Symington Calls for Tax Hike, Offer Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic adviser W. Stuart Symington called for higher taxes, curbs on credit, and longer working hours in America to that he described as "truly a fight for survival."
Symington said he believes it is possible to avoid general wage controls in the immediate future "if we could get over the psychology of scare buying," he declared.
He is now getting organized to get price and wage action as he sees it.
A federal official spoke out against "cuts and sacrifices" in the nation's boomtime standard of living even as protests mounted against a new series of government restrictions on installment sales.
New regulations, effective next month, call for higher down payments on many household appliances and a shorter pay-off time on new and used automobiles.
Business spokesmen for business groups are now getting organized to fight the federal reserve's latest action — tightening credit — put into effect last Sept. 1949. It is too hasty and "a terribleness" to business.

Not Excess Profit, But Undistributed Income

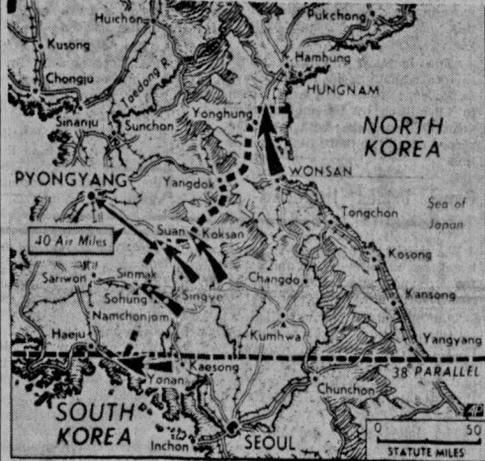

IT'S A JOB FOR AN HONEST MAN to return the $21,000 sent to Frank J. Haylick, business manager of the SUI athletic department. The money was received for tickets for the Iowa - Notre Dame football game Nov. 18, but the tickets have been sold out since August.

Within 30 Miles Of Capital

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (AP) — United Nations forces punched through crumbling North Korean lines Tuesday to less than 30 air miles of the Communist capital of Pyongyang at the closest point. A general breakthrough appeared in the making.
U.S. Eighth army headquarters reported spectacular gains on all fronts against negligible Red resistance.
Aerial observers said — without confirmation — they saw U.S. 24th division troops 10 miles south of Sariwon, important road junction only 35 miles south of the Red capital.
The U.S. First cavalry division was last reported about 10 miles east of Sariwon on the primary highway to Pyongyang.
On the east coast, the South Korean Capital division punched within three miles of the big Communist industrial center of Hamhung, one of the last remaining strongholds of the North Koreans.
The South Korean First division was closest to Pyongyang. An Eighth army spokesman reported these troops drove to within 30 air miles of the Communist capital.

ARROWS LOCATE MAIN ALLIED columns driving toward the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. South Koreans at Sunan were the closest, 30 air miles, with the Americans at Sohung almost as close. On the east coast, South Korean units north of Wonsan were pushing out above Yonghung toward the chemical center at Hungnam.

War at a Glance

Korean front — More than 60,000 UN forces advance against crumbling Red opposition. South Koreans only 30 air miles from Pyongyang.
Lake Success — UN economic and social council defeats Russian move to give North Korean Reds commanding voice in rebuilding Korea. Russia is offered place on seven-nation fact-finding commission on rehabilitating Korea, but delegate seeks Moscow view on acceptance.

Staying Out Of Politics: Ike Says He Is Too Old to Run For President

Stassen Hints Wake Trip 'Political' Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said Monday night the American people are entitled to know from President Truman whether his 14,000-mile flight to confer with Gen. Douglas MacArthur means he has decided to accept MacArthur's advice on far Pacific problems.
If not, Stassen said, then the public would be justified in regarding it as "a sinful political escapade" designed to bolster Democratic candidates in the Nov. 7 elections.
Stassen called on Mr. Truman to answer tonight when the president makes a foreign policy address at San Francisco (10:30 p.m., Iowa time).
Stassen urged the President to appoint MacArthur as supreme commander of American military forces in all the Asiatic-Pacific area.

Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me.), chairman of the GOP senatorial campaign committee, told newsmen that Stassen's speech was a Republican "answer in advance" to Mr. Truman's speech today.
Brewster said Stassen was chosen by the Republican national committee to make the speech for the purpose of raising questions about problems the Republicans don't want Mr. Truman to overlook.

Truman Back ...

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Truman returned to the mainland Monday for a major foreign policy speech designed to put new force behind the American drive to force Russia to get in step for peace. The chief executive's plane arrived from Honolulu at 6:49 p.m. (Iowa time).
Mr. Truman makes his first report to the country at 10:30 p.m. today since his spectacular flight to barren Wake island for a dramatic face-to-face meeting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

New Hours Adopted By 15 Local Stores

Fifteen Iowa City stores, members of the Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers association, announced Monday they will be open only from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. six days a week beginning Oct. 30. Adoption of the new store hours came in connection with the "uniform personnel plan" presented to store employees last Wednesday, guaranteeing a 45-hour work week.
To assure compliance with the new personnel plan and store hours, the managers said they have signed a forfeit bond of $500 for each store.
Association officials Monday announced their employees' minimum pay schedules for a full work week of 51 hours under the new plan, as follows:
Head meatcutter, $78.30; meatcutter, $75.00; apprentice meatcutter, $54; full-fledged grocery clerk, $64.80, and full-fledged checker, $54.

Those Dern Pests

Someone walking past the Whiteway super market Monday night noticed smoke inside the building — and called the fire department.
But store manager Ira Glassman told the firemen and the crowd gathered outside the store it was all smoke and no fire.
The "smoke," Glassman explained, was an insecticide he was using to rid the store of flies.

Homecoming Parade Lineup Announced

Positions for organizations taking part in the Homecoming parade starting at 7:15 p.m. Friday were announced Monday by William D. Coder, parade committee chairman.
The parade lineup was determined by drawing numbers Monday morning.
Eight bands, 40 floats and several marching organizations will be featured in the parade, which last year attracted more than 10,000 spectators, Coder said.
SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, Mayor Preston Koser, Paul Brechler, SUI athletic director, and Roy Ewers, president of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, will lead the parade.
The parade will start at the Linn street and Iowa avenue intersection and then move west on Iowa avenue to Dubuque street, south on Dubuque street to College street, west on College to Clinton street and north on Clinton past Currier hall.
The lineup as set by Monday's drawings is:
Scottish Highlanders, SUI color guard, Pershing rifles, Phi Epsilon Pi float, Sigma Delta Chi, Theta Sigma Phi, The Daily Iowan and WSUI float, Phi Gamma Delta float, West Branch high school, The Dolphin queen and attendants, Westlawn float, Phi Kappa Phi float, Alpha Kappa Psi float sponsored by the Iowa Supply company, Delta Tau Delta float, McKinley high school band of Cedar Rapids, Chi Omega, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega and Phi Beta Phi float, Sigma Alpha Epsilon float.

Homecoming Dance Tickets Half Gone

About half of the tickets available for the Homecoming dance next Saturday were sold Monday, first day of ticket sales.
Connie Jewett, A3, Des Moines, dance committee chairman, said tickets will be on sale for $3.60 a couple at the Union desk during the week and before the dance if they hold out.
Dan Terry's band will be featured on the program in the main lounge of the Iowa Union from 8 to 12 p.m. The Dolphin queen and attendants will be presented at the intermission.

Lecture Series Starts Tonight

Only those persons with tickets will be admitted to Charles Laughton's lecture at 8 p.m. tonight at the Iowa Union. Prof. Earl Harper, chairman of the committee on SUI lectures, said persons who come to the Union hoping for standing room will be disappointed.
Doors will open at 7:15 p.m. for the first lecture in SUI's annual series.
Harper said efforts to broadcast the lecture fell through Monday when a telegram from Laughton's agent arrived. The telegram said Laughton's contract with major networks prohibited any type of broadcast of the performance.
All tickets for the Laughton lecture were given out in an hour and 15 minutes Friday morning.
The Daily Iowan suggested editorially that fairer distribution of tickets might be obtained if the tickets were divided into four equal groups and offered two times a day for two days.
Harper said he would present the suggestion to the committee on SUI lectures for consideration, adding, "We are open to any ideas for fairer distribution."
The university lecture series is paid for directly from SUI funds and not from student tuition fees.

Local Police Hunt Man Suspected Of Stealing Car

Police early today were looking for an unidentified man who fled from a stolen car after a wild chase by officers who fired six shots at him.
Pursued by officers Patrick McCorney, who fired six times, Don Purvis and Herman Parrott, the man ducked across back yards and disappeared in the dark. The officers intercepted him in the act of stealing a car belonging to Bill Savage, 328 S. Governor street, police said.
McCarney fired twice in the air, twice at the fleeing man's feet and then twice directly at him. The man cried out after the last shots and McCarney said he believes he may have hit him at least once.
The officers described the suspect as 5 feet, 7 to 9 inches tall, slender, wearing a gray windbreaker jacket, and having a "butch" haircut.
McCarney and Purvis reported that they chased the car after the driver ignored their orders to stop when they approached to warn him that he was driving without lights.
The car sped south on Clinton street to Burlington, and turned into the A&P alley, where the driver saw that he was blocked by another car.
The driver leaped from the car and fled, with police firing as they ran after him.
Police are holding the car for examination of fingerprints found on the left front window and the steering wheel.

Mercury Soars To Record 90

The weatherman said it was the warmest Oct. 16 on record and the second hottest day of the year so far.
The high reading for the year is 93 degrees on June 25.

Says He Is Too Old to Run For President

(From the Wire Services)
NEW YORK — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower thanked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for suggesting him as a 1952 presidential candidate, but indicated that he hasn't changed his mind about staying out of politics.
The general, who repeatedly has expressed determination not to run for public office, said his convictions about how he can best serve "the cause of freedom" have not changed.
Campus Interview
Eisenhower told the editor of the Columbia university campus newspaper in an interview that he didn't know why "people are always nagging me to run for president."
The interview, granted last week on the second anniversary of Eisenhower's inauguration as Columbia university president, was released Monday night.
"I think I've gotten too old," he said, "I have no desire to go anywhere else if I can help do what I want here at Columbia. This is the place for me."
"Throw Them Out"
Eisenhower said he knew of no one "in modern times who has made himself clearer" in declining political offers. When people try to convince him he could achieve more as president of the United States, he said, "I just throw them out of the office."
However, two New York newspapers quoted sources close to Eisenhower as saying the general would submit to a draft for the GOP nomination. The sources were not identified.
Eisenhower's statement came after Dewey, titular head of the Republican party, said he favored the wartime Allied supreme commander as the GOP's presidential nominee two years hence.

Court Sets Aside Negro Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supreme court opened up a wide inference Monday that cities and states may have to open such publicly-owned enterprises as golf courses to Negroes without limitations.
The high tribunal did not say Negroes must be given such rights. But it did set aside a ruling of Florida state courts barring a Negro from unrestricted use of the Miami Springs country club golf course in Miami.
The outcome of the Florida case could affect admission of Negroes to other publicly-owned facilities such as swimming pools, outdoor theatres, ball parks and playgrounds.

Appointment cards are now being mailed out to liberal arts seniors for their appointments starting Wednesday. Anyone who does not receive a card is asked to contact the Hawkeye office.
Price of the picture is $2.

With Battered Books He Tries to Prove It — 'Shakespeare Is Music' for Charles Laughton

By WAYNE DANIELSON
"Shakespeare is music," Charles Laughton once said.
He has been trying to prove it to thousands of people ever since through his public appearances.
Reading Shakespeare before a group of English teachers recently, Laughton was confronted by one instructor who insisted that the actor had edited the "Bard's" text. Laughton showed the man the dollar copy of Shakespeare which he uses, then inquired, "Why the question?"
"I've been reading this stuff all my life," answered the young teacher. "This is the first time I understood it."
Another time, while making an appearance at a veteran's hospital, Laughton received what he calls the greatest compliment of his career. One member of his audience was an old lady, a nurse hospitalized since World War I and suffering from loss of memory and deafness.
She watched closely as Laughton read from "Julius Caesar." Afterwards, Laughton bent over to shake her hand as she was being taken from the room.

He heard her whisper, "I don't know who you are. I don't know what you are reading. But you make the most wonderful faces I have ever seen."
Laughton says he loves reading aloud to people. Last year he gave his one man show to audiences in 60 cities. This year he plans to top that record.
Asked why he tackled such a chore, Laughton said, "Hollywood to be sure, is a lot more comfortable than one-night stands. But, after all, where else but in a show like mine does an actor get the chance every actor longs for — to play all the parts?"
Laughton started his career of reading aloud by practicing on his classmates at England's famous Stoneyhurst college. He is now 50 years old and still at it.
Of course, some people insist that Laughton has already committed to memory the selections he reads. They say he uses his battered books only as "props."
Once Laughton was actually caught reading a long passage from Dickens with the book held upside down. He refused to comment on this.
Laughton's program at SUI probably will include interpretations of Shakespeare, Thomas Wolfe, James Thurber and the Bible.

How About 'Hello Weekend' —

Saturday is Homecoming day at SUI and we should do everything we can to make it a day of real pleasure for all our visitors. We would like to suggest that a mass display of friendliness appear on the campus that day—not just friendliness of one student to another, but also from all students to all visitors. When the visitors start home after their weekend here, they should remark to each other, or to their friends and families later, that a real warmth pervades our campus. Various organizations of student, administration and faculty memberships have made plans for the social events which will take place. There will be an opportunity for visitors of all temperaments to find entertainment. The parade which will be held Friday night shows promise of being even bigger and better than last year's. But there is one very simple thing all of us can do to make Homecoming live up to its name. Starting Friday night at the parade and continuing throughout the weekend, we could conduct a campaign of hospitality. A simple "hello" from students to every person who looks like a visitor could work wonders. To many, the idea probably sounds pretty corny. But if we should receive the same treatment as visitors on some other campus, how many of us are so cold that we wouldn't enjoy it? It's worth a try. The more "at home" all the visitors feel, the bigger our Homecomings will be. Let's make this coming weekend "hello weekend" at SUI.

Fulfillment, Not Renunciation —

(Reprint from the St. Louis Star-Times)
Garry Davis, self-described "world citizen No. 1," is an unstable young man, who has, one must suspect, a strong dose of exhibitionism mixed in his milk of human kindness. Two and a half years ago he renounced his American citizenship, he said, to dramatize world citizenship. He founded a movement for world government, then withdrew in order to stand in dramatic aloneness. He came back to the United States and got married, again dramatically. Then he fled from the U.S. once more, protesting what he called American "intervention in Korea." Now he wants his American citizenship back again, and he wants it in a hurry. It is certainly true, as Davis says, that it is possible to be a citizen of the world without being disloyal to the United States. It is also true, and this is something that Davis did not see until recently, that it is possible to be a citizen of the United States and a citizen of the world at the same time. In fact, the best way to be a responsible citizen of the world is to fulfill the ideals of American citizenship. A person who is a good member of his family does not renounce his personality; instead, he fulfills it. A person who is a good citizen of the United States fulfills his state citizenship. This is something that many young Americans who did just as much as Davis did in World War II, who hate war and yearn for world order just as much as Davis does, have always instinctively taken for granted. If there is any reason to deny Davis citizenship it cannot be found in the fact that he made a mistake. Everybody makes mistakes. Nor can it be found in the fact that he disagrees with the wisdom of America's policy in Korea. That is his privilege. He is not accused of being disloyal. He can, however, be accused of not understanding fully the meaning of American citizenship. It is not something to cast away and resume according to mood. Millions of non-Americans have won their citizenship the hard way. Millions of non-Americans would give their right arms for American citizenship. Nobody asked Davis to give up his citizenship. He will have no valid complaint if he finds he must now wait several years like everybody else.

Radio-Television Shares Raise Stock Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp demand for radio-television shares saved the day in the stock market Monday and pulled prices out of a slump. However, despite gains of more than $2 a share in the radio-TV group, the market as a whole ended slightly lower. Losses were mostly under $1 among leaders at the close after running considerably more at the bottom of the day's dip. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks slipped 10 cents to $83.50 with the industrial component off 20 cents, rails 10 cents and utilities unchanged. Sales came to 1,630,000 shares, the lowest in about a month. The curb market was mixed with trading at 380,000 shares as compared with Friday's 430,000.

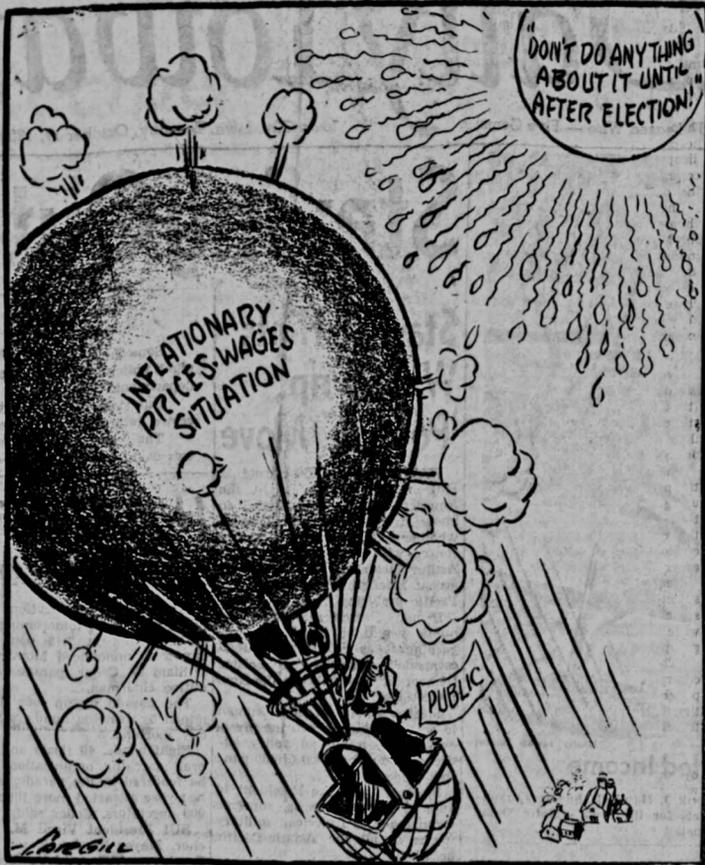

Hogs Drop . . .

CHICAGO (AP) — Hogs dropped 25 to 50 cents in active late trading Monday. The top was $20.25 per hundred pounds, paid for one load of choice 250 pounders. Sows also dipped 25 to 50 cents, with good and choice 400 pounders selling at $18.25 to $19 and a few up to $19.25. Good and choice steers and heifers were active and steady to fully 25 cents higher than last week's active close. Common and medium grades were slow but fully steady. Cows and bulls were strong to 25 cents up. Vealers were steady. A load of choice 1,150 pound steers brought a top of $34.

Italy's Anti-Reds Seize Initiative in Propaganda Battle

By ALBURN WEST
ROME (AP) — Italy's anti-Communist forces, spurred by Red aggression in Korea, have snatched the initiative in this country's propaganda battle. "You can almost say we've got them on the defensive; at least now they are looking for the answers," said an American official observer. When the North Korean Reds drove down the peninsula from the 38th parallel and international tension quickened, Premier Alcide De Gasperi's government took a quick look at Italy's defenses. Cabinet ministers warned of fifth column dangers with an "if the shoe fits" glance in the Communists' direction. Strengthen Army Defense Minister Randolfo Pacciardi drafted plans to strengthen the army and navy. Interior Minister Mario Scelba, a two-fisted fighter who is "public enemy No. 1" to Italy's Reds, alerted his police and called for organization of a reserve home guard of trusted veterans. The De Gasperi cabinet drafted legislation to appropriate $250-million to build up the army and navy and police over a three-year period. The government's actions spoke louder than words, but it did not neglect the propaganda field. Leaders Denounced There was no more dallying in answering Communist charges and boasts in the newspapers or from the speaker's platform. Each declaration by Palmiro Togliatti, leader of Italy's 2.5-million Communists, brought documented replies. One of the Christian Democrats' most telling blows has been repeated denunciation of Red party leaders who put Moscow above their own fatherland. Guido Gonella, secretary of the party and minister of public instruction, was credited with hitting a propaganda bullseye when he challenged Togliatti to declare in his Communist party newspaper L'Unita that Italian Communists would defend their own country against an attack by Russia. The Communist chieftain replied Communists would defend Italy, but would not defend western culture. Theoretically he let it be known that western culture really was the United States capitalist system.

Battle for Senate Seen in Wisconsin
WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in years the Democrats feel they have a real chance to elect a United States senator in Wisconsin on Nov. 7. Republican Sen. Alexander Wiley, seeking his third term, is the favorite but the Democrats are putting a tremendous drive behind Thomas E. Fairchild, the challenger. One of the things that encourages the Democrats is the fact that their share of the primary vote increased considerably this year. BEANS ADVANCE CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans had recovered Monday from last week's shaking out and advanced for gains extending to nearly 3 cents. Besides newscasts, the new

No New License Plates Issued This Year

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa automobile owners will do well to take good care of their present car license plates. They're going to have to last for another year. All the state will issue next year is a validation tag. But for truckers it's different. They not only will get new plates for the 1950 license year, but the plates will be of steel instead of aluminum. Aluminum has been used for all plates this year and last. The motor vehicle registration division of the state department of public safety said Monday it has been forced into economies for 1951 because of the high cost of aluminum and the scarcity of steel. "What about 1952?" Leslie B. Chase, division superintendent, was asked. "It's a question of material. If we can get it we'll go back to steel, because aluminum costs twice as much as steel." The plates are costing so much we had to equalize by providing the validation tags only, for automobiles for 1951. Besides the cost, by several months ago we had more motor vehicles registered for this year than the record of last year. "The increase in registrations this year amounts to about 70,000 to 75,000, and we will total close to 1.2-million by the end of the year. This compares with the 1949 record of a little more than a million."

Radio Enables U.S. to Span Iron Curtain

By SANFORD MARKEY
Central Press Correspondent
America has forged another weapon in the battle to break Russia's iron curtain across Europe. The power of this weapon is in its words, its messages, and in the exiled people who speak again to their fellow countrymen. The weapon is Radio Free Europe, set up by the National Committee for a Free Europe, an organization of private citizens firm in their conviction that they can penetrate the Soviet curtain with their message of truth and democracy, and rekindle the flame of hope for a free tomorrow. It was in June, 1949, that the national committee was formed as "a private corporation open to membership to all interested in halting communism and saving freedom for the world." Among the men guiding the destinies of this venture are Joseph C. Grew, Gen. Lucius C. Clay, Allen W. Dulles, Gen. Dwight E. Eisenhower, Sen. Herbert Lehman (D-N.Y.), James A. Farley and a host of prominent civic and political leaders. Unlike other "Voices," Radio Free Europe speaks for no government. It speaks, as it said in its initial broadcast last July 4, "with the purpose of bringing to you, our friends who are suffering under Stalin's tyranny, a consistent, reliable source of information." Instructs Children The compiling and broadcasting of that information is the job of about 125 people in New York City, and another 100 who work at the transmitters located at Frankfurt and Munich, Germany. The New York staff prepares the show on "tape" which is flown to Europe and broadcast. Because of the time lag in getting news on the air, while it still is current, Radio Free Europe hopes to lease, soon, a short-wave circuit from New York to Germany. Besides newscasts, the new voice is sending programs of political commentary, satires, comedies with strong political overtones and educational material to help parents grasp that information needed to counteract, at home, the teachings given to their children by Communist instructors. Many of the people working with Radio Free Europe were forced to flee Soviet tyranny. They are the political refugees from Romania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria. They work together around five "desks," blending their experiences and backgrounds to secure the best possible format to reach deep inside the Soviet-held territory. Working with these exiles are Americans whose "know-how" of radio programming has made broadcasting in this country the envy of the world. As a result, broadcasts of this newest international voice have both production ease and down-to-earth realism. The cost of putting Radio Free Europe on the air is not disclosed by its backers. Yet, the cost comes high. In an effort to secure some financial

U.S., Britain Still Disagree On Red China

By FRED HAMPSON
HONG KONG (AP) — The Korean war may have brought the United States and Britain into closer agreement on curbing aggression in Asia, but it has left them as far apart as ever on Communist China. This disagreement is causing colonial Britain considerable worry. It is being watched by Russia's satellites in Asia. It could lead to all sorts of complications for the western democracies. Britain and the U.S. early came to a parting of the ways over Red China. Britain lost little time in offering to recognize the Red regime at Peiping and in withdrawing her ambassador from Nationalist China. Peiping never has accepted Britain's offer of recognition. The British have maintained consular representatives in Red China. The Reds have ignored them. The U.S., on the other hand, has continued to recognize the Nationalist government. After several indignities and Red seizure of consulate property at Peiping, the U.S. closed its embassy and consulate in Communist China. U.S. Disagrees The widest disagreement between Britain and the U.S. centers around Chiang Kai-Shek and his holdout Nationalists in Formosa. There is a strong segment of American opinion — in the government and out — which favors support of Chiang. It includes part of the American military which regards Formosa as essential to defenses in the Pacific. Britain, however, has written off Chiang. There appears to be no British element disposed to help him any more. Oppose Aggression Some Americans have boiled the British position down to this: Britain opposes aggression but not — at least in Asia — containment of communism. The U.S. — or at least a large part of it — looked upon Korea both as a battle to stop aggression and to contain communism. The British attitude toward Communist China has been much more strongly influenced by trade than has the American. The British out here cling to the idea that you can do business with communism — at least with Asiatic communism. Britain, whose world trade position is not as strong as America's, is trying to save her huge investments in Red China and to hold on to Hong Kong.

Nearly 3-Million People Visit Iowa Parks

DES MOINES (AP) — Nearly 3-million people visited state parks during the first eight months of this year, which led the Iowa Conservation Commission to say Monday: "There's no question but what we'll equal the 1949 record, and we'll probably exceed it." "It depends upon weather such as we had in most of the early part of this month." The record established last year was 3,138,438. The eight-month total this year was 2,938,467. Park guests have increased sharply annually since the close of World War II. The 1945 total was 1.3-million. The next year the figure jumped to 2,250,000. "This year we increased the facilities in all parks where people were turned away last year," James R. Harlan, the commission's assistant director, related. He added: "In spite of this, in a number of parks where we had increased the facilities we still had to turn people away. All of the parks have been crowded this year." "We put in more picnic tables, expanded parking areas, and increased bathing facilities where there are swimming beaches, but they are all well attended." "We crowded when annual attendance reached 2-million." The conservation supervises the parks and recreation reserves scattered throughout the state. More are being added. However, there was no important change in the number of parks this year over last year. Usually large crowds go to the parks in the fall to view the autumn coloring of the trees and shrubs. Also, the parks get heavy use in mild fall weather for picnics.

Mix-Up Store Opens in Hospital School

By MARIAN PETKOVSEK
The Mix-up store with "so many things to sell" had its grand opening Monday and business appeared thriving indeed.

With 28 eager customers and a shopkeeper, all students at the hospital school for severely handicapped children, an unveiling ceremony was held in a corner of the dining room at the school.

There were many things to choose from on the counter of the Mix-up store. Books, toys, cosmetics, games, cards, candy, gum and balloons were so abundant the customers had a hard time choosing. It was a new experience for most of them, and good experience at that.

Everyone Interested
Everyone at the hospital school is interested in the Mix-up store. It's a community project for the students there and a creation of their own, sturdily constructed of orange crates.

The two-member boy scout troop of the school built the store, using five orange crates for counters. Planks of wood run above the crates, held together in concession-counter fashion with another plank high on top.

Decorations consisting of construction paper, leaves, crayon sketches, and individual ingenuity were made by the intermediate group.

"The Mix-up Store" cut from contrasting sheets of construction paper and pasted topsy-turvy on the top plank beckon the customers for purchases.

Contest for Name
The name, itself, was selected by three staff members as the winner in a "name-the-store contest" in which the children participated.

Prize for "The Mix-up Store" ("we sell so many things") was a gift certificate worth 25 cents toward purchases at the store.

The lower counter is covered with brown wrapping paper. Leaves and fall sketches add a seasonal touch.

Students will take turns acting as bookkeeper, clerk, and cashier about once a month. They'll make change, hand out merchandise, and perform most of the tasks assigned to any storekeeper in town.

Besides having fun and recreation, the students will also profit by:

1. Learning practical applications for life such as making

2. Learning to give instead of receive, by sending cards and gifts purchased at the store to their parents and families, according to David Ray, assistant to the director.

Cash received will go back into the market for repurchases of stocks which run low.

Plans for the store had been under consideration since the opening of the school year by a com-

Eddie Dyer Resigns As Manager Of Cards

Manager Says Injuries Cause Of Poor Finish

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Eddie Dyer, manager of the 1946 world champion St. Louis Cardinals in his first year as a big league pilot, Monday quit the organization he had served for more than half of his fifty years.

Dyer read a prepared resignation statement to sports writers and radio men at a press conference called by owner Fred M. Saigh.

Before he began his statement, in a voice that sometimes choked up, Dyer said he wanted to emphasize that it was "my own statement, brought by me from Houston for Mr. Saigh."

Cardinal Precedent

He said that he was yielding to a Cardinal precedent which made it customary to change managers whenever the club has "a disappointing year." The Cards finished second in the three years after their 1946 pennant, sliding to fifth this season, their worst finish in a decade.

Dyer said he felt that neither Saigh nor he was responsible for the team's collapse.

"I do not believe any club in the National league could have suffered as many and as costly injuries as we did and still finish in the first division" he said. "The loss of Wilks, Garagiola, Glaviano, Musial, Jones, Diering, Howerton and others for varying lengths of time was too much of a handicap for us to overcome."

"At no time during the season did we have our club at full strength. I know you are all aware of these facts and I do not offer them as an alibi."

Will Go Home

Dyer parried questions on his future plans by saying that he planned to return to his home in Houston and continue a profitable insurance business. Dyer, a successful businessman during baseball's off season, also has oil interests in Texas.

Saigh expressed his regret at Dyer's decision and said he expected to have a "hard time" replacing him. In answer to questions, he said that he would not hesitate to choose his successor outside the Cardinal organization.

Rumors still persisted however, that two members of the Cardinal family, managers Rollie Hemseley of the Columbus, American association club and Johnny Keane of the Rochester Red Wings were the leading candidates for the 1951 managers job.

Charles Will Fight Barone for Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles and Nick Barone of Syracuse, N.Y., were signed Monday for a 15-round title fight at Cincinnati Garden, Nov. 28.

Their bout will be the first heavyweight championship scrap ever staged in Cincinnati, Charles' home town.

Promoter Sam Becker signed light heavyweight Barone as the challenger after he had failed to arrange a title battle between Charles and Freddie Beshore of Harrisburg, Pa., or big Bill Weinberg of Boston.

FORMER CARD MANAGER Eddie Dyer (seated) is shown as he read a prepared statement of resignation to members of the press Monday. Cardinal owner Fred Saigh at right, said he "regretted" Dyer's resignation which ended long service in the St. Louis organization.

Cage Coaches Smile —

Five All-Staters at Iowa

— Three From Davenport

By DICK JACKMAN

If the smiles of the Iowa basketball coaching staff are a little broader these days, there's a good reason. Things are looking up in Iowa's basketball future.

Already well-stocked with talent for the next couple of years, Hawkeye hopes were nourished recently when five of last year's all-state high school cagers enrolled at the university.

It takes the coaches, Rollie Williams and Bucky O'Connor in particular, only one look at the registration rolls to have that 1953 gleam blossom in their eyes.

Three from Davenport

Three of the freshman candidates hail from the brilliant Davenport team which raced through four opponents with ease to win the state basketball championship here last March. At that time both Williams and O'Connor agreed that Blue Devil Coach Paul Moon had fashioned possibly the most powerful high school squad in the state's history.

Both forwards from that team, Bill Stenger and Ed Lindsey, plus aggressive Guard Ken Buckles, are now in the Iowa fold. Buckles' entry was a pleasant surprise as he had previously said he would enroll at Bradley.

Stenger is a short speedy forward who gets the jump of foes in the fast break and works well going in under the basket. Both Lindsey and Buckles are masters of the long shot and were stand-outs in prep circles as rebounders. Lindsey proved his scoring power when he set a final game scoring record of 25 points in pacing the Blue Devils to their championship rout of Ankeny.

The three join already established stars Skip Greene and Fred Ruck, both ex-Davenport aces.

Prize Freshman

City High's versatile Bill Fenton is another of the prize freshmen. More noted for his work on the football field, Fenton is attending SUI on a Nile Kinnick scholarship. Though his gridiron feats overshadowed his other athletic work, Fenton was the mainstay of the City High five last winter as he posted a 15-point-per-game scoring average.

Two-time all stater Chuck Jarnagin of Newton completes the select six. A sharp, hooting forward, Jarnagin paced Newton's club the past two years and last year showed up as a fine rebounder.

SKIP GREENE Another Blue Devil

Add to those Sioux City Central's Harlan (Lefty) Melton and Boone's Paul Stark and the Hawkeye coaches have the ingredients for a recipe of future basketball success.

Ray Fontana, Ankeny's long, loose six-foot, four inch point-guard, was enrolled at SUI but dropped out to undergo a year's treatment for illness. Fontana set a new single game scoring record in the 1950 state meet pouring in 36 points in the opening round against Melrose.

Sugar Ray Robinson KO's Rindone in Sixth

Hawks Determined to Beat Purdue to Disprove Holcomb

Cadets No.1 Team; Oklahoma, Southern Methodist Rank Next

Iowa's Hawkeyes, prepared to forget two consecutive conference lickings, Monday went through light drills as they started preparations for Saturday's homecoming game with Purdue.

If homecoming didn't give the Hawks incentive enough, Purdue Coach Stu Holcomb did when he recently boasted, "We'll beat Iowa if it's the last thing we do."

Holcomb's Claim

Squad feeling is high. Posters pasted around the Iowa dressing room remind squad members of Holcomb's claim. And if hard work to correct some of the faults evident in the Wisconsin game is needed to beat Purdue, the Hawks stand ready.

Pass offense will receive the most attention in this week's drills. Against Wisconsin, five misguid-

NOT OUT OF BOUNDS

Official movies of the Wisconsin game conclusively proved Monday that Halfback Don Commack was not out of bounds when he caught a disputed third quarter pass on the Wisconsin 22 yard line. Umpire DeWitt Gibson's ruling killed an Iowa threat.

Iowa passes were intercepted by Wisconsin. If Coach Leonard Raffensperger and his assistants can develop a passing attack to match the running game which has outgained every opponent, the Hawks will be tough to stop.

Barring practice injuries, Iowa should go into the Purdue game in good shape.

Same Record

Purdue enters the game with the same record as Iowa, one win and two losses, but its one victory was over Notre Dame, then the nation's No. 1 team.

Last week, the Boilermakers suffered a relapse and were beaten by upset minded Miami.

NEW YORK (UP) — Army's powerful football squad, working on a string of 23 games without defeat, retained its ranking as the nation's No. 1 team Monday, scoring 335 out of a possible 350 points.

It was the strongest showing any team has made in the United Press football ratings, compiled from the selections of 35 of the country's outstanding coaches on the basis of 10 points for a first place vote, nine for a second, and so on down to one point for 10th place.

Receiving 25 first place votes as a result of their 27-6 victory over Michigan Saturday, the undefeated Cadets bettered the showing which Notre Dame made in the pre-season and first weekly ratings.

Notre Dame Tenth

This week, the coaches ranked Notre Dame 10th among the nation's teams.

Oklahoma, which got by Texas 14-13 Saturday, was placed second, with Southern Methodist, third; California fourth, Kentucky fifth, Stanford sixth, Texas seventh, Ohio State eighth and Washington ninth.

Ohio State and Washington were newcomers to the top 10, replacing Maryland and Purdue.

Oklahoma, which has a 24-game victory streak working, received only three first place votes against six for Southern Methodist, conqueror of Oklahoma A & M, 56-0, but amassed a total of 27 points against 249 for SMU. The only other first place ballot went to Wyoming, which finished in a tie for 19th place with 11 points.

Last week when Army became the No. 1 team for the first time with 17 first place votes and 302 points, SMU ranked second with Oklahoma third.

Texas dropped from fourth to seventh with California moving up from sixth to fourth and Kentucky from seventh to fifth. Stanford dropped from fifth to sixth place.

Miami 19th Maryland, eighth last week, fell to 11th place with 44½ points while Purdue, which ended Notre Dame's victory skein a week ago Saturday, fell from 10th place into a tie for 28th place with four points. Miami, which upset Purdue, 20-14, Saturday, was rated in a three-way tie for 19th place with 11 points.

Ohio State, in taking over eighth place, advanced from 12th while Washington advanced from 11 to ninth.

Water Mains Water Supply in Coralville

Leaks in a six-inch water main in Coralville residents water supply Monday for six hours. Leaks were caused by a re-cave-in in a new sewer Light Edwards, general manager of the Iowa Water Service Inc., said the first cave-in was at 8 a.m. in southeast Coralville.

Second Cave-In
At 10:30 a.m., another cave-in occurred at the second break about 100 feet from the first one. This time it pushed the main to the surface of the 11-foot ditch.

Service was restored to the community at 2 p.m. The cave-in was caused when the sewer ditch digging machine of Cedar Rapids, exposed one of the small pipes going into ditches from the main water line.

No Supports
William F. Morrison, Coralville attorney, said the pipes were dug without support and the leak allowed water to escape, causing the cave-in. As a result of the break, Coralville children had a day off from school, which was closed all day.

Civil Service Tests Scheduled for Various Jobs

Senior management assistant, and junior scientist and engineer examinations for positions ranging from $2,650 to $3,825 per year were announced Monday by the U. S. Civil Service commission. The positions to be filled are chemist, physicist, metallurgist, engineer, electronic engineer, mathematician and junior executive.

Further information and application blanks may be had at the Iowa City post office.

Resisted Arrest

Thomas Romine, Riverside, was fined a total of $105 in police court Monday on charges of resisting an officer ($77.50) and intoxication ($27.50).

Romine was arrested early Sunday morning by Iowa City policemen, who charged him with "resisting the arrest by fist fighting."

Press Club Starts Safety Campaign

The Iowa City Press and Radio club will conduct a safety campaign in Iowa City and Johnson county, Eric C. Wilson, president, announced Monday.

Whitey Waterbury, 15, Des Moines, urged members of the safety committee to wage an extensive campaign against traffic accidents.

Waterbury lost his right leg and a portion of his left foot in an accident five years ago.

In announcing the campaign, Wilson said, "Members of the Press and Radio club are deeply concerned with the increasing number of traffic accidents. They are contributing their time and effort to impress upon the public that accidents don't happen that they are caused through carelessness."

KILPATRICK ELECTED

Prof. Norman L. Kilpatrick, assistant director of the SUI libraries and head of the catalogue department, was elected president of the Iowa Library association at its annual meeting in Waterloo Sunday.

Overseas Christmas Mailing Begins Monday

Christmas mailing for overseas parcels begins Monday and continues through Nov. 15.

The Iowa City post office is urging everyone with friends or relatives who have APO (army post office) or FPO (fleet post office) addresses to begin mailing Christmas gifts immediately.

J. P. Soucek, assistant postmaster, warned persons intending to send gifts to Japan, Korea or the Pacific islands not to delay.

Nov. 1 Deadline
"If your packages for those destinations do not leave Iowa City by Nov. 1, there is little chance they will arrive before Christmas," he said.

Packages must not exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined nor weigh more than 70 pounds. (APO addresses 124 and 125 must not exceed 50 pounds.)

The post office recommends that all packages be made of metal, wood, or fiberboard that will withstand 200 pounds pressure. They should be sealed and then tied with cord, twice around lengthwise and twice crosswise.

In addition to the regular list of inflammables and firearms that may not be mailed, the army has announced that cigarettes, cigars, or other tobacco products can not be sent to Germany, France, England, Austria, Italy or Trieste.

The navy will not accept tobacco for Germany.

Name and Address
The armed services have suggested that the name and address of the individual to whom the package is being sent be put inside the box also so that it can be delivered if the outside address is obscured.

Domestic postage rates will apply to the point of APO or FPO disbursement in the United States. Iowa City post office hours at present are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon Saturday.

No Rush to Get Married In Order to Avoid Draft

Few persons seem to be rushing to the Johnson county clerk's office to avoid the draft by getting married, marriage license records to date show, and it doesn't seem to be slowing down the number of divorces.

A total of 594 marriage licenses were issued in 1950 up to Monday and 47 divorce decrees were granted. This is nine more marriages than at the same time a year ago. Divorces are down only three.

Eight Age Groups Needed to Complete Intelligence Study

Boys and girls in eight different age groups are needed to take part in intelligence test study sponsored by the Iowa child welfare research station. The study is under the direction of Orvil C. Irwin, associate professor of child psychology and child welfare.

Through the cooperation of parents living in the university married students' housing area, the major part of testing the reliability of intelligence tests has been completed, but some of the age groups have not been filled.

Still needed are both boys and girls who are 20 to 21 months of age; girls only who are 16, 17, 28 or 29 months of age, and boys only who are 24 or 25 months old. The project involves giving two different scales of intelligence tests to the same child in testing sessions a few days apart, in order to study the consistency of the child's response.

The testing sessions are each about one hour long, and are held at 104 Finkbine park. Transportation will be provided.

Parents desiring to participate in the project may register their children by telephoning 8-2508 or university extension 2426. Results of the tests will be discussed with parent, if requested.
