MAMA PIGEON AWAITED BLESSED EVENT

MAMA PIGEON WATCHES PRIDEFULLY over two eggs she laid on a stand in the home of James McDonald, Seattle, Wash., while he was away on a trip. McDonald has moved out of that room pending the arrival of the blessed event, presumably some two weeks hence.

Nationwide Rail Strike Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide railroad strike, set to begin at 6 a.m. next Monday, was called by the two big rail unions Wednesday, immediately after White House peace talks collapsed.

A similar nationwide strike in Canada, now in its second day, has caused the most serious transport crisis in Canada's history.

Barring intervention by President Truman — which seemed almost inevitable — the U.S. walkout combined with the Canadian strike would virtually paralyze rail transportation in the North American hemisphere.

Under a World War act of 1916, Mr. Truman could seize the railroads and operate them under government supervision. Or he could get a court injunction to stave off the strike.

At the White House, Assistant Press Secretary Eben Ayers said there was no official comment and that no action would be taken Wednesday night.

The 17-month-old dispute over wages and hours reached the breaking point less than 60 minutes after the White House had temporarily called off talks with both sides which have been in progress since Aug. 7.

Leaving the White House, union and management negotiations joined in a statement saying, "The case is deadlocked."

The unions are demanding a 40-

SUI to Offer New Course in Russian

A new course in the Russian language will be offered at SUI this fall for students who have completed one year of Russian.

C.E. Cousins, head of the romance languages department, said requirements for the course in beginning Russian have been lightened.

Formerly open only to seniors and graduate students, the course can now be taken also by selected juniors and sophomores.

If demand is great enough, another section in the beginning Russian course will be opened as a result of the current world situation, Cousins explained.

Oil Millionaire Dies In Atlantic City Hospital

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Frank Phillips, who rose from barber to the presidency of a $350-million oil company, died Wednesday at Atlantic City hospital.

Phillips, 76, who grew up on a farm near Creston, Iowa, had a personal fortune estimated as far back as 1928 to be close to $40-million.

He was stricken by a gall-bladder condition. Following an operation Sunday night by a surgeon flown in from St. Louis, a heart complication set in.

Two Weeks to Live

(Slogan of the Iowa Safety Congress' "Drive Right" Campaign)

By Daily Iowan Staff Writer

The party was getting gayer by the minute — everybody having a good time. During a brief lull in the conversation, someone said:

"Wonder how come old Jake hasn't shown up yet?"

"I wonder," said a pretty blond woman. "He's always a great one for a party!"

One of the men remarked, "I saw him out at the Blue Spot inn a couple of hours ago. He said he'd be up after a few more drinks."

Speaking of drinks," someone said, "let's have another round. Jake'll be along pretty quick, won't he, Helen?"

Helen, Jake's wife looked a little concerned. "I hope so," she said quietly.

Jake was forgotten in the aura of party chatter and laughter — until the telephone rang. The call was for Helen.

After a brief conversation, Jake's wife came back into the room. Her face was white, and her voice strange.

"Could someone take me to the hospital right away? There's been an accident..."

A silent little group rushed to the City hospital. When the doctor told her it was all over, Jake's wife began to cry hysterically.

"I used to warn him," she sobbed, "about going out to that place and driving home like he always did . . ." She paused, and continued in a low voice:

"But he always said, 'Aw, Helen, quit your worrying. Nothing's gonna happen to me.'"

Accused Spy Kisses Wife

KISSING AND EMBRACING his wife, Ethel, is handcuffed Julius Rosenberg. The scene is a prison yard outside the federal district court in New York after the two were arraigned on spy charges Wednesday. Both pleaded innocent to charges of conspiracy to commit espionage in the Klaus Fuchs atom spy case. Federal Judge T. Hoyt Davis set Sept. 25 as the trial date and refused to reduce the $100,000 bail previously set for Rosenberg, 32, and his 35-year-old wife. Rosenberg was arrested July 17, his wife Aug. 11.

U.S. Soldier, Slugged, Held by Russians, Relates His Story

BERLIN (AP) — Pvt. Alfred W. Yankow, 27, Tampa, Fla., said Wednesday he doesn't have the faintest idea why he was slugged four months ago and shanghaied into the Russian zone for steady interrogation.

He had a hunch, he told newspapermen, that East zone Communists:

1. May have chosen him as a likely prospect to desert and be used as a subject for propaganda, or

2. He may have been mistaken for another soldier attached to some security detail.

Yankow described himself as a "simple rifleman" without any knowledge of, or access to, military information of importance in espionage.

At one place, he said, a Russian major asked him a lot of questions about U.S. troops installations and displayed considerable interest in the U.S. document center in Berlin.

"I told him I didn't know anything about that and he said I must be a pretty damn dumb soldier," Yankow related. "I told him I couldn't help that."

He said he was abducted by two men in a car only three blocks from the top secret American document center in West Berlin, where all the old Nazi files are stored.

He had been absent from his rifle company since April 7 and finally was released after considerable negotiation on Aug. 14. The army withheld his story until Wednesday in order to check it and to make sure Yankow had suffered no ill effects from his weeks on short rations in East zone jail cells.

War Will Be Won 'In Short Time': Truman

WASHINGTON (P) — President Truman was reported Wednesday to feel that the Korean war will be won "in a short time." Military leaders here have been talking in terms of six months or longer.

Mr. Truman's optimistic outlook was reported by Rep. John D. Davies (D-N.Y.) after a White House call in which, he said, he talked to the President about the war and New York state politics.

He said Mr. Truman "indicated" his biggest problem now is to decide whether American forces should chase the North Koreans beyond the 38th parallel. Davies concluded that Mr. Truman has not yet decided.

Earthquake Leaves 5-Million Homeless

NEW DELHI, INDIA (P) — Nearly 5-million persons have been left homeless in devastated North Assam by last week's earthquake—one of the most violent ever recorded in the world's history—the government radio reported Wednesday.

Whole villages were said to have been swallowed up and most of the area's vast tea plantations were wiped out.

Officially, at least 80 persons are known to have been killed in the shuddering upheaval, but unofficial accounts set the toll at more than 200.

U.S. to Stage Mock Atom Attack

CHICAGO (P) — Representatives from Great Britain and Canada, as well as from nearly every state and every large city in this country, will be in Chicago next month to study effects of a mock atom attack.

Col. John B. Warden, civil defense coordinator for the national security resources board, said a make-believe attack will be conducted here to evaluate defense methods being drawn up for the civilian population in event of atomic disaster. The attack date will be announced Sept. 11. It will be held before Sept. 25.

Franco's Bodyguards Drown

VIGO, SPAIN (P) — More than 50 members of Generalissimo Franco's personal bodyguard drowned in a freak boat accident here Tuesday, marine authorities said Wednesday.

The men, here on vacation, boarded a small pleasure launch for a trip to a football game. One of them fell overboard not far from the dock. The others rushed to one side of the boat to give him a hand up. The unbalanced craft turned over.

Humphrey Rips Tax-Boosting Bill

WASHINGTON (P) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) charged Wednesday the senate finance committee has converted President Truman's $5-billion tax-boosting bill into a "pork barrel" and "smoke screen" for the relief of wealthy taxpayers.

The Senate opens its tax debate today and a battle is assured on a series of rapid-fire amendments. Humphrey said are needed to "clean-up" the "pork-barrel committee tax bill" and on a demand by Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) for a quick showdown on his proposal for a 3-billion excess profits levy, dating back to last July 1.

Strike Continues at Fairfield Iron Plant

FATFIELD (P) — An expanded picket line of more than 25 striking workers patrolled the Iowa Malleable Iron company Wednesday, but a union official said there would be no violation of an injunction.

District Judge Heinrich C. Taylor Tuesday handed down a temporary injunction ordering the union not to interfere with persons crossing picket lines.

James Perry, shop committee chairman, said members of the international molders and foundry workers union were instructed to heed the court order.

England's Famous Ghosts Put to Work

By Central Press

LONDON, ENGLAND — Britain has long been aware of the monetary value of her ghosts. If a British home possesses a well-authenticated ghost a century or more old, it commands a higher price in the open market than does one which cannot boast of having an apparition as a tenant.

This year Britain decided to put her historic ghosts to work and help her cash in on the much-desired tourist dollars. Last winter a government agency catalogued all of the country's recognized ghosts, probably the only time any ghostly census has ever been taken by any nation.

When completed the list was turned over to the British Tourist and Holiday board, with the instructions that these ghosts be advertised abroad as tourist attractions, ranking along with Britain's stately cathedrals and historic palaces.

All reports received by the British Travel association seem to indicate that Britain's ghosts have lived up to their advanced billing as tourist attractions. Americans particularly are said to love these ghost stories in their spectacular settings, particularly if the story includes an unsolved mystery, a horrific murder with a romantic angle.

Foreign visitors got the biggest entertainment wallop out of the gloomy 900-year-old London Tower, where Britain's magnificent $56-million crown jewels are on display, as well as two beheaded queens of England — Anne Boleyn and Katherine Howard.

Among the many other apparitions is the particularly noisy and savage ghost of an Irish adventurer named Captain Blood, who is supposed to haunt the ramparts every night. He is credited with almost succeeding in stealing the crown jewels nearly 300 years ago.

The third ghost is that of Henry VIII's unfortunate fifth wife, Katherine Howard. It seems that when Henry discovered some of the pre-marital affairs of the gay Katherine, he placed her under arrest in the palace.

She made a number of attempts to escape but was always caught by the palace guards and taken screaming back to her room. It is these escape scenes which are said to be in endless spectral reproduction at Hampton Court.

Katherine Howard is an especially famous figure in the ghostly world, in that she is reputed to haunt both the London Tower and Hampton Court.

Ghosts authorities agree that Britain's premier spook is the one that haunts a hilltop Elizabethan mansion in Essex, which is called Hill Hall. This ghost is known as the Gray Lady and is 350 years old.

The story is told that the seven sons of Queen Elizabeth's Secretary of State, Sir Thomas Smythe, fought a crazy duel among themselves with razors—sharp daggers for her love. They stabbed each other to death, swearing with their last breaths they would continue to fight for her in another world.

For centuries, shocked visitors to Hill Hall at night have reported seeing a spirit-like figure in white walking slowly around a circle of bloodstains on the floor, which bloodstains along with the Gray Lady disappear with the coming of dawn.

Hampton Court — It has not one but three ghosts!

Weather Bureau Admits U.S. Summer Hard to Understand

WASHINGTON (P) — Something has been wrong with the weather this summer, and the U.S. weather bureau is stumped for an answer.

With summer only two months long, the rural folk say fall seems to be busting out all over. First frosts, birds flying south and the leaves turning red are only some of the things they've noted.

Weather Bureau Expert Philip Clapp looked up from his charts Wednesday and admitted temperatures around the country this season have averaged three to four degrees below normal in a wide belt extending from California to Virginia and from Minnesota to Oklahoma and the Carolinas. This only occurs about one year out of every eight, he said.

Clapp said it was due to an absence of the usual influx of warm air from the Gulf of Mexico and an increase in polar air waves from the north Pacific and Canada. In addition, rainfall has been abnormally heavy and the clouds have shielded the ground from warming up under the sun's rays.

"Why has there been so much rain?" he was asked.

"You've got me there, pal," was the official rejoinder. "But it's NOT due to the atom bomb."

Among signs that summer is not performing according to the calendar are the following:

1. An observatory attendant on the towering Empire state building in New York reports the birds already are flying south for the winter. Very early for a migration, he says.

2. Workers installing a television antenna at the 1,250-foot level on the same building were amazed last week by a shower of wheat. Though pigeons were delighted, a local weatherman could guess only that a small tornado picked up the kernels from a New Jersey grain elevator and whirled them over in a "whirlwind."

3. The first reported frost of summer came Tuesday at Norfolk, Conn. The mercury dipped to 34 and ice crystals formed. Freezing temperatures also were noted last week in northern Michigan.

4. Last week also, Chicago had its coolest day ever recorded on that particular day — 45.7 degrees. The August average is 69. New lows were recorded, too, at St. Louis with 50 degrees, and Terre Haute, Ind., with 43. Residents said the weather was typical of early October.

Observers said the picket line apparently was increased from less than a half dozen men to nearly 30 as a means of preventing violence.

Union members walked off their jobs last Aug. 7 in support of a core room grievance. Molders demanded permission to use additional facing sand in their castings.

Company officials said they had refused to negotiate until union workers returned to their jobs. They said the walkout violated a no-strike clause in the union contract.

It is understood why Rich believes a psychiatrist might be helpful in figuring out why congress does the things it does. But he said a psychiatrist wouldn't help much.

We'd all be just about the same as they do, he said.

"I don't think any psychiatrist in history ever attempted any therapy or examination on a scale such as that."

Too many congressmen and too complex a problem, Davies said.

Rep. Rich was criticizing spending, Davies pointed out.

"It might seem that a legislator was out of his mind when he voted six months ago for economy and now votes big defense appropriations. We'd say he was inconsistent."

Now I personally have been trained to have respect for a dollar and not to be a jackass with it, but if elected to congress I would think emotionally and say, This is a serious emergency and hand and not the time to argue if it costs one buck or four bucks,

It is obvious that the North Koreans are still able to attack in force and that they are still trying, anywhere on the 140-mile United Nations perimeter, they can find a weak spot, to start a big offensive.

But the soft spots are getting harder and harder to find. Again and again, intelligence reports say after a big enemy thrust that one or more divisions of North Korean troops are off balance. In the last two weeks two enemy divisions have been all but wiped out — the 4th, in the Naktong bulge bridgehead, and the 5th on the east coast. The enemy supply situation is getting worse. Additional numbers of prisoners are coming in to the American and South Korean lines. Some of them are well-trained officers. The Red tanks are far underfed.

Also the United States and South Korean armies are now able to mount local counter-offensives, some on a big scale. Reinforcements and weapons are pouring in. They have a small force of reserves to shift quickly by truck to critical sectors.

But after expressing optimism, those thoroughly familiar with the military situation warn:

1. The North Koreans and presumably their Russian advisors, know that their only hope now is to keep driving at any cost.

2. The best guess, and only guessing is possible, is that it probably will be at least two months before the allied forces can start the first really big counter-offensive which will put them on the driving end and the North Koreans on the defensive.

It looks to the GI's — and to their superior officers — as if the corner toward victory has been turned.

It is very difficult, in many cases, to tell from an English translation what a Russian means. Because Russians do not mean the same. From Malik's context on the two occasions it is possible to read his words as referring to broadening of the Korean war through involvement of the forces of UN members other than the United States. It is also possible to read them as predicting a general war despite Russia's desire to avoid it.

Malik has been doing a lot of talk about that, too, claiming that Russia's policy is one of peace while everyone else is heading down the war road.

Jebb pulled the book. He quoted from volume two of the official Soviet history of diplomacy

Off the Reservation Again!

Korean Peace a Problem

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON — More than the battle front in Korea is "fluid." How to end the fighting when the time comes is even more fluid.

When the United Nations armies get to the 38th parallel (the dividing line between North and South Korea) will they stop there?

If the UN armies capture some of the top Communist generals, will the UN try them as the war criminals in Germany and Japan were tried?

If the UN armies stop at the 38th parallel, what kind of assurance can the UN get from the Communists that they won't start the war all over again a year from now?

What kind of defense against such a new attack should the UN leave behind at the 38th parallel, if that line is chosen?

Suppose the Communists ask for a truce? What terms shall the UN offer?

If they surrender outright, what terms? What would UN do about the tens of thousands of Communists in North Korea?

This is cross-section of questions that now wrinkle the brows of the top policy makers in both the defense department and the state department.

One thing is certain. The free world is preparing to help the South Koreans when there is a chance. Korea is a UN baby. The South Korean government was set up under the supervision of a UN election commission.

The South Koreans, and the UN armies there, have already had these offers of help from UN agencies:

1. The World Health organization and the International Refugee organization have offered both medicines and teams of doctors and nurses.

2. The Food and Agriculture organization has volunteered to dig up food surpluses.

3. Just a few days ago the Economic and Social Council (UNESCO) invited all UN agencies to do what they can for the South Koreans.

What about the 38th parallel when, as and if the Communists are driven back? U.S. experts say NO decision has been taken but that the United States would prefer the UN to make the choice of stopping at the line or going on through to clean up the Red armies.

The Korean ambassador to Washington, Dr. John M. Chang, has told the press that peace will never be secure in Korea until the Communists have been subdued and disarmed.

The U.S. state department is making a special study of possible war crimes trials against North Korean leaders who may be captured.

No one has asked — publicly at least — what happens if the North Korean armies and their generals disappear into Manchuria.

Reports from Geneva, Switzerland, where UNESCO is meeting, say there is growing talk among the top Communist generals, will the UN try them as the war criminals in Germany and Japan were tried?

White Flags Go Up in Safety Drive

Two white flags were raised in Iowa City Wednesday as symbols of Johnson county's effort in Iowa's "Drive Right" campaign which began at noon Tuesday.

A principal aim of the two-week campaign, sponsored by the Iowa Safety congress, is to save 14 lives that might otherwise be taken in traffic deaths on Iowa's highways.

Taking part in the flag-raising at the City hall and county courthouse Wednesday were Iowa Highway Patrolman Virgil Johnston, Mayor Preston Koser, County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy, Chief of Police E. J. Ruppert, and Atty. William Meardon, chairman of the Johnson county chapter of the Iowa Safety congress.

Also present was Ray Thornberry, Hawkeye Awning company, who made the flags.

Hope for Safety

Chairman Meardon Wednesday issued the following statement in regard to the campaign:

"The white flags now flying over the City hall and the Johnson county courthouse express the hope that there will be no driving fatalities or casualties in Johnson county from this time forward."

"Every motor vehicle operator in Johnson county should regard the safety campaign as his own program designed for safety upon all our highways."

He explained that a red streamer would be added to each flag in the event of a traffic injury in the county; a fatality would be marked by a black streamer.

Safety Poster Service

Although the two-week campaign will emphasize driving safety within that period, the Iowa Safety congress has set up a permanent safety educational project through the cooperation of local civic organizations.

In Iowa City, the junior chamber of commerce has begun sponsorship of a safety poster service. Business places about the city will be given an opportunity to purchase black and yellow "stop sign" posters.

Posters are being displayed in business places all over the state.

"SAFETY POSTERS" FROM THE IOWA SAFETY CONGRESS were prepared for distribution Wednesday by Atty. William Meardon, chairman of the Johnson county chapter of the Safety congress. The Iowa City junior chamber of commerce is sponsoring sale of the posters in this city. The black and yellow "stop sign" holders will be furnished each week with new cartoon inserts depicting current safety tips from the state organization. Posters are being displayed in business places all over the state.

Expect 175 Foreign Students

Policy on admission of foreign students to SUI has not changed because of the international situation, according to Richard Sweitzer, counselor for foreign students.

Approximately 90 admissions have been promised for fall. This figure will bring the total to between 175 and 200 foreign students on the campus, if the 90 accept. At least three DP's already in the U.S. are included in the 90.

The largest number of foreign students come from China. Other countries representing fall admissions include Japan, Poland, Norway, the Near East (Israel and Lebanon), Egypt, England, Canada, Greece, Nigeria, Germany, and India.

Other countries are the Philippines, France, Latvia, Venezuela, British Guiana, Hungary, Pakistan, Yugoslavia, Austria and the Netherlands. Students from Hawaii also are granted permission.

Only two students — one from the Philippines and one from New Zealand — reported they could not accept admission because of the international situation. No word has been received from Korea, Sweitzer said.

Students from the U.S. are planning to go abroad to study and at the present time there is no reason to expect a change in the situation, Sweitzer explained.

Woman Granted Divorce From Husband in Japan

Cleo V. Engrav, Johnson county, was granted a divorce Wednesday from Henry A. Engrav on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Engrav, a civilian employee of the army in Japan, was ordered to pay $100 a month for the support of his ex-wife and their two children, who were given into Mrs. Engrav's custody by Judge James P. Gaffney.

The couple was married in 1931 and separated in 1946.

Christmas Card Buyers Look to Future

With only 97 shopping days left before Christmas, it's time to think about your holiday greeting cards; if you wish to avoid last minute selections in the midst of hurried crowds.

Some of the local stores have already begun to think about the Christmas card shoppers with unique and cheerful displays. One of the local stores has an ordering service available for those who wish personalized cards. Another has the cards in stock and other cards that can be ordered. These can also be personalized.

The cards this year seem, as usual, more cheerful and unique than last year's. There are cards with kittens, dogs, snowmen, religious scenes and winter scenes.

Santa Claus is very popular, too. Some cards this year show him with glittering glass eyes, and all show him as the jovial person he is.

Famous madonnas by great artists are used on other cards, while another set depicts scenes from Charles Dickens' Christmas stories.

For the Housewife — Canning Corner

A favorite fruit with almost every family is the apple. With the beginning of the apple season, the wise homemaker should start thinking about the different ways of canning this popular fruit.

One of the most popular ways to serve apples is homemade apple sauce. Following the boiling water bath process, here is a recipe to insure the desired results.

Wash and cut unpeeled apples; remove the stems and blossoms. Put into a kettle and add half as much water as apples. Cover the kettle and bring the apples to the boiling point, cooking gently for 15 minutes.

Push them through a sieve and to four cups strained apple pulp, add a half a cup of sugar. Fill a hot sterilized jar to one inch from the top and paddle out any air bubbles.

Adjust the cover, and process it in a boiling water bath for ten minutes. Then complete the seal, if necessary.

Another good way to prepare apples for future use is apple butter. Here is a recipe to follow in making this popular fruit butter.

4 cups apple pulp, 1/4 cup vinegar; 3 cups sugar, and 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

To the apple pulp, pushed through a sieve, add the remaining ingredients, and cook the mixture until thick. Turn into hot sterilized jars and seal at once.

Four Fined in Court For Traffic Violations

Fines totaling $10 were levied in Iowa City police court Wednesday for traffic violations.

Laurence E. Smith, route 1, Springville, was fined $5 for operating a motor vehicle with delinquent license plates and registration.

Richard D. Brown, Ft. Dodge, and Howard Gleason, who gave no address, paid $2 fines for overnight parking. Walter Johnson, Chicago, was assessed $1 for the same violation.

Girl Captured With Chicago Youths Says Wedding Planned

SPENCER (I.P.) — A Wisconsin girl arrested with two Chicago youths told authorities Wednesday she had planned to marry one of them, using part of their $10,000 break-in loot as a "dowry."

Michael McGinnis, Minnesota criminal investigator who came here to question the trio, said Mrs. Joyce Holst, 18, Camp Lake, Wis., told him they were headed for Texas when they were captured in a stolen car Tuesday.

McGinnis said Mrs. Holst told him she and Robert Robinson, 18, Chicago, had planned to be married. She said they believed she could have her present marriage annulled because she was only 15 when she was married in Missouri.

She said her father, Richard Fist, Chicago, "forced" her to marry Peter Holst, Camp Lake, according to McGinnis.

Mrs. Holst said she met Robinson at an Antioch, Ill., skating rink two months ago and he picked her up at Camp Lake two weeks ago. Then they went to Chicago and joined Edward McNally, 18, who was captured with them Tuesday, she said.

Authorities said the trio admitted an $8,000 robbery of a Minneapolis home, the theft of 10 rifles from two stores in Madelia, Minn., and car thefts in Chicago and Springfield, Ill. Minnesota officials were questioning them about other break-ins in Madelia early Tuesday.

The rifles and other loot valued at about $10,000, including fur coats and silver, were in the car when the youths were caught.

Minnesota authorities planned to return them to Minneapolis.

Fountain to Compete In Fair Gadget Show

Howard D. Fountain, route 5, is one of 50 Iowa farmers who will compete in the farm gadget show at the Iowa state fair, which opens for a week Friday.

Fountain will enter the $400 prize competition with a portable tail-light with flasher, an electrically heated silo cover, a brush and post puller and an adjustable halter for cattle.

Inventions entered in the show must be strictly amateur and not for sale commercially. They include various types of equipment to make farming easier and safer or to make farm households more convenient.

Fountain entered in the show won the $50 safety award at last year's state fair with a tank float which protects children from drowning in farm tanks.

Plan Artificial Lake Near Zearing Farm

ZEARING (I.P.) — Officials of the national soil conservation field day announced Wednesday that an artificial lake will be constructed on Sam Dakins' farm near here.

The 5 1/2 acre lake will be constructed Sept. 19 as part of field day demonstrations on Dakins' farm. It will replace a pond which washed out in 1938.

The lake and its shoreline will provide a recreation area for persons living here and in nearby communities.

Dakin contributed 14 acres of his 160-acre farm for the project. A total of $5,400 to pay for construction costs was raised by subscription.

Farm face-lifting demonstrations will include construction of a dam to provide a reservoir for storing excess water draining into the lake.

Pharmacy Student In Training Cruise

Marion L. McCann, P2, Shannon City, is undergoing a two-week training cruise aboard the recommissioned destroyer escort U.S.S. Daniel A. Joy, now operating on the Great Lakes.

McCann is a seaman apprentice in the U.S. naval reserve.

The Daniel A. Joy, largest combatant ship ever to operate on the inland lakes, is of 1,450 tonnage and was acquired by the ninth naval district specifically to train midwest reserves.

The cruise is scheduled to end Saturday.

Former Student Writes Novel About Depression

Harold Leslie White, a former graduate assistant in creative writing at SUI, is the author of a new novel, "So Many Doors."

Recently published by Random House publishing company, the novel contains action which takes place in southern California between the depression and the present time.

Harold, who received his master of fine arts degree at SUI in 1949, has been teaching fiction writing at SUI for the past year.

Visiting the SUI campus for three days, is Harold Leslie White, the first Australian to receive an award to visit the U.S. under the "leaders and specialists" category of the Smith - Mundt act program initiated in 1949.

The Smith - Mundt act provides for the exchange of scholars, scientists, and administrators between the U.S. and other countries. The expenses of their travel and subsistence is borne by the

Australian Library Expert Visiting Campus

U.S. government.

White, librarian of the Commonwealth National library, Canberra, Australia, is especially interested in the new library being constructed at SUI and in the SUI audio-visual instruction program, he said.

SUI has been recognized as one of the "most forward thinking" institutions in the "modular" planning of buildings, he said.

Two Friends Teaching

It has also been recognized for its comprehensive program embracing elements of production, distribution, teaching and research.

Because of two friends now teaching here, White expressed a special interest in SUI. The two men are Prof. Hew Roberts of the college of education, formerly from Australia, and Prof. Ross Livingston, who worked in the Canberra library 20 years ago.

One of the special objectives during his three months visit in the U.S. will be to examine large buildings, including those built on the modular plan, and to consult with library administrators and architects to draft plans.

Arrived Aug. 13

These plans will be for the Commonwealth National library building in Canberra. The Library of Congress has served as its model

Yankees Throttle Tigers Again, 7-5, Cutting American League Lead to 1 1/2

Ferrick Saves Win For Raschi

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees clawed their way back into hot contention in the American league pennant race Wednesday, setting down the Detroit Tigers, 7-5, and cutting the lead of the league leaders to one and one-half games.

Tom Ferrick saved the game for New York. He relieved Vic Raschi in the eighth and quelled a Tiger uprising that scored three runs with two out. Ferrick made Gerry Priddy pop out to end the inning.

A crowd of 44,196 saw the Yankees win their sixth straight and their second in a row over the Tigers.

Raschi Knocked Out

Fred Hutchinson's two-run single in the eighth drove Raschi from the mound just as Raschi's two-run single in the fourth had made his pitching rival, Art Houtteman, walk to the bench in disgust without waiting for Hank Borowy to be called in from the bullpen.

Raschi was credited with his 16th victory of the year and was given brilliant help both defensively and at bat.

John Mize hit a two-run double in the fourth, and Yogi Berra, hero of Tuesday's victory, drove in what proved to be the winning runs.

Hoot Evers, Tiger left fielder, batted his 20th homer in the sixth, scoring George Kell ahead of him.

Joe DiMaggio made two spectacular, running-over-the-shoulder catches to convert what looked like extra base hits into outs. John Groth and Evers were his victims. The other two Yankee outfielders, Gene Woodling and Hank Bauer, also made brilliant catches. In the second inning Bauer got Vic Wertz at the plate with a great throw after Conny Berry singled.

Timely Hit

The Tigers went down hard. In the eighth with one out and the Yankees leading 7-2, Wertz doubled. DiMaggio raced back for Evers' long smash and Wertz, and Aaron Robinson singled to short. Charlie Keller batted for Berry and walked. At this point Hutchinson, the third Tiger pitcher, smashed a single to center, that drove in two runs and sent Minneapolis golf club course.

Again in the ninth, after Don Kolloway had singled, Kell salmed two drives into the left field stands that were foul and cost the team.

Nothing happened until the 14th when the Dodgers scored on Roy Campanella's single, a sacrifice by Branca and Tom Brown's pinch single to right.

It wasn't over though as Phillips opened the Pirate half of the inning with a triple to right and scored on Stan Rojek's single a few minutes later.

The customers were resigned to an all-night session when the 17th came up. Then Hermanski opened the inning with a home run over the right field screen. Mel Queen fanned the next two men. Then Carl Furillo tripled and Gil Hodges doubled to send him home.

Queen who went in the 15th was charged with the loss.

100 STRAIGHT TARGETS were broken by Ronald Gaudie, 16, Natchez, Miss., and Blance Bowers, Benkelman, Neb., Wednesday for perfect scores in the Grand American trapshot at Vandalia, Ohio. Each won the champion of champions titles. Gaudie took the junior event while Miss Bowers was winning the women's shoot.

WERTZ GETS THE WORKS — Yogi Berra, New York Yankee catcher, squats to put the tag on Vic Wertz as the Detroit Tiger right fielder tries to score from second base in the second inning of the crucial Yankee-Tiger series in New York Wednesday. Hank Bauer made the toss home following Connie Berry's single to right field. The umpire is Ed Hurley. The Yankees won, 7-5, and cut the Tigers' lead to 1 1/2 games.

Stranahan Lone Title Favorite Remaining

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Upsets swept three former champions from the 50th National Amateur golf tournament Wednesday.

Fifty players have been invited by Coach Bob Weber to the first session at U-high. However, Weber is due in Des Moines to take a pre-induction physical examination today. He is a member of the inactive army reserves. Lou Alley, Blue Hawk basketball coach, will supervise the drill.

Coach Frank Bates has invited 79 players back for the City high grid season. The Little Hawks will open with a discussion period at 9 a.m. today, followed by a short practice.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The front-running Philadelphia Phils, with Fireman Jim Konstanty once again coming to the rescue, defeated the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday, 6 to 4.

The kids from Philadelphia won the game by hitting Willie Ramsdell at opportune times. Home runs by Del Ennis and Andy Seminick helped the youngsters to win.

Bob Miller won his 11th game against three defeats, but he was yanked in the ninth with two out and two on base, in favor of Konstanty. After Ted Kluszewski doubled to center, driving in one run, Joe Adcock went out on a fly, ending the game.

Bob Miller won his 11th game in the first inning, 2-0, and added single runs in the third and fourth to build up a 4-0 lead before the Redlegs bats opened up.

The Reds scored one run in the sixth and crept up to within one run of the league leaders at 4-3 on Kluszewski's home run with a runner on base in the seventh, but the Phils pushed over their margin of victory in the eighth with two more runs, before Konstanty quelled the Cincinnati rally in the ninth.

Kluszevski was the big man at the plate with four hits in five times at bat, including a single, two doubles and a homer. The Reds outhit the Phils, 10 to 9, but couldn't pick up the valuable binges in the clutch.

The loss was Ramsdell's 11th of the year against six wins.

CHICAGO (AP) — A brilliant relief job by Southpaw Monte Kennedy enabled the New York Giants to edge Chicago, 5-4, and maintain their jinx over the Cubs. It was the New Yorkers' ninth straight win over the Cubs and their 17th victory in 20 games with Chicago.

Kennedy entered the game in the eighth inning with the bases full, one out and the Cubs only one run behind. Outfielder Carmen Mauro bounded into an inning-ending double play. He walked Andy Pafko in the ninth, but otherwise had no trouble.

Monte Irvin's seventh homer of the year and Bobby Thomson's 18th, each with none on, paced the Giant offensive against Pitchers Johnny Klippstein, Johnny Schmitz, and Dutch Leonard.

Third Baseman Bill Serenka connected for his 14th circuit of the year with two on in the eighth to provide the big wallop of the day for the Cubs.

MASON CITY (AP) — St. Louis defeated Duncan, Okla., 3-0, Wednesday night to win the American Legion junior four-state district baseball title and a spot in the sectional tournament next week at Bloomington, Ill.

Russia Back in Sports, Leads in Europe Track

BRUSSELS (AP) — Russia broke her athletic isolation for the first time since 1946 Wednesday and rolled up a huge lead in the unofficial point score of the first day of the European track and field championships.

Paced by their massive women—with victories in three events—folk, the Russians scored 41 points the hop skip jump, women's javelin and women's shotput. By the luck of the schedule, the first day was packed with events in which Russia is strong. Finland was second with 14 points and France third with 10.

St. Louis' opponent in today's first round will be Bob Knowles Jr., 36-year-old Brookline, Mass., ace who in addition to being a good golfer is a grandson of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Knowles beat Ben Smith of Grosse Pointe, Mich., 1 up, Wednesday.

Squaring off against the 29-year-old Paddock today will be Milwaukee's Tom Veech, who drives the ball a yard for each of his 280 pounds. Veech nudged out Dave Logan of Barrington, Ill., 1 up in Wednesday afternoon's play.

Soldier Accuses North Korean Officer

AN AMERICAN SOLDIER on a stretcher pointed to a captured North Korean lieutenant on another stretcher recently, and identified the enemy officer as the one who ordered 32 American prisoners massacred, their hands tied behind their backs. The shooting took place north of Waegwan in the "Gully of Death." Five American soldiers escaped the rain of bullets to tell the story.

Leaving to Pick Up Downed Flyer

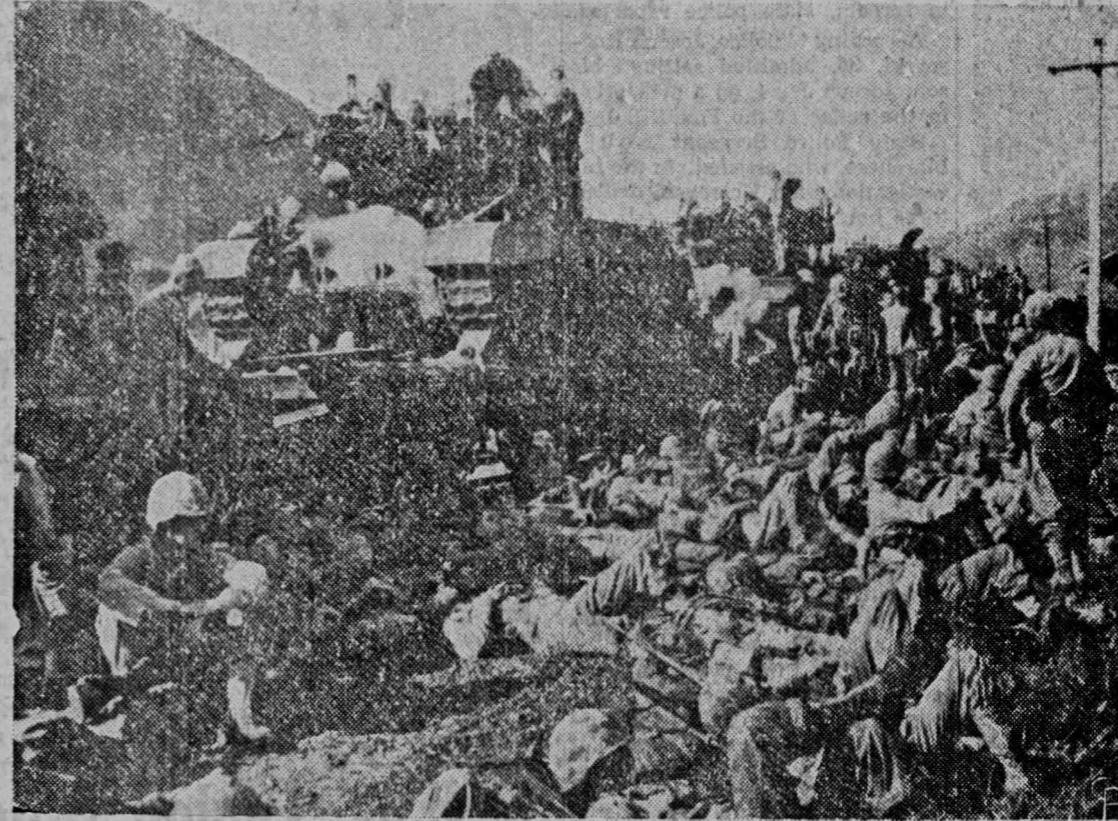

A NAVY HELICOPTER took off from the deck of a carrier off the coast of South Korea to pick up a flyer downed at sea. Helicopters are being used a great deal as air-sea rescue craft, picking up airforce flyers who turn out to sea and bail out of disabled planes after radioing positions. The 'copter then picks them up.
