19 Local Men Pass Physicals

Nineteen Johnson county men passed physical examinations in Des Moines this week, the county selective service officer reported Thursday.

Of the 22 ordered to report for examinations, four were rejected, officials said.

This represents the second group of Johnson county men to be called up by the draft board for examinations, bringing the total number of draft eligibles to 31.

Twelve out of 14 men called up for physicals Aug. 10 passed the examinations successfully.

A third call will take 41 more men to Des Moines next Thursday. These men have all been notified, officials said, but their names are not yet available.

Harry Bridges Free On Bail Pending Hearing on Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — CIO Longshore Leader Harry Bridges Thursday won his freedom on bail pending his appeal on a perjury conviction.

In a two to one ruling, the U.S. court of appeals held that the government's effort to jail Bridges was "novel and startling."

Voting for Bridges' release on bail were Judges William E. Orr and William Healy Judge Clifford Mathews dissented.

"It is our purpose neither to minimize on the one hand nor to exaggerate on the other the possible implications of Bridges' utterances as disclosed in the government showing," the majority opinion said.

The government, through Special Prosecutor F. Joseph Donohue, had successfully asked that Bridges' $25,000 bail be revoked on the ground he was a menace to the country during the Korean war.

Bridges was to be taken immediately from his cell in the county jail, in the hall of justice, and brought before the federal court. There his bail was to be reposed before he was given his freedom.

Bridges and two of his union aides were convicted last April of perjury and conspiracy to defraud at the time he obtained his American citizenship in 1945.

A federal jury found Bridges lied when he swore he was not a member of the Communist party.

Christ-like Wounds Appear on Girl, 16

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Joan Rosso, a 16-year-old Catholic high school girl was reported suffering Thursday from the stigmata, an appearance of wounds of the hands, feet and side similar to those received by Christ during the crucifixion.

Father James M. Huber, the girl's priest, said a report of the matter had been made to the archbishop's office here.

"My daddy told me not to talk about it," Miss Rosso said when asked about the reported phenomenon.

However, persons who sat behind the girl at Mass reported seeing blood trickle from her palms during the services. The wounds were reported to be about the size of a dime and oval in shape.

The girl's father, Paul W. Rosso, refused to discuss the matter except to say that his daughter has been suffering from the wounds for several weeks.

About 300 cases of the appearance of the stigmata have been recorded in church history.

Administration Official Hints Truman to Seize Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prominent administration official said Thursday night he expects President Truman to order seizure of the nation's strike-threatened railroads within 48 hours.

Two big rail unions — the trainmen and the conductors — have instructed their 300,000 members to quit Monday at 6 a. m. when that hour is reached in each locality.

The unions have said they would continue to operate the railroads in the event of government seizure.

The administration official, asking that his name not be used, told a reporter the unions' sudden call for a nationwide walkout left Mr. Truman with little choice but to act fast.

The official said the emergency created by the Korean war and mounting defense program leaves the President with no alternative but to keep the trains running.

"President Truman himself hinted Thursday that he felt the two railroad unions had acted in bad faith because of their prior no-strike pledge to him.

At his news conference, the President declined to give any clue whether he plans to seize the railroads, as the unions have repeatedly advocated.

In view of the Korean war, intervention appeared inevitable. Late Thursday, however, Assistant White House Press Secretary Eben Ayers said there would be no statement Thursday night.

Clearly perturbed, Mr. Truman told newsmen the unions' call for a coast-to-coast walkout on 131 lines came without warning and less than an hour after both sides in the dispute had assured him there would be no such strike.

Second Call Issued For Polio Nurses

The Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross Thursday issued its second call for nurses to help at University hospitals during the present polio season.

Mrs. Harold Ruppert, chairman of the chapter's polio nursing committee, said she has sent a call to the Red Cross midwestern office at St. Louis asking for five more nurses to care for the 10 respirator cases now at the hospital.

Local nurses who are interested are urged to contact the local Red Cross office. This will save time and costs of recruiting nurses from outside the state, Mrs. Ruppert pointed out.

The local chapter issued its first call Aug. 9. It recruited five nurses, all from outside of the state.

Forgery Suspect Pleads Not Guilty

Elmer H. Raim, 33, North Liberty iron worker, Thursday pleaded not guilty to a charge of forgery in Iowa City police court.

Raim was accused of forging a $20 check cashed at the Mann Auto market earlier this month. The check was drawn on the Swisher Trust and Savings bank.

He was bound over to the September grand jury and is being held in Johnson county jail after failing to post $1,000 bond.

Raim was arrested Wednesday afternoon and charged with intoxication. The forgery charge was filed against him Thursday morning.

Call 47,000 More Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army raised its manpower sights Thursday with an announcement that 47,000 additional male enlisted reservists will be called to active duty by Nov. 10.

All but 4,000 of the reservists included in the new call will be called proportionately from the six continental army areas. The 4,000 will be drawn from the country as a whole and will include men with less than one year of previous active duty. They will be in camp by Nov. 10.

Enlisted reservists to be called from the army area are scheduled to be in training camps by Oct. 25. The army said that except for some specialists in the technical and administrative services, the age limits for this group will be 19 to 25, inclusive.

Reds Renew Assault On Taegu; Yanks Repulse Flank Attack

U. S. Invites UN Investigation of Formosa Issue

WASHINGTON — The state department struck back Thursday night at Chinese Communist charges of American "aggression" against Formosa by inviting a UN investigation of the problem.

A department spokesman, referring to charges made by Chou En-Lai, Chinese Communist foreign minister, said this country "would welcome UN consideration of the Formosa problem."

Red China formally demanded Thursday that the United Nations order all American forces from the Chinese Nationalist-held island of Formosa.

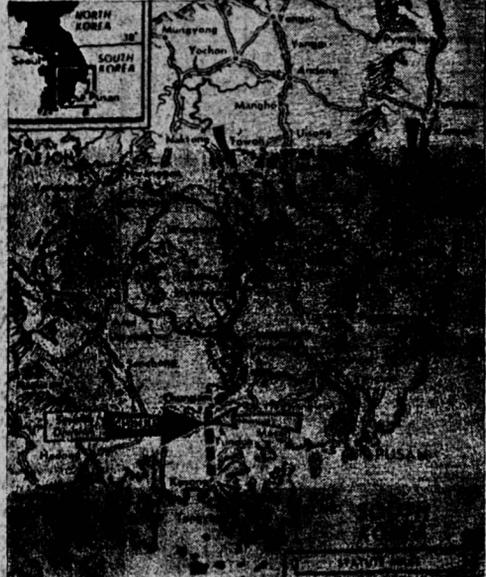

The Chinese Communists also said they were determined to "liberate" Formosa from the "tentacles of the United States aggressors."

The United States has no armed forces on Formosa, but the U.S. Seventh fleet is patrolling the Formosan strait on orders from President Truman to prevent threatened Red attacks.

The Red Chinese move was seen by UN diplomats as a Soviet-inspired step to inject the Formosan issue into the complicated Korean debate and take the heat off Russia and Communist North Korea.

Russia's Jakob Malik is expected to open today's council meeting (at 1 p. m. Iowa time) by reading the Chinese Communist message and perhaps launching charges of aggression against the United States in behalf of the Peiping government.

Malik already has before the council a resolution demanding withdrawal of all UN and other foreign troops from Korea. There was nothing to prevent him from submitting a similar proposal to embody the Chinese Communist demands.

REDS HAVE BEGUN MASSING IN THE SOUTH. A Communist division, identified as the Seventh, pressed forward against American defenders on the southern front Thursday, and there were indications that a major attack on Masan was imminent. In the Taegu area Red forces struck north of that key city after pressure there had been eased earlier in the day. Fighting continued in the Pohang area with little change in positions.

Poorly Armed Enemy Troops Give Up Fight

TOKYO (FRIDAY) (AP) — Red Koreans reopened fighting north of Taegu with a heavy attack Thursday night and moved a division forward in the southern sector, about 40 road miles from the port city of Pusan.

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Macbeth said one and a half Communist regiments — possibly 4,000 men — hit hard at the south Korean Sixth division in the north sector. At the same time, two Red companies were repulsed in a flank attack on the U.S. 27th (Wolfhound) regiment.

The 27th is defending a straight stretch of road through a mountain corridor about 15 miles north of Taegu with South Koreans in the heights on its flanks. The new attacks resumed fighting which had subsided on Thursday after the Reds had failed in similar stabs on four previous days.

Fighters' Attack

Macbeth's dispatch did not say what was the effect or outcome of the Reds' heavy attack against the South Korean Sixth.

The 27th, while repulsing the left flank attack, was also under heavy mortar and artillery fire on the right flank.

In the southern sector, where one of two Red divisions was reported moving toward U.S. 25th division positions west of Masan, American fighters and bombers swarmed to the attack today. Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton said the planes, opening the third month of the war, hit at heavy troop concentrations.

Expect Attack

Intelligence officers told Swinton a Red attack on Masan appeared imminent.

Early today, the Reds made a small scale attack against infantrymen of the 24th regiment, of the U.S. 25th division. It was repulsed.

On the eastern anchor of the line, north of the port city of Pohang, a South Korean spokesman told Associated Press Correspondent William Shinn that in one action the South Koreans had killed 500 Reds and taken 145 prisoners — including the commander of a Red company.

The spokesman quoted this commander as saying only about 20 bullets had been issued to soldiers in his company and that many were armed with "firecrackers" and wanted to surrender.

ROTC Men Discharged From Other Obligations

College students enrolled in army advanced ROTC who are enlisted members of either organized reserve corps or national guard units will be discharged from their obligation in order to continue ROTC studies.

The announcement was made by Lt. Gen. Stephen J. Chamberlin, Fifth army commander in Chicago.

Gen. Chamberlin explained that students who have been accepted for appointments to advanced ROTC in army units should take steps to be discharged as soon as possible from their present status as a member of an ORC or NG unit.

Conditionally Enrolled

In the meantime, such appointments will be conditionally enrolled in the advanced ROTC course pending action on their application for discharge.

Individual applications must be endorsed by the professor of military science and tactics at the institution where the student is enrolled, Chamberlin emphasized.

This means SUI students seeking discharge must have applications endorsed by Col. William Jenks, head of the department of military science and tactics, or by Lt. Col. George Bosch, professor of air science and tactics.

May Be Deferred

Men enrolled in the basic ROTC course and who are enlisted members of the ORC or NG will not be delayed from a call to active duty, but may be deferred under a deferment agreement.

A deferment agreement for advanced ROTC students, presently enlisted members of ORC units, grants a delay in call to active duty until 10 days after the start of the fall term of their college or university.

Polio Total Hits 32 Here; Suelpel's Condition Still 'Fair'

William Suelpel, 20, son of Francis Suelpel, St. Mary's high school basketball coach, was reported still in "fair" condition at University hospitals Thursday.

Suelpel was admitted to the hospital as a polio patient Wednesday.

Four more persons have been admitted to polio wards, bringing the total number of active cases to 32.

Admitted in "fair" condition were Mrs. Lois Kohrt, 29, Garner; Lyle Halverson, 21, Decorah; Richard Berlin, 2, Muscatine; and John Marchant, 6, Marion.

John is a brother of Jean Marchant, who was admitted to the hospital with polio last weekend. She was reported to be in "serious" condition.

An Iowa City woman, Mary McDonald, 28, was among those transferred to inactive wards. Also transferred were Lawrence Samuelson, 6, Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Donald Kruse, 1, Monona.

Nina Krotz, 18, Iowa City, has been discharged from the hospital. Also discharged was Betty Hacke, 30, Lamoni.

Of the present active cases in University hospitals, 8 were reported in "serious" condition, 19 in "fair" condition, and 2 in "good" condition.

War at a Glance

Korean front — Heavy fighting erupted again north of Taegu. Communists move a fresh division forward in southern sector despite a storm of bombs and rockets from American aircraft. Major Communist thrust toward Pusan appears imminent. American Negro Infantrymen hurl back a limited Red assault on the southern sector. British naval forces make a commando raid on island forming part of west coast port of Inchon. Allied air power continues strikes in North Korea and along battle lines.

Lake Success — Red China, in move believed by United Nations diplomats to be a Soviet-inspired attempt to take attention away from Korean debate, demands UN order withdrawal of U.S. forces from Formosa. No American forces are stationed there, but U.S. 7th fleet is patrolling area to prevent threatened Red attack.

Prompted by Current World Situation — SUI to Introduce New Foreign Studies Program

The present world situation has prompted the introduction of a program of foreign students to be started at SUI this fall.

The program will include studies in four areas: France, Germany and Austria, Russia and Spain.

It is designed to fit into the regular scholastic program and will require two semesters of work. The Russian area of study will require one summer session in addition.

Four SUI departments are taking part in the new program. They are geography, history, modern foreign languages and political science.

Courses offered are not new but are a regrouping of courses already offered in these fields.

The program is open to all students except freshmen. This includes the Russian language courses which were formerly restricted to senior and graduate students.

To accommodate the expected increase in the Russian study area, the foreign language department will offer an additional section in beginning Russian and a new second-year course.

Prof. Eric Funke, head of the German department, is chairman of the committee which planned the new program.

Other members of the committee are: Prof. Alexander Aspel, romance languages; Prof. William Aydelotte, chairman of the history department; Prof. C. E. Cousins, head of the romance languages department.

Prof. G. J. LeVois, romance languages; Prof. Kirk Porter, head of the political science department, and Prof. Kurt Schaefer, geography department.

Agreement on Formosa Needed —

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York pointed out recently that the expected Communist attack on Formosa could split Britain and the United States unless they agree on a unified policy before the assault comes.

We agree with the governor. This country and Britain are in an excellent position to find themselves pretty embarrassed if the Chinese Reds attack the island.

Britain has recognized Communist China, and this country has promised to defend Formosa from attack by the Communists. So what happens if the Chinese Nationalists suddenly find the Reds of their country attacking the island they hold? British troops will be enroute to Korea to aid America GI's — or already will be in the lines with the doughfoots. But what about the position of the two countries in the UN?

We will be as committed to send the aid we promised as we were to send help to the South Koreans. And the aid will be against a government the British have recognized.

We shouldn't wait until the attack comes and then find out whether we are united or divided, Dewey said. And the two countries should heed the advice. If they don't, they will be in exactly the position Russia would like to see them.

The problem isn't one which has no answer — if the expected attack isn't already underway as this is read. Britain and the U.S. could take the problem to the UN or to the peace treaty councils. There, as Dewey said, they could find out how the other free countries feel about the situation. And they could come to some agreement between themselves.

We shouldn't permit Russia to get away with this. It would be another case where she could cost the U.S. materials and, more important, lives. And she could do so without losing the life of a single Russian soldier. All this would be in addition to the embarrassing situation she could cause the U.S. and England in the face of the world.

But quick action on the part of the two countries is the important thing at the moment. There appears to be no reliable reason why daily we shouldn't expect the front page of this paper to carry news of a Red attack on Formosa. And if some agreement hasn't been reached by the U.S. and England when that happens, we will have some more of what U.S. Delegate Warren Austin called "applesauce" to throw in the faces of the two countries at Lake Success.

This "applesauce" wouldn't be the mere charge that we were the aggressors. Malik then could say that even our friends, the British, didn't agree with us on our action.

'Save A Life A Day,' Iowa Motorists Urged

DES MOINES (AP) — Twenty-seven Iowans killed, 795 others injured, economic loss $1,296,942. Those figures don't have a thing to do with the Korean war.

They represent what the toll will be from traffic accidents in the next two weeks unless motorists cooperate in the Iowa safety campaign.

State Safety Commissioner Alfred W. Kahl, congress chairman, projected those figures. They are averages based on the experiences of the last three years during the campaign period of Aug. 22 to Sept. 5.

The objective of the campaign is to save a life a day.

Kahl took time out Saturday from his strenuous efforts to make the campaign a success to say:

"The safety campaign is doing a courageous thing in undertaking this campaign, especially at this time.

"First, the congress is young. It was organized only last February. Second, the campaign period is a particularly black one for traffic accidents and fatalities. Third, the period overlaps Labor day and the state fair. Those mean much more traffic."

As the opening of the campaign approached, Kahl sent a letter to all sheriffs and police chiefs. He urged the officers to give particular attention to six points:

1. Ask the public to report drunken drivers promptly.
2. Initiate a strict crackdown on speed violations in zoned areas (cities).
3. Accelerate activity in hunting down and apprehending the late-hour drunken and reckless driver.
4. Attempt to get youthful drivers to accept a challenge to show greater improvement than adults during the campaign.
5. Assist public-spirited citizens who will file charges against drivers committing traffic law violations in their presence.
6. Let the public know the average number of accidents in your county and community during the similar period for recent years and challenge them to improve the record.

Those Quiet Days at Home Gone Forever

Accuse Officials of Speculating on Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators were told Thursday that 10 government officials who had access to government appraisals of Illinois and Arkansas farm-lands speculated in oil rights on some of the farms.

An agriculture department spokesman later explained that technically only two of the 10 were federal employees. He said others were officials or employees of mixed corporations, such as the federal land bank of St. Louis in which the government once had capital invested.

I. W. Duggan, governor of the farm credit administration, gave their names to a senate agriculture subcommittee hearing. All claimed, he told the hearing, they did not use the government information to their own advantage.

But, Duggan said, "I do not approve of the ethics of it." He said last month he forbade speculation by employees in government appraised land.

The speculation occurred during and before World War II, Duggan said. He said men in the St. Louis office of the federal land bank system organized "pools" to speculate in oil leases and that nine of the farms involved had been appraised by the government for mortgage loans to the farmers.

British Economy Still Rising

By British Information Service — Britain's heavy rearmament program, to cost 3.4-billion pounds (equivalent to $9.5-billion) over the next three years, will fall on an economy which after five years of rebuilding, re-equipping, and austerity, and help from the American people had brought Britain to above the peaks of its prewar output and productivity.

The index of industrial production in Britain in recent months has been roughly 40 percent higher than in 1938. The total volume of production of manufacturing industries in Britain has been rising rapidly, and this year shows an increase of between 8-9 percent in the first six months from last year.

However, nearly every available man-hour and machine is already committed. Out of a total working population of 2.3-million, only 340,000, or 14 percent, are unemployed, and many of these are transitory or seasonal workers. The average working hours in Britain are now 45 a week.

Capital investment in the last five years amounted to the equivalent of $4.1-billion in new plant and equipment. This year the equivalent of about $6.6-million is being spent on gross investment in fixed capital assets in Britain. This represents one-fifth of the entire national income.

Britain's record of constantly increasing productivity (now 8-10 percent higher than a year ago) comparatively few labor disputes, ever increasing mechanization, and voluntary austerity by the people will have to be stepped up still more.

How can this be done? The burden of rearmament will fall mainly on those heavy industries on which Britain has exported goods, and may necessitate some reduction in exports, and it will also mean the production for civilian consumption will have to be cut back sharply.

The one encouraging factor is that Britain's industry has now been built up into a highly efficient force, and productivity, through the postwar program of plowing back every possible penny into machinery, should continue to be stepped up.

A glance at the production figures underlines this hope. Steel production is now at a record breaking rate of 16-million tons a year; electricity output has been doubled since 1938; agricultural output is well above prewar; time lost through industrial disputes since the war has averaged one hour per worker, or less, in each year. And today, there are twice as many students studying scientific and technical subjects at British universities as in 1938.

New Dorm Presented To Iowa 4-H Girls

DES MOINES (AP) — A new $400,000 4-H girl dormitory on the Iowa state fairgrounds was formally presented to 4-H girls Thursday in advance of the official opening of this year's mid-century fair.

The grand opening was set for today, with exhibits, concessions and livestock barns in shape for thousands of visitors after a two-day flurry of preparations.

President Harold Dike of the state fairboard presented a key to the new girls dormitory to Esther Wheelstone, Ames, Iowa 4-H girls club leader, at a special ceremony.

More than 500 girls, who came to the fair to exhibit handiwork and farm products, were ready to move into the building as soon as a silk ribbon was cut, symbolizing its formal opening.

Gov. William S. Beardsley was scheduled to dedicate the dormitory formally at state fair ceremonies Sunday. The new building long needed to accommodate 4-H participants, has been under construction for two years.

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODES

BATAVIA, OHIO (AP) — The engineer and the fireman of a Norfolk & Western railroad freight train were killed Wednesday night in an explosion of their locomotive a mile east of Williamsburg.

Government Sees No Gain in Giving Surpluses to Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture department officials said Thursday nothing would be gained by turning over government-owned surplus food stocks to the armed forces.

The armed services have been buying the bulk of their supplies on the open market. At the same time the commodity credit corporation has been adding to the stocks of food it has taken off the market to support the prices.

The CCC now has in storage more than 190-million pounds of butter, some 103-million pounds of cheese, 400-million pounds of dried milk and 108-million pounds of dried eggs.

Sen. John Williams (R-Del.) recently said the armed forces have been spending millions of dollars for food which should have been made available from the government-held stocks.

A spokesman for the agriculture department gave this explanation to a reporter:

"First of all the law does not authorize the CCC to give its surplus foods to the armed forces. Even if these surplus stocks were given free to the armed forces, the CCC would have to go into the open market itself and buy the same amount that the army would discontinue buying there, in order to keep the prices up."

"The CCC can sell these surplus foods to the armed forces at the same price it sells to other outlets, but there would be no benefit there."

"On butter for instance, the CCC pays 60 cents a pound for it to support the price and sells it for 63 cents a pound. There is no point in the army paying 63 cents to the CCC when it can get it at 60 cents on the open market."

The spokesman said that if the government dropped its support program on any of these foods there would then "be some sense to getting rid of the surplus by turning it over to the armed forces if we were allowed to do so."

Congressional Group Okays Spanish Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A joint senate-house conference committee brushed aside President Truman's objections Thursday and recommended $62.5-million loan to Spain.

It also agreed on a $2.5-billion appropriation to finance the economic cooperation administration through the current fiscal year.

The senate's original appropriation measure had required $100-million for the Spanish loan. The house had voted Spain "nothing, which was exactly what President Truman says the Spanish should get from this government."

The $2.5-billion figure agreed upon for ECA was $200-million less than the senate provided in its bill. The house did not include ECA funds in its omnibus spending bill. It had planned to draft a separate measure for that purpose, but presumably will accept the conference version instead.

President Truman reiterated his dislike for the Spanish loan at his news conference Thursday morning. He reaffirmed his position that any loan to Spain could be handled through the export-import bank when the Spaniards put up the proper collateral.

Loudspeaker Campaign Fails

Yanks Try Persuading 50 Reds Out of Hiding But Korean Box Score Shows One Dog

By H. D. QUIGG
United Press Correspondent

WITH FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION IN KOREA (AP) — Up the draw in front of our three-jeep loudspeaker campaign party was a little cluster of earth and straw huts into which 50 Communist soldiers were believed to have retreated. We had come to talk them out with promises of good food and lodging if they would surrender. Capt. William J. Cochran of Joplin, Mo., looked across a rice paddy valley to a hill mass near the Nakdong river.

"We've got a patrol out there," he said.

Someone spotted two men sloshing and slogging toward us through the mud ooze of the rice paddies. They were the patrol. When they got near enough the captain shouted: "You know where those 50 Gooks went?"

The two men came out before answering. They stomped the filth off their shoes and then one of them, Pfc. Joseph Hicks of Bessemer, Ala., said, "That's what we want to talk about. We was fired on half an hour ago by light rifle and anti-tank fire. It exploded when it hit — bursts about this big around."

He held up his hands. "We saw some Gooks last night — they carried little lanterns, sort of little lights, said his partner, Cpl. James Dady of Zanesville, Ohio.

The right knee of Hicks' fatigue trousers was torn out. Dady's blouse was dark and wet through with sweat and he had a week's black growth of beard. "You don't talk like a man from Alabama," I said to Hicks.

"Man, I wish I was back in Alabama — after them dead, stinking Gooks up on that hill — Hicks was covered with dead ones," Hicks said.

The captain decided to try our surrender appeal on the tiny town on the chance that the Communist party might still be there. We backed our jeeps over a little bridge over a deep, dry, rocky stream bed. The village was about a quarter of a mile away.

Our jeeps were backed in so we could get out in a hurry. If 50 enemy soldiers decided to attack instead of surrender, three jeeps would be no match for them.

We strung the loudspeakers as far ahead as their wires would reach and started a little gasoline generator on one of the jeeps.

I jumped down into the stream bed beside Lt. Lee Tak Yung of the South Korean army.

He wrapped a handkerchief around the small hand microphone and intoned: "Doon hai in min gong — Doong mai in ming gong. Enemy in the town. You hear this. If you want to live lay down your weapons, put your hands on your head, and come into our lines. We will give you chow and water and clothing and let you live in South Korea."

The sound boomed against the hill and echoed back. Lt. Lee talked on. Sweat streamed down his face and his lips brushed the metal mike. Between speeches it was so quiet we thought we could catch the whirr of the wings of dragonflies that played around us.

I leaned over and asked Lt. Lee, "What was it you said to them in Korean?"

"What was it you said to them in Korean?" the loudspeaker thundered in a Missouri twang and the hills echoed the question back at us. Crouching up on a roadside with a rifle in his hands Sgt. Ernest P. Rogers of Peaks Island, Me., hollered cheerfully, "Come out, come out wherever you are."

It was no use. Either they were not there or were unimpressed. I climbed out and asked the captain if anyone had come out.

"Only a dog," he said.

"He say anything?" I asked.

"No," said the captain dryly. "Did he have his front paws over his head?"

"No," said the captain.

Some captains are awfully serious.

Prisoner Drops Suit To Obtain Bedding

DES MOINES (AP) — A suit brought by a teen-age prisoner in the county jail to obtain bedding and medical aid was dropped Thursday after a brief hearing before District Judge O.S. Franklin.

The prisoner, Merwyn C. Williams, 18, brought the action through his mother, Mrs. Agnes Williams, claiming that he had been required to sleep on his cell bed without bedding.

Williams was accused by Sheriff Howard Reppert of setting fire to his mattress. After that, he went without a mattress on his bed until several days ago.

Regarding his health, Williams said he had been suffering "black-outs" while in jail.

"Dr. Rodney Fagen testified he examined Williams three weeks ago and found him to be 'confused mentally.'" Dr. Fagen suggested the youth receive the attention of a psychiatrist.

Today's Barnum — Chicago Fair's Boss-Lady

By Central Press

CHICAGO — If those masters of the extravaganza, P. T. Barnum, Billy Rose and Cecil B. DeMille, could be called on to name a collective dream girl, no doubt these masters of the mass spectacle would give a standing vote to a mere wisp of a woman, Helen Ticken Geraghty.

This mite of a woman, fragile, velvet-voiced, can take her place with the great showmen of all times, earning that position as boss-lady of a giant pageant now playing on the largest outdoor stage in the world, produced at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars, operating weekly with a payroll of $40,000 and engaging 150 actors, 175 animals, and tons of automotive and industrial equipment.

As director and producer of the Chicago Fair's stellar attraction, "Frontiers of Freedom," playing to 6,000 people four times a day, Mrs. Geraghty has done it again. She knocked all eyes out with "Wings of a Century" at Chicago's Century of Progress exposition in 1934 and with "Wheels-a-Rolling" at the Railroad Fair in 1948 and 1949. Big shows with lots of brawn and acreage just suit the appetite of this mere slip of a woman.

With split-second timing she maneuvers her men, animals and machines into a 63-minute pageant that telescopes 270 years of American history. Standing in the wings, she calls the shots for "performances" by cotton picking machines, oil derricks, jet airplanes, railroad trains, canal boats, clipper ships and herds of longhorn cattle that use Lake Michigan as a backdrop.

Feminine to her fingertips, this dark-haired, diminutive whirlwind explains her success at a man's game saying: "I spent a childhood matching brain and brawn with two brothers who were six feet four inches"

HELEN TIEKEN GERAGHTY

How does a woman go about becoming a modern Barnum? Just skip vacations for years on end, plan a quiet life with a husband and three daughters on a farm near Galena, Ill., and then watch what happens.

"It was last January that I had my bags packed, ready for a trip to California," she recalls. "Incidentally, it was Friday the 13th and Kent Chandler, president of the Chicago Fair for 1950 phoned asking if I'd produce and direct a pageant for the new fair. Of course I accepted."

And, of course, she worked 16 hours a day for the next six months until the fair opened. She wanted another tremendous theme like "Wheels-a-Rolling" which related the history of railroading to 3-million spectators.

First she worked alone for a month reading American history till it came out her ears, blocking out in her own mind the sequence of events that were to tell about the American pioneer in all his facets of achievement.

Next she assembled a staff, called in a script writer and began putting ideas on paper. A call went out for actors and 1,500 applied.

Of these 150 were chosen to play a minimum of five parts each.

Some 800 costumes were created. She personally contacted industrial, agricultural and transportation firms to donate $1.5-million worth of equipment for "props."

To early farm equipment, including the first reaper, the first iron one-horse plow, a steam driven threshing machine, she added a replica of the Wright Brothers plane, the "Kittyhawk," a century-old Baltimore clipper ship, a two-deck Erie canal boat, the Tom Thumb locomotive of 1829, modern Diesels and jet planes.

"I can't tell you how wonderful was the cooperation from museums across the country," she prides. "The Edison institute and Ford Museum in Detroit gave invaluable assistance. The Kansas City Art Museum lent its paintings on Indian lore."

With the show whipped into shape, she turned her attention to rehearsals of such staggering "trifles" as the stampede of a herd of 150 longhorns, a charge of a United States Cavalry troop, and a cowboy and Indian battle.

It all worked like a charm, just as those who knew her ever since she was a pre-med student at the University of Chicago were confident it would. She had earned her craftsmanship well, first at the Goodman theater in Chicago and later with Max Reinhardt in Germany.

Watching the pageant with her, your reporter couldn't help forgive a pardonable pun she murmured as her actors, human and animal surged across the stage. Looking at some porkers playing with great solemnity, Helen winked and observed:

"Those pigs are the greatest ham actors I have."

Minister's Son Committed to Eldora State Training School

OSCEOLA (AP) — A minister's son who a year ago faced a life prison term for attempted bank robbery and then was granted leniency Thursday was committed for violating his probation. Gerald Burns, now 17, was ordered by District Judge Charles J. Lewis of Mount Airy to serve time at the Eldora state training school for boys until he is 21 "or otherwise legally released."

Burns originally was charged with bank robbery, which carried a mandatory life sentence in Iowa. The charge was filed in connection with his attempted holdup of a Murray, Iowa, bank last August. Later Released Burns later was released on bond and last Jan. 3 the charge against him was reduced to one of delinquency. He pleaded guilty, was sentenced to the training school, and immediately released on probation.

Last week Burns was arrested in Detroit driving a car he admitted he stole in Des Moines "for a lark." In Burns' possession was a pistol he said he got in a Des Moines residential burglary late last December only a few days before the courtroom appearance at which he was granted leniency. Stood Silent Burns stood silently Thursday as Judge Lewis sternly rebuked him for "a wilful, deliberate violation which hurts your parents, your friends, and persons everywhere who wish you well."

"At the time the court gave you consideration following your case and hoping and praying for you to go good," Judge Lewis said. "The court wishes to impress upon you and upon all persons young and old that no one is smart enough or keen enough to commit crime and avoid the penalty."

The boy's father was present Thursday in the nearly filled courtroom. The father is the Rev. Robert Burns of Newton.

CHICAGO GUESTS

House guests of Miss Anne E. Pierce this past week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bane and Bessie L. Pierce of Chicago.

Unemployment Mounts Hourly In Canadian Railroad Strike

MONTREAL (UP) — Unemployment mounted hourly Thursday and hoarding and food shortages developed as striking Canadian railroad workers warned they may defy any government effort to force them back to work.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent summoned negotiators for the striking unions and the presidents of the railroads to separate meetings in his office in Ottawa today.

His office said spokesmen for both groups agreed to attend the meetings. Layoffs spread in the country. It was estimated that 260,000 persons would be idle by the weekend as a result of the nationwide rail strike.

The effects of the walkout spread to the nation's defense program, a navy spokesman at Ottawa announcing that it had "seriously affected constructions of nine warships in eight Canadian shipyards. He said work on the ships would stop unless the strike were settled next week.

The food situation grew steadily worse. It was so critical in the village of Atikokan, Ont., that a mercy train loaded with food and medicine was rushed to the community, and Railroad Union Leader Frank Hall said that mercy trains would run weekly to Atikokan from Fort William, 144 miles south.

Food rationing started in some communities. Milk was flown to others as the cabinet met at Ottawa to prepare for Tuesday's emergency session of Parliament to deal with the situation.

Farley Denies He Will Run for Governor in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — James A. Farley, former national chairman of the Democratic party, said Thursday he had never discussed "with anyone" the possibility that he would run for governor of New York.

"There is no truth to the story that I said I might be a candidate for governor," he said. At Hammond, Ind., Irving Chayken, businessman and Democratic leader, said earlier that Farley had said he "might be a candidate for governor."

BICYCLE MISSING

City-Bred Brothers Win Prizes at Hog Show

DES MOINES (AP) — A pair of city-bred brothers who had never been on a farm until three years ago made a strong showing in the 4-H show at the Iowa state fair Thursday.

Jim and Charles Anderson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. P.M. Anderson of Grimes, took two firsts and two seconds in the Poland China class.

Elsewhere on the fairgrounds, Thursday was just another one of getting ready. Booths were being filled, the last pieces of crepe paper nailed up. Some concessions were in operation; others just going up.

The midcentury exposition opens officially today. It will be children's day with the youngsters admitted free to the grounds. But this was no "preparation day" for the T-shirted 4-H and FFA youths who worked in the show rings with their sometimes quarrelsome, always contrary hogs. Judging started Thursday for 4-H and FFA breeding pigs.

Charles Anderson took first and brother Jim second with their gilts in the 4-H Poland China show. Jim Anderson had the second best boar with a LeClaire girl, Betty Clark, winning first place in the boar class. Jim Anderson also had the first place litter.

Doctor Discusses Child Diets

Effects of childhood diets on adolescent health were discussed by Dr. Genevieve Stearns, research professor in the SUI pediatrics department, at a recent conference in New England.

Dr. Stearns spoke at the Gordon Research conference on nutrition at Colby junior college, New London, N.H.

The conference, on various scientific subjects, are sponsored at the college throughout the summer under the auspices of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

One of 25 Lectures "Factors affecting mineral metabolism during the period of growth" was the subject of Dr. Stearns' lecture, one of approximately 25 delivered at the week-long conference.

Improper diets during the pre-adolescent period interfere with the body's ability to utilize food properly during adolescence, Dr. Stearns told members of the conference.

This condition of poor metabolism can be corrected during adolescence, she said, but several months may be required for the body to regain its ability to benefit fully from the food intake.

Among subjects discussed at the conference was vitamin B-12, one of the most recently discovered vitamins.

This vitamin is effective in the smallest amounts of any known vitamin, Dr. Stearns explained. Effect of B-12 on nutrition and growth were discussed at the conference.

Announce Winners Of Family Contest

DES MOINES (AP) — The nine district winners in the Iowa GI farm family contest who will compete for the state championship at the state fair next week were announced Thursday.

They were chosen on the basis of their farm accomplishments. The state winner and his family will be awarded an all-expense trip to Chicago this fall.

The district winners are Cecil F. Zollers, Keosauqua; Robert H. Lage, Davenport; Milan E. DuBois, Norway; Marvin R. King, Charles City; Kenneth M. Hinton, Albia; Billy G. Wilson, Woodward; Elvin W. Tighe, Jamaica; Bertram Tjebben, Laurens, and Robert B. Mitchell, Arthur.

Says Young GOP's Will Bolt Party

DES MOINES (AP) — Frank Moorhead, Democratic state publicity director, predicted Thursday Iowa Young Republicans would bolt the party in November and invited them to "join the Democrats in their fight."

Moorhead said Young Republicans were disgruntled because Ed Kallemyr, their candidate for state treasurer, failed to get the convention nomination.

He quoted one young GOP member as saying: "For the first time we asked the Republican party to place one of our members on the state ballot and that request was completely ignored."

New Gelatin Mold Makes Fine Dessert

A special eating effect that your family will enjoy is found in a "ginger pear mold." This novel and attractive fruit gelatin dessert is a combination of ginger ale and raspberry-flavored gelatin will add real freshness and charm to your late-summer menus.

The ingredients are: 1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin 1/2 cup hot water 1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice 1 1/2 cups ginger ale

1 cup diced fresh pears Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add the lemon juice and ginger ale gradually to the water. Chill until slightly thickened, and fold in the pears. Turn into a one quart mold. Chill until the mixture is firm, and take out of the mold.

This will make six servings. You may also garnish this with pear halves, green grapes and green leaves for added flavor and attractiveness.

HERE IS AN ORIGINAL DESSERT that will hold your family's interest and approval. With the unique combination of ginger ale and gelatin, this dessert is attractive and delicious to eat.

Beardsley Plans Naming Case Strike 'Observer'

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. William S. Beardsley Thursday promised six employees of the strike-bound J.I. Case Bettendorf plant that he would appoint "an observer" to go to Bettendorf and look into the situation.

The governor said he did not record the names of the callers. He explained that they "reported their differences to me, and said they had a meeting with the city council Wednesday night at which the sheriff sat in."

They asked that he send an investigator to check on the strike situation. The governor said he had not decided whom he would

Fourteen-Year-Old Stabbed to Death With Butcher Knife

KANSAS CITY, MO. (AP) — Fourteen-year-old Kathryn Peeper was stabbed to death Thursday as she and a playmate rode their bicycles in a parkway on Kansas City's east side.

Officers said Thomas David Hart, 14, had admitted the killing. He was apprehended several blocks from the scene. Police said the butcher knife with which Kathryn was slain was in his possession.

Homicide detectives quoted the boy, whom they described as "unkept and wild-eyed," as saying he listened frequently to detective stories on the radio and had been "thinking about killing some one."

Thursday afternoon, young Hart told police, he was near a spring when he saw Kathryn and 14-year-old Frances Dee Day pause at the spring for a drink. He said he climbed an adjacent bluff and hid in bushes, planning to kill "either one of them" when they rode along a nearby path.

Frances said she was riding ahead of her friend when she heard a scream. She turned to see Kathryn lying in the path and a boy fleeing.

Hart said he never had seen either of the girls until Thursday. When the two officers approached him shortly after the slaying, he drew the knife from his belt and said, "Here's the knife. I'm the guy that done it."

Advise Housewives to Go Easy on Buying Pork

CHICAGO (AP) — The American meat institute, which ordinarily likes to see people eat plenty of meat, Thursday advised housewives to go easy on buying pork.

The reason, the AMI said, is that pork supplies have been tapering off in the last two weeks and that heavy buying in the butcher shop would drive up the price.

Gas Truck Explodes, Starts $200,000 Fire

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A gasoline tank truck exploded in a bulk plant Thursday, touching off a $200,000 fire, shattering windows and injuring five persons.

The fire at the Crystal Flash Petroleum Corp. destroyed two tank trucks, a two-story concrete block office and warehouse building and 60,000 gallons of gasoline in four tanks. Fuel oil in four other tanks did not catch fire, but seven private automobiles parked nearby were damaged.

Fire Chief Roscoe McKinney was burned slightly on his face and neck while fighting the two-alarm fire, and four company employees were hospitalized.

The injured were identified as Charles Riley, 50, John Daughette,

Girl, 16, Says Holdup 'Her Idea'

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD TOMMY COOK, (back to camera), looked over his shoulder at Peggy Byrns, 16, who sobbed out the story of teenage love that led to a holdup which ended in death. "We wanted money to get married on," the girl testified. Cook is charged with slaying Dominic Calarco, a liquor store owner. The girl said the holdup was her idea. She sat beside Policewoman Jeanette Baust.

The explosion, blamed on a spark igniting gasoline flowing between the tank truck and a storage tank, cut power lines serving small industrial plants in an eight square-block area.

Tigers Boost Lead, Stopping Yanks, 6-3

Newhouser Posts Vital Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Tigers salvaged the final game of their near-disastrous three game series with the New York Yankees Thursday, 6-3, and boosted their lead in the American league race to two and one-half games over the New Yorkers.

Detroit put together three big innings after the Yankees had taken a 3-0 lead, and Hal Newhouser allowing only four scattered hits after the third inning, the hard-pressed Tigers partially avenged defeats in the first two games.

It was Newhouser's first victory since July 17, and he picked a sweet spot, with a crowd of 44,078, including 38,929 paid, looking on. Thursday's attendance made the total for the three-day, day-time series 122,727.

Tommy Byrne, the Yankee wild man, was the losing pitcher, and it was Tiger hitting more than his lack of control which brought his downfall.

He had held the Detroiters to a brace of hits and no runs in the first five innings as his teammates were sewing a three-run cushion for him.

DiMaggio Hits
The New Yorkers had picked up a run in the second on Joe DiMaggio's towering double to right which fell between the hesitant Gerry Priddy and Vic Wertz, followed by Hank Bauer's single.

In the third inning Phil Rizzuto singled to center, took second when Johnny Groth played the ball off his chest, and came home on Yogi Berra's line-drive home run into the right field stands.

That was all for the Yankees, but it appeared enough the way Byrne was going. The roof began to sag for him in the fifth, however.

The first three men up — Johnny Lipon, returning to the lineup after being out with a spiked leg; Priddy, and George Kell connected for clean singles to fill the bases. Lipon came in on Hoot Evers' fly to left, and Priddy scored on Groth's single to center.

Byrne walked Bob Swift to start the seventh. He got Newhouser to pop an intentional sacrifice to Billy Johnson, but Johnson threw wide to first trying to double Eddy Lake, who was running for Swift, and Lake scooted to second.

Pitchers Routed
When Byrne then walked Lipon he was through. Fred Sanford who relieved him, walked the first man, Priddy, and he was finished.

Joe Page then came in, with the bases full, one out, and facing George Kell. Kell singled to center to score Lake and Lipon.

Groth's single, Don Kolloway's double, an intentional pass to Aaron Robinson, Newhouser's squeeze bunt which went as a fielder's choice and got nobody out, and Lipon's single produced the final two runs in the eighth.

Turner Came Fast
Austin Turner, Corning, came fast as an offensive guard late last season, but has played little on defense. He is a junior of 205 pounds, grandson of a former Iowa governor. Two years ago, he did not even know the correct guard stance.

Bob Lase of Long Grove, a junior letterman, hopes to shake off the bad luck which kept him out of much action and if he can stay in one piece he can help considerably.

Line-backer Joe Paulsen of Davenport, a center last year, probably will fill the same defensive role again, although listed as a right guard. Paulsen, 195 pounds, lettered as a defensive fullback in 1948 and is a strong but willing athlete who thrives on hard going.

Others Still Untried
Probably the No. 3 man now is Jerry Hilgenberg, 190 - pounder from Wilton Junction, a determined sophomore who was a back in high school. Holger Christensen, Iowa City, is a 200 - pound junior who was a squadman last season and Ron Blendenman, Sumner, Wash., 205 pounds, likewise a squad member at tackle and center.

The sixth center candidate is 215 - pound sophomore John Stieber, St. Louis, Mo., an athlete with little known capabilities.

"Junebug" Ferrin, the "elder statesman" among the guards, is back for his senior year at left guard. The 200 - pound Cherokee man, 27 years old, has seen a lot of action, much of it of top caliber and he might overcome his tendency toward "spotty" play to become a stand-out.

The other letterman at left guard is Ron Fairchild of Coralville, a 210 - pound junior he is the workhorse type, not brilliant, but a man who does everything he can to the limit of his ability.

Vrame, Baehr May Help
Other left guards are inexperienced. George Vrame of Chicago, Ill., has the physical qualifications but failed to hit his stride last season. Perhaps the top sophomore is 195-pound Bill Baehr of Des Moines, who has the speed and the body for the job.

Roy Hutchinson, 215, from Ft. Dodge, will be valuable if he can speed up. He is smart enough, close to an "A" average for pre-medical studies. Other sophomores are George Myers, Rochelle, Ill., 200; and Vernon Sherman, 195, Marengo, both of whom have much to learn but always are willing to try.

Each of the four right guards is a letterman. All are right guards on defense but can be used at right or left on offense. Louis Ginsberg of Cedar Rapids, senior and one of the two remaining wartime players on the squad, probably is the best grounded man on guard play. For his size, 195 pounds, he is a consistent guard who never wants to stop battling.

HAL NEWHOUSER Picks Nice Spot for Win

Bosox Beat Browns On Stephens' Homer

BOSTON (AP) — A ninth inning two out homer by Junior Stephens with the bases loaded gave the Boston Red Sox their 10th straight win Thursday with a 6-2 decision over the St. Louis Browns.

It was a heartbreaking setback for Ned Garver, the only St. Louis fliker to gain a decision over the Bosox in the 19 games those clubs have played to date.

Garver, who had pulled himself out of two deep holes previously, saw the tying run come in when Shortstop Tommy Upton juggled Billy Goodman's grounder. Then Stephens lashed his grand slammer, which gave him a total of 23 homers and 124 RBIs to date this season.

Roy Sievers stroked his ninth homer after Ray Coleman doubled against winner Walt Masterson in the sixth inning. That mighty blow boosted the Browns into a 2-1 lead, for the Soxers scored in the fourth on major leaguers' batting leader Goodman's double and Walt Dropp's single.

Turner Came Fast
Austin Turner, Corning, came fast as an offensive guard late last season, but has played little on defense. He is a junior of 205 pounds, grandson of a former Iowa governor. Two years ago, he did not even know the correct guard stance.

Bob Lase of Long Grove, a junior letterman, hopes to shake off the bad luck which kept him out of much action and if he can stay in one piece he can help considerably.

Line-backer Joe Paulsen of Davenport, a center last year, probably will fill the same defensive role again, although listed as a right guard. Paulsen, 195 pounds, lettered as a defensive fullback in 1948 and is a strong but willing athlete who thrives on hard going.

Others Still Untried
Probably the No. 3 man now is Jerry Hilgenberg, 190 - pounder from Wilton Junction, a determined sophomore who was a back in high school. Holger Christensen, Iowa City, is a 200 - pound junior who was a squadman last season and Ron Blendenman, Sumner, Wash., 205 pounds, likewise a squad member at tackle and center.

The sixth center candidate is 215 - pound sophomore John Stieber, St. Louis, Mo., an athlete with little known capabilities.

"Junebug" Ferrin, the "elder statesman" among the guards, is back for his senior year at left guard. The 200 - pound Cherokee man, 27 years old, has seen a lot of action, much of it of top caliber and he might overcome his tendency toward "spotty" play to become a stand-out.

The other letterman at left guard is Ron Fairchild of Coralville, a 210 - pound junior he is the workhorse type, not brilliant, but a man who does everything he can to the limit of his ability.

Vrame, Baehr May Help
Other left guards are inexperienced. George Vrame of Chicago, Ill., has the physical qualifications but failed to hit his stride last season. Perhaps the top sophomore is 195-pound Bill Baehr of Des Moines, who has the speed and the body for the job.

Roy Hutchinson, 215, from Ft. Dodge, will be valuable if he can speed up. He is smart enough, close to an "A" average for pre-medical studies. Other sophomores are George Myers, Rochelle, Ill., 200; and Vernon Sherman, 195, Marengo, both of whom have much to learn but always are willing to try.

Each of the four right guards is a letterman. All are right guards on defense but can be used at right or left on offense. Louis Ginsberg of Cedar Rapids, senior and one of the two remaining wartime players on the squad, probably is the best grounded man on guard play. For his size, 195 pounds, he is a consistent guard who never wants to stop battling.

FRANK STRANAHAN Moves Closer to Crown

Stranahan Moves Closer to Crown

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Bob Knowles of Brookline, Mass., John Ward of Clay, N.Y., and Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N.Y., shot their way into the semifinal round of the golden anniversary National Amateur golf tourney Thursday.

Stranahan, already holder of the British amateur title, thus moved a step closer to his ambition of winning the two major amateur titles in one season. It is a trick that hasn't been done since Lawson Little did it in the mid-thirties.

Sixteen players started their day's work on the 6,655-yard layout of the Minneapolis golf club in a howling windstorm in the morning. Only the four were left after the finish of two rounds on the par 35-36-71 course under a blazing sun.

In today's 36-hole semifinals, Stranahan will play Ward, a Syracuse lawyer who was hardly known outside his own area until this week. Urzetta, who has played consistent sub-par golf all week, takes Knowles.

The successor to Charles Coe of Oklahoma City will be crowned after another 36-hole session on Saturday.

Stranahan, who never had reached the U.S. semifinals before, despite two victories in the British tourney, said just before his afternoon conquest of Richard Kinchla of Newtonville, Mass., 5 and 4, that he had changed two parts of his game for this tourney.

"I play now against par, no matter what my opponent does and I stroke my putts instead of trying to scoop them into the holes."

Knowles halted Tom Veech of Milwaukee and Notre Dame in the quarterfinals, 3 and 2, and Clay knocked off Bill Shields of Albany, Calif., 2 up after the 19-year-old coast player was two after the first two holes.

Byrne walked Bob Swift to start the seventh. He got Newhouser to pop an intentional sacrifice to Billy Johnson, but Johnson threw wide to first trying to double Eddy Lake, who was running for Swift, and Lake scooted to second.

GREEN BAY SIGNS ND's Larry Coute

Green Bay Signs ND's Larry Coute

GREEN BAY, WIS. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers captured one of the best breakaway halves in the country Thursday — Larry Coute.

The 5-foot, 10-inch, 175 - pound Notre Dame star signed the dotted line and got into a Packer uniform for a workout Thursday.

Coute, who played right half in the All-Star game at Chicago, will make the trip east with the Packers, Coach Gene Ronzani said.

Hartung's Pinch Double Nips Cards for Giants
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Clint Hartung's pinch double in the ninth inning with two men on and two out gave the New York Giants a 3-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday night. Del Rice hit a homer with a man on in the fifth, accounting for the Redbirds' runs.

New York was trailing 2-1 when Hartung came off the bench in strategy plotted by Leo Durocher, Giants' manager.

PHILS WIN BEHIND CHURCH, 4-2

Phils Win Behind Church, 4-2

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Emory (Bubba) Church scattered five Pittsburgh hits Thursday to pitch Philadelphia to a 4-2 victory — the fourth in a row for the National league leaders. It was Church's sixth win against two losses.

The game drew a ladies day crowd of 16,789, including 9,096 paid fans.

The Phils jumped into the lead in the third on three hits, including a three-bagger by Grady Hamner that scored Dick Sisler and Del Ennis. Mike Goliat sent Hamner home with a single.

The Pirates came back in their half of the same inning with two runs largely contributed by erratic Philadelphia fielding.

Eddie Waitkus tallied the final Phil marker in the ninth after he drove a two-base hit to right. He took third on Richie Ashburn's sacrifice and scored after Tom Sarfall snarled Sisler's fly.

Two Farmers Injured In Two-Car Accident Near West Liberty

Two farmers received minor injuries in a two-car accident Tuesday, one-quarter of a mile west of West Liberty on highway 6, police reported Thursday. The men, Oscar Olson, 62, route 3, and Frank Schenk, 63, route 2, Riverside, were reported to have suffered minor neck injuries. They were riding in a car driven by Harold J. Hirt, 503 S. Clinton street. Driver of the other car was Rly-the Richson, Des Moines. The accident occurred when one car struck the other, which had stopped at a railroad crossing. Hirt estimated damage to his car at $250, while damage to the Richson car was not listed. Also reported to police Thursday was a minor two-car accident Wednesday at the Crandic railway crossing near the Burlington street bridge. Drivers of the cars were Robert W. Schwab, Davenport, and Charles Seering, West Liberty. Schwab listed $20 damage to his auto.

House Okays Allowances For Families of Soldiers

WASHINGTON (UP) — The house passed unanimously Thursday a bill to grant living allowances of $45 to $85 a month for families of enlisted servicemen. The senate passed a similar bill, also by unanimous vote, Tuesday. Since the two versions differ, a senate-house conference committee will work out a compromise. But final enactment is assured, possibly within a week. Higher ranking enlisted men would be expected to send even more, but would not be compelled to send any specific amount. The government's contribution would be, for the lowest three grades, $45 a month for one dependent, 70 for two, and 85 for three or more. For the higher grades, which already receive quarter allowances, the monthly sum would be raised to $70 for one or two dependents, and $85 for three or more. Some higher-ranking enlisted men already receive "quarters allowances" of $67.50 a month. All officers are entitled to family allowances ranging up to 150 a month according to their rank. Here are the main provisions of the house bill: Men in the lowest three grades would be required to send $40 a month from their own pay to qualify for family allowances.

Women Finish Half of Flying Derby

READING, PA. (AP) — About 30 of the nation's fairest flyers winged into Reading Thursday on the first leg of a two-hop flight to Boston in the annual powder puff derby. Taking time out to powder their faces, the women pilots, some of them grandmothers, set down their planes after a flight from Columbus, Ohio, the starting point. The flyers, each of whom has at least 200 hours in the air, were accompanied by their husbands, children and friends. After remaining in Reading overnight for rest and a little celebration, they will resume their flight today. The first to land was Mrs. Arlene Davis, Cleveland, director of the derby.

Fanatical Waiter Sent to Mental Hospital

BRIDGEPORT, CONN. (AP) — A fanatically religious waiter charged with boring three holes in the chest of his young son with an electric drill press was committed to a state mental hospital Thursday for observation. Joseph Korczynski, 36, allegedly told police he drilled the holes "for the cause of world peace." The screaming boy was left impaled on the machine while his five-year-old sister looked on. Police said Korczynski admitted drilling the holes with a 3-16-inch bit. The boy, Joseph Jr., 4, was in critical condition at Danbury hospital. Physicians said he probably would live, although the drill glanced off his heart. At Danbury hospital, the child he injured was fighting for his life in an oxygen tent.

Lodge, Sparkman New UN Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Thursday named Sens. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (R-Mass.) and John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) as delegates to the UN general assembly meeting next month as a contribution to bipartisan foreign policy. They will assist the regular UN team composed of Warren R. Austin, the chief delegate, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and John Foster Dulles. The President also named five alternates. They are Benjamin V. Cohen, Ernest A. Gross and John C. Ross, all of New York; John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, and Mrs. Edith S. Sampson of Chicago. All the nominations were sent to the senate for confirmation.

Relatives Weep at Soldier's Burial

RELATIVES WEPT BESIDE THE BODY of Sgt. Ernest Turner, Berwick, Pa., who was buried Wednesday at Arlington cemetery in Virginia. Sgt. Turner was the first enlisted casualty of the Korean war to be buried in Arlington. The sergeant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Turner, are seated at the left of the group at right of the grave. Rain-soaked soldiers held the flag over the casket.

Next Stop: Atlantic City

READY TO LEAVE for Atlantic City and the "Miss America" beauty pageant in September, Marilyn Reynolds, "Miss New York State," tested the water at Syracuse, N.Y., before taking a swim. She's 21, hazel-eyed, 5-6, and a Syracuse university student.

GI's Receive Sacrament

BEFORE GOING INTO BATTLE a group of GI's received holy communion at the front line in Korea. The chaplain was The Rev. Bernard Wickey, Waverly, N.J., from the diocese of Rochester, N.Y.

'How You Going to Find Me?'

IT'S TOUGH TO HAVE to fight the war and pay for it too, L/Sgt. Arthur Fanure, Denver, must have thought when he received a notice at the Korean front that he owed Uncle Sam $180 in taxes. Somehow, considering his present position, Fanure entertained a certain feeling of safety from the tax collector.

Automatic Parachute Gets a Trial

A NEW AUTOMATIC OPENING PARACHUTE of the United States airforce got a demonstration by Capt. C. G. Whitney, a test pilot at Dayton, Ohio. Designed for use by flyers in high performance fighters, certain bombers and in conjunction with the ejection seat, the parachute release is primed by a timer and ameroid element (right) prior to takeoff. Forced to bail out, the flyer pulls handle (left) and pre-set mechanism opens the 'chute when he has cleared the plane and fallen to a safe altitude.

Same Scene, Different War

A FAMILIAR WARTIME SCENE is that of children-begging from United States military men. Above South Korean children asked for candy from marines enroute by rail to the fighting front.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Return

LOOKING HAPPY after their voyage, Conrad Hilton Jr., and his bride, Elizabeth Taylor, arrived back in New York on the Queen Elizabeth from a honeymoon in Europe. That lucky dog Liz is holding is a memento of the trip named Batco—just another poodle.

Fair Time in Los Angeles

ADVERTISING THE LOS ANGELES county fair, Betty Wilson (left), and Jayne Moore started out to place roadside signs at Pomona, Calif. Even the painted porkers seemed happy about the coming fair — or maybe it was the present company.

Here's That Man Again

KILROY RIDES AGAIN! The "guy" who went more places than a can of army K-rations during World War II is at it again. The "guy," or a reasonable facsimile, Francis C. Kilroy (right) has re-enlisted in the navy. He was congratulated in a Philadelphia recruiting office by Lt. Albert Leighney. The hastily printed sign tells the story.

Big Dog, Little Girl, No Smiles

"... AND I PROMISE NEVER to hide limburger cheese under your bed again," might be what little Patricia Taugher, 4, is whispering to her pal Bruno, the family bloodhound, who looks as though he just whiffed a pile of dirty socks. This cheek-to-cheek conversation was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Taugher, Louisville, Ky., "Patty's" parents.
