RELAXING AS MUCH AS HE DARES, a U.S. marine sat on a Korean version of an old organ stool as he and his buddy guarded North Korean prisoners taken in the fighting at Incheon. The marines and other allied forces stormed ashore at Incheon last Friday. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who directed many such amphibious operations in the Pacific during World War II, directed the Incheon assault.

Congress Agrees On War Tax Bill; Plans Saturday Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise $4.7-billion "stop gap" war tax bill was approved Wednesday by a senate-house conference committee, and congressional leaders said it will be sent to President Truman by Friday night.

The complete agreement, breaking a deadlock, opened the way for congress to adjourn Saturday until after the November elections, when it will return to act upon a "second installment" tax increase to help pay for the Korean war and for armaments against Communist aggression.

Together the two tax bills, while increasing tax burdens appreciably this year, may boost taxes in 1951 by about $12-billion.

The present compromise bill, agreed upon Wednesday, increases the income taxes of over 50-million individuals by almost $3-billion a year. The higher rates will become effective Oct. 1. The withholdings from wages and salaries will become greater at that time.

The bill increases corporation normal taxes by $1.5-billion a year, and embodies a pledge that congress will act later on a multi-billion dollar corporation excess profits tax, to be effective retroactively to Oct. 1 or July 1, 1950.

The measure brings the nation's tax statutes near to a wartime footing.

It provides tax incentives for industry to retool for the production of materials needed by armaments and the defense industries, by setting up a system of accelerated amortization, for tax purposes, for industries turned to such production.

SUI Breaks Record; Gives 3,421 Degrees In Past School Year

All past graduation records were broken during the school year just ended at SUI with 3,421 persons receiving degrees.

In the previous (1948-9) school year, also a record-breaker, 2,960 students were graduated.

Among last year's graduates, the largest number (1,346) received bachelor of arts degrees from the college of liberal arts.

Graduates of other colleges included: graduate, 874; commerce, 620; engineering, 228; law, 127; medicine, 70; dentistry, 54; pharmacy, 51; and nursing, 50.

Earliest recorded figures show that six persons received degrees from SUI in the 1857-8 school year, and the number of graduates has increased ever since that time as the state became more populated and enrollment increased.

Truman Asks House Kill Aid Bill Rider

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman sent congress an urgent appeal Wednesday to kill a proposed ban on Marshall plan aid for countries that ship war potential goods to Russia because it would "do much more harm than good."

The ban is proposed in a Republican-sponsored rider which the senate added to the $17-billion emergency defense appropriation bill.

Mr. Truman made his plea as the measure came up for debate in the house.

But final action on the amendment was delayed until today.

In a letter to Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) of the house appropriations committee, Mr. Truman said the amendment is of such grave importance and "is fraught with such danger to the United States and world peace" that he felt impelled to make a special request for its elimination.

Sees ROTC Gain To 1,700 Here

ROTC registration at SUI will probably reach nearly 1,700 this year, Col. William W. Jenna, head of the SUI department of military science and tactics, said Wednesday night.

This is nearly 200 more than last year's number.

Preliminary tabulations showed that over 300 students have signed up for the army advanced course, and 175 for the air force advanced course, bringing the total close to 500.

Jenna said there had been 28 applications for the senior and graduate veterans' program, one year course.

Marines Enter Seoul As Red Force Drives From Manchuria

Russians Cut Electric Power To West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — East-west friction scratched new sparks in this four-power city Wednesday.

The rival city governments engaged in a running duel of arresting each other's policemen.

The Soviet sector decided to shut off its electric power to the American, British and French sectors as of midnight Wednesday night.

Two Day Maneuvers

Three companies of American, British and French troops began combined two-day military maneuvers on the shores of the Havel river in Berlin's western outskirts.

The maneuvers followed similar combined exercises in Western Germany and the disclosure that the three powers are drawing up plans for West Berlin's defense.

In still another incident Soviet troops erected a barrier on British sector territory near the Soviet sector border. They withdrew when the British protested and stationed troops along the border to point out to the Russians the actual boundary. British and Russian officers then began discussions aimed at straightening out the difficulty.

Angry East Press

The East press sputtered with rage over the Big Three foreign ministers decisions in New York. The West press purred with delight.

The Russians charged the Western powers' decisions were "intensified preparations for war."

Their official newspaper, Taegliche Rundschau, followed the line that the increase in Western occupation forces in Western Germany was "an act of aggression," and the creation of a mobile German police force the camouflaging of a West German army.

The various developments, after weeks of comparative quiet, came soon after the Big Three's declaration that an attack on Berlin or West Germany would be an attack on themselves that there seemed to be some connection.

Hearing Held In Food Poison Case By City Doctor

The construction workers, who suffered ptomaine poisoning Sept. 13, Wednesday told Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick, city health officer, they believe their sickness was caused by food obtained at a local restaurant.

The men, Warren Byrd, 31, and Al Chertkow, 35, testified at an investigation into the cause of four persons being poisoned Sept. 13. Both are construction workers at the Coralville dam project.

The other two victims of the poisoning, Henry Pennington, 47, and Mrs. Martha Price, 39, did not attend the hearing. Pennington is a construction worker at the Veterans hospital project, while Mrs. Price is a waitress at the Princess cafe.

All four were hospitalized after eating ham sandwiches prepared at the Princess cafe, 114 S. Dubuque street.

Byrd and Chertkow said they purchased the sandwiches at the restaurant early Sept. 13. The food was not kept under refrigeration from the time of the purchase until they ate at noon, the men said.

James Lons, owner of the Princess cafe, said he also believes the men became sick after eating the sandwiches. He said he received no other complaints from persons who obtained ham sandwiches Sept. 13.

Both Byrd and Chertkow said they had ordered prepared sandwiches from the restaurant for the past three or four months and had suffered no ill effects prior to Sept. 13.

Car Reported Stolen From Near Fieldhouse

Iowa City police Wednesday were investigating the reported theft of a 1950 grey Dodge coupe which was stolen near the Fieldhouse between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Owner of the car, Harry Miller, 335 E. College street, said the car had not been left in the vehicle.

Korean War Dead at 1,858

WASHINGTON (AP) — Identified American casualties in the Korean war through Sept. 15 totaled 13,911, including 1,858 dead, the defense department announced Wednesday.

Identified casualties are those whose next of kin have been formally notified.

The toll was up sharply from the last previous cumulative report which closed total casualties of 8,957, including 682 dead, through Sept. 1.

The latest total includes 8,535 wounded and 3,518 missing in action.

Of the latter, 148 have returned safely to U.S. lines since being listed as casualties, and 50 have been reported officially as captured or interned.

The army, which has the largest number of men in combat, bore the brunt in all categories. Its losses included 1,652 dead, 7,809 wounded and 3,415 missing in action, of whom 132 have since returned safely, and 48 listed as prisoners.

Reflecting the increasing participation of marines in the fighting, marine losses were second only to those of the army — 165 dead, 701 wounded and 10 missing.

Airforce casualties were 29 dead, eight wounded, and 89 missing, of whom 16 have returned safely and two are listed as prisoners.

Navy losses were 12 dead, 17 wounded and four missing.

Steady Push Expands Area Held in South

By FRANK TREMAINE

TOKYO (THURSDAY) — U.S. marines have crashed into Seoul, sweeping across the Han river and eight miles through shattered Communist defenses in less than 12 hours.

Complete liberation was expected at any time for the South Korean capital of 1,100,000 persons which fell to the North Koreans on June 28, three days after the start of the Communist invasion.

Knocking at the Gates

One marine force shot down the northeastern bank of the Han river and across the city's limits at 6 p.m. Wednesday. Another was knocking at the city's gates after sweeping through the southwestern suburb of Yongdongpo and the Seoul airfield directly across the river from the capital.

The marines' successes at Seoul were tempered by a report to Gen. Douglas MacArthur that a flying column of Communist tanks and trucks had been spotted racing toward the leathernecks' rear position from the Manchurian border.

It was not known whether the Red armor was manned by Chinese Communists or by North Koreans who have been receiving training and supplies from Manchuria.

The report put the Communist column only 30 miles north of the marines' most northern positions around the Kimp'o airfield Wednesday afternoon. Nothing has been reported on the Red force since then.

At 6:50 a.m. Wednesday the first wave of marines hit the enemy-held bank of the Han eight miles northwest of Seoul. By 6 p.m. they had driven into the city, moving so fast their supplies could not keep pace with them. An emergency airdrop was created to keep them moving.

Airforce Hits Hard

U.S. airforce bombings have been reported as having knocked out the bridge "complex" which was the immediate target of the marines.

In the southeast, the Pusan beachhead bulged ever larger like a balloon about to burst.

The United Nations forces made these gains:

1. U.S. Second division troops smashed out of the Hajok - Po bridgehead, and their tanks were seven miles west of the Naktong river, which only last month seemed doomed as a UN defense line.

2. South Korean and U.S. First cavalry troops rapidly forged a trap around 2,000 Reds caught in a pocket above Tabu-Dong.

3. U.S. 24th division troops poured across the Naktong at Waegwan, and in one sector they controlled both sides of the river.

4. South Koreans drove on past re-captured Pohang toward Hung-hae, five miles north. The Pohang airfield was expected to be back in operation soon.

While the UN troops were making these gains on the ground the UN airforce was hitting the enemy harder than ever.

Navy Airforce

Navy and airforce announcements showed that the navy and airforce flew more than 1,000 sorties Wednesday for the first time in the Korean war. The Far East airforce announced that its planes made 702 flights, while the navy flew more than 500 sorties. The airforce airlift into Korea also hit a record high.

The Communists in the Pusan beachhead were making their most determined stand along the southern front.

U.S. 25th division troops on the Masan front advanced four miles Wednesday on the right flank but met stubborn resistance in the center of the line at the extreme south. They were using flame throwers to drive the enemy out of their holes.

Along the northern front of the Pusan perimeter it was a different story. At one point South Korean 8th division troops advanced nearly six miles to reach Kusan-Dong, 22 miles north of Yongchon. Two weeks ago the Communists were in Yongchon.

Nation Puts Formosa Problem Before UN General Assembly

FLUSHING, N.Y. (UP) — The United States put the Formosa problem before the United Nations general assembly Wednesday and opened the door for the Chinese communists to come here and debate it.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, branding Russia as the "main obstacle to peace," also proposed:

1. A UN recovery force for Korea to rebuild that battered peninsula when UN forces have beaten the Red invaders.

2. A four-part UN mechanism to assure that — veto or no veto — the UN will be able to deal quickly with future aggressions.

Acheson, grabbing the diplomatic initiative on the second day of the assembly called for United Nations members — Communists and non-Communists alike — to furnish units for an international army to smash aggression anywhere in the world.

Vishinsky Asks Pact

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky followed Acheson before the UN assembly with a renewal of an old Russian demand for a big-five peace pact, prohibition of the atomic weapon and reduction of the armed forces of the big-five by one-third. These proposals were turned down at previous assemblies.

"I must say here and now that the Soviet Union will not take the part which the secretary of state of the United States tries to divert the general assembly," Vishinsky said. He submitted a revised list of alleged warmongers.

Churchill and Dulles

To his old 1947 list of Winston Churchill and John Foster Dulles, Vishinsky added Gen. Omar Bradley, Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews, former Defense Secretary Louis A. Johnson, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

In a general review of the tense times, Acheson said there is no longer any question whether the UN will survive.

"This question has been answered. If by nothing else, it has been answered by United Nations action against aggression in Korea. Blood is thicker than ink."

Senate Gives Marshall Defense Head Job; Gillette Votes Yes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate entrusted U.S. preparedness to the veteran hands of Gen. George C. Marshall Wednesday by voting overwhelmingly to confirm the 69-year-old soldier-statesman as secretary of defense.

Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa) cast his vote for confirmation of the nomination. The senate confirmed Marshall by a vote of 83 to 11.

Iowa's other senator, Bourke B. Hickenlooper was in Iowa and his position was not announced.

The five-star general, who was army chief of staff, during World War II, and later secretary of state, is expected to assume his new duties today. At his request, the swearing-in ceremonies will be brief, and will be held at the Pentagon building instead of the White House.

President Truman called him out of retirement last week to succeed Defense Secretary Louis Johnson, who bowed out of the cabinet under a drumfire of congressional charges that his economic weakness weakened U.S. armed forces.

Marshall will be the third secretary to head the unified military establishment created in 1947.

For a Lady, Registration Was Perplexing ...

HEY, LADY, YOU DROPPED A PENCIL! The overloaded coed caught fumbling with a few registration materials Wednesday was Mrs. Fran Umland, G. Hampton. In spite of Registrar Ted McCarrrell's efficient machinery, the tri-annual "fieldhouse fiasco" seems to be one of the least-looked-forward-to campus occasions. With registration of new students on Tuesday, and returning students on Monday and Wednesday, all work has been completed. Final figures on the number of students registered will be available today.

... For a Guy, Getting Supplies Wasn't Easy

NOT A COMMANDO HEADED INTO ACTION, but another eager SUI student armed to the teeth, literally, with implements necessary to start off the year right. Classes begin at 7:30 a.m. today, opening officially after the traditional induction ceremonies west of Old Capitol at 8:15 a.m. Judging from the variety of equipment he carries, apparently the versatile gentleman pictured above is taking advantage of the 40 new courses offered at SUI this fall.

Iowa Union Purchases New Steinway Piano

A new $6,325 Steinway piano has been purchased by SUI for the use of visiting artists and for concerts on campus.

The nine-foot concert grand was delivered to the Iowa Union Tuesday where it has been placed in the northwest corner of the main lounge.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the Iowa Union, said purchase of the instrument was prompted in part when visiting musicians criticized the piano used in former years.

The new Steinway replaces a second hand reconstructed model bought by SUI about 20 years ago. The old piano has been assigned to the North recital hall in the music department.

SUI Psychiatrist To Explain Problems Of School Children

Dr. Hunter Comly, assistant professor of pediatrics in psychiatry at SUI, will speak on "Emotional Problems of School Age Children" at a meeting of the Child Study club Saturday.

This luncheon-meeting, which will open the fall session of the Child Study club, will be at 12:15 p.m. in the River Room of the Iowa Union.

Membership in the club is open to anyone interested in the growth and development of children.

Other speakers scheduled for the monthly meetings are Mrs. Ivan Hedges, Joyce Niensiedt, Dr. Lorraine Frost, Prof. Wendell Johnson, Prof. John Haefner and Prof. Ralph Olejmann.

Anyone not reached by the telephone committee may make a reservation for the luncheon by calling Mrs. J. W. Carl, 8-1249, by Thursday night.

Methodist Students To Hold Open House

The Methodist Student center for graduate and married students will hold its first open house of the new semester 8 p.m. Friday.

The party will be in the lounge and recreation room of Wesley house, 213 E. Market street.

Mrs. William Thomas is in charge of the program, and Mrs. Allen Beard will plan refreshments.

The first regular program of the semester for the Wesley Supper club for graduate and married students will be at 5 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. Robert Crocker, director of activities at Wesley house will speak on the subject "Communism's Trojan Horse."

A cost supper in the dining room will follow the program.

A nursery is provided during the program periods.

Marching Band To Play for Indiana Game

Plans are completed for the SUI marching band's trip to Bloomington, Ind., for the Iowa-Indiana game Oct. 7. The 100-piece men's organization will travel by chartered buses, leaving Oct. 6 and returning Oct. 8.

In announcing plans for the trip, Prof. C. B. Righter, director of university bands, said an overnight stop would be made at Terre Haute, Ind.

Meal stops have been arranged at Peoria, Ill., on the going trip and at Decatur, Ill., on the return trip.

The band will be served a pre-game lunch in the Marine room of the Indiana union. Three Greyhound buses and one truck will be required to transport the band and its equipment.

Auditions for positions in both the marching band and the fall concert band will continue through the week and until Tuesday of next week at the band office, room 15, Music studio building.

Prefab Steel Cabinets Transform Outdated Kitchen

THIS HOMEMAKER'S KITCHEN was her nightmare. Badly organized, her work surface area was down to a minimum and there was even less storage space. The cluttered shelves under the sink were catch-alls for dust and dirt. The placement of the refrigerator wasted the corner area.

LOOKS LIKE A MIRACLE, but the nightmare was changed into a dream in only two days by installation of prefabricated steel kitchen units. The previously idle corner by the refrigerator was changed into a work and storage area by a corner cabinet. No longer was there any worry about dust and dirt, for these cabinets are sealed tightly.

Episcopalians to Give Student-Faculty Dinner

The Canterbury association of the Trinity Episcopal church will give its annual student-faculty dinner Friday at 6 p.m. at the parish house, 320 E. College street.

All Episcopal students, faculty and SUI staff members are invited to attend, according to Janet Kedney, director of college work.

President Virgil M. Hancher will be the speaker and the Rev. Gordon V. Smith, bishop of the diocese of Iowa, will be a special guest.

John Craven, G. Brooklyn, N. Y., will be master of ceremonies and the Rev. Harold F. McGee, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, and Miss Kedney will also speak.

Marcia Mary Healy, A3, Duluth, Minn., president of the Canterbury association; Virgil Pedersen, G. Mason City, and Bill Shore, G. Algona, will present briefly the activities of the college work program.

Mrs. Joseph Wayner, assisted by members of St. Katherine's guild-auxiliary, will be in charge of the dinner. Mrs. Charles Righter will be in charge of setting tables. Members of the Canterbury club

Housewife Watches Bees Taken from House Walls

ST. PAUL (AP). — Mrs. Eugene L. Zemet watched workmen scrape thousands of bees and six cubic feet of honey out of the walls of her house Thursday.

The veteran of four years of bee stings sighed with relief and said she'd boil and filter the honey.

"I ought to get something out of this mess," she said. The Zemet moved into their home four years ago. The bees got through the siding of the house and planted a hive between the clapboard and the laths.

Everything possible was done to kill them. Last night, a prepared insecticide was sprayed through the clapboards. This morning Mrs. Zemet killed 75 in the bathroom before she could wash.

SPEAKS TO ACCOUNTANTS Prof. Walter L. Daykin of the SUI college of commerce, spoke at the first 1950-51 regular meeting of the Cedar Rapids chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants at the Hotel Montrose Tuesday night. His talk was on "Labor's Inroad on Accounting and Management."

Suggests Uniformity Of Truancy Laws

DES MOINES (AP). — More uniformity in Iowa school truancy laws is needed, a survey made by the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs said Wednesday.

Mrs. W.A. Seidler, Jamaica, federation youth guidance chairman, summarized the eight-month study on community resources for serving youth at the fall council meeting.

Other recommendations in the report included physical examinations for school lunch food handlers; health certificates for all teachers; and more uniformity in work permits, including a physical examination, for youngsters 14 to 16. The local health officer was suggested as a suitable person to provide work permits.

Leonard C. Murray of the state health department spoke on Iowa health at the meeting.

"The health habits and attitudes toward health that we parents have today, have not produced a citizenry that enjoyed anywhere near the good health we all have a right to enjoy," he said. "Every day in every way our children and youth are absorbing these same habits and attitudes."

Hospital Admits Three More Polio Patients

An 11-day-old baby girl has been discharged from University hospitals polio wards, hospitals officials announced Wednesday.

Also discharged was Duane Euroden, 5, Elgin.

Three new polio patients were admitted to the hospitals, bringing the number of active cases to 35.

Admitted were Fred Appleby, 10, Hopkinson; Shirley Trueblood, 14, Salem, and Cleve Reifert, 10, Muscatine. All three are in "fair" condition.

Charles Wilson, 36, Williamsburg, and Phillis Yacko, 7, Ottumwa, were transferred to inactive wards.

Iowa City Defense Director To Study Chicago Mock Attack

DES MOINES (UP)—Rodney Q. Selby, Iowa civilian defense director, said Wednesday he would go to Chicago next Monday for a week-long meeting on defense plans, with emphasis on what to do in case of an atom bomb attack.

Delegates attending the regional conference will study results of a mock atom bomb attack on Chicago, he said. Chicago public service officials will lead discussions.

Police, fire and medical officials of Chicago will outline recovery actions planned under a problem prepared by the national security resources board.

Modify Plan in Rural Areas
Selby said he planned to apply lessons of the Chicago conference to an Iowa civilian defense plan.

The federal government's master defense plan will be followed "pretty closely" in the state's major cities, he added.

He said the federal plan, however, probably would be modified in the state's non-urban areas.

Subcommittee Chairmen
Meanwhile, six defense advisory board members have been named subcommittee heads to conduct surveys of the state's facilities in various critical fields. They are:

Alex Miller, Des Moines, communications; Pearl McMurray, Des Moines, public safety; Worth Karns, Ames, emergency housing and feeding; Frank Quick, Des Moines, transportation; Paul Houser, Des Moines, public utilities, and Carl Menzer, Iowa City, personnel training.

Admits Guilt in Prison Slaying

ANAMOSA (UP)—Rudyard Birr, 20, Chicago, pleaded guilty in district court Wednesday to charges of slaying a fellow prisoner at Anamosa reformatory.

Birr had pleaded innocent March 20, but he told District Judge Floyd Philbrick he wanted to change his plea. Philbrick set next Wednesday for a hearing to determine the degree of murder.

Authorities said the youth admitted in a signed confession that he stabbed Baldimero Morales, 18, Davenport, with a sharpened kitchen knife last Feb. 26 in the recreation yard of the reformatory.

In his confession, Birr said Morales had threatened him and he decided to "get him first." Morales died soon after the stabbing.

Strangles Wife, Son; Dreams of 'Beast'

ROCKWOOD, TENN. (UP)—A revival stirred carpenter told police Wednesday that he must have strangled his wife and small son while he dreamed of wrestling a "great furry beast" described in the Bible.

Rufus C. Aikens, 31, who had attended nightly tent meetings and embarked on a fast to "purge me of evil," was charged with the first degree murder of Mrs. Ona Aikens, 22, and their son, Danny, 5.

But Aikens said that his only recollection of violence before dawn Wednesday was a nightmare in which he thought he was "erasing the mark of the beast."

When he awoke from his dream about the beast, described in the 13th chapter of the Revelations of St. John the Divine, Aikens said he reached across the bed for his wife and son. Not finding them, "I wondered if I had hurt them," he said.

He went into the parlor, Aikens said, and found Danny's body behind the divan and his wife's lying upon it.

Aikens then rushed next door and told his father, Walter Aikens, that "I've killed Ona and the baby."

The father called Sheriff Marvin Stinecoper who found marks of strangulation on both bodies. Mrs. Aikens also had been cut about the face and

Judge to Sentence Choi on Saturday

DUBUQUE (AP)—District Judge Milton J. Glenn late Wednesday set 10 a.m. next Saturday as the time for sentencing Duk Sank Choi, 36, Korean student who pleaded guilty to murder.

Testimony was concluded and final arguments given Wednesday afternoon. Choi had entered his plea to second degree murder last Thursday. On the basis of the testimony Judge Glenn will decide the penalty. The sentence could be imprisonment from 10 years to life.

The case arose out of the razor slaying last Jan. 6 of Chun Kenn Oh, 24, like Choi a Korean student at the University of Dubuque. The slaying occurred in a university dormitory.

Choi openly wept in court as the trial drew to a close. As court adjourned he shook hands with his court-appointed attorney, E. Marshall Thomas of Dubuque, and returned to the county jail to await pronouncement of sentence.

Saturday's a 'Dog's Day' in Council Bluffs

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP)—The city pound-master is going to look the other way during the annual children's pet parade Saturday.

"Some kids are scared to be in the parade because their dogs don't have tags," said Poundmaster Chris Christensen Wednesday. "Tell them they don't have to worry. They can bring their dogs and see me later. I won't bother them Saturday. I want everyone to have a good time."

Solar Aircraft Reports Net Profits Decrease

NEW YORK (AP)—Solar Aircraft company, which has a plant in Des Moines, reported its net profit for the three months ended last July 31 was $108,800 compared with $361,000 for the corresponding period last year.

The report said the earnings this year were equal to 21 cents a share, compared with 76 cents a share for the same time in 1949.

Whistler Haunts Girl with Dirge, Threats

PARADIS, LA. (UP)—A Phantom whistler whose theme song is a funeral dirge and whose goal is the murder of a young bride-to-be returned to haunt her Tuesday night, it was learned Wednesday.

Last night, one half hour after 18-year-old Jacqueline Cadow returned home from New Orleans with her mother and five-year-old brother, Mickey, they heard the mysterious warbler.

His long, shrill notes apparently came from behind a huge moss-hung oak tree near the house. "Oh, God—it's him," cried Jacqueline and her mother. The girl, who plans to marry state trooper Herbert Belsom on Oct. 7, became hysterical and neighbors said a doctor was summoned.

Jacqueline, who has been haunted by the whistler for seven months, had two nights of peace in New Orleans where a police guard apparently kept the whistler away.

The family wouldn't talk about Tuesday's night's incident. Trooper Belsom, reached by telephone said wearily: "Why don't you leave us alone? It's bad enough as it is."

Jacqueline has been trying to escape the whistler since she first heard the mournful notes of the funeral dirge followed by a blood-curdling moan, outside her home last February.

Last month, after Jacqueline's engagement was announced, the whistler telephoned her mother, Mrs. Clifford Cadow, and warned: "Your daughter will never marry Herbert. I'm going to kill her."

The mysterious warbler has promised to be at the wedding and Belsom has vowed his fellow

Telegram Misleading, Immigrants Son Lives

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (UP)—A misunderstood telegram led a Belgian immigrant here to believe his son was killed in Korean action although a second telegram said the son was only wounded slightly.

Julius Olien received the second telegram three weeks after he thought his 18-year-old son Robert had been killed. He telegraphed the defense department to learn which report was correct, and heard nothing for more than a week.

Two hall officials explained to the children the teacher had reached the age limit. Tearfully, the children returned, and to the newcomer tendered peace offerings of wild flowers.

Trial of Mother Who Asphyxiated Children Nears End

ST. JAMES, MINN. (UP)—Opposing counsel presented final arguments Wednesday in the third degree murder trial of Mrs. Ruth Teigland, accused of killing two of her three small children.

The case of the 34-year-old farm woman will be handed to a district court jury of nine men and three women today after a charge by Judge Milton D. Mason.

Watson County Atty. Paul V. Fling summed up the state's case by claiming Mrs. Teigland was sane when she killed her children, Jane, 8, and Robert, 6, in April of 1949 and did not become insane until after the killings.

Mrs. Teigland has pleaded guilty by reason of insanity.

Defense Atty. E. M. Poirier said three doctors testified that Mrs. Teigland probably was insane at the time she asphyxiated the children by running a vacuum cleaner hose from the exhaust pipe of her car into the interior of the machine.

The car was found near a country schoolhouse on a lonely road near Madelia, Minn., on Sept. 30, 1949. Jane and Robert were dead on the back seat. Mrs. Teigland and her 18-month-old daughter, Margaret Elaine, were in the front seat, alive.

Boston Traffic Halted When Electricity Fails

BOSTON (UP)—Every street car, elevated and tunnel train in the city of Boston was halted Wednesday night by a main line power failure.

The break occurred about 6 p.m. EDT (4 p.m. Iowa time) as the evening rush traffic was dying down, but thousands of persons were stranded.

A spokesman for the Metropolitan Transit authority said the only public transportation that kept running was gasoline operated buses.

The vehicles affected included trackless trolleys, street cars, and rapid transit trains, many of which were stopped in tunnels or on elevated structures.

HERE'S WHY:

1. So effortless to open... saves fingernails and tempers. Just lift and pop open the sanitary cap. It's easier.

2. Such a pleasure to pour, whether a drop or a glassful. 'Flat-top' has no drip or dribble. It's neater.

3. Pop! And cap is tightly closed against other food odors, just push down the dimpled cap. It's tighter.

Rhee Expects War's End, United Korea

By HUGH BAILLIE
President of the United Press

KOREA (UP) — President Syngman Rhee of the Korean Republic is planning a triumphant return to Seoul at the earliest possible moment. Thereafter, he expects to achieve a United Korea, ignoring the 38th parallel of which he says, jokingly, "Show it to me, where is it."

Rhee shows confidence and quite obviously believes it is all over but the mop-up in which he anticipates the rapidly growing Republic of Korea army will play a leading role.

"The Reds can bury their guns and hide their uniforms, but we know how to find them," Rhee said. He still sticks to his earlier prediction that the war wouldn't interfere with the harvest of the rice crop.

Rhee believes the overwhelming majority of Koreans are not Communists, but were forced into the North Korean army from the beginning of the Russian occupation, but Russia took charge and soon subjugated the territory along the Balkan pattern.

Korean Commanders
Rhee has ample reason to be proud of the manner in which his Korean army has taken shape. Its prestige is growing daily throughout United Nations forces.

I met General Yu and General Lak, two of their top commanders. Both are products of the Japanese War college with high grades and plenty of actual combat experience since. They appear confidently and efficiently in charge of their organizations and of their troops.

Their headquarters have the snappy atmosphere of a crack organization.

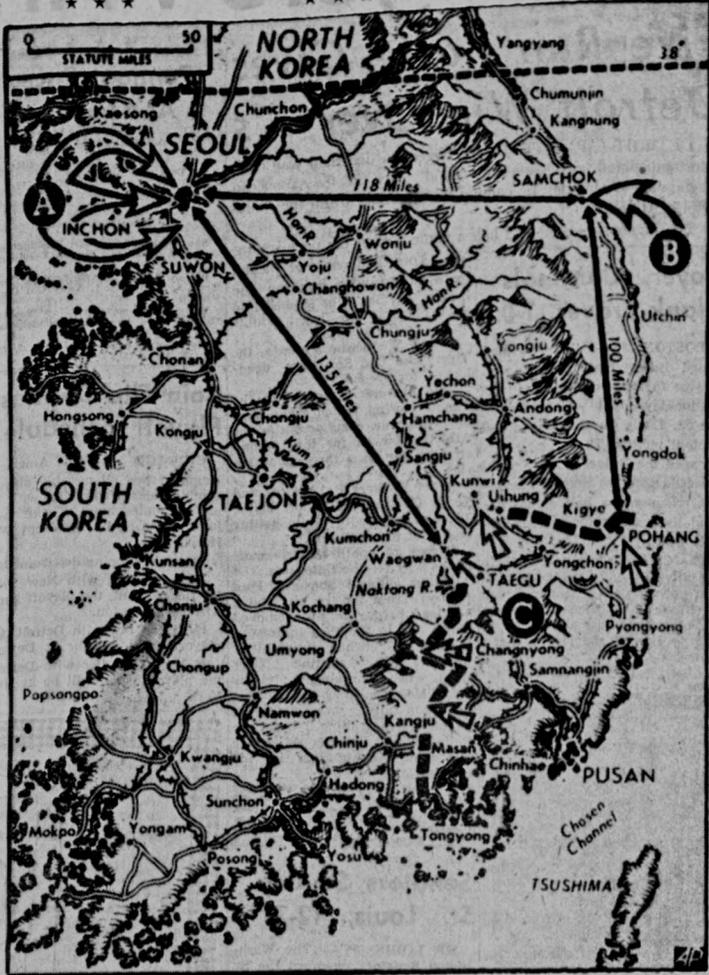

New Army
In the streets of Taegu and other cities you see all stages of the development of the new Korean army, from the rawest recruits in old clothes going along in columns toward training centers and not always looking too happy about it, to the alert, chins-up, sharp-uniformed infantrymen, stepping smartly along on the double.

These lads look eager and willing when you see them marching briskly and singing rousingly. Occasionally a Korean military band, a rare thing in this war, leads a parade, playing some American hit tune.

General Kim, commander of the Korean airforce, has some experienced youngsters and expects to have many more Korean pilots flying shortly.

Gen. Frank Milburn arrived after a rush trip from Germany and now commands the First corps, comprising the First cavalry, the 24th infantry and the First ROK division. He is known to his West Point friends by the nickname of "Shrimp." He is a fighter in the Patton tradition whose idea is to keep slamming ahead.

War Not Over
But notwithstanding the fact that we are starting to get some semblance of a striking force in the field after nearly three months on the defensive, it would be premature to jump to the conclusion that the war is over or that we can give our undivided attention to the world series without worrying about this Asiatic war.

THREE U.S. ARMORED COLUMNS (A) struck at Communist-held Seoul Wednesday as South Korean marines threatened to cut off all east coast communication with Pohang after landing at Samchok. Allied ground forces in the Pusan sector (C) punched out some of their best gains of the war at points along the fighting front.

The airforce has hushed up the enemy's tanks and mechanized transport and blitzed his factories, but the question remains, Will he get fresh material and from where. As far as manpower, he has plenty provided he has time to train it. And as Kipling wrote of the Fuzzy Wuzzies who "broke the British square," they were "benighted," but "dam' good fighting men."

You can say the same for the North Koreans, although when they are captured they look pretty sad. I saw three being questioned. They resembled scared little boys who had played hooky from the first year of high school. And you wonder how they do it. But give them a 12-year-old burp gun and a sack of grenades and you will soon find out.

Invasion Word Out
Word of General MacArthur's master stroke at Inchon is just commencing to percolate among the enemy around the Pusan perimeter. This is one reason they are giving ground, which the MacArthur strategy intended to accomplish. If they stay put they run the risk of being bagged.

But it is still uncertain whether the enemy army around the Pusan perimeter knows what's going on around Seoul. We have showered them with leaflets giving the word. The enemy has to read them secretly — officers or political commissars will punish troops caught reading them.

Our advance is no parade. Enemy trickery still moves our road mines to the path of our own traffic. Some jeeps are armor-plated underneath or have sandbags on the floor, but remember these road mines can capsize a tank. The enemy still has hundreds of thousands of human beasts of burden to carry up supplies, lugging them over the mountains if we seize all the roads.

You still see plenty of our lads leaping to the rear on stretchers, just the soles of their shoes showing. Like most of the wounded they seem singularly uninterested and quiet.

We have offenses moving forward on two fronts. But don't start for the exits yet, folks. The game isn't over.

Crime Investigator, Chicago Mayor Confer

CHICAGO (UP)—Rudolph K. Halley, counsel for the senate crime investigating committee, conferred here Wednesday with Mayor Martin H. Kennelly and federal and local law enforcement officers.
Chicago, where wholesale subpoenas have been issued for appearance of gangsters and others with their records of operation, is the scene of a major inquiry by the committee.

Halley took advantage of a committee recess for a flying visit. He said he would return today to Washington to resume questioning of Harry Russell, alleged kingpin of Miami's S and G syndicate.

Complaint of a Private Eye

Movies Make His Business Too Glamorous; Clients Expect Quick Results

CHICAGO (UP)—The nation's private eyes complained Wednesday that movie, radio and book versions of themselves are putting too much "glamor" into the business.

There were 70 leading private detectives gathered here for the first annual convention of the world secret service association. Convention Chairman W. C. Dannenberg, a veteran Chicago operative, summed up for his fellows.

"It's getting so," he complained, "that a client gives you a case in the morning and expects you to have it solved by noon."

Dannenberg said the convention may draw up some kind of code of behavior for fictional private eyes to be offered movie, radio, television and novel writers.

A little glamor is all right, he said, but the writers could at least "be a little reasonable."

"Never have I seen a creature like the private detectives of movies and books," Dannenberg said. The convention appeared to bear him out.

Delegates wandered about with their names neatly printed on badges like any other convention-gore. Not a "Secret Operative 29" in the lot.

No wild-eyed blonde wandered in to plead for help in thwarting an international gang of assassins, and there was no furtive character claiming to know the whereabouts of a long-lost Chinese idol.

The business is pretty much routine, Dannenberg indicated, and very seldom does the private eye solve the case while the cops fumble ineptly.

"It's our aim to make the private detective and the homicide squad leader mutually-helpful buddies," he said.

Guard Accepting Enlistments

Enlistments in Clearing company, 109th medical battalion, Iowa National guard, stationed at the Iowa City national guard armory, are still being accepted.

Maj. Stephen C. Ware, executive officer of the company Wednesday said clarification of enlistments in the national guard on the part of men who are eligible for the draft has been requested by a number of men in the county.

While no official word has been received through military channels, the news releases of the department of defense during the past ten days have been interpreted as allowing draft eligible men who enlist in the national guard before notification to defer entrance into active military duty until the guard unit with which they are enlisted is mobilized.

Enlistment in the guard does not remove an eligible man from being subject to the draft, Ware emphasized.

He is still subject to the draft, but if he is called and is a member of the national guard he will be deferred until the guard unit to which he belongs is mobilized.

The advantages to a draft eligible man in joining the guard were pointed out by Ware as follows:

1. He is able to pick his own military service and organization.

2. He goes into active duty, if he goes, with a group of men with whom he is already acquainted.

3. He gets drill pay and training on a once-a-week basis until his unit is mobilized and therefore is better prepared for active duty assignments.

Sgt. Bernard K. Murphy, Clearing company administrative assistant, will be on duty at the armory on Dubuque street every week night except Saturday, to talk to any men interested in learning more about the 109th medical battalion and the Iowa national guard.

"We anticipate that the present attitude toward allowing draft eligibles to enlist in the guard to continue only so long as vacancies exist in guard units," Ware said.

"We have a number of vacancies now, but we won't be holding any of them open."

Maeder Found Guilty in Interurban Wreck

MILWAUKEE (UP)—A Milwaukee coroner's jury Wednesday found former speedrail interurban rail line President Jay Maeder guilty of gross negligence in a train collision that killed 10 persons Sept. 2.

The six member jury recommended that Maeder, who resigned after the crash, be charged with fourth degree manslaughter. Maeder was running one of the two trains that collided near here. He told the jury that he was "not consciously guilty" of negligence.

The jury also found Edson Tennyson, vice-president of the line, guilty of ordinary negligence and recommended that the district attorney take "such action as he has authority to," in calling Dispatcher Quentin Valdez and asking him to stop unnecessary telephone calls added to the confusion that existed in the operation of the company Sept. 2.

The jurymen suggested that the line's signal system be overhauled. A signal on the block where the accident took place failed while the jury was at the scene earlier in the week.

Bosox Lose Two; Yanks, Tigers Win

Indians Cripple Boston's Title Chances, 6-3, 7-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's loose-as-a-oose Indians handed Boston's pennant chances a crippling blow Wednesday, hammering the Red Sox into defeat in both ends of a double-header, 6-3 and 7-1.

The double loss plummeted the stricken Sox into third place in the three-cornered American league race, two full games behind the pace-setting New York Yankees, and a game and a half behind Detroit.

The Yankees, victorious over the White Sox in Chicago, picked up a game and a half on Boston while the Tigers grabbed undisputed possession of second place by conquering the Philadelphia Athletics in Detroit.

The powerhouse Red Sox lineup, studded with .300 hitters, looked like hitless wonders as Right-handers Bob Lemon and Early Wynn throttled them with a dozen hits in the two one-sided contests. The redoubtable Ted Williams failed to land a safe blow in six official times at bat. He struck out three times, drew a pair of passes and hit only one ball out of the infield.

Williams' teammates fared little better as 18 Red Sox went down swinging with Lemon and Wynn accounting for nine apiece.

A home run by Walt Dropo in the seventh inning of the nightcap averted a shutout as the Red Sox dropped two consecutive games for the first time since Aug. 10.

A wild streak by Lemon helped Boston score all its first game runs in the sixth and seventh innings.

The defeats were the eighth and ninth suffered by Boston this year in Municipal Stadium, fast becoming known as "the Red Sox graveyard." In two years the Red Sox have won but four games here while losing 18.

(First game) Boston 000 002 100-3 7 0
Cleveland 031 020 100-0 9 0
Stobbs, McDermott (5), Farnell (7) and Rosar, Batts (7); Lemon (2-11) and Regan, LP-Stobbs (19-7). Home run-Easter.
(Second game) Boston 000 000 100-1 5 1
Cleveland 020 200 200-7 9 0
Hudson, Kinder (4), Masterson (8) and Tebbetts; Wynn (17-8) and Regan, LP-Dobson (15-9). Home runs-Dropo, Gordon.

Goliat, Konstanty Give Phils Win Over Cubs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jim Konstanty and Mike Goliat joined forces for a 9-6 conquest of the Chicago Cubs Wednesday moving the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies another step closer to the National league pennant.

Goliat supplied the batting punch with a pair of home runs. Of reliable Konstanty furnished the pitching skill that converted his 68th relief appearance of the season into his 16th victory.

Any combination of seven Phillies' victories or Boston Braves' defeats will give the Phils their first pennant since 1915.

Konstanty arrived on the scene in the sixth when the Cubs had Starter Russ Meyers on the ropes. The Phils had teed off on Warren Hacker for two runs in the first and second innings but Meyers couldn't hold the lead.

Chicago 010 022 001-0 12 2
Philadelphia 020 001 120-9 12 2
Hacker, Leonard (2), Lade (4), Schmitz (6), Roth (8) and Sawatski; Meyer, Konstanty (6) and Seminiak, WP-Konstanty (16-6), LP-Schmitz (10-15). Home runs-Parko, Goliat (2).

Rockie Whitey Ford Hurls Three Hitter For New York Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Whitey Ford, the Yankees' "golden boy" rookie southpaw, kept New York in the American league lead Wednesday with his eighth straight victory, a three-hit 8-1 romp over the Chicago White Sox.

Working with the poise and skill of a veteran, the blond 21-year-old kid, saved the Yanks for the second time within five days. This win, coming at the end of the last western trip, was almost as important as his sparkler at Detroit Saturday.

The chunky little fellow with the spark curve and sneaky fast ball, allowed the upset-minded Sox only three singles, his third three-hitter. Hank Majeski hit one on the second and Eddie Robinson banged the other two in the fourth and seventh.

This was the 11th start for Ford, who moved up from the Kansas City farm July 1, and the Yanks have won every one.

Ford lost his shutout through his own fault. He nicked Dave Philley with an inside pitch in the fourth. Philley rode to third on Robinson's line single to right and scored on Gus Zernial's fly that Cliff Mapes grabbed after a long run.

Unlike Tuesday night when they were hypnotized by Bob Cain, the Yanks tore into Ray Scarborough and Relieff Howie Judson for 11 hits, including a triple by Jerry Coleman and Cliff Mapes' 12th homer.

Thus the Yanks headed home, sure of first place, with two open dates before they begin a two-game series with Boston Saturday afternoon. They won five of nine in the west and eight of 14 since they left home.

New York 010 007 010-8 11 0
Chicago 000 100 010-1 12 2
Ford (8-0) and Berra; Scarborough, Judson (2), Wight (9) and Niarhos, LP-Scarborough (18-17). Home run-Mapes.

Dodgers Down Pittsburgh, 7-2

BROOKLYN (AP) — The Dodgers made it 10 in a row and 18 out of 21 from Pittsburgh by overwhelming the Pirates, 7-2, before 1,011 chilled fans here Wednesday.

Gil Hodges' second grand slam and 29th homer of the year in the first inning was more than enough for Carl Erskine to beat Bill MacDonald. However, the Dodgers added two more in the third when Duke Snider hit his eighth triple.

Both Pittsburgh runs resulted from Ralph Kiner's 46th homer in the first inning.

Pittsburgh 000 000 000-2 3 0
Brooklyn 002 001 008-7 2 0
MacDonald, Walsh (7) and Mueller; Erskine (3-5) and Edwards, LP-MacDonald (8-9). Home runs-Kiner, Hodges.

CLEVELAND'S LUKE EASTER is shown being congratulated after his two-run first inning home run Wednesday against the Boston Red Sox. Tribe Outfielder Bob Kennedy (33) shook Easter's hand. Al Rosen (7) is shown behind Kennedy. Cleveland whipped the Red Sox twice to dim Boston's hopes in the tight American league pennant race.

DOM DIMAGGIO WAS TAGGED OUT at second base by Cleveland's Joe Gordon Wednesday in the first game of a doubleheader between the Indians and Red Sox. DiMaggio had reached first on an infield single off the glove of third baseman Al Rosen. Umpire John W. Stevens called the play.

Cincinnati Defeats Giants Twice, 4-1, 2-0

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds took both ends of a doubleheader from the New York Giants, 4-1, and 2-0, Wednesday behind the excellent pitching of Ewell Blackwell and Ken Raffensberger.

Blackwell held the Giants to four hits in gaining his 16th victory in the opener. The lanky righthander also contributed a single to a three-run game winning rally in the ninth inning.

Raffensberger allowed six safeties in winning his 14th game in the nightcap. The Reds collected only three blows off Jim Hearn and Monte Kennedy.

Five Run Rally Gives Detroit Win Over A's

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers battled their way back into undisputed possession of second place in the American league race Wednesday by coming from behind to nip the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-5.

The Tigers thus remained half a game behind the pace-setting New York Yankees, but picked up a game and a half on the Boston Red Sox, who slipped into third place as they lost a double header to Cleveland.

Boyer, Cardinals Blank Braves, 1-0

BOSTON (AP) — Sore armed Cloyd Boyer limited the Boston Braves to four scattered singles Wednesday night while pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 1-0 shutout victory. The setback dropped the Braves into a second place tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers, seven and a half games behind the front running Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cardinals registered their big tally in the eighth. Marty Marion opened with a single, was sacrificed by Del Rice and romped in from second base after Peanuts Lowery singled sharply to deep center.

Senators Swamp St. Louis, 12-7

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Washington Senators swamped the St. Louis Browns Wednesday night, 12-7, sweeping a two-game series and cooling the club that's been bothering the league leaders.

The Senators had a ten-run lead until the fifth inning, when the Browns came up with all of their seven runs in a spurt highlighted by Les Moss' three-run homer.

Coin Flip Decides Playoff Schedule

CHICAGO (AP) — The American league settled all possible playoff combinations Wednesday with an unprecedented burst of coin tossing supervised by President Will Harridge.

The coin flipping determined:
If Boston ties with New York for the pennant, the playoff game will be at Boston.

If Boston ties with Detroit, the playoff game will be at Detroit.

If New York ties with Detroit, the playoff game will be at New York.

Promising Freshman Crop

When the freshman football squad of over 100 reports to Coach Wally Schwank today for the opening of drills, five first team all stars — four of them from Iowa — will be included in the group.

Bill Fenton, all-around athlete from Iowa City, Don Ginger, Shenandoah, Bob McCloskey, Loras of Dubuque and Art Landau of West Waterloo are the Hawkeye all-state selections last year.

The lone out of state star is Jack Parsons, 185-pound halfback from Wray, Colo.

In addition to these first team members, Iowa has attracted four second team choices. They include Forrest Houser, Griswold, John Tarr, Ft. Dodge, Bob Phillips, Franklin of Cedar Rapids and Vince Rago, Sioux City.

Several other high school stars have been lured to the University of Tennessee—apparently with promises that don't conform to the much discussed sanitary code.

Tennessee has come up in the football world in recent seasons and a lot of this success can be attributed to their ambitious recruiting program. Only a small percentage of last year's varsity squad at Tennessee lived in the state. This is in contrast to Big Ten schools.

We're not saying that the Western conference is faultless in regards to recruiting. But we do say that it operates much more within the framework of sanitary code rules than some other institutions like Tennessee.

In defense of their system, Tennessee officials claim that football players just naturally gravitate there because they like the football system. This may be but we doubt it.

Jeff Cravath, Southern California coach, said before the start of the season that he planned to use the T formation about 85 per cent of the time.

He also revealed that the double wing back formation would be used to give the Trojans "more running strength."

The Hawkeyes started preparing a defense against this double wing in practice Wednesday. Basic plays from the formation were the only ones thrown at the Iowa defenders in practice.

If Southern Cal is going to use this formation only occasionally, it's improbable that basic plays will be run. Instead, the Trojans will probably try some razzle-dazzle plays and might be successful in baffling their opponents—including Iowa.

Hal Wood, sports writer for the United Press, rated Southern Cal as the best balanced team in the Pacific Coast conference in pre-season ratings this year.

Wood preferred other teams in the offensive and defensive departments, but thought the Trojans had the strongest all-around club.

This prediction seems to coincide with most others regarding the Trojans. Some forecasters have rated them the sixth or seventh best team in the nation.

Radio listeners in the Iowa City area will have good reception of the Southern Cal-Iowa game broadcast the night of Sept. 29.

WSUI plans to carry the game report done by Bob Brooks of station KCRG in Cedar Rapids.

The game is scheduled to start at 10:30 p.m. Iowa time.

Iowa Ends Twice Daily Practice Schedule With Defensive Drill

The Iowa football team wound up its two-a-day practice schedule Wednesday afternoon with another lengthy drill against Southern California plays and some work on offense.

Starting today, with the resumption of classes, only one afternoon practice will be held daily.

As the dual workouts ended Wednesday, Coach Leonard Raffensperger said he was "satisfied with the physical condition of the players."

No Major Injuries "It appears that those early conditioning measures have brought results," he said. "I do know that we have had no major injuries yet—perhaps we are just lucky so far. The men have worked hard, aided by ideal weather most of the time," Raffensperger said.

In Wednesday's defense session, the Hawkeyes successfully stopped an offensive team running from a double wing back formation—one of the formations that may be used by Southern California.

The defense easily solved the basic plays run from this formation and looked good batting down or intercepting the occasional passes thrown. However, the team employing the double wing was unaccustomed to the formation and made mistakes which aided the defense.

While the defense looked capable Wednesday, the offense left something to be desired, especially in passing.

Iowa's air game hasn't looked too impressive in the last few practices and Wednesday's drill was no exception.

The inexperienced end candidates still have trouble freeing themselves from the defense and

Varsity Fall Baseball Practice Starts Today

Fall practice for varsity baseball candidates will open today, Coach Otto Vogel announced Wednesday.

Vogel said that players should draw equipment today and Friday and report to the practice diamond. Even if they haven't obtained equipment, Vogel requested the players to report to the field.

Each player should have a physical examination before reporting for practice, Vogel said. In the event of rain, today's meeting will be held in the fieldhouse.

Better Than Last Year "With the exception of passing—a phase of the game Raffensperger intends to accent—the offense shapes up as better than last year. Jerry Fakke, Don Commack and Bill Reichardt have all looked good in running this fall. The Hawks may be forced to concentrate on their ground game more than they did last season.

In the offensive drills Wednesday, Fred Ruck was at quarterback, Commack and Faske were at the halfbacks and Reichardt was at fullback. This could be the starting backfield although Glenn Drahn, last year's signal caller, and Fullback Mike Riley might be in the lineup when the Hawks open against Southern Cal Sept. 29.

Raffensperger has announced that a full scale scrimmage, played under game conditions, may not be held before the season's opener.
