U.S., South Koreans Launch Attack To Recapture Pohang

TOKYO (SATURDAY) (AP) — American and South Korean troops launched a counterattack to take Pohang, important east coast port, from 3,000 North Koreans who seized it Friday night.

As the counter thrust started on the northern front, the central front burst into activity. American infantrymen clashed in hand-to-hand combat with North Korean shock troops who made a new crossing of the Nakdong river west of Taegu.

The counterblow at Pohang, second most important UN port in Korea, was announced in an Eighth army communique issued at noon. It said the town, which fell Friday night, was held by 3,000 Reds.

During the night a column of American tanks moved in to help the embattled American defenders to hold to Pohang's airfield and port facilities, outside the town proper. Destroyers came into the harbor and swung their guns shoreward. Battle-tested South Korean troops rushed to the area in preparation for the counter-attack.

Across the beachhead 50 miles westward, the Korean Reds threw two punches at the American and South Korean defenders of the Nakdong line protecting the communications center of Taegu. It might be the start of the long-awaited all-out push on the city but it was too early to say for sure.

The Reds sent about 300 men across the river into the First Cavalry division front and the Americans met them with fixed bayonets in fierce hand-to-hand battle. To the north the Reds pushed against the South Korean

First division with 10 tanks which they got across the Nakdong Friday night. The Reds were reported to have five tanks still were roaming east of the Nakdong.

This was the picture along the 140-mile battlefield from south to north around the beachhead:

Marines Capture Kosong in Drive On Southern Flank

WITH U. S. MARINES IN KOSONG, KOREA (AP) — The U. S. Marines Friday captured Kosong, largest city to fall to the Americans in their current attack on the southern flank of the Korean front.

The Marines drove out the North Korean Reds and took over the city at about noon. The leathernecks had fought through the night against stiff Red opposition which crumbled just before Kosong was occupied.

Kosong was a battered, flaming hulk of a city as the Marines drove in. Leatherneck fighter-bombers and artillery had riddled Kosong and set large sections afire. (Kosong's normal population is 50,000.)

In their advance against the Reds — whose withdrawal was a near rout — the Marines captured enemy arms and equipment including at least 10 Russian-made three-passenger motorcycles and a half dozen Soviet-made jeeps. They also bagged sizeable quantities of ammunition, clothing and small arms.

As the Marines edged into Kosong the Reds left by the back door. Leatherneck Corsair pilots, however, caught one column estimated at 800 men and strafed it savagely and repeatedly.

The advance into Kosong was made easier for the Marines by a leatherneck reconnaissance patrol commanded by Lt. Donald Sharon, Bakersfield, Calif., which Thursday afternoon spotted a Red ambush and killed 32 of the enemy who were hoping to waylay the main Marine column.

50,000 Air Reserves 'Initial Requirement'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airforce and the army announced Friday they are calling up 59,444 reserves.

The airforce said it expects to put 8,000 officers and 42,000 enlisted men into active service by early fall. It spoke of this number as the "initial requirement."

Most of these officers will be of the rank of captain or below. The enlisted reservists are persons with military skills which are needed.

Previously the airforce had said it was summoning reservists, on a voluntary and involuntary basis, but the figures — had not been given.

The army is ordering 9,444 male reserve officers from all over the country into active service.

There are two general groups.

1. A total of 1,582 from the active and inactive medical, dental, veterinary and medical service corps of the officers reserve corps; up to the grade of major in the medical and medical service group, lieutenant colonel in the dental corps, and major in the veterinary corps.

2. A total of 1,908 captains and 6,054 lieutenants in 16 branches who are not assigned to organized reserve units. They will be on active duty by Oct. 6, assigned to 21 months' service unless relieved sooner or unless the period is changed by law.

Age limits for the captains and lieutenants called in the 16 combat and services groups must be met.

The army said that these captains and lieutenants will include both active and inactive members of the organized reserve corps. The active members are those active in training programs.

Have Priority

The army announced that military units whose destination is the Far East have priority in the assignment of the reserve officers involuntarily called to duty.

The army's action obviously resulted from lack of enough response to its appeal for volunteers from its reservist of specialists.

In congress, sharp complaints have been made that not enough of the medical men trained at government expense during the last war have joined up.

Five Categories

The army's announcement emphasized that it "will continue to make every effort to secure officers on a voluntary basis."

The department further set up five categories from which the medical, dental, veterinary and medical service men will not be drawn unless otherwise directed.

One group includes such officers residing in communities where public health would be "unduly jeopardized" by their being ordered to extended active duty.

The other four categories:

1. Reserve medical officers who have not completed a year of interne training.

2. Reserve medical and dental officers who are "senior residents" prior to completion of the current year's training.

3. Reserve officers in the medical, dental, veterinary or medical service listings who are taking post-graduate courses in their work or allied sciences. The deferment will last until they complete the current academic year.

4. Reserve medical, dental, veterinary and medical service officers whose activity in teaching, research and the like are necessary to the national interest.

Local Boy Discharged From Polio Ward

An eight-year-old Iowa City boy, Ross Hitchcock, has been discharged from the polio ward at University hospitals, officials reported Friday.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Hitchcock, who live one-half mile north of Iowa City.

Three more polio patients have been admitted for treatment. They are Nancy Anderson, 16, Primghar; Willard Targrim, 14, Decorah, and Melvin Fruen, 19, Donnellson. All were reported in fair condition.

Two patients, Dean Carlson, 4, Decorah, and Mrs. Ruth Grove 32, Ottumwa, were transferred to the inactive ward.

The total number of active polio cases at University hospitals now stands at 11.

Deportation Faces Twelve Mexicans

OMAHA (AP) — Robert Chamberlain, head of the U.S. immigration office here, said Friday 12 Mexicans picked up in eastern Iowa would be returned to Mexico next week.

Chamberlain said they would be taken by train to San Antonio, Tex., and returned to Mexico from there. The men were taken into custody Tuesday and Wednesday as they worked on farms in the vicinity of Iowa City.

According to officials, they entered the United States illegally near Hidalgo, Tex., late last year or early in 1950.

Roughing It Teacher Starts Solo Trip Down River

HITE, UTAH (AP) — A diminutive, 35-year-old Chicago art teacher Friday began a three-week solo boating trip down the treacherous, rapids-filled Colorado river on a combined "roughing it" and painting excursion.

Miss Florence Kibler, 100-pound instructor at the Chicago academy of arts institute, is very much an amateur at boating. But she could find no one in this isolated "four-corners" country who could spare three weeks on a boating trip.

So, despite the fact that she crashed her outboard motor-powered navy assault boat into a ferry in a "practice" session, she decided on the solo excursion.

Stewart Campbell, Salt Laker who outfitted her for the trip, reported the intrepid art teacher killed the motor of her boat as she entered the first rapids below Hite.

"When last we saw her," Campbell said, "the boat was moving into the rapids sideways."

'This Is the Front Line'

NAVAL BASE IN JAPAN (AP) — A heavy U.S. cruiser stood off shore in the Yongdok area providing night bombardment support to the infantry.

A navy officer made contact with an army shore spotter. He asked what kind of shells were needed.

"Fire for effect. Illumination!" was the reply.

The navy sent up salvos of star shells.

The officer asked again what was needed.

"Fire for effect. Illumination!" came the answer.

The gunnery officer was indignant at his inability to use explosives. "Get an officer on that radio," he shouted. "Let me talk to your commanding officer."

"Officers!" was the reply. "Man, there ain't no officers here. This is the front line."

Senate Committee Votes $3-Billion Income Tax Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate finance committee voted unanimously Friday to increase individual income taxes by about 3-billion. But it said all federal taxes should be removed from GI's below commissioned officer rank now fighting the Korean war.

This is what it will mean, if the senate and house approve, as they are expected to do:

1. Uncle Sam will begin digging deeper into the pockets of over 50-million individual taxpayers on

House Votes 54 Contempt Citations

WASHINGTON (AP) — At a 54-minute clip, the house voted contempt citations Friday against 54 persons, including four atomic scientists and the general manager of the Communist newspaper Daily Worker.

All had been summoned as witnesses by the house un-American activities committee, and all had refused to answer questions about communism. The committee recommended that they be cited for contempt of congress, and the house agreed overwhelmingly.

The citations will be referred to the department of justice for prosecution. Conviction of contempt of congress is punishable by as much as a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

European Assembly Okays United Army

STRASBOURG, FRANCE (AP) — The European consultative assembly adopted Friday night, 89 to 5, a motion by Winston Churchill urging creation of a united European army for defense of the West. There were 27 abstentions.

The motion, as revised in a 20-man committee which included the veteran British Conservative leader, provides that the unified army would serve under a European ministry of defense.

Churchill said he would not be a candidate for the proposed post of defense minister.

He urged in a speech the creation of a unified army, including German troops, and the dispatch of large armed forces from Britain and the United States to guard western Europe against Soviet aggression.

U.S. Airforce, Army Calling Up 60,000 Reservists By This Fall

Marines seized Kosong and Reds trapped southeast of Chinju (E) were trying to fight their way out.

Taft's Relection Campaign Developing Into Real Contest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft's (R-Ohio) reelection campaign appears to be developing into a contest worth watching.

This was disclosed Friday by Presidential Secretary Charles Ross.

Ross told reporters that Mr. Truman — who has been turned down on all his repeated requests for congress to set up universal military training (UMT) — still strongly favors the plan.

But Ross said Mr. Truman doesn't want the controversial training program to come up at a time when it might interfere with so much legislation he considers vital to Korean war needs.

Yet Ross hardly had completed his comments before George Craig, national commander of the American Legion, left a conference with the President and announced:

The Legion will go all-out to get a UMT bill through congress this year.

Some Ohio observers rate it as close to a 50-50 fight as of now.

They point to these factors:

1. Labor is working hard to get out votes to defeat Taft, co-author of the Taft-Hartley act.

2. Possible effects on the voters of the Korean war situation and Taft's opposition to giving the administration some of the strong economic control powers it has asked.

3. Ferguson has a widespread organization of his own, in addition to the strong labor support.

Truman Won't Ask for UMT At This Session of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman thinks this country should have compulsory military training for all youths, but he won't press for such a program at this session of congress.

This was disclosed Friday by Presidential Secretary Charles Ross.

Ross told reporters that Mr. Truman — who has been turned down on all his repeated requests for congress to set up universal military training (UMT) — still strongly favors the plan.

War Shipment — Hosiery, Lingerie, Baby Bottles?

AT A SOUTH KOREAN PORT (AP) — A shipment of ladies' lingerie, hosiery, babies' bottles, but the warmers and expensive luggage arrived at a South Korean port recently.

He didn't know how the shipment happened to reach the war front.

U.S. Soviet Films in Propaganda War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian film showed a lion licking a lady's ear, a manicured mutt and a striker slugged by a cop.

This is America! a commentator shouted.

The American movie gravely portrayed President Truman, an empty Russian seat in the United Nations, refugees in South Korea.

That, said a spokesman seriously, is why America fights in the Orient.

It may sound like a game, but it's a deadly serious propaganda war. The stake is the minds and allegiance of the people of the world. The contrasting films were shown to newsmen by the state department.

The U.S. version, with which the department seeks to blanket the free world, gives the American side of the Korean dispute. A calmly reasoned job, it runs 12 minutes and tries to explain, with intelligence and directness why the west jumped to the aid of the South Koreans.

One thousand copies have been sent out, with dialogue in 22 languages. The film was completed only four days after arrival of the first shots — presentation of a UN flag to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo.

The Russian film only takes four minutes. It is intended for use in the Russian zone of Germany.

Opening with flashy shots of New York City buildings to the tune of a noisy jazz accompaniment, it depicts this as the facade that hides America's corruption.

It shifts to spectacles — an airplane crashing, an automobile stunt driver plunging through flame, wrestlers fighting in mud, a blood driving down a Hollywood boulevard with a lion licking her ear.

"Why doesn't the lion bite?" the Soviet narrator demands sarcastically. "Because he prefers Wrigley's chewing gum." All this, says the film, shows how thrill-mad Americans are.

Police are shown beating a striker and dragging him away. A shot of a show dog getting a manicure is followed by scenes of children playing in the filth of a city slum.

"How much longer before this facade falls?" challenges the narrator.

Then a map shows Communist successes in the Far East and the narrator concludes: "In the United States as well as the rest of the world, progress can not be stopped."

The state department hopes its more reasoned documentary film will work. Some uneducated persons who see it abroad might consider it a bit dull alongside the Soviet spectacle.

Weapons Captured From Korean Reds Made by Russians

WITH A CARRIER-BASED MARINE AIR GROUP IN KOREA — All the weapons the Communists abandoned as they retreated on the Ch'nju front were made in Russia, American marines said Friday.

Most of them were made during or before World War II, the marines said, but they were in good working order.

Captured rifles, machine guns and automatic weapons were tossed into a growing pile by marine corps ground troops who chased the North Koreans across the plains on the southern tip of Korea.

Maj. Charles Brush Jr., Monclair, N. J., said marine patrols also had found freshly dug Communist emplacements and fox-holes which had been abandoned on high ground the marines seized Thursday.

Sgt. W. J. Bush, New York City, said the captured Communist equipment was 100 percent Russian.

"Some of it was in excellent condition," Bush said.

A number of telescopic-sighted rifles were among the weapons. One marine said they were "better than any we have in the marines." PFC Royal Kaiser, North Tonawanda, N. Y., lost no time in fitting an enemy scope onto his own rifle.

"Most of the weapons were of World War II vintage or earlier. But as Capt. H. R. Johnson, Mount Ayr, Iowa, said:

"Even though most of the stuff given the North Koreans is cast off, it still is excellent."

The Russian-made light machine guns resemble the American Browning automatic rifle, but it fires more rounds.

Two Professors Publish Text Books

Two books scheduled for publication this month in Iowa are the result of graduate research in mass communications at IUI, according to Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism.

"The Newspaperman and the Law," the doctoral dissertation of Prof. Walter A. Steigleman, is a study of laws affecting the press. Steigleman was recently appointed associate professor of journalism at IUI and was formerly associate professor of journalism at Indiana University.

A master of arts thesis by Prof. Arthur Wimer, "Writing for the Business Press," is a study on the writing techniques and requirements of the specialized field of business paper writing. Wimer, formerly assistant professor of journalism at IUI, recently accepted the chairmanship of the department of journalism at San Diego State College in California.

Both books are being published by the William C. Brown company of Dubuque.

McKAY RE-ENLISTS DES MOINES (AP) — John B. McKay, 30, Des Moines, who received 21 decorations in World War II, has re-enlisted in the army.

Iowa Second in Nation in Percent of Aged

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa's population includes a greater percentage of persons 65 or older than any other state except New Hampshire.

This was shown in a summary released Friday by the district office of the social security administration. The figures, latest available on the matter, are based on July 1, 1948.

Various other studies made in this state only since that date have shown that the average age of Iowans has been increasing steadily.

The federal statistics showed 9.8 percent of Iowa's population on July 1, 1948, was 65 or older. In New Hampshire, 10.1 percent of the population was 65 or older on that date. The nationwide percentage then was 7.5 percent 65 or older.

In connection with release of the figures the district social security office said the first national conference on aging will be held in Washington Sunday through Tuesday.

"With twice as many older people as a generation ago, the usefulness of our older citizens is both a great concern and a great opportunity for every community in this part of the country," a statement issued by the office said.

The statement, over the name of James W. Doorn, regional director in Kansas City, said further: "Fifty years ago the proportion of older people in our national population was 1 out of 25. Today it is 1 out of 13.

"During the war, older workers proved that they can help to man the production line of defense industry. No less important in time, they represent a community resource; and they are certainly entitled to community help in living an active and useful life."

The conference was called by the social security administration at the request of President Truman. About 800 leaders in various fields from all parts of the country will discuss jobs for older workers. They also will consider leisure, religious interests, family and community activities.

South Carolina and New Mexico tied for having the lowest percentage of population 65 or older. In each state the figure was 4.7 percent.

In California, to which many Iowans and residents of other states have gone for retirement, the percentage of those 65 or older on July 1, 1948, was 8.1.

'We're Behind You, Sam!'

London Still Smacks of War

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles by Ruth A. Jackson, telling how it's possible to tour Europe "On a Shoestring."

By RUTH A. JACKSON Central Press Correspondent

LONDON — London, that gray old city of history, still has the war on her mind. That, plus the usual pall of smoke which sometimes turns into rain — and the affliction of food. Tea, potatoes with no gravy to camouflage their shivering nakedness, tea, mutton, tea . . . and everything you've read about English plumbing is true.

As usual I found poking about small out-of-the-way sections interesting. I went out to some of the workmen's districts and fought my way along some of the stony counters. A red-bearded artist showed me Chelsea, the artist's section, with the romantic Blue Cockatoo restaurant and two interesting pubs. Most English pubs, in fact, are interesting, and English ale makes up for deficiency of their closing at 10.

Here's the recipe for an enjoyable evening: Pick out a quaint old pub with bottle windows that give off a mellow glow, especially when the fog is curling about the outside. Then bang elbows and sing with the local citizenry. They're perhaps more friendly than Americans and very interesting.

London is the hub of worthwhile-to-visit suburbs: Hampton Court, Windsor, Eton, Oxford. You can get to most via the Thames river. Windsor, for instance, is packed with sights: A river, a great forest, quaint old houses and streets, a full-fledged castle. There's a race track — Ascot — nearby, and if the season's on, you can lose your shillings to the bookies in the best of top-hatted English society. I even saw some blue and lavender blobs which, I was told, were the royal family.

But it's the little differences that travel books never mention that you'll find are worth all the bother and inconvenience of travel . . . the wonderful English sense of humor. Where else could you find a menu bravely hanging in the windows flaunting "Fresh (?) egg omelet"? The friendliness of the man on the street (sometimes too friendly?), who, even in busy London, will take time to direct you. The furled black umbrellas and stiff black hats to which tall, especially thin, Englishmen are addicted.

The sudden turn of a corner that brings you to an old store or inn or church that the world has loved for hundreds of years. The English accent (Yes, they really say "Right" and "Cheerio"). These and a hundred other little things are why you should sit down right now and start planning that trip for next summer.

Tips — Reserve a hotel early. Park benches are dirty and fog-shrouded. Spend time with a map before venturing out into the maze of London. Study the intricacies of English money. Taxi drivers and waitresses have been known to short change Americans fumbling with those queer fractions of coins.

British UN Delegate Joins Battle Against Russian Propaganda

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — Britain swung her heaviest oratorical artillery Friday into the propaganda battle for Asia in the United Nations.

Sir Gladwyn Jebb, one-time "back-room boy" of the British foreign office and one of its most accomplished debaters, was scheduled to attack the Soviet propaganda line on Korea when the security council meets at 1 p.m. (Iowa time).

Ambassador Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate, opened the western barrage against Soviet Delegate Jakob A. Malik Thursday in a telling speech in which he accused Russia of supporting "the zombie government of North Korea" and declared that the UN had no evidence that Russia does not "still control by military force all areas north of the 38th parallel."

Austin's salvo came immediately after Malik, in a private meeting, refused to end Russia's obstruction of the UN's program for Korea. It set the pattern for what is in store at security council meetings in the remainder of Malik's month-long term as president.

A series of hard-hitting western speeches aimed at countering Russia's propaganda in Asia.

Jebb is expected to deliver a strong attack against international communism and to deride the Russian contention that the Korea conflict is simply a civil war between North and South Korea.

Malik's insistence on an early adjournment Thursday led observers to believe he wanted to contact Moscow for directives on his fuller statement on Soviet arms in Korea.

Two Spirit Lake Men Fined for Having 'Slots'

SPIRIT LAKE, (AP) — Harley Higley and William Rohlf of Terril pleaded guilty in district court Friday to charges of illegal possession of gambling devices.

They were fined $100 and costs by District Judge Harry Narey. The pleas and fine followed a raid last night on the Rohlf and Higley pool hall in Terril.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer Eckard of Milford, who made the raid, seized two slot machines and a dice cup. Judge Narey ordered them destroyed.

Wisconsin Legion Considers Plan to Censure McCarthy

GREEN BAY, WIS. (AP) — A resolution to publicly censure Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) if investigation of his charges of Communism in government shows them to be false will be presented to the Wisconsin American Legion convention today.

The resolution was drafted by the Marinette county council. It will be introduced at a business session by the Americanism committee, acting for the council.

The interim committee, which passes on all resolutions submitted in advance of the convention, rejected the proposal.

The resolution said the senator's charges should be investigated by an impartial legion committee. The group would be composed of legionnaires who hold no office in the organization and would be instructed to conduct a "full, fair, impartial, non-political and non-partisan investigation of the charges made by McCarthy."

Proper steps should be taken, the resolution added, to rid the government of Communists if the senator's accusations were correct.

"If the investigation should disclose the charges have been made in bad faith and without bona fide reasonable basis of fact," it continued, "the national department of the legion should publicly censure McCarthy and take such other action against him as the facts and circumstances shall warrant."

The opening session of the convention, with about 1,800 delegates in attendance, began with an address by Adm. J. Cary Jones, commandant of the ninth naval district.

Adm. Jones said the Korean conflict is "not a small war." If we fail there, he said, "there will not be any American way of life left in the world, and we don't plan to give that up."

King, Queen Visit Expectant Princess

LONDON (AP) — King George and Queen Elizabeth slipped almost unnoticed into Clarence house through a side door just after dusk Friday night to visit their daughter, Princess Elizabeth, who expected her second baby at any hour.

Shortly afterwards Sir William Gilliat and Sir John Weir, the royal obstetricians, arrived. They remained with their 24-year-old patient for 30 minutes, then departed.

King George and Queen Elizabeth stayed an hour and a half. "The princess' parents called after the Duke of Edinburgh, a nervous expectant father, visited Buckingham palace for consolation. He came out two hours later looking as though King George had told him not to worry."

Princess Philip has been pacing the floors of Clarence house, his and Elizabeth's home, for 48 hours, probably recalling the long, difficult time his wife had with their first baby, "Bonnie Prince Charles."

Elizabeth, her friends said, remained in her room and telephoned her sister, Princess Margaret, who is visiting in Scotland.

UN to Outwait Malik's Tirades

By J.M. ROBERTS JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The non-Communist bloc in the United Nations has backed away from all suggestions that it "get tough" with Soviet Russia over her delaying tactics in the security council.

There have been suggestions for rules changes, for a "walkout" during Russia's August chairmanship, for ouster of Malik as chairman, for referral of the council's business to the general assembly and what not.

To start changing the rules would set a precedent for a fight over changes every time they hamper somebody. The general feeling about walkouts or tactical adjustments is to let Russia have all the pleasure of such tactics. There is really no urgent business to justify a call for the general assembly.

There might be something to a meeting of the little assembly, where the same delegates could contribute their words to the propaganda war as members of a committee rather than of the general assembly.

But on the whole, the present attitude seems to be to grin and bear it — or at least to bear it, meanwhile preparing to answer Malik's propaganda tirades.

President Truman's description of the Russian tactics as a filibuster is not the whole story. The principal Russian reason for returning to the council hall which it boycotted for seven months was not merely to obstruct. The positive purpose was to conduct a battle for the mind of Asia, to work on anti-western sentiment in that area, and to exploit differences between the western powers over Asiatic policy especially with regard to Communist China.

Having then, dropped the tactical battle to curb Malik in the security council the non-Communist delegates will draw up their foreign news for a bitter if futile world battle. It may be a good thing in some respects, that some of the smaller countries will join in this effort, as Ecuador already has. One Russian tactic is always to seek to arouse resentment among these smaller countries by labeling them satellites of the west. They themselves can provide the best answer for this.

There's something else that occurs to me, though. There is plenty of need for western propaganda — a propaganda of truth and, more important, of deeds.

The increased domestic supply of great importance, McMahon indicated, because an expansion of U.S. A-bomb production is tied closely to the availability of more raw materials.

Production of relatively low-grade carnotite uranium ore on the Colorado plateau has been sharply increased, and improved processing facilities have made it easier and cheaper to use these ores.

In addition, there are hopeful indications that rich pitchblende deposits may be found in upper Michigan and near Marysvale, Utah.

"We are now getting more uranium ore in the United States than we are getting from Canada," McMahon told a news conference.

Chairman Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) of the congressional atomic energy committee reported the achievement but withheld detailed figures on production for security reasons.

He said the bulk of the uranium ore fed into U.S. atomic plants still comes from the Belgian Congo, but that the rich fields of northern Canada no longer are the second most important source of supply.

U.S. Uranium Mines Replacing Canadian As Second Source

WASHINGTON (AP) — Domestic uranium mining has been stepped up to the point where this country now is producing more of its own A-bomb material than it buys from Canada.

Governor Hails Progress Of Iowa Safety Congress

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. William S. Beardsley Friday night described the new life-saving campaign by the Iowa Safety congress as the first combined statewide effort toward a continuous program of safety education.

Addressing a statewide rally preliminary to launching a "drive right" campaign Aug. 22 to Sept. 5, the governor praised the "impressive progress" made by the congress since it was organized last February.

"Government and people are co-operating, more than ever before, for the conservation of life and property," Beardsley continued.

He emphasized that two major immediate goals are the "drive right" campaign to save a life each day, and the safety poster campaign to place a safety message in every office and business.

Beardsley urged that further efforts be made to put the congress on a permanent basis in every county, and emphasized that the task is one which must go on month after month and year after year.

The governor described accidents as a "tragic waste of human and economic resources" and said the state's accident toll has become a "true emergency, demanding emergency action."

"We must continue to call on every citizen, again and again," he declared, "to do everything in his power to check the appalling loss of life and property caused by traffic accidents, home and industrial accidents, accidents of every nature."

Kahl Elected Chairman
At a meeting of the congress board earlier in the day, State Safety Commissioner Alfred W. Kahl was elected chairman of the organization. Succeeding him as secretary will be State Senator Pearl W. McMurray (R-Corydon).

McMurray will replace Kahl, who resigned, as state safety commissioner Sept. 1.

Lew Warren of Oelwein and Fred F. Fisher of Villisca were named vice chairmen of the congress.

Gala Freeman Wed to Harlan DeGooyer Here

Gala Freeman, 24½ S. Clinton street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Freeman, Granville, was married to Harlan DeGooyer, 43, 125 N. Clinton street, in the little chapel of the Congregational church, Friday afternoon.

Mr. DeGooyer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John DeGooyer, Sarnborn. The Rev. Robert R. Sanks performed the double ring service.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Robert Geiger, Iowa City, as maid of honor. John DeGooyer Jr., D1, Sarnborn, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and Robert Geiger, G, Iowa City, was usher.

After the wedding, a dinner at 5:30 p.m. in the Amana colonies, was held for the wedding party.

Mr. DeGooyer, a junior in commerce at SUJ, is employed by the Aldens Inc. department store in Iowa City.

The couple will live in Iowa City.

Cohen carried $2,402 cash, police reported.

Losses in the televisions, reflecting profit-taking, ranged to more than 2 points in Motorola and Philco.

Profit-taking also reduced prices of such rent favorites as the Standard gas issues, some of the aircrafts and motors. General Motors, selling the regular way, was down 1 3/8 at 89 1/8.

Steels eased fractions, nickel plate equaled its high at 121 up 3 points and held most of it to feature a mixed rail group.

AFL Leaders Brand Stockholm Petition As 'Rank Fraud'

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Federation of Labor Friday urged congress to restore cutbacks in postal service and moved to strengthen its forces in discussing unity with the CIO.

The AFL executive council, winding up its annual mid-summer meeting, also commented on foreign affairs. It branded the so-called "Stockholm peace petition" circulated by Communists and left-winger as a "rank fraud."

Postal Situation
The executive council asked restoration of the postal cutbacks of April 17 because "our boys are going into battle lines again."

"In addition to the real lift in morale that front line soldiers receive from mail from home, there is urgent need for good mail service on the home front, particularly during the mobilization of or national economy and industry," the AFL said.

Unity Committee
President William Green reported that the AFL has increased its unity committee from three to nine members to match the number on the parallel CIO committee.

"We realize that there are great difficulties which must be overcome, but we are willing to continue our efforts to work for labor unity," Green said.

Iowa Boy Killed by Car While Riding Bicycle

ROYAL (AP)—Ronnie Anderson, 11, of Royal, was killed Friday when the bicycle on which he was riding was struck by an automobile.

The accident happened on a gravelled road four miles south of Royal.

Coroner L. F. Frink said the driver of the car, Bob Wetherall, of Peterson, told authorities that he honked his horn, and that the boy looked around, turning the wheel as he did and falling into the path of the car.

College All Stars Whip Eagles, 17-7

Dr. Anderson's Spirited Team Never Behind

CHICAGO (AP)—A fired aggregation of college football All-Stars Friday night scored a stunning upset, defeating the Philadelphia Eagles, 17-7.

The surprising victory over the defending champions of the National Football League, favored by 14½ points, was scored in flood lighted Soldier Field before a thrilled crowd of 88,885 spectators.

It soothed a 38-0 shellacking the Eagles registered over the collegians a year ago.

FIRST PERIOD.

The All-Stars marched 54 yards in seven plays to a touchdown. North Carolina's Charley Justice streaked 31 yards and 12 yards to spark an All-Star drive to the Eagle five. After Ohio State's Fred Morrison smashed four yards in two tries to the Eagle one, Ralph Pasquariello, Villanova, rolled into the end zone to score. Gordon Soltan, Minnesota, converted.

The Eagles bounded back and, starting on their own 39-yard line, marched to four straight first downs to the Stars' 16 as the first period ended with the score: All-Stars 7; Eagles 0.

SECOND PERIOD.

The Eagles' drive bogged down when big Leon Hart of Notre Dame smeared Thompson for a 17 yard loss on the All-Stars' 33. Patton's field goal try from the All-Stars' 41 hit the goal post and bounced off. Justice raced for a 47-yard gain, but the All-Stars' bid failed when Soltan's field goal attempt was far short.

After Hall Haynes, Santa Clara, twice disrupted the Eagles—by intercepting a Thompson pass and recovering a fumble by Scott—The All-Stars struck for their second touchdown. Apparently hopelessly trapped far behind the scrimmage line, Eddie Le Baron, College of Pacific, flipped a pass to Justice, who scooted 35 yards for another All-Star touchdown. Soltan converted, and the All-Stars led 14-0, as the half ended.

THIRD PERIOD.

The Eagles gained possession deep in All-Stars' territory when Barnes recovered Le Baron's fumble on the collegians' 28. However, after an Eagles' thrust to the Stars' 17, Meyers fumbled and Bill Svoboda of Tulane recovered. But five plays later Larry Coutre, Notre Dame, fumbled and Regan recovered for the Eagles on the Stars' 28.

The Eagles again were unable to exploit their opportunity, after Thompson's several desperation passes, the All-Stars took over on their own 16. The rest of the period resulted in uneventful skirmishing. The Eagles had reached the All-Star 37 as the period ended.

FOURTH PERIOD.

The professional champions completed a 57-yard scoring march when Van Buren slashed over from the Stars' one-yard line. Patton added the point to make the score: All-Stars 14; Eagles 7.

The All-Stars smashed back with surprising fury. Justice rambled all over the field for a 28-yard gain. Le Baron winged a 35-yard pass to Art Weiner, North Carolina star end, on the Eagles' 29. After three plays failed to gain beyond the Eagles' 17, Soltan booted a field goal from a slight angle.

DiMaggio Benched For Weak Hitting, Admits 'I'm Tired'

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in his major league career, Joe DiMaggio has been benched. The famed slugger of the New York Yankees sat out Friday's game while Cliff Mapes took his place in center field against the Philadelphia Athletics.

"Joe is dead tired," Manager Casey Stengel said. "I instructed him to come to the park late and not take either fielding or batting practices. I hate to do this but this is the right time to do it."

The manager made the move without consulting the star player.

"I don't know how long I'll keep him out," Casey went on. "Perhaps a week. I'll put him in sooner if he comes in and asks back in the lineup, however. I just want to be sure he gets enough of a layoff to be fresh for the rest of the schedule."

DiMaggio was reticent, as usual, to discuss himself and his troubles.

"I'm tired," he admitted in a disgusted tone. "I've got my share of aches and pains. I know some people are saying that I'm about through. Well, they said that in '46, but I wasn't."

DiMaggio is suffering from what his co-star, Tommy Henrich, describes as a "fractured batting average." The Clipper had gotten only four hits in 38 times at bat over the nine games previous to tonight, six of which the Yankees lost. He didn't drive in a run over that span.

The 35-year-old star was in uniform and available for pinch hitting purposes if needed.

Mapes Subs for DiMag, Homers to Beat A's
NEW YORK (AP)—Cliff Mapes, substiting for Joe DiMaggio, clubbed a 400-foot home run into the right-centerfield in the seventh inning Friday to give the New York Yankees a 7-6 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics before 27,002.

Philadelphia Athletics beat the New York Yankees 7-6 in a game that was a pitchers' duel. The Yankees' Cliff Mapes, substiting for Joe DiMaggio, hit a home run in the seventh inning to give the Yankees a 7-6 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics before 27,002.

Braves' Bickford Hurls No Hitter at Dodgers

First No Hit Game in Majors Since 1948

BOSTON (AP)—Righthander Vern Bickford, who originally became Boston property on the toss of a coin, Friday night achieved baseball immortality by pitching a no hitter as the Braves shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-0.

Bickford struck out three Dodgers and walked four, the only men to reach base.

Only three Brooklyn base runners were left on base.

The no runner no hit game was the first in the major leagues since Brooklyn's Rex Barney shut out New York, 2-0, Sept. 9, 1948.

It was the first at Braves field since Jim Tobin of the Tribe blanked Brooklyn, 2-0, April 27, 1944.

In five innings Bickford retired the Brooks in order.

There were three better than usual plays behind him as the 29,008 crowd — third largest of the Braves' home season — cheered every out from the fifth frame on.

Only 30 batters faced "Bick," who hurled 97 pitches.

Only one of them got to second base — pinch hitter Jim Russell who walked as lead off batter in the ninth. He moved up, with one out, on a base on balls to Gene Hermanski.

Buddy Kerr ended the mounting tension by flashing to his left to grab "Duke" Snider's grounder, stepping on second base and whistling a perfect throw to first for a game ending doubleplay.

In almost the same motion, Kerr rushed over to grab Bickford's hand as the Braves spilled off the bench to the tumultuous shouts of the crowd.

Hiller Stops Bucs Giving 8 Hits

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Chicago Cubs squared their series with the Pittsburgh Pirates at a game apiece Friday as Frank Hiller pitched them to a 3-1 triumph over the last place Bucs before a crowd of 11,082.

Hank Sauer's single and Andy Pafko's triple gave the Cubs their first run in the fourth. Wayne Terwilliger singled in the winning tally in the fifth.

The Bucs' lone run came on Shortstop Danny O'Connell's fourth homer in the fifth.

Senators Whip Red Sox Behind 6 Hit Pitching

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sandalo Consuegra stopped the Red Sox on six hits Friday as Washington made the most of its eight hits off Ellis Kinder to defeat Boston, 5-2.

Gil Coan led the Senators' attack with a triple, double and single.

Consuegra, slim Cuban right hander, posted his fifth victory as Washington squared its season record with Boston at six games apiece.

Midget Plane Pilot Dies In Detroit Racing Crash

DETROIT (AP)—A 21-year-old pilot died Friday when his midget racing plane crashed before 12,000 spectators in the third heat of the $10,000 Continental Trophy race.

The tiny craft's wing collapsed as James Vosyka of Oak Park, Ill., rounded a pylon on the closed course at Detroit Wayne airport.

Vosyka, a flier since he was 15, was pinned in the wreckage of the "Ace of Diamonds," one of 11 entries in the race. The plane did not catch fire.

Ft. Madison Loses In Softball Tourney

FORT MADISON (AP)—Pueblo, Colo., pushed across a run in the second inning to defeat Fort Madison 1-0 in the National Veterans of Foreign Wars softball tournament here Friday.

It was the first defeat for Fort Madison, in the double elimination tournament. Fort Madison was runnerup in 1949.

The run came on a single by left fielder Faola, a sacrifice and another one-baser by shortstop Pobst.

Pueblo will meet defending champion Austin, Tex., for the winner's bracket championship. Austin defeated McKees Rock, Pa., 5-2.

The winner's bracket champion will play the loser's bracket winner for the tournament championship.

Blackwell Stops Cards With Aid of Kluszewski

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ewell clipped the wings of the St. Louis Cardinals with a four-hitter Friday as Cincinnati's Reds scored a 5-2 victory in a sloppily played game.

Hulking Ted Kluszewski helped Blackie to his 12th victory by banging out two doubles and a single.

Two wild throws by Cloyd Boyer in attempted pick-off plays aided Cincinnati as it scored two runs each in the fourth and fifth innings and one in the sixth for the first straight redleg win.

Ransom Leads Tam At Halfway Mark With 5 Under Par

CHICAGO (AP)—Leathery old Henry Ransom calmly putted his way to a 3-under par 69 Friday to take the lead in Tam O'Shanter's $55,000 "world" golf championship with a second round total of 139.

Ransom, 39-year-old Texan who's been hitting the golf circuit for 14 years, had nary a three-putt green as he consumed a meager 31 putts for a two stroke lead over the field.

Chandler Harper, PGA champion from Portsmouth, Va., was two strokes behind the drawing Ransom and at 142 came newcomer Dick Mayer, Porky Oliver, and Jim Ferrier.

It has been a long time between victories for Ransom — his last was the St. Paul Open in 1946, and he wasn't too excited about his halfway point lead for the $11,000 first place jackpot, biggest in golf.

"Hell," he drawled, "I've played in a lot of golf tournaments. This ain't no different from the rest; except there's more money at the end."

NCAA Confers On Sanity Code

CHICAGO (AP)—The NCAA's executive council opens a three day meeting today to discuss routine business and hear reports from several committees, including the "sanity code" compliance committee.

An NCAA spokesman said all but one of the 17 committee members will be present with Earle Davis of Kansas State the only absentee.

The major item of business was expected to be the report of Chairman Clarence Houston of Tufts college of the compliance committee. Houston was expected to disclose how many schools had been found violating the "sanity code" governing recruiting of athletes and athletic scholarships this year. James Lynna, Savannah, Ga., chairman of the "panel," the NCAA's investigative group, also was expected to report.

It will be the first report of the compliance committee since the January NCAA convention.

The NCAA spokesman said it would be left to the council to determine whether any action should be taken against schools found violating the "sanity code."

The council also will receive a report of the recent conference or conferences, called as part of the Byrd resolution. The conference of conferences studied reports from various sections of the country on athletic practices.

Phil's Simmons Drops 4 Hitter to Giants

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Al Dark's two-run homer and an inning of wildness by Southpaw Curt Simmons carried the New York Giants to a 3-1 victory over the league leading Philadelphia Phillies Friday and squared the four-game series at one each.

The victory was the Giants' 18th in their last 21 games and reduced the Phils' margin over the victorious Braves to five games.

Simmons held the giants to four hits and fanned nine. He walked six. One of the walks preceded Dark's 12th homer in the fourth.

Whitey Lockman's single and three walks produced the other Giant run in the eighth.

Indians Gain Half Game As Tigers, Browns Split

Borowy Drops First Start for Tigers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A dropped throw by first baseman Don Lenhardt on a possible double play ball in the tenth inning scored Wertz from third and enabled the Detroit Tigers to win 4-3 from the St. Louis Browns in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

Dizzy Trout bested Ned Garver, although allowing 12 hits to Garver's 7.

Outfielder Ken Wood's throwing arm choked off two consecutive runners at home plate in the second game giving the Browns a 2-1 victory. Don Lenhardt redeemed himself by driving in both Brownie runs in the finale.

Don Johnson won the second for St. Louis, yielding 3 hits. The loser, Hank Borowy, gave up 5.

Army Explains Giving Congress 'Larger' Casualty Figures

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army explained Friday night why it secretly gave congress Korean war casualty figures which were larger than those made public at the same time.

It said the information given to "one of the appropriations committees" was a "flash" report which included unconfirmed as well as confirmed casualties. It said such flash reports are not given to the public generally because the army wants (1) to avoid causing unnecessary anxiety among soldiers' relatives and (2) to prevent the enemy from obtaining information of value.

Continue to Furnish Names.

The army declared it would continue to furnish names of casualties to the general public as soon as they are confirmed and next of kin are notified.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) in a speech in his home state earlier this week declared that casualties "are being concealed" and the nation would be shocked when "the whole truth" about losses became known. Earlier, Columnist Drew Pearson had charged that the military was not issuing correct casualty figures.

On Aug. 7, following publication of the columnist's charge, the army issued to the press a casualty list based on notifications made and released for publication through August 6. That list totaled 2,616. Of these, 153 were killed, 1,590 wounded, 873 missing.

SUSPENDED LICENSE

Buddy Lee Kintz, 18, West Branch, was given a 30-day suspension of his driver's license on a charge of reckless driving south of Iowa City on highway 218. Justice of the Peace C. J. Hutchinson said the charge was Kintz' second offense.

County Red Cross Advises Servicemen's Next of Kin

The Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross issued information Friday for persons wishing to learn the welfare of relatives serving in the armed forces in Korea and other bases in the Far East.

Few such requests have been made so far by Iowa City residents, the local Red Cross office reported. However, as many as 259 inquiries are received each day by Red Cross offices across the nation.

The majority of requests are due to the anxiety of parents, brothers, sisters and wives who have not heard from servicemen for periods ranging from three or four weeks to several months.

Relatives wishing to contact servicemen should keep the following in mind:

(1) One person, usually the nearest of kin, should make the inquiry to the Red Cross office. This will avoid duplicate requests and help to speed up the numerous inquiries. Family members are the only persons allowed to send requests through the Red Cross.

(2) Troops are moving rapidly and considerable delay should be expected in locating servicemen. When the location is established, the communication will be forwarded to the proper field director for service.

(3) A report obtained by the Red Cross under a given date cannot be expected to assure a family of the serviceman's well-being at any future time.

Oak Ridge Strike Settled Friday

OAK RIDGE (AP)—A wildcat walkout menacing the construction timetable of two giant atomic plants ended Friday after a union official said he was attacked by defiant strikers.

The strike was called off following a conference between officials of the striking AFL painters and decorators union, the atomic energy commission and Maxon Construction company, the contractor, Thomas V. Carter of Kansas City, Mo., international vice-president of the union, said he was "roughed up" by two members of the painters' striking local 437 when he approached a group of pickets to tell them to disband.

He had been sent here to help settle the dispute, which spread as AFL craftsmen honored picket lines in defiance of their union leaders.

The two projects, known as K-29 and K-31 plants, are being built by the government to increase the nation's production of Uranium-235, the atomic bomb ingredient. They will cost approximately $227,000,000.

Local Man Waives Hearing for Burglary

Donald Linnell, Iowa City, waived to the grand jury in a police court Thursday on a charge of attempted burglary. He was committed to Johnson county jail when he was unable to post $2,500 bond.

Local Man Waives Hearing for Burglary

Linnell was charged with breaking and entering an Iowa City residence May 31 with intent to commit a public offense.

More Than Billion Cars Licensed Already in Iowa

DES MOINES (AP)—In seven months, 1,087,614 automobiles were registered in Iowa — about 50,000 more than for the same period last year — Leslie B. Chase, superintendent of the motor vehicle division of the Iowa department of public safety, reported.

He said the increase is a continuation of a trend that has developed since the end of World War II. Registrations have been about 100,000 more each year for the last four years than for the previous one, he said.

Tank, Radar Projects Get Top Priorities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house armed services committee has hung top priority signs on two projects in the multi-billion dollar rearmament program. They are:

- 1. Getting this country's first new type tanks since World War II off the assembly lines in a hurry.
- 2. Speeding the half-completed $85-million radar warning system to a finish.

Psychology Important in Infant Feeding

Psychology is just as important as nutrition in infant feeding, according to Dr. Philip C. Jeans, head of the SUI department of pediatrics.

Jeans said loss of the child's appetite is one of the most common complaints when a mother consults a pediatrician.

He is nutrition consultant for the public health services of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa.

Loss of appetite, or anorexia, is usually dependent on training in feeding habits, he said. Its origin usually can be traced to infancy. Prescribed Consumption

Frequently the difficulty arises because the physician prescribes a definite amount of food the child should consume. While such a formula prescription is intended primarily as an average daily consumption, many mothers try to give this exact amount at each feeding, Jeans said.

This does not take into consideration possible variations in the child's appetite. Rebellion against food and even against the parent may result, he added.

Early parent-child relationships soon after birth set a pattern important in determining the response the child will have toward eating, Jeans said.

ROOM AND BOARD

By GENE ASZERN

or hostility in his mother's anxiety, he becomes anxious. This anxiety produces physiologic changes that hinder satisfactory feeding and digestion.

The infant's acceptance or rejection of new foods depends greatly on the mother's attitude toward those foods. Thus, Jeans said, if the mother shows dislike or revulsion for food, the child is likely to refuse to eat the food.

Variations in Foods

Variations in the texture of foods, such as chopped fruits and vegetables, should be introduced to the diet early. The child who has had only liquid and sieved foods during the first year often refuses coarser foods when they are offered.

Jeans also said it is not good practice to continue bottle feeding exclusively after the first year, as such action is usually evidence that other environmental factors are faulty.

The mother must use a good deal of common sense in following the so-called self-demand schedule. This schedule calls for feeding the child at the time he is most frequently hungry rather than by the clock.

If the child is fed every time he cries the schedule is being abused and faulty feeding habits may result, Jeans concluded.

Acheson Assails Russia's Stalling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson charged Friday that Russia's only terms for settling the Korean war is South Korea's "abject submission to Communist control."

In a biting attack on Soviet stalling tactics in the United Nations, he said bluntly that the Kremlin has the "influence and power" to call off the North Korean invasion.

But instead, he told a news conference, Russia has taken "no step to induce the puppet regime in North Korea to cease hostilities and restore peace."

Taft Wants Congress to Impose Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) launched a fight Friday to keep for congress the right to say when price-wage-ratting controls shall be imposed, if at all.

The house voted Thursday to leave the decision entirely up to President Truman. The senate is debating a measure which would do the same thing.

This, said Taft, would be handing the President "complete and arbitrary dictatorial power over the entire economic life of the country."

Republican Disagreement

Taft, the senate's Republican policy chief, quickly encountered Republican disagreement. Sen. Robert Ives (R-NY) told the senate:

"Charges of abdication of congressional responsibility and fears of dictatorial bureaucratic control serve only to obscure the basic issue of national security."

Despite an array of Republican amendments to restrict the bill's scope, Democratic leaders appeared confident that the final product will be substantially as strong as the house measure. A vote is expected next week.

More Than Truman Asked

The authority the bills contain is far beyond what President Truman asked when he called July 19 for partial controls including allocations of materials, priorities for defense purposes, credit restrictions and loan guarantees for essential production.

Many congressmen insisted that stronger standby authority should be on hand in case of runaway inflation. Mr. Truman assented on condition he had the say-so about using it. Ceilings and rationing aren't needed now, he said.

Taft agreed. Nevertheless, he said he is willing to let the draft price-wage-ratting controls stay in the bill—if it provides that they cannot be put into effect until congress gives the word.

HOW TO GET AN APARTMENT

No, we don't have any magic secret to tell you how to find an apartment. In fact, it's common knowledge that Daily Iowan Want Ads have been getting good results for apartment-hunters.

Those who advertise in the "Wanted To Rent" classification often call us and ask to cancel their ads because they've found a place. Sometimes it only takes me insertion.

It's easy to see why this happens. Iowa City property owners know the Iowan reaches thousands of students, so they keep close tabs on the Want Ad page.

You can get your message before these renters. We can't guarantee you'll get your dream apartment, but for the inexpensive rates, it's certainly worth a try. Try a Want Ad today.

Military, Civilians Buckle Down For Korean War

AMERICAN GI's paused at a stream in South Korea to wash off the grime of battle after their turn at the front lines. Several curious South Korean children watched the bathing operations.

PLASTIC COCOON was removed from a 40 mm. gunmount of the Cape Esperance in Bremerton, Wash., navy yard. The Esperance is one of the warships ordered reactivated due to Korean war.

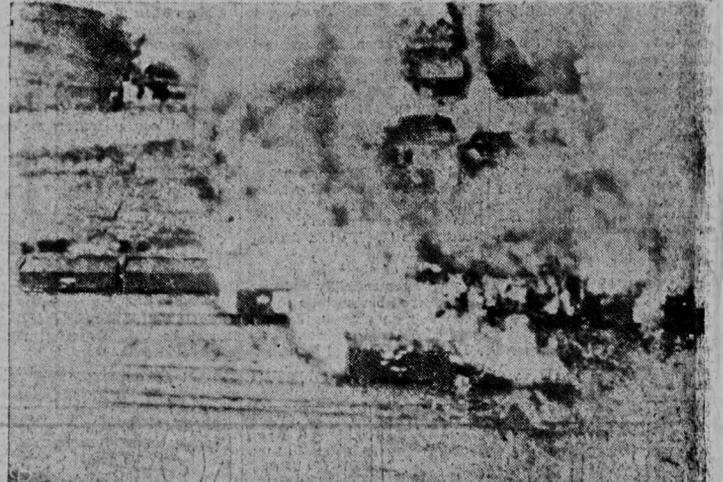

UN FLAGS were folded for shipment from the world's largest flag manufacturing company in New York. The firm filled an order for 500 made by the Security Council. Defenders of South Korea have been authorized to display the banner.

JAPANESE LABORERS "somewhere in Japan" tuned up these rockets for use against the aggressive forces of North Korea.

AMERICAN INFANTRYMEN clung to their tank as the metal monster climbed a hill during an attack on Red positions on the South Korean front. In the U.S. counter-attack, flame throwing tanks and the big General Pershing models mounting 90 mm. guns have been used.

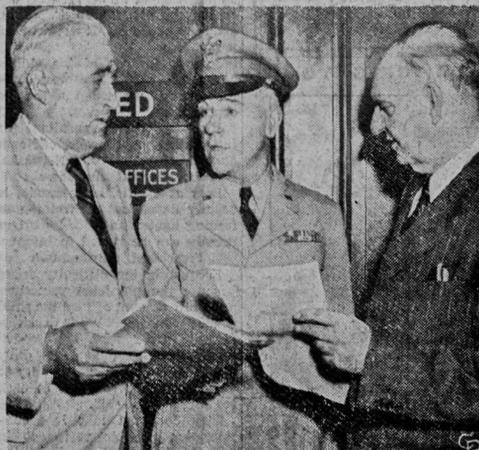

FLAMING BOX CARS are pictured in this aerial reconnaissance shot of the five-track railroad marshalling yards at Suwon, Korea, after a strafing by F-80's using machine guns and rockets.

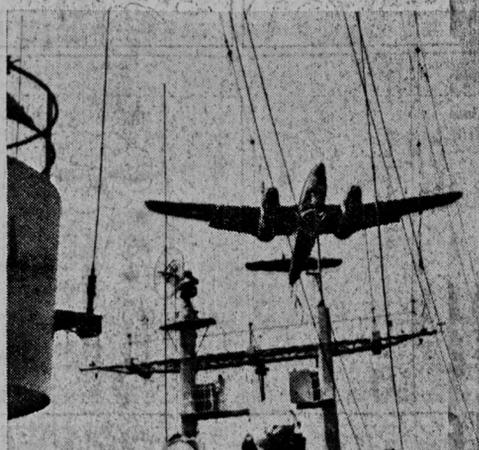

CHURCHILL boarded a plane for Strasbourg, France, where the Council of Europe approved his motion for a united army.

PREPARING TO TESTIFY before a secret session of the House armed services committee on the proposed "U.S.-Canada radar fence, were Maj. Gen. T. H. Landon (left) and Maj. G. F. Ankenbrandt (right), conferring with Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.).

"THERE WILL BE NO DUNKIRK" at Pusan, Army Chief of Staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins declared after a closed-door session of the House Armed services subcommittee. He said U.S. forces are now strong enough to hold the UN beachhead. He is talking with Rep. Philip Philbin (D-Mass) and Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) right.

A PACKET for a U.S. command ship somewhere off the coast of Korea was dropped by a Navy plane, shown in this unusual action photo transmitted by the Army.

CARELTON SHUGG will become acting general manager of the U.S. atomic energy commission when the resignation of Carel L. Wilson takes effect Aug. 15.

THREE GENERAL SHERMAN TANKS were moved forward toward front line fighting somewhere in South Korea by American Marines of the First Marine Division.

AN 81 MM. MORTAR CREW blasted the North Korean enemy from a distance of 800 yards in South Korea with white phosphorous shells. Explosion can be seen in the distance.

A SHELL HOLE in a U.S. tank shot in Korean fighting is inspected by a Ferndale, Mich., private of the 8th Cavalry regiment.
