Reds Gain In Pohang Offensive, Thwarted In Strike At Taegu

East Coast City Of Kigye Falls In New Drive

TOKYO (SUNDAY) (AP)—North Korean Reds captured Kigye Saturday night in a strong thrust and forced South Koreans to withdraw two miles or more on the northeast end of the battlefield. But another Red penetration 13 miles northeast of Taegu has been wiped out. And near Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of that supply base, American artillery broke up an attempt to get 16 boatloads of Communists across the Nakdong river.

DIAGRAMED HERE ARE THE APPROXIMATE POSITIONS OF U.S. and South Korean units opposing invading North Koreans (dark arrows) along the 120-mile defense perimeter. After nine weeks of war in Korea, broken line is approximate battle line as of 11 a.m. (Iowa time), Saturday. Inset maps show week-by-week penetration of the Communists with dates - indicating end of each week - in U.S. time. The Reds have been stalled all week in efforts to break through the Kumhwa-Chongno line in the north to take the vital city of Taegu.

These overnight developments were disclosed in a dispatch today by Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth. He said the reverses on the northeast end of the 120-mile perimeter caused Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the Eighth army, and Lt. Gen. Earle Partridge, commander of the Fifth airforce, to fly to Pohang to check the situation.

Reds Shift Forces The new Communist blows were struck after the Reds had shifted forces eastward, following their costly defeat in trying for seven days to capture Taegu in a frontal attack on the U.S. 27th regiment.

Huth said the South Koreans who yielded Kigye fell back a few miles south and east to a road junction. The South Korean Capital division is fighting in that sector. Kigye is nine miles northwest of Pohang.

On the east coast, defended by the South Korean First division, the Reds advanced two and a half miles to a point a half mile south of Hunghae. That town is eight miles north of Pohang. Remnants Wiped Out Near Tabu, 13 miles northeast of Taegu, remnants of a Red infiltrating force which once totaled 1,000 or more was wiped out, Huth reported.

Huth also reported a brief night action in a sector which has been comparatively quiet. Near Changnyong, where the battle-hardened U.S. 24th division is defending, American artillery broke up a move by the Reds to slip 16 boatloads of soldiers across the Nakdong river.

Terrific Bombings One Reason Why Red Drive Has Slowed

TOKYO (SUNDAY) (AP)—The "staggering impact" of 20,500 U. S. airforce sorties has "severely crippled" the North Korean enemy, Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer reported today in a 60-day summary of Far East airforce operations. The statistics indicated one reason why the Communist offensive has slowed down is the lines of supply lengthened and shortages began to be felt.

The FEAF commander's long summary did not include the extensive American and British naval air operations against the Korean Reds. Confirmed destruction of 111 North Korean tanks was among the results listed, with no evaluated estimate on the number knocked out in more than 800 attacks on tanks, armored cars and half-tractor vehicles.

American airforce casualties were listed as 26 dead, 45 missing and 23 wounded, with 58 U.S. airforce planes lost. North Korean plane losses were placed at 72.

War at a Glance

Red-Led Guerrillas Ravage 11 Towns In Central Luzon

MANILA (AP)—Five thousand Communist-led guerrillas ravaged and set fire to 11 towns in central Luzon Friday night and Saturday in terror raids that left 167 persons known dead. The heavily armed and Red-directed marauders swooped down from the hills in what a high official called a "concerted" attack against the Philippine government. The raiding "hukbalahaps" raddled within 25 miles of Manila before they retreated toward the mountains late Saturday afternoon. The toll included 100 persons killed at Tarlac, 70 miles north of Manila. Government reports said at least 20 dead "huks" were left on the battle scenes where the Philippine army used light tanks to rout the rebels.

In many places, the government said, the "huks" left Communist literature behind. In some attacks, according to witnesses, the guerrillas shouted opposition to Philippine government plans to send a combat team to aid the United Nations in Korea. A national defense headquarters spokesman said the Filipino soldiers, a group of about 4,000, still would go to Korea as soon as transportation was available.

House Passes Arms Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $16,771,384,479 emergency bill to help rearm this country and its allies was passed Saturday by the House on a 311 to 1 vote and sent to the senate. Among other combat "hardware" items the big appropriation measure provides for purchase of 5,333 warplanes. It boosts to more than $30-billion the military outlays set up for this year.

And Rep. George Mahon (D-Texas), chairman of the military appropriations subcommittee, told the house Friday that the defense department is preparing another request for $10-billion. Of the total in Saturday's bill, $4-billion goes to help friendly countries abroad build up their armed power to resist Communist aggression.

Divers Search Sunken Hospital Ship

(Survivors' story of collision, another picture on page 5.) SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Navy divers reached the submerged bulk of the rammed hospital ship Benevolence Saturday as a dense fog off the Golden Gate lifted and the list of known survivors grew to 487. Naval authorities said that it was a "near miracle" that apparently only 18 persons - one a navy nurse - died when the navy hospital ship was rammed Friday night in a pea-soup fog by the freighter Mary Luckenbach. The Benevolence sank within 30 minutes.

After adjusting the casualty figures a number of times, the 12th naval district announced it could definitely account for 505 persons including the dead. Authorities said the exact number aboard the Benevolence when she left Marie Island navy yard Friday was still uncertain. It was believed she carried 507, but that figure was subject to revision. "There may be several persons missing," a navy spokesman said. The navy refused to officially list anyone as missing, however.

U. S. Rejects Preventive War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson, with an assist from President Truman, cracked down hard on Navy Secretary Francis Matthews Saturday for saying that the United States should be willing to institute a war "to compel cooperation for peace." The action not only precipitated the first wide open cabinet split on foreign policy since the row between James F. Byrnes and Henry A. Wallace in September, 1946 - it also seemed to make inevitable a public debate on a preventive war with Russia.

Matthews expressed his view in a speech at the Boston navy yard Friday night. Saturday the state department was asked whether what he said represented government policy - or was perhaps some sort of policy-making trial balloon. Press Officer Roger Tubby, in a statement initiated by Acheson and reportedly okayed by the President, asserted: "The speech was not cleared by the department of state. Mr. Matthews' remarks about instituting a war for peace do not represent U.S. policy. The U.S. government does not favor instituting a war of any kind."

In keeping with the greater stress on ROTC units, the U.S. army has inaugurated a five-point publicity program. The program calls for publicity through radio, leaflets, posters, brochures and an advertising survey. Expect Compromise On Price Controls WASHINGTON (AP)—A house Democratic leader Saturday predicted senate - house agreement next week on a compromise to keep authority for wage - price - rationing controls in the proposed home front mobilization law. Rep. Brent Spence (D - Ky), chairman of the house banking committee, said it would be "a bad mistake" to strip the anti-inflation measure of power to invoke such controls. Spence said the fact that both senate and house have passed separate bills calling for authority to invoke wage - price - rationing curbs "constitutes a mandate" for the conferees to keep the power in the compromise measure.

Army to Take Over Major Railroads Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army set up a skeleton organization of fewer than 50 men Saturday to take over the nation's major railroads today and see that their normal operations go on without a break. Karl R. Bendetsen, assistant secretary, announced that all necessary steps have been taken to carry out President Truman's order that the army seize the railroads at 3 p.m. (Iowa time) today to avert a threatened strike. He emphasized that the army wants sufficient reports to be sure that normal operations are maintained but that it will not interfere in operations if they are carried on normally. Bendetsen announced these steps to carry out the seizure: 1. Maj. Gen. Frank A. Heileman, a veteran engineer officer who is the army's chief of transportation, has been appointed director of operations. Brig. Gen. Andrew F. McIntyre, of Philadelphia, a reserve officer on leave from the Pennsylvania, will be Gen. Heileman's executive. 2. Seven regional offices with staffs of five officers each, and three sub-regional offices with three miles off Seal rock. The huge Red Cross on her starboard side was visible under about five feet of water. No survivors or bodies were sighted, but three wrecked life boats protruded from the sea. A coast guard helicopter, meanwhile searched the coastline to the north and south of the Golden Gate, but found no bodies or survivors. Debris from the wreckage was scattered over San Francisco bay, carried in by an inbound tide during the night and early morning hours. The port had been closed to shipping until daybreak to protect any survivors who might have been carried in on the tide.

$250,000 of Her Jewels Missing, But Hedy Goes Swimming NEW YORK (AP)—Glamorous Hedy Lamarr reported Saturday that $250,000 worth of her jewels had disappeared. Then she disappeared to go swimming. "Police didn't know whether the gems had vanished from the film star's suite, at the Sherry-Netherland hotel or her suite at swank Irving hotel, a resort hotel at fashionable Southampton, Long Island. They didn't even know whether the jewels were lost, strayed or stolen."

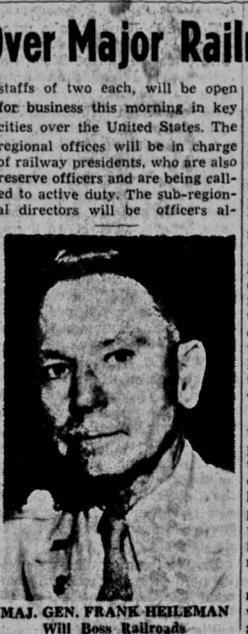

Miss Lamarr apparently wasn't too concerned. After reporting that her gems were missing, she went to the beach to swim and lie in the sun. "Miss Lamarr is at the beach and we do not know when she will be back," a spokesman at Irving house reported. The missing jewels included a diamond necklace, a single strand pearl necklace with a diamond clasp, a three-strand pearl necklace and an 11 1/2 karat diamond ring. Miss Lamarr said the $250,000 estimate of their worth was "very conservative."

staffs of two each, will be open for business this morning in key cities over the United States. The regional offices will be in charge of railway presidents, who are also reserve officers and are being called to active duty. The sub-regional directors will be officers already on duty with the transportation corps. 3. The army has sent both telegrams and registered letters to the presidents of 195 major railroads, advising them of the impending seizure and directing them to post notices of it at major stations. 4. Bendetsen told reporters that he had been in touch with officials of the railroads and of the railway brotherhoods involved in the current dispute - the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors. He said both assured him "of continued operation of the railroads without impairment of service."

Bendetsen told reporters that the army is neutral in the dispute between management and the brotherhoods over the union demands. The unions seek a 40 hour work week without reduced pay, instead of the present 48 hour week, for yard workers, and wage increases for other brotherhood members. Negotiations between management and unions for a settlement were at a standstill Saturday but are expected to be resumed later.

Advanced ROTC Class For 1950-51 to Be Largest in SUI History

The advanced ROTC at SUI for the 1950-51 school year is expected to be the largest in the history of the unit. Col. William Jenna, head of the SUI military department, said he expects the advanced army and air group to be well over 400 in enrollment this fall. "This will be more than a 25 percent increase over last year's class of 302."

Jenna also indicated that he hoped college and university authorities would stress ROTC training more strongly in the future, in view of the present world situation. In keeping with the greater stress on ROTC units, the U.S. army has inaugurated a five-point publicity program. The program calls for publicity through radio, leaflets, posters, brochures and an advertising survey.

Britain Aiding Russ War Effort: Churchill

LONDON (AP)—Winston Churchill charged Saturday night that the Labor government for the past two years has permitted British factories to make tools for the Soviet Union's war machine. The wartime prime minister declared that Russian inspectors were allowed inside workshops where secret production is underway for the British army. He also said machine tools have been sent to Communist Poland as well as Russia. The tools, Churchill said, were used in the manufacture and repair of tanks. When Britain urgently needed planes for defense she sold jet fighters to Egypt and Argentina and "actually sent some to Russia at an earlier period," Churchill said.

Heads for Biggest Battle of Career —

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who has fought isolationists in congress and Axis troops in Libya, is headed for the biggest battle of his career.

The Massachusetts Republican — newspaperman, soldier, senator — is going to the general assembly. He will be a U.S. delegate at the vital September meeting in which the Western world faces a showdown with Russia.

Lodge, whose grandfather fought President Wilson to a standstill over the League of Nations, wants the United Nations to be strong. He wants it to be "a powerful force able to prevent aggression in the world."

Urges Bombing of Moscow —

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Commander George N. Craig of the American Legion proposed Saturday that the United States warn Russia that any further aggression by her puppets will be followed by the bombing of Moscow.

"If Russia is going to bring on World War III," Craig said, "let us have it upon our own terms. We shall fight no more satellites. If Russia's puppets start trouble anywhere... that will be the signal for our bombers to wing toward Moscow."

Conclude Reds Don't Keep Word —

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house foreign affairs committee called the 11 Saturday of Russia's treaty violators and concluded that the Soviets have honored their word only when it served their purpose and not very often at that.

Chairman John Kee (D-W Va) said the committee compiled its record of Russia's breaching of agreements "to educate the American people" to the difficulties of dealing with the Kremlin.

The committee ordered an initial printing of 12,000 copies of its document entitled "background information on the Soviet Union in international relations." Kee said he expects and hopes it will be a sellout.

VFW May Ask Acheson, Johnson Resign —

CHICAGO (AP) — Clyde Lewis, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said Saturday that the organization's 51st national encampment, which opens today, will consider calling for the resignation of Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Defense Secretary Louis Johnson.

He said resolutions condemning Acheson and Johnson would be introduced at the business sessions. He did not give his position on the resolutions, but he said at a news conference that "there has been too much bungling and blundering in both departments since the end of World War II."

Formosa Threats A Red Bluff

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Affairs Analyst

It's dollars to doughnuts that the Chinese Communists are talking through their hats about taking Formosa, or even trying, while the U.S. seventh fleet and the U.S. Okinawa air force are around.

The demand, accompanying the threat, that the United Nations order U.S. forces out of the area is, of course, just so much propaganda.

The Russians obviously had the Peking regime issue the demand right now purely for whatever contribution it might make to Delegate Jakob Malik's campaign in the security council.

It is noticeable that the demand is filed simultaneously with a dispatch of a complaint against British conduct around Hong Kong. The Communists are merely trying to divert as much attention as they can from the prime fact of current events — that the great peace-criers have launched a bit of aggression in Korea as the world has seen since Stalin and Hitler divided Poland.

It took the proof of Communist aggressiveness in Korea to win the United States up about Formosa. The fleet was ordered to protect the island, and Chiang Kai-shek was told to cease his air attacks on the Communist mainland, primarily for the purpose of seeing to it that the Korean incident did not spread into a general far eastern war. Now that the decision has been made, however, and that Communist strategy is clear, the chance that the United States will ever again leave Formosa open to invasion by a possible enemy grows more and more remote.

As for the Peking regime's ability to invade the island under present circumstances, it is not taken seriously. Chiang's propagandists have made much of the presence at Amoy, on the coast, of a large fleet of potential invasion junks. But there are always a lot of junks around these Communist ports, and it is quite debatable whether the Communists even have any real invasion plan, at least since the U.S. fleet arrived. The strait is too narrow, too easily patrolled, and the fleet, instead of the few ships of a few months ago, now consists of perhaps 150 vessels.

The Chinese Communists are talking through Malik's hat.

the American defense line in the Pacific was more or less theoretical. Today it faces actual military aggression, and as long as that threat exists the island cannot be yielded.

Americans learned the value of Formosa as a military base from the Japanese, the hard way. It is only a few minutes flight for modern planes from the Philippines, and from the B-29 bases on Okinawa which would be the launching point for much of our atomic strength in the event of a war with Russia.

American policy about Formosa has been wishy-washy because it is in the hands of the Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek, who enjoys no high standing in American official circles these days.

But Gen. Douglas MacArthur made it plain long ago that he considered it a key point. The situation is so much more crucial now that anyone seeking to overrule him on such a point would be accepting an unbearably grave responsibility.

The Drivers Should Lead the Assault

East Germany Saddled with One-Man Rule

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany is saddled with one-man rule again. This time it's not a Nazi — it's a Communist.

He's cold and ruthless. He smiles without mirth. When he enters a room, conversation dies. He tries to look like Lenin but doesn't quite make it. He tries to appear unobtrusive and doesn't quite make that, either. He tries to be friendly but his icy eyes and shrill voice cast a strange pall.

This is 57-year-old Walter Ulbricht who has now slugged his way to the top of the Communist heap in the Russian zone of Germany. A lot of political victims lie in his wake and more are likely to follow.

To say Ulbricht is outright boss of 18-million east Germans is to state a fact that every one of the east Germans has now come to realize and is compelled to accept.

Ulbricht isn't chairman of the ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party. He isn't even prime minister of the "German Democratic Republic." He's only Deputy P.M.

But the spade-bearing Communist of 30 years loyalty to the Kremlin vaulted into the role of boss just as Stalin did. He whipped and scolded the Red party from within its central committee until he finally got the job he wanted — secretary general. The party created the post this summer and elected Ulbricht to it. There was no opposition candidate.

For years Stalin ran Russia without holding a government job. As secretary general he was party ruler and, therefore, ruler of the state.

Ulbricht's Creed

This is the position Ulbricht has now forged for himself. From this pedestal he has already lashed out in several major messages of ominous import for the hated west. Ulbricht's creed:

Destroy all opposition within the Soviet zone.

Spread communism westward by any available means, fair or foul, terror or cajolery.

Those were hectic days in Berlin's streets with Socialist and Communist in constant tug-of-war. Out of the early rioting, Liebknecht and Frau Luxemburg Crush all Germans who turn their backs on the Soviets and the German Communists.

This isn't guesswork. These are summations of Ulbricht's own words. He even threatens "people's court" trials of the west German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and other elected representatives of the rival republic west of the Elbe river.

Ulbricht probably believes he will be in a position to do that some day. He has watched communism in imperial Germany raise its head for a while under the democratic Weimar republic, and then seemingly die under the Hitler knouts. But here it is again, riding high in not only east Germany but countless other Soviet-dominated lands.

The party's ups and downs have been Ulbricht's ups and downs. Ulbricht started life in Leipzig as a youth who wasn't a very good table finisher in a cabinet-making concern.

Between polishing jobs, young Walter stirred up everybody with radical ideas about life and work. He beat the bushes of his trade until he got the job of organizer for the union.

As a Socialist — Democrat under the Kaiser's regime, Ulbricht was usually just a step ahead of the imperial police.

Influenced by Lenin

Lenin, meanwhile, made several trips to Berlin and Ulbricht became a convert. The old Russian revolutionary fired the young German with so much zeal that he let his goatee and moustache grow. After years of cultivation Ulbricht has managed to make it look somewhat like Lenin's.

Out of Lenin's clandestine trips to Berlin grew the old Spartacus society. Ulbricht was right in there, along with Wilhelm Pieck, Rosa Luxemburg and Karl Liebknecht.

When the Kaiser abdicated, the Spartacus society shook off its vague political cloak and donned one that required no explanation. It became the first Communist party in Germany modeled after the new Lenin — Trotsky — Stalin show in Moscow.

were killed and their bodies thrown into a canal. Pieck and Ulbricht survived. Today Pieck, at 74, is president of east Germany without much to say, while Ulbricht handles the political hammer and anvil.

Ulbricht kept himself in the limelight and was elected to the Reichstag in 1928. He served there as a deputy until 1933 when Hitler seized full power. Goering burned the Reichstag building and blamed it on the Communists. That was the signal for all good Communists to get out of the way. Ulbricht got out.

He turned up in Spain and served as a commissar with the Republican forces. Franco's legions sent Ulbricht on the prod again and he wended his way to Moscow.

Big Five

There a quintet of old German Communists banded together, got into Stalin's inner graces and have stayed so ever since. They were Ulbricht, Anton Ackermann, Franz Dählem, Wilhelm Zaisser and Pieck.

Ackermann, Dählem and Zaisser are in the politburo, Zaisser, commander of an international brigade in Spain under the name of "General Gomez," is chief of the state security administration of east Germany. This is nothing else but a Communist version of the old Nazi Gestapo and Sicherheits - Dienst (security service).

These are the big five. Ulbricht is the big one. The others carry his favor, sometimes in such a fawning manner at public demonstrations to be embarrassing.

The big five came back to Germany with the Russians. Ulbricht had the Red army rank of colonel. On these men, the Soviets quickly laid the cornerstone for their eventual goal — a Communist government of Germany which would put Germany into the Kremlin camp for all time.

Under Ulbricht, Communist workers have spent long days and nights to solidify their position in east Germany. If they ever come out for "free" elections, then it will be a foregone conclusion that they can't lose. Meanwhile they don't make the mistake of giving the voter a chance to repudiate them.

Optimism Spreading Among U.S. Troops, Correspondent Says

By TOM LAMBERT

WITH U.S. FORCES IN SOUTH KOREA (AP) — A cautious, reluctant optimism is beginning to be evident among Americans here.

This optimism is far from blatant and is absent entirely from some officers like the battlewise colonel who said the other day: "I am a pessimist. If things begin to look good I begin to wonder how soon the ceiling is going to fall in."

A number of factors give rise to this guarded optimism, or at least to a lessening of the pessimism which almost engulfed Americans in the early days of this two months old war:

It has been some time now since the Reds mounted a sizable attack. Maybe they are regrouping and preparing for another assault; or maybe they are beginning to be really hurt, from air and artillery attacks and the cool savagery with which their most recent thrusts have been repulsed.

The buildup of American supplies and manpower is continuing. It is amazing now to see how much equipment and how many men are here compared with those terribly dark early days. There are far fewer vacant spots now between the rear and the front.

The American troops are becoming vastly more proficient in the business of killing North Koreans and, probably more important, are increasingly more confident of their own ability. They are not overconfident or cocky, but they have the feeling now they are more of a match for the Reds.

The word "attack" is heard with increasing frequency around command posts these days, although a major U.S. attack seems out of the question at the moment. Still more men and equipment are needed for that.

The South Koreans, who practically collapsed as a military force after the fall of Seoul, are beginning to resemble an army again.

By American standards they still are far from effective, but they are beginning to take an increased part in the war.

Responsible U.S. officers think there may be further setbacks, but there are not many who now believe the Reds can shove them off this peninsula.

Very few officers are willing to venture any prediction on how soon the war will be over. Shortly before Taejon fell, one officer said the Americans would be in Seoul within ten days after starting back.

He has been discreetly silent since then. Officers say there are too many imponderables to warrant any prediction.

They ask: "Will we go only to the 38th parallel or all the way to the Manchurian border? Will the Chinese Communists enter the war if we start walloping the North Koreans? What will Russia do?"

Despite these questions, despite the need for more men and equipment, and despite the fact the Reds are far from finished as a military force, optimism is evident.

Keeping Up With the War

(Editor's note: This is another of a series of weekly summaries of recent periodical articles on various aspects of the war in Korea, and on foreign affairs. These articles are selected and annotated by staff members of the serials-reserve department of the SUI library.)

"The facts show that the American farmer, judged by current ability to produce, stands as a bulwark of strength in a troubled world." This encouraging statement comes to us in the September Country Gentleman's feature article, "Are Our Farms Ready for All-Out War?" The U.S. department of agriculture believes that farm production will be doubled when all our production knowledge is put to use.

John Eppstein, in "The Korean War: Its Place in History" which is in the British Survey for July, integrates the battle for Korea with the basic strategy of communism for world domination — "The intense activity, above and below board, of the Japanese Communist party in recent months must be observed in relation to the Korean war and its purpose."

For those whose background is hazy on far eastern affairs, the World Today, in its August number, prints "Korea: A Chronology of Principal Events, 1945 — 50" which contains events in Korea, month by month, from the Yalta conference in 1945 to July 7, 1950.

"Circumstance has made President Truman the Man of Destiny. The world can be made one or shattered into smithereens by the foreign policy of the U.S.A. . . . Thus begins an up-to-date article by Mr. M.S. Srinivasan, M.A., in the July issue of the Madras publication Indian Review. Of unusual interest because of the prominent part played by India in the UN, this article expresses the Indian interpretation of our foreign policy.

Of special interest because of its vicious attack on the foreign policy of the United States is the article "Truth and the War," by R.

Palme Dutt, which appears in the August number of Labour Monthly; A Magazine of International Labour. "In the long annals of imperialistic crime and banditry against the freedom of nations no lower level has been reached than in the present assault of American imperialism and its satellites against Korea." In contrast to this attack on American policy, the special issue on Korea of the Washington Newsletter of the Friends Committee on National Legislation contains a thoughtful appraisal of the problems of Korean independence, and a summary of events in the far east since World War II.

"What's wrong in Korea?" asked the editors of U.S. News and World Report in a feature article of the Aug. 23 number of that magazine. To this series of questions put to him, Maj. Gen. J.F.C. Fuller, (Ret.), British military expert, states that American troops were "over-organized, too slow."

"One instinctively senses, as trouble begins now here and now there, that the developments are no isolated occurrences, but rather deep moves in the elaboration of some crafty scheme fashioned in the Kremlin," says Charles D. Holland in his informing article, "What is Russia Doing in Sinkiang?" Appearing in the August issue of Great Britain and the East, this article questions the motives of the Soviet's appearance in the important Chinese frontier province of Sinkiang.

If you are considering building a home in the near future, read "Korean Crisis Puts Limits on Housing Construction, Credit" in this month's issue of Journal of Housing. President Truman has asked for ten specific housing construction controls, which are listed and commented upon in this article.

Highway Patrol Warns About License Renewals

The state safety department is no longer mailing reminder cards to motorists telling them when to renew their drivers licenses.

S. N. Jespersen, state highway patrol chief, Saturday warned drivers to check the face of licenses to find the date on which they expire.

A license may be renewed any time during the 30-day period prior to that expiration date, he said.

The department discontinued mailing the reminder cards last June 1 when the birthdate license renewal law entered its third year in operation.

At that time it was decided motorists were familiar enough with the law to let the department save the expense of mailing more than 500,000 cards yearly.

Several thousand posters pointing out the expiration date on a facsimile license have been distributed to various public places throughout Iowa.

Jespersen listed these pointers for renewing licenses:

- 1. Don't wait to receive a reminder card from the department. Look at the face of your license and check the date on which it expires.
2. Go to a drivers license examining point any time during the 30 days before the license expires.
3. Take your old license with you for it must be surrendered to examiners before a new license can be issued. If you have lost your license, apply for a duplicate.
Failure to renew a license on or before the date it expires may result in a driver's having to take the entire driving test over again before a new license can be issued.

In a double ring wedding service, Maureen C. Russell, A3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Russell, 427 S. Governor street, was married to Raymond Hudachek, G, Saturday morning in St. Patrick's church, Iowa City.

Mr. Hudachek is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hudachek, Hot Springs National Park, Ark. The Rev. Patrick J. O'Reilly officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by Mary Rohner, G, Iowa City, as maid of honor.

Robert J. Russell, brother of the bride, served as best man. Norman A. Hunstad, G, Detroit, Mich., and James Carmody, G, Iowa City, were ushers.

A reception was held from 2 to 4 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents. The couple planned a wedding trip to New Orleans, La.

The bride attended St. Patrick's school in Iowa City and is a junior in liberal arts at SUL. The bridegroom attended City high school in Iowa City and is a 1949 graduate of SUL in the college of engineering.

He is a member of Pi Tau Sigma and Tau Beta Pi, honorary mechanical engineering fraternities, and Theta Tau, professional engineering fraternity. He has been employed by the Standard Oil company, Lima, Ohio.

The couple have made no definite plans where they will live because Mr. Hudachek has been called to report for army service with the officers' reserve.

12-Year-Old Shows Champion Baby Beef

DES MOINES (AP) — A 12-year-old lad, decked out in cowboy hat, shirt and shoes, Saturday showed the grand champion 4-H baby beef at the Iowa state fair.

Winner of one of the most coveted awards among 4-H fair exhibitors was Earl Nau, of Columbus Junction, showing a shiny, black 912-pound Angus called "Shorty." Earl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Nau.

The reserve grand champion was a blocky, 1,120-pound short-horn shown by Bob Logan, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Logan, of Spencer, Bob, also wearing cowboy boots, a straw hat shaped cowboy-style and a colorful blue and white figured shirt, had tears in his eyes from the excitement.

A new feature of this year's show was the presentation by Gov. William S. Beardsley of the grand and reserve champion banners to the winners.

Injured Butcher Saved by Druggist

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A Minneapolis butcher who cut an artery in his right leg when his meat-cutting knife slipped has a druggist to thank for saving him from bleeding to death.

Customers of Butcher Hubert Metzger, 45, urgently summoned nearby Druggist James A. Johnson Saturday when Metzger sunk the sharp knife into his right leg while preparing meat.

Johnson rushed to the butcher shop to find Metzger suffering from a loss of about one quart and a half of blood and the customers standing around not knowing what to do.

The druggist swiftly pressed his thumbs to the artery just above the huge gash in Metzger's leg, preventing further loss of blood. An ambulance arrived about 15 minutes later.

Civilian Aircraft, 400 Strong, Lands At Chanute Field

CHANUTE AIR BASE, ILL. (AP) — Chanute air base turned away military aircraft Saturday for a civilian "fly-in."

Some 400 light planes loaded with people landed for a look-see at this big central Illinois airforce field.

"I've never seen so many planes in one spot since D-Day," remarked Capt. Harry Thomas, Chanute's operations officer.

"It's wonderful how they get themselves into the pattern. There hasn't been so much as one scratch of any aircraft today."

Most of the planes were piloted by farmers and businessmen. And most of them brought their families or friends.

A 58 year old flying farmer, L. G. Flinder of Sutherland, Iowa, was first to arrive Saturday morning.

Flinder visited his son, Maj. D. J. Flinder, who is stationed at Chanute, but the elder Flinder said, "I'm the only one in the family who can fly." His son is a weather officer here.

William Cheatham, a Metcalf, Ill., farmer, brought his whole family. "On weekends," he said, "We just toss the kids in the plane and go somewhere. Last weekend we went down to Florida."

Detectives Solve Race Track Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives cracked the "race track murder case" Saturday when a 23-year-old television school student confessed the killing of a pretty red-haired housewife during a lovers' lane quarrel.

Police said the student, Steven Albert, admitted he battered the head of Mrs. Theresa McGuire, 34, until she was dead, then tore off her clothes as they sat in a parked automobile on a lonely road behind the aqueduct race track.

Albert, who signed a confession after all-night questioning, said he "saw red" after Mrs. McGuire, the mother of an eight-year-old daughter, bit his tongue as he kissed her.

"I hit her so that she would let go," he said. "She died after I hit her, but my tongue hurt terribly."

He said he picked up a rock "and kept hitting her."

The student said after the woman fell unconscious, he ripped off her clothes and dragged her body across the road where he dumped it in a weed-covered patch.

War Contract Information Available Locally

Local businessmen seeking military contracts or wanting to participate in planning for military production have been urged to check with local procurement agencies rather than travel to Washington, D.C.

Hubert E. Howard, chairman of the munitions board in Washington, reported that many businessmen are needlessly going there for information already available to them in their immediate or nearby areas.

Since the armed forces maintain purchasing offices throughout the U.S., Howard advised company officials seeking contracts to call or write their nearest army, navy or airforce field procurement office.

In Iowa the designated armed forces contact is Rock Island arsenal, Rock Island, Ill.

Information on bids and awards may be obtained from either the Rock Island office, or from a representative of the department of commerce field office.

In Fifth army area, this office is room 502, W.O.W. building, 1319 Farnam street, Omaha, Neb.

Those wanting contracts should go directly to firms which have been awarded prime contracts, Howard advised. Information on contract awards can be obtained at the department of commerce field and cooperating offices.

Additional information on the military production allocation program is in the publication, "Production Allocation Manual", which may be purchased from the government printing office in Washington for 45 cents, Howard said.

Yanks, Tigers Both Win With Help Of 9th Inning Miscues

Freeze Play Aids Yanks, 3-2

Detroit Uses Pesky's Error for 4 Unearned Runs to Rap Sox, 8-6

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees were handed a 3-2 victory with two out in the ninth inning Saturday when Don Lenhardt, first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, pulled a boner.

With two out and Yogi Berra on second base via double, Hank Bauer beat out a hit to deep short. George Stinweis fielded the ball and threw to Lenhardt. Berra sped past third base and scored when Lenhardt froze with the ball instead of throwing to the plate for what should have been an easy out. Ned Garver was the victim of Lenhardt's trance.

The victory allowed the Yanks to remain in second place, a game and a half back of Detroit and two percentage points in front of Cleveland.

Tom Ferrick, who relieved Ed Lopat in the ninth was the winner. Lopat, after spinning shutout ball for eight innings, yielded two runs in the ninth on a pair of singles, a balk and two-run single by Less Moss.

BOSTON (AP) — Quick to take advantage of an unfortunate error by Third Baseman Johnny Pesky, Detroit's front-running Tigers scored four unearned runs in the ninth inning Saturday for an 8-6 victory over Boston's Red Sox who fought vainly for their 12th consecutive triumph.

The Sox battled back with two of their own in the ninth but that rally died when, with the bases filled, Vern Stephens lifted a game ending high fly to Hoot Evers in short left center as the great majority of 29,992 paid fans groaned.

Fred Hutchinson, who replaced Starter Hal White with nobody out in the first inning, lasted until the start of the Boston ninth for his 14th victory.

Hutch needed help from Rookie Marlin Stuart and from Hal Newhouse, Tiger ace lefthander.

The Sox had scored twice in the eighth to knot the score at 4-4.

The loss dropped the Sox back 4 1-2 games behind the Tigers who still have a 1 1-2 game edge over New York and Cleveland.

DETROIT (AP) — Hal White (1-1), Boston (6-2) and White (6-1) and Queen (5-12).

New York at Cincinnati (2) — Bear (6-2) and Jones (10-13) or Kennedy (3-4) vs. Wehner (8-16) and Fox (5-8).

Philadelphia at Chicago (2) — Church (6-2) and Meyer (7-11) vs. Minner (7-8) and Lick (10-17).

Brooklyn at St. Louis — Erskine (1-2) vs. Boyer (5-5).

A NICE TRY by Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, but his slide into home plate went for naught as St. Louis Catcher Less Moss blocks the plate and gets ready to tag DiMaggio in the first inning at Yankee stadium Saturday. DiMaggio attempted to score on Hank Sauer's bouncer to Third Baseman Owen Friend. Umpire Hank Soar called DiMaggio out. The Yanks won the game and stayed even with Detroit.

Pirates Paste Phils To Cut NL Lead, 14-4

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Philadelphia's national league front runners had one of "those days" Saturday and it was last place Pittsburgh that fashioned their first loss in six starts as the Bucs downed the Phillies 14-4.

Wally Westlake slammed his 16th home run for the winners in the third, scoring Ralph Kiner and Jack Phillips ahead of him. Kiner, vainly seeking his 40th four-bagger, rapped a pair of singles in his first two appearances at the plate, then walked the next three times.

A crowd of 12,157 saw the Phillies humbled.

The Phils stepped out to a 1-0 in the third when Eddie Waitkus, who had tripled, tallied on an error by Jack Phillips. The Pirates took over in their half of the same frame on Westlake's homer.

Lemon Wins 20th for Indians in Relief 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob Lemon, the fifth Cleveland pitcher to face the Philadelphia Athletics Saturday, stopped a rally in the eighth inning to win, 5-4, for his 20th victory of the season, the first major league hurler to reach that mark this year.

Lemon came in after Catcher Joe Astroth had greeted Sam Zoladak with a double. Astroth was out trying to stretch it, but Pinch Hitter Mike Guerra tripled. Lemon held the tying run on third base.

In the ninth after Ferris Fain led off with a single, Lemon struck out Sam Chapman, Elmer Valo and Billy Hitchcock.

The Indians, just a shade behind the second place New York Yankees, jumped on Starter Joe Coleman for two runs in the first and picked up three more in the third when Bob Kennedy hit his ninth homer of the year with Luke Easter and Ike Boone aboard.

Iowa's Don Watson Sets Swim Record

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Watson, University of Iowa swimmer from St. Louis, clipped about a minute off the record Saturday to win the 27th annual Illinois Athletic club two-mile swim in Lake Michigan.

Watson swam the distance in 48 minutes, 48.7 seconds to beat Herman Lehman, also of Iowa. The old record was 49 minutes, 39 seconds, held by Roy Brown of the IAC, Chicago. Brown was not entered this year.

The Illinois Athletic club team repeated as team champion, and the Lake Shore club of Chicago nosed out the Kenosha youth foundation for second place.

Watson flew to the race from Louisville, Ky., where he won the National junior 1,500 meters title Friday night. He also placed fifth in the same event at the National collegiate meet.

Lehman also placed second to Brown, winner of the 1949 race.

Hill Prince Triumphs

CHICAGO (AP) — Hill Prince, expertly ridden by Jockey Eddie Arcaro, Saturday galloped to a length and a quarter victory in the 178,375 American Derby before 20,740 at Washington park.

BEARS TOP STEELERS, 30-14
LEXINGTON, KY. Aussies Clinch Davis Cup Triumph

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — After a lapse of 11 years, Australia again became the world's tennis capital Saturday as its brilliant Davis Cup team swept to its third straight victory over this nation's stars and clinched the international trophy.

With more than 11,000 thrilled fans sitting in on the kill, John Bromwich and Frank Sedgman completed the rout with a tingling five-set win over Ted Schroeder and Gardnar Mulloy.

The scores were 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, and it was a humdinger of a struggle.

Two more singles will be played today, but only for the record. The Aussies were congratulated and told the Cup was theirs in a lively ceremony on the stadium court immediately after they quit knocking our lads around Saturday.

Decisive Margin
As the challengers captured both of Friday's singles without loss of a set, thanks largely to the sensational play of a youngster named Ken McGregor, the count in sets today stood at 9-2 in their favor. Such a decisive margin of victory could not have been imagined before the series began.

If they win both of today's singles, the boys from down under will match the feat of the American team which snatched the Cup from them in the first post-war matches at Melbourne in 1946. The next challenge round, incidentally, will be played at Sidney in the winter of 1951.

The hero of Saturday's clincher was one of the pair of Australians who last won the trophy by defeating the U.S. at Merion in 1939. "Old John" Bromwich, at 32, still is the world's most gifted doubles player, and he demonstrated his wizardry to the satisfaction of Saturday's crowd.

Miraculous Saves
The two Americans put up a better scrap than had been expected. They fought like lions and slugged it out toe-to-toe in many an exciting rally. At times it looked as if they might even win. But in the end Bromwich, with his court "savvy" and his soft returns and miraculous saves of apparent winners, slammed the door in their faces.

If the two captains follow the original pairings, McGregor will play Tom Brown Jr., in today's final single. Sedgman and Schroeder will meet in the other.

Urzetta Golf Titlist in 39 Holes

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Shy Sam Urzetta, a tireless college athlete, outlasted favored Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, Saturday to win the 50th national amateur golf championship.

Urzetta edged the 28-year-old heir to a spark plug fortune one up on the 39th hole in the longest match in National Amateur history.

The heartbroken Stranahan thus failed for the sixth time to win the prize he had set as his prime objective.

He also lost his bid to add this golden anniversary championship to the British Amateur crown he won earlier this year. Winning both would have given him a rare "slam" in U.S. — British Amateur golf.

Urzetta, son of a Rochester, N. Y., janitor, won the match on the third extra hole before a cheering gallery of 2,000 fans. It was sudden death play.

Stranahan lost it the hard way, often than his opponent and beat Stranahan at his own game — driving and middle irons.

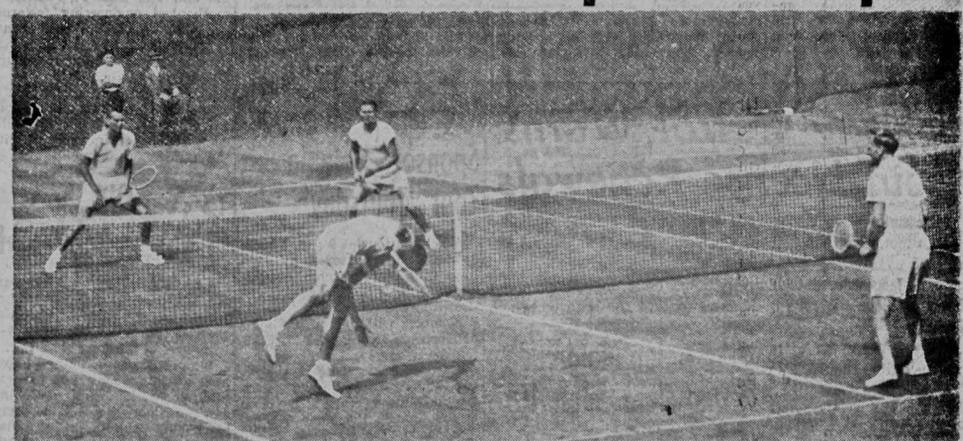

The New Yorker consistently outdrove Stranahan — something the husky Frank isn't used to — and time and again laid his iron shots inside Stranahan's on the greens. His putting also was sharper and more consistent than the Toledoan's.

Lakers Offer Basketball Pact to Golfer Urzetta

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Sam Urzetta, Rochester, N.Y., winner of the National Amateur golf tournament, Saturday was placed on the negotiation list of the Minneapolis Lakers, professional basketball team.

General Manager Max Winter said Urzetta would be offered a contract but that he did not know whether the 24-year-old former St. Bonaventure university cage star would accept it.

AS AMERICAN HOPES GO DWINDLING — Australia clinched the top amateur tennis trophy, the Davis Cup, at Forrest Hills, N.Y., Saturday with Frank Sedgman (left in forecourt) and John Bromwich beating America's best in the doubles match, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4. The U.S. team was Ted Schroeder (right in back court) and Gardnar Mulloy. Sedgman is shown leaning over to return a hard shot early in the match. The Aussies won both singles matches Friday and clinched the Cup win Saturday.

Campanella Socks 3 Homers to Beat Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Roy Campanella cracked three mighty home runs Saturday to lead the Brooklyn Dodgers to their tenth straight victory, a 7-5 decision over the Cincinnati Reds.

Each of Campanella's blasts landed over or against the laundry behind the left field fence with Hodges on base to account for six runs. The blows increased Campanella's homer output to 27.

The victory moved the high-flying Dodgers to within four games of the league-leading Philadelphia Phils, who bowed in Pittsburgh.

Campanella connected in the second, fourth and eighth innings off Veteran Ken Raffensberger. Campanella's eighth inning pop featured a three-run rally that broke a 4-4 tie.

R. E. Olds, 86, Last Of Auto Pioneers, Dies in Michigan

LANSING, MICH. (AP) — R. E. Olds, last of the automotive pioneers and the only man with two autos named after him, died Saturday. He was 86.

Olds, who founded the first auto manufacturing company in the United States, died at 2 p.m. (Iowa time). He had been critically ill from complications of old age since Aug. 3.

He died in his rambling Victorian mansion in downtown Lansing, amid the noisy, rumbling traffic he helped develop.

First Used Gas

Ransom Eli Olds built the first gasoline-powered car in Michigan, made the first U.S. car for export, formed the first company for manufacture of automobiles, and fathered mass production in the automotive industry.

The Oldsmobile and the Reo — formed from his initials — were named after him.

Olds was born June 3, 1864, in Geneva, Ohio, but he moved to Lansing in 1880 at the age of 16. With his father, Piny F. Olds, he formed a foundry and machine shop business. One of its products was an upright gasoline engine.

On Aug. 21, 1897, a small group of venturesome businessmen formed the Olds motor vehicle company with Olds as leader. In the ensuing two years four automobiles were made — one of which now is in the Smithsonian institute.

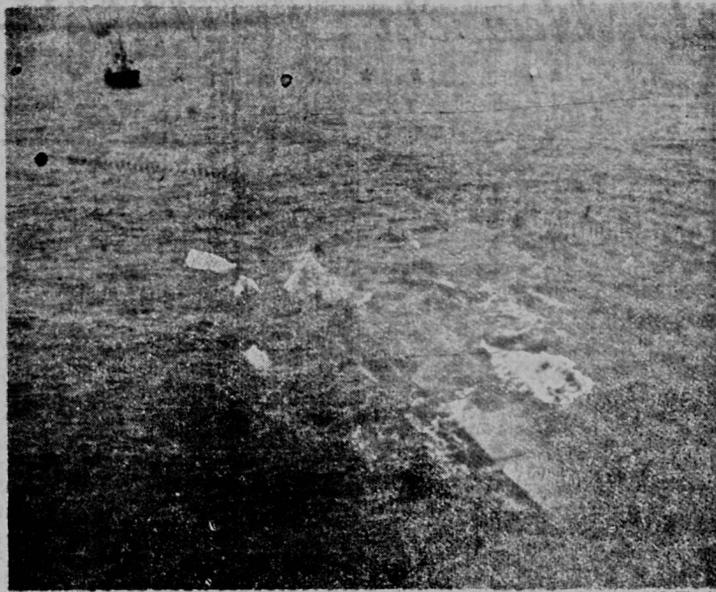

First Low - Priced Car

In 1901 Olds developed his famed "curved dash runabout" which sold for $650 — first of the low-priced cars. Its fame and popularity made the nation auto-hungry. By developing mass production methods, four thousand cars were produced within a year, far more than any rival.

The Olds car in 1902 was the first auto to make a transcontinental tour. On Feb. 15, 1902, Olds inserted his first advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post and thereby became the first to advertise a car nationally.

In 1905 Olds sold his interest in the Olds motor works and promptly organized the Reo motor car company in Lansing. He remained actively with the Reo, producing pleasure cars and trucks, until his retirement.

Hospital Ship Lies on Ocean Bottom

WAVES BROKE OVER A HUGE RED CROSS marking the final resting place of the hospital ship Benevolence, lying on its side on the bottom of the ocean near the Golden Gate Saturday. In the background a coast guard picket boat approached the big mercy ship which was sunk in a collision with the freighter Mary Luckenbach in a heavy fog Friday night.

Captain Denies Ship Moving Fast; Nurses Awaiting Rescue Sing, Pray

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — An air of confusion surrounded the crew of the hospital ship Benevolence when it went down after colliding with a freighter Friday night.

Capt. Barton E. Bacon, 49, of Vallejo, Calif., in command of the Benevolence, said his engines were stopped just before the two ships came together. Bacon denied the report of a lookout aboard the Luckenbach, who said the hospital ship was making "about 18 knots" when he sighted it just before the crash.

"We didn't go 18 knots all day long," Bacon insisted. "Before the accident when the engines were on, we were traveling about 15 knots. The engines were stopped before the collision, so we were slowing down, although I can't say exactly how fast we were going."

Bacon, in turn, reported the Mary Luckenbach was moving "at high speed" through the heavy fog. Bacon confirmed a report of survivors that there was no signal to abandon ship. Survivors said they jumped into the water because others were leaving the ship. Bacon said, "because I didn't think it would sink."

Two Hours in Water

Bacon spent two hours in the water, floating in a life jacket, before he was picked up. He was taken to Oak Knoll naval hospital, suffering from shock and exposure. He recovered consciousness Saturday.

Seven army tugs formed the backbone of the rescue fleet Friday night and brought a majority of the survivors, shivering with cold and shock, to a pier at Ft. Mason where ambulances and navy buses whisked them to military hospitals.

Red Cross workers and military medical personnel were at the pier.

All of the rescued had been in the chill water for at least one hour, many of them for as long as two and one half hours. Those who came out with nothing worse than shock and exposure, laughed and joked at their good fortune. A few expressed sorrow that they had been unable to save friends who perished.

Just Eating

Most of those aboard had just started their evening meal at the time of the accident. They rushed to the deck and grabbed life preservers as the vessel started to list. Only one lifeboat and three life rafts were successfully launched, due to the tilt of the vessel's hull.

Eleven of the navy nurses were found together clinging to a makeshift raft. They prayed and sang to keep up their spirits while they awaited rescue.

Two of the nurses, Lt. Eleanor Harrington, Lowell, Mass., and Lt. Gail Matthews, Scranton, Pa., told of the ordeal Saturday while they convalesced at Oak Knoll hospital.

Both paid tribute to Capt. Cecil Riggs, Arlington, Va., who commanded the medical unit aboard the hospital ship.

Capt. Riggs Praised
"Capt. Riggs was wonderful," Lt. Harrington said. "He found some rope and he tied 11 of us nurses together, his calmness reassured us.

"About 11 nurses and 10 men hung onto these three boards," the skipper, was the last to leave the ship. In a little while the water swallowed the ship.

"While we were in the water, Lt. Harrington started to sing." Lt. Harrington said the Catholic girls took out their rosaries and started to pray out loud. "I'm not Catholic, but I prayed with them," she said.

"There was a wonderful little girl from Texas. I was tied to her.

"Yes, I knew when I saw her that we wouldn't have a dull moment with her on board. She had such a wonderful smile and was so full of fun. But while we were in the water she became panicky. We were within 10 feet of the army tug when she began to froth at the mouth. She died while they pulled her aboard. It's hard to believe, such a wonderful girl could go in such a horrible way."

Iowa City Woman Burned After Blast

Mrs. Robert Knarr, 23, suffered first degree burns Saturday morning when a small gas stove exploded in her barracks home at 116 Stadium park.

Mrs. Knarr was taken to University hospitals where she was treated for burns on her hands and legs. Her hair was also singed in the explosion. She was released from the hospitals Saturday in "good" condition.

The explosion occurred as Mrs. Knarr was attempting to light the oven in the stove. Firemen reported minor damage to the barracks.

Mrs. Knarr was previously employed as a clerk and stenographer in the SUI dental infirmary.

Seven Carroll Boys Hurt When Truck Overturns

CARROLL (UP) — Seven youths were injured, two seriously, Saturday night when the pickup truck in which they were riding struck loose gravel and overturned five miles northwest of here.

Two youths, Robert Snyder, 13, and Ronnie Hoffman, 13, suffered skull fractures. The driver, Marvin Englen, 16, and the other four received less serious injuries. All were from Carroll.

Crete Beauty Says She Loves Her Kidnapper

HARAKLION, CRETE (UP) — A raven-haired beauty whose kidnapping came close to touching off a modern Trojan war, revealed tearfully Saturday that she has fallen in love with her abductor and wants to remain by his side.

Nineteen-year-old Tassoula Petrakogeorgi told a "peace committee" that visited the mountain cavern in which she is held that she will destroy herself if she is forced to return to her father.

The beautiful girl also sobbed that Costas Kefaloughianis, her handsome kidnapper, who used to boast that his mustaches were the finest in Crete, has threatened to commit suicide if she leaves him.

As troops worked their way up the rugged slopes of Mt. Ida, fabled birthplace of the Greek God Zeus, to find her, the "war's" first casualty occurred. The troops opened fire by mistake on some shepherds they thought were Tassoula's guards. One man was wounded.

The 1,000 Gen. James rushed to Heraklion Friday under Gen. George Samouil to prevent the outbreak of hostilities also began to disarm the several hundred gentlemen-at-arms who were deployed about the mountain side.

The armed men were the followers of Tassoula's father, George Petrakogeorgi, who is determined to avenge the stain on the family's honor, and the kin and friends of cast, who kidnapped the girl outside a Heraklion movie house

UN Must Cross 38th Parallel, Gillette Says

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa) said Saturday night he does not see "how we can justify the agony and sacrifice of our men in Korea by agreeing to stop at the 38th parallel."

He added that the United Nations "must decide to end the division of Korea once and for all, and the United States must press for this decision at the UN meetings."

Police Charge Three With Beating Up Boy

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Three young Milwaukee youths were charged Saturday with beating up 17-year-old Ronald Elbi and inciting a riot. The warrants named Donald Mason, 18, Robert Gatson, 20, and Leon Sims, 19. Gatson and Mason have been arrested, but the other youth is not yet in custody.
