Collision in Fog Sinks Hospital Ship Off San Francisco Coast; 370 Aboard

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A military hospital ship with nearly 400 persons aboard collided with a freighter in a dense fog and sank four miles off San Francisco late Friday.

An undetermined number of persons were killed and injured. The hospital ship Benevolence plunged to the bottom shortly after she crashed with the outbound freighter Mary Luckenbach.

At least two were known dead and two seriously hurt. A fishing boat brought them and 17 uninjured men to San Francisco.

A score of rescue vessels working furiously continued their efforts to save men struggling in the rough waters four miles off the gate.

Circumstances of the disaster and rescue attempts were so confused that even the coast guard could not give an accurate picture of the accident.

The Mary Luckenbach, outbound with a general cargo consigned to the east coast, smashed her bow in colliding with the hospital ship, which was returning from a trial run before being sent to the far east war zone.

The Luckenbach, still afloat and apparently in no danger of sinking, carried a crew of 49, according to coast guard information.

The navy broke down the Benevolence personnel as follows: Civilians — 119. Officers (including doctors and nurses and reserve fleet officers) — 48. Enlisted personnel — 200, including medical corpsmen.

A late report said there were 280 survivors, most of them pulled out of the water, on their way back to Fort Mason army base.

Rail Walkout Canceled After Truman Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unions Friday called off a nationwide rail strike within 30 minutes after President Truman ordered federal seizure of the railroads.

The walkout, involving 131 major railroads and an estimated 1.7-million rail workers, had been scheduled to begin at 6 a.m. Monday.

Mr. Truman, acting to prevent a national emergency, ordered the army to take over the railroads at 3 p.m. (Iowa time) Sunday, and operate them "in the name of the United States government."

Half an hour later the unions issued a statement declaring: "The men we represent will work for the government gladly under government operation of the railroads during this period of crisis until this dispute can be settled on its merits through mediation."

"The strike instructions issued Aug. 23 are postponed indefinitely."

The message, sent to all the railroads involved, was signed by President W.P. Kennedy of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and President R.O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors.

White House Press Secretary Charles Ross told newsmen that negotiations will continue between the unions and the railroads, with White House negotiator John Steelman available "if needed."

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO — Twelve persons were listed as dead from aboard the U.S. Navy Hospital ship Benevolence which sank following a crash with a freighter Friday night. Navy Cmdr. E. T. Lentz on duty at the pier receiving survivors said that he had counted each of the dead. He said one of the bodies was that of a navy nurse.

Johnson County to Start $4,500 Polio Campaign

A polio fund drive to raise $4,500 in Johnson county is scheduled to begin with a meeting at 2 p.m. Tuesday, when a report will be presented on work at the Sister Elizabeth Kenny foundation, Minneapolis.

Mrs. V. A. Gunnette, county chairman of the drive, said any organization in the county is invited to send a representative to the meeting.

Mrs. Gordon Jansma, Williamsburg, mother of a child who received the Kenny treatment for polio, will speak at the meeting.

Mrs. Margaret Hinderson, Wapello, Kenny foundation director of Iowa women's activities, also will address the group.

Iowa's part in the fund appeal is $150,000. Money collected will be sent to the foundation for use in training Kenny technicians who administer the treatment.

The Kenny treatment is administered in Iowa at the Raymond Blank Memorial hospital, Des Moines, where the foundation maintains a staff of Kenny technicians.

Two Men Held On Forgery Count

Two men were in Iowa City jail Friday night on charges of forgery.

Gale R. Fankhauser, Buchanan, was arrested by Iowa City police Friday and charged with forging a $10 check on Aug. 19. He is being held in Johnson county jail after failing to post $1,000 bond.

Clarence H. Salisbury, Iowa City, is charged with aiding Elmer Raim, North Liberty iron worker, in passing a false check at a local service station. The check was forged for $50 merchandise purchased by the men.

Chrysler Hikes Pay For Plant Workers In Surprise Move

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler corporation's 120,000 employees got a $25-million a year windfall Friday in the form of a totally unexpected pay boost of at least 10 cents an hour.

Some will get more under an informal agreement between the company and the CIO united auto workers — the first of its kind ever reached in the auto industry.

Almost immediately, a flat 10-cent raise will go to Chrysler's 98,000 production workers. Skilled tool, die, maintenance and power house employees — 7,000 of them — will get an additional five cents.

Some 20,000 salaried workers will receive seven percent raises with a minimum of $17.50 a month.

Chrysler said the program would cost it at least $25-million a year.

A spokesman said, however, no car price increases were contemplated. But the move seemed destined to have important effects elsewhere in the industry and possibly on the American economy in general.

The agreement, not even put into writing, is over and above the three-year Chrysler - UAW contract signed last May 4 after a bitter 100-day strike. After that strike was settled, company and union officials even refused to pose together for photographers. It was all different Friday.

Report Sixth Polio Death at Hospitals

Mrs. Violet Houdek, 33, Decora, died of polio in University hospitals Thursday night, officials reported Friday.

She was the sixth polio patient to die in the hospitals this summer.

Four new polio patients have been admitted, all reported in "fair" condition. They were: Karen Willmott, 7, Central City; Sue Anderson, 27, Dayton; John Melchers, 18, Anamosa; and Patricia Brugman, 12, Wilton Junction.

Transferred to inactive wards were Rosemary Miller, 7, Iowa City; Thelma Ross, 30, Cedar Rapids; and Verl Borsheim, 21, Decora.

Present number of active cases at University hospitals is 31.

House Passes Bill To Stem Communism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House gave final approval Friday to the $36.2-billion omnibus appropriations bill which includes the first installment of a multi-billion rearmament program aimed at heading off further Communist aggression.

The chamber then took up the emergency $16,771,344,479 Korean war money bill, but was forced to postpone final action until today.

First, however, it overrode its appropriations committee and added $260-million for a local civil defense program.

Administration leaders called a special Saturday session to dispose of the measure and rush it to the senate which is scheduled to act swiftly on the bill Monday.

The appropriations group recommended only $30,000 for the capital's defense program. The figure was increased after supporters said the entire nation is looking to Washington to "lead the way" in devising methods for coping with atomic attack.

Canada's Strike ...

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent held separate conferences Friday with labor and management in the nationwide rail strike and induced them to resume negotiations Friday night.

The strike, under way for four days, has made more than 200,000 rail and telegraph workers idle and badly crippled the Canadian economy. The unions are demanding higher pay and a reduction of the work week from 48 to 40 hours.

St. Laurent, at the conclusion of his two conferences, said the labor and management negotiators would meet by themselves, with no government representatives present.

California University Fires 32 Faculty Members

BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP) — The University of California board of regents overruled Gov. Earl Warren Friday and voted 12-10 to dismiss 32 faculty members who refused to sign loyalty oaths.

It was disclosed that four of an original 40 non-signers have resigned their teaching posts and four others signed loyalty statements.

Reds Fall Back From Taegu; UN Planes Destroy 15 Tanks

Chinese Reds' Mass Troops Near Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Chinese Communist armies have been massed along the Korean border and 120 mammoth tanks have been sent to the Red Koreans from the Russian - controlled port of Dairen, the U.S. army announced Friday.

The official word of the long-reported movement of the Chinese Red troops caused new speculation as to whether they may eventually plunge into the far eastern war.

The movement of the heavy tanks raised new threats for the UN forces in Korea — if the tanks can be brought into action, which some U.S. experts strongly doubt.

The reports placed the main concentration of Chinese Red war equipment and Communist war equipment around Antung, big industrial center and transportation hub near the mouth of the Yalu river. This river not only forms the boundary between Manchuria and Korea for several hundred miles but also supplies a usable artery for the movement of equipment from northern Manchuria.

Officials posed the possibility that the Chinese Communist troops have been moved to the Korean border as a precautionary measure in the event that the United Nations forces decide to drive past the 38th parallel toward Manchuria.

The exact size of a Chinese Communist army is not known.

Asks UN Inquiry ...

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — The United States said Friday it would welcome a full United Nations inquiry, either here or on the spot, into Chinese Communist charges of American aggression in Formosa.

Chief U.S. Delegate Warren R. Austin made it clear, however, that the United States would fight any attempts to sidetrack discussion of the Korean conflict to take up the Formosa problem.

In a letter to Secretary-General Trygve Lie, Austin labeled as "ridiculous falsehoods" the aggression charges made Thursday in a cable from Chou En-Lai, foreign minister of the Peiping regime.

North Koreans main attack in south (B) was repulsed but U.S. intelligence reports indicate major Communist thrust (broken arrow) at Pusan is in the making. Near Pohang (C), a two-pronged South Korea push was stalled when Reds forced back a regiment near Kigye.

Flyers Report Only 'Feeble' Enemy Action

TOKYO (SATURDAY) (AP) — Rolled back at two points north of Taegu, the Korean Reds ceased all attacks Friday night and regrouped their battered forces for their next move.

American and South Korean field officers agreed that the Red threat to Taegu had been smashed and the enemy will not be capable of making another large scale attack for at least ten days.

Simultaneous with a U.S. Eighth army report of rebuffing the Communists everywhere on the ground the air force announced a bag of 15 enemy tanks.

The Eighth army, in a late morning communique disclosed that the South Koreans not only regained ground lost to 6,000 Reds 24 miles northeast of Taegu but also punched out a mile gain 15 miles north of that advance supply base.

The Taegu north sector is where shifting Red forces have concentrated their main strength.

In the other critical sector on the south end of the battleline, planes which took off at dawn today said there was "no enemy activity." In that sector, only 35 air miles west of the lifeline port city of Pusan, the Reds had fought fiercely within hand grenade range Friday, probing for a possible breakthrough.

American and Australian pilots listed five enemy tanks knocked out and four damaged in sectors defended by South Koreans north and east of Taegu. They described enemy resistance as "feeble."

Ask Draft of Medical Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense department Friday told congress it wants power to draft doctors and dentists through the age of 45.

House hearings were called at once for Monday. Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson wrote that volunteers have been few. He said his pool of 29,000 medical men in the reserves, many of whom had long service in the last war, will bear the burden of "substantial calls" expected in the next few months unless others are made subject to service.

Chairman Carl Vinson (D - Ga) of the house armed services committee, which will conduct hearings, introduced the draft bill as proposed by the military department.

The Holladays have moved from the small home where the chair started its continuous rocking last March. The chair's movement brought fame and a television appearance.

Newsman Question McGrath on Rail Strike

HE WASN'T TALKING Friday when newsmen shot questions at Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, (right) about the full cabinet discussion with the president concerning the national railroad strike scheduled for Monday. McGrath, who was just coming out of the cabinet meeting, refused to say at the time whether or not an order for government seizure had been drafted.

Two Weeks to Live

(Slogan of the Iowa Safety Congress' "Drive Right" Campaign)
By Daily Iowan Staff Writer

Mrs. Hendrix was a "list-making" type of person — this applied to everything from groceries to social calls.

The morning marked on the family calendar as "vacation-beginning day," she sat down at the breakfast table and, pencil poised, began to contemplate her rather imposing "vacation list."

"Let's see now," she began, "first aid kit . . ."

"That's a fine way to start out," her husband teased. "Haven't even left town and she's got us needing first aid."

"That reminds me, Joe," his wife said, "you were saying something about getting the brakes fixed on the car."

"You're right, Ann. Well, I'll have it taken care of. I've got some business to clear up at the office this morning. Remind me again."

Early that afternoon, the Hendrix family was piling into the family car — all but Mrs. Hendrix, who stood on the sidewalk taking a final check of her list.

Finally she looked up, satisfied. "Well, I guess we're ready to go."

Top Military Chiefs Return

TWO MILITARY CHIEFS returned from Korea Friday. Army Chief of Staff J. Lawton Collins (left) and Admiral Forrest Sherman, Navy Chief of Operations, arrived at National airport, Washington, after a round of conferences and an inspection tour of the Korean war area. They expressed optimism at the progress of the fighting.

Truck-Car Crash Mars Local Safety Drive

Velma Yoder suffered shock and a head gash when the car in which she was riding attempted to turn into a driveway and was struck from the rear by a truck. She was taken to University hospitals for treatment.

The car was driven by Doris Plank, 31, Kalona, who escaped injury. Damage to the car was estimated at about $200.

Driver of the truck was Robert Eugene Collins, 18, Des Moines, also uninjured. Collins was fined $50 in Iowa City justice of the peace court on a charge of defective equipment, which highway patrolmen named as the cause of the accident.

Acting Judge C.J. Hutchinson suspended $25 of the sentence on condition that the truck's defective brakes be repaired.

Collins is a truck driver for the Centerville construction company. Owner of the truck is Henry Clark, Centerville.

Three other passengers in the car were not injured. They were Mrs. George Yoder, and her two sons, Marlin, 6, and Harlan, 2, all of Kalona.

Two other traffic accidents, occurring in Iowa City, were reported to police Friday.

Mrs. Lorene B. Yeggy, 1225 S. Riverside drive, escaped injury when the car which she was driving was struck by a Rock Island switch engine on the Gilbert street tracks. She listed damage to the car at $150.

Damage estimated at $318 resulted in a two-car mishap which occurred Aug. 17 on Muscatine avenue near Burlington street.

Janet S. Dickson, 20 Evans street, driver of one of the autos, reported $300 damage. Damage to the other vehicle, driven by Alma Baughman, 1141 E. College street, was listed at $18.60.

Illinois' Anti-Gambling Crusade Sidetracked —

ROCK ISLAND, ILL. (UP) — The anti-gambling crusade of State's Attorney Bernard J. Moran was sidetracked Friday by sex shows which he said "mesmerized" not only the eyes of callow youth but of "mature peeping toms."

Moran, who has pulled 453 alleged gambling violators into his net, said that he stumbled upon "obscene and indecent exhibitions" at several places where ladies danced in the nude.

In a criminal information, he singled out Bea's bowery. Moran charged that the operators "entice persons into said tavern, and as part of the regularly scheduled entertainment therein, produce nightly shows wherein nude female dancers perform lewd, lascivious and suggestive acts before the mesmerized eyes of callow youth, and the jaded lechery of mature peeping toms."

Such goings on, Morgan charged, threatened to "debauch the public morals of the city of Rock Island."

The state's attorney said that "said lewd dancers, known as 'strippers' or 'peelers,' are imported by a Chicago syndicate who supply commercialized sex for that city."

Bea's, Moran said, also shows obscene movies and has become a hangout for "known thieves, hoodlums, prostitutes and degenerates."

Harvester Co. Labor Relations Worsen —

CHICAGO (UP) — Tense labor relations of the International Harvester Co. worsened Friday when the farm equipment firm withdrew an offer of a four-cent general wage increase to 17,000 United Farm Equipment workers union members.

A company spokesman said he feared the left-wing FE might call strikes against company plants in retaliation.

The FE had staged strikes at some plants before the offer was made and members were voting on whether to accept it when the proposal was withdrawn.

Meanwhile, the company also was hit by walkouts of 22,000 CIO united auto workers at eight plants in a dispute over a new contract.

Harvester charged "flagrant irresponsibility" on the part of labor in withdrawing its settlement offer with the FE.

Campaigner Runs into Difficulties —

WAUKESHA, WIS (UP) — Leonard F. Schmitt, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, ran into a few difficulties here Friday before he could deliver a campaign speech.

His attempt to speak to workers at the Waukesha Motor company was frustrated by a guard who said he couldn't talk on company grounds.

Schmitt headed across the street and began to set up his public address system in a park. The police came along and vetoed that idea, pointing out that a city ordinance forbade it.

The Republican denounced the ordinance as unconstitutional and resigned himself to speaking without mechanical assistance.

Minnesota to Remodel Constitution —

ST. PAUL (UP) — The groundwork to gain statewide support for remodeling Minnesota's "archaic" constitution was laid Friday by the governor's advisory committee on constitutional revision.

The committee met in the office of Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl here and elected William E. Pearson, Ogilvie, chairman; George Lawson, St. Cloud, Vice-Chairman, and Mrs. Lincoln Thomas, Minneapolis, secretary.

Gov. Youngdahl described the present state constitution as "out-moded and archaic." He and the committee agreed that any proposal for a convention should include the provision that a new constitution would be put to the state's voters for approval before adoption.

Hoover Heads Study of World War II Papers

By Central Press

STANFORD, CALIF. — You might find the nation's only living ex-president sitting quietly in a paneled office, scanning a page from one of the most fiendish products of a man's mind . . . Joseph Goebbels' counter-propaganda.

Herbert Hoover dwells on German products of pen and press. When on the Stanford university's campus, he spends much time in the Hoover Library of War, Revolution and Peace which he founded shortly after World War I.

He has studied much of the historical material gathered in tens of thousands of pieces. Here you would find more of the history of both great wars of our time than may be gathered anywhere.

Putting Together Bits

Agents now are putting together the bits that may explain for future generations why the world is presently embroiled in conflict.

Why has the Goebbels file found its way into these archives? Young Darn Lerner did his bit while in uniform. Shortly after the war, he returned to Europe, and was rummaging through ruins in Germany when he discovered a small stack of papers bearing the imprint of the Ministry of Propaganda.

Lerner set out like a pointer on the trail of a bear cub. He found an apartment-house janitor who had found some of the material. He had sold it to a junk collector for 60 cents a ton.

To the junk dealer Lerner proceeded. The records were more or less intact, but dumped in the mud and snow of his yard. What was it worth? Say $6.40, for three truck loads. Lerner counted out the money, and it wasn't long before the stuff was moving to California.

Lerner's interest in historical research sent him hot-footing off on another quest. He called in a couple of friends and began stalking a second prize, the Nazi's anti-Commintern archives.

Exactly what trail he followed has not been told, yet in a few weeks he found eight tons of these priceless documents, stored at Berlin's Tempelhof airdrome.

Among them are secret telephone reports, confidential letters, transcriptions, secret service reports. In sum, they represent an overall view of Communist activities collated from reports by Nazi agents throughout the world.

What might Stalin offer for a view of the facts given and opinions expressed?

Let's flash back to a crossing of the North sea in 1914 for a preview of the foundation of the library. Mr. Hoover was still 14 years away from becoming President.

Former President Herbert Hoover Before Him, Priceless Documents of World War II

While in passage, he was reading a book by Andrew W. White, president of Cornell. One paragraph lamented the lack of source of material covering the French revolution.

At that time, Mr. Hoover had access to sources in both Allied and Central Powers nations, for the United States was not yet at war. The door was open, and he decided to embark upon a program of collection. It wasn't long before more material was pledged than he could handle privately.

Other individuals and Stanford university offered to help. Many of the "deep secrets" will not be revealed to the world for years; for even now the library receives packages marked, "not to be opened until . . ." In most cases, that means not until certain figures currently on the world stage have passed on.

They constitute a veritable stockpile of what Mr. Hoover terms "lies, half-truths and untruths." Many were intended to intimidate, subvert reason or inflame.

Modern technology produced these products of warped intellects by the millions. This great collection covers many countries and subjects. Outstanding are countless volumes relating to Germany, Russia, Belgium, Spain, Italy, China and the United States. Korea will come in for increasing attention.

Maybe We Need a New Bucket

Militarists Favor Decision on 'Real Enemy' $100,000-a-Year Man, Emil Schram, Reires To Indiana Farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States military men are reported to favor a decision as to "who our real enemy is" in case the Korean conflict spreads or Communist-inspired aggression breaks out in other parts of the world.

The military men are said to be convinced that this country should not allow its forces to be scattered, tied down and weakened in efforts to put out locally all the fires that may be kindled by Moscow through other people it dominates.

Depend on Bomb Stocks

Instead, in case of further such outbreaks, they are reported to favor a decision as to the source of the fires. Presumably, military policy would then be based on that decision.

Within the next year or two, any such policy would depend heavily on America's stocks of atomic bombs, since the rearmament of the U.S. and western Europe with planes, anti-tank guns and tanks will take longer than that.

Officials here say that, so far, no substantial reinforcement of the North Korean army by Chinese Communists has been detected.

The possibility that Manchurian or other Chinese Communist troops may yet appear against the GI's in Korea is not being written off, however.

Laid Before UN

Should large number of Chinese Communist soldiers enter the conflict, it is believed that evidence of their intervention would be laid before the security council of the United Nations for action.

Proof of Russian behind-the-scenes management probably would be hard to get in such a case. If strong enough proof were obtained, however, it might be made the basis of an official decision as to "who our real enemy is."

Undoubtedly, this government would be extremely reluctant to go to war with the Chinese Reds.

It has the power to strike devastating retaliatory blows at Chinese cities with its B-29 bombers and carrier based planes. But such blows, even if inflicted with conventional explosives instead of atomic bombs, would kill enormous numbers of civilians and spread hatred of the U.S. Furthermore Chinese cities contain few industrial sources of military strength.

Ground Operations Objectionable

Ground operations against Communist China, with its almost inexhaustible supply of manpower, would be even more objectionable militarily. That might tie down large numbers of troops needed elsewhere, and eventually bleed the U.S. to death.

These factors will all have to be considered in case the Chinese Reds get into the Korean fighting and the security council is called upon to decide what should be done.

Barring reinforcement of the North Koreans by the Chinese or the Russians themselves, military men are now cautiously optimistic that American and South Korean troops will be able to take the initiative in Korea in the not too distant future.

Once that is done, they would not be surprised to see Russia begin beating the propaganda drums loudly for peace.

Fewer Children's Labor Permits Issued in July

DES MOINES (AP) — Ninety-three child labor employment certificates were issued to 14 and 15-year-olds last month, the state bureau of labor reported Friday.

The total was 53 fewer than for July of last year and 203 fewer than for the record month of July, 1947. Of the 93 certificates issued last month, 83 went to boys and 10 to girls.

Keeping Germany Disarmed Costs Millions

BERLIN (AP) — The United States, Britain and France are still spending more than $1-million a year to keep 46-million west Germans so disarmed they could hardly shoot a rabbit.

Times have changed since the allied military security board started its super-slouching 19 months ago, but not the board's orders.

The board is charged with assuring west Germany's absolute military helplessness until Jan. 1, 1953 — or later.

Regardless of the Korean invasion and fears of further Communist aggression, American, British and French officers are expected to worry about whether a ton of ball bearings, a 13-knot freighter or a home-made glider in west German hands could be a threat to peace.

These officers are expected to be oblivious of the fact, Gen. Charles De Gaulle, Winston Churchill and many American leaders agree that, without west Germany's armed help, Europe is indefensible against the Soviet army.

They carry on despite the development of a 50,000-man German army in Soviet-controlled east Germany and the plea of west German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to the west for authority to create a defense force to match it.

Some junior cynics have dubbed the AMBS "operation futility."

The Russians shun the board, but their controlled press in east Germany accuses it of

(1) Futively rearming west Germany,

(2) Exterminating peaceful industries for the benefit of allied competitors and

Under the board's three commissioners are 300 allied soldiers and civilian experts who maintain close supervision over west Germany's scientific research, industrial production and "militarism."

The board now sees it that university physicists, ship builders, Ruhr steel makers and war veterans' reunions, for example, do not exceed narrow limits of activity.

Interpreting the News —

German Defense Needed Now

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The pressure of events seems to have decided that German military strength is to be incorporated into the plans for defending western Europe, with the questions of how and under what controls now drawing direct attention.

There is considerable confusion among the diplomats, as usual at such moments. Everybody is trying to put in his oar and look after his own interests.

But detailed Allied report on Russian-sponsored military preparations in eastern Germany, with a large army being prepared just as the North Korean army was prepared, obviously seems designed to prepare the way for early action.

Gives Defense Situation

Chancellor Adenauer of western Germany has been stressing this East German picture in his talks with Allied officials. His approach to them, on the basis of state department information, seems to have been mainly to give the defense situation rather than to make specific demands for rearmament.

In addition, however, dispatches from Germany indicate that Adenauer has been expanding his views in talks with other Germans or with correspondents.

American thinking is moving faster than the French on the subject. And this may be coloring some American statements due to a desire to avoid alarming Paris.

There is no evidence of any idea of creating a true German army. Foremost is the idea of incorporating German strength in a general defense plan.

Coordinated Defense

Washington has not yet indicated that it will buy the Churchill package, presented before the Council of Europe, for a European army including Germany. But the idea of a coordinated defense force is implicit in Atlantic pact operations. How to work Germany into this force is the problem.

In this connection there is no tendency to forget an armed Germany's capacity for causing trouble, nor the results of the buildup given Russia during the last war solely because she happened, without any volition of her own, to have become one of the countries fighting Hitler.

Two things are likely to come first out of the current discussions.

One is an increased German police force to balance the East German para-military police. France has indicated a willingness to see reconstruction and enlargement of the forces of the individual German states subject to a call from emergency.

Regular Central Force

This may eventually develop into a regular central force such as those which now operate in France and Italy.

The other step is likely to see increases in Allied occupation forces. The idea of training part of America's new army in German instead of U.S. camps has taken hold in certain quarters. Britain and the U.S. are both considering direct increases in their manpower in Germany.

At any rate, some things have been agreed upon. Western Germany's general industrial potential is to be oriented toward the European defense program. And Germany's military defenses are to be bolstered one way or another.

Then comes the question of how to obtain one of the great needs of the moment, German manpower, without at the same time playing Frankenstein.

Civilian Quota of Rubber Decreased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce department Friday ordered a cut of about 15 percent in the use of rubber for civilian products during the next four months.

It said the cutback was ordered "to provide a proper apportionment of rubber between government and civilian needs."

The order applies to both synthetic and natural rubber. The government recently authorized production of synthetic rubber stepped up to a rate of 675,000 long tons a year.

The cut will allow manufacturers about 10 percent less rubber for civilian products than they have been using this year. It is a cut of about 15 percent on what they have been using in recent months.

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer said the new limitation "mit the production of sufficient quantities of rubber products for normal civilian use."

The order was prompted by the fact that rubber consumption has shot up recently, some of it presumably was caused by a rush to buy automobile tires after outbreak of the Korean war.

Sawyer said that in 1949 the consumption of 1-million tons of new rubber provided all the rubber products needed for peacetime use.

Dawson Sees Shortage Of Engineers In Future

Possibility that a serious shortage of engineers will develop in the near future was voiced today by the Dean Francis M. Dawson, of the SUI college of engineering.

Dawson issued the statement for the manpower committee of the American society for engineering education, of which he is president.

Pointing out that nearly all June graduates have already been absorbed in industry, the society's manpower committee predicted that the outlook for the future is even more serious due to sharp reductions in the number of engineers expected to graduate in the next few years.

Present indications are that 35,000 engineers will graduate from colleges and universities in 1951, 25,000 in 1952, and 20,000 in 1953. The committee pointed out that these numbers are actually below the annual peacetime needs of the economy for engineers, and that the shortage will be intensified by mobilization demands.

Trends in high school enrollments point toward further reductions in the number of freshman engineering enrollees, according to the committee. The situation could only be changed by a considerable increase in either the percentage of high school graduates who go to college or in the number of college freshmen who enroll in engineering.

Present indications are that the freshman engineering class in American colleges and universities will be much smaller this year than was the class which entered engineering schools last fall, the committee reported.

For the Housewife

Canning Corner

Although tomatoes ripen until the first frost, the best time to prepare them for winter is now, when they are at their best.

A stock of pickles, catsup, chili sauce and cocktails on the shelf will afford the housewife a colorful and tasty selection for the dining table.

Ingredients for tomato pickles are:

- 3 qts. small green tomatoes
- 6 onions
- 1/2 cup salt
- 4 qts. water
- 2 cups vinegar
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons turmeric
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 1 teaspoon mustard seed

Wash the tomatoes clean and slice them. Then peel and slice the onions. Soak the tomatoes and onions two hours in a brine made of the salt and water. Drain and rinse the tomatoes thoroughly.

Bring the remaining ingredients to boiling point, then add the drained tomatoes and onions. Let them come slowly to boiling point and cook them 10 minutes. Turn the mixture into hot sterilized jars filling them to one-half inch from the tops. Seal the jars at once.

Tomato catsup ingredients are: 6 quarts sliced tomatoes (about nine pounds)

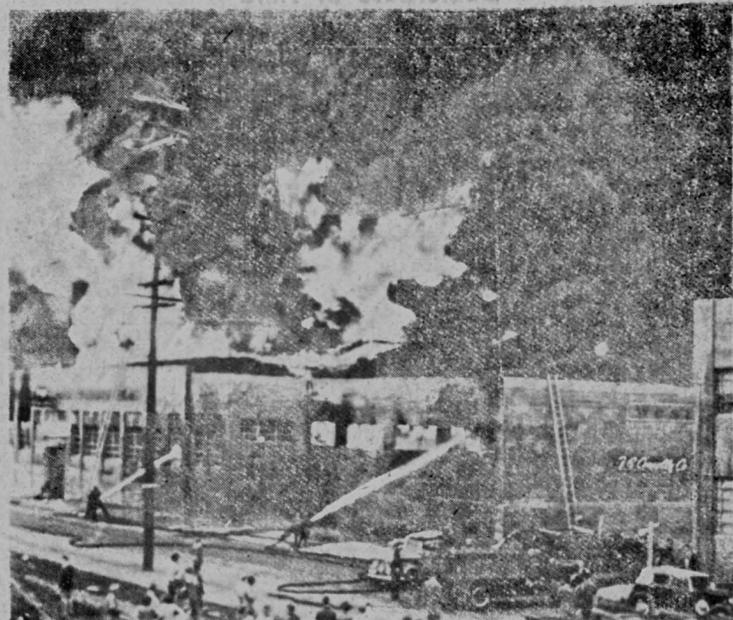

- 4 red peppers
- 5 large onions
- 1 stalk celery
- 1 cup cider vinegar
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 tablespoons salt
- 1/4 cup whole mixed pickling spices

Simmer the sliced tomatoes until soft, about one-half hour. Then turn them into sieve or colander and drain off the juice. Put the peppers, onions and celery through a food chopper and add to the tomato pulp.

Simmer this mixture one hour, then push it through a fine sieve. Add the vinegar, sugar, salt and spices tied in a cheese-cloth bag. Next, simmer this mixture one and one-half to two hours or until thick.

Turn the mixture into hot sterilized jars and seal at once. These ingredients make about two pints of tomato catsup. The drained juice can be used for a beverage or canned for future use.

Journalism School Conducting Reader Survey

A weekly feature on hospital news in the June 15 issue of the Laurens Sun had highest readership among women, while more men read a story about a local hobby day celebration.

These results were obtained in a readership survey of the weekly newspaper by the SUI school of journalism in cooperation with the Iowa Press association.

Prof. Paul Lyness, head of the research division in the school of journalism, directed the survey. Assisting with the field work was Prof. Arthur Barnes, head of radio and graduate study in the school of journalism.

Actual interviewing was done by Laurens housewives who were specially trained for the task. They interviewed 267 persons from the paper's subscription list in the Laurens trading area.

Highest readership on any advertisement was found on an ad by a local bank featuring a mys-

Training in Psychiatry Improving at SUI

The 1950 graduate of the SUI college of medicine has more and better training in psychiatry than the graduate of any previous SUI medical class.

"It has become increasingly evident that every illness has its specific emotional factors, and all doctors and specialists need to be aware of them," according to Dr. Paul E. Huston, SUI professor of psychiatry.

Adequate training in psychiatry enables young doctors to begin practice, with an understanding of human behavior that practicing physicians have in many cases acquired only through years of experience, Dr. Huston explained.

By giving medical undergraduates a better psychiatric background, the university is taking part in a nationwide effort to increase psychiatric understanding of all doctors—general practitioners as well as specialists in all fields.

The sophomore level psychiatry class was expanded last year at SUI. The new course in normal human behavior gives students a better understanding of personality formation and indications of maladjustments.

The course included study of the family members, the family as the community, social and occupational relations, economic position, and its traditions.

A clinical course in abnormal human behavior offered junior students will continue, emphasizing psychiatric disorders and their treatment.

Another part of undergraduate medical training is the clerkship system, under which seniors spend several weeks in each of 13 hospital services.

They keep records, follow the course of patients and their treatment, and attend special conferences conducted by staff members.

Beginning last year, seniors spent four weeks in a psychiatry clerkship, instead of the previous three weeks.

Psychiatry staff members cooperate with the department of medicine in the teaching of psychosomatic medicine, which shows the relationship between emotional factors and bodily diseases.

In a course in physical diagnosis conducted by the department of medicine, psychiatrists assist in teaching students to conduct interviews with patients and take medical histories.

Undergraduates also attend special weekly meetings where psychiatry staff members join representatives of other departments to discuss medical topics.

Modern Shampoo Differs from Grandma's

Have you ever wondered why such a fuss is made about shampooing? All Grandma did was strain off some water from the rain barrel and go to work with a bar of soap.

For one thing, the mineral-laden hard water we use is a far cry from Grandma's "soft" rain water. Then, too, scientific research has discovered many properties about hair, scalp and skin that were unknown in that day.

The reason for shampooing is to cleanse the hair and scalp. The thousands of bunched hair fibers on the human head must be freed of dirt and grime which modern machines continually circulate in the air.

Ordinary soap, of course, is a good cleanser. It cuts oil and grime, and will remove dust and dirt from the hair. But soap, being highly alkaline, has a harsh effect on hair. Each hair fiber is covered with a minute, scaly covering called the cuticle. Soap often roughs up this cuticle.

In deciding on a shampoo preparation, there are many factors to consider. First, of course, you want one that will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Then, it must be non-irritating and non-alkaline. It must foam well and rinse freely from the hair in hard as well as soft water.

Next in importance is the way in which you shampoo your hair. Always begin with a good brushing. This will remove some of the surface dirt and dust. Then rinse the hair with warm water. This, too, helps remove loose dirt and lint and makes the job of spreading the shampoo preparation through the hair much easier.

Oily hair should be washed every five to seven days. Dry hair may go from a week to ten days. A good general rule for hair beauty is to shampoo your hair whenever it feels dirty.

Bridges Leaves California Jail

HARRY BRIDGES, (LEFT), WEST COAST CIO labor leader left county jail No. 1, in San Francisco, accompanied by a U.S. deputy marshal Friday. He was enroute to federal court where he was released on bail. Bridges has been in jail since Aug. 5, when his bail was revoked while he was awaiting appeal on his conviction on a perjury charge.

Labor Leader Says Whole Nation 'Prison'

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Left-wing Union Leader Harry Bridges was freed from county jail Friday to resume command of west coast longshoremen who load the ships for Korea.

Bridges was jailed 20 days ago by a federal district court that revoked his $25,000 bail after agreeing with a department of justice motion that he was "an enemy within our borders" because of his activities since the outbreak of war in Korea.

He had been free pending an appeal to his conviction on perjury and conspiracy charges last spring that he hid his Communist affiliation to "get U.S. citizenship in 1945."

He was set free on new bail Friday by a 2 to 1 majority decision of the U.S. ninth circuit court of appeals which Thursday ruled Bridges "committed no recognizable crime" through his lack of enthusiastic support of UN intervention in Korea.

Tigers Tailspin Again, Lose To Red Sox; Yanks Win, 10-0

Parnell Posts 12th Win, 6-2

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's onrushing Red Sox, running their winning streak through 11 games, gained a full game on the American league leading Detroit Tigers Friday night by whipping them, 6-2, before a jam-packed crowd of 34,964.

The victory, 12th for Lethander Mel Parnell, pulled the fourth place Sox within 3 1-2 games of Detroit who, nevertheless, maintain a six-game edge over the Bostonians in games lost.

The Sox, who cracked a 2-2 tie by scoring once in the sixth, put the game in the deep freeze in the eighth when they scored three times, driving out Veteran Dizzy Trout.

Al Zarilla's two-run triple was the big blow in the eighth inning attack.

The loss was only Trout's third of the season against 11 victories.

The Red Sox opened with two runs in the first inning before the Tigers came back for all their runs and a tie score in the fourth. The Soxers cracked the tie with a single run in the sixth before Zarilla's big blow in the eighth capped a three-run inning and clinched the ball game.

Shortstop Vern Stephens led the Red Sox at the plate with two singles and a double in three times at bat.

Phils Nip Bucs In 15th, 9-7

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A wild pitch by Pitcher Cliff Chambers and a single by Relief Hurler Jim Konstanty in the 15th gave the fighting Philadelphia Phillies two runs for a 9-7 win over the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night. The victory, fifth in a row for the Whiz Kids, kept them five full games ahead of second-place Brooklyn.

The defeat was the second extra inning loss for the Pirates against the pennant contenders this week. On Wednesday night they went 17 innings before dropping a 7-5 decision to Brooklyn.

Konstanty, who entered the game in the seventh, received credit for his 11th victory.

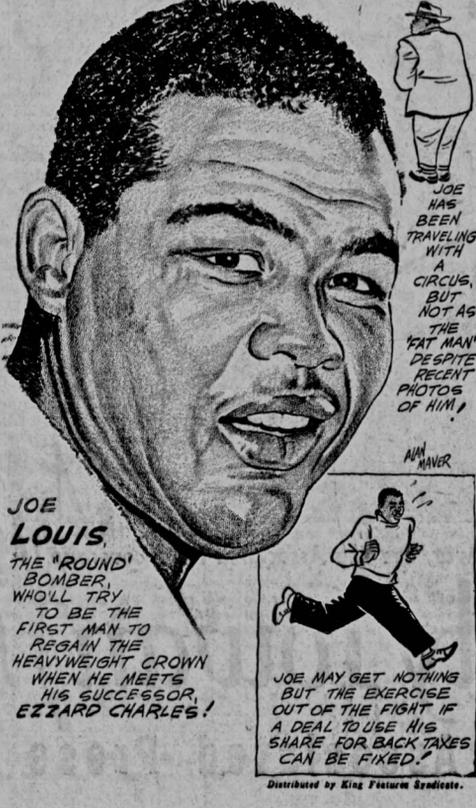

The Pirates scored six runs in the fifth to take a three-run lead.

In the seventh, the Phillies scored three times to tie it up, 6-6.

Then, in the 10th, Catcher Andy Seminick sent the Phils one-run ahead with his 19th homer of the year.

Ralph Kiner, the major league's home run leader, promptly tied it, 7-7, as he led off the last of the 10th with his 39th circuit clout. (15 Innings) Philadelphia 021 000 300 100-9 14 1

Yankees Trail Again By Only 1 1/2 Games

NEW YORK (AP)—Young Ed Ford won his fifth victory with a defeat Friday night as he pitched the New York Yankees to a 10-0 four-hit victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The triumph boosted the second place Yanks to within a game and a half of the league-leading Detroit Tigers, who lost in Boston.

Ford was supported by a 16-hit attack which included homers by Yogi Berra, Gene Woodling and five hits by Hank Bauer.

Ford has permitted only two runs in 35 and one-third innings. The Yankees lost no time pouncing on Brownie Starter Cliff Fanning, knocking him for three runs in the first inning. Fanning gave up eight hits in the first four innings before Dorish relieved him in the fifth and gave up the same number of hits in the last four innings.

The Yanks were credited with eight runs batted in and Berra, who is on a batting rampage this week, had four of them. His homer Friday was his 17th of the season and his fourth in the last four straight Yankee games. He hit one a day in the three games with the Tigers.

FOREST HILLS (AP) — Black disaster struck America's tennis forces Friday when two brilliant Australian youngsters beat the daylights out of the best this country could summon and virtually clinched the Davis Cup before the challenge round had well begun.

Ken McGregor, a 20-year-old wizard from down under, pulled one of the great upsets of Cup history by blasting the Victorian Ted Schroeder off the courts, 13-11, 6-3, 6-4.

His 22-year-old teammate, Frank Sedgman, banged across another straight set victory over Tom Brown Jr., 6-0, 8-6, 9-7, before 8,000 unbelieving spectators in the big stadium.

When the last shot had been fired on black Friday, the Cup defenders were left with little or no hope of retaining the trophy they have held since they brought it back from Australia in 1946.

All the wildly celebrating Aussies will need to do is capture today's doubles match to make it official, and they were more or less convinced a triumph in the tandem event before the matches started.

Tremendous Service
If the huge, gleaming cup goes back to the other side of the world this time, it probably will remain there a long time, for the Aussies unveiled Friday a pair of all-court players with tremendous services who will be hard to take in the foreseeable future.

McGregor, only two years removed from the ranks of the ball boys and playing in his first challenge round, had the experts exclaiming with his masterful performance against the 29-year-old Schroeder of LaCrescenta, Calif., who never before had met his match in Davis Cup singles.

Friday Ted not only met his match, but his master in a 190-pound six-foot-three athlete who covered court like the dew and exhibited one of the biggest services seen in years. Schroeder, though playing near his best, succeeded in breaking McGregor's serve only once, and that at the very outset.

Rushed Net
From there on, McGregor toed the service line 20 straight times and either rifled bullets past Schroeder or smashed errors off the American's racket. He never yielded his delivery again, and it was only a matter of time until the tiring Ted could hold his own service no longer against the towering youngster who rushed the net at every opportunity.

"It's mply was impossible to pass him," Schroeder said wearily as he made his way to the showers.

Ray Robinson Flattens Basora in 52 Seconds

Shields, Jacobs Tie for Top in Best-Ball Match

SCRANTON, PA. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson knocked out Jose Basora Friday night in less than a minute to defend successfully his middleweight championship, Pennsylvania version. It was one of the fastest knockouts in championship history. Referee Johnny Kelly counted the Puerto Rican contender out in 52 seconds.

The seconds hadn't gotten down the steps when Basora hit the canvas for the first time as Robinson landed a left hook on Basora's right ear, bringing blood.

Basora was knocked down four times in the fast and furious action.

The Harlem Sugar weighed in at 154 1/2, Basora at 159 1/2.

Basora was badly hurt. Dr. Leonard Freda of the State Athletic commission worked over him for six or seven minutes before he was permitted to leave the ring.

The crowd of some 5,000 which began to boo and yell "fix" quieted suddenly when it realized the Puerto Rican was hurt.

Dr. Freda said Basora may have suffered an ear puncture; the Puerto Rican was able to navigate shortly after the knockout.

Basora and his handlers were dumfounded at the fast finish but Robinson said he wasn't at all surprised.

"It was all part of a master plan," he said.

Stranahan, Urzetta Advance to National Amateur Golf Final

Chisolm Sweep Twin Bill

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Sam Urzetta, the job-hunting collegian from Rochester, N.Y., and Frank Stranahan, the unemployed millionaire from Toledo, will play today for the National Amateur golf crown.

Stranahan played hot and cold golf Friday to eliminate John Ward of Clay, N.Y., 1 up, while Urzetta was as steady as a rock in sending Robert Knowles of Brookline, Mass., to the sidelines, 6 and 5.

Surprisingly, it was Stranahan, the British Amateur champion and the prohibitive favorite here, who had to hustle for his victory in the 36-hole semifinals over the 6,655 yards and the 108 traps that make up the Minneapolis golf club course.

The Ohioan pushed two shots out of bounds on the third hole of the morning round and never got ahead of the gum-chewing lawyer from Syracuse until the eighth hole of the afternoon.

Urzetta, on the other hand, lost the first hole by sending his second shot over the green. He took the second to pull even with the great grandson of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and then steadily moved ahead.

The day's golf included everything. Stranahan put two out of bounds on one hole; Ward hooked so sharply off one tee his drive struck a spectator in the leg.

Knowles needed so many strokes to get on the green of the fourteenth he conceded the hole without putting; Urzetta lost a hole when his putter accidentally touched his ball while he was surveying a styxie.

But there also were a lot of good shots. Urzetta, son of a Rochester janitor was one under par for the morning round and was two over 13 holes at the afternoon when he had victory clearly in his grasp. Stranahan, despite his sprayed tees, shot in the morning, was only four over par for the day.

The two will begin their fight for the title Charles Coe of Oklahoma relinquished last Wednesday, at 8:30 a.m. (CST) today. The second 18 holes start at 2 p.m. (CST).

Bi-Partisan Group in Congress Opens Drive For UN Police Force

WASHINGTON — A bi-partisan group of 31 senators and representatives opened a drive Friday for creation of a UN police force to crack down on aggression any place in the world.

They announced plans to introduce resolutions in the house and senate to put the full force of congress behind the campaign.

The UN charter calls for an international force to maintain peace but it has been blocked by the Soviet Union.

A congressional resolution on the subject could not override Russian resistance in the UN security council. But it would show the world where the United States stands and might gain impetus from the UN general assembly which meets next month.

Plans for the congressional move were announced by Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) who was nominated Thursday by President Truman to be a U.S. delegate to the assembly meeting.

He said he will sponsor in the senate a resolution calling for a police force controlled by a nine-member board — three from the United States, three from Britain and France, and three from "the smaller member states."

He said Soviet Russia could participate if it would agree to three conditions — international control of atomic energy, and end to the armaments race, and punishment of aggressors.

Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.) said he would sponsor in the house a resolution exactly like Sparkman's.

Children's Day as Iowa State Fair Opens

DES MOINES — Twelve thousand Iowa children, many of them exhibitors in their own right, streamed through the gates for nothing Friday as the Iowa mid-century state fair opened officially.

Banners were flying and barker were barking as the kids settled themselves for a free morning show at the grandstand, while adults who paid their own way got their first look at the 92nd annual state fair.

Lloyd Cunningham, fair board secretary, estimated this year's opening day attendance at 63,000 a decrease from last year's first day figure of 66,193.

A police force of 200 special officers was sworn in to handle crowds. In addition, a Red Cross emergency hospital and other special facilities were set up.

All over the grounds traditional state fair events were getting underway, ranging from a baby health contest in the women's building to a grim checker tournament on the porch of the administration building.

An afternoon crowd packed the grandstand to see the fair's initial auto racing program. Jimmy Wilburn, Indianapolis, won the feature race, clocking 6:34.52 in a 7.1-2 mile grind.

One car somersaulted on a turn, but Terry Wainright, 31, Kansas City, Mo., the driver, was not injured seriously.

House Approves Spanish Loan

WASHINGTON — The house passed the $62.5-million Spanish loan Friday in the face of charges that congress is trying to deprive President Truman of his constitutional right to direct foreign policy.

The hotly-disputed loan, an amendment to the $36,153,490,423 single-package money bill, was passed by a standing vote after less than an hour's debate, largely monopolized by critics.

The loan was written into the bill by the senate which originally fixed the figure at $100-million. House-senate conferees trimmed the total but left the loan in the measure despite outspoken opposition by Mr. Truman and the state department.

Pretty Girl Kidnapped —

Modern Trojan War

— Family Battle Looms

HERAKLION, CRETE (UP) — A modern Trojan war threatened to break out here Friday over a beautiful girl who has been kidnapped by handsome, wealthy Costas Kefaloughianis, who boasts he has the finest mustache in all Crete.

More than 2,000 armed men were deployed around the peaks of Mt. Ida, the birthplace of Zeus, according to Greek mythology. About 500 were bent on rescuing raven-haired, 19-year-old Tassoula Petrakogeorgi. An equal number were determined to hold her captive.

One thousand gendarmes, under Gen. George Samoullis, were rushed up the mountainside to keep the two factions apart. Shooting had not started yet, but it was feared.

Going to Movies — It all began when the 35-year-old Kefaloughianis asked George Petrakogeorgi for his daughter's hand. Petrakogeorgi, Liberal deputy for Candia, said he would rather see his daughter dead than married to a Populist (Royalist) such as Kefaloughianis.

On Sunday, Tassoula, chaperoned by relatives, went to the movies in Heraklion. As she was leaving, police said, Kefaloughianis and six armed friends seized her, pushed her into an automobile and raced up Mt. Ida.

Under Cretan law, a girl under 21 must have her parents' consent to marry. The Petrakogeorgis, therefore, massed for action at once. George Petrakogeorgi and 40 relatives and friends, armed with rifles, set out for the mountain.

Archbishop Eugenios of Crete, meanwhile, reported that on the invitation of Kefaloughianis he had visited the cave on Mt. Ida where Tassoula was hidden. He said Tassoula told him she wanted to marry her abductor. Just as Helen once became enamored of Paris.

Costas has provided her two women attendants and a comfortable mattress. Ten men stood guard in front of the cave. The report, however, did nothing to soften Tassoula's father.

"I would rather see her dead," Petrakogeorgi said.

Larger Seeks Senate Check of Federal Judges — WASHINGTON — Sen. William Langer (R-ND) urged congress Friday to investigate whether any federal judges are Communists.

"If the facts are as they have been stated to me in the (Harry) Bridges case, Judges William Orr and William Healy should be impeached and thrown out of office," Langer told the senate.
