Lons Free on $25,000 Bail; Charged with Slaying Waiter

Leaves Jail As Services For Victim End

By CHUCK LEEDHAM
 James Lons, 52, Princess cafe owner charged with the fatal stabbing Thursday morning of Princess waiter Andrew Davellis, was released Friday afternoon from Johnson county jail on a surety bond of $25,000.

Lons walked from the jail door at 3:50 p.m., while the last mourners left Davellis' funeral services, held in a funeral home across the street, in full view of the jail.

Immediately after his release, Lons said he felt "fine" and would go back to work at the Princess. He was not seen in the cafe Friday and his present whereabouts was not known.

Lons Leaves Jail When ...

LEAVING THE JOHNSON COUNTY JAIL AFTER HIS $25,000 bond was posted in surety by 12 Iowa Citizens, James Lons, 52, (front) was accompanied by a Greek Orthodox priest and two unidentified friends. At right behind the priest was Sheriff Albert Murphy. Standing in the doorway was Mrs. George Oxley, at the jail to visit her husband, George Oxley, serving a term for disorderly conduct.

ed that "there was nothing between Mrs. Lons and my husband."

Friends Aided Lons
 Police said Lons learned early Thursday morning that his wife had picked Davellis up in Lons' car, and he called his friends to help him follow them.

After a chase through city streets, Lons and his companions forced Davellis to the curb on South Summit street, according to the report. Davellis jumped from the car and ran into the home of Dan C. Dutcher, Iowa City attorney, police said.

Jumped on Waiter
 When officers Herman Parrott and Patrick McCarney arrived to escort Davellis from the house, the four men jumped on Davellis, Dutcher said Thursday.

Davellis died a few minutes later in the police station of a stab wound in the heart. Police said they were unaware he had been injured.

Fair Weather Today Promised Grid Fans By Weatherman

Iowa City's weatherman tiptoed his way past the Friday-the-13th jinx as local skies were fair and temperatures soared to 74 degrees. He promised more of the same today with a high of 78 degrees.

In Des Moines the mercury equaled an all-time mark as it reached a torrid 83 degrees.

Los Angeles residents swapped their topcoats for bathing suits and headed for the city's beaches when hot blasts from the Mohave desert drove thermometers to 104 degrees.

Safely over the Black Friday hex, Iowa forecasters predicted the balmy days may continue through Sunday with increasing cloudiness and rain on Monday.

Cooler temperatures were forecast for Tuesday.

Laughton Tickets Go in Hour Rush

All tickets for the Charles Laughton lecture were gone one hour and 15 minutes after distribution started at 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Prof. Earl I. Harper, chairman of the committee on university lectures, said tickets were given out "as fast as we could punch I.D. cards."

At one time the line of students waiting for tickets stretched along the entire length of the Iowa Union main lounge.

Faculty and student tickets were taken from the same general supply and both desks ran out at the same time.

U.S. Population Estimate Increased to 151 Million

WASHINGTON — The census bureau estimated Friday that the population of the United States on Sept. 1 was 151,895,000, compared with an estimated 150,778,000 on April 1.

The bureau had announced a "preliminary" 1950 census figure of 150,500,000. The month-to-month estimates are based on 1940 census figures and vital statistics supplied by various federal agencies. Data on births and deaths are incomplete.

Community Chest Drive Reaches 64 Percent

Hawkeyes, Badgers Meet Today In First Home Game Of Season

Dean Predicts Hawk Victory

L. Dale Faunce, new SUI dean of students, told about 2,000 persons at the pep rally Friday night he had a hunch the Hawkeyes would win this afternoon.

Glenn Drahn, Hawkeye co-captain, also had an intuition of victory and expressed the team's gratitude for the spirit shown by the students.

The cheerleaders and SUI band led the crowd in yells and "On Iowa" as the rally progressed.

Herb Schoener, former Hawkeye end and now assistant freshman football coach, said the coaching staff and players are impressed with the enthusiasm of students and Iowa Citizens and hope it will keep its present pace.

Passes Seen As Main Threat To Iowa Win

By ROBERT DUNCAN
 Daily Iowan Sports Editor

The Iowa Hawkeyes celebrate their golden anniversary of Big Ten football this afternoon when they meet favored Wisconsin at the Iowa stadium in the first home game of the season.

A crowd which is expected to surpass 45,000 will be on hand to see the renewal of a football rivalry dating back to 1894. Since that first game, 27 games have been played with Wisconsin leading in the series, 18-9.

Favorable football weather is forecast for today's game which will probably develop into a battle between Iowa's proven running attack and Wisconsin's passing game.

Announce Judging Plan For Homecoming Floats

The judging procedure for the second annual SUI Homecoming parade was announced Friday by Dr. William Coder, chairman of the parade committee.

Judges will make preliminary examinations of the floats immediately after the floats have reported to their proper places next Friday night, Coder said. The actual judging of the floats will take place when the floats pass the reviewing stand.

Eight bands and possibly 50 floats will take part in the parade. Thirty applications were in by 7 p.m. Friday and the number is expected to approach last year's total of 49.

Four high school bands will participate in the parade, including one from East High, Waterloo; McKinley, Cedar Rapids; Tipton and West Branch.

Two drum and bugle corps will take part in the parade, one from the VFW in Cedar Rapids and one from the Moose in Iowa City.

The SUI band and the Scottish Highlanders will complete the list.

The positions of the floats will be determined by a drawing at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the veterans service. All organizations represented in the parade are welcome to attend, Coder said.

Five float entries are included in the subsidized class with more entries expected today, he said.

In addition to SUI organizations entering floats in the parade, Lone Tree, a town about 15 miles southeast of Iowa City, has entered a float.

SUI organizations have asked farmers to loan or rent flat bed trailers and hay racks for the parade. Anyone willing to provide such equipment is asked to contact Robert Gage, secretary of the Iowa City chamber of commerce.

Duty Up on Eggs From Red China

WASHINGTON — The state department disclosed Friday that President Truman has signed a proclamation which will have the effect of raising the duty on dried eggs imported from Communist China by 10 cents a dozen.

The proclamation, ending tariff concessions formerly extended to Nationalist China and which later benefited Red China, is effective starting Dec. 11.

The action was revealed amidst a furor over arrival of 1.5-million pounds of Communist eggs.

The President's action consisted of cancelling tariff concessions negotiated with Nationalist China in 1947. The state department said this was done because Chiang Kai-Shek's government withdrew from the Geneva general trade agreement three years ago.

The present duty on powdered eggs is 17 cents a pound. When the tariff changes take effect, the new duty will be 27 cents a pound.

Installation Buying Tightens on Cars, TV

WASHINGTON — The government Friday night tightened installment credit curbs for the second time since the Korean war in a new anti-inflation move which will make it harder to buy automobiles, television sets and similar items.

The restrictions, effective Monday, reduce the payment period for automobiles for 21 months to 15 months but leave the down payment unchanged at one-third of the purchase price.

Down payments on TV sets, radios and other home appliances were increased from 15 to 25 percent period cut from 18 to 15 months.

For furniture, the down payment will be 15 percent instead of 10. The time payment period will cut from 18 to 15 months.

The federal reserve board, which announced the action, said down payments will be required in the future on all purchases of $50 or more. The previous limit was $100.

Meanwhile ...

WASHINGTON — Agriculture department planners candidly admitted Friday that the lowly egg has them stumped.

They said farmers are continuing to produce record-smashing egg surpluses and have failed to reduce their laying flocks although the government support price has been slashed drastically.

This has forced the government to shell out $80-million so far this year to keep midwest egg prices from falling through the bottom.

21 SUI Graduates Sworn Into Bar

Sixty-five persons, including 21 SUI graduates, were sworn into the Iowa bar Friday at SUI's college of law after passing their bar examinations.

The oath was administered by Iowa Supreme Court Judge Norman R. Hays. Bar Association President T. M. Ingersoll, Cedar Rapids, welcomed the new lawyers into the association and offered them a one-year free membership.

Guy Gillette to Stay in Iowa Until Elections

CHEROKEE (AP) — Sen. Guy Gillette (D-Iowa), back from a 10-day trip to Mexico, said Friday he expects to remain in Iowa until after election day.

The senator said he planned to speak at least once in each congressional district, and to make several radio talks.

UN Forces Trap 12,000 Red Troops

Three Important Bridges Taken

TOKYO (SATURDAY) — United Nations forces ripped new holes in crumbling Communist defenses in Korea today, streaking ahead 40 miles in the east and trapping an estimated 12,000 Red troops on the road to Pyongyang in the west.

Powerful naval forces still roamed off both coasts of Korea, blasting the Reds with massive air and sea bombardments which may presage new amphibious landings behind the cracking Communist lines.

An announcement on the air-sea assaults said 73 military targets on both coasts were hit Friday by warships ranging at will up and down the Communist coastline almost to the borders of Manchuria.

In the forefront of the naval assault was the American battleship Missouri, which turned its 16-inch guns on Tancheon, 150 miles north of the 38th parallel, after wrecking Chongjin Thursday.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur left Tokyo this morning in his special plane for a mid-Pacific rendezvous with President Truman, but there was no letup in the fury of the allied assault.

Drive South, West
 Two powerful forces of United Nations troops were striking for the enemy capital of Pyongyang, one driving from the south and the other driving west from captured Wonsan.

The southern force threw a trap around 12,000 Red troops in the Kumehon area 70 miles south-east of Pyongyang and the trap was being squeezed shut Saturday by the U. S. 1st cavalry division, British and Australian troops and the South Korean 1st division.

One regiment of cavalymen closed the northern gate of the encirclement Thursday striking across country and capturing Hanpo-Ri, five miles north of Kumehon on the main road to Pyongyang.

Truman Flying To Wake Island

HONOLULU (AP) — Bound for an historic meeting with General MacArthur on Wake Island, President Truman said today "The people behind the iron curtain are as anxious as we are to have world peace and to avoid another war."

The President, speaking at a luncheon in Honolulu en route to Wake, said: We have to get the truth to them, and we are going to get it to them.

"I am not one of those people who think another war is inevitable."

MacArthur Leaves

TOKYO (SATURDAY) (AP) — General MacArthur took off for Wake Island today for his conference with President Truman.

An air officer said MacArthur's flight would take seven to eight hours. Wake is 1,985 air miles from Tokyo.

There was no indication or hint of the agenda of the Truman conference.

Aides said they expected it would cover the full range of matters pertaining to American foreign policy in the Far East as well as the next course of action by the United Nations in Korea.

... Judge Approves $25,000 Bond

APPROVING THE $25,000 SURETY BOND posted for James Lons, Princess cafe owner accused of the murder of Andrew Davellis, Judge C. J. Hutchinson prepared to sign a release order for Lons Friday afternoon. Frank Messer (right), Lons' attorney, delivered the bond Friday after Lons had spent one night in Johnson county jail.

Spirit and Determination

The former Iowa player and successful coach at East Waterloo high school has expressed satisfaction with the spirit and determination shown by the squad in practice this week.

"We're going to need a lot of spirit and determination for today's game if we hope to beat Wisconsin," Raffensperger said. Iowa's spirit was reflected Friday by a sign in the dressing room which read, "Remember last year — Wisconsin 35, Iowa 9."

Wisconsin, winner of its first two games including an upset 7-6 victory over favored Illinois last week, will start a team liberally sprinkled with sophomores. In all, six second-year men will probably get the call from Coach Ivy Williamson who is in his second year at the Wisconsin school.

Side by Side

Four of the sophomores will be side by side in the middle of the Badger line. The Wisconsin halfbacks, Roy Burks and Bill Hutchinson also are only one year removed from one of the best freshman teams in Badger history.

In contrast, Iowa's starting team, which will be the same as started the previous two games, won't have a sophomore.

One Sues, Other Wins Judgment

A co-defendant in a $38,927 damage suit, John L. Bailey, West Branch, was awarded $925 Friday in his countersuit by Johnson county jury and the suit against him was dismissed.

The damage suit against Bailey and Thomas Rourke, Oxford, was brought by Mrs. Edith Klenk, 701 N. Benton street, as the result of an accident on highway 6 in March, 1949.

According to testimony, Rourke slowed down to turn into his driveway which is four miles west of Tiffin. Mrs. Klenk, following him in her car, was unable to stop, bumped into Rourke's car and swerved into a lane where she collided with Bailey's auto.

Mrs. Klenk asked $3,927 for doctor bills and $35,000 for present and future disability. The countersuit filed by Bailey against Mrs. Klenk asked for $1,125 for damages and injury and $1,000 for mental anguish.

Wanted: Fairer Distribution —

At 7:30 Friday morning, a long line had formed in the Iowa Union to pick up tickets for the Charles Laughton appearance here Tuesday night.

At 8:45 a.m. the 1,800 tickets were gone.

From one point of view, this is fair. And we're sure the committee on university lectures has only fairness in mind when members plan their methods of distribution. But we believe there is still a fairer way of distributing the tickets.

Students who happen to have classes at 7:30 have little chance of getting tickets. When the event is as popular as Laughton's visit here promises to be, those having classes throughout the morning have no chance.

Perhaps if the tickets were divided into four equal groups and distributed at different times we would attain a much fairer system of offering them to the students.

For example, the tickets might be made available on the following schedule: At 7:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday — or on any two consecutive days of the week.

This plan should be about as fair as any of the students could ask. If a three-day-a-week class prevented a person from being on hand one day, the chances are the same person would be able to be in one of the lines on the following day.

The time involved in distribution should be little, if any, more, since only one-fourth of the tickets on hand would be given out at any one of the scheduled times.

The plan appears to be worth a try, anyway.

The Easy Way —

Someone once said that "Some men are born great, some men achieve greatness, and others have greatness thrust upon them."

Since that time, however, due to the highly competitive aspects of greatness, we have substituted dubious attainments which we consider akin to the original, inviolate meaning of the word.

Thus, through our gullibility and vanity, we have made room for countless numbers of mediocre performers.

Various devices have been used by aspirants to become famous, notorious, or infamous—each one leading to a classification as a celebrity.

Some people write books, some paint pictures, some kill men, and others go to Hollywood.

Once in a while, however, someone jolts up with the use of so simple and basic a device that before we are aware of it, that individual has reached his, or her, own destination.

Gertrude (Gussie) Moran is in this category.

What could be more basic than a pair of pants?

Electronics Shares Lose; Hog Prices Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Electronics shares took a thumping Friday in the stock market in the midst of a confused controversy over color television.

Losses in that division ran to as much as $2 a share, and the only two minus signs in the list of 10 most active issues stemmed from the color-TV argument.

The remainder of the market was highly mixed with a few individual issues standing out on the upside because of corporate developments.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 20 cents at $83.90 with the industrial component off 30 cents, rails unchanged and utilities up 10 cents.

Despite the fact that prices on average ended lower, more individual stocks edged over to the plus side of the list than those that ended lower. Of the 1,191 individual issues traded, 519 were higher and 384 lower. There were 82 highs for the year established during the day and only two new lows.

The volume of trading was 2,030,000 shares as compared with 2,190,000 shares Wednesday. It was noted that business contracted markedly as prices retreated.

Cattle Steady ...

CHICAGO (AP) — Hogs Friday closed out a week's market which gained steam as it progressed. Prices advanced overnight 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds. Cattle held out earlier slight gains with a steady to strong trade and sheep were steady to weak.

Most good and choice butcher weight hogs sold with a narrow range of $19.25 to $20.50. These prices were for weights from 170 to 280 pounds, as other weights were too scarce for a market test. Around one load topped at $20.60. Sows took $17.75 to $19.75 for the most part. Clearance was good on a 5,000-head supply which turned out to be about 1,000 fewer than anticipated.

A load of choice to prime steers reached $33.75 and a load of choice was $32. A short load of high-growth and choice heifers went at $30.75. Otherwise offerings were medium to good at $25 to $30.50 on steers and $24 to $30 on heifers. Bulls topped at $26.25 and vealers at $33.

Most native lambs sold from $27 to $28.50, the top for the day. Medium and good ewes took $13 to $14.

Rail Bonds Gain ...

NEW YORK (AP) — Demand for railroad bonds seeped into the corporate market Friday for the first time in a week.

The resulting price gains were small—mostly confined to minor fractions—but were numerous enough to push the Associated Press average of 20 rails .1 of a point higher at 97.2 plus signs held a small edge over minuses. Trading volume of $3,690,000, par value, compared with $3,950,000 Wednesday.

Soybeans Down ...

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling by each houses sent soybeans down as much as 3 cents on the board of trade Friday. Beans were alone in showing a weak trend.

Wheat dragged along without much price change but corn and oats had a firm tone at the finish. Rye and lard also advanced. Trading was fairly active in soybeans and corn, but remained quite dull in wheat.

Wheat closed 3/4 lower to 1/4 higher, corn 3/4 higher, oats unchanged to 3/4 higher, rye 1/4-3/4 higher, soybeans 1 1/2 to 3 cents lower and lard unchanged to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The case house selling in beans was believed to represent hedging. Favorable weather for harvesting and marketing the new crop prevailed over the mid-west. And that was expected to be the situation throughout the week-end.

Weekly Price Index Drops Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's wholesale price index dropped three-tenths of one percent last week because of a skid in food and farm prices.

The average price of all non-food items, including textiles, fuel and electricity, rose to a new postwar high.

PRICES STABLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm prices will show little gain for the remainder of the year, the bureau of agricultural economics predicted.

TO THE EDITOR:

What's to be done when a possible 9,100 students want to hear a lecture which is to be given in an auditorium with only 1,500 capacity?

Tickets for the Charles Laughton lecture next Tuesday evening were available at 7:30 a.m. Friday, and by the time I managed to get down to the Union at 11:30 a.m. there were two signs in the lobby saying that tickets were gone, and a third on the desk thanking people for "not asking" about Laughton tickets.

The Union board has seen fit to issue 1,800 tickets to the lecture — really crowding people in — but there must be at least another 5,000 students and faculty members literally left out in the cold with no possible hope of getting in. In addition, there must be a good many town people who had hoped to be able to purchase tickets "if there were any left" after student and faculty requests were filled.

Can't something be done about this? Would it be at all possible for WSUI to broadcast the lecture? WSUI does not broadcast "paid admittance" programs, but in this case all tickets are on I.D. cards and faculty listing — laid out of tuition fees. What about the rest of us who have paid tuition and yet have no tickets?

Surely Mr. Laughton would be kind enough to give permission to have the lecture broadcast. We would like to see him as well as hear him, but if only the hearing is possible, that will be better than nothing.

If there are enough requests for a broadcast, maybe there will be one. And if the lecture is broadcast, there will be many grateful students and town people. How about giving us a chance to hear the lecture?

Chinese Railroad Transports Supplies to Indo-Chinese Reds

By JOHN RODERICK

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

LONDON — A routine news broadcast from Peiping recently told the world that the Chinese end of the Kunming to Hanoi railroad now is being repaired.

Just another step in the Communist program to rehabilitate China, Peiping explained. But for the west, this is one of the most important bits of information to come out of Red China this year.

It means that the Reds in south China are being linked more closely to the Communist-sponsored revolutionaries of Ho Chi Minh in Indo-China.

How important this is was made plain by a story from Saigon the other day. It told how well-equipped, well-trained Ho Chi Minh soldiers had annihilated several battalions of hardened French troops — foreign legionnaires and crack Moroccan units.

Arms Received
Where did the arms come from? It's anybody's guess, but logic points to the iron rails of the railway, heading straight to Kunming.

The Kunming to Hanoi railway was an engineering achievement of its day. It wound south from Kunming, capital of Yunnan province, down steep river valleys, through a hundred tunnels and across spidery bridges to Hanoi, thence on to Haiphong, its outlet to the sea.

During the Sino-Japan war it was blasted by Japanese bombers because the French were pouring supplies into China over it. Then, after France capitulated in World War II, and later, when the Japanese took over Indo-China outright, the Chinese destroyed sections of their handiwork to prevent its use as an invasion road.

About 100 miles of the old roadbed now are used for trucking, according to the best available information.

The Kunming terminus is as vital to the Communists, both of China and Indo-China, as it was in wartime to the allies. As the terminus of the Burma road and the Himalayan "hump" airlift, the picturesque city became a huge dumping ground for millions of dollars worth of war materiel.

Supplies Taken
At the Kunming airfield and in bulging warehouses in the city, tons of guns, plane parts, bullets, uniforms and vehicles piled up. When the war ended, the United States contributed these mountains of military supplies to Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists.

But the gift was a white elephant. Chiang's forces were able to use only a fraction of the masses of equipment, part of the multi-million dollar China aid program. The reason? Kunming, in China's far southwest, is almost cut off from the rest of China except by air.

So the materiel, except for sizable inroads made by profiteers and pilferers, remained in the warehouses. When Yunnan fell to the Communists, the prize included millions of dollars of American war supplies.

Renewed activity along the rail route means that the fortunes of a wispy mustached intellectual in Indo-China named Ho Chi Minh are rising.

And because of this, Indo-China may one day present the west with a crisis as grave as Korea's.

Iowa Citizens Favor Crossing 38th Parallel

By TROY ANDERSON

A majority of Iowa Citizens interviewed this week agreed with the United Nations' decision to send American forces across the 38th parallel to combat the North Korean Communists on their own ground.

SUI Janitor C. E. Wilson summed up the majority of sentiments.

"I think the GIs should go into North Korea and get the job done," Wilson declared.

Voice Opinion
Students and students' wives, barbers and housewives, shoe repairmen and bartenders in Iowa City all voiced this opinion during The Daily Iowan's poll asking: "What do you think of the GI's crossing the 38th parallel?"

Harlan Dirks, Grundy Center, an X-ray technician at the University hospitals, elaborated upon Wilson's statement by adding, "I think it's fine as long as they don't cross the Manchurian border."

Forest Barnes, A2, Ames, agreed. "It is about time we did something," he said. "We should have done it before."

Mrs. Glen Stimmel, wife of an Iowa City fireman, warned that American forces "may run into more trouble than expected" by crossing the parallel. But she was certain the UN is doing the right thing.

Out of UN Hands
Some felt the decision to cross the 38th parallel and continue into North Korea was not a matter for the UN to handle.

Mrs. Gladys McCann, 15 E. Bloomington street, was typical of this group.

"I think the boys over there should make the decision," she said, "as to whether we should go all the way in Korea."

One veteran, however, was not thinking in terms of the present but in terms of the future. Controlling and occupying defeated North Korea was the main problem in the mind of Charles Collins, G, Williamsburg.

Collins, a veteran of three years in the army, said he believed the UN "will have to unify the country under one control" to make an eventual peace in the Orient work.

Another veteran, Richard Morshon, D2, Iowa City, said "you oppose an aggressor in an all-out way — not half way."

Vet Backs Crossing
Boyd Huggins, Iowa City barber and a veteran of 28 months in the Pacific, believed crossing the parallel was a "good thing because there was no reason to stop now."

"However, some of those interviewed were not in complete accord with the idea that the UN can stop now. Although not critical of the U.S. entering the Korean war, Wesley Blomster, A4, Witonka, S.D., warned of complications the struggle might bring about.

"I fear that although it may prove beneficial to the immediate situation," Blomster said, "it may only increase antagonism already aroused by our part in the Korean situation."

Earl Black, Iowa City shoe repairman, said, "Let's get the thing over with."

Wives of SUI students, many of whom fear their husbands may have to re-enter the service, favored crossing the 38th parallel.

Linguistic Studies Show — Iowa Settlers Said 'I-o-way'

Do you live in the state of "I-o-way," like a third of the state's population does?
Or are you a newer addition who lives in "I-o-wuh?"
According to Mrs. Rachel Harris Kilpatrick, SUI German department, linguistics can trace folk speech and determine the origins of the state's settlers.
The chances are if you live in "I-o-way," you're from the older portion of the state. You may, however, interchange "I-o-wuh" with "I-o-way" freely.
If you're strictly an "I-o-wuh" resident, then you're probably not descended from an Iowa pioneer. Most likely you're from the west, far northwest corner of the state.
Your forefathers came from the Carolinas, Tidewater Virginia or New England if you call a frying pan a "spider."
And if you say "pulley-bone" or "wishbone," sure enough your family's from the region southeast of the Ohio river.
But speak as you will. Call it "I-o-way," "I-o-wuh," or even "I-o-wee," like a few of the people here, says Mrs. Kilpatrick.
Iowa on the whole, as studied in a compilation of the forthcoming Linguistic Atlas of the Upper Midwest, seems to be fitting into a mid-west pattern of speech found east of the Mississippi.

Early Touchdowns Net Hawklets Win Over Clinton; Davis Hurt Long Runs Help City High To Defeat River Kings, 28-7

By BILL MILLER

Iowa City's Little Hawks opened up with a devastating ground attack in the first half Friday night to defeat the Clinton River Kings, 28-7, before 5,500 homecoming fans.

All the scoring was done in the first 18 minutes of play as Duane Davis bewildered the River Kings with three brilliant long runs from which they never completely recovered.

However, the victory may have been expensive to the Hawklets, for Davis had to be removed from the game with a twisted ankle just one play before the final touchdown of the game.

City High outrushed Clinton 204 yards to 63 in the first half, but with Davis on the sidelines, the Hawklets' attack bogged down, even though Jerry White capably took over the brunt of the ball-carrying.

Iowa City scored its first touchdown on the sixth play of the game. Moore returned the kickoff 14 yards to his own 36.

After thrusts by Ed Morgan, Mike Korns, Davis and White, Davis took a hand off from Morgan on his own 32, and although hit four different times, he somehow managed to keep his feet and went on to score.

Jerry White's conversion was good and the Hawklets led, 7-0, with nine minutes, 39 seconds to go in the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter, Davis took a Clinton punt on his own 45, started up the center, cut to the sidelines and brought the ball back to the Clinton nine for a 46 yard return.

Jerry White carried to the seven, Korns to the one, and White went over for the score. White's conversion was again good and the Hawklets led, 14-0.

Midway in the second quarter Clinton recovered an Iowa City fumble on the Hawklets 40, and through the clever running and passing of Quarterback Chris Panonius scored their only touchdown.

Panonius went back to pass, couldn't find a receiver, so he eluded several would-be tacklers and took the ball over from the Iowa City 12. Bob Hansen's kick was good and Iowa City led, 14-7. Thirty seconds later, on the second play after the kickoff, Davis cut through the right side of the Clinton line on a quick opening play, dashed past the line-backers and sped 63 yards with three punters trailing in his wake. White made his third conversion and the Hawklets led, 21-7.

Midway in the second quarter the Hawklets took over a six-yard Clinton punt on their own 41 and started to move again. On the first play, Davis carried half the Clinton team for a five yard gain to the Clinton 36 but somewhere in the pile-up his ankle was twisted and he had to be taken from the game.

With Davis gone, Jerry White faded to his 47 and dropped a long pass into the hands of Mickey Moore on the six, and he took it over standing up. White made it four in a row and the scoring ended, 28-7.

Iowa City substitutes played the rest of the game and might have scored twice more had it not been for the mistakes made by the eager, tense reserves.

Newest wrinkle in the City High line-up was the punting of big Jim Freeman who took over the job when Mickey Moore was thumped from the game. Freeman averaged 53.4 yards on four boots.

Three League Battles Scheduled for Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — The still young Big Ten football race today gets down to cases with a three-game conference card.

Co-Champion Ohio State, a strong pre-season favorite, invades Bloomington, Ind., to open league play against Indiana, the 1949 tail-enders which already has upset Iowa.

Wisconsin whose rain-splattered 7-6 win over Illinois told little about the Badgers engages pass-worried Iowa at Iowa City.

The third loop fracas sends twice-beaten Minnesota against undefeated Northwestern in the conference debut for both at Evanston, Ill.

Occupied in non-loop activity will be Michigan vs. Army at New York and Purdue at home against Miami of Florida, while Illinois sparred with UCLA at Los Angeles Friday night.

Ohio State is a two-touchdown favorite over Indiana. But the upsurging Hoosiers plan to unveil offensively their heralded sophomore back, Gene Gedman.

If Gedman, rated as one of the best backs at Indiana in the past decade, can give Hoosier sophomore passing star, Lou D'Achille, some help, Ohio State may need the best Vic Janowicz can do. And that's plenty.

Iowa, befuddled last week by D'Achille's sharp shooting, runs into more of the same against Wisconsin's Bob Petruska. However, the Badgers may have trouble halting the running of Hawkeyes Jerry Faske and Bill Reichardt. Wisconsin is rated a one-touchdown favorite.

Northwestern which opened impressively by beating Iowa State and Navy gets a tougher assignment against Minnesota that meets the eye. The Gophers have stumbled before Washington and Nebraska, but their season actually may have begun last week when, trailing 26-0, they started to roll and finished behind Nebraska only 32-26.

Purdue, surprise conqueror of Notre Dame last week, and co-champion Michigan start their conference campaigns a week from today against Iowa and Wisconsin, respectively. After Texas and Notre Dame, Miami's hurricane originally figured to be a "breather" for Purdue. But the Boilermakers now have become a choice target as "the team that beat the Irish." It may take another fine performance by Quarterback Dale Sam-

U-High Passes

By JERRY COPELAND

U-High, using a lightning air attack, moved into the Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference lead Friday afternoon by beating Mt. Vernon, 18-6, on the SUI varsity practice football field.

The win moved previously undefeated Mt. Vernon off the top, and left the Bluehaws the only undefeated club in the conference and a favorite for the conference title.

Mt. Vernon scored on the fourth play of the game when Bill Kamerling intercepted Bluehawk Tom Kent's pass on the U-High 22 yard line, and went over.

Then the lightning struck. Bob Ewalt, after the kickoff and three running plays, cut off tackle on a spinner and outraced the visitors' secondary on a 70-yard touchdown jaunt.

In the second quarter, the Blue's stalled a Mt. Vernon attack on their 22 yard line and in three plays they scored.

Bob Ewalt chucked a pass to Mel Ritter, who was hauled down on the Mt. Vernon 16. Then Quarterback Tom Kent passed to End Ceag Perrin for the score.

Mt. Vernon moved deep into U-High soon after but a rock-ribbed U-high line held one drive on the U-High one-foot line and another on the one-yard line as the half ended.

After the U-High line stalled another drive on their six-yard line in the last period, Tackle Mayard Hebl recovered a Mt. Vernon fumble on the visitors' 39-yard line.

After two line plays the Blues found themselves back to the Mt. Vernon 46, when Bob Cantrell chucked to Perrin for 44 yards and Ewalt bucked over for the score.

The Mt. Vernon ground attack moved freely in mid-field, but the

Hawkeye, Badger Harriers Run Today

Iowa's cross-country team opens its season this morning at 10:30 a.m. meeting Wisconsin, the defending Big Ten champion.

The run will be held over Iowa's three mile course with four Hawkeye vets and a promising sophomore around to meet the Badger harriers. Wisconsin already owns a 26-30 win over Marquette this fall.

Veterans Jack Davis, Billy Bye, Bill Snook and Earle Duggan will lead the Iowa team. Newcomers to the squad are Virgil Von Ashen, an outstanding distance man from Williamsburg, and Jerry Stone and Stan James.

They even voted a one-fifth share to their spring problem boy, outfielder Dick Wakefield, who appeared in only three games as a pinchhitter before being sent to Oakland of the Pacific Coast league.

U-High line stiffened and pulled the Blues out of trouble four times. With the line holding up, the Blues' air defense that has limited the opposition to two completions in the last 27 tries, thwarted all aerial attempts.

ball's two longest major unbeaten streaks may go the way of Notre Dame before Saturday's biggest crowds at Yankee stadium and the Cotton bowl in Dallas.

Football Predictions

By ROBERT DUNCAN

Daily Iowan Sports Editor

With a very pointed omission of our prediction score last week, we look forward to today's games with hope but not too much confidence.

The sports editor was low man on the totem pole last week — soundly beaten by Society Editor Ann Russell and City Editor Barbara Bloxom, in addition to Rey Hertel and Dick Jackman.

It's had enough to be beaten in your own column by outsiders but when girls display more knowledge about football results than you, that's when it hurts.

Anyway, we're game so here's how we see today's top attractions.

Iowa over Wisconsin — The Hawks, although one to two touchdowns underdogs, get our vote because of and not in spite of last week's loss to Indiana. Iowa is due to bounce back and we think the high riding Badgers will be the victims of this rebound. If the Hawks can stop Wisconsin's passing attack, their ground game should carry them to their first Big Ten win.

Minnesota over Northwestern — The Gophers have lost two in a row and are dangerous this week. A "Goodbye Bernie" campaign, started by Minnesota students, should have the desired effect of firing up the Gophers.

Ohio State over Indiana — The Hoosiers had a good day against Iowa last Saturday but won't be a match for the Buckeyes this week.

Michigan over Army — Army, currently the nation's No. 1 team, will have its hands full with Chuck Ortman and company. The Wolverines are upset minded especially after their loss to state rival Michigan State in the season's opener.

Texas over Oklahoma — We're playing along with the favorite on this one which could go either way. Oklahoma has the longest consecutive winning streak in the nation now that Notre Dame's reign of terror has ended. At any rate, it should be a great game.

Purdue over Miami — The Boilermakers, despite an inevitable letdown after beating Notre Dame, should whip Miami. However, if the letdown is acute, the southerners could win.

California over Southern California — These two rivals usually have a vicious game and previous results can't be applied with much accuracy. However, we feel the Golden Bears have a little too much for the Trojans.

Other selections: Notre Dame over Tulane, Iowa State over Kansas, Drake over Iowa Teachers, Southern Methodist over Oklahoma A & M, Michigan State over William and Mary, Navy over Princeton, Duke over North Carolina State, Stanford over Santa Clara, North Carolina over Wake Forest.

Release Jorges As CR Manager

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — Bill Jorges, playing manager of the Cedar Rapids Indians of the Three-I league Friday was given an outright release from the club.

General Manager Jim Meaghan announced the release. Meaghan said: "Since no minor league transactions are allowed in the way of player assignments and releases from Oct. 16 until after the annual meeting in St. Petersburg, Fla. in early December, we are giving Bill Jorges his outright release at this time in order that he may be free to contact other ball clubs and better his position during such period."

His job with the Indians was Jorges' first minor league management. The team placed sixth in the league. Jorges at one time was one of the top infielders in the national league.

Yankee Players Draw $5,737 Each

NEW YORK (AP) — The spirit with which the New York Yankees win pennants and world championships manifested itself again Friday in the generosity they displayed in cutting up their world series winning jack into full shares of $5,737.96 each.

Veterans' Hospital Work Passes Halfway Mark on Schedule

City's new $10-million hospital is 57 percent completed, G. L. Miller, resident engineer, said Friday. The phases of the construction schedule, Miller said, and the hospital should be ready by May, 1951, unless a change of materials delays the work.

The brickwork has already been completed on the main building, a total of 1,270,000 face bricks in the construction.

The 10-story high building consists of ten stories, a three-story penthouse above the 10th and three below the ground.

In addition to the main structure are small, two-story operational and maintenance buildings.

A separate apartment building is being erected on the hospital grounds for housing staff.

A NEW LANDMARK FOR FANS pouring into Iowa City for the football game today will be the new $10-million veterans' hospital. Construction workers are putting the finishing touches on the brickwork of the structure, which has sprouted up on a location north of University hospitals since last autumn's games. The building is ten stories high with a three-story penthouse above for storage space. Shown at the left is the operational and maintenance wing containing a garage, chapel and apartments for staff members. Work began on the building in Sept., 1949, and is expected to be completed next May.

 2. Steamfitters have reached the ninth and tenth floors.
 3. Plumbing has progressed to the seventh floor.
 4. Terrazzo floor work is just beginning.
 5. Workers are doing lath work in the housing quarters above the garage and in the apartment building.
 6. Steel door frames have been completed up to the seventh floor, and the painters are staining and filling the doors in the paint shop.
 7. Four passenger elevators and one service elevator are 50 percent complete.
- Miller said he expected the plasterers to start working in the next two or three weeks.

Korea a Contest Between U.S., Russia, Australian Claims

Australians believe that Korea is a contest between the United States and the Soviet Union, and not a trial of strength for the United Nations, Prof. Fred Alexander said Friday night.

Alexander, head of the history department at the University of Western Australia, spoke at the Graduate College lecture in Old Capitol. He was 1940, graduation speaker at SUI.

"Korea is a contest between the world's major imperialist powers to most Australians," Alexander said.

Alexander said that since the obvious weakening of the United Kingdom, both before and after World War II, Australia has leaned more heavily toward the U.S.

More Australian graduate students are studying in the U.S., studying history, American thoughts, and getting an appreciation of American life, Alexander said.

Australia hopes to obtain a closer working agreement with the U.S. in the Pacific, Alexander said. "American interest in the Southwest Pacific is pleasing to Australia," he said.

Australia was formerly an isolationist nation, Alexander pointed out. "But major world power threats to our borders have caused us to change our policy," Alexander said.

'Firm' U.S. May Avert Red War: Van Dyke

Right policies on the part of the U.S. may avert World War III and make a durable adjustment with the Soviet Union possible, Prof. Vernon Van Dyke, political science department, said.

He defined "right policies" to mean being firm with Russia, having strength to back them up, and yet not be provocative in our dealings with the Reds.

Speaking before the Cornell college International Relations club Thursday night, Van Dyke said, "Wherever Stalin has been confronted with firm resistance, as in Iran, Greece, Turkey, Berlin, and apparently now in Korea, he has given in."

Since World War II, Soviet foreign policy has reflected flexibility in purpose and method. While Stalin has obviously wanted world revolution and world mastery, he has not been willing to sacrifice other objectives in order to get it.
