper, Union director, announced. The signing took place at the annual meeting of the Union's corporation trustees after they approved the projected plans. Architects are from the Des Moines firm of Tinsley, Higgins and Lightner. Construction of the addition which will double the present

Journalism Alumni Hear Spangler Talk

About 65 SUI journalism graduates and former graduates Saturday night heard Harrison Spangler, former chairman of the Republican national central committee, tell how The Daily Iowan was started nearly 50 years ago. Spangler, founder and first editor of The Daily Iowan, spoke at the first annual journalism alumni dinner in Currier hall. He was graduated from SUI in the class of 1905. Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism, awarded Mrs. Don R. Huddleston, Washington, D.C., an SUI souvenir plate for being the alumna who travelled the greatest distance to attend the banquet.

Wives of Striking Miners Halt Re-opening of Mine

ZAP, N.D. (AP) - The wives of striking coal miners tossed the problem of re-opening a strike-bound mine into the laps of state officials Saturday. The women blocked efforts to ship coal out of the mine Saturday by throwing themselves on tracks in front of railroad cars being moved into the mine. Gov. Fred Andahil met with top officials of the Dakota colonies at Bismarck and with Highway Patrol Superintendent E. M. Klein. William Boyle of Washington, D.C., of the united mine workers and members of the attorney general's staff of North Dakota also were at the conference.

Secret Diary Shows Forrestal Shielded Amerasia Suspects

WASHINGTON (UP) - The justice department opened a page of the late James Forrestal's secret diary Saturday to reveal that he tried to delay the arrest of six suspects in the 1945 Amerasia theft case. The department disclosed that it has a copy of an entry Forrestal made in the diary on May 28, 1945. The then secretary of the navy had written that he intervened in the Amerasia case because he feared the arrests and the attendant publicity might jeopardize the San Francisco conference at which the United Nations was being formed. Forrestal explained that he also was afraid the result would be "too greatly embarrassing" President Truman in his dealings with Soviet Premier Stalin at the time. President Truman himself ordered the six suspects arrested after Forrestal had intervened. But three of them never were indicted. Two got off with fines and the indictment against the sixth was quashed. The arrests were based on the seizure of hundreds of confidential and secret government documents in the offices of the magazine Amerasia, edited by Philip Jaffe, who got off with a fine, was described in Forrestal's diary as having had "intimate relationships with the Russian consul in New York." The justice department said it received the copy of the Forrestal notes from New York Atty. Matthew F. Correa, a wartime army major who was a special assistant to Forrestal at the time of the Amerasia incident. Another copy of the diary entry also has been given to Edward Morgan, counsel for the federal foreign relations subcommittee which is investigating the Amerasia case as part of a broad inquiry into charges of communism in the state department. Several Republicans, notably Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), have accused the administration of trying to "whitewash" the Amerasia affair.

Prof. Designs Game For Parlor Traders

OMAHA (AP) - A parlor game with an international flavor has been invented here by an Omaha university professor. Robert E. Andrews, business administration instructor, said the new game, which doesn't have a name yet, was designed to be played with a game-board and various properties for each player. It will be recreation for the arm-chair world trader, Andrews said. Rules of the game provide that players take the part of import-export companies and deal in the four major currencies - dollars, pounds, francs, and pesos. Hazards of the game, such as currency fluctuations due to war, insurance losses, embargoes, will both complicate the game and increase its educational value, Andrews said. And, added the professor, a player doesn't win the game - he retires. "School is so often dull and uninteresting," he said, "learning the ways of the business world from a textbook needs something to bring it to life."

New Filibuster Looms On Rent Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - A threat of another filibuster faced weary senate Democratic leaders Saturday, but they claimed enough votes to pass an extension of federal rent controls. A hectic session of nearly 17 hours ended at 2:43 a.m. (Iowa time) Saturday after Sen. Harry Cain (R - Wash) foe of controls, won his demand that the first test vote be on a motion to send the rent control extension back to committee. That test will come at noon Monday. Majority Leader Scott Lucas (D - Ill) said he is confident "we have more than enough votes to defeat the effort to send the bill back to committee." Apparently in good form after his marathon performance, Cain confided that he was ready "to take off again, if necessary, after the vote Monday." "I think we have a fair chance of winning this thing Monday," he said. "But I have just started this fight if it is not recommitted." At issue is an extension of the federal rent controls due to expire at the end of this month. They now apply to an estimated 8-million rental units throughout the country. Most of them are in larger cities where votes in the coming election to determine party control of congress may be decisive.

Prof. Earl E. Harper

Building's size will begin in the fall of 1951, Harper said. The $3.5-million addition will be divided to serve three groups: 1. Student service, which will include facilities for dancing, motion pictures, television and several lounges. 2. Food service, which will include about six additional dining rooms served by a centralized kitchen. 3. A million-dollar guest house with between 75 and 100 rooms. Hotel service will be open to visiting alumni, athletic teams, and guests of the university. The addition will be financed by increasing SUI tuition fees. The Iowa state board of education approved this raise last March. Tuition for students in all colleges of the university will be increased $6 a semester and $3 a summer session to cover the cost of the building. The immediate financing will be done by direct long-term borrowing from financial institutions rather than by the sale of bonds, Harper said. Securing money for the project is in the hands of a special committee composed of Harper, Fred W. Ambrose, SUI business manager, and Ben Swisher, president of the Iowa Union corporation.

Dairy Union Calls Washington Strike

(By The Associated Press) Strikes of AFL workers cut milk deliveries sharply in Washington and Pittsburgh Saturday. State police were called out to maintain order in a strike in Tennessee and state police at a struck lignite mine in North Dakota requested reinforcement. The strike against nine major Washington area dairies was called by some 1,700 milk truck drivers. The milk drivers and dairy employees union is demanding the seven-day work week be reduced to five days without loss of pay. The dairies offered six-days pay for a five day week. The union called the walkout Saturday following an hour and a half session with dairy representatives and U.S. Conciliator Henry P. Parker. About the only milk deliveries in the Pittsburgh area were to hospitals, orphanages, and homes for the aged. A strike of 3,250 milk and dairy employees, cut off deliveries to some 2.5-million western Pennsylvanians. After the walkout at midnight Thursday, the Allegheny County Medical association arranged with the union for emergency milk supplies for babies' formulas, invalids and others.

Orientation, Tests For New Students

Orientation and testing for all new liberal arts students will be Monday in the geology lecture room beginning at 8:30 a.m. Prof. Robert L. Ebel, director of the SUI examination program, said. Testing will begin after an orientation program and continue through Monday afternoon. Students will register Tuesday morning and complete their examinations Tuesday afternoon and evening. The tests are given to aid advisors in placing students in courses and to enable the college to evaluate its program by noting student improvement, Ebel said. A recent retesting of SUI juniors showed that they had improved in comparison with their freshman scores. Largest gains were shown on reading comprehension tests, he said.

Teen-Ager Killed In Amusement Park

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) - A 15-year-old girl was injured fatally at an amusement park Saturday night - killed either by a rifle bullet or lightning. Arlene Banyas, 15, dropped to the ground beside her father's car screaming "I've been hit by lightning," Deputy Sheriff John Head reported. Dr. Charles Planer, a physician said he had found a small puncture wound in her chest which might have been caused by a rifle bullet. Police said lightning had struck a transformer pole shortly before the girl died. Others said they had heard shooting in nearby woods earlier.

U.S. Coast Guard Rescues Survivors of Sunken Ship

LONG BEACH, CALIF. (AP) - A coast guard cutter Saturday night was rescuing 18 persons who abandoned a sinking yacht 15 miles in the Pacific while they were on a fishing trip. The 83-foot cutter No. 83452, reported she had picked up survivors from the yacht, Signal Hill, except five who were still in the water. A message from the cutter indicated she expected to pick up the others soon. The 18 aboard the yacht were reportedly oil workers who had chartered the vessel for a fishing trip. The owners were listed as Joe Robinson and A. Otelle.

'Reds Prepare For War, Talk Peace, President Charges

ST. LOUIS (AP) - President Truman blasted Soviet Russia Saturday for talking peace while "preparing for war" in his most devastating attack on Communist aggression since the outbreak of the cold war. Speaking from an improvised stand, overlooking the Mississippi riverfront, to thousands standing in a blazing sun, he hurled this blunt indictment at the Russians: "With a cynical disregard for the hopes of mankind, the leaders of the Soviet Union have talked of democracy - but have set up dictatorships. They have proclaimed national independence - but imposed national slavery. They have preached peace - but devoted their energies to fomenting aggression and preparing for war." He condemned the Soviet Union for "marrying history's 'largest peacetime army.'" Mr. Truman pinpointed his charges by 13 specific references to Russia or its rulers. A crowd estimated at more than 35,000 gathered to hear the Chief Executive denounce Russia's leadership as "an obstacle to peace." The President was cheered as he began his address and when he concluded it, but his grim words were heard for the most part with attentive silence. Putting aside the usual language of diplomacy, he spoke bitterly and bluntly. Guests on the bunting-draped platform with Mr. Truman included Defense Secretary Louis Johnson and French Ambassador Henri Bonnet. The major foreign policy pronouncement was televised and carried over all the major radio networks at home. The state department's "Voice of America" moved it all over the world in 24 languages. The President's speech concluded a round of fun and meetings with old comrades of Battery D, 129th Field artillery, at their 35th division reunion. Mr. Truman had a gay breakfast with the boys of Battery D, 129th field artillery, which he led in France. He ordered Sec. Johnson and Missouri Gov. Forrest Smith to march with him in the division parade that preceded the formal speech.

Alumni Association Incorporated; Forms Subsidiary Agency

The SUI Alumni association, which has operated informally as an unincorporated group since 1932, adopted a corporate form of organization, Saturday at its 1950 annual meeting. The association authorized its board of directors to appoint members from all parts of the state to a new subsidiary agency, to develop the state alumni program. Association Secretary Loren L. Hickerson, director of the SUI alumni service, characterized Saturday's action as "a realistic step forward" in marshalling alumni interest in and support of the university through the association. Iowa Supreme Court Justice T.G. Garfield, Ames, who was re-elected to the presidency of the association last May, became the corporation's first president. Vice-presidents are Ingalls Swisher, Iowa City, and Loren D. Gordon, Chicago. Significant changes in association policy that became effective with the new corporation, is the provision that present and former members of the university faculty and staff, are eligible for membership, Hickerson said. Actions taken at Saturday's meeting were the result of intensive work by members of the present board of directors over the past two years. First directors of the new corporation are: W.O. Weave, Wapello, Frank T. Ney, Cedar Rapids, Robert R. Buckmaster, Waterloo, Tedford W. Miles, Corydon, Clyde Doolittle, Des Moines, Dr. Walter Fieseler, Ft. Dodge, George Hurley, Harland, George G. Murray, Sheldon. The 1950 membership of the SUI Alumni association is 49 percent greater than a year ago, Hickerson's annual report showed Saturday. The report listed 3,022 dues-paying members May 1, compared with 2,027 on June 1, 1949. The most significant membership jump came in the ranks of "junior members" (Iowa graduates of the last five years). More than 400 recent graduates joined the association during the past year. This caused a junior member increase of 142 percent.

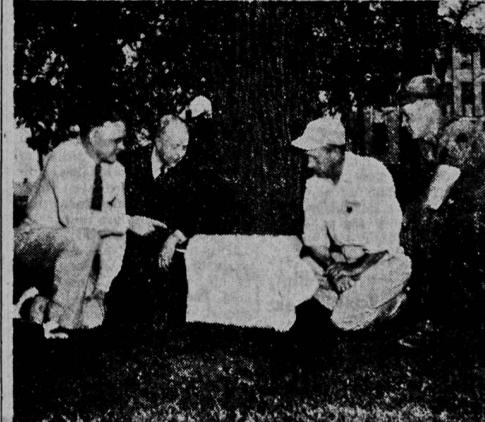

Bogus Bill Passer Picks Wrong Man

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Federal Judge Pierson Hall was only mildly interested when one Herman Otto Walter appeared for sentence on charges of passing a counterfeit $10 bill. "He said he bought several notes at half price," Secret Service Chief Fred Wasson explained, "but we caught him after he passed one bill at a service station." Judge Hall examined the report. "Why?" he exclaimed. "I buy my gas at that station." The judge whipped his hand under his judicial robes, pulled a $10 bill from his pants pocket, compared the number on the bill, then flushed with embarrassment. The secret service agent took one squint at the bill and put it in his pocket. "That's the one we've been looking for," he said. The defendant got three years in prison and a $10 fine.

Russ Jets Play Tag With American Plane

BERLIN (AP) - Two Soviet jet fighters rocketed into the international air corridor over Berlin Saturday to play tag with an American C-54 transport, but they flew away without making an offensive pass. It was the third recent instance in which Russian jets thundered out to intercept American training flights and one high U.S. official believed the Russians were testing their radar equipment. "All three incidents occurred inside the air corridors on the outskirts of Berlin this month. Our plane was four miles inside the corridor when the jets appeared today," the U.S. official said. "There apparently was no overt offensive act, but nobody likes having fighter planes playing around when you are flying."

Deliver Stone to Prof. Petersen

A STONE CUT INTO THE SHAPE OF IOWA was delivered recently to Prof. William J. Petersen, superintendent of the Iowa historical society. The stone will be laid with others, representing other states in a national shrine in Baltimore, Md. looking at the stone are SUI's Prof. Petersen, James Remley, C. W. DeWees and David Dickson.

Shoppers Riot, Six Hurt After NY Gun Battle

NEW YORK (AP) - An armed criminal blazed away three times at pursuers with a gun, creating "a madhouse" among 1,000 shoppers Saturday in a crowded lower Manhattan store. Six women shoppers were injured during the melee which police said resembled "a madhouse, with people screaming, ducking and falling to the floor to get away from the shots."

Oldest Alumnus

Hoeksema's Debut Ruined by No-Hitter

TERRE HAUTE, IND. (AP) - Dick Hoeksema, mainstay of Iowa's pitching squad this spring, lost his first professional start for Davenport Saturday night to Terre Haute, 1-0. A no-hitter tossed up by Prosper Boupet, 19-year-old Three-I league freshman bettered the three-hit performance of Hoeksema. Hoeksema saw his three-hitter go down the drain as Davenport never got a man beyond second base in the double-header.

Brannan Plan Issue Promises Heated Iowa Senatorial Race

DES MOINES (AP) — A senatorial campaign the likes of which is seldom seen in Iowa already is casting its shadows.

This prospect arose along with postmortems of last Monday's primary election. The Truman administration, Brannan farm plan will be a pivotal point of the November general election senatorial race.

The Republicans and Democrats are sure to haul up heavy artillery for the battle.

Before the results of the hot contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination had cooled, word came from Washington that the administration welcomed the chance to make the controversial Brannan plan a major issue in the fall campaign.

This was because Albert J. Loveland, former U.S. undersecretary of agriculture who went all out for the program of his former chief, won the Democratic nomination.

An agriculture department official predicted that President Truman himself would make a speech in Iowa urging the election of Loveland and other congressional supporters of the Brannan plan.

Brannan to Campaign

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, an assistant said, will campaign in Iowa in behalf of Loveland. The Democrats are especially desirous of having Loveland in the senate to carry the ball for the Brannan plan.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper rolled up a whopping majority in winning Republican renomination for a second term. While his party has made no plans for bringing in outside help specifically to speak for the senator, there are two upcoming occasions when it is bound to arise.

One is the GOP Post - primary state convention here July 21, for which Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge (R-Mass) will be the keynote speaker. He and Hickenlooper are the majority party members on the senate sub-committee investigating the state department.

The other is the midwest conference of Republican state chairmen, which will be held in August. Several national Republican leaders are expected to attend.

See GOP Rise

Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R-Neb), senate GOP floor leader, said Hickenlooper's nomination was a sign that the midwest is turning back to the Republican party after leaving it in 1948. Hickenlooper is a vigorous opponent of the Brannan plan.

"Hickenlooper got more votes in the Republican primary than all of the Democrats put together," Wherry continued. "It looks as though only 37 percent of the Democrats — the group that voted for Loveland — are for the Brannan plan and almost all of the Republicans are against it."

Hickenlooper got about 192,000 votes; Loveland polled 28,000 and all of the Democrat senatorial candidates about 100,000 votes.

Brannan described Loveland's nomination as "a tremendous personal victory for Al Loveland. He was a great undersecretary and he will be a great senator."

Hickenlooper himself said he felt sure that the Brannan plan would be the main issue in the general election in November. Referring to Loveland's victory, the senator said:

Farm Plan Issue

"He's for it. I'm against it. So I assume it will be an important issue in the fall campaign."

Loveland commented: "In my opinion, the results constitute an endorsement of the principles on which I have campaigned (largely on the Brannan plan.) The issues were clearly drawn in the primary campaign."

Jake More, Democratic state chairman, said the results of the primary "were very satisfactory and very decisive. The Democrats have the best ticket in the field this year they have had in many years, if not in fact, ever before."

"The Democrats nearly doubled the 1948 primary vote. There was a loss in the Republican vote of 10 to 15 percent."

The Democratic senatorial vote in 1948, with two candidates in the field, was about 65,000 compared with about 100,000 for six candidates, compared with about 255,000 this time for three candidates.

Robert K. Goodwin, Republican state chairman, said "We hoped for a larger vote, but it is doubtful if size would have materially altered the results. Sen. Hickenlooper won overwhelming endorsement."

Endorsements Backfired

"The voters of Iowa have indicated they prefer sound government to political expediency. The Iowa Republican electorate has chosen an excellent team headed by Gov. William S. Beardsley and Sen. Hickenlooper to represent it in the fall election."

The postmortems also included how most endorsements backfired, and the surprising victory of W. H. Nicholas of Mason City for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. The Farm Bureau whose membership includes both Democrats and Republicans, is a bitter opponent of the Brannan plan.

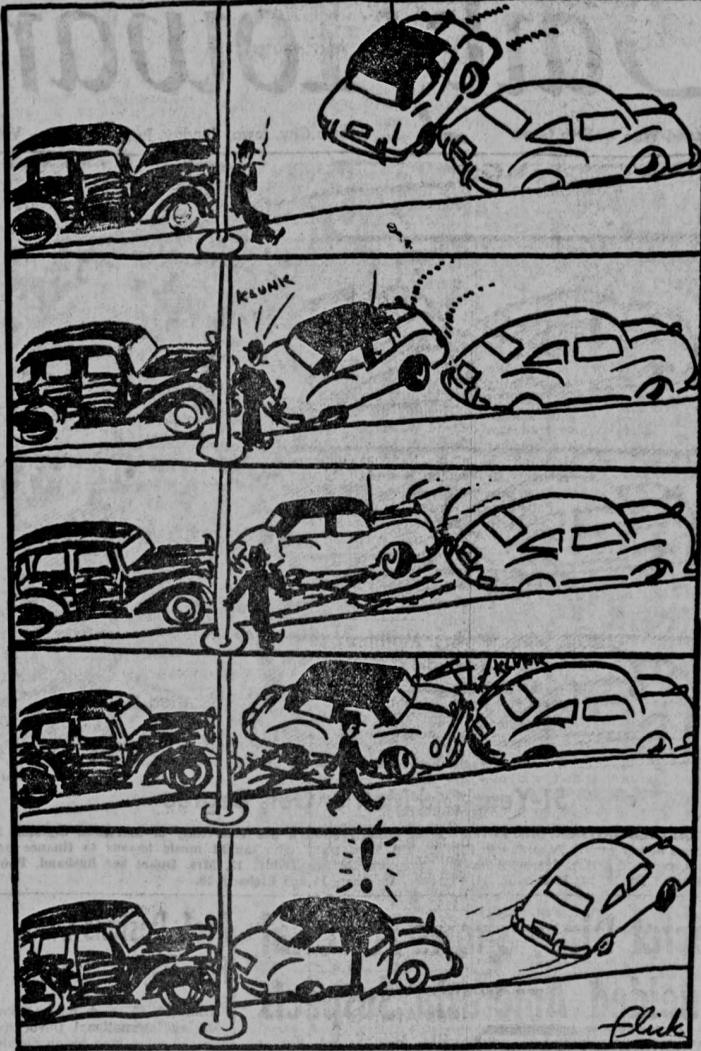

The Iowa State Education association endorsed Paul B. Norris to defeat Miss Jessie M. Parker for the Republican nomination for state superintendent of public instruction, Norris lost.

The Iowa State Federation of Labor supported Earl F. Wisdom for the Republican senatorial nomination and Otha D. Wearin for the Democratic nomination for senator.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations and the Railroad Brotherhoods endorsed Loveland.

Nicholas had plugged for repeal of the state school reorganization law, as means of saving the small towns.

20,000 Iowans Subject to Selective Service

DES MOINES (AP) — About 20,000 of Iowa's young men would be subject to immediate call for military duty if needed in an emergency, the state selective service office said Saturday.

Since the office began taking registrations of the 18 through 25 age group on Aug. 30, 1948, it has filed the cards of about 177,000 men. It is receiving them at the rate of about 1,800 a month.

Col. Ralph A. Lancaster, deputy director of the service for Iowa, explained the reasons why only about 20,000 of 177,000 are available if needed quickly.

"About 44,000 of the total have had military service in one way or another," he related. "Another 29,000 have passed beyond age 26, and are not subject to call.

"Classed as having dependents are about 14,000. And another 8,000 have been given needed-in-agriculture classifications. Also a factor is that classifications are not made until the registrant reaches age 19."

Col. Lancaster said the office has had periodic difficulties in getting those required to register to do so, and also in getting the registrants to keep their local boards informed of changes in addresses and status.

"Every time something is published about this," he commented, "the local boards tell us registration and address and status changes really pick up for a while."

"Some of the boys are quite a bit late in these instances. However, whenever they present themselves for registration we take them. But we don't want this to become general."

"We don't know just when the department of justice might crack down in such cases. So far we have had only about a half-dozen prosecutions. In them the young men had flatly refused to register."

While the present selective service law requires youths to register within five days after becoming 18, the only provision for induction is under a call from President Truman. That act is about to expire.

A bill providing for an extension of the law with some changes is before congress. The house has passed, and Col. Lancaster said the senate is expected to approve it soon.

The principal difference in the extension bill is that inductions could be made only in case of a national emergency declared by a joint resolution of congress.

Iowa Town to Taste 'Communist' Regime

HARTLEY, IOWA (AP) — Hartley will be taken over by "Reds" in a mock invasion Wednesday and for five hours the city will be under "Communist" control.

Public officials will be arrested, citizens will be hearded into a stockade and "people's commissars" will demonstrate how to wipe out all traces of democracy in a small midwestern community.

"Communist Rule day" in Hartley — coming on the anniversary of Flag day — will be patterned after a similar demonstration held May 1 at Mosinee, Wis.

The Wisconsin affair was promoted by members of the American Legion on a theme of "It can happen here" to show what it would be like if it did happen.

The Hartley demonstration has the same theme and is under the sponsorship of the Arthur W. Kirchhoff post of the legion in cooperation with the local chamber of commerce and the people of Hartley.

High Materials Cost Blamed for Decrease In New Construction

DES MOINES (AP) — Higher materials prices apparently are causing people to drop plans for building homes and commercial buildings, and turn to buying them, the Iowa real estate commission said Saturday.

Earl A. Hart, commission director, commented that it might be a bit early to draw that conclusion as definite. But he added, "the trend is indicated."

Recent reports showed that materials prices, particularly lumber, have advanced sharply since last Jan. 1. Lumber was up 22 percent, the report said. In some places labor costs also have increased.

Also since Jan. 1, applicants for real estate sales licenses have been flocking in for the commission's monthly examinations. Last year the average for the monthly test was 54. This year they have ranged from 63 to 86, with 79 for the June test.

Further, more women than usual are trying for brokers' or salesmen's licenses. A broker is one who operates a real estate agency; a salesman is one who works for a broker in making sales.

"The real estate business is good," Hart related. "People appear to be buying homes and commercial buildings rather than building them."

"Apparently a consequence of rising materials prices, was that those interested in homes, particularly, decided they could buy more economically than they could build. That, of course, would boost the sales business, and encourage more people to go into it."

"An interesting sidelight is this. Value of older houses began to slip because so many people were building their own houses. Then the materials costs began to rise. People turned to buying instead of building. And now those older houses are advancing in price."

Against the average of 54 applicants for licenses per month last year, the number month by month this year has been: January 64; February 85; March 74; April 86; May 63, and June 79.

Lake Bottom Dwelling Planned as Tax Protest

MONTICELLO, IND. (AP) — Paul D. Abbott, 27, said Friday he would live in a glass tank at the bottom of Lake Shaffer as a protest against excise and hidden taxes.

"I'm tired of being an over-laxed sucker," said Abbott. "I'm going to live with the real suckers — the swimming kind." He said he'd enter the tank on Father's day, June 18, and "stay there until congress lowers taxes for us little men."

Experts Estimate How Many Jobless Nation Can Handle

By SIGRID ARNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — How many unemployed are too many?

In February 4.7-million people were looking for jobs. They were 7.6 percent of a working force of 61.6-million — not counting the armed forces.

In April the number of job-hunters had dropped to 3.5 million, only 5.7 percent of a working force which by then had reached 62.2-million.

So far the most thorough exploration of how many is too many has been done by a joint committee of the house and senate.

The labor department told its committee that all through our history, even counting periods of high employment, three to four percent of American workers have been looking for jobs.

But the labor department thinks that the figures of how many work and how many don't are not so important as whether the trend is up or down. The trend from February to April was up.

Labor department people think Washington should take steps to protect working people long before joblessness becomes serious.

They think unemployment compensation does this for many, but they would like to see more workers covered and the period of compensation payments lengthened.

The American Federation of Labor (AFL) told the same congressional committee that the number of jobless would not become "dangerous" until it reached 5-million.

AFL thinks government's — federal, state and local — ought to start public works projects when the number of jobless gets too high. It would like to see federal credit controls loosened further to stimulate investment and industry cut the work week without cutting the pay check.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) thinks 4-million unemployed is "alarming." CIO drew congressional attention to these points:

Some 2.5-million workers now have part-time jobs and their spending power is cut.

Joblessness is hitting hardest at such groups as Negroes, women, older people and younger people.

It also comments that something like 800,000 new job hunters hit the market each year after high school and college graduations are finished. It says the economy is not expanding enough to give them jobs.

President Truman's top adviser on economics, Leon Keyserling, has the lowest estimate of how much unemployment is tolerable, somewhere between 2-million and 3-million.

His definition is this: "Unemployment is too high when it is more than the minimum needed to keep the economy flexible;" that is, more than needed to take care of ups and downs between industries.

Keyserling disapproves of any idea that Washington should go into action only when a "danger point" in unemployment has been reached. He says any man who is out of a job a year is in serious trouble, even though the national figures say that unemployment is low.

World Experiencing Movement Toward Practical Christianity

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK (AP) — The world is now experiencing the greatest world movement toward practical Christianity in history, says Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, one of the country's leading ministers and author of inspirational books.

This, he believes, accounts for the way religious and inspirational books have shot to the top of best seller lists in the last few years.

"The chief characteristic of the world movement is the practical application of the principles of Jesus Christ to personal living," says Peale. "People are finally waking up to the fact that He was the greatest expert in human nature who ever lived. And modern ministers have learned to state spiritual techniques in plain old United States talk. Look at the churches today and see what throngs are there."

"This is no temporary vogue. This is a real, long-term, upswing of spiritual values. And it will carry up with it morals and manners. People will become more ethical, more decent, more moral, more gentlemanly and more ladylike."

Peale is known to thousands throughout this country and Europe through his books "The Art of Living" and "You Can Win." He recently addressed the American Booksellers association on the great growth in popularity of religious and inspirational books. "People are turning to them because of the fears, tensions and frustrations produced by modern life," he said.

Ike Rattles Political Sword

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Dwight D. Eisenhower of Columbia university has made another of those speeches which spotlight him as a moderate conservative candidate for President of the United States.

He spoke last week before 8,018 members of Columbia's 1950 graduating class. That's more people than live in the General's home town, Abilene, Kan.

Ike talked of the dangers of an unbalanced budget, against treason in high places. He scoffed at those who shout "reactionary" at men who challenge government officials grasping for more power. Ike put it this way:

"Determination to support and sustain the political and economic freedom of the individual does not make us reactionaries except to those of fuzzy minds or among those egoists who seek the right to dominate us — always, of course, for our own good."

Ike has been laying his political philosophy before the American people for more than a year now while denying that he is a candidate for public office. Last Dec. 22 President Truman told newsmen he did not believe the general was a candidate for president. Mr. Truman said Ike had denied it and that the general's word was always good.

Maryland Searches for Mason-Dixon Line

By THE CENTRAL PRESS
The Mason - Dixon line, found at great pains in the 18th century, threatens to be lost or strayed in the 20th century.

Two English astronomers came to the New World almost 200 years ago to find out where Maryland stopped and Pennsylvania started. Their success stopped what threatened to turn into a minor war between the two states, and their names became household words during the Civil war when the Mason - Dixon Line symbolized the dividing point between the free and slave states.

But midway in the 20th century, the Maryland legislature has authorized an inspection to find out whether the boundary is lost badly enough to require a brand new survey. Its vagueness is causing jurisdictional trouble in such things as forest fires and hunting violations.

So during the coming summer, college men specializing in geology and civil engineering will tramp through the fields and woods to see how things go with that border. One sure thing, they'll miss most of the difficulties that Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon encountered.

MASON AND DIXON went down in history because Charles I of England had been a little vague in defining his grant to William Penn. For three quarters of a century, colonists argued, feud and sometimes killed over disputed border claims. Some settlers found another angle in the confusion. They obtained grants for border land from both the Penns and Lord Baltimore's area, and got out of paying taxes by insisting to either colony's collectors that they had a deed from the other side.

It took Mason and Dixon, experienced British astronomers and mathematicians, from 1764 to 1767 to complete all that they did of their celebrated line. Starting just south of Philadelphia, they penetrated forest wildernesses, braved the Indians, and charted a mapped territory westward for more than 200 miles.

The Indians kept them going further. On June 4, 1766, Mason and Dixon reached a point 244 miles from the Delaware river, 36 miles from the destination. The Indian escorts advised them not to go further, 26 members of the party deserted in panic, and it was many years before other surveyors finished the job.

After all these years, many of the markers have sunk into the earth, or have been swiped as souvenirs. By 1901, it was necessary to resurvey the line.

The boundary between Maryland and Pennsylvania is clear at important points like the highways, of course, but it's a bit vague in the fields and the woods. A Maryland game warden may be unable to be sure of his authority when he finds a hunting violation by a man who claims to be a Pennsylvanian hunting in Pennsylvania. The two states sometimes aren't sure who is supposed to be fighting a borderline forest fire.

Mrs. G. W. Nesbitt Elected Noble Grand Of Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. G. W. Nesbitt was elected noble grand of Carnation Rebekah meeting Friday evening, with Past Noble Grand Mrs. Bessie Kolstad presiding.

Other officers elected for the six-month term were Mrs. E.L. Kringle, vice grand; Mrs. Clarence Conklin, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur Huffman, treasurer; Mrs. R.W. Hughes, degree staff captain.

Mrs. Kringle was also elected delegate to the Cedar-Johnson convention to be held in Iowa City in 1951, and Mrs. Nesbitt was chosen alternate.

Lodge members also voted on two delegates to the Rebekah assembly. They were Mrs. Ralph Rayner and Mrs. Lloyd Rogers. Mrs. Julia Shalla, a member for 50 years, was presented a gift from the lodge by Mrs. Margaret Miller during a social hour following the business meeting.

In charge of refreshments were Claude Woods, Mrs. Pearl Crow, Mrs. Eugene T. Larew and Mrs. Clarence Conklin Jr. Decorations were accomplished in gold, honoring Mrs. Shalla's half-century of membership, and pink and white, traditional lodge colors.

Announce Theater Chain Sale of Tri-States

DES MOINES (AP) — Fortcoming major changes were announced Saturday in the ownership of two big theater corporations in Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois.

In accordance with terms of a federal consent decree, the United Paramount Theaters, Inc., has agreed to buy Tri-States Theaters Corp. Stock owned by A. H. Blank and family and G. Ralph Branton and family, all of Des Moines.

Announce Two Engagements

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE of the engagement and approaching marriage of Darlene Gegenheimer, 406 S. Clinton street, to Lester D. Giegerich, 232 S. Summit street, by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gegenheimer of Oxford, Mr. Giegerich, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Giegerich of Oxford, is employed at the Big B Master Market grocery store in Iowa City. Miss Gegenheimer is employed at Currier Hall. The wedding is planned for June 27 at St. Mary's church in Iowa City.

MR. AND MRS. ELMER ZIEMANN of Postville announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gretchen, to SUI graduate John Stuhr, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stuhr of Storm Lake. Miss Ziemann graduates from Cornell college Monday and is a member of the Arrow Social group there. Mr. Stuhr, a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity, is now associated with the National Life Insurance company of Vermont in Iowa City. Following their wedding in August the couple will live in Cedar Rapids.

SUI Law Professor To Speak at Public Opinion Conference

Prof. Frank R. Kennedy, SUI college of law, will speak at the fifth annual conference on public opinion research June 15 through 20 at Lake Forest college, Lake Forest, Ill.

Kennedy's speech will be on "Judicial Use of Opinion Data." Prof. Norman C. Meier, department of psychology, will be one of three persons discussing speeches by Kennedy and two others on the subject of utilization of public opinion research.

The meeting will be similar to the conference held at SUI in February, 1949, to discuss the failure of sample polls to predict accurately the outcome of the 1948 presidential election.

Heading the conference will be Clyde W. Hart, former SUI professor of sociology, now director of the National Opinion Research center at the University of Chicago.

Prof. Harold W. Saunders, chairman of the SUI department of sociology, will be among those attending the meeting, which is under the joint sponsorship of the American and World Associations for Public Opinion Research.

Revised Edition of Dental Health Handbook Finished

The Bureau of Dental Hygiene recently issued a revised edition of its Handbook of Dental Health Education, brought up to date by Miss Arthura Michael, University elementary school teacher.

The handbook, designed to help the elementary school teacher instruct children in dental health practices, is an SUI publication under the supervision of the Bureau of Dental Hygiene. The Bureau is sponsored jointly by SUI and the Iowa State Department of Health.

This handbook is based on a 1946 edition prepared by Mrs. Jean Currens Lyon, former principal of Lincoln school, Cedar Rapids.

According to Elvira L. Grabow, nurse consultant in the Bureau, the 1946 edition reached 10,000 teachers in Iowa, as well as teachers in 22 other states. Copies were sent to France (UNESCO), China, Brazil, and Sicily.

The 1950 edition includes chapters on teaching dental health to each grade level from the first to the sixth with suggested activities and sample questions.

A complete bibliography on dental health is given for each grade level as well as one for teachers and parents.

College of Medicine Awards Fellowships

Two former students of the SUI college of medicine have been given the first annual fellowships in basic medical sciences from the college.

They are Dr. Robert G. Vernon, Marion, now on the staff of the Geisinger Memorial hospital, Danville, Pa., and Dr. David Zappella, Rochester, N.Y., who is serving an internship at the U.S. marine hospital, Stapleton, Staten Island, N.Y.

Dr. Vernon received his M.D. degree in 1947 and Dr. Zappella in 1949.

These fellowships will be granted annually and comprise half-time teaching and half-time research. They will help prepare medical graduates or future careers and add to the SUI teaching and research staff to meet increased freshman enrollment in the college of medicine next September.

Two Iowa Citizens File Divorce Suits

Two suits for divorce, both charging cruelty, were filed in Johnson county district court Friday.

James F. Barnes, coast guardman from Iowa City, asked divorce from his wife, Ann, of New York; and requested her maiden name, Wilson, be restored.

The other divorce was asked by Viola Mabel Reynolds from Lavern L. Reynolds. They were married at Ainsworth in January, 1946, and separated May 25, according to the petition. They lived at 108 W. Burlington street.

Mrs. Reynolds claimed her husband had failed to support her and asked alimony and court costs. Barnes was represented by Atty. Arthur O. Leff, and Mrs. Reynolds' attorney is Jack C. White.

Iowa City Boy Reported Good After Shell Wound

Joe Strabala, 13, was reported in "good" condition at Mercy hospital Saturday after a shotgun shell with which he was playing exploded.

Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Strabala, 1012 E. Washington street. The boy was pounding on the shell in a gas pipe to see if the shot would come out the other end of the pipe. Instead it backfired into his hand, his mother said.

He received powder burns on the left hand, between the index and middle fingers.

Mary Tremaine Attends National Medical Meet

Mary Tremaine, technician at the state bacteriological laboratory here, is attending the national convention of the American Society of Medical Technologists in Houston, Texas.

Miss Tremaine is president of the Iowa Association of Medical Technologists and a member of the advisory council of the national association.

Proper Storage Keeps Vegetables Fresh

Storing fresh vegetables correctly is the secret to preserving food flavor and nutritional value. When vegetables are kept in room temperature, they wilt and lose food value quickly. It is important to hustle them into the refrigerator as soon as they are brought home from the market.

Convenient storage containers are helpful. One or two large vegetable pans are ideal for storing leafy vegetables, radishes, carrots and other bulky vegetables.

It is also handy to have several smaller pans for storing parsley and fresh peas, which are handled more conveniently in separate containers.

Porcelain enameled refrigerator pans are ideal for all storage purposes because they have a glossy, non-porous finish which protects the food flavor and is easy to clean.

Trim lettuce, endive and other salad vegetables before storing, and wash thoroughly in cool water. Drain and place the vegetables in a covered vegetable pan, and store on a lower refrigerator shelf.

Wash tomatoes, peppers and cucumbers, and wipe with a dry cloth before storing. Asparagus and brussel sprouts will keep better if trimmed and stored unwashed. Separate them from other vegetables by wrapping in wax paper.

Mrs. Mullinnix Granted Divorce, Custody of Son

A divorce was granted Mrs. Erma Mullinnix in district court Saturday on grounds of cruelty and desertion.

The divorce was not contested by her husband, James Mullinnix, and sole custody of their 10-year-old son was given to Mrs. Mullinnix.

No alimony was awarded, but Judge Harold D. Evans ordered Mullinnix to pay $50 monthly support for the child.

The two were married Dec. 25, 1925, at Lone Tree and separated in 1946.

Attorney Jack C. White represented the plaintiff.

Mrs. Anna Moylan, 98, Dies After Short Illness

Mrs. Anna F. Moylan, 98, one of Iowa City's oldest residents, died Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. H. Billick, 420 S. Clinton street, after a short illness.

Born in Cedar county in 1851, Mrs. Moylan lived in Iowa City for the past 38 years.

She was a member of St. Patrick's church, the Altar and Rosary society and the St. Patrick's Parent - Teachers association. Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church at 9 a.m. Monday.

ISSUE MARRIAGE LICENSE A marriage license was issued in Johnson county clerk's office Saturday to Fred Telisek and Verena L. Onken, both of Cedar Rapids.

Former Graduate Student Named to Grinnell Post

A former SUI graduate student, Herbert Prescott, has been named director of public relations at Grinnell college, Grinnell, President Samuel N. Stevens announced Saturday.

Prescott, associate professor of journalism and director of publicity for the past six years, came to Grinnell from the Providence (R.I.) Journal and Evening Bulletin. There he was radio news editor and newscaster.

A graduate of Bowdoin college (Brunswick, Me.) Prescott holds an M.A. degree from the University of Maine.

Court Lowers Two Property Assessments

Two Iowa City special streets assessments were reduced Saturday on land owned by Rolf Scheurer, 1729 E. Court street, SUI music lecturer, and Mrs. Margaret Walsh, 809 Iowa avenue.

The cases arose from a special assessment levied Nov. 22, 1949, by the city council to pay for a $100,000 paving on F street.

District Court Judge Harold D. Evans lowered the assessment on one lot from $1,211.44 to $1,205.36, and the other from $243.93 to $150, because the assessments legally could not exceed 25 percent of the value of the properties.

Hogan, Mangrum, Fazio Tied In U.S. Open; Playoffs Today

Large Crowd Cheers As Hogan Sinks Putt

ARDMORE, PA. (AP)—Ben Hogan, Lloyd Mangrum and George Fazio completed 72 holes of play in the U.S. Open Saturday afternoon in a three-way tie for the leadership. The three will meet this afternoon in a play-off to decide America's most coveted golf championship.

The largest crowd ever to witness a day's play in golf's blue ribbon classic — estimated at over 12,500 — gave a mighty cheer of relief after Hogan ran down a five-foot putt on the final green.

Apparently Hogan's

One of the most remarkable triumphs in history apparently was Hogan's with only four holes to go. But his tired legs, bent and torn in an auto crash 17 months ago, finally buckled under the strain and carried him into trouble on the 69th and 71st hole.

In the end he had to settle for a 75 on his final round to gain the dead-end at 287.

The first inkling that the Bantam, idol of the huge gallery, was facing serious trouble came at the 12th hole of the hectic closing round when, after hitting his tee shot, he was seen to stagger and almost fall.

Today Hogan will have to haul his battered shanks over Meridon's hills once more in an effort to win his second Open. The odds, in the circumstances, will be against him.

Mangrum won his title in a similar three-way playoff against Byron Nelson and Vic Ghezzi at the Canterbury Club at Cleveland in 1946. Hogan won his at the Riviera club at Los Angeles two years ago with a record-breaking total of 276. Fazio never has won a major crown.

Pressure Tightens

Dutch Harrison, the veteran tournament traveler who led the field by a stroke when play began Saturday, scored rounds of 73-76 as the pressure tightened and finished a stroke behind the three leaders at 288.

In another three-way dead-end at 89 were Jim Ferrier, the transplanted Australian; Joe Kirkwood Jr., of Monterey, Calif.; and Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill. Ferrier, who had been only a stroke behind Harrison at halfway, blew up Saturday to fall behind.

BEN HOGAN FURTHERED HIS comeback Saturday by finishing in a three way tie for the lead in the U.S. Open golf tournament. He is shown blasting from a sand trap on the 12th hole in Saturday's third round. Hogan will oppose Lloyd Mangrum and George Fazio in today's playoff to decide the championship.

Tigers Club Bosox; Move to First Place

BOSTON (AP) — The Detroit Tigers took over the slugging at Fenway Park Saturday by totaling 21 hits for 31 bases to crush the Boston Red Sox, 18-8, and capture the American league's top rung from the losing New York Yankees by a single percentage point.

The Tigers whaled Starter Ellis Kinder for seven runs in the fourth inning and clinched matters against him in the seventh when Vic Wertz and Hoot Evers banged consecutive homers.

The final Detroit blast was an eight run explosion against Walt

Masterson in the ninth on five hits, including a Johnny Groth triple with the bases loaded, three passes and an error.

Cards Win; Take First Place

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals took over undisputed possession of first place in the National league Saturday beating the surging New York Giants, 6-2, while the Brooklyn Dodgers, former co-tenants, bowed to the Reds in Cincinnati.

Red Munger went the distance and scattered eight hits to bag his third victory. The loss snapped a seven game Giant winning streak and tumbled the New Yorkers back into sixth place behind the Chicago Cubs.

The Giants were the first to score, pushing a run across in the second after two were out on a walk and a double by Tookie Gilbert. Rookie Bill Howerton tied it in the Card half of the second when he hit his first major league home run.

Stan Musial tripled and scored the tie-breaking run as Enos Slaughter grounded out in the third and the Cards were never headed.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants employed five pitchers with starter Clint Hartung taking the rap, his first loss of the season. The Cards now have beaten the Giants four straight times without a loss.

St. Louis Moves Past Yankees, 7-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Koko's three run homer touched off a five-run eighth inning as the Browns came from behind to beat Allie Reynolds and the Yankees, 7-2, Saturday and knock the New Yorkers out of first place in the American league.

Reynolds carried a 2-0 lead into the eighth inning but walked Bill Sommers to open the frame. Ray Coleman popped out before Don Lenhardt singled and Kokos followed with his homer.

Sherman Lollar's double, two singles and Owen Frien's lay out gave the Browns two more runs in the eighth.

Reds Edge Dodgers On 9th Inning Homer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Big Ted Kluszewski belted a home run into the rightfield bleachers with one out in the ninth inning Saturday to give the Cincinnati Reds a 4-3 victory over Brooklyn and knock the Dodgers out of a tie for the National league lead.

Kluszewski unloaded off Rex Barney, third Dodger pitcher, who entered the game in the ninth after Ralph Branca gave way for a pinch-hitter in the top of the frame.

SUI College of Medicine Alumni Meet Again

Medical Alumni Hears Admiral

Doctors from all parts of the country Saturday heard a naval doctor say that the U.S. may not be able to depend upon other countries for basic scientific research in the future. Speaking at SUI's 1950 medical alumni reunion, Rear Adm. Fredrick C. Greaves, 1920 graduate and now associated with the naval medical corps in Washington, D.C., said today's race to maintain scientific leadership has forced the U.S. to begin research in the field of basic sciences.

He stated that, although this country's record in practical application and development of new scientific discoveries is unsurpassed, it had until recently depended upon other countries for basic research. Other speakers were: Dr. Edwin B. Bannick, Seattle, Wash., 1920 graduate and former head of the medical division of the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn.

of the medical division of the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn. Dr. Frank R. Peterson, Cedar Rapids and also a 1920 alumnus, and Dr. H. Close Hesselstine, 1925 graduate and associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Chicago. Saturday's speeches climaxed the serious side of the weekend festivities. Medical lectures were also presented Friday, with tours of the medical college and hospitals following the forum.

Oldest graduates in attendance at the two day affair were Dr. R. E. Robinson, Waverly, class of 1894; Dr. L. C. Kern, class of 1895, also of Waverly; and Dr. C. C. Griffin, class of 1895, Vinton. The reunion, held in conjunction with commencement exercises and the all-university alumni convention, will become a permanent feature of all future commencements.

SUI Graduate Joins IC Insurance Firm

William Welt Friday joined Dale Welt and A.A. Welt as a full partner in the local Welt Insurance agency.

William Welt is a graduate of the SUI college of law and University high school. He served five years in the Army airforce during World War II and was discharged a major.

Welt is married and has one child. The family lives at 1115 Pickard street. Since 1946, Welt has managed the Iowa Mutual Liability Insurance company offices in Wichita, Kan., and Davenport.

Plane Crash Trial Delay Allows Juror To Attend Funeral

Adjournment has been extended to 10 a.m. Tuesday in the trial of a $35,000 suit resulting from the crash of an Iowa City flying service plane in which four men died Sept. 4, 1949.

District Court Judge Harold D. Evans ordered the extension Saturday, so one of the jurors, Clement G. Kupka, 222 Lucas street, could attend the funeral of his father Monday.

Attorneys in the case had declined to proceed with the trial with only 11 jurors.

The suit was brought by Neva Creno, administratrix of the Glen E. Creno estate against Robert J. Jehle, surviving partner in the flying service, and George Nagle, administrator of the estate of Ruard W. Cochrane, flying service partner, who died in the crash.

The suit claimed the crash resulted from carelessness on the part of Cochrane in operating the plane, which he was demonstrating for Wayne and Gale Kennedy, and Creno, all of West Liberty.

The defendants have said it can not be shown who was operating the plane at the time of its crash about two miles southeast of Downey, so no one can be held responsible.

$1,100 Suit Filed Here For Payment of Notes

A $1,100 suit was filed in Johnson county district court Thursday by Wayne V. Parson, Forest View trailer park, for payment on two promissory notes.

Parson said he held notes written by Leota Haman, Tiffin, in favor of Kenneth I. Belle, 219 S. Madison street. One, dated Dec. 2, 1944, was for payment of $635 in six months. The other, dated March 5, 1945, was for payment in six months of $243.88.

Parson claimed $760 was due on the first note, and $340 on the other. Messer, Hamilton, Cahill and Bartley represented the plaintiff.

Hillcrest Brickwork Nearly Completed

Brickwork on the new extension of Hillcrest dormitory should be completed by the first of July, Harold Van Horn, construction superintendent, said Friday.

Van Horn said the roof slabs for the five-floor addition are poured, and the roofing material has been ordered for delivery on July 1. He said it will have to be installed before plastering of the interior can be started.

Approximately one-quarter of the interior partitions have been put up, and all the standing plumbing has been installed.

He said plans call for the installation of sewers and electrical work next week. Work of connecting the new wing to the older part of the building has started.

This work was delayed during final examinations to avoid disturbing the students.

Elks Lodge to Display Nine Historic Flags

Nine historic American flags will be the feature attraction at the Iowa City Elks lodge No. 590 flag day services at 2:30 p.m. today.

Judge Harold D. Evans will outline the history of each flag as it is carried to the platform by a member of Boy Scout troop No. 3.

First of the flags is the banner of King Henry VII which was unfurled on American shores by John Cabot in 1497. The flag is white with a red St. George cross.

Today's familiar Union Jack is the second of the Elks' flags. It was adopted in 1606 as a result of the incorporation of Scotland into the United Kingdom. It is blue with a red cross of St. George and a white cross of St. Andrew to represent England and Scotland respectively.

Third of the Elks' flags is the English flag of 1607. In this banner the field was changed to crimson and the crosses on their blue background raised to the upper inside corner. This flag flew over the colonies until the revolution in 1775.

At the Battle of Bunker Hill the colonists fought under a flag with a pine tree imposed upon a field of white. This was carried throughout 1775 and it is the fourth flag in the Elks' collection.

The next flag to appear will be the snake flag of the southern colonies in 1776 and 1777. It carries a picture of a rattlesnake with the inscription "Don't Tread on Me."

Continental congress adopted in 1775 a flag with 14 alternating red and white stripes and a Union Jack in the upper inside corner. John Paul Jones flew this at the mast of the Bon Homme Richard. This is flag No. 6.

The Betsy Ross flag, 13 alternating red and white stripes with a field of blue containing 13 stars in a circle, is the seventh flag. This was adopted by the Continental congress in 1777.

Francis Scott Key's "Star Spangled Banner" is the eighth standard to be included. It is a replica of the 15 star, 15 stripe flag which flew over Fort Mifflin when Key wrote the national anthem. It was adopted by congress in 1795.

Last of the flags is the present-day Stars and Stripes. It was adopted by congress in 1912 following the admission of Arizona and New Mexico to statehood.

William L. Meardon, Iowa City attorney, will deliver the main address entitled "Our Heritage of Freedom." The service is open to the public.

U-Hospitals Admits Two Polio Cases

Two active polio cases were admitted to University hospitals during the last week.

They are Marvin Runyon, 14, Nashua, and Bernard Douglas, 30, New Hampton.

Runyon's condition was reported "good" by hospital officials, and Douglas is in "satisfactory" condition.

Ethel Hammond, 38, Nashua, was transferred to the inactive polio ward last week.

ARREST 'MISS VICE'

PARIS (AP) — Blonde, bosomy Diane Erdos, the "Miss Vice" of Paris' Bohemian left bank, was jailed Friday on charges of trying to blackmail a refugee industrialist of 3-million francs (about $8,570). The 20-year-old Parisian won the "Miss Vice" title four months ago in a contest at the "Tabu" nightclub.

Radio Programs for Summer Announced

Music will be the theme for the summer months on WSUI Richard C. Setterberg, program director, said Saturday. The new schedule starts Monday.

Old favorites such as Rhythm Rambles, Tea Time, and Campus Shop will be joined by such programs as Summer Serenade at 8:30 a.m.; Baker's Dozen from 10:30 until 11:15 a.m., a show of "music for the ladies," and numerous others covering music from classical to pop.

In keeping with the customary summer policy, WSUI will leave the air at 10 p.m., fifteen minutes early, Setterberg said.

A radio classroom on the history of Russia from 1800 through the present will be given Monday through Friday at 9 a.m. by Prof. Nicholas V. Riasanovsky of the history department.

Another radio classroom continued for the summer is Early 19th Century Music, conducted by Prof. P.G. Clapp, head of the music department.

Insurance Companies Face Local Suits

Two suits were filed against insurance companies in district court Thursday by holders of hospitalization policies.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Woodfin, route 4, filed suit of $533.53 against the National Benefit Insurance company, Des Moines.

They claimed the company's salesman falsely represented the policy when he sold it to them Aug. 25, 1949. The court was asked to change the provisions of the policy to conform to the agreement made by the salesman.

The plaintiffs asked $533.53 for Mrs. Woodfin's expenses while she was hospitalized between March 15 and March 29.

In the other suit, Mrs. Francis H. Pertlick, Solon, asked the Hoosier Casualty company and Myron Ellison, Solon, company agent, for $470 for hospitalization, surgical and nursing expenses.

Mrs. Pertlick said she was hospitalized between Jan. 10 and Jan. 26.

Funeral Services Held Here for Mary Kneisel

Funeral services for Mary Kneisel, 70, were held at St. Mary's church, Iowa City, Saturday at 8 a.m. with burial in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Riverside.

Miss Kneisel died Thursday at Mercy hospital following a long illness.

She had lived with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Machovec, 932 Market street, since 1934. She was born in Iowa City and lived in Riverside prior to her return here.

"Why Pay Rent?"

Children's Choo-Choo Gets Underway

(Daily Iowan Photo)

"ALL ABOARD FOR CITY PARK" was the call as the local American Legion's fun organization treated 10 youngsters from the hospital school for handicapped children to an afternoon of fun. The transportation was supplied by the Legion's parade locomotive and the tour included a thorough visit to the "wild life" display at City Park. But highlight of the day for most of the children was the soda pop and ice cream which wound up the afternoon's entertainment.

Ten Crippled Children Feted by Legion Group

By BARNEY SEIBERT
There was enough soda pop in as many colors and flavors as there were children. The ice cream dripped happily down little chins and the chocolate melted in little pools on the floor of the mock locomotive tender.

Iowa City's Voiture 585 of the Forty and Eight, the American Legion's fun organization, bundled up 10 children from the hospital school for severely handicapped children and hauled them off to City park for the afternoon in their parade locomotive Saturday.

It was a merry group that rang the engine bell and waved at passing cars while other young folk watched with envy from the sidewalks.

First stop on the grand tour was the City Park zoo. Each child was carried to the cages and deposited in front of the animal which caught his fancy. The bears and monkeys seemed to get the best play and "Bruin" appreciatively "beared" his teeth for his fans.

After visiting the zoo and taking a spin around Iowa City, the children were taken to Sutton's Radio store for refreshments. Aside from a few spilled bottles of pop and a minor altercation over who was to be allowed to ring the bell, the affair came off without incident.

All 10 children agreed the outing was an unqualified success and the grinning Legionnaires enjoyed it as much as the kids.

The Legion group was led by Deputy Sheriff Don Wilson, chairman of the committee, and included Mark Sutton, George Vacik, chef de gare of the voiture, and Glenn Houston.

Try and Stop Me

DO YOU KNOW the question that was asked most frequently at the general information desk of the New York Public Library last year? It was, "Why are the hands on painted display clocks always set at 8:20?" The answer is that, first, this position leaves the most space free on the dial for advertising, and second, it presents the most pleasing and symmetrical appearance, dividing the dial two-thirds above the hands, one-third below. There are lots of people, however, who will insist that the 8:20 time was chosen originally because that was the precise moment in which Abraham Lincoln met his death. It's not so!

Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, the great English actor, attended a benefit one night and saw a scorned rival do an elaborate imitation of his mannerisms and delivery. Backstage later, the rival cackled, "Pretty good, what, Sir Herbert?" Herbert said sadly, "A man never really knows what a fool he is until he hears himself imitated by one!"

CAPITOL CAFE

Owing to the loss of my lease, I am compelled to suspend operation of the Capitol Cafe.

In closing my business, I am very mindful of the 19½ good years during which it has been my privilege to serve the people of Iowa City.

My dealings with the citizens of the community, my business associates, the students and faculty of the University have been a very pleasant experience, and I shall remember them all with gratitude.

To all concerned I extend my deepest appreciation and good wishes.
