Stassen Writes Stalin For Face-to-Face Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen announced Wednesday he has written Soviet Premier Stalin suggesting a face-to-face meeting in an effort "to stop the drift toward war."

The state department quickly disowned Stassen's move as having any official status. A spokesman said, however, that Stassen would undoubtedly be granted a passport if he asks one to carry out his proposed mission.

Stassen is now president of the University of Pennsylvania. A former governor of Minnesota, he was an aspirant to the 1948 Republican nomination in 1952.

Won't Seek Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen hinted broadly Wednesday that he would not seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

publican presidential nomination that went to Thomas E. Dewey.

President Truman has repeatedly said he would welcome Stalin in Washington, but has made it clear that he will not again go halfway across the world to meet the Soviet leader.

Stassen told newsmen that in broaching the idea of a conference with Stalin he was aware that the U.S. criminal code makes it an offense for a private American citizen to deal with a foreign power in an attempt to influence foreign policy.

Stassen told reporters his proposed mission is legal and that the second paragraph of his letter to Stalin makes it clear that he is not seeking to influence Russia's policies toward the United States.

Bobbie Cotter Band Joins 'Carnival' List

Bobbie Cotter, wife of former band leader Larry Barret, has been named one of the band leaders for the SUI Carnival of Bands.

This completes the list of bands that will play at the program in the Iowa Union Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m.

The Cotter group will be in the cafeteria, replacing Clayton Heyne, A3, Des Moines, who has been moved to the main lounge list.

James Liek, G, 513 Finkbine park, chairman of the musicians' union committee for the program, said the Carnival of Bands is one of Iowa City's big dance programs. It was covered last year by "Downbeat," national music magazine.

The program, offered free to SUI students, has attracted crowds ranging from 2,000 to 3,000 students since it began in 1947.

World Series Fans Pray for Peace

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The crowd stood in silence for 30 seconds and then sat in silence for two hours at Shibe park Wednesday.

Adding to the reasons for the lack of enthusiasm was the frigid, drab setting in which most of the game was played, with the hardy spectators hunched over in their seats, their hands up their sleeves for warmth.

The sun finally did manage to break through the low overcast about the seventh inning after tentative stabs at it, but by then it would have taken more than sunshine to bring cheer to the fans. A run or two would have

Former Student Kills Himself

A former SUI student, Ambrose Thomas Abbott, 21, Des Moines, Wednesday shot himself to death at the Wakonda Country club, Des Moines, only a few short minutes after rejecting his parents' pleas to return home with them.

Abbott last attended SUI during the spring semester of 1950. The youth had been missing from his home for 24 hours when his parents located him at the country club. They begged him to go home with them but he said he wanted to die.

Abbott jumped into his car and drove a short distance from the club parking lot. After stopping the car, he shot himself through the heart with a .22 caliber pistol.

Young Abbott was a central figure in a dramatic operating room scene only 21 months ago. His father, a noted brain surgeon, was called in to operate on the youth after he was gravely injured in an automobile accident.

The elder Abbott was credited with saving his son's life. However, Abbott had been in poor health since the delicate operation.

Another 'Vision' IC Women to See

Twenty Iowa City women plan to travel to Necedah, Wis., Saturday to be present when Mrs. Fred Van Hoof, Necedah farm woman, has said she expects a visitation from the Virgin Mary.

Mrs. Van Hoof has said she expects the Virgin to appear at noon, Saturday, the day of the Feast of the Most Holy Rosary.

Eighty Iowa Citizens, mostly women, were at the Van Hoof farm Aug. 15 when Mrs. Van Hoof said she saw the Virgin. Over 100,000 persons from all over the United States were at the farm.

Mrs. George A. Parizek, 1304 Davenport street, reported the group of Iowa City women will leave here in three cars at 2:30 a.m. Saturday and will arrive in Necedah about 9 a.m.

LIGHTS, CAMERA AND A BEAUTIFUL BLOWE were partially responsible for the stare on the face of Dwight Conklin, M1, Griswold. The main reason, however, was his speculation on: "What will it look like this year?" Conklin wasn't the only SUI student that was wondering Wednesday—5,100 others faced the camera before him.

Students Have 2 More Days To Pay Fees Without Fine

Only two more days remain for SUI students to pay their registration fees without fines for tardiness.

All students, including veterans and those with scholarships and appointments carrying tuition rebates, must call at the treasurer's office before the deadline, 5 p.m. Friday, to make this payment.

Office hours are from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. The fine for late payment, University Treasurer F. L. Hamburg said, is $2 for the first day, Saturday, and $1 for each additional day.

Students are having their identification card pictures taken in the hall below the treasurer's office after they have paid their fees. The cards may be picked up 24 hours later in the same hall.

Hamburg said 76 students will have to return and have their identification card picture retaken. He urged that they come to the same hall in which their original pictures were taken before the 5 p.m. Friday deadline.

They are: Marilyn Anderson, Carol Ashton, Bernard Bennett, Barbara Joyce Bloom, Jack Bornhoerl, Ralph Bremer, W. Lambert Brittain, Martha Biddle, Lorna Mae Buenecke, Jack Buerkle, Miran Chantooni, Harold Cohen.

Marjorie Goodrich, John Gower, John Grill, Marvin Grosz, Alice Hagedorn, Eugene Haler, Fred Harnes, Roger Harris, Carroll Haynes, James Heiny, Robert Hess, Marshall Heyman, Arthur Hinderman, Jack Holmquist, Alfred Hooper, Philip Hots, Richard Humke, Alice Husted, Jack Hutcheson, Billie Hutchings, Lloyd Jackson, David Jacobs, Ruth Janger, Coleman Jeffers, Curtis Johnson, Wilma Kazos.

Local Television Owners Complain About Interference

Iowa City television owners have complained of interference from KSUI, the SUI frequency modulation station, since it returned to the airwaves Monday.

Telecast pictures from WOC-TV, Davenport, are being received properly, but the sound that should accompany it comes from KSUI broadcasts.

Mark Sutton, local radio and television dealer, said Wednesday several families have reported this difficulty to him and that it was quite widespread throughout the city.

It began Monday, he said, when KSUI returned to the air for the first time since last May when a storm destroyed its antenna.

Prof. Carl Menzer, WSUI-KSUI station director, said the difficulty might be caused by any interference of frequency modulation waves strong enough to drown out the television signal from Davenport.

Iowa City is on the fringe of Davenport's coverage area. This means the television signal from Davenport is barely received by Iowa Citizens, he said.

Menzer said he believes television receiving outfits here are not properly "lined up." He said filters — which can be purchased at local radio repair stores — will distinguish the two frequency signals and separate them.

French Abandon Post in Indo-China

SAIGON, INDO-CHINA (AP) — The French opened a 200-mile wide gap in Indo-China's border defenses by announcing Wednesday that they were abandoning the major post of Cao bang to Communist-led guerrillas.

Cao bang, 130 miles northwest of Moncy on the coast of the Gulf of Tonkin, is the third frontier outpost facing Red China to be surrendered to Moscow-backed Ho Chi Minh's rebels in a little over two weeks.

Americans Mass At Parallel

UN Approves 38th Crossing

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — The United Nations political committee Wednesday approved, 47-5 (Soviet bloc), an eight-power plan for uniting and rebuilding Korea under a stronger UN commission.

The committee gave tacit approval for UN forces to cross the 38th parallel to put down North Korean aggression.

Without further talk, the committee voted down a Soviet bloc plan which had been tagged by Britain as a way for the UN to "wash its hands" of its responsibilities in Korea.

This completed action on Korea in the committee, and the issue now goes to the general assembly, where final approval is expected late this week.

The decision came amidst speculation on Communist China's plans if and when U.S. troops under Gen. Douglas MacArthur cross the 38th parallel into North Korea. South Korean troops have done so but no United States or other members of the UN forces have gone into the northern zones.

Await Decision . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur is awaiting the "early decision" of the Korean Communists to lay down their arms and surrender their prisoners, in response to his demand of Oct. 1.

Failure to get a satisfactory response will result in MacArthur moving swiftly and vigorously to enforce his terms.

General MacArthur said he considers that the UN victory over the Communists has been won. It remains for their high command to recognize this fact to avoid further bloodshed and destruction.

Contractors' Dispute May Stop Work On IC Parking Lot

A storage shed at the site of Iowa City's proposed parking lot at Gilbert and Washington streets may halt work completely on the project — unless someone decides to whom the building belongs.

The two contractors at work clearing the half-block area, which was formerly the Hawkeye Lumber company, were involved in a dispute Wednesday over who purchased the right to remove the shed.

One contractor, Joe Conway, contended that the building belongs to him since the city council awarded him the contract to remove a cement shed and office building on the property. The storage shed is attached to the office.

Ted Hall, the other contractor, claimed the building belongs to him. He was given the contract to remove the remaining buildings on the lot.

Both men have engaged lawyers to handle their claims; Hall, Atty. Jack C. White, and Conway, Atty. Edward F. Rate.

Committees Named By Young Progressives

Committees on civil rights, culture and peace were appointed at the first meeting of the SUI Young Progressives Wednesday night in the YMCA conference room of the Iowa Union.

Committee reports and recommendations will be submitted to the organization's members at their next meeting Monday. The entire body will then adopt a program.

Election of officers originally scheduled for Wednesday's meeting was postponed. It has been set tentatively for the Monday meeting.

Afghanistan Invades Pakistan

KARACHI, PAKISTAN (AP) — Pakistan announced Wednesday night that her northern borders had been invaded by Afghanistan and that fighting has taken place.

A defense ministry communique said a large lashkar (army) of Afghanistan tribesmen and regular troops crossed the border in the Dobandi area about 30 miles northeast of Chaman last Saturday.

The communique said that the invaders occupied Bogra pass.

SOUTH KOREAN FORCES continued their push into North Korea Wednesday, stabbing to a point 60 miles (A) north of the 38th parallel. They plunged toward Wonsan and broken arrows indicate their announced aim of going on to the Manchurian border. Meanwhile, Allied air forces awaited a weather break for further attack on a Red convoy sighted Tuesday at Pakchon (B) on the Antung-Pyongyang highway.

South Quad First to Enter Float in Homecoming Parade

South Quad was the first SUI organization to enter a float in the Homecoming parade Oct. 21.

Beta Theta Pi, social fraternity, was the second organization and first fraternity to apply for a float entry.

William C. Coder, chairman of the Homecoming parade committee, said 35 campus organizations and housing units have indicated they were interested in entering floats.

Trophies will be awarded to floats receiving the greatest number of points from five judges to be appointed by the committee.

Points will be awarded in five categories: beauty, originality, ingenuity, humor and relation to the parade theme, "Hawkeye Highlights."

Coder said separate awards will be given to the two classes of groups entering the float contest.

The two classes are:

1. Subsidized class — SUI organizations receiving aid from Iowa City merchants but building their own floats.
2. Non-subsidized class — SUI organizations financing and building their own floats.

Crash Injures Bride Critically

A 17-year-old bride, Mrs. Robert E. Keeler, Lone Tree, was critically injured at 7:10 p.m. Wednesday in a car-train crash 13 miles south of here on highway 22.

Mrs. Keeler was reported in "critical" condition, as a result of a brain concussion, shock and facial lacerations, by Mercy hospital officials late Wednesday night.

Her 16-year-old husband, who was driving, was reported in "good" condition with only bruises and minor injuries.

The car, a 1940 Chevrolet, was struck at a crossing by a Rock Island freight engine, traveling about 18 miles per hour. The auto was carried about 40 feet down the track, completely demolishing its front and right side.

Instructor Wins $500 in Damages

Milo W. Smith, instructor in the college of commerce, was awarded $500 damages Wednesday in Johnson county district court from Dale Aunsbach, A2, Newton, by a jury of nine women and three men.

The jury returned its sealed verdict at 1:30 p.m. after deliberating since 4:40 Tuesday afternoon.

Originally, Aunsbach had sued Smith for $225.38 damages to his car as the result of an accident on the Iowa avenue bridge last April. Smith had stopped his car on the bridge to pick up a friend. In the countersuit, Smith asked for $681.39.

SUI Instructor to Join Staff of Army School

Corwin D. Cornell of 905 Finkbine park, an instructor in the SUI speech department, will report Oct. 25 to the faculty and staff of the adjutant general's school, Fort Lee, Va.

Cornell, a first lieutenant, served 44 months in the army during World War II. He spent 18 months in the European theater of operations and served in the army of occupation. He received a field commission.

Cornell is married and is the father of one child. He would have received his Ph.D. in August.

Reds Move Reinforcements Into Capital

(From the Wire Services)

TOKYO (THURSDAY) — American troops massed for a drive into North Korea today as Red reinforcements rolled into the Communist capital of Pyongyang.

Another South Korean division swept up to the 38th parallel, and an American spokesman announced that the U. S. Third infantry division had arrived in the Far East command area.

This gave the United Nations 13 American and South Korean divisions—close to 200,000 men—for the drive into Communist Korea.

Reds Brace for Assault The North Koreans appeared to be making a desperate attempt to brace themselves for the assault expected within a few days.

United States and other forces will cross the 38th parallel into North Korea the minute that military strategy warrants, a spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said.

Commenting for the first time on the hitherto hush-hush subject, the headquarters source said there are no political barriers to such a thrust.

Controls South Koreans

A spokesman also made it plain that South Korean troops, now 60 miles inside North Korea on the east coast, were not acting independently. He said their push was not a mere isolated drive.

"General MacArthur has as much authority over the South Korean forces as he does over an American division," one source stated.

War at a Glance

Fighting fronts — South Koreans march virtually unopposed 60 miles deep into Communist Korea. Powerful UN forces of more than 100,000 await orders to cross 38th parallel.

Lake Success — UN general assembly's political committee approves Korean peace plan providing for unification of Korea and giving tacit approval to crossing of 38th parallel by UN forces.

Gaffney Rules Cars Not Necessary For Students

District Judge James P. Gaffney ruled Wednesday that cars were neither necessary to, nor required of SUI students and so denied Wilhelm Fuchs, former SUI student, $56 damages for loss of his car for 14 days.

However, Judge Gaffney did award Fuchs $92 in Johnson county court for repairs incurred in an accident with B.M. Brown, 426 Second avenue, in March, 1949.

Awarding only $5.50 for loss of use of the car, the judge pointed out that under state law a person can recover for such loss when the car is used for essential purposes.

The judge said: "Had evidence been shown the court that there is any rule existing at the University of Iowa requiring students who register to have an automobile to take them to and from classes, or

"Had evidence been introduced tending to indicate that said educational institution requires able-bodied students to use as a matter of necessity, an automobile in going to and from classes,

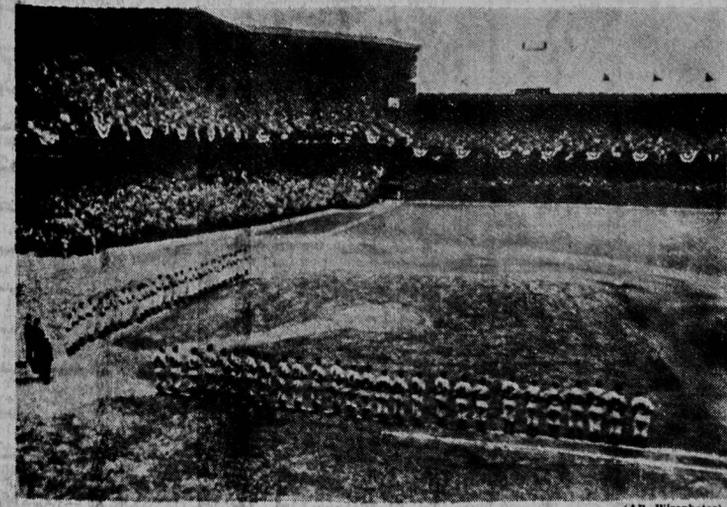

"Then the court, under the rules of law of this state, would be obliged to make a finding for the plaintiff in this respect.

"The claimed damages for loss of use of car, in this case to and from classes, is so ridiculous, so frivolous and so trivial that the claim, in the opinion of the court, is unworthy of serious consideration and is denied."

Freshmen students received letters from the university before the beginning of the semester, suggesting that they do not bring automobiles to the campus.

Relax! It's Healthy —

(Editor's Note: The following editorial was written by Alton Blakeslee, Associated Press Reporter.)
New York—For health and long life, relax and be cheerful.

Optimism and relaxation probably are good disease-preventers, says Dr. Henry A. Davidson, editor of the Journal of the Medical Society of New Jersey.

Fear, worry, anger and other destructive emotions can make you sick, he writes. So it's highly logical that constructive, healthy emotions will help keep you well.

For one thing, you will avoid the bad effects of harmful emotions.

A bad scare, for example, makes your hair stand on end and raises blood pressure and blood sugar in preparation for flight. But you can do something to use up the extra adrenalin and sugar, Dr. Davidson writes.

Fear and worry have similar but slower effects. But there may be no outlet for the extra energy. Over the years the emotions can lead to high blood pressure, diabetes, or other illnesses.

Prolonged frustration "probably is the most dangerous emotion, for it means a continuous damming back of rage reactions. The frustration may lead to vomiting, labored breathing, higher blood pressure, or even rupture of blood vessels in the brain.

A man suffering from hardening of the arteries may die of a brain stroke during the heat of anger, Dr. Davidson said.

Worry and anxiety are blamed as at least part of the cause of stomach ulcers. In the last war, a British physician found that more ulcer patients developed perforated or bleeding ulcers during bombing raids.

The voodoo curse, putting someone under a death sentence, may not be as silly as it sounds, Dr. Davidson adds. It may kill if the victim thinks it will. Hopeless fear and the belief that he is destined to die may paralyze vital body functions.

A Swing in Another Direction —

Nostalgic memories of good times in the park playing on swings, slides, and see saws, will soon be the only traces of such recreational devices for children, according to the designers of tomorrow's playground.

The "archaic" teeter totter, while good enough for Mother Goose's Margery Daw, is an "insult to the intelligence, physical ability, and potential sense of group participation" of modern children, the playground pioneers insist. The days of standing in line are gone, they say.

Park boards can no longer order slides, swings and see saws from a manufacturer and consider their duty done in providing for a children's play area.

Modern playground plans call for a master structure consisting of an assortment of ramps, elevated platforms, steps, culverts and firemen's poles, all proportioned and situated in a carefully determined manner. The desire of children to run up and down hills, climb trees, and crawl through tunnels must all be taken into account.

This juvenile superstructure is supposed to stimulate imaginative play and instill confidence. We products of the slide and swing era will be interested to see what kind of citizens evolve from such "revolutionary" play patterns.

Industrial Stocks Gain; Livestock Drops

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices spurted 1 to 3 points on the stock exchange Wednesday, moving industrial stocks to further new high ground since 1930, in the most active trading session in almost two months.

Other sections of the list also joined in the advance. The upswing moved the industrial average back to its best level since Sept. 18, 1930 and at the same time brought prices in the railroad group to within a shade of new highs since 1931. The general market average rose to its best level since the average was started 16 years ago.

The rise brought total cumulative gain so far this week to almost $2-billion in market valuations.

The market opened generally higher and moved progressively higher trading also picked up considerably on the rise with sales going well over the 2-million share mark. Dealing, however, slowed somewhat in the afternoon as investors turned their attention to the world series.

Most barrows and gilts testing good and choice sold at the discount for $18 to $19.75. Around one load topped at $20. Sows took $16 to $19. The estimated run of 9,000 hogs was down 1,000 from expectations.

Chicago (AP)—Clear, cool weather in the mid-west sent some shivers through the soybean market Wednesday and when trading ended beans had losses ranging up to nearly 5 cents.

In the face of the soybean drop, the rest of the market could get nowhere. Losses in the other cereals, however, were not very large. But the market never showed any rallying power.

Wheat ended 1 to 1 1/4 lower, corn 3/4 - 1/2 lower, oats unchanged to 1/2 lower, rye 1/2 - 3/4 lower, soybeans 3 3/4 - 4 3/4 lower and lard 23 cents lower to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Davis Tells Why He Wants Citizenship

By GARRY DAVIS

Written for United Press

NEW YORK (AP)—On Sept. 22, I wrote to the Honorable J. Howard McGrath, attorney general of the United States for reinstatement of my United States citizenship which I renounced in May of 1948.

I gave as my reasons for the renunciation my wish to dramatize the principle of world citizenship and one world. I gave as my reasons for wishing reinstatement of United States citizenship my wish to share as an American citizen in the defense of human rights which I consider the responsibility of every American.

At no time during my work in Europe was my loyalty to my homeland questioned. My homeland is part of the world territory. It is included in my belief.

Mistake Realized

Last April I returned home as an immigrant under the French quota. When the Korean incident started, not knowing exactly what course I should follow as a world citizen I left for Haiti for a period of reflection and to complete my book, "Credo."

There I realized that it was not America alone which was involved in the Korean matter but the United Nations itself with whose principles I am in complete accord. And so I saw that my "protest" as such was a mistake. It was with joy that on Sept. 15, I returned home.

It was thus that I felt I could rightfully ask for reinstatement of my former citizenship. For one thing I did not feel I had the right to enjoy the privileges of being a resident of the United States without assuming the burdens of citizenship.

I anticipated that many would regard my request denial of my belief in one world and world citizenship. Many would envision me crawling back to the fold, defeated and bitter. Neither are true. My beliefs have never been stronger. I feel neither defeated nor bitter. Quite the contrary.

No Abstract Ideals

To sum up: America is my homeland; I love it. I know it is not perfect. No one would concede it is. But I am no longer an abstract idealist and I wish to start at home in putting into practice my belief in world citizenship.

I ask for my United States citizenship with the full knowledge born of my experience in Europe of the burdens as well as the rights such a citizenship entails and that these burdens are essentially to keep the rights alive and forever extending so that all men may one day enjoy the freedoms which are a part of everyday America.

Meat Supply Endangered by Hog Cholera

WASHINGTON (AP)—The agriculture department warned Wednesday that the nation's meat supply is endangered by a new variant of cholera in the midwestern hog belt.

Unless farmers take proper steps to vaccinate pigs, the new variant or strain could easily get out of control, the department said in a statement.

The variant appeared in the midwest last year and again this summer and caused relatively heavy hog losses in some areas.

A year long study led the department to recommend two steps: (1) Vaccinate pigs before they are weaned. (2) Increase the amount of anti-hog cholera serum by roughly 50 percent.

Rep. Karl Stefan (R-Neb.) recently said he believed enemy sabotage was responsible for the new cholera outbreak. The department said it had no evidence to support this.

Dayton Factory Tests Airforce Equipment

By CHARLES W. WHITE

Central Press Correspondent

WRIGHT-PATTERSON AIR FORCE BASE, DAYTON, OHIO—Stretching for miles along a double lane highway east of up-and-coming Dayton, this huge, sprawling military factory probably is one of the most important places on earth today.

It's known in official language by the rather unimpressive title of "Air Materiel Command"—"AMC" in the army's alphabet talk. You don't hear much about it, except perhaps when there's an annual air show, or a high-ranking general issues a denial of having seen any flying saucers lately.

Most Dayton people (although some 18,000 civilians and 5,000 military personnel worked here in 1949) have very little idea of what Wright-Patterson is all about. They have a vague impression that the purpose of all these hangars, runways, laboratories, schools, office buildings and Buck Rogers paraphernalia is "to make things for the airforce." They know it's mostly off limits to the public, and that's about all.

What few of them realize is that Wright-Patterson base, here in the picturesquely wooded and hilly hinterland of Ohio, really is the nerve center for the whole armed air power of the United States.

Planes Tested

There isn't an American fighting ship in the air today that was not planned and tested at Wright-Patterson. Every nut and bolt on every gun mounting, every heating device, every radio instrument, even the insignia on a Boeing B-47 pilot's cap was worked out laboriously, tested and proved at this focus-point for the best brains and science of Uncle Sam's armed forces.

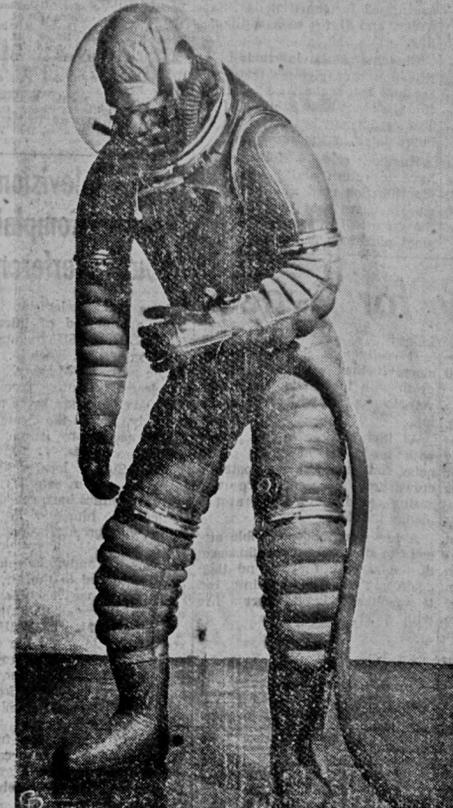

It's big and it's complex, presenting surprises at every turn—and yet "the base" is curiously like an ordinary factory, like National Cash Register in Dayton, maybe.

Out in front of the police headquarters and identification building, where every visitor must register, you see a typical chamber of commerce sign, "Be A Fair Share Giver To Your Community Chest!"

Literally thousands of automobiles are parked in the lots, and near one entrance is a huge frame building with a long sign on the roof, "Civilian Club." Workers in civvy clothes outnumber uniformed officers easily three to one nowadays, although things rapidly are getting more military, with stricter security control enforced since the Korea trouble.

Models Used

Nevertheless, for all its working-outside appearance, a tour of Wright-Patterson Airforce base (it would take you a week to see even half of it thoroughly) soon convinces the visitor that tremendously significant things are being done here.

THIS SUIT, complete with radio and oxygen lines, is an idea of what might be required for work in outer limits of atmosphere.

In just one area, along the paved highway nearest Dayton, hundreds of aircraft, looking like enormous grasshoppers, can be seen along the runways in various stages of completion or repair.

Or—being smashed up! This is done in one special hangar in the Area B grouping. They put lead weights on the wings of a multi-million-dollar ship, just to make sure the strain and stress specifications were figured correctly by engineers.

Or the ludicrously twisted looking vertical wind tunnel, for testing propellers, wings, etc., under exactly set-up air pressure conditions; or the propeller laboratory

Russian Chorus' Bookings Cancelled In Many U.S. Cities

By ROBERT CLAYTON

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP)—It just doesn't pay to be Russian anymore, members of the Don Cossack chorus lamented Wednesday.

The singing and dancing Cossacks are finding it hard to do much singing and dancing these days because the American public apparently doesn't want anything to do with anything Russian.

The chorus, which has been touring the United States for 20 years, has had engagements cancelled in 12 cities in the past few weeks because the concert halls received protests from persons and groups opposed to listening to anything Russian.

This chorus members said sadly, even though they were kicked out of Russia for fighting against the Communists in the Russian revolution and are now citizens of the United States.

The chorus members see nothing wrong with doing Russian type singing and dancing and point with pride to the fact that six members fought with U. S. troops in World War II and two won purple hearts.

But the man in the street in at least 12 U. S. cities sees plenty wrong with Russian singing and dancing, according to booking agents.

I. Oscar Miller, manager of the artist concert series in Chattanooga, Tenn., said in a letter to the Don Cossacks business manager he "certainly wouldn't want the responsibility of their safety here."

"It would be a serious mistake to present this group with conditions as they are," Miller wrote. "We would have absolutely no audience."

Mrs. A. F. Quisenberry, chairman of the El Paso, Tex., symphony ways and means committee, wrote a similar letter.

"When I put out the information that they (Cossacks) were coming here in November, I got disturbing reaction," Mrs. Quisenberry wrote. "These large groups of people have raised objections, and I have also been asked by a federal man if I was bringing them."

(Editors Note: The Don Cossack chorus is scheduled to give a concert on SUI campus Oct. 30.)

5 Field Clinics to Examine Crippled Children

Five diagnostic field clinics will be held during October and November for Iowa's crippled children, Dr. R.R. Rembolt, director of state services for crippled children, said Tuesday.

The mobile clinic under the direction of medical specialists will be in Marshalltown Oct. 10, Onawa Oct. 25, Council Bluffs, Oct. 26, Centerville Nov. 8, and Oskaloosa Nov. 9.

These field clinics, held in areas which do not have permanent clinics for crippled children, have examined more than 1,600 physically handicapped children at the 16 field clinics held in 1950. Purpose of the clinics is to give diagnostic services to children with physical handicaps and to bring improved medical care and treatment where specialized services cannot be provided locally.

The specialists also try to supervise care of children who have been examined previously and see that children receive therapy either in their own communities or at other centers.

No charge is made for services of the clinic. Children under 21 years of age are eligible and should be referred by a local physician, Dr. Rembolt said.

SUI Faculty to Attend Chicago Medical Meeting

SUI Professor Writes On Child Radio Habits

How do children listen to the radio? Prof. Paul Lyness of the SUI school of journalism attempted to answer that question in an article entitled, "Radio Habits of the Young Audience" which appeared in the Sept. 25 issue of "Broadcasting" magazine, a radio trade journal.

The article, based on Lyness' doctoral dissertation, summarized the radio phases of the listening, reading and viewing habits of 1,418 public school children in Des Moines. The children were aged 8 to 17.

WILL ADDRESS "Y" GROUP Prof. T. Z. Koo, school of religion, will be the principal speaker at the annual "Y" conference in Boone Friday, Saturday and Sunday. "What Does God Require of Us?" is the theme for the conference.

By CARL LUNDQUIST
PHILADELPHIA — Dr. Bob Brown of the New York Yankees, the only practicing physician in baseball, was strictly "bad medicine" to the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday as he delivered a dump double down the left field line that produced a 1-0 victory in the opening game of the world series at Shibe Park.

Brown went on to score the only run that Pitcher Vic Raschi needed to win the third straight 1-0 world series opening game in as many years before a smaller than expected throng of 30,746 fans.

Hurls Two-Hitter
 Raschi hurled a marvelous two-hitter for the prize world series pitching performance of his career. He blocked off the Phillies without a safe blow until Willie Jones singled in the fifth, and then he got his difficulties over in a hurry by yielding the second blow in the same frame.

Before and after that, the big pork-chops pitcher of the Yankee staff, who is at his peak when there is a large sack of groceries to take home, was absolutely un-touchable.

Only three Philly players managed to get on base. Eddie Waitkus, the first baseman, walked in the sixth and when he grounded out on a three-and-two pitch in the ninth, it was the only other time all day that Raschi had yielded more than two balls to a batter.

For the Phillies, it was a double gamble that became disastrous because Manager Eddie Sawyer not only used up Jim Konstanty as a starting pitcher, but he also rendered him ineffective for the next day so in his premiere role as a reliever.

Could Have Won
 Konstanty could have won with just a flurry of hitting support. He had only one bad inning — the fourth — when Brown, the newly-established medico from Tulane university, led off with a double down the left field line which third baseman Jones snatched at but couldn't grab.

Konstanty pitched carefully to right fielder Hank Bauer and got him out of the way with a deep fly to center fielder Richie Ashburn.

Brown, who had opened the inning with his hit, moved down to third and it still looked as if Konstanty might escape without being scored upon. But Jerry Coleman, usually the softest kind of a touch for a pitcher, whacked a fly ball to left fielder Dick Sider and Brown came down after the catch to score with ease.

That was it — the cheapest kind of a run that was obtainable — a hit and two fly balls. But the Yankees, who never fail to capitalize upon an opportunity, made the very best of it.

Thereafter with a lead to protect, big and powerful Raschi put only one more man on base. After walking Waitkus with one out in the sixth, he got Richie Ashburn on a fly and Dick Sider on a pop-up. Then it was three-up, three-down the rest of the way.

Third Straight Shutout
 Not only did Raschi pitch the third consecutive opening game shutout, but he emulated Bobby Feller of Cleveland and teammate Allie Reynolds of the Yankees in

DEL ENNIS BOUNCED off the padded wall in Shibe Park Wednesday in a vain effort to catch a foul fly hit by Yankee Johnny Mize. New York won the first game of the series, 1-0, behind the brilliant two hit pitching of Vic Raschi. The Yankees collected five hits off Starter Jim Konstanty and Russ Meyer.

World Series Notes

PHILADELPHIA — It was only a year ago that special policemen had to clear a path to make way for world series hero Tommy Henrich.

Wednesday, however, those special policemen required considerable convincing before they permitted the unrecognized Yankee outfielder to enter his own dressing room.

After New York's 1-0 victory over the Phillies, ineligible Henrich, dressed in civies and wearing a left-out look, tried to get in the door but police stopped him. "Who are you?" was the gruff inquiry.

"I'm a ball player," was the simple reply.

While Henrich was being regarded questioningly, another player came along and said yes, Tommy was a ball player. Tommy's teammate neglected to add that Henrich was quite a ball player at that.

Curt Simmons came home to the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday and writhed in despair as his teammates went down to heart breaking defeat.

Curt, on furlough from the army, put on his uniform with the familiar 28 on the back. He went out to the mound and tossed a few balls in batting practice. Then he ran about in the outfield with the other players.

Afterward, Simmons took a seat in the stands with his mother and father and watched the game.

A thief broke into the hotel room of Pitcher Vic Raschi, winner of the series opener and stole his wife's purse containing 20 series tickets, a wrist watch and jewelry valued at $1,000.

As editor, Plass will head a three-man editorial board including Dr. Stuart C. Cullen, professor and chairman of the division

Johnson is to represent the nation's speech and hearing handicapped in connection with the committee's purpose of "equality of opportunity in employment for our handicapped population."

The speech clinic director has also been invited to the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth to be held Dec. 3-7 in Washington, D.C. As a member of the committee on participation of national organizations he has prepared three reports for the conference. Two of them deal with the problem of the speech handicapped and the effect of speech correction on personality growth.

The third concerns the relationship of language processes to personality development.

Hydraulics Experts Confer Here at Ballistics Meeting

The eighth underwater ballistics conference at SUI, which closed Wednesday, attracted experts from naval and university laboratories throughout the nation.

Underwater ballistics deals with missiles and explosives such as torpedoes, mines and depth charges, and with the physical and engineering problems connected with them. The conference is the only one of its kind in the country.

The lectures and discussions of the conference were of a technical nature, and were understandable only to the experts delegated by hydraulic research divisions to attend the conference.

The originator of the conferences, Prof. Garrett Birkhoff of Harvard; K.S.M. Davidson of Stevens Institute of Technology, and Capt. W.H. Leahy, son of Adm. William Leahy, were among those who attended the meetings.

The Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research was host at the convention sponsored by the office of naval research.

New Zoology Lab Has Latest Equipment

A completely new micro-technique laboratory, furnished with the most recent equipment for study of human and animal tissue, is being used by SUI zoology and histology students.

Room 307 zoology building formerly used as a research room, has been converted into a microzoology laboratory for students enrolled in the micro-technique course offered by the zoology department.

Two new microtomes (cutting machines used for sectioning body tissue), 25 new microscopes, and a constant-temperature room are included in the laboratory.

Prof. Harold W. Beams, zoology department, and his assistant, Mrs. Marietta Isadorides, are teaching tissue-sectioning technique in the new laboratory. Approximately 35 students, most of them zoology graduates, are enrolled in the course.

The course consists of methods used in mounting tissue on microscope slides for study of its structure. Tissue is dehydrated, imbedded in paraffin, sliced into thin sections (1/2,500 inch), and stained with chemicals.

The tissue is stained to bring out its structure more clearly under the microscope. It is then mounted on a glass slide with a plastic slip cover to preserve its original form.

Students may study cell development using these microscope slides. Most experimental tissue is taken from frogs and white rats.

Most boys think 'Dad' is a pretty fine fellow... and like to follow in his footsteps. That's just one reason why many boys become newspaperboys.

The practical experience gained through handling their own money, having a regular job to do, meeting and dealing with customers is valuable training for any boy. A newspaper route gives the average boy an opportunity to gain confidence in himself, creates a self respect at an impressionable age when character is being formed.
