Red Army Expected To Begin New Drive Against Pusan Soon

Allies Prepare To Hold Vital Supply Center

TOKYO (SATURDAY) (AP) - North Korean troops today were expected to launch an all-out smash on the southern front aimed at Pusan, the beachhead port 35 miles east of the quiet battle line.

The U.S. Eighth army, charged with holding the southeast Korean beachhead until a counter-offensive can be launched, reported this development in a communiqué.

Out of Ammo?

WITH U.S. FORCES IN KOREA (SATURDAY) (AP) - A possibility was seen here today that North Korean troops on the western front are running out of artillery ammunition.

In the Chinju area, where some of the most intense fighting of the war has taken place in the past few days, there has been a hearing lack of enemy artillery. Captured prisoners of war say this is caused by a lack of ammunition.

of Chinju today." Chinju is 55 miles west of Pusan.

Contact Made With Enemy

Patrols from the U.S. 25th infantry division moved out aggressively on this front, and were in continuous contact with the enemy, the communiqué said.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters earlier said two more Red divisions were moving up for the attack on the southern front.

Northward, the North Koreans were moving up to the last-ditch Nakdong river defense line, which runs to within seven miles of Taegu. This is the front line supply city 55 air miles northwest of Pusan.

Bombers Break Record

U.S. 5th air force fighters and bombers again broke a Korean flying record Friday with 538 sorties, including 370 in direct support of ground forces.

In his noon summary of the fighting, MacArthur said the Korean front has been "relatively quiet" for the past 24 hours. A Communist attack in the Chinju sector had been repulsed with heavy losses, MacArthur reported, and another attack in the Yongdok area on the east coast likewise was thrown back by South Korean troops.

Marine carrier-based planes for the second straight day Friday lashed at enemy troops and transportation targets on the southern front, a navy release said.

Led U.S. Attack

The "sorriest situation" in which America could be would be to be unprepared "economically, spiritually, militarily and every other way," he said.

Gov. Beardsley, referring to the Nebraska governor's talk, said his "words of wisdom" needed no repetition.

"Probably the next 20 years will be the most critical in the history of the country," the Iowa governor said. He added:

"Until all major nations are willing to come into the society of nations, we must be prepared ... The national guard is the backbone of any national defense."

ROBESON PASSPORT VOIDED

WASHINGTON (AP) - The state department said Friday night that Paul Robeson's passport has been declared "null and void."

LEADER OF THE COMBAT TEAM that shattered the spearhead of a North Korean drive on Masan Thursday was Lt. Col. John "Mike" Michaels (above) of Lancaster, Pa. His 27th Regimental Combat Team wiped out virtually an entire enemy regiment in the four-hour fight.

Join Now-It's Your Last Chance

The army and navy are at it again! While Elizabeth Malone, local draft board secretary, was out of her office Friday, a navy recruiting poster was placed outside the draft board office.

An enticing note attached to the poster told all men of draft age they could still enlist in the navy if they haven't yet received their draft notices.

After the men received draft notices, they have no choice to the branch of service they enter, the note warned.

Price Ceiling Issue Splits House, Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) - The senate banking committee voted Friday to arm President Truman with a standby wage-price-rationing powers after the house had backed away from the whole idea in a welter of legislative confusion.

Sen. John J. Sparkman, (D-Ala) announced that the senate committee agreed on the "principle" of authorizing Mr. Truman to invoke wage-price ceilings and rationing at his own discretion - the kind of standby controls the President repeatedly was demanding.

Postpones Control Issue

The house meanwhile bogged down on the standby control question so badly that it postponed further action until next Tuesday.

Before quitting for the weekend, it voted to make hoarding a federal crime punishable by $10,000 fines and one-year prison sentences.

The anti-hoarding proposal would make it illegal for businessmen or householders to accumulate excessive stores of foods, fuel, wearing apparel, automobile tires and other "necessaries."

It was approved after the house had done on a single ballot nearly all of its legislative work since last Tuesday.

Ceiling Plan Scrapped

The chamber scrapped its entire plan for standby rationing and wage-price ceilings geared to the cost of living index.

The automatic control proposal had been tentatively adopted Thursday despite a warning from President Truman that it would be an invitation to inflation.

The senate committee, however, endorsed the kind of controls Mr. Truman wants after voting 10 to 3 against an automatic ceiling plan sponsored by Sen. J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark).

City's Fourth Polio Victim for Summer Enters U. Hospitals

Iowa City's fourth polio patient this summer was reported Friday by University hospitals.

He was eight-year-old Ross Hitchcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Hitchcock. They live at the Forest View Trailer camp, one mile north of Iowa City on highway 218.

Other Iowa City polio patients this summer were John Knudsen, route 3; Robert Tyndall, 129 Riverside park, and Mrs. Geraldine Briggs, 214 Riverside park.

Three other new polio patients reported Friday were Pamela School, 3 Decarah; Deiane Ann, 18 Cedar Rapids, and Mrs. Mary Thomsen, 20 Mt. Vernon.

All four were in "fair" condition. Two polio patients transferred to the inactive ward were Ronnie Miller, 9 months, Allison, and Betty Aynes, 20, Cedar Rapids.

Discharged were Arthur Hass, 30, Decarah; Ferne Bennett, 34, Elgin, and Patricia Klatt, 7, Steamboat Rock.

Active cases in the hospitals Friday totaled 25.

RECORD PILOTS' CLASS

WILLIAMS AIRFORCE BASE, ARIZ. (AP) - The largest graduating class here since World War II received airforce wings Friday. Most of the 119 new pilots were trained in jet fighters.

Larson Heads Orthopedics Department

Dr. Carroll B. Larson, an SUI graduate, has assumed his duties as head of the SUI orthopedics (bone) department in the college of medicine.

He replaced Dr. Arthur Steindler who retired in 1949. Steindler now is head of Mercy hospital's orthopedics department.

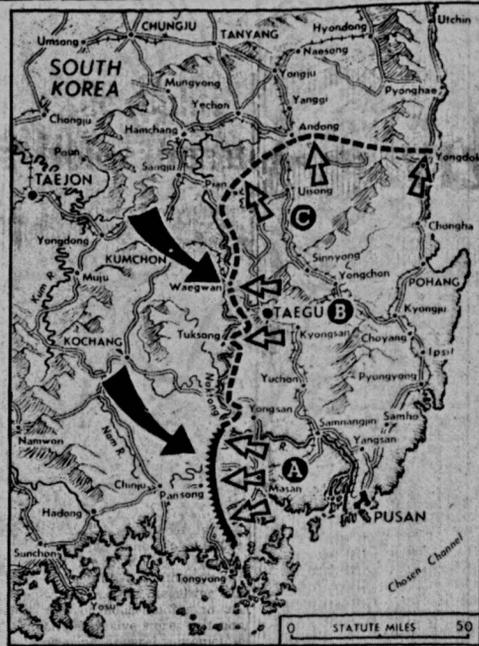

Larson came to SUI from the staff of Massachusetts General hospital and the faculty of Harvard university medical school.

He received his B.S. degree from SUI in 1931 and his M.D. degree two years later. He went to the Massachusetts hospital following his internship and residency at Santa Clara county hospital, San Jose, Calif.

He was one of 12 orthopedists invited to England last year on an exchange internship. Following World War II he gave a series of lectures on orthopedics in Norway and Sweden under the sponsorship of those two countries.

Dr. Robert W. Newman, associate professor of orthopedics, has been acting head of the department since Steindler's retirement.

The Larsons are living at 708 W. Park road.

Senate Group Approves $144-Million Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) - The senate finance committee Friday approved a series of plans to close tax "loopholes" which will net the government an additional $144-million yearly.

The plans included a crackdown on "collapsible corporations" when they are used for tax evasion.

But the group rejected house-approved revisions that would have picked up an additional $176-million. President Truman has requested congress to provide a quick increase of $5-billion in new revenue to help meet war and preparedness costs. This is what the committee is working on.

A vigorous battle lies ahead on the question whether to impose now or later an excess profits tax to prevent "profiteering" in the defense boom.

None of the tax law revisions acted upon by the finance committee Friday dealt with direct individual or corporation income taxes. They were mostly technical changes.

The senate group approved a house bill provision to end a practice which President Truman said is followed by some motion picture figures. The practice is to create a corporation, then to disband it after the production of one picture so that those participating in it pay the much lower capital gains taxes rather than the stiff income taxes. This is a so-called "collapsible" corporation.

Single-Package Bill Gets Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) - The senate approved the single-package $2,052,362,228 federal spending bill Friday after rejecting a last-minute attempt to trim $135-million from the European recovery plan. The measure was approved by voice vote.

The appropriations bill also includes authority for various government agencies to let up to $2,184,000,000 in contracts which would have to be paid for by future congresses.

The measure, approved after four weeks of debate, now goes to a joint conference committee to the house and senate versions. On issue may be a $100-million loan to Spain voted by the senate.

In addition to funds to run most regular government agencies during the current fiscal year ending next June 30, the bill carries $13,294,000,000 in regular defense money and $4,552,000,000 for foreign economic and arms aid.

Truck-Driver Involved In Two Local Accidents

Robert Chavala, 31, staying at 211 N. Dodge street, was fined $27.50 Friday by Police Judge Emil G. Trott on the charge of failing to have his car under control.

Chavala was driving an Olson Brothers truck of Omaha, Neb., which skidded 70 feet down the center of Jefferson street near Gilbert street, and smashed through a lighted barricade into a gas company ditch about 3:30 a.m. Friday, police reported.

Chavala was involved in another accident Monday. His panel truck and a car driven by John G. Fay, 24, 946 Iowa avenue, collided on Iowa avenue near DuBuque street.

Discuss DuPont H-Bomb Contract

DISCUSSING A PROPOSED CONTRACT FOR H-BOMB work are Gordon Dean (left) atomic energy commission chairman; Crawford Greenwalt (center) president of the DuPont company of Wilmington, Del., and Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn). McMahon said Friday the atomic energy committee had approved the contract being negotiated by the commission with DuPont for development of the H-bomb.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The army Friday ordered its area commanders to call up 62,000 enlisted reservists in September and October in a move which could overshadow smaller draft quotas next fall and winter.

The quota for the Fifth Army area, of which Iowa is a part, is 18,406.

Serve 21 Months

The action, part of the army's swift buildup toward million-man strength, affects only volunteers and inactive reserves. They will be required to serve 21 months, and those 19 through 25 will be the first called. Of the total, 32,000 are scheduled to be in camp by Sept. 15 while the remaining 30,000 are to report by Oct. 15.

They will be called "with or without their consent." The offer in which they are called will be based on their number of dependents. Men without dependents will go first. When their ranks are exhausted, those with one dependent and finally those having more than one will be called.

Frozen in Uniform

The navy, meantime, ordered all regular and reserve enlisted personnel frozen in uniform one year after their current enlistments expire. Exempt from the order, which is designed to conserve the navy's trained manpower, are men who enlisted for one year under the draft program.

The call was the first since the Korean invasion affecting the estimated 186,000 enlisted reserves not assigned to organized units. The men, most of them veterans of World War II, will come from all over the nation.

They also will include some youths inducted under the first peacetime draft call years ago. About 30,000 draftees inducted then were released from uniform early but were required to join the reserve or the national guard.

May Cut Draft Calls

Selective service officials said Friday's action may affect future draft calls because reserves called from each state will count toward meeting future state draft quotas.

Officials warned, however, that the credits will not reduce the number of draftees called in September and October when the army plans to induct 100,000 men.

English Department Raises Language Requirement 6 Hours

The SUI English department has announced a new language requirement affecting all English majors expecting to graduate on or after June, 1952.

All English majors will be required to have credit for at least six more semester hours of a foreign language than the present B.A. degree language requirement of eight semester hours.

This will make a total language requirement for SUI English majors of 14 semester hours for the B.A. degree.

According to Prof. Bartholow V. Crawford, acting head of the English department, the new requirement does not specify whether or not the student will be required to continue studying a foreign language which he has already begun.

Each student's advisor, he said, will assist in planning a program meeting specific needs with regard to what has already been accomplished by the student.

Some students will utilize the new requirement in broadening their general knowledge of more than one foreign language. Others will deepen their studies already begun on a specific language, he said.

Schedule Session Today To End Bridges' Case

SAN FRANCISCO - Harry Bridges may learn today whether he will be sent to jail as a "dangerous enemy" of the United States.

Federal Judge George B. Harris, who is hearing arguments on the government's motion to revoke the longshore leader's $25,000 bail, ordered a Saturday court session in order to complete the hearing.

"I'm not a pacifist, I'm against aggression," Bridges testified. "What I am for is peace. . . I don't believe I am disloyal."

SECOND QUAKE IN DAY

CARACAS, VENEZUELA (AP) - The second strong earth tremor in less than 24 hours Friday shook Tucuyo, in northwestern Venezuela, but no additional casualties were reported. Sixteen persons were killed and at least 70 others injured in a quake which occurred there Thursday night.

The measure, approved after four weeks of debate, now goes to a joint conference committee to the house and senate versions. On issue may be a $100-million loan to Spain voted by the senate.

In addition to funds to run most regular government agencies during the current fiscal year ending next June 30, the bill carries $13,294,000,000 in regular defense money and $4,552,000,000 for foreign economic and arms aid.

War Interrupts Student's Education For Second Time

Octavian R. Tuckerman, G, 1105 Finkbine park, was called to active duty Friday with the airforce at Chanute Field, Illinois, Aug. 15.

Tuckerman holds a first lieutenant's commission in the inactive reserve as a bomb disposal officer.

He is married and has a small son, David, 3 1-2. They are leaving this weekend for their home in Perth Amboy, N.J., where Mrs. Tuckerman and son will remain while Tuckerman reports for duty.

Tuckerman was working on a master's degree in English. He said this is the second time war has interfered with his receiving a degree. In 1941, he was drafted during his junior year, and this time he lacks one semester's work for an M.A. degree.

Tuckerman served four and one-half years in the airforce during World War II and spent two and one-half years of that time in the European theater. He was surprised to be called to active duty, he said, because he was a member of the inactive reserve.

Charges Government Ignored Korean Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif) asserted Friday that the administration ignored urgent pleas from South Korea for American arms at least seven months before the Communist invasion.

He made the statement to reporters after a closed-door meeting of the senate appropriations committee to question Brig. Gen. W.L. Roberts, former chief of the American military mission to South Korea. Senators attending the session gave widely varying accounts of what Roberts said.

Knowland, who toured the Far East last November, said he was told personally by South Korean President Syngman Rhee that his country needed additional U.S. arms for defense.

He said he took up the subject with "officials" here on his return, and that he is "positive" appeals also had been sent from Korea.

Closed Shop Bill Okayed —

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate labor committee approved a bill Friday to permit shop contracts, now barred by the railway labor act, in the railroad industry.

The bill, patterned after similar provisions in the Taft-Hartley law, would permit railway management and labor to sign contracts requiring new employees to join unions within 60 days.

Approves Hospital Bill —

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate labor committee Friday approved legislation to require the veterans' hospital facilities containing 16,000 beds.

The hospitals were among projects already authorized but omitted from President Truman's budget message to congress last January.

Refuse Parole for May —

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. parole board Friday refused to let former Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) out of jail.

The board spokesman declined to give the board's reason for denying May's appeal for a parole. He said the board "weighed all the factors in the case."

May entered prison Dec. 5, 1949 after unsuccessfully appealing his conviction on charges of unlawfully receiving compensation for obtaining war contracts for the munitions combine of Henry M. and Murray Garsson of New York.

Bronson Bandit Still Loose —

STEVENS, S.D. (AP) — A posse searched Friday for a gunman who held up a Bronson, Iowa bank, chartered a plane to fly to Elk Point, S.D., and then doubled back by train to this small town.

Sheriff Ed Ekren said it had been believed at first that the bandit, who obtained $850 in the holdup, may have gone all the way back to Bronson.

U.S. to Hold Naktong Line; Gen. Church

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE WESTERN KOREA FRONT (AP) — Maj. Gen. John Church, veteran of Anzio, declared Friday an all-out battle will be waged by the Americans to hold the Naktong river line.

The Naktong, Church said, is "the biggest, broadest and deepest river in Korea."

"At the Kum, he said, 'We hardly had time to catch our breath before we were attacked. Here, at least, we have had a little time to dig in.'

Asked what would happen if the North Koreans forced the Naktong, Church replied, "why I guess we would have to take to the hills. But we don't intend to let them cross the river."

"Have we stopped running?" The general studied the map spread on his desk and replied, "Just about."

Church, whose 24th infantry holds part of the western front, stared out toward the enemy hills and added, "I think we're going to stay just about where we are."

Church is no newcomer to beachhead warfare. He commanded the 15th regiment at the hottest of them all, Anzio. He took over this division shortly after Maj. Gen. William Dean disappeared at Taejon.

"If the enemy has to rely upon his present forces and gets no outside troops to help him, I think we have just about gone as far backwards as we are going to," Church said.

"We may lose a little ground here and there, but I think we are ready to hold the line and build up the force we will need to shove the enemy back where he came from."

"Is the enemy running out of men and weapons?" The general frowned and replied, "They don't seem to run out of anything."

"They still have hordes of men running around the hills and valleys everywhere — many more men than we've ever had. They've got accurate artillery and mortar fire and they seem to have lots of it."

"Their small arms fire isn't very accurate, but they make a lotta noise with it. But as I said, unless they get outside help, I think they're about ready to stop and we're about due to take over."

Wife May, May Not Change Draft Status, Local Board Decides

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft registrants who get married may escape military duty for the time being but selective service officials are making no promises.

A spokesman said the final decision on deferring men who married after the Korean war began rests with local draft boards.

Under present rules, they are permitted to defer men with dependents. But the spokesman said board members might want to check up on all recent marriages to make sure the bridegroom was not merely trying to dodge military service.

His statement followed reports of a rash of hasty marriages among men in the 19 through 25 age bracket. In Knoxville, Tenn., a draft board said more than 200 of its registrants have married since the outbreak of war.

Under rules laid down by President Truman, a registrant is classified 3-A — deferred — if he has a wife or child "with whom he maintains a bona fide family relationship in their home." If a former 1-A marries, he may request that he be switched to 3-A.

But no classification is permanent. At the outbreak of World War II, men with dependents were exempted. But by 1944, the services were jacking family men.

Senate Group Kills Excess Profits Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D - Wyo.) said Friday that next year would be "too late" to levy an excess profits tax, but he failed to convince Chairman Walter F. George of the senate finance committee.

O'Mahoney demanded an excess profits tax now, both to gain revenue and to combat inflation. He made his plea before George's committee, which is considering President Truman's $5-billion Korean war tax proposals. He said the tax would make sure that "the profiteer and the speculator will be working for Uncle Sam."

When the committee emerged from its closed session, George was asked if he was impressed by O'Mahoney's arguments. He replied:

"Not to put it on now. I've said all the time that this is no time to put it on. I would think that time would be November — if we're here then — or January."

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) predicted that congress would not approve an excess profits levy before November or perhaps next year because it is so difficult to draft.

Interpreting the News —

Politburo — Geniuses or Fools?

By WES GALLAGHER FRANKFURT (AP) — Are the masters of the Kremlin power drunk, blunderers or subtle political geniuses?

Since the huge territorial expansion of communism in the east it has become the fashion to envision Russia's Politburo as a super political brain.

Western pundits examine the simplest Soviet acts, the most ridiculous Red propaganda statements, for hidden booby traps and secret meanings.

The same thing was done with Hitler. His simplest move was looked upon as part of a master plan. But captured records revealed Hitler as a vain, misinformed man who would not listen to advisors and conducted his affairs by intuition and improvisation.

Movie Actor Lands Horse Opera Role After Much Effort

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ronald Reagan announced he's finally overcome the reputation as a solid citizen he got as screen actor's guild president and has landed a role in a western.

Reagan doesn't mind being head of the actors' union, he added.

He wants to play "reckless, swashbuckling, slightly disreputable guy." But who wants to hire a reliable, upstanding leader of movietown as a villain with a spitting cat or a lady-loving hero of an adventure epic?

"I've been trying to get into an outdoor picture, but they always wanted to cast me as the bespectacled lawyer from the east," he sighed.

"At last I'm in an action epic, 'The Last Outpost.' I play a dashing cavalry officer."

Before Reagan became the rock of Hollywood he was all sorts of things in the movies. Even villains.

"I had such a disreputable personal life in 'International Squadron' they had to kill me off at the end," he said. "In 'King's Row' I was lacking in a good reputation, too."

"But two and a half years ago I found myself involved in guild activities. The guild is a highly respectable organization. From then on I was cast as a respectable citizen, like in 'Louisiana.' I couldn't get back my happy, glittering life on the screen."

Movie-makers thought upstanding roles fitted in nicely with his off-screen life of making speeches about the state of the industry, conducting union meetings, etc. But he wanted to play a trigger-happy guy on a horse.

The last straw: He had the role of a professor in a movie while his co-star, a chimpanzee, got to wear a cowboy suit.

Reagan said he thinks it would be fine if movie-makers never found out what actors do after working hours.

"Seriously, I think one of the weaknesses of the movies is that producers type cast an actor on the basis of their personal opinion and feeling about him instead of his ability to perform."

"There is a terrible lack of imagination in casting. We're stereotypes. They tab us immediately and put us on the shelf. When they need us for a certain part, they reach up and grab us."

Another pillar of movietown, Jean Hersholt, used to play glowering villains in the movies. Then he became Dr. Christian on the radio and president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. Now he's forever cast in roles of the kindly soul.

Were all these moves by the Soviet Union over the past five years part of a super engineered master plan?

Or were these the result of applying force without scruple haphazardly by power-mad and badly informed men?

What in the Russian record of European blunders in the past five years points to wisdom and restraint?

RICHMOND, VA. (AP) — "Please stop printing maps showing the Korean war lines of battle superimposed over this and nearby states for comparison," the letter to the Richmond News Leader said.

Korean War Spotlights Suez

By The Associated Press CAIRO — The Suez canal assumes new importance with the Korean war.

The 100-mile waterway would rank high in strategy if the far-Asian fighting developed into world conflict.

Control of the Suez canal cannot be taken for granted, as in the past. Egypt is going through a phase of intense nationalism. Egypt abstained on the security council resolution to aid South Korea. She announced a "hands off" policy. The press denounced the United States and Britain for trying to persuade Egypt to change her policy.

Danger of Neutrality Some leaders have suggested Egypt go one step further and proclaim "complete neutrality of the Suez canal zone." This would mean that Egypt order the Suez canal closed to ships taking arms and men to the Korean theater.

Why this attitude? Egypt has political grudges against Britain and the United States "who let us down in Palestine."

Another reason stems from economic considerations. The Suez canal nets huge profits. But it is not to become Egypt's exclusive property until 1968. Meantime a private company, "La Societe Universelle du Canal Maritime de Suez" gets the profits. The company is owned by stockholders of various nationalities. Britain is predominant.

Fear of Atomic Bomb In the event of a third world war, and with Egypt active in they will be handed a radioactive no-man's land instead of a profitable waterway.

Responsible Egyptians concede Egypt probably could not legally close the Suez canal to war traffic. The canal's international character is set out unequivocally in the 1888 convention. Egypt signed it on one hand; Britain, Russia, Austria, Spain, France, Italy, Holland, Luxembourg and Turkey on the other. After the Versailles peace conference, 1919-1920, the United States and other countries also signed the Convention.

Open by Treaty Article I of the convention states: "The maritime canal of Suez in war time as well as in peacetime shall remain always free and open to any commercial vessel of warship, without flag distinction."

"Consequently the high contracting parties agree, in war time as well as in peace time, not to restrict in any way the free use of the canal."

"The canal never shall be subjected to exercise of the right of blockade."

The canal is Britain's historic "lifeline of empire." Its closure would increase by weeks sea passage between Britain, the far east, and commonwealth countries and British colonies.

An Anglo Egyptian treaty of alliance, signed in 1936, provided for British troops to garrison the canal area in peace time. Britain pledged Egypt aid "in mutual assistance in case of war or 'threat of war'."

Three Food Demonstrations Scheduled at SUI Candy Thermometer Helps With Most Icing Problems

Three food demonstrations sponsored by the SUI home economics department will be given at 1:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in room 213, Macbride hall.

The demonstrations will be presented by students taking the course in food demonstration. Anyone who would like to attend is welcome, according to Prof. Margaret Jane Brennan of the home economics department.

The program is as follows: Monday—Eunice Patterson, A. Viola, "Feeding the Family from the Freezer." Mrs. Ruth Jones, A. Iowa City, will assist and Mrs. Edna Innes, G. Sloan, will be hostess.

Tuesday—Mrs. Edna Innes, "Master Mixes Mean More Leisure." Assisting her will be Miss Patterson. Hostess will be Mrs. Jones.

Wednesday—Mrs. Jones, "Birthday Treats for Tots and Teens." Mrs. Innes will assist and Miss Patterson will be hostess.

The course in food demonstration develops the art of talking to an audience while working, which is useful in teaching and in commercial food positions, Prof. Brennan said.

In the commercial area, food demonstrations are sponsored by utility, appliance and food companies, she said.

The sweet crusts may be served plain or filled with ice cream or fruit topped with whipped cream. Mrs. Innes will take part in the food demonstration programs Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

'Little Black Dress' Favorite of Women, Meets Any Situation

The "little black dress" for years a favorite of women because of its versatility, is being welcomed back into fashion again this fall.

The 1935 revival version is slim and straight lined, simply cut, with a loose slightly lowered bodice. This is a definite change from last year's tightly fitted tops and flowing skirts.

It will be in smooth wool, jersey or silk, designed to meet any situation depending on the accessories you use.

Worn with a small silk scarf, chamois gloves, tailored gold jewelry, a polished calf pump and handbag, your black wool will be suitable for shopping or informal dates.

Shoes are especially important this year, in a season focused on accessories and shorter hem lengths.

With your daytime accessories, a simple polished leather, suede or reptile walking shoe is ideal. There are many graceful mid-heel styles to choose from this fall.

Colored shoes will be excellent fashion with that basic black this fall. The new, dark red looks will be especially popular.

For dressy occasions you will want to select a pair of suede or velvet pumps.

Candy Thermometer Helps With Most Icing Problems

It is often a problem to make boiled icing that is creamy and yet firm enough to stand up attractively for decorating purposes.

The most common cause of icing failures, experts claim, is incorrect temperature in cooking.

If sugar mixtures are not cooked long enough the icing will be too thin. When cooked too long, the icing will be dry and crumbly.

To be certain icing is cooked exactly the right amount of time, use a candy thermometer. Made of stainless steel, these cooking gauges can be clipped to the side of the pan so the dial is in view.

The next time you bake a cake, use a thermometer and try this recipe for fluffy chocolate icing.

Fluffy Chocolate Icing
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup strong coffee
2 egg whites
1/8 teaspoon salt
2 squares chocolate, melted and cooled

Mix the sugar and coffee in a saucepan, heat and stir until the sugar is dissolved.

Attach the thermometer to the edge of the saucepan so the stem extends into the mixture. Cook without stirring until the thermometer registers 250 degrees Fahrenheit.

When the egg whites and salt, and beat until stiff. Add the syrup to the egg whites gradually, beating constantly.

When the icing is stiff enough to form peaks, fold in the cooled chocolate and mix until blended.

New Cooking Ideas Revive Old Recipes

Many recipes our grandmothers left us have been modernized to use our present-day ingredients and equipment, and have become favorite standbys.

Such a dish is New England baked beans. Made with dried beans, and unsulphured molasses for that "old fashioned" taste, this dish can be baked ahead of time, ready for weekend picnics and meals.

New England Baked Beans
4 cups (2 lbs.) dried beans
4 teaspoons salt
1 large onion
1/2 cup catsup
1 1/2 cups unsulphured molasses
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1/2 lb. salt pork

Wash the beans, cover with cold water and soak overnight. Then add the salt and onion, and if necessary, add more water to cover the beans.

Catsup, Molasses
Simmer the beans until tender, drain off the liquid and save it. Mix the catsup, molasses, pepper, mustard and three cups of bean water. Pour the beans, onion and salt-pork into the beans and add the liquid mixture.

Cover and bake one and three-fourths hours. Then uncover the beans, lift the pork to the top and bake until the pork is brown, 15 to 20 minutes.

For added flavor, just simmer the beans until they are half done or until the skins break, increase the molasses to one cup and bake the beans six to eight hours in a slow oven of 300 degrees.

Phils Down Cards On Hamner's Triple

Roberts Hurls League Leaders to Win, 4-2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gran Hamner's eighth-inning triple with two men on base carried the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the first of a five-game series Friday night.

With two out in the eighth, Del Ennis and Dick Sisler touched Howie Pollet for singles. Then Hamner came through with his triple.

Ennis and Sisler also figured in the other two Phils' runs in the fourth. Ennis singled and scored on Sisler's double. Dick moved up on a sacrifice and counted on Andy Seminick's outfield fly.

Robin Roberts, chalking up his 14th pitching victory, ran his string of scoreless innings to 32-2-3 before Enos Slaughter connected with his tenth homer in the sixth to score Stan Musial.

Roberts, the Michigan State alumnus, set a new season's record of scoreless innings before the crowd of 27,691. Larry Jansen of the New York Giants previously had pitched 32 innings without allowing a run.

Slaughter connected with three of the five hits off Roberts. In addition to his homer he came through with a double and a single.

Braves Club Cubs ..

BOSTON (AP) — After losing seven straight to the Chicago Cubs, the Boston Braves humbled them 10-2 Friday night as Warren Spahn gained his 14th pitching win with a four-hit performance. He had the Cubs blanked out the ninth, when they bunched two of their hits with as many bases on balls for their tallies.

The Braves pounded three rival hurlers for 10 runs and clinched matters in the third inning by slugging Starter Bob Rush for six runs on five hits, two bases on balls and a pair of errors.

All of the Tribesmen except Tommy Holmes participated in the slugfest, during which Roy Hartsfield, Sam Jethroe, Bob Elliott and Spahn each connected safely twice. Jethroe stole his 28th base of the season to help set the stage for the Braves' game-winning outburst.

Lockman's Single Lets Giants Beat Bucs, 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Lockman singled with the bases loaded in the eighth inning Friday night to highlight a three-run rally that gave the New York Giants a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates loaded the bases with one out in the ninth but Relief Pitcher Dave Mueller got into a game ending double-play.

It was the 12th victory in the last 13 starts for the resurgent Giants.

Senators Beat Detroit; Yanks Clip Tribe, 1-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Big Vic Raschi yanked the New York Yankees out of a depressing losing streak Friday night pitching a dazzling 1-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

With a crowd of 66,743 on hand — biggest night crowd for either league this season — Raschi passed out three measly singles in separate innings.

Though occasionally in a tight spot, Pitcher Bob Feller was able to hold the Yankees back except for one inning — the fifth.

In that frame, with one out, Raschi doubled to right and Gene Woodling moved him to third with a single. Raschi was out at the plate on an attempted squeeze play with Phil Rizzuto's punt, but Hank Bauer singled off Joe Gordon's glove, scoring Woodling.

In pitching his 14th triumph, Raschi fanned eight Indians, walked two, and allowed only five to reach first base. Nobody got to second for Cleveland.

DETROIT (AP) — Bob Kuzava overcame sloppy fielding by his teammates and scattered 11 hits to pace the Washington Senators to a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night.

The setback cut the Tigers' American league lead to two games over the New York Yankees.

Southpaw Teddy Gray was beaten in the third inning when he served up a home run ball to Washington Outfielder Sam Mele with Senators' Eddie Yost and Mickey Vernon on base.

Washington scored both its runs on four singles off Starter Ken Holcombe in the third inning as Don Di Maggio and Vern Stephens cashed the RBI safeties.

In pitching his 14th triumph, Raschi fanned eight Indians, walked two, and allowed only five to reach first base. Nobody got to second for Cleveland.

Don't Feel Bad Kids —

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP) — You kids who throw to wrong bases, try to steal second with the bases full or pull some other skull on the baseball field — don't feel too badly about it. You're in pretty fine company.

The major leaguers pull their share of boners, including some you never thought of. Even as you and I. The guys happen to be human, that's all.

The other night, for instance, the Cubs batted out of turn, and even the rinky-dink dinks would hang their head in shame and mortification over such a stunt.

Two Were Alike
In making out the three copies of the batting order — one for the home bench, another for the visitors' bench, and one for the umpires — two were alike, but in the third two names had been transposed.

The Dodgers noted the discrepancy the first time around the Cub batting order, but bided their time. They waited patiently until the proper time to spring the trap. When Carmen Mauro, the man batting out of turn, finally singled to drive in a run, the trap was sprung.

The Dodgers pushed gleefully from the bench, showed the umpires the lineup switch, and that was that. Mauro was declared out, and the run didn't count.

The Dodgers themselves pulled one for the book not long ago when Jackie Robinson and Gil Hodges raced for home side by side like a team of fire horses, both sliding in at the same time.

Admire Each Other
Hodges had been caught in a run-down off third, and Jackie sprinted from second to take third base. Hodges returned to third base, which still belonged to him, and while he and Jackie stood on the bag admiring each other, they were both tagged.

Robinson knew he was out, but decided he might confuse the issue a little by running interference for Gil as the latter dashed for home. Cub Catch Mickey Owen might tag the wrong man.

Mickey played it safe. Slapping around like a man killing ants, he tagged both men as they slid in, and we aren't sure that he didn't tag the umpire who was charging in behind them like a ball carrier.

Just to offset the idea that Ebbets Field is the only scene of screwball happenings, we cite the case of Ken Woodling of the Yankees, who played the role of the disappearing man.

With Yankees on first and second Woodling bunted. The play was made to third base for a forceout, and Woodling breezed across first base a free man.

Then, astonishingly, he stroled

Art Andrews Loses In National Tourney
KALAMAZOO, MICH. — The boy's doubles team of Arthur Andrews, Iowa City, Iowa, and Leigh Strasser, St. Louis, Mo., was beaten Friday in the quarter-finals of the national junior tennis tournament.

Andrews and Strasser were beaten by John Lesch, San Francisco, and Don Pimley, San Leandro, Calif., 6-3, 6-3.
In the singles division of junior boys, unseeded Pablo Eisenberg of Millburn, N.J., scored the biggest upset of the day by whipping third seeded Jacques Grigy, Alhambra, Calif., 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Finding himself after he bungled the first set, Eisenberg roared back to put Grigy on the defensive and take the last two sets easily.

Zaharias Continues to Lead Field In All-American Golf Tournament

BABE ZAHARIAS BALANCED on one foot Friday and applied body English while her putt rolled toward the cup in the second round of the Women's All-American tournament. The Babe sank this putt and recorded a 76 to give her an eight stroke lead.

CHICAGO (UP) — Babe Didrickson Zaharias blasted the Tam O'Shanter course for a par 76 Friday and an eight-stroke lead in the Women's open of the "all-American" golf tournament.

But she was dissatisfied with the round because "I don't play women's par."

The Babe, hitting her drives so far that she needed a wood for her second shot only once in the 18 holes, slipped six strokes from Thursday's course record performance of 70, two under men's par.

But her 146 total for 36 holes left her far ahead of Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Texas, pro, and Beverly Hanson, Pasadena, Calif., amateur, who was deadlocked for second at 154. Both runners-up had 78's Friday combined with 76's Thursday.

The Babe's performance, despite a few mistakes which cost her strokes, was good enough that she was more than an odds-on favorite to increase her lead daily and capture the $900 first prize for women at the finish Sunday.

She had a fine start Friday canning a six foot putt for an eagle on the first hole and counting a birdie on the second. Then she pitched dead for another birdie on the fourth, but thereafter, as the wind came up, she ran into trouble.
Her iron shots continued to go straight for the hole, but she had trouble gauging the distance in the wind and caught traps or fell short frequently.

Art Stevenson, a 27-year-old Miami university student who was 1949 Florida intercollegiate champion, came home in 69 to lead the men's amateur chase. Tallying four birdies and five pars on the front nine, he slipped to two bogies and a birdie on the trip in for his final count, but showed excellent putting throughout the round.

Jimmy McHale, a former pro and now a veteran amateur from Philadelphia, was second with a 70 while Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, Gene Ray Counter, Richmond, Ind., and Gardner Dickinson, Dothan, Ala., tied for third at 71.

Stassforth Takes 3rd In Japanese-American Dual Swimming Meet

TOKYO, JAPAN — Bowen Stassforth of Iowa finished third in the 200-meter breaststroke on Friday night as three recognized world records were bettered in the first day of a dual meet between American and Japanese swimmers.

Robert Brawner of LaSalle college was first in the breaststroke event and Japan's Takao Hankawa placed second. Brawner's time of 2:37.6 shattered the Japanese record of 2:40.4.

The world marks were beaten in the 200-meter freestyle by Japan's Hiroshichi Furuhata; in the 1,500-meter freestyle by Fird Konno, Hawaii's Japanese-American ace who splashed to a big surprise victory, and in the 300-meter medley relay by the U.S. team.

Konno, a 17-year-old U.S. citizen of Japanese ancestry, won the featured metric mile event by creating two of the biggest names in the business — Yale university's John Marshall of Australia and Shiro Hashizume of Japan.

Konno's unexpected triumph helped the Americans establish their 13-8 point lead in the first rain swept night of the three-day dual meet.

BROOKLYN (AP) — Don Newcombe turned in his 11th victory of the season Friday night as he pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 7-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Newcombe scattered seven hits in bagging his third triumph over the Reds.

The Dodgers got enough runs to win the second inning on Cur Furillo's double, Gil Hodges' triple and Roy Campanella's long fly.

Jackie Robinson, the major league's leading hitter, got one hit — a double — in five trips to the plate.

Population Figures Show House Seating Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tentative 1950 population figures indicate six states will gain seats in the house of representatives, while eight will lose.

Iowa, which now has eight seats, will remain the same. Although the final population figures the census bureau will furnish to President Truman in December may change things slightly, the outlook is that:

Seat gains will be: seven for California, two for Florida and one each for Maryland, Michigan, Texas and Washington.

Losses will be: Three for Pennsylvania, two each for New York, Oklahoma and Missouri — President Truman's home state; and one each for Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky and Mississippi.

No more precise determinations are possible now because the preliminary state population figures will be changed by the allocation of some 700,000 persons enumerated away from their homes, chiefly members of ships' crews.

The seat changes are to take effect beginning with the 83rd congress, which will take office in January 1953.

The probable seat changes presented here on the basis of unofficial calculations differ somewhat from earlier data derived from estimates of state populations in 1948.

The census bureau said the 1948 estimates pointed to the following changes:

Seat gains: one each for Florida, Indiana, Michigan, Oregon, Texas and Washington and eight for California.

Seat losses, one each for Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee, two for Pennsylvania and three for New York.

Findings were given to parents, with recommendations for treatment of such physical conditions as infected tonsils or adenoids, dental work, and hearing or sight deficiencies.

Therapists also made recommendations for continuing at home the drills and speech games used in the clinic.

In some cases, home treatment was recommended. For others, speech pathologists or remedial reading classes in the home communities are available for further care.

Many of the children are expected to return for additional work in the clinic this fall or next summer.

Parents conferred with the six staff members of the speech pathology department and 52 student assistants who have worked with the children.

Individual and group therapy methods were explained and demonstrated to the parents, and related movies were shown.

In individual conferences, parents and therapists discussed the particular problems and abilities of each child.

Complete psychological and physical examination of each child had been made at the clinic and University hospitals.

'Reporting For Duty, Sir!'

GI Escapes From North Koreans by Dodging Bullet, Returns With Hair-Raising Story

WITH U.S. TROOPS IN SOUTH KOREA. (UP) — A missing GI turned up at his battalion headquarters Friday with a hair-raising story of having been captured by the North Koreans and narrowly escaping with his life by dodging a would-be executioner's bullet.

"Reporting for duty after being captured by enemy troops, sir," said Pvt. Robert L. Young, Pullman, Mich., to his battalion commander.

Young was wearing a farmer's clothes. What had not been taken by his captors he had traded to the farmer. He had no rifle. The North Koreans had taken that too.

Young's squad had been detailed to observe enemy troop movements while the rest of the platoon attacked a hill Thursday morning.

"We expected the enemy would come from the front," he said, "but they sneaked through the lines and came up from the rear. We heard them give the order to attack and then they were down our necks."

Young was separated. In a few minutes he was surrounded by enemy troops and surrendered.

They told me when they first captured me that they would shoot me — that they shot all prisoners of war, he said.

"They took my weapons and steel helmet, everything but my clothes. We went to an outpost and stayed there about 20 minutes."

Late in the afternoon, his captors decided to take him back to the hill near where he was captured and shoot him. One guard was detailed to take him back.

Part of the way up the hill, Young asked to stop and rest and his guard permitted him to pause.

"An officer shouted down and told my guard to shoot me there," Young said.

"I saw a train and a stone fence," Young said. "The guard put a round in the chamber. I timed him and jumped to one side just as he pulled the trigger. The bullet went over my shoulder."

"He lunged for me. I grabbed his rifle and got it. I turned it around and hit him in the side of the head with it and ran for the fence."

"When I got across I found myself in a farmer's back yard."

Iowa City Catholics Consider Farm Site For Central School

The Paul Langenberg farm, located just outside the city limits on highway 1, is being considered by the Iowa City Catholic community as the site for its proposed Catholic high school.

Atty. William R. Hart, who is handling the option on the 58-acre farm, said Friday the local community has until Aug. 15 to decide whether it wants to purchase the site.

He said that since many of the members of the planning committee are out of town at the present time, he is uncertain what action will be taken.

Earlier this week, Msgr. Carl H. Meinberg, head of the Iowa City Catholic district, said the plan to build a central high school is only a proposal and that no definite action has been taken.

He said the proposal calls for a $1-million building to house both the St. Patrick and St. Mary's high schools and possibly students from parishes surrounding Iowa City.

Adoption of such a project is dependent upon approval of the Catholic laymen in Iowa City, he added.

CARS COLLIDE

Cars driven by Marshall C. Arne, 20, Leland; and James P. Carter, 24, 1905 Muscatine avenue, collided in the 300 block on River street at 4:15 p.m. Friday. Damage to the Arne car was unknown, and damage to the Carter car was estimated at $30, police said.

Elderly Spinster's Death Described as 'Bizarre'

DANBURY, CONN. (AP) — A 74-year-old spinster was buried Friday while the physician who shared her home, wealth and, he said, her love stood with bowed head beside the grave.

Funeral services were held for Miss Elizabeth M. Ayres after an autopsy which was ordered when a medical examiner described her death nine days ago as "bizarre."

Authorities refused to divulge results of the autopsy, saying the findings would remain secret until an inquest Tuesday at Bridgeport.

Dr. Donald F. Gibson, 44, who was named sole beneficiary of an estate valued at between $65,000 and $100,000, stoutly denied that there was anything "bizarre" about her death July 26.

Cab Dispatcher Fined For Striking Man

Byerl Baines, Rainbow cab dispatcher, was fined $12.50 by Police Judge Emil G. Trott Friday on the charge of disturbing the peace Monday by striking Levi Kauffman, Keota.

Kauffman was fined $12.50 for driving an automobile without his lights turned on Monday night.

Both men posted a $2,500 peace bond to prevent further trouble.

In other action, Lloyd Coblentz, 14, Kalona, was fined $12.50 for driving without a driver's license.

Police said the charge was made after his parents, Mr. and

Mrs. Chris Coblentz, complained to police they had not given their son permission to buy a car, nor to get a school permit to drive the car.

James J. Goertz, 610 S. Madison street, was fined $12.50 for failing to observe a stop sign at the corner of North Dodge and East Bloomington streets.

Robert J. Englert, 19, 1020 Carroll street, was fined $17.50 for driving 35 miles an hour in a 20 mile zone.

Everett A. Irish, G. Montrose, has been fined $7.50 on a charge of intoxication.

Helicopters Taxi Service Lifts Morale in Korea War

WITH THE MARINES IN KOREA (UP) — Part of the war in the air stood still Friday when the Marines flew a new weapon over the Korean battlefields.

The new weapon is the helicopter and its ability to stand still in the air is going to put this war on a "paying basis," a pilot said.

The flying windmills went into action for the first time Friday and carried out reconnaissance flights, evacuated wounded and ran a general messenger and taxi service.

"I flew on a reconnaissance patrol with Lt. Gus Lueddeke of Maplewood, N.J., and Maj. Vincent Gottschalk of Pontiac, Mich., scouting ridges along the western front for enemy guerrillas reportedly working down toward the marines' flanks."

Lueddeke, who has been flying helicopters for nearly two years, said they are no mere "gadgets."

"And, we're going to prove it," he said. "They're as indispensable as jeeps in this mountainous country. We can hedgehog anywhere, bring in supplies, carry out wounded, spot for artillery and give ground troops the closest reconnaissance they've ever had."

"One of the greatest contributions these things have made in the war is to marine morale. Every kid down there knows that no matter where he goes we will get him out if he gets hit. There will be no more abandoning our wounded."

House Committeeman Lunges, Curses at Civil Rights Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henderson Lanham, 62-year-old Georgia Democrat, was restrained forcibly by capital guards Friday when he lunged at a Negro witness who had called him a liar during a house committee hearing.

The witness was William L. Patterson, 59, of New York, executive secretary of the Communist-dominated civil rights congress. He had been summoned before the house lobby investigating committee, of which Lanham is acting chairman.

The near-brawl grew out of a bitter exchange over civil rights in Georgia.

Legal lynching in Georgia Patterson remarked that he was busy trying to save Negro defendants from "legal lynching" in Georgia and other southern states when he was subpoenaed to testify before the committee.

Lanham retorted that his state "has never tried to lynch anyone."

"It's a state of lynchers," Patterson said.

"If you say that, it's a lie," Lanham cried. "If there's any state where a Negro gets a fair deal in court, it's in Georgia."

"Yours is a lie too," Patterson shouted.

The portly, balding congressman rose from his seat, flushed and excited, and ran around the committee table. Other members of the committee clutched at his coat-tail and shouted, "Don't do it, don't do it!"

Lanham cursed at Patterson, as he ran toward him.

Two capitol policemen raced across the room and seized Lanham when he was about six feet from Patterson's chair. The usually quiet-spoken congressman struggled to break away from their grip, and it was several moments before he could be subdued.

Patterson, a graying, bespectacled man of medium build, remained seated throughout.

Lanham finally was induced to return to his seat, and the hearing was recessed.

NO SUGAR SHORTAGE

CHARLEROI, PA. (AP) — There's no sugar shortage here and the Gysgem bakery aims to prove it. With every dollar purchase the store gives away a pound of sugar.

Diets for Children Should Be Regulated, SUI Doctor Says

Diets of growing children should be as carefully regulated as those of infants, according to Dr. Phillip C. Jeans, head of the SUI pediatrics (children's) department.

Jeans also is nutrition consultant for the U.S. Public Health service in North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa.

He said poor teeth is a sign that the child's nutrition may be defective. Medical science has not discovered the causes of dental cavities, but it is believed that poor diet may be responsible in some way.

Sunshine Vitamin Three nutrition elements—vitamin D, protein and calcium—should be emphasized during childhood, Jeans said.

Vitamin D, the "sunshine" vitamin, may not be plentiful enough in children during winter, or even in summer, he said.

Giving vitamin D preparations, such as cod liver oil, is a common practice with infants, but it is neglected often during later years.

Calcium, the mineral responsible for building strong bones, and teeth, is another important factor in diet.

Milk Requirements Milk is the best source of calcium. Milk requirements each day are one pint for children two to five years old, one and one-half pints for school children, and a quart for adolescents.

Girls who try to lose weight during early adolescence often fail to drink the proper amount of milk.

The adolescent period is a critical one because then the body is growing rapidly, Jeans said. Milk intake should not be cut because this is the period when dental decay is prevalent.

Protein, the third important nutritional requirement, is lacking in children more often than is realized, he said.

A quart of milk daily will supply more protein to the diet than any other single food.

Chicago Police Tell Gambler to 'Get Lost'

CHICAGO (AP) — Los Angeles gambler Mickey Cohen was released Friday with the advice of police to go lose himself quickly — but not in Chicago.

Chief of Detectives Andrew Aiken told Cohen bluntly that police expect Cohen to get himself killed and they don't want his slaying to mess up Chicago streets.

He invited the dapper little hoodlum to take a powder out of town as fast as possible.

Cohen was quite willing to do just that. He left the Hudson Avenue station, boarded a cab, and disappeared into the traffic of the near north side. He left without saying where he was going.

Infirmary To Give Students Nursing Care

The new student health infirmary, which will open this fall, will round out the student health program by giving nursing as well as medical care.

Dr. Lois Boulware of the student health staff said that the infirmary will be able to take better care of students with minor illnesses by giving them proper food and nursing care.

Students with serious illnesses or injuries have been cared for previously at University hospitals. But a lack of space limited the hospitalized cases to serious ones, she said.

The infirmary will consist of four or five barracks which will be on the south side of University hospitals where the state services for crippled children's offices are located.

It will have two wards, one for men and one for women, offices, and general treatment and utility rooms.

However, the student health's general offices will remain in University hospitals. Eventually, it is hoped that a permanent building will house the infirmary and offices for the staff.

Student health's staff will be increased to about eight doctors and eight nurses. The present staff is five doctors and two nurses.

The infirmary is expected to be ready for use in October, Miss Boulware said.

The crippled children's services plan to move into barracks south of their present location. They will remain there until the hospital school for handicapped children's new building is completed.

Jet Cars a Reality

Motorists May Be Driving Cars With Small, Noiseless Engines in 10 Years

By DON STEFFEN

Ten years from now, the American motorist may be driving a car powered by a noiseless engine which will last indefinitely, be light enough to be lifted by two women, and small enough to be tucked into the baggage compartment.

The entire transmission with clutch and gears, the present radiator and plumbing system, will all be eliminated in the car of the future, which will have an engine operating on a modification of the jet engine.

Without the transmission, power will be distributed to each wheel separately through a generator supplying electricity for a small electric motor on each wheel.

The speed of these motors, and thereby the power to the wheels, can be regulated by controlling the amount of electricity delivered to the motors.

That will enable the turbine engine to be run at an easy, constant speed while the speed and power of the electric motors can be varied for loads or hills.

Four-Wheel Drive That will also mean a real four-wheel drive. Further it will enable the car wheels to be operated at different speeds around curves.

This engine will affect the entire design of cars in the future. With the elimination of the radiator, the bulky transmission and much of the engine size, cars of the present size will carry 10 people more comfortably than five can be carried now.

The engine easily can be placed in the rear of the car, and the car, because of the absence of a drive shaft, can be built closer to the ground.

The best part of this engine, however, is that it is not a pipe-dream. It is already in existence. It is the gas turbine engine that has grown out of experiments on jet engines for military aircraft during the last war.

Turns Conventional Shaft The gas turbine engine now in existence, however, turns a conventional drive shaft instead of delivering power directly to the wheels.

With the present gas turbine, perfection of this car of the future awaits only the designing of the generators and electric motors of the right size.

Already, an English company has a small gas turbine in a pleasure car for testing.

The Boeing aircraft company of America has a turbine-powered truck undergoing extensive road tests in the mountains of Washington right now.

For a year the Union Pacific has used a gas turbine powered locomotive, and in Pennsylvania, Westinghouse has been testing a similar locomotive.

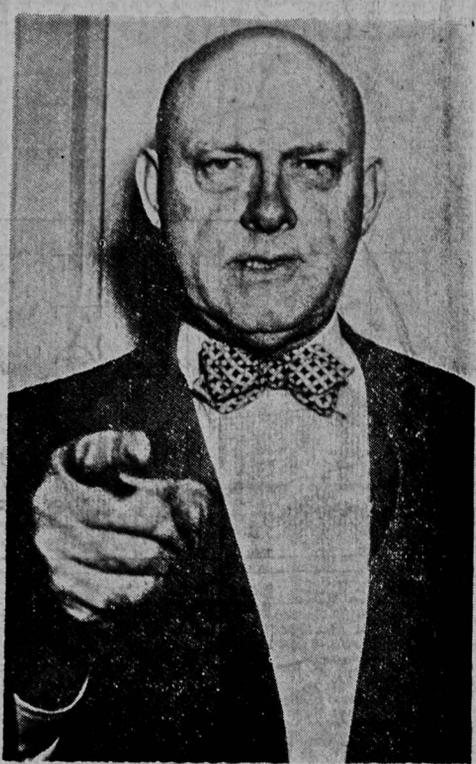

Generates Same Horsepower In comparison with present diesel engines, the Boeing truck engine generates the same horsepower, weighs one-tenth as much, takes up one-thirteenth the space, one-sixth the parts, has only half a dozen bearings and two rotating wheels.

Few moving parts reduce friction and give another advantage. At temperatures of 65 degrees F., most engines are difficult to start, but the turbine can be started, warmed and stepped up to full power in 60 seconds.

The turbine will operate on kerosene, diesel fuel, high or low octane gas, and some have been designed to burn pulverized coal. This means a relatively cheaper fuel source.

Boeing engineers express the belief that the next 10 years will see the advent of the gas turbine in pleasure cars.

Angry Representative Calls Names

REP. HENDERSON LANHAM (D-Ga.) poses after rushing and swearing at William J. Patterson, executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, at a house lobby investigating meeting. As he shouted an epithet, Lanham doubled his fists and raced toward Patterson, a Negro, who had just swapped accusations with him. Capitol policemen restrained the congressman.

Fails Physical, Works for Draft Board

CHARLES F. GIDDINGS, A VACATIONING merchant seaman, returned to his draft board office after failing his physical examination and offered to lend a hand out of gratitude. "You've been so nice to me," he said. "It's the least I can do to help you out during my vacation." Here he tackles a job the grateful officials gave him.

Street Wet, Cars Collide, Drivers Report to Police

Two car drivers reported to police their cars collided because of a wet brick street at the intersection of Madison and Washington streets about 7:15 a.m. Friday.

The accident occurred as Roselle E. Berg, 26, 1019 E. Washington street, was turning into Washington street and Kenneth R. Schnobelen, 22, 1925 H street, was coming down Washington street. The two cars slid into each other, they reported.

Damage to the Berg car was estimated at $75 and damage to the Schnobelen car at $175, police said.

Iowan Told To Diet, Then Commits Suicide

PRINCETON, IOWA (AP) — A 300 pound man who became despondent after his physician placed him on a reducing diet, ended his life here Friday with a shotgun.

Deputy Sheriff Al Bloom identified him as Carl Tilton, 54, formerly of Des Moines. Tilton had operated a farm here for the last two and a half years.

Cornor C.H. Wildman ruled the death a suicide. Tilton's wife said he became despondent because he could not follow the reducing diet.
