Reds Shell New Defense Line As Biggest Battle Of War Looms

25th Division, Shifted South, Repulses Attack

(War Map on Page 5) TOKYO (FRIDAY) (AP) — A heavy Red attack was repulsed early today by the U.S. 25th division, hurriedly shifted from the north to the crucial southern front 35 miles west of the vital port of Pusan.

Fast-moving North Korean forces elsewhere began shelling new five-front positions along a shortened, 125-mile front in the striking beachhead of southeast Korea.

Tank-equipped U.S. marine and army reinforcements also were racing up to bulwark this line, where a decisive battle may be building up.

The storm of possibly the biggest battle of the Korean war seemed about to break.

Behind the wide Nakdong river, now the new U.S. and South Korean defense line, American armor and men were building up in great quantity, field dispatches said.

Reconnaissance showed that the Communists were building up considerable strength in the Taegion area northwest of the river positions around Taegu.

Enemy patrols were testing out the Nakdong river line.

U.S. marine carrier-based planes roared into action today for the first time, blasting Red targets behind the southern front, a navy announcement reported.

House Tentatively Okays Automatic Price Controls

WASHINGTON (UP)—The house tentatively approved a sweeping economic mobilization bill Thursday under which wage-price ceilings would go into effect automatically if the living costs rise five percent above pre-Korean war levels.

Ignoring strenuous objections from President Truman, the house voted 159 to 128 for the measure, which is subject to a final roll call vote today when the action could be reversed.

It would provide the standby rationing powers and controls over credit and industrial materials which Mr. Truman sought, but its formula for automatic wage-price ceilings was a far cry from the proposal originally drafted by the administration.

Mr. Truman denounced that formula at his news conference — barely two hours before approval of the bill — as an invitation to inflation.

He renewed his appeal for standby controls on a flexible basis that would leave him free to apply ceilings when and where he sees fit.

Truman Supports Acheson, Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman put Korean policy critics emphatically on notice Thursday that as long as he is president, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson will stay in the cabinet.

His stern comment came in reply to Rep. James Priest (D-Tenn.), house Democratic whip, who said Tuesday that Acheson and Johnson should resign.

Mr. Truman, who weeks ago had tartly rejected Republican demands for Acheson's scalp, said he was surprised that the house whip of his own party had made such a statement.

The President also said he had no intention of withdrawing the nomination of Carrol Switzer, nominated months ago for federal judgeship in Iowa. Sen. Guy Gillette (D-Iowa) is fighting Switzer.

Senate Cuts $525-Million From Appropriation Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate voted Thursday to hack about $525-million off this year's general government appropriation bill but it exempted Marshall plan funds as well as the military budget from the cut.

The economy move, with broad backing from members of both parties, was approved 55 to 31. Large as the cut is, it represents only about 1-2 percent of the huge bill, still totaling more than $34-billion.

Widow of Goetsch Files $35,000 Suit Against Truck Owners

The widow of the late Dean Walter R. Goetsch Thursday filed a $35,000 suit against the owners of the truck involved in the auto-truck accident in which Goetsch was killed last May.

The semi-trailer type truck was owned by the local John Nash grocery company and driven by Gerald E. Parks, 41, 628 E. Market street.

Mrs. Goetsch, executrix for the Goetsch estate, charged Parks failed to yield one-half of the highway and operated the truck in such a manner that the trailer swung across the highway in the path of Goetsch's car.

A light rain was falling at the time of the fatal accident at Loghry's corner on highway 6 just south of Coralville.

Parks was badly shaken up in the crash. Company officials said he had driven eight years for the company and it was his first serious accident.

Russia Suffers Defeat In UN

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — In a bitter session scarred by charges of blackmail and slander, the security council rejected Thursday night a Russian attempt to have the council consider admission of Red China ahead of the Korean war.

Instead, the council approved a U.S. motion to keep on discussing North Korean aggression and to try for a way to confine the war to Korea alone.

The vote to substitute the U.S. proposal for the Russian item was eight to one. The Soviet Union voted alone and this did not count as a veto since agenda votes are considered as procedural and not of major importance. The United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China, Norway, Cuba, Ecuador and Egypt voted for it. India and Yugoslavia abstained.

The U.S. proposal was to consider immediately "aggression upon the republic of Korea." The Russians sought to make the item read "peaceful settlement of the Korean question." They were voted down on this also. The council likewise refused even to put the Chinese question on its agenda.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob Malik, who is president of the council during August, called all the votes "illegal" because they were taken without the presence of Red China, but he showed no signs of walking out after the series of diplomatic defeats. He called another council meeting for today.

U.S. Pledges Aid To Chiang's China

TAIPEI, FORMOSA (AP) — The U.S. state department, in a restricted memorandum, has pledged support to the Nationalist government and to oppose a UN-sponsored plebiscite in Communist China, it was learned Thursday.

The memorandum to foreign service personnel repudiates another secret note of last Dec. 23 in which the state department said that Formosa had been written off as lost. The new one makes two points crystal clear:

1. The United States recognizes the Nationalist government as the government of China.

2. The United States will oppose with all its power any attempts to set up machinery for a UN-supervised plebiscite in Red China.

Two More Students Ordered to Report For Active Duty

Two more SUI reservists have been ordered to active duty, Registrar Ted McCarrel said Thursday.

Max Leonard Harder, A. Avoca, has been ordered to report to Lowry airforce base, Denver, Colo., by Aug. 8.

The other SUI student ordered to report was Robert Leroy Nefzger, G. Spencer.

Harder, a physical education student, is married and has two children, Dennis, 5, and Donald, 2.

During World War II, Harder was a B-17 pilot and served six months in the European theater. He was a prisoner of war and was reported missing in action during that time.

Harder was a first lieutenant in the inactive reserve when ordered to report.

Nefzger, a staff sergeant in the airforce reserve, has been ordered to report to Warren airforce base in Wyoming by Aug. 10.

Nefzger is married and has one child. During World War II he served as central fire control operator on a B-29.

Truman Signs Bill To Up Armed Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman signed legislation Thursday lifting the 2,005,000 manpower ceiling on the armed forces and clearing the way for gradual mobilization of an estimated 800,000 more fighting men.

The new law, rushed to final approval in congress earlier this week, authorizes the President to build up the services to fight the Korean war and cope with possible Communist attacks elsewhere. His authority is limited to four years.

Mrs. Stutzman was taken to Mercy hospital in an ambulance. The car left the road when her husband lost control after he either fainted or fell asleep, police said.

Korean War May Be Only Beginning: Pauley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edwin Pauley, one of the few Americans to visit North Korea after the Communists took over, said Thursday the United States should have gone to war with Russia as far back as 1946 if necessary to compel the Soviets to abide by agreements.

He told the senate armed services committee that communism is "a malignancy that could sweep the world, destroying democracy and the hopes of free people everywhere."

Pauley's warning: "As bloody as the Korean war is, it may be only the beginning." Pauley headed a U.S. commission on reparations, set up to study the extent of damages done by the war. It was this job that got him into North Korea in 1946. Even then, Pauley said, the Russians showed they were there for keeps.

Group to Seek Aid in Observing 'Hiroshima'

"Iowa City for Peace" voted Thursday to seek support from other individuals and groups in commemorating the anniversary of Hiroshima day Sunday.

Nearly 30 persons attended the meeting held in the Community building.

The group appointed a committee, headed by Mrs. Stanley Ferber, Brooklyn, N.Y., to seek financial assistance in the campaign. The committee was directed to place newspaper advertisements calling attention to the fifth anniversary of the atomic bomb explosion in the Japanese city.

Members of the group heard a report from a committee which filed a copy of the "Iowa City for Peace" petition in the city clerk's office. The committee chairman said no time limitation was placed on circulation of the petition.

Norman Friedman, G. St. Louis, chairman of the group, said he would investigate the possibilities of setting up a booth in Iowa City to circulate the petitions.

Johnson Sets Up Job Standards for Military Deferment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense department set up strict occupational deferment standards for reservists and national guardsmen Thursday and gave the army, navy and airforce final say over whether they shall be called to active duty.

The standards will be used to determine whether men working in 48 critical occupations and 72 essential defense industries shall be called. But the job lists, prepared by the commerce and labor departments, are only a "guide" for the armed services and do not provide for automatic deferment.

Deferments will run for six months and can be renewed, Defense Secretary Louis Johnson said, but added even the six months deferments "may be terminated at any time, due to overriding military considerations."

Men in school would be permitted to finish the term in which they are registered. Reservists engaged in a professional graduate course in technical research vital to the defense department would be granted a deferment based on the individual merits of the case.

SUI Coeds Intimidated —

Several of our SUI coeds have been intimidated recently by a person we believe to be a crack-pot.

At least three of the girls whose pictures have appeared in The Daily Iowan's fashion panels have been called by a person claiming to be a "minister," and the interesting point is that the denomination to which the "minister" says he belongs has no such officer.

In two cases reported to us, the "minister" is said to have called the girls and reprimanded them severely for granting the use of their pictures.

Instead of calling once and getting his complaint off his chest, he called one of these girls three times in two days. Needless to say, the girl was pretty shaken by his conduct.

In another case, he is reported to have threatened a girl to tears by telling her he was going to "put a stop to it" himself.

Twice he has been told to call us or to come see us to register his complaints and he is said to have agreed to do so. However, he hasn't shown up yet and he's had two weeks to make the visit.

One of the most "fishy" remarks was reported as: "I take my 'collar' off sometimes and go around to these beer halls. I know what's going on here and I'm going to wage a little one-man campaign against it."

Okay, Mr. "Minister." We don't mind your waging your campaign against practices which your convictions tell you are wrong.

But, let's leave the girls alone. If you disapprove of our journalistic practices, come see us. Don't bother innocent students who are kind enough to help us.

Frankly, we're not sure your motives are as righteous as you pretend. And if they are, please come see us.

Congress' Rheumatic Drive —

Congress has shown by its fast action during the Korean crisis that it can shift into high gear when necessary. But, in congress—as in old automobiles—occasionally the clutch slips. We offer in evidence the following from the Congressional Record of Wednesday, July 19:

MR. WHERRY. Mr. President, a parliamentary inquiry.

THE VICE PRESIDENT. The Senator will state it.

MR. WHERRY. I thought it was against the rules of the senate to take a picture of the senate while it was in session.

THE VICE PRESIDENT. It is against the rules.

MR. WHERRY. Then I ask the distinguished president of the senate to see to it that the rule is enforced, for certainly there was a flash here just a moment ago.

THE VICE PRESIDENT. The chair observed the flash, but he is advised that it was outside the senate chamber.

MR. WHERRY. There was certainly a flash inside the senate chamber, but I do not know where the camera is.

THE VICE PRESIDENT. The chair would suggest that if any photographer took a picture of the senate chamber when it is in session, the sergeant at arms see to it that it is not developed.

MR. WHERRY. I thank the chair.

THE VICE PRESIDENT. The chair is advised that what happened was that some photographer took a picture of the gentleman conveying the message of the President as he came into the senate chamber.

MR. WHERRY. I was of the view that the flash was inside the senate chamber, and I believed it was in violation of the rules if that had happened; but if it was outside the senate chamber, it is perfectly agreeable to me. It was a pretty strong flash, to get inside the senate chamber.

THE VICE PRESIDENT. The chair agrees that it was a strong flash.

MacArthur Starts New Career at Seventy

At an age when most men have retired, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, now 70, has launched a new career. He has become the first United Nations commander in world history, and he has been given the job of pushing the North Koreans back beyond the 38th parallel.

For the UN general, the old Biblical saying, "the days of our years are three score and ten," takes on a new meaning—a longer, harder working day.

When he was just United States "Boss Man" in Tokyo, a pest he still holds, Gen. MacArthur worked seven days a week, averaging at least five hours a day in his office. Now, at least three score and ten, and with a new job and war to complete, he has extended his work day, remaining at his desk until at least 8:30 p.m., and being on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The general's personal headquarters is a modestly appointed room in the former Da Ichi Insurance building, located across a moat from the Japanese emperor's palace. On the same floor is located the "War Room" where efforts and plans to defeat the North Koreans are being perfected. MacArthur has no telephone in his private office. His two top assistants, Col. Lawrence Bunker, his aide, and Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond, his chief of staff, are in adjoining offices and they keep him in touch with developments.

There is a big plain desk which serves as the general's planning board. Around this desk, key staff officers meet daily to post him on the latest trends, and across the desk go innumerable reports which the general analyzes and disposes of as fast as they are brought in. Decisions are made quickly and with immediate execution.

For example, there was the decision to fly to Korea to witness first hand the war in the "Land of the Hermits." Within 12 hours after the decision was made, MacArthur was airborne, telling his associates, "The only way to judge a war is to see the troops in action."

Diplomatic Relations Between U.S., Vatican May be Established

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman disclosed Thursday that he is considering reestablishing formal diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

His statement, something of a diplomatic bombshell, was made in response to a reporter's question at the President's weekly news conference.

Mr. Truman said that when Myron C. Taylor resigned as his personal representative to Pope Pius XII last winter, that ended the job as far as a personal representative was concerned. He had never considered the appointment of a successor to Taylor, the President said.

But he added that he is studying the possibility of naming a regular diplomatic minister to the Vatican — headquarters of the Roman Catholic church.

This country has had no regular diplomatic relations with the Vatican since a short period in the last century.

The late President Roosevelt named Taylor as his personal representative to Rome in December, 1939, shortly after World War II broke out in Europe.

Taylor stayed at the Vatican during the entire war. Afterwards he was kept on as personal representative by Mr. Truman.

Reports from Rome shortly after Taylor stepped out said that the Vatican would be glad to have full diplomatic relations with this country but did not want another personal presidential envoy.

The Vatican was said to desire closer connections with the United States — not only because of the big Catholic population here but also because of world political conditions.

The President did not say such a mission will be established. Nor did he say how or when the final decision will be made. He gave no hint as to his reason for revealing at this time that such a step is being contemplated. But it was believed the Korean war and growing world-wide conflict with communism was a factor. Any such move is sure to stir up a violent controversy in this country. Protestant groups have vigorously opposed even appointment of a successor to Taylor, claiming any public relationship between this country and the Pope is a violation of the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

To put it in plain words, Strong has said that the Iowa legislature is keeping a lot of abnormal, artificial and neurotic professors in luxury during their old age at SUI.

Speaking as a student I would say this to Mr. Strong, I doubt that he can put his Drake graduates up against SUI's graduates, compare abilities and capabilities, and come out on top.

TAINT' SO: A Drake university graduate used some very large words to take a nasty crack at SUI this month in Holiday magazine.

In an article entitled, "Drake University," Phil Strong uses what he considers accurate descriptive word pictures of Drake, Iowa State and SUI.

He calls Drake the "Streetcar campus," and refers to Iowa State simply as the "Farmers." But about SUI he makes a statement that I feel he would have a tough time proving.

Senate Group Kills Tax Cuts on Mining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate finance committee Thursday voted to kill proposed tax concessions for the mining and related industries that would have cost the government $40-million a year in revenue.

The committee is working on a bill to carry out President Truman's request for tax increases of $5-billion to finance the rearmament program. Other tax boosts will be sought later.

The house, meantime, rejected an amendment to its economic controls bill which would have held up action on wage controls until an excess profits tax is approved.

Reps. Daniel J. Flood (D - Pa) and Helen Gahagan Douglas (R-Calif) said that if wages are going to be controlled profits should be, too.

Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas (Ill) said the administration did not ask for an excess profits tax now because it wants the emergency program approved quickly.

At least, according to records in the Cedar Rapids city clerk's office, "Benny" did not renew his taxi operator's permit when it expired July 31. His mother says he's now on vacation in the east and doesn't know what he'll be doing when he gets back.

IT COULD HAPPEN: A fashion designer visiting Alice Younman, style commentator on the NBC - TV News caravan, revealed that he had designed a dress that's strapless, backless and topless.

IT SEEMS TO ME THAT: The Communists are intent on transforming the dove of peace into a mocking bird!

'Peace' Coincidences . . .

TO THE EDITOR:

"We want peace," they shout. "And how can we have peace? Why simply sign our petition to ban atomic weapons. Just by mere coincidence our petition is exactly like the one circulated by the Communist - sponsored World Peace congress. Of course we don't know anything about that. The idea for the peace petition came to us like a bolt from the blue — the same week it was being praised by the Daily Worker. What a coincidence — eh, comrade?"

What's more our peace petition is wonderfully effective. More than half the people in North Korea signed it — before they climbed into their Russian-made tanks to invade South Korea. Great results, right, comrade? Everyone's signing it in Russia too — they're combining the signing with "Get the United States out of Korea" rallies.

We think it's real cozy to be squashed by a tank or fried by a flame-thrower — but the atom bomb is messy. Oh, by the way, comrade, Russia has lots of tanks and flame - throwers but hardly any atom bombs. Of course that hasn't influenced us.

We support the United Nations too. But we don't agree with the position taken by the UN to outlaw the atom bomb with effective international controls. After all, Russia didn't agree with international controls — she wants to outlaw the bomb by petition, and Russia must be right.

We support the United Nations but we haven't taken any stand on Korea. Fifty-six of the 59 United Nations said the North Koreans were aggressors, but we (Miss Schwenkmeyer excepted) haven't taken any stand. Don't get us wrong though — we support the United Nations. But we do think if Mr. Malik had been there he would have saved the UN from making such a terrible mistake by using the veto.

We have the nicest speakers too. Take Miss Schwenkmeyer for example. She told us Russia had nothing to do with the war in Korea. She helped us get the "party line" straight too. It's "civil war" now, she said — started by the American "capitalists." Joe says that first story about the South Koreans attacking with their popguns didn't sell so well. But we've got it straight now. "It's civil war and the United States is the aggressor." Miss Schwenkmeyer wants us to get the truth too — straight from Pravda, comrade.

"Don't read the American newspapers or listen to the radio," she said — "they're all liars."

We know the way to get peace. Pull out of Korea and the war will stop. Then abandon Japan, Hawaii and California. Miss Schwenkmeyer was certainly right — it's easy to have peace — just appease Russia. Now no one thinks for a minute that Russia doesn't want peace. Why everything she's done is peaceful. Arm the North Koreans, blockade Berlin, butcher democracy in Czechoslovakia; occupy Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania; set up puppet governments in Poland, East Germany, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary and Albania; fight European reconstruction and sabotage the UN with endless vetoes and walk-outs. What could be more peaceful, comrade? Why just to show how peaceful she really is Russia has instructed her blind idolaters to "rally for peace" and circulate "peace petitions."

When the "suggestion" comes from Moscow — we always seem to do the same thing in Iowa City — no connection, of course.

Want to sign up for peace, comrade?

All in a Day's Work —

Diver Plans Underwater Hike

NORFOLK, VA. (AP) — A 38-year-old deep-sea diver with 16 years experience said Thursday all he needed was plenty of sleep and he would be ready for a 20-hour, 14-mile hike underwater across Hampton Roads tonight.

Roy H. "Russ" Butler said he thought his chances of making it across were "pretty good," but he expected to lose between 10 and 15 of his 198 pounds on the trip.

"I figure it's just another day's work," Butler said. "My life is in the hands of my tender. My only fear is that I'll get the bends while surfacing."

He wasn't kidding about the bends, a dreaded condition that strikes divers who surface too rapidly from deep water. "It could mean paralysis or possible death," Butler soberly remarked.

The ambitious diver planned to enter the water at 11 p.m. today at Old Point Comfort, Va., and spend the next 20 hours treading a course across the bottom of the famous port to the beach at Ocean View, Va., on the Norfolk side.

Aiming at Two Records
"I figure I'll have to walk about 14 miles, including detours," Butler predicted.

A specially rigged diving tender will supply air for Butler's hose from two gasoline-powered compressors. Butler will wear a regular rubberoid deep-sea type diving suit, complete with brass helmet, copper breast plate, a lead belt and weighted shoes.

If he's successful, the veteran diver said he'll claim two world records, one for distance traveled under water and the other for length of time submerged.

Butler's attempt will be made at one of the most hazardous points of Hampton Roads. The tides are tricky, and there are strong currents and deep drops in the floor. The main ship channel dips to a depth of 90 feet and there are numerous smaller channels.

Silt Dangerous
The biggest danger of the crossing are the banks and beds of soft, sticky silt of the same cement - like quality that caught the battleship Missouri last January and held her in a suction-cup grip.

Butler said he planned to stay clear of the silt as much as possible. But thousands of tons of the gummy goo have been deposited on the bottom by the great rivers that empty into Hampton Roads.

The tender will plumb the depths with a shot line as Butler advances. He doesn't expect to encounter any trouble from sunken wrecks but he said he will mark the location of any he stumbles across.

He will come near the scene of some historical naval battles of the Civil war where the ironclad Merrimack sent some wooden-hulled frigates to the bottom.

Butler will be cheered on by his wife and nine-year-old twin daughters. Another girl, 38 months old, and a five-month-old boy are too small to understand what their daddy is going to do.

"I'll save them some clippings," Butler smiles.

Clerks have to tolerate wild inventions of many kinds from manufacturers. Even those in the bedding department haven't escaped.

Today pillows are designed to fit every individual preference and whim. Some look like dumbbells and others resemble covered typewriters.

Another type has a hole in the center, like a life preserver, for cat naps while sitting up. Perhaps they'll design a pocket size model for the commuter.

Oldest of all is the "pillow" made of padded wood crossbars, designed to support the heads of women who want to keep their coiffures unmarred. These are probably close relatives of the wooden blocks Japanese women use for the same purpose.

A half-teaspoon size measuring spoon works beautifully to shape attractive cantaloupe, watermelon or avocado balls for fruit cups and salads.

Next time you have pastry dough left over, cut it into two-inch squares, sprinkle them with grated cheese and draw up the corners turnover-style.

A new blind-stitch attachment for sewing machines makes it possible to put in hems that will look like hand stitching.

Try pan frying apple or peach slices to serve with French toast and maple syrup for Sunday breakfast this week.

Nearly everyone has a white table cloth or two that are discolored from age, or long hours of drying indoors.

Here is an idea to give them a new-lease-on-life. Dip them in a light green dye. Linen cloths will take tint especially well.

Your plainest china or pottery will be very effective against this pastel background. For special occasions, arrange a centerpiece of green vines and daisies. Another nice touch is a set of dark green tumblers.

New Equipment Installed in Foods Lab

New equipment in the SUI home economics food laboratory has replaced the apparatus installed 23 years ago. Prof. Sybil Woodruff, head of the home economics department, said Thursday.

High partitions separating the working cubicles have been removed, making the new laboratory open to visibility, she said.

Among the new installations are a hot water sprayer in the sinks for rinsing dishes, electric dishwashers, garbage disposals and a towel-drying unit equipped with heater and fan.

New Storage Unit
The garbage disposal provides a means for grinding waste materials to bits so that they drain off easily.

A storage unit is another new feature. Chairs and card tables used for buffet lunches can be folded and placed in it.

Many of the cabinets have been made to order. Fluorescent lighting fixtures placed below them throw a soft light on working surfaces.

The laboratory will be used to teach kitchen planning in the course in home management. The students serve simple meals in order to learn the correct procedure, Prof. Woodruff said.

Decorated Walls
Walls and surfaces of the work areas are decorated in blended soft tones of ivory, yellow, blue and gray.

REFRESHMENTS WERE SERVED TO SUI OFFICIALS and their wives during a tour of the new home economics foods laboratory in Macbride hall Thursday morning. Shown here are Mrs. D. H. Bell, Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Harvey H. Davis, wife of Provost Davis; Mrs. Dewey B. Stuit, wife of Dean Stuit and Dean Allin Dakin. Prof. Margaret Jane Brennan of the home economics department is presiding.

by SUI officials and their wives Thursday morning, rolls and coffee were served by Prof. Margaret Jane Brennan of the home economics department.

Floor plans for the laboratory were made before last Christmas, Prof. Woodruff said. The equipment was installed this summer.

Boy Struck by Auto

Four-year-old Richard Groves, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Groves, 417 Stadium park, suffered superficial cuts about his head when he was struck by a car in Stadium park about 10 a.m. Thursday.

The driver of the car was Merle E. Goodt, 17, route 5. He said he was driving five miles an hour when the boy darted from behind a parked car.

Tigers Take Third Straight From Yankees, 5-2

Houtteman Pitches Detroit to Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Young Art Houtteman, who missed his regular pitching turn two days ago because of a strained muscle in his side, came up with a six-hitter Thursday to beat the New York Yankees, 5-2, and give the Detroit Tigers a sweep of the three-game series.

The win boosted Detroit's American league lead to two and a half games over the idle Cleveland Indians and dropped the Yankees into third place, a half game behind Cleveland.

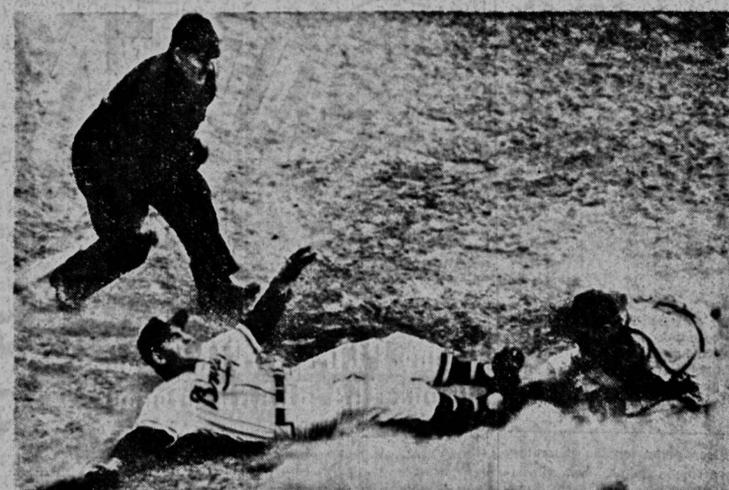

Detroit tucked the game away with a four-run first inning which ended Starter Ed Lopat's hopes of notching his 14th win as against five losses. He got only one batter out while giving up four runs on three hits, a walk and his own fielding error.

Relievers Fred Sanford and Joe Page pitched three hit ball the rest of the way but Houtteman had the lead which sent him on his way to win No. 13 and his fourth victory over the Yankees this year.

The Yankees' only scoring came in the fourth inning when John Bauer walked and scored on Johnny Mize's 12th homer to make it a 4-2 game.

New York 000 200 000-2 6 1
Detroit 100 000 018-5 3 0
Lopat, Sanford (1), Page (7) and Berra; Houtteman (13-5) and Swift, LP—Lopat (15-6). Home runs—Mize (12th).

Braves Dump St. Louis, 5-1

BOSTON'S SID GORDON WAS OUT AT HOME PLATE THURSDAY when he attempted to score from third base on a ground ball against the St. Louis Cardinals. Card Catcher Del Rice made the put out. The Braves whipped the slumping Cardinals, 5-1, to move into undisputed second place in the National league standings. The defeat shoved St. Louis four and a half games behind the idle league leading Philadelphia Phillies. Boston is now three games out of first and the Brooklyn Dodgers are three and a half.

Win Puts Boston In Second Place

BOSTON (AP) — Right hander Vern Bickford's second straight four-hit pitching performance, a 5-1 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals, Thursday, boosted the Boston Braves over the rained out Brooklyn Dodgers into the National league's second berth.

Bickford, equally effective against the Cincinnati Reds here Sunday, was supported by a seven hit attack that included homers by Bob Elliott, Sam Jethroe and Walker Cooper. Those terrific blows, all over the left field wall, accounted for all but one of the runs given up by lefty Alpha Brazle.

The first hit off Bickford was Red Schoendienst's sixth homer with one out in the fourth inning. But Elliott evened the count in the lower half of that frame by bashing his 17th four-bagger.

The Braves filled the bases on two singles and a base on balls in the fifth and Roy Hartsfield registered the second Boston run when Sid Gordon grounded to third baseman Tommy Glaviano.

Hartsfield was aboard in the sixth when Jethroe homered, his 11th of the season. Cooper equalled that four base total in the seventh inning.

St. Louis 000 100 000-1 4 0
Boston 000 112 108-5 7 0
Brazle, White (8) and Rice, Bucha (8); Bickford (13-7) and Cooper, LP—Brazle (8-5). Home runs—Schoendienst (6th), Elliott (12th), Jethroe (11th), Cooper (11th).

Babe Zaharias Shoots Record Breaking Golf In All-American Meet

CHICAGO (AP) — While a huge men's field maneuvered in qualifying play, belting Babe Zaharias lashed a record-breaking 70 in the opening 18-hole round of the all-American Women's Open golf tourney Thursday.

Mrs. Zaharias' scintillating 36-34 round on Tam O'Shanter's women's par 38-38-76 course, was two strokes under men's par in the all-American 72-hole merry-go-round.

Breaks Own Record Babe, who collected $500 for breaking her own course record of 71 set in the 1948 all-American, took women's par apart with screaming wood shots and fine approaches.

She had seven birdies and was over women's par on only one hole, the 380-yard No. 1 which she three-putted.

Three finished six strokes ahead of professional Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, and the day's top amateur, Beverly Hanson of Pasadena, Calif., who tied for second at even feminine par 76.

Other sub-80 shooters in the contingent of 43 gal entries, 28 of whom will continue into today's second round, were professional Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., 1949 all-American champion, with 77; Shirley Spork, Detroit pro, and Mrs. Lyle Bowman, Portland, Ore., amateur, tied at 78; and veteran Pro Patty Berg of Minneapolis with 79.

Clark Leads Men With three-quarters of the 192-player men's qualifying field, home, Jimmy Clark, Huntington Beach, Calif., set the pace with a sizzling 66, six under par. Clark, an ex-marine who made three beachhead landings in the south Pacific, toured the first nine in two-under-par and whipped back in four-under-32.

He was a stroke ahead of Pete Cooper, Ponte Vedra, Fla., who had a 67.

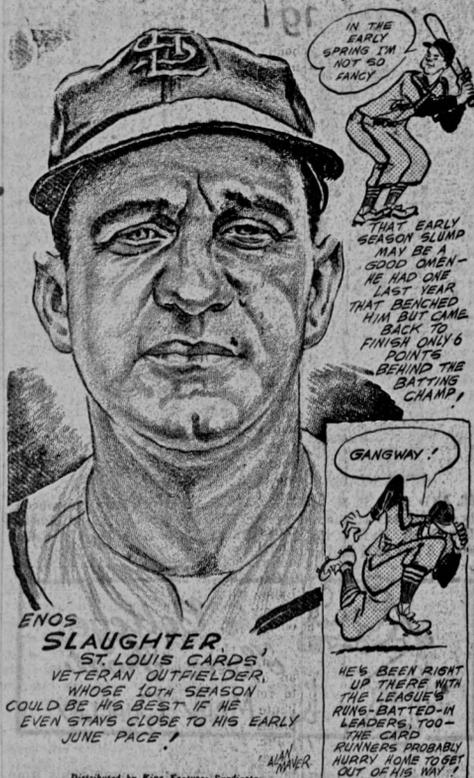

Gumpert Pitches Chisox over A's CHICAGO (AP) — Pitcher Randy Gumpert needed only one run to put the Chicago White Sox in the win column Thursday with a 1-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics as the veteran right hander gained his fifth decision with a four-hit performance.

Eddie Robinson's triple, a seventh inning fly which Right Fielder Elmer Valo overran, and Hank Majeski's single accounted for the only run in giving Gumpert the nod in a tight pitching duel against Hank Wyse.

Wyse, in suffering his tenth loss, allowed only five hits as the Chicagoans used their fifth shut-out triumph of the season to gain a 2-1 series edge.

Philadelphia 000 000 000-0 0 0
Chicago 000 000 000-1 0 1
Wyse, Hooper (8) and Tipton; Gumpert (5-5) and Masi, LP—Wyse (5-10).

Efforts to Sign — Girl in Organized Baseball

CHICAGO (UP) — Officials of the Fort Lauderdale club and the Florida International baseball league have failed in an attempt to sign a woman player, Dorothy Kamenshek, for organized baseball, it was learned Thursday.

Their efforts were turned down by officials of the All American girls' baseball league. Miss Kamenshek, 26, has a signed contract with the girls league and plays first base for the Rockford, Ill. Peaches.

The plan to introduce Miss Kamenshek into organized ball began shortly after Wally Pipp, a former great with the New York Yankees, described her in May as the "fanciest fielding first baseman I've ever seen, man or woman."

Steve Calder, president of the Florida International league, and James Hunt, an official of the Fort Lauderdale team, contacted Miss Kamenshek to find out how they could buy her contract.

She referred them to Fred Leo, president of the girls' league, and they telephoned him, offering to buy the girl's contract, give her an unbreakable contract for one year, or make any other arrangement necessary to obtain her to play first base for Fort Lauderdale.

Leo told them that his first reaction was to turn down their offer, but he said he would submit their proposal to the league's board of directors for final action. Meanwhile, he asked them to refrain from taking any action. The board at its next meeting turned down the offer.

This Game Had Everything

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A city court judge doubled as an "ump" Thursday in a baseball case that involved a hit, a hidden ball, a run and wet grounds.

The hit: Theodore A. Russell's son batted a ball into the lawn of a neighbor, Mrs. Mary J. Harber.

The hidden ball: Russell accused Mrs. Harber of confiscating and burning the baseball. She was arrested on a charge of petit larceny.

The run: Mrs. Harber said that Russell chased her down the street.

The wet grounds: Russell claimed that Mrs. Harber turned the garden hose on his son.

At an arraignment Thursday, Mrs. Harber promised no more baseballs would vanish. Russell agreed to drop the larceny charge. An attorney bought Russell's son a new baseball.

Judge Arthur L. Wilder called the result a tie.

Phillies Hitch Pennant Wagon To New Star — 'Bubba' Church

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Just at the point where the pitching prospects of the Philadelphia Phillies were dimmed by Curt Simmons' call to army duty, Manager Eddie Sawyer and his Whizz Kids have hitched their pennant wagon to a new star.

The youngster stepping into harness for the National league leaders is Emory (Bubba) Church, a 24-year-old righthander from Birmingham, Ala., by way of Phillies farm clubs in Salina, Kan., and Toronto.

He looked every inch a front line starter Wednesday night in shutting out the Cincinnati Reds with just three hits. What's more, he collected two nits himself, batted home the winning run, and started a double play to choke off a Reds' threat.

The win was Bubba's fifth, against one defeat. Why hasn't he been used more? Says Sawyer: "We wanted to give him a chance to look around the league first, so he could get his bearings. Then we tried to pick some spots for him."

The picking has been highly successful. In his last three victories he blanked the Chicago Cubs 7-0, yielded a homer to Ralph Kiner in beating the Pirates 4-1, and Wednesday night subdued the Reds. In between, he was drubbed by the Pittsburgh Pirates, who knocked Church from the box and handed him a 7-4 defeat July 29.

Ready to Go Sunday Now it appears the choosing may be ended. Church should be rested and ready to go again Sunday, when the Phils are scheduled for an important twin bill with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Yanks Deny Reports of Dissension Between Joe DiMaggio--Stengel

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees Thursday scoffed at reports of dissension between Joe DiMaggio, their star outfielder, and Manager Casey Stengel.

The two principals involved and general Manager George Weiss termed a recent printed story by Joe Trimble of the New York Daily News that DiMaggio was not on speaking terms with Stengel as "ridiculous." They asserted that harmony prevailed on the club.

No Harsh Words "It's silly to say that Stengel and I are not getting along," DiMaggio said. "We haven't exchanged a harsh word. I've always followed orders, have never broken a training rule and always do my best to respond to all that is asked of me. In my book the manager is the boss."

Taking cognizance of the feud report, Weiss issued the following statement: "Anyone who knows Casey Stengel's reputation as a manager and DiMaggio's reputation as a team player will realize how ridiculous is any talk of a disagreement between them."

"For this reason the Yankees will not dignify the story by making any further comment on it," Stengel, obviously embarrassed about the entire situation, simply said.

JOE DIMAGGIO Is He Sulking?

"I've been in baseball a long while and I've known a lot of team players. DiMaggio is one of the greatest and I'd be a poor sort of manager if I didn't think the world of a guy like that."

Trimble, in a story written last Tuesday, criticized DiMaggio "for sulking like a sophomore" because Stengel had dropped him from the cleanup spot in favor of Johnny Mize.

"DiMaggio is wearing a cloak of martyrdom," Trimble wrote. "No one denies this great player his right to his pride. But he is carrying things too far when he refuses to talk to his manager, curtly cuts the newspapermen who have been his friends for years and maintains a stony silence toward all but a few of his teammates."

Stories of DiMaggio's changing moods have found their way into print lately. Although aware of such stories circulating about him, DiMaggio characteristically has refused to do anything about them. That is, until now.

Tank-Led Battalion Scores U.S. Victory — Yank's Daring Drive Behind Red Lines Nets Valuable Equipment

Same Men Defend Post in Later Attack

AN ADVANCED U.S. COMMAND POST IN KOREA (AP) — A U.S. tank-led battalion Thursday dashed 22 miles behind enemy lines, captured valuable documents, maps and Russian-made equipment and returned successfully to its own lines.

The penetration, classed as a definite U.S. victory, was the deepest and most daring so far in the Korean war. It occurred in the crucial Chinju area.

After returning to a command post, the same soldiers were aroused from sleep to help successfully defend the post from an enemy attack.

The reconnaissance task force was under constant enemy machinegun and sniper fire all the way. The Americans, riding tanks, armored cars, jeeps and trucks, returned the fire as they stabbed a hole in the enemy lines. (An- other dispatch identified the bat- talion as from the 19th regiment of the 24th division.)

Officers called the U.S. penetration as "reconnaissance in force." It proved for the high command that (1) a hard-hitting tank-led force can breach an enemy line, and (2) that the enemy is building up strong forces around Chinju for a drive eastward toward Masan and the vital Pusan port.

Field reports of the raid varied as to the number of tanks taking part. One report said five U.S. tanks were involved and two of them knocked out. Another said Americans lost eight tanks and armored cars.

Besides the tanks, the battalion had a battery of artillery, a platoon of heavy mortars and well-armed infantry. The spearhead infantry unit was under command of Lt. John L. Buckley, Augusta, Ga.

The crews of two U.S. tanks were either killed or wounded when the Shermans rounded a bend in the road and ran headon into three Russian-made 75 mm anti-tank guns. The enemy guns were quickly knocked out.

American losses were listed as light compared with those of the enemy.

As the Americans passed, the enemy closed in behind of them on the road leading to Chinju, but the task force blazed its way deeper and deeper into the enemy country.

Hit at Mountain Passes
The advancing tank-led U.S. force reached the mountain passes east of Chinju, where it snatched into the enemy forces believed to be the main Red reserve up for a major offensive.

"They let us get into a mountain pass," said a lieutenant colonel, "and then they closed in and let us have it."

The Reds, firing from the hills, poured a steady stream of fire at the Americans, who went right into the hills after them.

It was near there that the U.S. tanks and enemy guns clashed. The Russian made guns knocked holes in two Sherman tanks.

Capt. Don R. Hickman, Salt Lake City, Utah, said the enemy guns were new weapons mounted on rubber-tired wheels.

Orders from Plane
An observation plane dropped an order for the U.S. battalion to retire. A slim, dark-haired lieutenant colonel called for volunteers to man the damaged tanks.

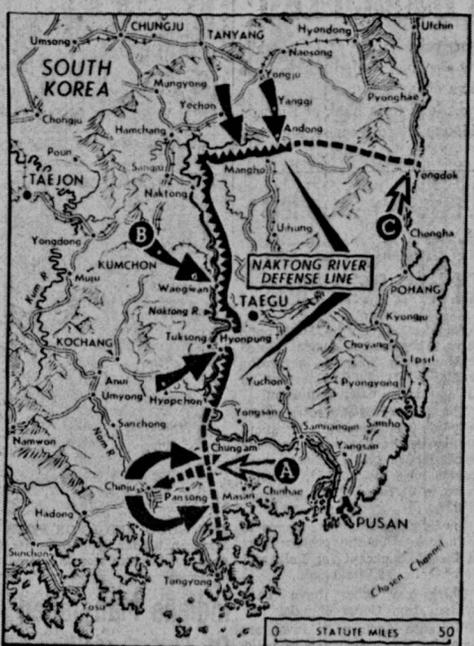

Pfc. Roy Roberts, who lives somewhere in Texas, said he thought he could drive a tank. He had driven a bulldozer at home, and figured the tanks shouldn't be too hard to handle.

Pfc. William Horn of Greenville, Ky., volunteered to drive the other one.

"I had driven a caterpillar tractor," Horn said, "and I thought I could do it. Nobody showed me how. I just got in and drove off."

The colonel put the dead and wounded onto the jeeps and trucks in the center of the column. The two damaged tanks were placed in the rear, and they began fighting their way out.

GI Warns of Attack
When the doughboys got back to a regimental command post, they flopped on the ground and went to sleep. At 7 a.m., they were up and fighting again. An enemy force was opening up on

AS BATTLE LINES FORM, solid black arrows indicate strongest pressure by Communists against defense perimeter of South Korean defenders. At Chungam (A) a daring U.S. 24th infantry battalion broke through to penetrate (broken arrow) 22 miles inside the Communist lines near Chinju before withdrawing. the position from the hills. Sgt. William M. Howard of Delia, Texas, warned the others of the Red attack. He said he heard some voices. "I woke up the boys and got them on the line. Then it busted loose."

Sleepy GIs grabbed their guns and began blazing away at close range. Bullets ripped through the thin walls of the school building where the regimental headquarters was just starting the day's work after breakfast.

Two U.S. officers were killed and 40 American soldiers injured. Enemy dead littered the hillside rice paddies.

Harold Martin, columnist for the Atlanta Constitution, was at the command post when the fight started.

"Bullets were ripping through the building," he said. "There was shooting on all sides. I barreled through a window end over end and lay there while the hell was going on."

The battle continued for hours before the Americans drove the Reds back. The Communists set up two machineguns in a rice paddy on the side of the command post and the Americans were caught in crossfire.

The infantry worked their way around the machinegun positions and knocked both of them out. They were heavy Russian-made weapons.

GI's Shoot Reds Hiding in Tree Tops

ON THE FRONT LINE WITH THE U.S. 1ST CAVALRY DIVISION IN KOREA (AP) — Their orders were to hold the bridge.

The bridge was 600 yards south of Kumchon, and 30 men from an American heavy weapons company were ordered Wednesday night to hold it until the last of evacuating Americans got out of town.

They were waiting for a tardy platoon when they spotted a group of men ambling down the main road 600 yards away.

Lt. Francis Maloney of Boston rode to within 40 feet of them in a jeep, and then yelled, "Gooks." "Loaded for Bear!"

His driver stalled the jeep engine twice turning around, but the North Koreans who had come up so unexpectedly were as surprised as Maloney. Not a shot was fired.

The 30 Americans were "loaded for bear" with two 50 caliber machine guns, two light 30's, a heavy 30 and a recoilless 75 millimeter gun. They opened up.

"It seemed they were all over the place," said Pfc. Carl Parrick of Tulsa, Okla.

"About 200 North Koreans were to the right, and 200 more on the left in an apple orchard, but we sprayed the ground with machine guns as if they were water hoses.

Shooting Into Trees
Then our master sergeant, Edward Nonwaller of Sheboygan, Wis., got the bright idea of shooting into the orchard trees."

"Brother," said Parrick, "it was like shaking apples. Gooks began dropping out all over the place."

Two of the Americans opened up with the 75, putting white phosphorus shells at tree top level. Some North Koreans broke for a fence and were mowed down by Pfc. Lloyd Hahn of Baldwin Park, Calif.

"It was like scraping ants off with a stick," said Hahn.

Just Like P.nball
Off to the right, North Koreans took cover in a railroad tunnel. The Americans' 50 caliber machine gun bored into the tunnel opening at an angle, and the Americans could hear the ricocheting bullets slamming around inside like marbles in a pinball machine.

"We were a little nervous about an enemy tank we knew was around the bend in the road on our front," said Parrick. "But I never came into us. But you should have seen Sgt. Nonwaller at that machine gun of his. He was yelling like a maniac."

The one-sided shooting match ended after an hour, and the Americans claimed 250 — "maybe 300" — enemy dead. The 30 Americans got off without a scratch. The United States troops who were behind the lines and for whom the 30 had been waiting circled around the enemy to safety.

Charges, 'Hearsay,' Bridges' Lawyer Tells Federal Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Defense attorney for Harry Bridges made an impassioned argument Thursday for dismissal of a government motion to jail the longshore leader immediately as a "dangerous enemy to our society."

Defense Atty. Norman Leonard said at a hearing before Federal Judge George B. Hartis that charges against Bridges were built of "hearsay" statements attributed to him at private union discussions.

Leonard said that "unless the bill of rights is no longer to be regarded as the law of the land, the government cannot do that."

The defense attorney spent two hours and fifteen minutes of the hearing's second day arguing his case for dismissal before it was adjourned until 10 a.m. Friday.

Leonard said his argument would be completed in another fifteen minutes of hearing.

If his motion for dismissal is rejected, Leonard said, Bridges will take the stand "for a very short" time under direct examination.

F. Joseph Donohue, Special Assistant U.S. Atty. Gen., said he doubted if he would question the longshore leader on the stand if Bridges' testimony "follows a pattern" that he anticipates.

"I won't waste my time, or the court's," Donohue said.

Iowa Citian Buys SUI Building for $27.50

TWENTY-SEVEN DOLLARS AND FIFTY CENTS BOUGHT THIS HOUSE for Max Yocum of 231 W. Benton street recently. Yocum was high bidder for the building when SUI sold it to make room for the new wing of the women's gymnasium. He had it moved Thursday to Miller avenue where a foundation had been constructed to fit the building. Wheels were put under the back end, and the front was rested on the bed of a truck to transport the house.

Belgian Royalists Accuse Cabinet of 'Selling Out'

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM (UP)—Angry youth Royalists hurled rotten eggs and tomatoes today at members of the Catholic cabinet they accused of "selling out" King Leopold.

The young pro-Leopold demonstrators, including some girls, loosed their barrage as the cabinet ministers trooped into a party conference on the abdication crisis.

Police were called out to halt the demonstrators, but not before Justice Minister Count Henri Carton de Wiart was hit with an egg.

The attack took place despite Leopold's plea for peace among his supporters, made after demonstrators threw bombs yesterday in Antwerp in protest against his abdication.

Eggs in Bouquets
The girls hid eggs and tomatoes in corsages and bouquets and passed them on to their escorts to throw. Some of the girls did their own throwing as the youths shouted, "You sold us out! Leopold! Leopold!"

Despite the anger in many sections of the party, the cabinet agreed to carry on as a one-party government. It voted against forming a coalition either with the Socialists or Liberals.

It was clear that all Catholics were not pleased with government acceptance of the abdication agreement which was made after anti-Leopold Socialists unleashed a nationwide campaign of strikes and violence.

Under the agreement, Leopold will transfer his powers shortly to his 19-year-old son, Crown Prince Baudouin, and then will abdicate formally when Baudouin comes of age on Sept. 7, 1951.

Criticize House President
Reports from the party conference said Premier Jean Duvieusart and Frans van Cauwelaert, president of the house, were strongly criticized for handling the royal problem and for yielding too easily to the Socialists.

Duvieusart meanwhile went before parliament and introduced the bill to allow "his majesty the king to transfer his constitutional

Bride-Buyer Faces Bigamy Charge Now

EDMONTON, ALTA. (UP)—Officials said Thursday that a 71-year-old pig farmer, who bought a 14-year-old girl for $800 and married her had more wives than pigs.

Alex Gokey had one pig at the time of his arrest Monday on charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency, and the provincial attorney general's office said he had two and possibly three wives before he bought the teen-aged girl from her 18-year-old brother.

They said Gokey left one wife at Edmonton when he went to Vancouver to buy a bride from Allen Ajas, who said he sold his sister to get money for his mother. She said, however, she knew nothing about the bride sale.

Ajas and his sister-in-law, Jesse Ajas, also were arrested in connection with the marriage deal.

Gokey was charged with kidnapping and officials said he also may be accused of bigamy. His teen-age wife was being held in a juvenile home.

FOUR ISSUED LICENSES

Marriage licenses were issued Thursday in the Johnson county clerk's office to James T. Curtis, Iowa City, and Dolores M. Albright, Ft. Dodge, and to Charles K. Valentine, Rock Rapids, Minn., and Lorain L. Sigmon, Asheville, N.C.

Scouts Begin Two-Week Canoe Trip Today

The scouts are Jim Kelso, Jerry Boulton and Tom Davis, post 6, Iowa City; David Cress and Tom Havel, troop 31, Riverside, and Robert McNeil, troop 36, Wellman. Alan Graves, Johnson district advancement chairman, will serve as leader of the group.

The group will travel by car to Clinton where it will be joined

Iowa Bank Robber Escapes Police; Believed Headed East

ELK POINT, S.D. (UP)—A gunman who played teller while robbing an Iowa bank, then fled by airplane, eluded police again Thursday and backtracked into Iowa on a train.

Sheriff Ed Ekren said the bandit held up a bank at Bronson Wednesday, chartered a plane at Sioux City to fly here, and then took a train back to Sioux City.

The bandit, who wore spectacles, was armed with a .32 caliber pistol.

The gunman held up the Bronson branch of the Morningside bank of Sioux City, tying Manager O. J. Smith up in a vault before he began stuffing an estimated $850 loot into a paper bag.

Plays Teller
While the robbery was in progress, two customers walked in. The bandit courteously played teller and even cashed a check for the man.

He fled in a late model automobile which was found at the Sioux City airport. The gunman, representing himself as a businessman, had hired Pilot Tommy Martin to fly him to Vermillion, South Dakota.

While in flight, however, the passenger told Martin he wanted to land at Elk Point instead. Martin set his plane down in a field because Elk Point has no airport.

Mrs. Porter Maynard and her three children said the man hitched a ride to the Elk Point bus depot in their car. He tried to buy a ticket to Vermillion, but there was no bus leaving.

Ekren and his deputies set up roadblocks Thursday in an attempt to trap the gunman.

Returns to Sioux City
However, Russell Carrol, Elk Point, told Ekren later Thursday that a "man carrying a suitcase" had thumbed a ride with him to the railroad depot.

Ekren said the bandit apparently bought a ticket from the train's conductor. The train arrived at Sioux City at 5:20 p.m. Wednesday.

Ekren alerted authorities at Sioux City but officials there said the bandit may have boarded a Chicago-bound train that left there at 7 p.m.

"He stopped at Elk Point just long enough to buy a suitcase," Ekren said. "I guess he's, using that to carry the money. He's a slick one, all right."

County Plans Safety Checkup Day Aug. 16

Johnson county's part in the proposed statewide safety campaign is scheduled to get underway Aug. 16 with a voluntary safety inspection of all motor vehicles.

Dr. R.S. Leighton, temporary chairman of the Johnson county chapter, said Thursday that plans are now being made by the junior chamber of commerce to have a three-day safety checkup lane on Iowa avenue.

Local garages plan to send motor experts to inspect vehicles for faulty equipment. Highway patrolmen and Iowa City police will assist in the inspections.

The safety checkup will be a prelude to a "Two Week Drive Right" campaign which begins Aug. 22 throughout the state. The entire safety program is part of a campaign of the Iowa Safety congress to promote safety in every phase of community and farm life.

University Hospitals Treat Sixty Percent Of Iowa Polio Cases

About 60 percent of Iowa's polio cases this year have been treated at University hospitals, according to Dr. W. D. Paul, chairman of the physical medicine division.

The number of cases at the hospitals has been running about 30 above last year's figure. One hundred twenty-eight cases were treated here by July 31, as compared to 91 cases by that date in 1949.

Iowa's polio this year seems to be centered in the eastern part of the state except for Polk and Story counties, Paul said.

Thirty-one cases have been treated from Cedar Rapids.

"Because doctors in Iowa are becoming more conscious of polio, they are diagnosing the disease sooner," he said.

"Such diagnosis increases the individual's chances for complete recovery from the disease."

Light polio cases and those in early stages of the disease also have better chances for recovery, he said.

The highest number of active polio cases in the hospitals this year has been 34. Only one death has been reported so far.

Total number of cases Thursday in the hospitals was 136. The state department of health showed 237 cases for Iowa up to last weekend.

Two Workmen Killed In Wisconsin Cave-In

SPARTA, WIS. (UP)—Two workmen were killed in a sewer cave-in here Thursday, one of them while trying to save his fellow worker.

The victims were Herbert Larson, 57, and Emil Yahnke, 55. They were digging a 12-foot deep sewer when the sides collapsed and buried Yahnke.

Larson and two other men leaped into the partially-filled ditch and started to dig him out. A moment later there was another cave-in. Larson and Ben Wertz, 53, were buried completely. Lyle Arentz was trapped up to his thighs.

Mid-Century Gets North Central Air Routes

DUBUQUE (AP)—Iowa cities along the Sioux City-Chicago segment of the new north central air routes decided at a meeting here today on joint action to support the award of these routes of Mid-Century airlines of Kansas City.

At the same time they heard assurances from J. W. Miller, president of Mid-Century, that his company will be prepared to inaugurate service by Oct. 1 at the latest.

The cities agreed upon a two-fold plan which they will undertake as a group:

1. They will file a joint statement of concurrence in the action of the civil aeronautics board (CAB) cancelling the permit of Parks airlines of St. Louis to operate the north central routes and awarding the permit to Mid-Century.

2. They will file with the district court of appeals at Washington, D.C., a joint petition asking that the court dissolve a temporary injunction it issued against the CAB at Parks' request. Hearing on whether the injunction should be made permanent will be held at Washington next Wednesday.

Sixty representatives of cities in Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois and Wisconsin—all interested in obtaining prompt inauguration of feeder airline service—were represented at today's meeting.

They included cities on the Minneapolis-Chicago segment of the north central routes awarded to Mid-Century and the Great Lakes-Mississippi valley routes awarded to Ozark airlines of St. Louis. Parks also is protesting the award of the permit to Ozarks.

Passing Up Customs Along Border

THE GOOD NEIGHBOR POLICY really is practiced at Douglas, a southern Arizona town right on the Mexican border. The Douglas fire department answers calls from Aqua Prieta, across the border, and does not have to stop at the customs office for inspection.

Indiana Man Jailed On Shooting Charge

AMES (AP)—Eugene Clifford Langbein, 19, of East Chicago, Ind., arrested as the gunman who wounded a policeman during the wild chase which followed a $10 holdup, waived to the grand jury Thursday on two of three charges filed against him.

Langbein was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond after he was arraigned on charges of robbery with aggravation and car theft. He was to be brought into court today on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

The latter charge was filed in connection with the wounding of Patrolman Jay Ferguson, 27, of the Ames police. State Agent T. A. Thompson said Langbein had admitted the offenses for which he is held.

Ferguson suffered a flesh wound in the upper right arm when he attempted to intercept Langbein after the latter commandeered a car. He also took $10 from the owner at gunpoint.

Despite the wound, Ferguson who was alone in his patrol car, pursued Langbein more than 20 miles in a 90-mile-an-hour chase.

Langbein later abandoned his car and escaped by foot only to be caught Wednesday by two members of a posse.

Sailor Rides With Suspected Killer

MILWAUKEE, WIS. (UP)—A Milwaukee detective was at Illinois' Great Lakes naval training station Thursday night questioning a sailor who may have hitched a ride with a holdup man wanted for murder.

The sailor thumbed a ride out of Milwaukee Wednesday night with two men in a yellow convertible. One of the men answered the description of a gunman who killed Raymond Henning Sr., 50, in a bar holdup Wednesday night.

The sailor said the men abandoned their car in Kenosha county early Thursday and he hitchhiked alone to Great Lakes. He stopped at the Lake county sheriff's office in Waukegan, Ill., to tell his story.

Damage Estimated at $100,000 from Fire

DES MOINES (UP)—Harold A. Goldman, president of Thriftway Stores, incorporated, estimated damage at $100,000 in the investigation of a fire Thursday that gutted the interior of a supermarket.

Flames preceded by an explosion whipped through the interior of the one-story brick building at 4 a.m., sending a black ribbon of smoke over the city's west end.

Three engine companies, a ladder company and an emergency crew screeched to the scene, but it took firemen hours to bring the costly blaze under control.

A fire department officer said gases which built up ahead of flames apparently caused the explosion. But he said the exact origin of the fire was not determined.

Vegetables, meats and canned goods went up in flames or were left blackened by smoke, Goldman said the loss was covered by insurance.

Third Car Damaged As Two Others Collide

Three cars were involved in a collision which caused minor damage Wednesday, police said Thursday.

A car driven by Mrs. Eli S. Miller, route 3, and a car driven by Mrs. Reynold Prybil, route 3, collided on South Dubuque street near Court street.

The force of the collision drove the Miller car into an unidentified parked car, the drivers reported. Damage to the Miller car was estimated at $50, to the Prybil car at $5. Damage to the third car was unreported, police said.

Death Rate of Workers Increased During June

DES MOINES (AP)—Six workmen met death in accidents during June as compared with only four such deaths during the previous months of this year, the Iowa labor bureau reported Thursday.

Accidents in manufacturing plants during the month were less than in May, but this was offset by an increase in non-manufacturing accidents.

Jury Convicts Father Who Tried to Bomb Family Aboard Plane

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. (AP)—John Henry Grant, 32-year-old aeronautical engineer, was convicted by a superior court jury Thursday of attempting to kill his wife and their two children who were among passengers on a San Diego-bound United Airlines plane April 17. He placed a gasoline bomb in their luggage.

After deliberating only 40 minutes, the jury returned a verdict of guilty on all six counts of attempted murder. Each count carries a penalty of one to 20 years. The charges covered his wife, Betty, the two children, Marie, 6, and Bobby, 5, and the three crew members of the plane.

Grant accepted the verdict with little show of emotion. He stared morosely at the jury as foreman Mrs. Davis Stanton of Santa Monica read the result of the brief deliberations.

Superior Judge Orlando E. Rhodes set Sept. 5 for sentencing and ordered Grant to jail. The judge gave his attorney, William H. Hall, permission to file application for probation, which will be heard on the date of sentencing.

Grant was charged with attempted murder in an effort to obtain $25,000 in flight insurance against his family.

3 Children Enter SUI Polio Ward

Three new polio patients have been admitted to University hospitals, officials said Thursday.

They were Bonnie Ahrens, 11, Hampton; Terry Muller, 2, Arlington, and Richard Larson, 9, Dubuque. All were reported in "fair" condition.

Two polio patients, Robert Koenig, 14, Muscatine, and Arles Baumgartner, 22, Cedar Rapids, have been transferred to the active ward.

Seven polio patients discharged were John Willet, 9, Tama; Larry Dossett, 8, Keosauqua; Sandra Hauser, 7, Clinton; Catherine Edmonds, 18, Cedar Rapids; Donald Shipley, 6, Arlington; Donald Link, 4, Graf, and Arthur Weis, 4, Bellevue.

225 Carloads of Food, Iowa's Goal for Needy

DES MOINES (UP)—The Iowa committee of the Christian rural overseas program Thursday set this year's state CROP goal at 225 carloads of food.

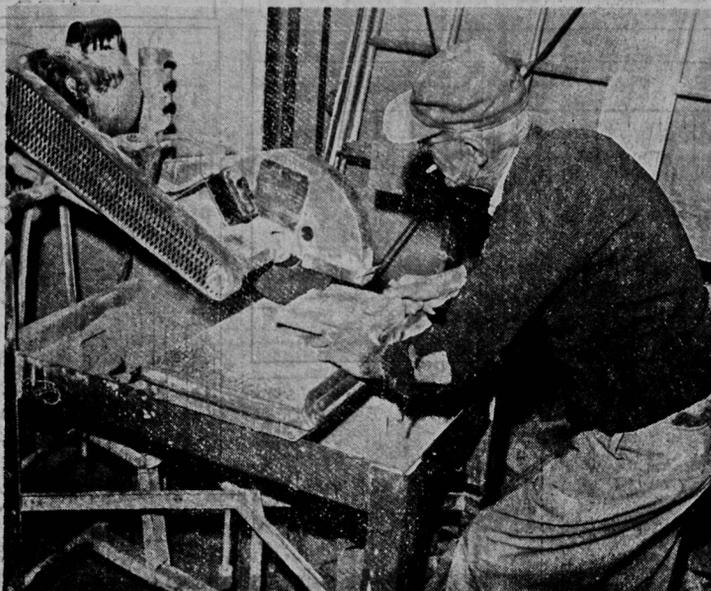

The goal represented a 10 percent increase over last year's collections.

Work-Saving Machines Aid Laborers on Hillcrest Dormitory Addition

UTILIZING A MODERN WAY TO PLASTER, Mike Woods, Cedar Rapids, Thursday literally blew plaster on the interior walls of the addition to Hillcrest dormitory. Woods covered about 800 square yards and kept two men busy following him to smooth the surface. The "gun" Woods used was recently developed by a Chicago company which said plaster applied in this manner has greater strength and fire resistance. Plaster for the machine is mixed thinner than normally, forced through a rubber hose to the nozzle by a special pump, and blasted against the framework with compressed air.

THIS MACHINE GOES THROUGH A BRICK like the proverbial hot knife through butter. Ralph Minick, a bricklayer from Washington, Iowa, trimmed a piece of cinderblock Thursday for a wall of the new wing of Hillcrest dormitory. Leonard Simonek of Cedar Rapids, a foreman for the crew of eight masons working on the dormitory wing, said the 12-inch carbundum blade whirled at 3,200 revolutions a minute and is capable of cutting all masonry materials—bricks, stones, cinder-blocks and tiles.
