Curbs on Installment Buying Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tighter terms on many items ranging from automobiles to home refrigerators were ordered Friday...

Further belt-tightening steps are expected to be outlined by Mr. Truman in a nationwide broadcast tonight at 8:30 p.m. (Iowa time).

R. M. Evans, a member of the federal reserve board, told newsmen that the initial consumer credit controls are not intended as a "knockout drop" to installment buying.

soared to more than $20-billion since the outbreak of the Korean war on June 25. Evans said the board is ready to issue even stiffer curbs "if the situation worsens — and we hope it won't."

Lenders or creditors convicted of violating the act may also be suspended from further time credit operations. Officials said that in some respects the new controls are tighter — particularly as they apply to home improvement credits — than the last post-war credit restrictions which expired 14 months ago.

Two Iowa Soldiers Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The department of defense Friday announced the names of two Iowa soldiers killed in action in the Korean war.

They were Sgt. Bobby L. Dyer, son of Gerald E. Dyer, Des Moines, and Pfc. Wayne A. Meyers, son of Albert Meyers, Dysart.

Lobbyist Denies Red Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Randolph Feltus, a high-priced lobbyist, said Friday a senate speech branding him as a Red agent was once offered to Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), but that Taft turned it down as "ridiculous."

Taft said he had "no recollection" of the incident. Feltus testified before the senate interior committee on charges made against him and Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman by Sen. Andrew F. Schoepel (R-Kan.).

No Progress in GE Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediation of the General Electric strike dispute was recessed Friday night until Tuesday in a flurry of dispute and with no visible progress toward settlement.

James B. Carey, chairman of the CIO International Electric Workers union (IUE), told reporters he had "accepted" the company's offer as published in full-page advertisements in several cities this week.

It developed, however, that the acceptance applied to the company's estimate that its wage offer and its increased pension and insurance programs are "obviously worth 25 cents to 43.5 cents an hour."

5 Iowa Men Die

Five Iowa men and one woman were killed in traffic accidents Friday, three in one crash. One accident was a car-train collision at a rail road crossing.

Killed in a rear-end collision between a car and a loaded truck in Des Moines were Lyle A. Strahl, 27, Des Moines; George Freeborn, 39, Lucas, and Russel Reel, 39, Milo.

Other victims: Joseph Gilles, about 70, killed at a rail crossing east of Grand Mare; Harry H. McDonald, 42, Centerville, killed in a car-truck collision on Highway 63 at the north edge of Bloomfield.

Mrs. Gerrit Koster, Orange City, killed and her husband injured when their car crashed into the car ahead of them.

Russia Loses UN Battle On Korean War Question

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — Russia lost Friday a move to eliminate the Korean war from the security council's annual report to the United Nations general assembly.

But she may try to make the demand stick by invoking the veto next week to kill the whole report.

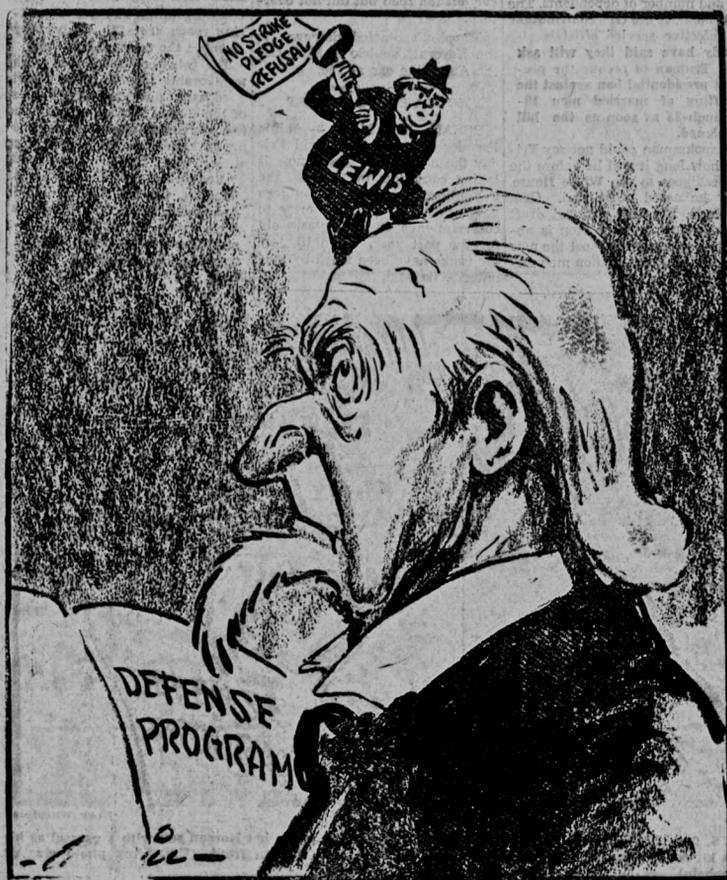

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik contended at a closed council meeting that adoption of the report is a substantial matter and, thus, subject to veto. The other council members disagreed.

The vote was 10 to 1, with Malik alone supporting the Soviet proposal. The council holds another closed session next Tuesday to seek final approval of the report.

The Soviet delegate did not say definitely that he will use the veto. He could abstain. But this looked unlikely. He had already told an earlier meeting that he could not vote for any report covering the period when Russia was absent.

If Russia vetoes inclusion of Korea in the security council's annual report it will be the first time the veto has been used on the report and the first time, too, that the report is put to a formal vote.

Making the Headlines Again

Goldbeating Fast Becoming a Lost Art

By Central Press

OAKLAND, CAL. — One of mankind's ancient arts — goldbeating is fighting a losing battle these days for its very existence.

A host of substitutes, according to Fred Hutchins, one of the top practitioners of the art, has cut so heavily into the demand for beaten gold that it hardly pays to stay in business.

"New paints, neon signs and such things," Hutchins says, "now dominate the market and the public doesn't seem to care much about using gold decoratively."

Sixty-three years ago, as a lad of nine in Birmingham, England, Hutchins became an apprentice, learning a craft that goes back to the earliest historical records.

Gold was used to decorate Egyptian mummy cases many centuries before the Christian era and Homer and other writers all speak of beaten gold placed on objects man wanted to beautify.

Rated an authority on the subject, Hutchins was the first goldbeater to be awarded a gold medal at an international exposition — San Francisco's Panama-Pacific International exposition in 1915.

His work adorns many public and private buildings, particularly in California.

Pure gold of 24 karats is alloyed by Hutchins with silver and copper until it is 23 1-2 karats to begin the process. This is done in a furnace at 2,500 degrees Fahrenheit.

Greater strength and workability is imparted to the metal by the copper and the silver provides the shade of gold leaf desired when added in greater or lesser quantities.

Poured into an ingot, the gold then is hand-rolled between steel rollers until it is one-thousandth of an inch thick and 25 feet long, weighing three ounces.

Divided into 220 equal pieces, this gold is given three thorough beatings, each of them packed in a different way for pounding. The 220 pieces first are packed in a cutch, a packet of sheets made from French seaweed.

Each sheet of gold is placed between a seaweed sheet which has been thoroughly dried because even minute drops of moisture pierce the gold, forming pinholes during beating.

The cutch then is placed in a sheepskin case made of two telescoping parts about four inches square.

FRED HUTCHINS WIELDS mallet to beat gold into an extra thin sheet.

Hutchins' sheepskins are parchments dating back to the year 1700 on which deeds and other documents were recorded in England.

Placed on a 400-pound granite block, the cutch is pounded with a 15-pound hammer for half an hour at the rate of 90 beats per minute. This beating flattens out the gold so that the sheets when cut to their original size number 880 instead of 220.

The second beating is with cowgut envelopes called shoders. The gold is beaten in the shoder for 90 minutes. Cut in four, the sheets are divided into three piles which are placed in three 5-inch square molds for their beating.

The final beating is in skins five and one-half inches square, costing $200 a thousand. So the goldbeater and fineness of skins determine the perfection of the gold leaf.

An eight-pound hammer welded for three minutes, he rests two minutes to cool gold before repeating the process which requires 90 minutes.

At the conclusion of the process there are 3,500 leaves of gold so thin that one ounce covers 100 square feet.

A breath of wind will crumple the finished product, which is 1-250,000ths of an inch thick translucent.

Despite this delicacy, gold is remarkably durable. It resists changes caused by the elements and when used on exterior decorations retains its color unaltered indefinitely.

Questions, Answers on New Credit Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Questions and answers about the new credit control regulations announced Friday by the federal reserve board:

Q. When do they take effect? A. Sept. 18.

Q. Can I get around the rules by adding to an installment buying account or loan in effect before Sept. 18? A. No. Debts contracted before Sept. 18 also come under the rules if they are "combined" with later credit.

Q. What are the rules on buying a new or used car? A. A one-third down payment and the balance in 24 months.

Q. What about television sets, refrigerators, washing machines and similar household appliances?

A. A down payment of 15 percent and 18 months to pay the balance. Q. Does that category include furniture and rugs? A. No, they require only 10 percent down payment, and 18 months to pay the balance.

Q. Are bank loans for home repairs, alterations and improvements covered? A. Yes, they require at least 10 percent down payment and the balance within 30 months instead of the present 36 months.

Q. Are charge account and short-term, single-payment bank loans regulated? A. No, they are exempt.

Q. Are small purchases exempt? A. Yes, no minimum down payment is required for any purchase of less than $100, but the balance must be paid off within the period prescribed for that type of purchase.

Q. Are there any other exemptions? A. Yes, the following are exempt: credits over $2,500 that do not involve automobiles; business and farm loans; credit to dealers and certain salesmen; loans to government agencies and private non-profit institutions; loans to pay fire and casualty insurance premiums; credit for purchasing securities; loans to meet medical expenses or defray the costs of a disaster; and any loan by a bank or similar institution which is fully secured by its own securities or savings accounts.

Q. Do the regulations cover transactions made by Americans in foreign countries? A. No.

Q. Are stores and lending agencies required by law to grant the terms fixed as minimums? A. By no means. They have the right to require even stricter credit terms if they desire.

Interpreting the News —

Germans May Get to Re-Arm

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain, France and the United States appear to be approaching an agreement on rearmament of western Germany.

Chancellor Adenauer has just renewed his contention that Germany should be prepared to defend herself. That appeal has been supported in Washington by John J. McCloy, U.S. high commissioner for Germany.

The British cabinet, before Ernest Bevin started across the Atlantic for next week's conference of the Big Three foreign ministers, agreed that western Germany has the right to an armed militia to offset Russian military preparations in the eastern zone.

Both Britain and France have been holding back somewhat. The French are still cool toward even the British idea. But Foreign Minister Schuman says his and McCloy's ideas are not too far apart.

The decision is expected to be made during next week's conference, when the question is expected to be the main one. Expressions from France, Germany, Britain and the U.S. and from the recent Council of Europe meeting in Strasbourg all indicate that German rearmament for self defense can best take place within the framework of a unified European command.

Another hold-back among the Germans is fear that German manpower might be used by the Allies merely as cannon fodder for the defense of the rest of Europe. But this idea does not seem to be strong in the government.

Adenauer himself, more than any other leading German for years, evidences confidence in Allied good faith and the ability of western Europe to unite eventually for solution of its defense as well as other problems.

The idea for a united European army envisages a setup considerably akin to that which existed under General Eisenhower during the war.

This would presume an overall command and, especially important from the standpoint of the United States which will have to foot the bill and supply a vast proportion of the material, a central supply organization.

There has been no word from the White House or state department as to the exact plan which will be produced as the result of McCloy's representations and the study now under way in top policy-making quarters.

The feeling one gets, however, is that the U.S. will present a case closely kin to the outline above. As I say, France and Britain are hesitant.

But if the plan is presented as a settled and determined objective of the U.S., the financier of the whole defense business and general contributor to the support of the Allied economies, it seems likely to be adopted.

...the same minerals and proteins found in body fluids? This offers a possibility of sufficient oxygen supply without the danger of damage to lung tissues.

Dr. Stein, working with Dr. R.R. Sonnenshein and Phanor Perot, has outlined this tentative program:

A pressure tank will be filled with a liquid of the same chemical composition as amniotic fluid. Pure oxygen will be forced into the liquid under pressure. This step is similar to carbonating soft drinks with carbon dioxide gas.

The test monkey's throat will be sprayed with an anesthetic. This will knock out the reflex center in the throat — the trigger mechanism that causes men and animals to choke when fluids enter the windpipe.

Then the animal will be immersed. The tank is equipped with devices for checking on all body functions necessary to life. There will be no danger of losing the animal through mishap, Dr. Stein said.

If the experiment is successful, means will have to be worked out for its practical application to man.

A helmet, with the special fluid surrounding the head and filling the diver's lungs, conceivably could be used for deep sea work. A rocket traveler could be immersed in a tank or breathe the fluid via tube from a container strapped to his back.

Only One Animal Dies at Iowa Fair

DES MOINES (AP) — State Veterinarian Hugh Garrett said Friday only one of approximately 10,000 animals died at the Iowa state fair.

He said it was possible that animal had become ill while in shipment to the fair.

Garrett said the Iowa state fair provides a "veterinarian service" equal to, or better, than any other fair or livestock show of comparable size in the nation.

Garrett said three practicing veterinarians were on the grounds on all of the exhibitors during the entire fair and a staff of four veterinarians of the state office was engaged in checking the health certificates of animals brought in for show. In addition to that group, a federal veterinarian was on duty in the poultry and rabbit house.

The three veterinarians answered 243 calls from 147 exhibitors, Garrett said. The calls included 142 for cattle, 79 for hogs, 11 for horses or ponies, seven for sheep, three for dogs and one for a chimpanzee.

Translation OK? No Spikka da English

CHICAGO — Policeman Andrew Young studied the Chinese language for seven years in the belief that someday it would come in handy.

He was present in municipal court Friday when Hong Leo, 60, was brought in on a lottery charge. The lottery ticket seized in evidence bore Chinese characters.

Judge Irwin Clorfene sighed, knowing that a lottery charge won't hold water if the ticket can't be read.

Up stepped Young. "This ticket is for the 'Took Loy' lottery wheel, it says so here," Young pronounced.

Hong Leo was fined $100. Then Judge Clorfene asked the Chinese if Young's reading of the ticket had been correct. "I don't know," the defendant shrugged. "I don't understand English."

Mrs. Frances Bannister Files Divorce Suit Here

Mrs. Frances Bannister, 15 E. Prentiss street, Friday filed suit for divorce in Johnson county district court.

Mrs. Bannister charged her husband, Mervin Johnson, deserted her in Sept., 1946. The couple was married May 1, 1946, the petition said.

The plaintiff asked for a divorce, and other equitable relief.

Urge School for Draft Eligibles

President Virgil M. Hancher this week advised students entering SUI for the first time that enrollment or continuation of their college studies "have definite advantages" should they be called to military service.

In letters sent to new students and their parents, Hancher pointed out that the armed forces will continue to need men with advanced education.

He indicated that SUI will continue to obtain the latest information concerning the relation of college students to current mobilization as means of helping them plan their studies and futures. Hancher also urged new students to consider carefully the advisability of taking automobiles to school with them this fall.

Postwar SUI registrations, which catapulted enrollment from the 6,700 pre-war figure to more than 10,000 students, have contributed heavily to Iowa City's parking and traffic problem, Hancher said.

Most SUI events are within easy walking distance of student residences, and many recreational opportunities are provided on the campus and within the city, he said.

Services Sunday For Blast Victim

Funeral services will be at 4 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist church for Howard Green, 23, who was killed Thursday in an explosion at a Muscatine department store.

Green, who lived at 1330 Kirkwood avenue, was killed when a pipe exploded as he was installing an air conditioning system.

Survivors include his wife, Joanna; one daughter, LaDonna Sue, 2; his father, James Green, Malvern; his mother, Mrs. Edgar Coulter, Geneseo, Ill.; two brothers, and two step-brothers.

Full military rites will be conducted by the LeRoy F. Weekes V.F.W. post with burial in Memory Gardens.

Iowa Union Gets Sound-Absorbing Ceiling

IN PREPARATION FOR THE COMING school year a new sound-absorbing ceiling is being installed in the Iowa Union. The absorbing material, reducing noise 70 to 75 percent, has already been placed in the medical laboratories building. Ceilings in four other rooms at the Iowa Union, the business office and the pathology laboratory at the medical laboratories will also be covered with this material. Workers on this recelling project are John Brown, SUI student from Seymour (left), and "Chris" Christenson, Clinton. Among other improvements at the Iowa Union this summer has been the painting of the River room, Triangle club rooms and the hostess' office.

Janet Dickson Files $1,273 Accident Suit

A $1,273.19 auto accident suit by Janet S. Dickson, Woodlawn apartments, has been filed against Alma E. Baughman, Iowa City.

The plaintiff charged the car she was driving at 10:15 p.m. Aug. 17 struck the defendant's unlighted car parked on Muscatine avenue between College and Burlington streets.

The defendant was charged with negligence in leaving her car parked and unlighted on the street, and with responsibility for claimed resulting personal and property damages to the plaintiff.

The plaintiff asked $1,000 for claimed personal injuries, $243.19 for claimed damage to her car, and $30 for claimed six days' loss of use of her car.

Local Man Sued For Auto Sale

A $585 suit against Frank Black, 218 W. Benton street, was filed Friday by Donald J. Woods, 11 Cherry lane, in Johnson county district court.

Woods charged Black with misrepresentation in a sale March 29 of a 1939 Pontiac four-door sedan. Woods asked the court to cancel the sale and order return of another car traded in on the Pontiac. Or, he requested $75 for the traded car and $60 which he paid on the Pontiac.

Woods also asked $450 for damages resulting from sale of the allegedly unsafe vehicle.

Mercy Births

Mercy hospital Friday reported four births to Iowa City couples.

Mr. and Mrs. William Singleman, 8 Triangle place, are the parents of a boy born Thursday.

A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald De France, 532 Olive street, Thursday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Sentman Jr., 1025 E. Washington street, Friday.

A son was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Negus, 410 Bolden street.

Blue Eyes, Plus Other Assets

Blondes Current Queens Among Starlets

By ARMAND ARCHERD

HOLLYWOOD — There's a nice new batch of 'em in stock. They're fresh, exciting and a pleasure to look at. They're this year's crop of Hollywood starlets.

What does it take to be one? Well, that's what your reporter set out to find. This is one of the most pleasant stories we've ever tackled.

Armed with our trusty tape and measure, we got the girls together and after this pleasant task was completed, we went into consultation with a comptometer.

The average of all the starlets under contract to major Hollywood studios, stacks up as follows:

Age: 20 years, 6 months.
Height: 5 feet, 5 inches.
Weight: 116.5 pounds.
Bust: 34.7 inches.
Waist: 23.5 inches.
Hips: 34.8 inches.
Ankle: 8 inches.
Calf: 13.3 inches.

The blondes out-number brunets and redheads. And blue eyes are most predominant.

They hail from all parts of the good old United States. But most of 'em were born west of the Rocky mountains. And, strange to say, the largest percentage this year are local talent! This is indeed rare.

These are the true starlets, not bit players, extras or character actresses. These youngsters will be groomed, theoretically for stardom. Some will make it. Most will not.

They earn from $75 to $250 a week for 40 weeks (the Hollywood contractual year). Then it's option time. If the consecutive options are picked up over the standard seven-year period, they may earn as much as $1,000 a week.

If they should "click" a new contract will be written up and they may eventually go up to $3,500 a week. It's almost as tough as becoming a Phi Beta Kappa!

As you can see, they are all beautiful. Most have some sort of talent. The studio and all its facilities are at their disposal and if they don't make the grade after a year or more, well, they'll have some wonderful stories to tell to their grandchildren.

They receive lessons in speech, acting, singing, dancing, foreign languages, swimming, riding, fencing, modeling, etc. Just like going to school — and they are paid.

In addition, they are coached in the proper dress, make-up, poise, etc. Sometimes the studio gives them new hair and teeth, but it all goes toward making them more attractive on the screen or so they hope.

They rub shoulders with stars, and work in countless films. At first they do mere walk-ons, but progress to bit parts, supporting roles — and eventual top billing when they make the grade.

In addition, they are "pushed" by publicity campaigns and pose for countless cheesecake photographs. They congratulate politicians, flyers, prize fighters, football heroes, contest winners, Shriners, Lions, Rotarians and Boy Scouts. They do this always in a bathing suit.

They appear at benefits premieres, civic events, and are often strategically placed at night clubs with prominent stars. They endorse everything from lipstick to corn plasters. They keep mighty busy. It's all part of the master plan.

Some of them gain notoriety in methods the studios frown upon. Others do it in cute, clever ways, such as the 18-year-old Piper Laurie who "eats flowers" and has done it before doubling press eyes. (No one's caught her at the bicarbonate of soda station yet.)

Many of them have been in show business since they were tiny tykes. One of these is Mitzi Gaynor. (Her real name is Gerber, but Gaynor once did OK in Glamazon, so her bosses figure it may help her.) This youngster started dancing professionally when she was eight. She did many Broadway shows and has toured the country as a dancer-comedienne.

Debra Paget has been in the business since she was 14. Two years later she signed a starlet's contract.

Most of them have worked hard to reach this temporary goal. Many worked to pay for dramatic lessons, or dancing instruction. Peggy O'Connor worked as a waitress to pay her tuition in summer stock.

They are bursting with ambition and are refreshingly bright this season. All are high school graduates and the percentage of college graduates in the starlet category is increasing by the year. Occasionally a master's degree pops up. Many were pre-med, legal or dental before they got the acting bug or were "discovered."

And they're all so pretty!

Phils Dip Brooks, Extend Lead Meyer, Waitkus Lead Winners

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia's league leading Phillies choked off Brooklyn's desperate bid for a clean sweep of the four-game series, salvaging Friday night's final, 4-3, to snap a five-game losing streak and increase their margin over the Dodgers to five and a half games.

Russ Meyer and Eddie Waitkus two of the senior members of the Whiz Kids, were the leading forces in the Phils' 10th victory over Brooklyn in 18 meetings.

Meyer, pitching his first complete game since July 5, shackled the Brooks with six hits, only two coming after the third inning. His bat helped too as two of his three sacrifice bunts set up a pair of runs.

Waitkus rapped a double and two singles in four official times at bat and drove in two runs. The 30-year-old first baseman also sparked in the field, digging up several low throws into the dirt to prevent Brooklyn scores.

The Phils collected eight hits off loser Ery Palica, half of them coming in the first inning to provide them with a 2-8 lead. Each team scored a run in the second. Thereafter both pitchers settled down to hurl air tight ball.

The Phils picked up what proved to be the winning run in the sixth on Mike Goliath's one-bagger, Meyer's sacrifice and a double by Waitkus to take a 4-1 advantage. Duke Snider's homer in the eighth following a single by Pee-Wee Reese made it 4-3 and gave the 14,727 cash customers a scare. Meyer bore down, however, and retired the last four batters in succession.

Big Ten Commissioner Says Major Leagues Hurting College Sport

CHICAGO (AP) — Kenneth L. Wilson, commissioner of athletics for the Western conference, Friday severely criticized organized baseball — the major leagues, in particular — for damaging the college sport by signing stars before the completion of their interscholastic careers.

Wilson wrote his criticism to Albert B. Chandler, commissioner of baseball, with copies of his letter to Ford Frick, president of the National League, and President Will Harridge of the American League.

Skowron Incident
Wilson's letter stressed the case involving William Skowron, 19-year-old Chicago lad, signed by the New York Yankees this week for a reported $25,000 to $30,000 inducement. Skowron, a brilliant shortstop and Big Ten batting champion with an average of .500, had two more years of eligibility at Purdue.

"The signing of Skowron," Wilson pointed out, "is just the latest in a series of these incidents which have left many college administrators discouraged about expansion of their programs."

His letter to Chandler continued: "I could cite you numerous cases of the real damage professional baseball has done to the college sport, but for the sake of brevity I would merely like to have you consider the case of Michigan State college, which, since June, 1947, has had 18 undergraduates signed. You can well imagine the discouragement of that institution."

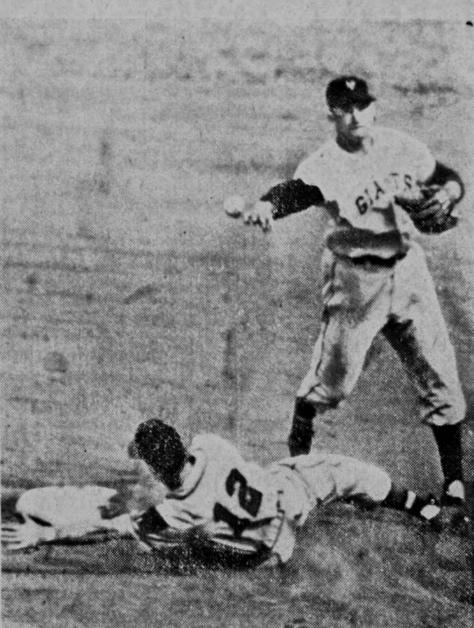

Wilson pointed out that during the past season the nation's universities and colleges spent more than $1,500,000 in conducting their baseball programs and supplied, coached and competed more than 9,000 students on varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams.

"You have been connected with athletics enough," Wilson wrote, "to realize the damage done when an outstanding player, or players, are taken from a team. It is difficult to put into words what every coach knows — the letdown that his team has and the discouragement that his team feels when the outstanding player departs at a time when the entire team feels that next season it will have an outstanding unit and a championship contender."

Wertz' Single Gives Leaders Victory, 3-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Vic Wertz's ninth inning single scored Don Kolloway with the winning run as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3-2, before 17,742 persons Friday night to move a half game ahead of New York's second place Yankees in the American league pennant race.

Wertz' 116th run batted in helped Dizzy Trout best Bob Cain, Chicago southpaw, in a pitcher's duel. The veteran Detroit right hander gained his twelfth decision although the White Sox held a 9-8 hitting edge.

Chicago picked up a run in the home half of the first. Nelson Fox reached second on Jerry Priddy's two-base throwing error after Chico Carrasquel was retired. Fox, who tagged up on Dave Philley's fly to Evers, scored when E. Robinson singled to left.

Detroit got to Cain for a run in the third. Johnny Lipon and George Kell drew passes with one out. Wertz struck out before Hoot Evers lined a single to left, scoring Lipon. This Tiger spurt ended with Groth's grounder to Baker.

The Tigers moved in front, 2-1, with a run in the fifth. Lipon started with a single, but was doubled on Kell's roller to Fox. Cain gifted Wertz and Evers with his fifth and sixth walks before Groth singled to score Wertz with Detroit's lead run.

Backfield Men Get First Taste of Contact Drills

Contact work, for both linemen and backs, was the order of the day Friday for the Iowa Hawkeyes as they completed their third day of fall football practice.

Friday's work on blocking dummies was the first contact work for the backs this year. Head Coach Leonard Raffensperger promised his 66-man squad more of the same for today's drills.

Passing again came in for its share of emphasis Friday with the quarterback candidates throwing and the backfield men and ends catching. Passing has received more attention from the Iowa coaching staff so far this season than any other single phase of the game.

Raffensperger plans to pass a lot in supplementing the running game.

The Iowa squad suffered its second casualty Friday when Vern Sherman, 195-pound left guard from Marengo, twisted his knee in drills. The injury isn't believed to be serious. Bill Skafie, all-star from Dubuque in the other injured squadman. He tore ligaments and cartilage in a previous injury during Wednesday's workouts and is expected to be sidelined for the rest of the season.

Iowa continued conditioning exercises Friday in preparation for the Sept. 29 opener against Southern California at Los Angeles.

Raffensperger expressed satisfaction Friday with the way the squad members were hustling through the conditioning tasks and drills on fundamentals.

He cautioned, however, that there can be no letdown if the Hawkeyes are to be at top shape for the Southern California game.

Football or Baseball, Iowa's Glenn Drahn Stars in Both Sports

If it's throwing a ball, either oval or round, Glenn Drahn, Iowa quarterback, can do a pretty fair job.

He has proved that in football when he hit 35 percent of his forward passes for 735 yards and nine touchdowns last fall; and in baseball, when he had a 6-1 record as a pitcher for all games and 4-1 in the conference in 1950.

Drahn holds the Iowa "modern era" record for most forward passes attempted, 31, against Wisconsin, and most completed, 12 of

Indians Lose Twice

CLEVELAND — The St. Louis Browns dealt Cleveland's pennant hopes a death blow here Friday night by taking both ends of a doubleheader, 6-5 and 4-0. Cleveland would need a miracle now to overhaul the front running New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

The American league's only 20 game winner, Bob Lemon, had a rough time with the Browns in losing the second game. After he let them score once in the fourth, Ken Wood and Ray Coleman each slugged bases empty home runs off him in the sixth.

The Browns were helped to two runs in the first game when Mike Garcia threw wild to second on a double play ball. Sievers, who was on first then, got to third and Hank Artt to first. Singles by Stirnweiss and Don Lenhardt scored them.

St. Louis spotted Cleveland four runs in the first game's first inning on a double by Ray Boone, singles by Bob Kennedy, Larry Doby and Joe Gordon, and a walk to Al Rosen.

Sherm Lollar tied that game with an eighth inning homer. Stirn Weiss, who walked, ran home from second in the ninth on Ken Wood's single for the winning run.

Saddler Regains Crown

FEATHERWEIGHT CHAMP SANDY SADDLER (right) shook hands with Willie Pep at weigh in ceremonies Friday morning in New York. Saddler regained the title from Pep by scoring a TKO in the 8th round of their fight Friday night after the Connecticut battler had dislocated a shoulder. Eddie Eagan, chairman of the New York state athletic commission indicated both fighters were even in weight — 124 3-4 pounds. Beside Eagan was Commissioner Leon Swear.

Saddler Wins Featherweight Title When Injury Forces Pep to Quit

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Pep, a disconsolate little figure, lost the featherweight championship of the world to Sandy Saddler at Yankee Stadium Friday night as he sat on his stool between rounds with a dislocated shoulder.

Apparently on his way to a one-sided victory over the skinny-legged Negro, the great little battler from Hartford, Conn., took a huge crowd of 35,000 completely by surprise when he failed to come up for the eighth round and Referee Ruby Goldstein raised Saddler's arm in token of victory.

Regains Lost Title
Saddler thus regained the title he lost to Pep 19 months ago at Madison Square Garden after having previously dethroned Pep in October of 1948.

There was no hint that Pep was in difficulties when he returned to his corner after a rough seventh round. But he had no more than reached his stool when his manager, Lou Viscusi, beckoned Dr. Vincent Nardiello, official physician for the state athletic commission, into the ring. The doctor still was examining the stricken fighter when the bell rang for the eighth round. It will go into the record as an eighth round knockout.

Up to the time of the unhappy ending, Pep had piled up a commanding margin on points. On this writer's scorebook he had won 5 of the 7 rounds and dealt steady, stabbing punishment to the challenger.

Saddler's best round had been the third, when he dumped Pep to the floor with a hard left hook on the button. Pep stayed down for a nine count and came up to give better than he received for the remainder of the round. Saddler also earned the seventh round, but by a hair.

All the others had gone to Pep by handy margins, and it appeared to be only a question of whether his 28-year-old legs could carry him the remainder of the route at the stiff pace he was setting. He had left-jabbed Sandy into a partial state of bewilderment and had crossed a score of lusty lefts and rights to the Negro's jaw.

Saddler's Eye Closing

Pep's handlers barred his dressing room to the press for some time after the fight ended, explaining that the veteran was in such intense pain he was in no condition to answer questions.

A fight figure close to the situation passed out the information that the pair already are signed to fight again in February, but there was no official confirmation. Pep received 45 percent of the net from Friday night's big gate, Saddler only 15 percent.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — After 15 long years, the Minneapolis Millers finally won the American Association pennant Friday night. They clinched the title by defeating Kansas City, 8-4, while Toledo was blanking Indianapolis, 8-0.

Braves Tip Giants, 4-3; Spahn Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Holmes' home run, his seventh of the year, was the decisive blow Friday as the Boston Braves defeated the New York Giants again. This time the score was 4-3. It was the thirteenth triumph for the Braves over the Giants in 18 games.

Holmes' blow, off big Jim Hearn, came in the seventh and found Walker Cooper and Sid Gordon on base. Both had walked. The defeat was the second for Hearn since joining the Giants in July. He has won eight since then. Both of Hearn's defeats have been by the Braves.

The Giants were completely baffled by Warren Spahn until the eighth when they got all three runs. Two walks and three singles ruined the southpaw's shut out. It was his 18th win.

Williams Returns To Active Duty

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams has been restored to active duty with the charging Boston Red Sox as a pinch hitter, and Manager Steve O'Neill expects the deadly slugger to be back in his regular left field position before the season ends.

That cheering news was almost superfluous Friday. The Sox had just knocked off the despised New York Yankees two straight games. The team was on a winning streak which covered 20 of the last 23 games. The future was rosy.

And O'Neill made it rosier. "I expect Williams to be playing regularly before the end of the season," he said. "Until then, he will be used for pinch hitting."

Angry Parents Picket School

Protest Moving Grade School to Nearby Town; Use Airplane Spotter, Air Raid Siren

ONWARD, IND. (UP) — Angry parents, supported by an airplane spotter and an air raid siren, milled around the Onward school Friday and threatened to fight anyone who tries to move it to a rival town nearby.

Fifty pickets thronged the doorways of the school building, alert for an attempt by Tipton Township Trustee Virgil Turner to move equipment to Walton, his home town.

Turner decided weeks ago it would be cheaper and better if Onward and Walton didn't each have a combination high school and grade school. He ruled hereafter all township children would attend grade school at Onward and high school at Walton.

Turner tried to start school last Monday. But Onward parents blocked the way when he tried to move desks and other equipment to Walton. Since then, the pickets have been on duty night and day.

A plane piloted by an Onward sympathizer patrolled the five-mile stretch between the two towns trying to spot trouble. A watcher manned an air raid alarm siren and said he'd set it screaming if Turner approached.

Pickets, many of them women wearing sweaters and scarfs to ward off the cool September air, stood around in groups talking in low tones. Some of them brought lunch boxes and ate sandwiches while they guarded the doorways.

Militant townspeople opened the doors of their homes to farm families who came to help.

J.E. Philapy, who operates a grocery, said the pickets would defy Turner until he changed his mind and let Onward keep its high school.

"If they try to move those desks out, we won't let the workmen through," said Philapy. "If they tried to force their way in they just wouldn't make it, that's all."

"They can send the militia or state police if they want," he added. "They can get a court order. But the sheriff and his men will have to push through about 75 women guarding the doors."

Approve SUI Labor, Management Board

An SUI bureau of labor and management has been approved by the Iowa state board of education, President Virgil M. Hancher announced Friday.

The bureau will do continuous research on the operation of industry and the conditions of labor in Iowa. Its findings will be published on an industry-wide basis.

Acting director of the bureau will be Prof. Karl Leib, SUI college of commerce, pending appointment of a permanent director.

Leib will be assisted by Fred Meyer, an SUI commerce instructor.

The bureau was suggested originally by Governor William S. Beardsley in his inaugural address.

Members of the committee planning the bureau were Leib;

Provost Harvey H. Davis; Administrative Dean Allin W. Dakin; Prof. Walter L. Daykin, college of commerce; Prof. Clarence M. Updegraff, college of law, and Prof. Ralph M. Barnes and Prof. J. Wayne Deegan, college of engineering.

Local Police Investigate $265 Theft at Fraternity

Iowa City police Friday were investigating the theft of $265 from billfolds at the Delta Upsilon fraternity house, 320 Ellis avenue.

George Clark, SUI student, reported that a prowler entered the house between 2 and 7 a.m. Friday and stole $228 in cash and checks from student Richard A. Lynch. Clark also said $37 was taken from Fred Schrader, also a student.

Junior Murphy Fined $17.50 for Speeding

Junior Murphy, route 5, was fined $17.50 in Iowa City police court Friday for speeding.

Elwin F. Ambrose, 322 E. First street, pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to have his auto under control and causing an accident.

Judge Emil G. Troit continued hearing on the case in order that Ambrose could obtain an attorney.

Iowa Inmates Fish On Mississippi River

FORT MADISON — Three Iowa state penitentiary inmates go out on the Mississippi river, unguarded, and fish.

L. Eddy and Tom Runyon, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, told Friday how Floyd Newton and Bill Fintelman, both serving life sentences for murder, and Ralph Howell, former professional fisherman doing 10 years for breaking and entering, are permitted to fish to supplement the prison food supply.

Eddy and Runyon, themselves prisoners, described the trio as "three of the best-behaved fishermen on the Mississippi."

They said the crew was organized by Warden Percy A. Lainson in 1942 to help solve food problems created by rationing. Newton, Fintelman and Howell are allowed to leave the prison by daybreak provided they return by dark and do not drink liquor.

Using prison boats, nets and trotlines they catch 10 to 20 tons

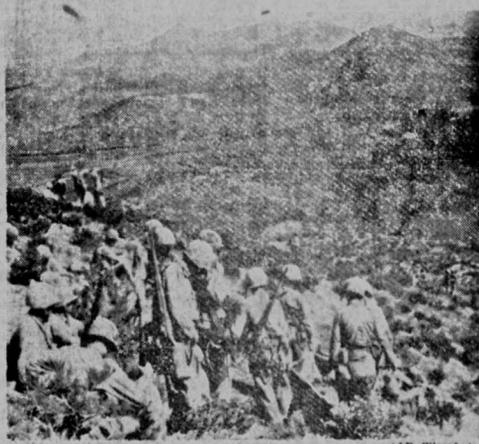

Wisconsin Closes Million Acres to Deer Hunters

MADISON, WIS. — The state conservation commission Friday approved closing over a million acres to deer hunting in Wisconsin this fall.

The areas will be closed in 24 counties, mostly in central Wisconsin.

Game Management Director William Grimmer said that many central Wisconsin areas will be closed to prevent hunters from killing off too many deer.
