Truman Tightens Credit To Combat War Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Truman moved for the first time Tuesday to combat war inflation on the American home front.

In a series of orders, the chief executive set up rules for tighter credit on federal housing loans "without delay" and called for "positive action" to save construction materials needed for the war effort.

His instructions went out in letters to Housing Administrator Raymond Foley and five other key government officials who direct housing and real estate loans.

The President said it is clear that many materials used in residential and other construction will be needed in increasing amounts for national defense, and he declared:

"These increased (for defense materials) will aggravate inflationary tendencies already evident in some of these materials unless positive actions are taken to reduce pressures in residential construction."

In his message to congress today, Mr. Truman is expected to propose allocations of scarce materials, perhaps on a voluntary basis.

Some of President Truman's advisors are reported to be urging him also to seek about $5-billion more for arms aid to western Europe.

Officials who told reporters of this Tuesday said the amount would be in addition to the billions he is expected to ask today for the defense department to back up U.S. soldiers fighting the Korean Communists.

It also would be in addition to the $1,222,500,000 program the house is expected to vote today for arms aid to western Europe during this fiscal year.

Still Hope for Men Trapped in Mine

LARK, UTAH (AP) - A mine official predicted here Tuesday night that three men still trapped somewhere in a burning lead mine were still alive.

Oscar Gleasner, mine industrial relations manager and director of the rescue operations, said rescue crews will attempt sometime Tuesday night to descend the 1,000 foot shaft, 7,200 feet inside the mine where he believes the men to be.

Bodies of the other two men were carried out Monday. The new rescue operation depends on the work of electricians attempting to clean and dry the motor which operates the shaft's two cages. If their work is successful, workers will don oxygen masks and try to penetrate the smoke and gas filled hole.

Student's Daughter Killed in Accident

The six-year-old daughter of an SUI student was killed Tuesday near Washington, Iowa, when she was thrown from the car in which she was riding as it swerved into a ditch.

The child was Rosemary Lee Krabill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Krabill, Hesston, Kans. Krabill, a school teacher, is attending summer session here.

At the time of the accident, Rosemary Lee was riding in a car driven by her aunt, Joanna Krabill, 17, Washington, according to authorities. The Krabills had been visiting relatives at Washington and Wayland.

No Pre-Induction Orders for Draft Board Yet

Johnson county draft board officials had not received any instructions to begin pre-induction physicals at the time the draft board office closed Tuesday.

Elizabeth Malone, clerk at the board office in the Johnson county courthouse, said the board received no communications Tuesday from the Iowa state selective service headquarters.

Earlier, the Associated Press reported that pre-induction physicals would begin next Monday. According to the Associated Press, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Grahl, state selective service director, said Iowa's quota calls for 84 men before Sept. 30.

Grahl said inductions could begin about Aug. 18. Nearly 1,300 men will be required to take the pre-induction physical examination to insure sufficient manpower to meet the quota, Grahl said.

VA Suspends Ten For Overpayments To Tenn. Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ten veterans administration employees in Tennessee were suspended Tuesday in connection with "irregularities of major proportions" involving overpayments of more than $60,000 to at least two GI training schools.

VA officials called it the first "scandal of this proportion since the days of the early veterans bureau in 1923."

Those suspended included J. M. Nixon, manager of the Nashville office; his assistant, L. Beeler, and Charles E. Donagry, officer in charge of the Knoxville office.

They and seven other Nashville employees were notified of their suspension in a brief letter from VA Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr. Gray also conferred for 90 minutes with Democratic Reps. Joe L. Ewins and J. Percy Priest of Tennessee.

Ewins said evidences of "laxity, irregularities and maladministration" were uncovered in a seven-month investigation conducted by "finance representatives," the FBI and VA investigators.

The fact that the FBI was involved may foreshadow some future action by the justice department. Both Gray and the congressmen emphasized however, that the move is "purely administrative" and does not at this time involve any criminal action.

Hearings may be held both here and in Nashville. Ewins said the charges concern an overpayment of $49,320.90 to the Murfreesboro practical trade school and $10,785.00 to the Chattanooga Technical Training Institute.

Kahl is quitting Sept. 1 to take a better-paying job as secretary-manager of the Iowa Automobile Dealers association. State Senator Pearl W. McMurry of Corydon will succeed Kahl in the $6,000-a-year post.

Kahl said he would submit to Beardsley by Aug. 1 his list of what he considers urgent matters requiring consideration by the next legislature.

Kahl gave no indication of what he will recommend. However, he unsuccessfully sought in the 1949 legislature the enactment of bills to require semi-annual tests of all motor vehicles, establish 50 miles an hour as the nighttime speed limit, and to increase the personnel of the state highway patrol from 160 to 275.

Kahl's letter of resignation costed that a comparison of costs of other states performing functions similar to those of the Iowa safety department reveals "that we are presently operating at less cost to the Iowa taxpayer per registered car than any other state."

"And Iowa today has a lower fatality rate per miles of travel than at any time since the automobile became a principal mode of travel," Kahl continued.

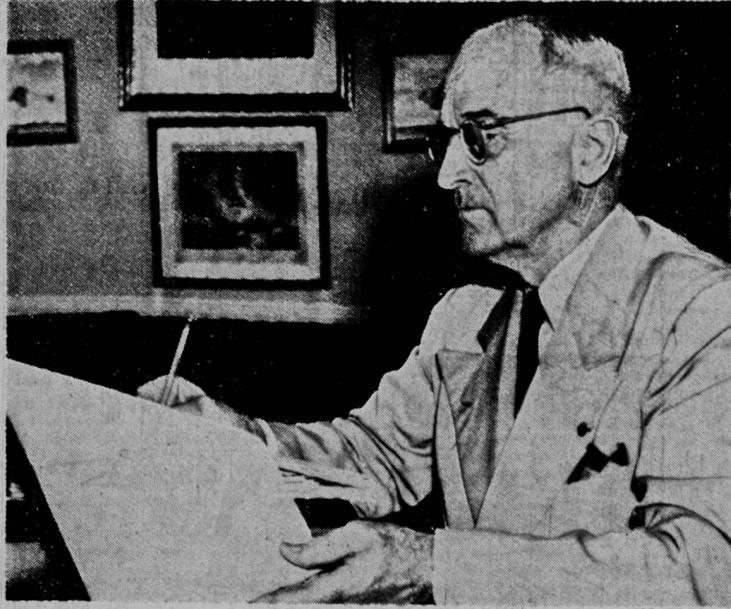

Those who pass physical examinations will be eligible for induction 21 days later, Aug. 18, at the same stations, the selective service director said. However, he didn't say the first draftees actually would be inducted by that time.

Glenn Houston, secretary, and J. A. Swisher, retired SUI historian.

Men will be called for physical examinations in the same order in which they would be inducted, beginning with 25-year-old single men and dropping to those in lower age groups.

Reuther Proposes Anti-Red Plan Costing Trillion Dollars

DETROIT (AP) - A trillion-dollar, 100-year campaign to rid the world of communism was proposed Tuesday by President Walter Reuther of the CIO united auto workers.

Reuther made his proposal in a letter to President Truman, whose decision to defend Southern Korea he lauded.

A "total peace offensive" under U.S. leadership was advocated by the union chief, who at the same time said we should have "a fully adequate military defense." His plan is similar to Mr. Truman's point-four program to help distressed countries help themselves, but much more extensive.

He outlined a proposed nine-point program to be carried out under United Nations sponsorship at a cost of $13-billion a year to the United States. Over the 100-year program it would cost the U.S. $1.5-trillion, which Reuther said was the cost of World War II to this country.

As a means of financing his plan, Reuther suggested that restoration of wartime tax rates on corporations would provide $7-billion and said that wartime rates on incomes of $15,000 or more would provide "a substantial part" of the remainder needed.

He also said that a large increase in revenue would result from "putting enough people to work to produce 43-billion additional wealth."

There will be no special final examinations week during summer session, Prof. Robert L. Ebel, director of the university examinations service, said Tuesday.

"Individual instructors set the time and place for the final tests. There never has been a final exam week during the summer session," he said.

Ebel explained that the brevity and the small enrollment of the eight-week period is the reason no special time is allotted for the tests.

Chairman Tom Conally (D-Tex.) of the full foreign relations committee made it plain that the committee is through unless it gets further orders from the senate, but there has been talk of a Democratic move for senate censure of McCarthy.

The committee took its actions Tuesday at closed-door session reported as one of the stormiest it has ever held.

The decision to end the investigation of McCarthy's charges that the state department is a haven for Reds and other security risks came on a vote of 11 to 0. The committee has 13 members but Republicans Alexander Wiley (Wis.) and Arthur Vandenberg (Mich.) were absent.

U.S. Rejects Nehru's Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States rejected the Korean peace proposal of Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru Tuesday and said any diplomatic move to end the war must be preceded by a Communist cease fire order.

In a polite but firm note, Secretary of State Dean Acheson told Nehru this country cannot agree to any peace formula which includes as a condition the seating of the Chinese Communists in the United Nations.

Nehru, in notes to Acheson and Soviet Prime Minister Josef Stalin had proposed settling the conflict within the framework of the UN security council with Red China replacing Nationalist China. Stalin agreed.

Acheson's note was delivered to the Indian ambassador here and in New Delhi. Officials said the differences in time between Washington and New Delhi was holding up its release to newsmen.

Mundt Sees U.S. Recovery in Korea

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) said Tuesday that American soldiers in Korea "will start marching north soon, but beyond that we know not."

He said leaders of this nation and the United Nations "cannot tell you whether our GIs will march north beyond the 38th parallel. Only the 14 men in the Kremlin have definite plans for the future."

Mundt said a positive U.S. foreign policy and vigilance against Communist infiltration in the U.S. government are prime needs of the nation. He said the state department had gotten rid of 100 communist employees since the Yalta conference.

Interstate Gambling Reported by Senator

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of a senate committee investigating crime, said after a hearing Tuesday he had received "many evidences of interstate connections" in gambling here and across the Mississippi river in Illinois.

The committee hearing was closed, but Kefauver went over some of the evidence with reporters.

Wherry left the broad implication that he might fight for removal of passages in the majority report severely castigating McCarthy. He said some "objectionable" material—certain criticism of Lodge and Hickenlooper—had been deleted by the full committee.

He added that most senators had not had a chance to study the majority report and that close reading might show other material that should be taken out.

GIs Sweep in Unopposed, Taejon Quiet

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) (AP)—U.S. troops swept ashore Tuesday in the first amphibious landing operation of the war in Korea and drove inland as far as seven miles, a field dispatch said today.

The troops drove ashore at a point north of Pusan.

The U.S. first cavalry division, under the direction of Maj. Gen. Hobart Gay, made the landing.

This move to push more American troops to the fighting front came as the Communist invasion ground to a halt at the very gates of Taejon, strategic city on the western end of the front.

The northerners apparently were catching their breath after a mauling by air and stubborn U.S. infantry resistance aground.

The amphibious assault was exploited quickly. Strong forces built up along the beach as advance forces speared inland.

Air Support. The convoy moved in under the cover of U. S. and British airplanes. Navy warships kept watch on the sea lanes. Russian submarines have been known to operate in the area.

The American landing was the biggest movement of troops to the South Korean front since the 24th infantry division was sent.

The badly outnumbered 24th had carried the brunt of the defensive fighting. It has been outnumbered 10 to one but has exacted a heavy toll.

Balanced Front. The seaborne movement was designated to give the American and South Korean forces a more balanced front. It also will relieve overtaxed port and dock areas in Korea.

Gen. MacArthur's afternoon communique made no mention of the landing.

It confirmed late field reports that the fighting front around Taejon was quiet.

Patrols from the 19th and 34th infantry regiment of the 24th division stabbed at the enemy lines north and west of Taejon.

Taejon, city of 150,000, was abandoned completely as a U.S. advance field headquarters Tuesday but Americans still held the city.

Hold Air Strip. The air strip about three miles north of Taejon still was in U.S. hands.

MacArthur's communique said one patrol from the 34th killed five North Korean soldiers about two miles in front of their position. This showed there was no close contact.

The communique said the Communists attacked along the line Tuesday morning but were thrown back by a U.S. counterattack.

South Korean troops east of the American positions also seized limited objectives and inflicted "heavy casualties," the communique reported.

Reds Lack Tanks. One prime reason for the Red rest seemed to be the lack of tanks. Tanks led the drive of 120 miles or so south from the 38th parallel dividing north and south Korea.

Air strikes seemed to have kept the invaders from repairing blasted bridges and building new ones so that tanks can cross the 200-yard-wide Kum river northwest of Taejon.

Senate Committee Drops Investigation Of McCarthy Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) - The senate foreign relations committee dropped investigation of Sen. Joseph McCarthy's Communist-in-government charges Tuesday.

Without making any findings of its own, it sent along to the senate the opposing reports from an inquiry subcommittee:

1. By the Democratic majority that the Wisconsin Republican's accusations were "a fraud and a hoax."

2. By Sen. Henry Lodge (Mass.) with informal general concurrence from Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (Iowa), the other Republican on the group, that the long investigation itself was "superficial and inconclusive."

It gave Hickenlooper permission to file his own minority report by Aug. 1.

There was evident hope—but little real confidence—among the senate leadership that the committee's action ends the affair which has kept the senate embroiled for months.

Withdraws Request Chairman Millard Tydings (D-Md.) of the inquiry subcommittee filed the reports in the senate, then within a few minutes withdrew them for 24 hours at the request of Sen. Kenneth Wherry (Neb.), the Republican floor leader.

Wherry left the broad implication that he might fight for removal of passages in the majority report severely castigating McCarthy. He said some "objectionable" material—certain criticism of Lodge and Hickenlooper—had been deleted by the full committee.

He added that most senators had not had a chance to study the majority report and that close reading might show other material that should be taken out.

Safety Head Quits, Lauds Iowa's Mark

DES MOINES (AP) - Alfred W. Kahl, who resigned Tuesday as Iowa state safety commissioner, said he is preparing 1951 legislative recommendations for submission to Governor William S. Beardsley.

Kahl is quitting Sept. 1 to take a better-paying job as secretary-manager of the Iowa Automobile Dealers association. State Senator Pearl W. McMurry of Corydon will succeed Kahl in the $6,000-a-year post.

Atom Spy Suspect Asks Early Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—An early trial appeared likely Tuesday for Julius Rosenberg, accused of a part in the Klaus Fuchs Russian-backed atom spy ring.

Rosenberg, arrested by the FBI Monday night, was held under $100,000 bond.

The charge is conspiracy to commit espionage. The maximum penalty is death.

His attorney, Emanuel H. Bloch, said he wants an early trial.

Rosenberg's wife, meanwhile said her husband was no Communist and called the charges against him false. She said she is a sister of David Greenglass, whom the FBI calls another spy ring member.

The 32-year-old Rosenberg was the fourth American arrested in recent weeks in the FBI probe of the spy ring.

The arrests followed the jailing in England of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, who is serving a long term as an admitted Russian spy.

Letters to the Editor

Korean Rebuttal . . .

TO THE EDITOR

Having had numerous interesting discussions on politics and economics with Jim Joseph, who last Friday wrote a letter to the Editor on the South Korean government, I have taken the trouble to look up all the references he quoted. I believe the results of my study should be placed before those who read Jim's letter, lest some of them be confused by the facts he selected.

Jim states numerous facts which cause him to wonder "whether the South Korean Government might not be less secure and more fascist than supposed; whether the South might have precipitated the present crisis calculating promised U.S. aid in the event of a conflict, as a carefully planned maneuver to help maintain the Rhee government?"

Referring to the New York Times May 30, 1950 he states "The day before the May South Korean election 30 candidates were arrested by Sygman Rhee's government." This entire Reuters dispatch (dated May 29) reads "South Korean police have arrested 30 candidates in tomorrow's general election in a swoop touched off by discovery of a Communist spy ring. An official police announcement placed the total catch at 112." Immediately adjacent to this dispatch was one by Benton Crane (special to the New York Times dated May 30) which included, "Despite the mortar shelling of Kaesong (on north border) by Korean Communists last night and assaults on two small hills near Ongjin, and despite Communist radio broadcasts from the north threatening the bombing and strafing of South Korean polling booths, Seoul officials believe today's South Korean election will be quiet." Another United Press dispatch on the same page, (dated May 30) includes, "An outbreak of Communist violence marked the early hours of South Korea's first self-conducted election today . . . Three guerrillas were killed and three policemen wounded . . . at Sanchoing according to National Police Headquarters. The police report said a band of 30 armed guerrillas burned the court house and one other building before being driven off. This was at one time the scene of much Communist guerrilla activity." At another place, the dispatch states "More than half of some 2200 candidates (in the general elections) are 'independents' disinterested members of the two big parties who were not picked for party tickets. . . Members of the United Nations commission on Korea kept an eye on the voting which neutral observers agreed was being conducted freely." Under the terrorist pressures which these dispatches indicate was being applied by the Communists it is not surprising that 30 out of 2200 candidates had a run in with the law.

The article in Nation, August 13, 1949, referred to by Jim is very critical of the Rhee government. This same article, however, does indicate that the North Korean government was a Russian dominated police state. I quote, "The Russians, on their part spawned a leftist police-state."

"Unlike the Chinese Communists who won power by their own efforts, the North Korean Communists have leaned very heavily on the Soviet occupying authorities. They show many of the signs of an imposed regime, particularly in their fawning propaganda. Apparently they find it necessary to thank Joseph Stalin for the liberation in almost every radio broadcast and to pretend that the Soviets won both the European and Pacific wars practically unaided."

At another point this same article says of Kim Koo, "One of the reasons for Kim Koo's belief in peaceful unification was his feeling that in an armed conflict the North would win."

One other important question was raised by Jim's statement, "The (UN) commission stated it was 'disturbed by the implied desire of Korean (South Korean) government to restrict its work'." The dispatch, (dated Dec. 22, 1949) from which his quotation was taken (the New York Times Dec. 23, 1949) also included, "The UN commission on Korea today quietly told the Korean people that the doors to its headquarters and of its members' homes still stood open to those who wished to get in touch with it. . . On December 5, the South Korean Foreign office (had) announced to the press that those seeking contact with the commission must do so through that ministry. . . The (UN) commission's communique issued today, repeated its welcome to independent help and visits from the Koreans." Thus it appears that although the commission was "disturbed" by an implied desire of the South Korean government, the commission actually went on with its work in its own way with out serious physical interference.

If a UN Commission has ever been admitted to the North Korean area I would like to be informed of the details. In the June 1950 issue of The National Geographic Magazine, pg. 780, the following statement is made, "A temporary United Nations mission to Korea, sent out in January of that year, (1948) was refused permission by the Russians to investigate North Korea."

Summing up then, my study of the articles referred to by Jim leads me to the following conclusions:

1. The Northern Korean Government is a Russian dominated police state and has attempted to threaten and intimidate the South Koreans and the UN backed government of South Korea.

2. There were important elements in South Korea who felt that in the event of an armed conflict the North would win.
3. In the face of this Russian threat from the North the South Korean government has taken strong measures to protect itself from Communist infiltration and terrorism.
4. Had the South Koreans been supplied the necessary arms they would have liked to liberate their Northern brothers.
5. The Rhee administration was not above reproach and there was honest opposition by some South Korean elements.
6. The South Korean elections according to neutral observers have been free.

Add to these points which all come from dispatches published prior to the invasion of South Korea, the facts that the North Koreans have actually pushed by force of Russian supplied heavy arms across the Kum river, and that "UN Secretary General Lie calls the Korea fighting 'well-prepared, well-planned aggression' against South Korea" (Daily Iowan, July 15, 1950), and I fail to see the slightest justification for Jim's question at this time.

The "promised" aid to which he refers appears to be "Appropriations of $100-million were voted for South Korea June 6, 1950." Anyone knows it takes months to transform a congressional appropriation into material accomplishment. Would the Rhee government perpetuate itself by precipitating an immediate crisis on the strength of aid it expected to receive in a matter of months? A military North Korean government seeing that South Korea would be better able to defend itself in a few months might decide it is now or never for a successful invasion. No one, not even the best informed in our own government, could have predicted the UN and U.S. action which resulted in emergency aid to South Korea.

I feel the facts Jim cited are of little significance when considered only in the light of the other facts appearing in the references he cited. When considered in the light of other facts known to any informed person, their significance approaches zero.

Jim may wish to reply to this letter. I feel, however, that his letter of last Friday gives little justification for further public airing of those confused facts. Should he or another person present additional selected facts, I earnestly request that some other Daily Iowan readers take the time to follow them up carefully in a spirit of seeking for the truth. I do not have the time to continue a discussion in print.

We Never Learn!

By TOM DORSEY
IT HAPPENED LIKE THIS: A man who was in one of the last cars of the El Captain — the crack streamliner that smashed into the Kansas City Chief near Galesburg, Ill., recently — was in Iowa City this week and he gave several interesting observations on the wreck.

"I feel the facts Jim cited are of little significance when considered only in the light of the other facts appearing in the references he cited. When considered in the light of other facts known to any informed person, their significance approaches zero."

He said the crash gave the car he was in — one towards the rear — quite a jolt but he braced himself and was unhurt.

The woman next to him wasn't so lucky though. It seems she relaxed too soon and when the train stopped suddenly she soared over the seat in front of her and lit on her head.

A little old man who was in the car came out of the crash with a minor scratch on his arm.

But after all the excitement died down and ten were found dead and some 70 persons injured the man looked down at the scratch and said, "I bet they'll pay me something for this or else."

It takes all kinds of people to make a world.

YEAH, YEAH! "Form," said M.D. Reich of Atlanta, "is every thing" and with that he plunged into the pool.

His small son, Dale, was properly impressed with his diving lesson. So was father. He came up minus three teeth, a banged head and skinned knees.

The water, Reich found, was only three and one half feet deep. The teeth, by the way, were false.

IT'S PAPA WHO PAYS: A local youngster awoke about 3 a.m. the other day and asked his mommy to tell him a story. But mommy said, "Hush. Your papa will be home pretty soon and tell us both one." Oh, Oh!

THE DARING YOUNG GIRL ON THE FLYING TRAPEZE: A 25-year-old Chicago woman saved the life of a 63-year-old neighbor man yesterday by swinging him through space in a feat that would have done credit to a strong man.

The man had locked himself out of his apartment so he tried to reach a window from his back porch. In doing so, he suddenly found himself clinging to the window sill by his fingertips, 35 feet above the ground.

The woman, who weighs 200 pounds, heard his cries. She ran to the porch, leaned far over the railing and grasped the suspended man by the ankles.

Then she told him to swing free as she twisted him in the air.

"I'll try and hold you until the fire department comes," she said.

But the 180 - pound man was too heavy for her and she was afraid the railing of her porch would give away so she swung him down to the next street level, lowering him as gently as possible.

The man suffered a brain concussion from striking the porch floor, but officials say the young woman's prompt action was all that saved him from almost certain death.

HOW DRY CAN IT GET: How dry are the west's forests? They're so dry a forest fire started in a river near Portland, Ore.

It's a fact, a Mt. Hood national forest crew reported it. They said a fisherman, apparently assuming he was in a fireproof spot, dropped a cigarette into a log jam in the Salmon river.

Despite the water running underneath and to either side, fire jumped up, leaped to shore, and began running up a canyon wall before the crew arrived to put it out with hand pumps.

FISH FOLLIES: An Iowa City man returned from his vacation trip recently and told his friends all about his fishing exploits.

According to him, the water was bustling with fish. "I couldn't cast without hitting one in the eye," he said.

"Yeah, but did they bite?" replied a skeptic.

"Did they bite!" said the fisherman. "I'll say they bit! I had to hide my rod while I baited my hook!"

Profiteers, Hoarders Forcing Prices Up; Senate to Investigate

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices rose on many items Tuesday and the senate ordered its banking committee to investigate reports of profiteering and hoarding in connection with the Korean war.

Chairman Burnet R. Maybank (D - SC) who will direct the senate inquiry warned businessmen and housewives that they would be to blame if price control and rationing resulted from scare-buying.

President Truman had already imposed one measure of control by ordering restraints on new credit for home building to prevent aggravation of "inflationary tendencies already evident" as more building materials are required for defense purposes in connection with the Korean war.

He authorized Home Finance Administrator Raymond R. Foley to release only $650 - million, instead of a previously - planned $1.25-billion in additional federal funds for guaranteeing mortgages.

Nevertheless, some reports were still received of war-frightened customers stalling runs on scattered items, despite repeated industry and government statements that no shortages were likely.

The heaviest demand appeared to be on sugar, automobile tires, household appliances, and flat goods such as sheets and pillow cases.

Prices rose in many towns on coffee, mainly due to increases in wholesale costs-blamed on technical trading factors. A & P stores boosted coffee prices four to five cents a pound in New York. Coffee prices also rose two cents at Madison, Wis., four cents at Sacramento, Calif., and four to five cents at St. Louis and Louisville.

Standard Brands announced it would raise wholesale prices on Chase and Sanborn coffee two cents a pound today and a spokesman said retail prices "undoubtedly" would show "some sort of rise."

At St. Louis an appliance manufacturer reported that he had turned down a $350,000 order from a firm that wanted to store the appliances in a Mexican border town in hopes that a shortage would develop.

An Atlanta housewife bought a refrigerator and told the salesman to keep it in its crate since she already had a new one in the kitchen and wanted to put the second in her basement "as a spare."

Government economic experts at Washington said definitely that there were no shortages on meat, soap, sugar, coffee, automobiles, tires, electrical appliances, clothing or petroleum products except in localized areas where customers have created their own emergencies.

As to Hold Unconventional Convention

By Central Press
CLEVELAND — The most unconventional convention of 1950 — or probably any other year, for that matter — is scheduled for Cleveland on July 28, 29 and 30.

It will bring together between 10,000 and 15,000 members of Alcoholics Anonymous, that unique organization comprised of problem drinkers who through the program of their group have attained sobriety and useful lives.

Cleveland will receive with open arms this invasion of many thousands men and women who a few years ago, would have caused the calling out of all police reserves, and, perhaps, the Ohio national guard had they descended on this city in such large numbers.

And while many a convention is marked by roistering and hard drinking (in fact some seem to be held for no other purpose) there'll be nary a bottle in evidence at this one! No firewater for THESE "visiting friends!"

This month and year mark the 13th anniversary of the founding of AA and that is one of the reasons for the big gathering of the men and women who before that time found nowhere to turn in their unsuccessful effort to give John Barleycorn the thumb out of their lives.

Another, and main purpose of the convention — the AA's prefer to call it a conference — is to straighten out a few odd ideas that have crept into the fellowship in remote spots in the hinterland.

As long as members are staying sober and behaving themselves the loosely - knit association of ex-drunks leaves them alone.

However, some traditions of procedure and principal were established at the beginning of the movement and were so successful in their application that the old hands don't like to see those just being weened from the jug take to any radical nor extreme ideas in their effort to reform.

Coming to Cleveland to outline the original pattern once more for the neophytes and those who are flirting with hard drink by some innovations of their own are the two men who started AA. One is a New York stockbroker, the other an Akron, Ohio, physician. They met 15 years ago and by talking to each other — as only a drunk can talk to another drunk — formulated the basic plan — formulated themselves to quit by helping others to do the same.

They, of course, will be the headliners of the international conference of former two - listed drinkers who have amazed the clergy and skid row alike by their record of sobriety and total abstinence.

There will, however, be other features of the conference unique and unheard of at any other convention.

There will be on the agenda a conference to be addressed by some of the leading business and industrial leaders of the nation.

They will tell of their experiences with their employes, many of them top men themselves, who have been saved from going down the drain by AA.

Large employers of men in the steel, automotive parts, foundry and other industries have been invited and, what's more, have accepted the bid, to come and hear these talks. Through them AA hopes to get a final chance for many a man now on his way out.

There also will be a conference of prison and reformatory wardens and directors. These will hear the warden of one of America's most notorious penitentiaries tell how AA has brought peace and even some measure of content to scores of those in the Big House and how paroles to these men have proven highly safe and satisfactory.

It will be a big time for the old time elbow benders who will gather with their fellows from the 48 states, four provinces of Canada, England, Sweden, Honolulu and a couple of old guzzlers from the Marshall Islands. The ex-lushes will talk about the old days while consuming thousands of gallons of coffee, soft drinks and milk.

Then, they'll top it all off with a big banquet at which they will enjoy the finest of foods — but, without that conventional convention round of cocktails for a starter.

Refused to Answer Congress' Questions, 7 Cited for Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven new contempt citations were voted by the house — American activities committee Tuesday, five of them against national and local leaders of the United Electrical Workers union.

The committee accuses each of the seven of refusing to answer questions about Communist affiliations on constitutional grounds, chiefly possible self-incrimination. Each has been identified to the committee by one or more witnesses on a Communist.

Top men among the U.E. officials accused of contempt of congress are James J. Matles, national organizational secretary, and Julius Emspak, national secretary - treasurer.

Matles has been named in committee testimony as the real boss of the United Electrical Workers. The CIO threw the union out this year on charges that it followed the Communist party line instead of CIO policy.

The committee action, reported as unanimous, must be approved by the house itself before the cases can go to the justice department for prosecution in federal court. Conviction of contempt of congress carries a penalty of up to a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The other three U.E. men accused of contempt Tuesday are Thomas Quinn, an organizer in the Pittsburgh area; Thomas J. Fitzpatrick, chief steward of Local 601, Pittsburgh; and Talmadge Raley, business agent for a Cincinnati local.

David H. Levison, Cincinnati business man, and Frank Hashmall, also of Cincinnati, complete the list of seven.

Communists Lack Air Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — American military experts speculated Tuesday that the Korean Reds may have committed a military sin that will lead to their own undoing when they plunged recklessly south without even minimum air support.

Since the U.S. airforce, ably assisted by hard fighting Australian Mustangs, took the air over Korea, Red airplanes have been little more than a minor nuisance.

Yet the U.S. supply lines both in the battle area and along the railroad and highway routes to Pusan are highly vulnerable.

North Korea, by contrast, has far less to lose from strategic bombing than most countries. She got practically all of her shooting hardware ready made. Her tanks came from Russia, as did some of her artillery. The rest came from stockpiles of surrendered Japanese equipment.

North Korea has few developed industries and no concentrations of manufacturing power that would warrant air assaults on the scale launched against Germany and Japan in the last war.

While American military men are convinced that the lack of Red air power will eventually cost the invaders dearly, allied air power alone is not expected to turn the tide in Korea.

Labor is plentiful and cheap in that country, and controlled absolutely by the Communist regime. The U.S. airforce reports that it is necessary to keep on bombing bridges that have been knocked out by earlier attacks.

Another hampering factor is the generally bad flying weather that prevails over Korea at this time of the year. One or two days of low hanging clouds and the intervening hours of darkness have been sufficient to enable North Korean engineers to make rough but usable repairs to some bridges.

Local Saddle Club Plans Trail Ride, Rodeo

Members of the Iowa City Saddle club will hold a trail ride and rodeo July 30, Mrs. Arnold Rarick, publicity chairman, said Tuesday. The group will gather at 10:30 a.m. to ride from the Vern Upmeyer stables near Ely to the Fred Cochran timber. Members are asked to bring a covered dish, table service and sandwiches for a picnic lunch. The rodeo will follow lunch at 2 p.m., Mrs. Rarick said. The trail ride scheduled for Aug. 6 will be postponed, however, so that members may attend the Clear Creek Saddle club horse show at Lisbon that afternoon. Members of saddle clubs in several nearby communities attended a guest trail ride Sunday at the Milver Hora farm, east of Iowa City. Approximately 250 persons attended the picnic dinner served in a timber area after the 15 mile ride.

Even the ancient Egyptian "Moms" told Junior to "quit gulping your food," according to the three manuals on manners that archaeologists have excavated and deciphered. One dates back to 2850 B.C.

Most of the scribes' advice holds true today. For example, there was this suggestion concerning dinner etiquette.

"When a guest at a meal, take the food which is handed you. While eating keep your eyes on your food, but not too insistently. Speak only when the host addresses you. Laugh when he laughs. He will enjoy it."

Stuffed celery is delicious served with tomato juice as a first course or on shredded lettuce as a salad.

Try fixing it this way. Add hot pepper relish to peanut butter, soften with a little thin cream and mix well. Then stuff the short wedges of crisp celery just before serving.

Prevent those sprinkled clothes from mildewing in hot weather by placing them in the refrigerator until you are ready to iron.

Sprinkle and fold the clean laundry and place it in a plastic bag in the refrigerator for several hours to allow the moisture to become evenly distributed.

"Refrigerated" laundry will be much easier to iron. When the heat of the iron strikes the chilled fabric, it creates a light steam which smooths wrinkles easily and quickly.

Cup cake sundaes are a nice dessert surprise for a warm evening. Put fluted paper muffin cups in your muffin tin and fill each cup with ice cream.

Sprinkle berries or a generous spoonful of chocolate syrup over the ice cream and put the tin into the freezing compartment of your refrigerator.

The cup cakes will be neat and attractive and the paper containers are easily discarded.

When you have an extra egg yolk left over, cook it gently by dropping it into hot water until firm. Then rub it through a coarse strainer and use it as garnish for soups, salads or creamed dishes.

If you have chili powder and paprika on your spice shelf this summer, be sure to store them in a cool, dry place.

Hot storage conditions will dry out the essential volatile oils in these products. Put them in a tightly-covered container in the refrigerator if you do not have a good storage place.

A light sprinkling of dill over the filling of an apple pie adds an unusual and pleasant flavor.

Ever try mixing buttermilk with fresh juice such as pineapple, orange or tomato to serve at breakfast?

Johnson's topic will be "The United States, Russia and the Far East."

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED

A marriage license was issued Tuesday in the Johnson county clerk's office to Kenneth B. Daughters and Rosella M. Parish, both of Waterloo.

A GRASSY RIVER BANK DOTTED WITH CLOVER BLOOMS afforded pleasant thoughts when Betty Kerr, A3, Rushville, Ill., paused for a little relaxation. Betty wears a beige chambray frock with cuffs of waffle-weave pique. The bodice and skirt are pleated and the buttons down the front are brown and white.

Attitudes of German Youth 'Distressing' Says Speaker

Attempts to reshape attitudes of young people in Germany have been disappointing because the youth are influenced by adults who still feel they "had it better under Hitler," according to Erica Ludolph, Frankfurt, Germany. She spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Gamma Delta organization in St. Paul's Lutheran chapel Sunday.

Spiritual faith and tolerance—especially tolerance—are the keystones for work with present-day and future youth of Germany, she said.

Most leaders are working against odds, but pessimism should be no reason for giving up, she felt.

Attitudes of the present generation of young persons are not the most desirable and, in terms of efforts extended, are "distressing."

Workers for a new attitude in Germany have to combat strong influences of the past, Miss Ludolph explained. Persons between the ages of 18 and 30 who experienced military service under Hitler now show marked "indifference" toward democratic ideals. Young children are influenced by their parents and the thinking of the parents cannot be changed, she added. The common expression since the end of the war is "We had it better under Hitler."

Sense of Superiority For generations the German people have been told by their leaders that they are "the best" and that all persons who are not "pure" Nordics are "outsiders," Miss Ludolph pointed out.

To build an attitude of tolerance and faith, work with youth groups has been directed outside the home, she explained. Political parties and churches of all denominations have attempted to re-educate German young persons. Teachers have been carefully screened. Those who were affiliated with Nazi Germany are not employed in the schools.

Teachers now feel that a motto of tolerance and understanding in the schools would help build a German democracy.

Worked with Chaplains Miss Ludolph continued her work with German young people after the war in conjunction with Lutheran chaplains. She has been attending Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind., on a scholarship and hopes to receive her B.A. there in 1952.

Her itinerary for the summer included the convention of the Missouri Synod of Lutheran churches in Milwaukee, a stop at Camp Pioneer, a Lutheran Retreat where she was visiting speaker the first week in July, and speaking engagements every night except Saturdays in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado.

She will return to Germany after graduation, but would like to spend two weeks in France first.

Art Teacher Leaves To Take Illinois Job

Lee Chesney, SUI art instructor, announced Tuesday that he has resigned from the art department to accept an assistant professorship at the University of Illinois in Urbana.

Chesney, 30, who has been at SUI since the spring of 1946, will leave at the end of the summer session.

Chesney plans to open a print workshop and introduce a graphic arts course as part of the expansion program now being carried on by the University of Illinois. Chesney taught as a graduate assistant during the 1946-47 session, and received his M.F.A. here in June, 1948.

He took undergraduate work at the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo., receiving his B.F.A. in 1946.

Chesney has been an instructor in the drawing section of the art department since 1948.

His prints have been displayed in every exhibition the department has sponsored this year.

Water in Riverside Lagoon Drops One Foot

The water level of the landlocked lagoon near Riverside park has been lowered approximately one foot, Supt. R. J. Phillips, SUI division of maintenance and operations said Tuesday. Phillips said the water level, which rose excessively during the recent heavy rains, was making the area around the lagoon swampy. He said enough water was pumped out to drop the level below the retaining wall which surrounds the lagoon.

In past years, evaporation has kept the level of water down, but heavy rains and drainage from the air-conditioning system of the SUI theater have kept it high this year, Phillips said.

Cards, Phillies, Braves Tied For Lead in National League

St. Louis Scores 5 in Fourth Inning

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals turned the tables on the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday night, taking an early lead and a 5-3 decision behind the seven-hit pitching of Al Brazie. The triumph put the Red Birds in a three-way tie with the Boston Braves and the Philadelphia Phillies for the National League's first place.

All the Red Birds runs were in the fourth inning. With one out, Red Schoendienst walked, Stan Musial singled off Erv Palica and Enochs Slaughter doubled, scoring Schoendienst. Bill Howerton was walked intentionally and Tommy Glaviano struck out. Then Eddie Miller singled past Bobby Morgan, scoring Musial and Slaughter. Del Rice also singled, Howerton crossing the plate.

Brazie closed the inning with a single, scoring Miller, but Al was out trying to stretch the hit to two bases.

The Dodgers pushed their first run across in the fifth on Roy Campanella's double, scoring Furillo from second. They threatened in the ninth when, with two out, Jackie Robinson singled and Carl Furillo followed with a four-bagger.

Except for the five hits and five runs in the fourth, Palica had the Cards under control. Joe Landrum relieved him in the eighth, allowing one hit.

It was the second time this season Brazie has gone the full distance. Three doubleplays helped him out of possible trouble.

Yachts Begin Gathering For Great Lakes Race

CHICAGO (AP) — The fastest yachts of all classes on the Great Lakes began gathering Tuesday for the Saturday start of the 43rd annual race to Mackinac Island.

Race committee chairman Harold Ashton predicted that a record entry of 80 craft may start across the starting line which will be set off the grounds of the Chicago fair of 1950, adding two miles to the normal 333-mile haul.

Among those entered were the 1949 champions, L. L. Karas' universal yawl, Cara Mia, and Edgar Tolman cruising yawl, Taltoah. Absent, however, will be John B. Ford's 70-foot Detroit yawl, Roy-on, which crossed the finish line first in the last three races but lost out on corrected times.

Danish Gymnastic Team Here Thursday

Troupe on Third Tour of Country

A team of 30 Danish men and women gymnasts will present a program of precision gymnastics and feats of strength in the Iowa fieldhouse Thursday night. The troupe, now on its third tour of the United States, will give a two-hour performance starting at 8 p.m.

Two members of the 1948 Danish Olympic squad are on the team which is picked on a merit basis after stiff competitive tests. Most of the performers are in their early twenties and represent many different occupations.

Included on the program are rhythmic gymnastics, fundamental gymnastics, balance teams, Danish folk dances, acrobatics, apparatus work and tumbling.

Erik Flensted - Jensen, manager and coach of the team, says the group is a product of an almost forgotten concept of sports — personal enjoyment.

The troupe has appeared at many universities and colleges in this country and performed in Mexico City as a guest of the Mexican government.

Phi Epsilon Kappa, professional physical education fraternity at Iowa, is sponsoring the Iowa City appearance of the troupe. Tickets, which will be available at the fieldhouse, will sell for $1.80.

SUI Cadets Rated, Find 'Their Army' Quite Different

More Pay, Chevrons Show Army Changes

The army with which SUI's advanced infantry ROTC unit is training is a different army than the one which fought World War II.

A different uniform — the brass buttons is a thing of the past — more pay and chevrons everywhere are outward signs of the difference.

The army has juggled the enlisted grades, so that a private is no longer the lowest ranking man in the army and there is no such thing as a buck sergeant.

Army Grades
Army grades now run this way: The old grade of private is now called "recruit." When the recruit completes his basic training he automatically becomes a private. But the private draws the pay of an "old army" private first class.

The new army monthly pay scales are:

Recruit (less than four months service), $75; Recruit (more than four months service), $80; Private, $82.50; Private First Class, $85.35; Corporal, $117.50; Sergeant (formerly staff sergeant), $139.65; Sergeant First Class (formerly technical sergeant), $169.05, and Master Sergeant, $198.45.

All army personnel are now paid twice a month. Under the new setup corporals become PFC's and buck sergeants become corporals though both groups retained their former pay scales.

Title Changes
They changed the title of a staff sergeant to plain "sergeant" and a technical sergeant became a "sergeant first-class."

The only men who retained their former status were the master sergeants.

Someone in the Pentagon decided the infantry was understated and every rifleman is now a corporal. Platoon sergeants are master sergeants and squad leaders are sergeants first-class.

Every infantry company is authorized two first sergeants under the new table of organization but only the so-called "field first sergeant" will have first sergeant's stripes.

The administrative field sergeant is a warrant officer. Enlisted men wear lapel insignia on their collars and it is difficult to tell an officer from an enlisted man when the sun glints on the collar badges.

Officers' "Pinks" Gone
The dark green ties formerly worn exclusively by officers are now common to both commissioned and enlisted grades alike. Officer's "pinks" and "greens" have gone the way of the campaign hat and the saber.

The infantry's cannon companies have given way to 4.2-inch mortars. The anti-tank companies were replaced by heavy tanks.

Armored cars are gone—their place was taken by M-24 light tanks. The M-24 is a new light tank which was developed in the final year of World War II. It mounts a 75 millimeter gun in its turret.

Quartermaster truck units were placed under the Transportation corps and public relations officers became public information officers.

Enlisted men are allowed to sit on court martial boards.

ZEROING IN ON THE TARGET was Cadet Albert C. Haman, A4, Laurens, under the direction of Capt. Roman T. Fiernick, Detroit. Haman learned his lesson well because he led all SUI marksmen at the ROTC summer camp, Camp McCoy, Wis. Haman scored 180 out of a possible 210 to become the only expert rifleman among SUI's 29-man detachment. Fiernick is the holder of both silver and Bronze Star medals for valor. He fought in World War II as a member of the 82nd Airborne division.

Iowans 'Among Best' In ROTC Company A

(Daily Iowan Reporter Barney Seibert and Photographer John Sundberg attended a two-and-one-half day encampment at Camp McCoy, Wis. last week to report the training activities of SUI students who are in camp for six weeks ROTC training, ending July 27.)

By BARNEY SEIBERT
CAMP MCCOY, WIS. — SUI's ROTC cadets at the Camp McCoy, Wis. summer training center are rated each week on 10 characteristics which the army believes will affect their future performance as officers.

Categories included in the rating system are 1. initiative, 2. decisiveness, 3. experience, 4. bearing, 5. relationship with subordinates, 6. dependability, 7. force, 8. resourcefulness, 9. impartiality, and 10. thoughtfulness.

There are five possible grades in each of these categories. They include unsatisfactory, satisfactory, very satisfactory, excellent and superior.

In addition, the platoon commander gives each man a final rating based on the average in each of the categories and adds any remarks which he feels are pertinent.

Final Grade
At the end of the six-week summer camp period each cadet is given a cumulative grade for the entire course.

Several SUI cadets were cited by officers and non-commissioned officers of Company A (the company to which all 29 are assigned) as exceptional cadets who will make excellent officers.

Included in the group, which was rated in the upper third of the company, were cadets Richard W. Cornick, A3, Mt. Pleasant; Daniel T. Flores, 1950 graduate, New York; Joseph R. May, A4, Lineville; John R. Miller, A4, Newburgh, N.Y., and Hughes C. Hopewell Jr., A3, Chicago.

"Iowans Among Best"
Officers in Company A said that "for the most part the men from Iowa are among the best in the company. Only one of them is in danger of not being commissioned upon graduation."

Cadets who rank in the upper one-third of the company for the six-week period will be recommended for "distinguished military student" ratings, which entitle them to apply for regular army commissions upon graduation.

In rifle competition, the SUI contingent ranked sixth among the seven schools represented in the company. Only one man, Cadet Albert C. Haman, A3, Laurens, made expert rifleman. Haman scored 180 out of a possible 210.

The average score for SUI cadets was 168. Two of the SUI men failed to qualify.

Detachment Members
Members of the SUI detachment include (in addition to Cornick, Flores, May, Miller, Hopewell and Haman), Cadets Edward N. Anderson Jr., A4, Iowa City; William C. Ball, A4, Cedar Rapids; Kenneth A. Bergman, A4, Maynard; Wayne R. Evenson, A4, Dubuque; Theodore C. Fritcher, A4, Storm Lake, and Robert G. Griffith, A4, Guthrie Center.

William C. Habermann, A3, Clarksville; Phillip D. Haun, A4, Iowa City; Roger H. Hipsley, A3, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; John B. Holway, 1950 graduate, Rye, N.H.; George J. Knoke, A3, Missouri Valley; James A. Koch, A4, Lowden, and Donovan E. Limesaid, A4, Lake Mills.

Arthur C. McGovern, C4, Cedar Rapids; Walter W. McMahon, C4, Clinton; Merle R. Meeker, A4, Iowa City; William F. Pitlik, A3, Cedar Rapids; James A. Schmitz, A2, Clinton, and John M. Severe, C4, Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Daniel F. Sullivan, A, Oelwein; Arley J. Wassom, L2, Laurens; Duane A. Willey, A3, Baldwin, and Rudy Wright, A3, New York.

Instructor's Painting Exhibited in Holland

Helen Carter, SUI graduate and art instructor is one of 50 American artists whose work is on exhibition this summer at the Stedelijk museum, Amsterdam.

Miss Carter's painting, a still life, is one of the 127 paintings in the collection of representative contemporary artists.

The three-month exhibition is part of the Holland festival of music and art held this summer in The Netherlands.

Miss Carter, who is a native of Los Angeles, Calif., did all her academic work at SUI, receiving her B.A. in 1944; M.A. in 1946 and M.F.A. in 1948. She has served as an art instructor since 1947.

Among the best known works at the Netherlands exhibit are "Brooklyn Bridge" by Georgia O'Keeffe, "The Eternal City" by Peter Blume, "Welcome Home" by Jack Levine, and "Delivery" by Yasua Kuniyoshi.

In order to give the show perspective, several works by earlier American artists are also included, among them works by John S. Copley, Washington Allston, Albert Ryder, Thomas Eakins and George Bellows.

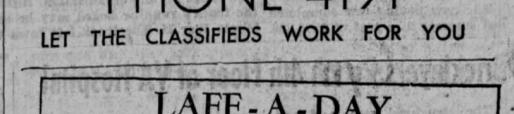

Paintings for the exhibition were loaned by many of the nation's leading museums, galleries and notable private collections.

Among them were the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney museum and the Brooklyn museum in New York; the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston; the Addison gallery in Andover, Mass., and the Columbus gallery of fine arts, Columbus, Ohio.

Navy Needs Nurses, Physicians, Dentists For Immediate Duty

The Navy needs reserve medical and dental officers and reserve nurses for active duty immediately, Rear Admiral Clifford A. Swanson, surgeon general of the navy, said recently.

Reserve physicians and dentists below the rank of captain and nurses below the rank of lieutenant commander may volunteer for active duty by applying to the chief of naval personnel, navy department, Washington, D. C., Swanson said.

Qualified civilian physicians, dentists and nurses may apply for reserve commissions and active duty in the medical, dental and nurse corps of the U.S. naval reserve.

Interns in civilian hospitals may apply for commissions as lieutenants junior grade, and have the rest of their intern training sponsored by the navy.

Applicants should contact the nearest office of naval officer procurement, he said.

Morning Fire Damages Home on City Outskirts

Fire gutted three rooms Tuesday morning in the Richard Fitzpatrick home, one-half mile east of Iowa City on the dirt road extension of Court street.

Fitzpatrick, still sleeping, was aroused about 7 a.m. in his smoke-filled room by Tom O'Leary, route 4, who discovered the fire while driving past the home.

Fitzpatrick said his wife and their baby boy, just born Saturday, were both in Mercy hospital.

The Iowa City fire department was called by telephone, but could not answer the call because of a city ordinance stating that a mayor's written permission must be obtained before the department can leave the city limits.

Bucket Brigade

Fitzpatrick and O'Leary fought the fire with buckets of water carried from a stock tank 100 yards from the house.

Shirley Wharton, 21 N. Johnson street, service assistant at the Iowa City telephone exchange, telephoned the West Branch fire department, and the fire was brought under control half an hour after West Branch firemen arrived.

Firemen said the blaze evidently started from a short circuited floor lamp in the front room at the northwest corner of the house. It then spread to the second floor and the attic.

Furniture Lost

Over $1,000 of new furniture in one room alone was destroyed, Fitzpatrick said. The house and furniture were insured, however.

Fitzpatrick said when he awoke, the floor in his second story room was hot enough to burn bare feet.

Firemen and neighbors carried many of the furnishings to the yard, including chairs and rugs still smoldering.

Glass window panes were discolored and cracked by the intense heat, and paint blisters an inch high were raised on the kitchen door.

Five Active Polio Cases Admitted to U. Hospitals

Five new active polio cases admitted to University hospitals brought the total up to 32, hospital officials said Tuesday.

New patients admitted were Mrs. Clara Samek, 33, Cedar Rapids; Ronald Shoemaker, 12, Farmington; Junior Krause, 4, Cantril; Carol Zelinsky, 13, Washington, and Donna McIntosh, 11, Farmington.

All five were reported in "fair" condition.

Fire Destroys Corner of Home

SEARCHING FOR "LIVE SPOTS" OF FIRE, a group of West Branch firemen and neighbors put the finishing touches to the fire that broke out in the Richard Fitzpatrick home Tuesday about 7 a.m. Believed caused by a short circuit in a lamp, the fire gutted the northwest corner of the home, located one-half mile east of Iowa City. Fitzpatrick was sleeping when a neighbor noticed the fire, rushed inside and awoke him.

After Course at Oak Ridge — Atom Bomb Defense Urged

If the United States is going to be involved in a third world war, its people must immediately begin thinking about an atomic bomb defense, Prof. Carl Menzer, director of radio station WSUI, told members of the Kiwanis club Tuesday at the Jefferson hotel.

Menzer recently attended a civilian training course at the atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn. He was one of 20 representatives from 16 states who studied civilian defense against atomic bombs.

Contrary to what many people believe, Menzer said, radiation from atomic bombs effects only about 20 percent of the people in an atomic blast area.

He said people fear radiation, because they know little about it.

"Civilians must begin to organize groups that will know what to do in the event of an atom bomb attack," Menzer said.

These groups must be able to care for the injured, detect atomic radiation and provide supplies for the homeless, he added.

Menzer commented that he believed Iowa City would not be a target for an atomic bomb attack.

"But," he added, "the chances of an atomic bomb attack on such areas as the Tri-Cities, Burlington, or Des Moines are very great."

This, he said, would have an effect upon Iowa City, because the smaller cities would receive the stricken families from the larger cities.

Paving Tax Cut $50 for D. L. Hill

Special paving assessments levied last year against Mr. and Mrs. Douglas L. Hill, 1931 E. Court street, were ordered reduced by $50 Tuesday.

District Judge Harold D. Evans ordered the assessments, made by the city, lowered from $1,294.66 to $1,244.66.

Ten more paving assessment cases are scheduled to be heard today, the judge said.

The suit filed by Mr. and Mrs. Hill was one of 26 filed Feb. 7 against the city, charging that the assessments exceeded the legal maximum and were out of proportion to the benefits the new paving gave the property owners.

The new paving was completed last summer at a cost of $100,000.

Safe Method of Handling Gasoline to Be Shown

A "Fire Power" show, demonstrating dangerous and safe methods of handling gasoline in service stations and bulk plants, will be presented for the public 8 p.m. next Monday in the auditorium of the art building.

The exhibit, by the Ethyl corporation, will be sponsored here by the SUI department of chemistry and chemical engineering, according to Prof. George Glocker, head of the department.

ISL COMMENCEMENT AMES (AP) — Two hundred and fifty students will be graduated from Iowa State college today at commencement exercises ending the first summer session this year.

East Sanitary Sewer Free of Tree Roots

City workmen Tuesday had found no major obstruction in the 15-inch sanitary sewer serving most of east Iowa City.

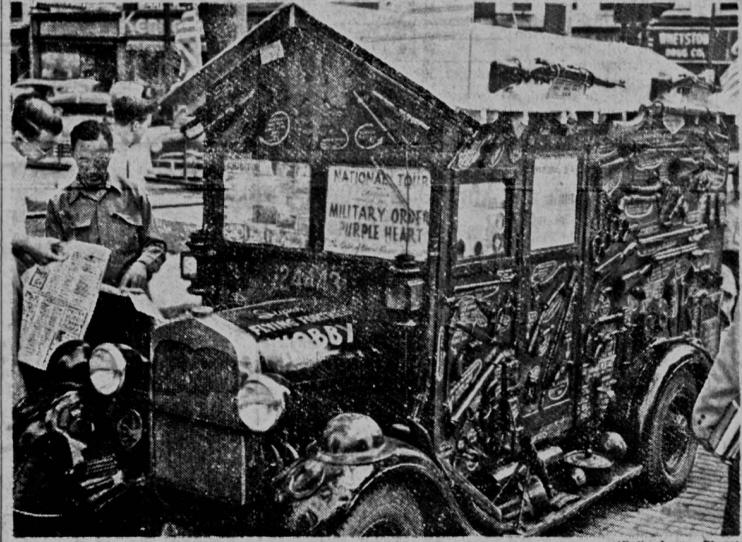

Using a cork-screw type root cutter, the cleaning crew scraped the sewer from Van Buren and Johnson streets to the intersection at Governor and Jefferson streets without striking any heavy roots.

The cutter is rotated and shoved along the sewer line by a cable attached to machinery on the street 12 feet above.

Tree roots sometimes force themselves through joints in the tile sewer pipe, obstructing the water passage.

Water twice in the last three weeks has backed-up in the sewers and flooded basements during rainstorms. Sewers have been under study by city engineer Fred Gartzke since Monday.

Weapons Displayed by Order of Purple Heart

THERE WERE NEARLY ENOUGH WEAPONS to outfit a regiment on this truck owned by the Military Order of the Purple Heart, a veteran's organization composed of men wounded in combat. Samuel Wolf (holding the notebook), Los Angeles, manager of the exhibit, explains the history of some of the weapons to Don Guthrie, A4, Iowa City. The exhibit is one of seven on national tour to raise service funds for the organization. Rifles, pistols and sabers from all wars in U.S. history were included. On the truck's running board may be seen a German 50 millimeter mortar and a Japanese land mine from World War II. The truck left Iowa City Tuesday afternoon.

Bricklayers Reach 4th Floor of VA Hospital

The structural steel and concrete skeleton of the Veteran's hospital is rapidly being covered as bricklayers Tuesday continued work on the fourth floor.

Ralph Brooks, resident engineer for the army corps of engineers, said nine floors of framework for the 13-floor building have been completed and concrete pouring forms are being set up for the 10th.

In the basement, blowers for carrying away soil are being installed and coal hoppers erected above the three furnaces.

On the first, second and third floors, steam and plumbing pipes are being roughed in and ventilation ducts hung from the ceilings and attached to the walls.

In the basement and on the first and second floors, electrical control boxes are being put up, although no wire has been strung, Brooks said.

Windows have been set on the first and second floors, and are now being put in on the third floor, he said.

In the apartment building next to the main hospital building, first floor brickwork has been completed and concrete beams are being poured along the top of outside walls in preparation for pouring the concrete second floor.

Life With Mother — Sequel Rivals Earlier Play

By JACK LARSEN

For eight years "Life With Mother" played on Broadway, while enough companies to make a company of companies profitably toured the nation.

It is little wonder, then, that playwrights Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse were moved to seek to duplicate that success.

The result was, of course, "Life With Mother," the play being presented by the University theater beginning Tuesday night.

The basis of plot for this sequel is equally tenuous: just substitute Mother's attempting to get Father baptized with Moher's attempting to get an engagement ring.

Things are much as they were in the earlier play, except that the Day family is naturally a little older.

"Life With Mother," too, has the same sure-fire appeal. From beginning to end, it is just about as funny as was "Life With Father."

But judging from the production which opened Tuesday at the University theater, it was not an equally amusing play.

As the performance progressed, however, the cast seemed to gain confidence, suggesting that there are no weaknesses which cannot be remedied now that first-night jitters are over.

Much of the responsibility rests with Edwin Clark's staging, which rushes the spoken parts of the play without seeming to lend pace to the action.

This means, too, that the audience was frequently deprived of its own opportunities to react. There are many laughs in "Life With Mother." Tuesday's performance missed as many as it captured.

In his gentler moments, Father is ably rendered by Earl Hoover. Physically he is an ideal Father Day, but it just doesn't do for Father to seem uncomfortable saying "Damn!"

Jaqueline Reese's Mother is sweet and winning, although she seems amused at some of her own dialogue.

The supporting cast comes off a good deal better. There are laugh-provoking characterizations by James Lloyd, Ruth Hansen, and George Williams. The remainder of the cast, too, is more than adequate.

There are appropriate settings designed by Joseph Johnston and Arnold S. Gillette and skilled lighting by Walter S. Dewey.

The costumes of Helen Forrest Lauter are also outstanding. "Life With Mother" plays at the University theater through Monday night, with no performance on Sunday.
