Demos Mail Campaign Letters To SUI, Iowa State Graduates

DES MOINES (AP) — Disregarding Republican protests, Iowa Democrats are mailing out campaign letters to 30,000 alumni of the State University of Iowa and Iowa State college.

Lester S. Gillette, Democratic nominee for governor, obtained the lists from the alumni offices of the two institutions, it was learned Wednesday.

Romancing

Prof Says Students Need Privacy

MADISON (AP) — The University of Wisconsin should provide places for its students to do a bit of romancing in private, a faculty member said Wednesday.

But first, Sociology Prof. Howard B. Gill said, the faculty and students should get together and set up accepted standards of courtship conduct.

Gill proposed that the university set up a "lover's paradise" along Willow road on the shores of Lake Mendota with benches where "reasonable and mature" students could do their courting.

He said it should be well lighted and "reasonably" supervised. "We can trust our kids," the professor said.

He said it's "disturbing to have police snooping on them" when they seek a little privacy.

On the other hand, he said, they shouldn't be forced to do "en masse lovemaking," with many couples kissing each other good night in front of the dormitories.

Spy Ring Member Admits Espionage

NEW YORK (AP) — David Greenglass, 28, alleged member of the Klaus Fuchs atomic spy ring, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of conspiracy to commit espionage.

Federal Judge William Bondy set Dec. 4 for sentencing but it may be delayed to permit Greenglass to be a government witness at the trial of other alleged members of the ring.

Greenglass' case parallels that of Harry Gold, Philadelphia chemist scheduled to be sentenced in Philadelphia today after having pleaded guilty to a spy conspiracy charge.

Greenglass worked at the atomic plant at Los Alamos, N.M., in 1948, when he was an army sergeant. He was charged with conspiring with Gold and Anatoli A. Yakovlev to obtain atomic information sent to Dr. Klaus Fuchs, who confessed in Britain to feeding atomic secrets to Russia.

The lists were provided at the same time to the Republican state central committee, which hadn't asked for them.

Republican state chairman Robert K. Goodwin wrote a letter to Democratic state chairman Jake More asking him not to use the lists. Said Goodwin:

"We believe the schools should not be dragged back to the level of partisan politics from which they were removed in 1908."

That was the year the present state board of education was set up, with the governor appointing the members. Before that the legislature named the board. More answered:

"I certainly agree that the policies and management of the college and the university should be free from partisan politics. The graduates of these institutions are interested in good government. Active participation by all of the people of this state will result in better government. If letters to these graduates will result in more active participation by this group, I certainly would not want to discourage it."

The Democratic central committee is sending 18,436 Gillette-for-governor letters to university alumni in this state and 12,800 to state college graduates still in Iowa. The letter to the university group was signed by Gillette. It says in part:

"The loss of educators and research people from the university staff is a matter of serious concern to all interested in the welfare of the university and the state. The loss is attributable in large part to inadequate appropriations by recent administrations.

"There has been lack of interest in and support of the programs of higher education to which this state is committed. The governors should have this interest and provide the leadership which is so woefully lacking."

The letter providing the university alumni list to the two major parties was signed by Loren Hickerson, alumni association director. That letter in part said:

"In general, this seems an appropriate request, inasmuch as the university is dedicated to the idea of representative government and encourages at all times the active participation of the citizens of Iowa in the affairs of the state. On the other hand, the university is, and must remain, politically impartial."

First Cavalry Enters Pyongyang; Red Government Flees To North

Parley Settled Formosa Issue, Officials Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials spread a report Wednesday that President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur had reached general agreement on the hot issue of Formosa — and a Republican critic of administration policy immediately demanded that the report be checked with MacArthur.

Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif.) declared that the public should receive the facts directly from the general and President Truman rather than through "second hand leaks."

The developments followed President Truman's return home from his dramatic Wake island conference with MacArthur, during which they discussed Korea and other major matters. One of these was Formosa, on which the President and the general have not seen eye to eye.

MacArthur has taken the position that the United States must make sure that this island off the China coast stays in friendly hands. He has pictured it as vital to U.S. defenses. Mr. Truman has said that the long-range future of the island remains to be determined by international decision.

Formosa was wrested from Japan during the war by the United States and turned over to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of China.

Lons Resumes Job at Cafe

James Lons, 52, free under $25,000 bond until the next meeting of the grand jury Nov. 20, returned to his restaurant, the Princess cafe, as manager Wednesday.

Since his arrest, the Princess has been operated by A. L. Towne and John Nash under a "friendly receivership" requested by Lons to keep the restaurant open.

Lons is charged with the Oct. 12 knife-slashing of Princess waiter Andrew Davells, 39. He pleaded "not guilty" to an open charge of murder, and was released Oct. 13 under a surety bond signed by 12 Iowa Citizens.

SUI Plans Facilities for Parking 1,100 More Cars

Parking facilities which will accommodate 1,100 more cars are being planned for SUI, Fred W. Ambrose announced Wednesday. Ambrose is SUI business manager and chairman of the committee for administration of parking facilities.

The new parking areas will be located on Washington street west of Madison, south of the library, at the Old Iowa field, the present location of Hawkeye village.

Under construction now are two new parking lots, reserved for staff use, with a total capacity of 130 cars. These are on the 100 block of E. Market street and on a lot east of the medical laboratory.

"In addition to the parking areas listed for future construction, we are attempting to secure additional space within classroom areas of the campus," Ambrose said.

Ambrose cautioned that although SUI is attempting to provide all the parking space it can, it is unlikely that a driver will be able to park whenever he wants near any campus building.

An inventory taken by the closed that SUI will soon have parking facilities committee dis-parking space for 3,728 cars.

There are 2,366 spaces now in use, 132 newly constructed, 130 under construction, and 1,100 planned for future construction.

The inventory reveals the 593 spaces are now reserved or will be reserved for staff use when completed and 3,135 will be used for student and casual parking.

Iowa City Still Swelters Under Fall Heat Wave

Iowa Citizens and SUI students continued to swelter under unseasonably hot weather Wednesday with the temperature climbing to 89 degrees in late afternoon. The mercury had dipped to 46 early Wednesday morning.

The heat wave continued over most of the state with several cities reporting mercury readings near 90. Des Moines matched Iowa City's high of 89.

SUI Hospital Receives Two More Iron Lungs

Two more iron lungs have been received at University hospitals, bringing the total respirators here to 13. They were shipped here from Minnesota hospitals.

Jet Planes Crash; 2 Pilots Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the world's fastest jet fighter planes crash-landed about 30 miles west of here Wednesday and the injured pilot reported two other jets flying in formation with him also had crashed.

But more than eight hours later no trace had been found of the other two planes, although air force officials confirmed they were missing.

"It's one of the oddest cases I've ever run into," commented one officer. He said there had been no previous series of accidents with the F-86 Sabre fighters, which have a speed in excess of 600 miles per hour.

The pilot of the discovered plane was Second Lt. Luther C. Barcus, 22, Spring Lake, N.J. He was taken to Quantico, Va., naval hospital suffering from a broken leg, lacerations and severe shock.

Tanks Rushed To Spearhead Troopers' Dash

TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP) — U.S. First cavalry troops — first into Manila, first into Tokyo — fought their way today into the deserted Red Korean capital of Pyongyang, a field dispatch reported.

This would make a 13-mile final advance against fiercely resisting Reds seeking to protect the flight of Premier Kim Il Sung's government and army northward.

U.S. Eighth army headquarters at Seoul received word at 9 p.m. Iowa time Wednesday that elements of two regiments had battled into the ancient city.

The First cavalry ran into the Red rear guard opposition Wednesday while engaged in a race with the South Korean First division for the honor of being the first into Pyongyang.

Striking out this morning from the town of Hukkyo, the troopers powered their way through Chungghwa, 10 miles out, and then drove on into the city, the field dispatch said.

Strong armored reinforcements were rushing up to support the advance.

Captured Pyongyang civilians told a South Korean army spokesman that Premier Kim Il Sung's Red government had fled to Hui-chon, 80 miles north of Pyongyang. They said the Red army had moved its headquarters 10 miles north of the capital to Sunchon.

UN Assembly Votes For Veto-Free Plan Against Aggression

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — The UN assembly's political committee overwhelmingly approved Wednesday a veto-free plan to combat aggression anywhere in the world, by armed force if necessary.

The vote was by paragraphs and sections, and no vote was taken on the resolution as a whole since all sections were approved.

The program was described by the United States and other sponsors as the most far-reaching ever brought before the UN. It provides for:

1. Emergency sessions of the 60-nation general assembly, called on 24-hours notice, whenever the security council is prevented by a veto from acting against aggression.

2. A peace patrol system to check on the world's trouble spots.

3. Designation by member nations of specific units of their armed forces to be placed at the disposal of the UN in times of crisis.

4. Establishment of a committee to blueprint collective security plans.

Basic aim of the entire plan is to prevent a security council veto by the Soviet Union or any other, major power from paralyzing UN machinery when the peace is breached.

Badge Sale Begins Homecoming Activities

Homecoming badges went on sale today to officially open the 1950 Homecoming activities at SUI.

The weekend's activities feature a pep rally Friday night after the Homecoming parade and will be climaxed by the Iowa - Purdue football game Saturday.

Tailfeathers, SUI pep club, divided into two teams, will sell the badges until game-time Saturday. The team is captained by Darrel Croot, A4, Sioux City, and the black team by Nancy Zadek, A4, Winnetka, Ill.

A prize will be given team members selling the most badges. A sales goal of 38,000 badges was set by the Tailfeathers with "a badge for every Hawkeye booster" as their slogan.

This is the first time a campus scene has been used on the badges. Previous pictures were of specific buildings.

The badge sales started in 1924 as a means of supporting SUI's Homecoming. Before that, stamps were sold to finance the event and earlier the Homecoming committee depended upon donations to cover costs.

Space, Pedestrians Needed —

The new parking regulations for SUI which were revealed at last week's student council meeting were criticized by The Daily Iowan, the complaint being that we felt the word "problem" had been misinterpreted.

We felt the problem most students had in mind was one of space, not one of how to prevent cars from being parked on lawns, against yellow curbs and near fire hydrants.

Our ideas on the subject have not changed, but there are two more points we would like to make—points directed this time at students, faculty and staff, and not at the committee responsible for the new regulations.

In the first place, there is no reason for us even to hope for a parking set-up which would accommodate every car on campus. Some sort of underground or overhead construction might make such a set-up possible, but envisioning such plans at this time is rather impractical.

Secondly, we would like to repeat that one of the greatest aids that could be rendered to alleviate the problem would be the cooperation of students living in walking distance of the university. Admittedly, the expression "walking distance" is rather indefinite, but we believe there are many cars brought to the campus from areas not more than five or six blocks from the university.

Parking lots can't be constructed overnight and it's satisfying to know that new lots are under construction and more are being planned, as pointed out in a story on this page. We realize the magnitude of the problem and our criticism wasn't voiced with the idea that nothing was being done to ease the situation.

We simply didn't want the regulations as an answer to the SPACE aspect of the problem.

But we all would do well now to bear the two points mentioned above in mind. Let's don't expect the impossible and let's walk if we live within a few blocks of school.

Register and Vote —

Two REGISTER AND VOTE drives are going on in Iowa City. The SUI Young Democrats are conducting their campaign in a booth located in front of Old Capitol, so any faculty member or student will find voting information within easy reach on the campus.

The Young Demos will provide postcards for obtaining registration in cities where required—or they will send a postcard for you to obtain an absentee ballot.

Quite naturally, the Young Democrats are interested mostly in Democrats and Independent voters. But the information they will gladly furnish to all is non-partisan in nature.

Republicans are concentrating their registration drive in room 206 in Hotel Jefferson at Republican headquarters. They, also quite naturally, are mostly interested in registering Republicans, but will help anybody. Democratic headquarters at 114 S. Linn street also can provide information.

The time to register is NOW.

Market Reaches Peak of 15-Month Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market reached the peak of a 15-month advance Wednesday and the highest level in 20 years.

Not since February, 1931, according to The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, has the general price level been so high.

Gains approached $2 a share for favored stocks although most were around $1 a share or less.

Nearly 125 issues sold at the best prices of 1950 or longer.

In the past two days alone well over $1-billion has been added to the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange.

The two-day advance more than wiped out all of last week's losses the largest since the week ended July 15.

Trading was the fastest in two weeks with 2,410,000 shares changing hands. This compared with 2,010,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks stepped ahead .6 of one point to 84.8. Industrial and rail issues were responsible for the improvement. Utilities on average were unchanged.

The market made its best showing in the morning. Steels, rails and motors were singled out for attention.

Hogs Advance

CHICAGO (AP)—Hogs again advanced 25 to 50 cents Wednesday.

Parking Capacity 3,728, Inventory Reveals

The results of an inventory of parking facilities on and about the SUI campus have been released by Fred W. Ambrose, university business manager and chairman of the committee for administration of parking facilities.

The inventory reveals that the campus has a total of 3,728 parking capacity divided thusly: 2,366 spaces now existing and in use; 132 constructed between Feb. 20 and Sept. 20 of this year; 130 now under construction; and 1,100 planned for future construction.

Of the total parking space the inventory reveals that 593 spaces are now reserved or will be reserved when completed for staff use, and 3,135 of the total will be used for student, visitor and general parking.

Need Recognized
Years ago, Ambrose said, university authorities recognized the need for off-street parking and embarked on a program of providing necessary facilities.

"This inventory was made to determine just how much space has been devoted to parking and what total capacity we can expect when present and planned construction is completed," he said.

"It is clear that there are areas of one, two, or three square blocks wherein the parking capacities are not up to the demands in those areas at certain times when the activity is greatest," he pointed out. "Where it is reasonably possible we shall continue to seek ways to alleviate the tight parking conditions in these areas, but it seems clear that there will be situations in which some people will have to park a block or two from their destinations."

Space Arranged
"The university is attempting to provide all the parking space it can arrange in and about living areas thus providing a place to keep cars. It is unlikely, however," Ambrose said, "that it will be possible to provide enough space about each of our academic buildings to promise parking for every person who desires to drive about the campus expecting to park near each building in which he may have business or classes."

"However," he said, "in addition to the parking areas listed for future construction we are attempting to secure additional space within the class room areas of the campus."

The inventory figures include several large parking lots which are maintained to facilitate large crowds attending special campus events. These areas are frequently used to capacity.

"It would be helpful in the solution of our problem if some of these large lots could be more centrally located," Ambrose noted.

Husband Nabbed In Ottumwa Killing
OTTUMWA (AP)—Mrs. Nettie Allison, 43, was strangled in her home Wednesday and her husband, accused by his stepdaughter of raping her, confessed the slaying three hours after his arrest, police said.

Police Chief Harry Woods said Paul Allison, 38, broke down after hours of questioning at Albia, Iowa, where he was arrested, and admitted killing his wife. However, Woods said, Allison denied the attack on his stepdaughter.

Allison surrendered without resistance after an eight-hour manhunt. He was stopped at a police roadblock on highway 80 south of Albia, a town 23 miles west of Ottumwa. He was unarmed.

The first brimmed hats were fancied by huntsmen in Greece who affected low-crowned, broad-rimmed affairs, shaped like a barber's basin, as protection from the sun. Tied around the neck by strings, they could be slung back on the shoulders and proved so popular the lads were wearing them right up to the Fourteenth Century in England.

First glimmer of the girls getting a head-hold on the situation came in 400 A.D. in the Byzantine empire when both men and women wore little skull caps. The women pushed into the lead by decorating theirs with flowing draperies, spangles and jewels.

Their bright day, however, was brief and the men once again held forth with the advent of the hood during Medieval times.

Men's Hats
The rugged males of this age wore hoods with peaks of exaggerated length, often dangling fetchingly over one ear. The peaks were pleated, scalloped and coined to put today's milliners to shame. Englishmen went even further and were addicted to such fripperies as the "cockscumb," a twisted turban and the "roundlet," a stuffed turban resembling nothing so much as an extremely happy cabbage.

As if this weren't enough, girls, the rogues of the Seventeenth Century wore not only curls and lovelocks, but wigs as well and reached for their curling irons each morning. Flowing locks called for the cavalier's hat, broad of brim and rolling or eeked, trimmed with long ostrich plumes, fastened to the back or left side to permit free use of the sword arm without danger of snipping off an inch of finery.

Crowns of the cavalier hats usually were trimmed with a jeweled necklace or a silk band sewn with gems and with large gold ornaments that were love tokens and therefore worn on the left, or heart side. AAAAAA! Ever since then, the decoration on men's hats has remained there.

It wasn't until the Fourteenth Century that the women got a chance. Then they went berserk in the bonnet. In an effort to outdo anything worn by the opposite sex to date, they whipped up the "hennin" and "escoffion."

The great "hennin" was a high, cone-shaped cap worn on the back of the head, adorned with a 10 to 12-foot veil. The "escoffion" was a twin-hooped arrangement, decorated with flags, veils and fringe. Each horn of the Medieval monstrosity was more than a yard in length.

Today, the boys are as subdued as the inside of a phone booth, but remember, the next time one brings out his brightest vocabulary to put the bee on a lady's bonnet, just lift a few of these lines and let him have it.

Girls, DON'T keep this under your hat.

'Foreign Students' . . .

The second meeting of the International club was held at the Congregational church. There are three things about it I would like to mention.

First, a big word of thanks to the church. I shall always remember the kindness shown to us by the people of the church. "I was a stranger and you welcomed me," and made me feel at home.

At the meeting I met a very pretty young girl who earnestly desires to practice speaking Russian. I hereby issue an invitation to any and all persons who speak Russian to attend the next club meeting.

The third and last item is the use of the word "foreigners" to designate persons who come from other parts of the world. Surely some better, more appropriate word could be found.

Men Originated 'Silly' Headgear in 3,000 B.C.

Men originated "silly" headgear in 3,000 B.C. or thereabouts, strictly for the boys. They were going giddy in their millinery at a date when women were content to put a new ribbon on last year's wig.

Egyptian dignitaries who needed a place to put the symbols of their rank, devised a helmet of stiff wool that soared to a height of 28 inches. They were gaudy as all get-out while the girls had to confine themselves to wigs, bands, wreaths and ribbon.

Russian Equipment Found in North Korea

TOKYO (AP)—It is impossible to find any Russians in North Korea, but there is plenty of evidence that they have been there.

Wherever I went in North Korea, I found signs in Russian, books and pamphlets in Russian and pictures of Russians.

Great stockpiles of Russian-made weapons — some of them made this year — have been discovered in several areas. But the Russians who came with them had gone.

I found new Russian burp guns of the latest design still in preservative grease and bearing the date 1950. I saw Russian mine detectors with batteries stamped with dates as recent as Feb. 11 of this year, field pieces made in Russia in April and unfired and enough other equipment and weapons made in Russia recently to fill a couple of railroad trains.

All these were in North Korea, despite the Russians' assertion that 1948 was the date of their last arms shipments to North Korea.

There is evidence in all the towns and villages that the Russians themselves have been there. The best proof was found in Wonsan, the first major Korean city to be captured by United Nations forces.

The railroad stations bear two signs — one in Korean and the other in Russian. Most of the important buildings are identified in both languages.

Coralville Triplets Thriving at 21 Months

By JEAN SHARDA
It's been 21 months since William E. Brecht, technician in bacteriology at the SUI medical laboratories, passed out triple cigs — and Coralville's triplets are growing up.

Paulene, Cathlene and Michael Brecht are developing the differences they showed at their January, 1949, birth.

Makes Rapid Growth
Michael, handicapped at birth by his slight 2½ pounds and an early operation, is making rapid gains on his huskier sisters.

If his present growth continues, he should be walking by Christmas, his mother predicted.

The girls, who weighed four pounds, four ounces, and four pounds, eight ounces, are walking into everything.

"What one doesn't do, the others do," Mrs. Brecht said.

Leader of the group is Paulene, the first to walk and talk. Cathlene, the mischievous one, delights in stealing the others' food and knocking over their toys. Michael is content if the girls leave him alone, but they don't, Mrs. Brecht said.

Won't Dress Alike
The girls frequently are dressed alike when they go out, but that will stop when they grow older.

Identical outfits would seem "illy" after their looks change, their mother has decided.

Already Cathlene is taller and more slender than her sister. Cathlene has a long face; Paulene's is square.

Seven-year-old Dennis, the Brecht's other son, seems nonchalant about his brother and sisters. But he likes to feed them animal cookies.

Neighbors Help
Problems involved in rearing the triplets often are shared with neighbors, Mrs. Brecht said.

An afternoon rarely goes by when no one drops in for a visit.

She said one family frequently helps her by inviting the girls to supper.

Occasionally quantity buying leads to embarrassment, Mrs. Brecht said. Frequent purchases of three times the normal amount of zinc oxide (for skin rash) have bewildered one salesman.

"Next time I see him I'm going to tell him we eat it with crackers," Mrs. Brecht said.

Little Free Time
Although young Dennis is helpful, the triplets' mother said she doesn't have much free time.

"But I'll have plenty of leisure time after the triplets are grown — if I live through it," she said.

TALK ABOUT THREE-RING CIRCUSES, Mrs. William Brecht, Coralville, has one with every meal she feeds her triplets, (left to right) Michael, Paulene and Cathlene. The three first entered the limelight in January, 1949, when they were born at University hospitals. Michael shows the most change because he weighed only 2½ pounds when he was born.

When Looking for a Date... Directory Is SUI's 'Little Black Book'

By TROY ANDERSON
If you're still after the phone number of that cute blonde you met during the first weeks of school — your problem is solved in this year's SUI directory now on sale in local bookstores.

The 1950-51 edition of the directory has a wealth of phone numbers — blondes, brunettes and redheads.

Maybe there is an "old hometown buddy" on campus you haven't been able to contact because you didn't know his address here. Somewhere in the directory's 242 pages you can find that, too.

Use for Diversion
The new directory can even be a source of diversion during the long nights when there are no class assignments to complete — and no one to play canasta with.

The name that appears most often in this year's directory, if you haven't already guessed, is Smith — 93 times. Johnson is next, 73 times. Jones is far down the list with 36.

Nearly all the colors of the rainbow are in the directory this year: Grays and Reds, not to mention the variations of Pink, Cherry and Rust.

Famous Persons Listed
Several famous persons are walking the SUI campus this year — John Hancock, Tom Dorsey and Robert (but no Jack) Frost are a few.

If you are in the market for a new car, look over the directory's list of good buys and the latest models. Take your choice of Nash, Ford, Dodge, Packard, Hudson, Willys and Tucker, plus a possible slogan for the entire industry — Wanda Carr.

Occupations Listed
There's a Barber and Baker — but no candlestick maker. And a variety of occupations are represented also, with names like Bishop and Pope, Butler and Cook, Councilman and Lawyer, Carpenter, Crook, Gardner, Miller, Tailor, Duke and King and Prince, and even a Householder.

Then there's Day and Knight, Hale and Rains, Summers and Winters, and Moon and Starr.

For the botanist, there are Birch, Appel, Bush, Flower, Rose, Hedges, Hay, Fields, Plum, Rice, Wood and Berry.

And for the animal lovers, Bird, Crow, Fox, Moth and Wolf.

Some SUI students are Sweet and Jolly, others Wells or Waters. North and West, and geographical names are represented, too, by Paris, Maine, Africa and Holland.

The most fun comes, however, when you put some of the names together with results like this: A Ladd of Ten Felt a Long Wait May Waste Weeks when a Braver-man is Hunting in the Marsh and Hills.

Your turn, Smith!

WHEN A COWBOY COMES CALLING the churning is forgotten. At least Aunt Eller Murphy (Billie Hutchings, G. The scene was taken from "Green Grow the Lilacs" which will be presented nightly at 8 p.m. at University theater through Oct. 28. (Sunday excepted)

'Oklahoma' Based Upon — Performance Excellent — 'Green Grow the Lilacs'

By JACK LARSEN

Whatever your opinion of the play the University theatre selected to open its season Wednesday night, there can be little reservation about the great degree of all-around competence accorded it in the production.

"Green Grow the Lilacs," now better known as "that play 'Oklahoma' was based on," is an ambling piece given here before as an experimental production before going on to New York in 1931 with one Franchot Tone in a leading role.

The university's presentation almost — but not quite — conceals the fact that the play's plot is a very ordinary one, consisting mostly of pictures of life in the Indian territory of Oklahoma around 1900, of hardy people for whom playwright Lynn Riggs obviously has affection.

Action at times seems static; but because there is more interest in character and atmosphere, speeding it up would undoubtedly have sacrificed much of the play's effectiveness.

As it is, the direction of Paul Davee and Harold Crain is geared to the play's mood. Group sequences are excellently staged. Voices in certain bit parts have been very well selected; one of the more successful scenes in the play occurs when the stage is dimly lighted and the reliance on voice is paramount.

Arnold Gillette's settings fulfill the demands of the play, quite adequately. His use of a scrim (a gauze-like curtain which is opaque or transparent, depending upon the placement of lights) is interesting.

While there have been plays where it could have been put to better use, it's employment at last in the University theatre is most welcome.

Lighting by Walter Dewey is consistently fine, representing perhaps the best job he has given us in many a local production.

Dialect is tackled, in the main successfully, by all the players, although in the case of the leads enunciation is almost too careful.

Iowa Citian Burned, Condition 'Good'

Eugene More, 24, Iowa City, burned in a work-shop fire Tuesday afternoon, was reported in "good" condition Wednesday.

More suffered face and head burns Tuesday when a fire broke out in the M. and M. Electric Motor shop, one-half mile south of the airport on highway 218.

The fire damaged the building to the extent of $2,000, Roy Mulford, owner of the building, estimated. The loss was covered by insurance, he said.

Mulford said he believes the fire may have started in varnish ignited by a spark from an electric motor. Iowa City firemen, using three hoses, brought the blaze quickly under control.

The fire engines were sent to the shop (outside of the city limits) by mistake, Fire Chief Al Dolezal said. By law, firemen cannot go to a fire outside the city.

Eisenhower States He Wants Nothing To Do with Politics

NEW YORK (AP)—An obviously rankled Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Wednesday, "I don't want a thing to do with politics."

He also declined to comment on the New York political situation.

Eisenhower appeared at a press conference to announce the American assembly, formation of which he called "the most important step I've taken as president of Columbia university."

Harrimans Give Assembly Site
The assembly will consist of leaders in business, labor, education and government. It will discuss problems of the nation. A site for the assembly was given to Columbia by President Truman's special assistant, W. Averell Harriman, and his brother, E. Roland Harriman. It consists of a 96-room mansion on a 100-acre estate at Harriman, N.Y.

A reporter, seeking Eisenhower's comment on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's endorsement of the general for president, started to say, "I'd like to ask a question which may be un tactful," when Dean Philip Young of the Columbia graduate business school interposed, saying, "You will be."

Questions Ask Eisenhower
With a half smile, but obviously irked, Eisenhower said: "I have said time and again I don't want a thing to do with politics."
Asked what he would do if nominated for the presidency, Eisenhower said:
"I don't want to go into all the hypothetical things that could happen in America."

Dewey described Hanley as an honest, loyal friend and "one of the greatest public servants in the history of the state." He said that the only time a job was discussed with Hanley was when he

FDR Ran for Governor On 'Debt Promise' Dewey

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said Wednesday night that the late Franklin D. Roosevelt agreed to run for governor of New York in 1928 on a promise by financiers to pay his debts.

In a statewide broadcast, Dewey held out the Roosevelt campaign for governor as an answer to the present fight over the U.S. senatorial race. New York Democrats have charged that Dewey promised to satisfy the personal obligations of the Republican candidate, Joe R. Hanley.

The promise was made, according to a letter written by Hanley, in return for Hanley's bowing out of the governor's race, and accepting the senatorial nomination so Dewey could run for a third term.

Dewey said the late John J. Raskob has agreed to raise money to pay Roosevelt's debts in connection with the Warm Springs, Ga., development. He said he obtained his information from books written by former national Democratic Chairman James A. Farley and Edward J. Flynn.

"These men have quoted Roosevelt as saying that John J. Raskob, the wonderful soul he was, assured Mr. Roosevelt that he would assist in getting the money together and contributed $50,000 himself."

"The debt was stated to be about $200,000. On the promise that Mr. Raskob made to Roosevelt, he agreed to run for governor."

"I haven't the slightest criticism with that. I wish we had a John Raskob in the Republican party, but unfortunately, we have not."

Dewey described Hanley as an honest, loyal friend and "one of the greatest public servants in the history of the state." He said that the only time a job was discussed with Hanley was when he

Mayor of Chicago To Investigate 'Gift' To Police Captain

CHICAGO (AP)—Mayor Martin H. Kennelly decided Wednesday to look into a senate crime committee disclosure that a $5,200 a year police captain accepted a $32,500 cash gift from a wealthy gambler in 1936.

The Democratic mayor asked for formal statements by Police Capt. Thomas Harrison, who several years ago was suspended on a charge of failure to suppress gambling in his district—a near north side area including the North Clark street honkytonk section.

Re-Instated by Court
Harrison, who later was re-instated by court order, related his financial dealings Tuesday before the senate crime investigating committee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Kefauver reported that Harrison told the committee he borrowed $18,500 in 1935 from William Skidmore, former "fixer" for the Capone gambling syndicate; and received a $32,500 gift from Gambler John J. Lynch in 1936.

Both Skidmore and Lynch are dead.

Kidnapped in 1931
Harrison said Lynch, formerly in a race information service, was

Glass Cut Tendon; Woman Files Suit

Leona Young, West Branch, filed a $15,932 damage suit Wednesday against Lubin's pharmacy and the owners of the building at 132 S. Clinton street.

She claimed she was permanently crippled by a piece of falling glass which came from above a display window.

Miss Young's petition in Johnson county district court claimed the glass severed the achilles tendon in her left foot causing her to lose $507 in wages and costing $425 in doctor bills.

The accident occurred May 5 while Miss Young was walking south on Clinton street. Winds in Iowa City that day reached 87 miles an hour in gusts and toppled the KSUI antenna from its perch on the engineering building.

In addition to Herman and Jacob Lubin, the suit names Tula T. and Christ Marlas as defendants.

Kidnapped in 1931 and freed for $50,000 ransom. Harrison worked on the case and later worked for Lynch as a personal bodyguard while Harrison was out duty.

Kennelly said two weeks ago he would take action in any factual evidence that any city employe received money illegally. He asked Wednesday for Kefauver committee testimony transcripts and a statement from Harrison.

Martin Favors UMT, Warns Subversives Could Cripple Nation

Universal military training is a vital part of strengthening this nation's defenses, Congressman Thomas E. Martin, (R-Iowa) said Wednesday.

Speaking to a discussion group at the Lutheran Student house, Martin said the U. S. could have adequate defense for 10 percent of what it is now costing if the nation hadn't disarmed so rapidly after World War II.

Martin said he hoped the U. S. could maintain adequate defense without becoming militaristic or imperialistic.

"We can live in a world with another ideology without warring with her," Martin asserted. The U. S. must be prepared, however, he warned.

Martin also endorsed the anti-subversive bill which was enacted into law over President Truman's veto Sept. 23. The law is aimed at restraining Communists now and rounding up subversives if war comes with Russia.

"The U. S. could fall as a result of subversive action within our country," Martin said. He recalled that Egypt, Babylon, ancient Greece, and Rome fell from world powers as a result of internal subversive action.

Congressman Martin Voices Favor of UMT

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING is vital to our defenses, Congressman Thomas E. Martin told a discussion group at the Lutheran Student house Wednesday. He also voiced his approval of the anti-subversives bill which was passed over President Truman's veto Sept. 23. Members of the discussion group pictured here are left to right, Gordon Wholock, G. Hurricane Blasts Miami Area

MIAMI (AP) — A greatly tamed but still sharp-fanged hurricane blasted into Florida's 100-million-box citrus belt Wednesday after killing two persons, injuring many and causing widespread damage 200 miles to the south.

The American Red Cross reported 128 homes destroyed and 13,464 damaged to some extent by the tropical storm's 125-mile winds in Dade and Broward counties on the peninsula's lower east coast.

Mrs. Owen Adams was killed, and their four children hurt when the hurricane smashed their home at West Hollywood. Sixty-five persons received hospital treatment for injuries in the two counties. Forty of the injured were in the Miami area.

The other fatality was an unidentified Negro whose body was found in the wreckage of his home at West Hallandale.

Damage was tentatively estimated at $5-million in Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties by Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster. He said the estimate undoubtedly would rise as more complete reports were received. Newspaper estimates ran as high as $8-million for the Miami area alone.

Company C of the Florida national guard was called out to protect property and prevent looting in three hard-hit communities — West Hallandale, West Hollywood, and Davie. The towns, each with about 2,000 population, are 12, 16 and 27 miles north of Miami.

Car Reported Stolen, Found by City Police

A car reported stolen early Wednesday morning from Larry Kron, 327 Brown street, was located later in the morning by Iowa City police.

Kron reported his 1940 Ford stolen from the 100 block of South Dubuque street at 12:12 a.m. The key was left in the vehicle, Kron said. Police located the car on Madison street, north of Burlington street.

ROOF REPAIRS

Repairs on the roof and gutters of SUI's electrical engineering building began recently, R. J. Phillips, superintendent of maintenance, said Wednesday. Phillips expects his department to complete the work within three weeks.

Iowa Citian Given 10 Year Sentence

Donald Linnell, 28, 317 First street, was sentenced Wednesday to serve up to 10 years in the men's reformatory at Anamosa after he pleaded guilty to breaking and entering a local store.

Officer Richard W. Lee of the Iowa City police force, caught Linnell leaving through the rear entrance of the Farmer's supermarket, 803 S. Clinton street, on the night of October 12.

Linnell admitted to police that he had also broken into the Yoder Coal company, 701 S. Dubuque street, the same night and stolen a portable radio. The radio was recovered.

Plane Returns Beckloff To Face Charges Here

Donald Beckloff, Tulsa, was returned to Iowa City Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Don Wilson to face child desertion charges, authorities said.

Beckloff was arrested in Tulsa earlier this week and returned by plane.

Local Woman Charges Cruelty in Divorce Suit

A divorce suit was filed Wednesday by Lorraine A. Lehman, 623 E. Burlington street, charging her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment.

Mrs. Lehman received a writ of attachment in Johnson county court for $1,000 against her husband, Richard, to cover the rest of the payments on their new car.

Local Polio Victim Admitted to Hospitals

Sharon Branson, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Branson, Iowa City, was admitted in "fair" condition to the polio ward of University hospitals Wednesday.

Others admitted in "fair" condition were Henry Ainley, 9, Waterloo, and Leonard Harrington, 13, Plainfield.

Active cases dropped to a new low of 18 Wednesday after the previous low of 19 was reported Tuesday.

Four patients discharged Wednesday were Terry Lewis, 17 months, Beacon; Carl Haeneler, 1, Fort Madison; Randall Strassburg, 5, Parkersburg, and Samuel Rogula, 6, West Branch.

Three others transferred from the active to inactive ward included Ella Schaeffer, 23, Waverly; Harold Septer, 30, Salem, and Alfred Jackson, 35, Davenport.

Fire Chief Warns Of Bonfire Dangers

A bonfire can easily spread out of control to dry heaps of grass and leaves, Fire Chief Al Dolezal warned Iowa Citizens Wednesday.

He urged that everyone be extremely careful when disposing of trash and leaves by fire.

Twice Tuesday, the fire department was called to put out brush and leaf fires started by sparks from bonfires.

Chief Dolezal said a city ordinance provides that trash may not be burned nearer than 20 feet from a building, and a permit is required for anyone burning leaves or trash on their property.

Reichardt, Faske Lead League

Iowa's Bill Reichardt and Jerry Faske rank first and second in total yards gained in Big Ten play this year, official conference statistics showed Wednesday.

Reichardt vaulted to the top of the heap last Saturday with a 100 yard plus effort against Wisconsin. In two conference games, Bill has a net gain of 193 yards in 33 tries for a very respectable 5.8 average.

Faske has netted 116 yards in 32 carries for a 3.6 average. The transplanted Brooklynite with the knack for scouting end runs, ran wild against Southern California in the season's opener for a 8.85 yard per carry average.

The incessant trend toward passing has resulted in four new Big Ten records and one tie in the first five games this season.

Each record which has been bettered or equaled has involved passing except for the six punt returns by Northwestern's Gene Miller against Minnesota Saturday.

Indiana's brilliant sophomore quarterback Lou D'Achille has figured in three of the six records either set or equalled.

Here are the other new records and the one tie:

1. 91 yard scoring pass from D'Achille to Bobby Robertson, Indiana vs. Iowa, Oct. 7.
2. 38 passing attempts by D'Achille against Ohio State, Oct. 14.
3. 13 passes caught by Don Stonesifer of Northwestern against Minnesota, Oct. 14.
4. 20 completions by D'Achille against Ohio State, Oct. 14. (Tied existing record.)

If Iowa can induce some of the present Iowa City high school football crop to attend the university, things should be rosy in a few seasons. Reason? Both City high and U-high are undefeated to date and have a good chance of remaining that way for the rest of the season.

City high is living up to its pre-season ranking as top team in the state with five straight victories over top flight competition.

U-high, a team which wasn't supposed to have much, has surprised everyone, and probably themselves, with four straight victories.

City high's Little Hawks have beaten Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, 20-0, Wilson of Cedar Rapids, 35-7, East Moline, 15-8, Dubuque, 20-14 and Clinton, 28-7. They meet Franklin of Cedar Rapids tonight in a Mississippi Valley game.

Bob Rossie, Iowa City's professional welterweight, is returning to the ring.

Bob has alternated his ring career and his education—first in the school of journalism then in commerce. Bob says he dislikes leaving Iowa but financial considerations make it advisable now. Rossie made his comeback, after a year's absence, in Minneapolis.

We've had several suggestions that the Iowa corn monument be burned this year if Iowa beats Purdue. This has been a customary symbol of victory in years past. It would be nice to revive it this year.

Elmer Stout Lineman of Week

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — The Michigan football team didn't have to ask "Where's Elmer?" when they played Army last Saturday.

But Elmer Stout, 20-year-old defensive center at the U.S. military academy was a hard man to locate Wednesday when someone wanted to break the news that he'd been chosen Associated Press college football lineman of the week.

Simply Smiles

Unwilling to discuss his sterling performance in backing up Army's line, the reserved, soft-spoken second classman (junior) simply smiled when he learned of his nomination.

The 180-pound shock producer from South River, N.J., was high in his praise for the Michigan blockers who "rocked him" line and again.

And he had great respect for Michigan all-American candidate

Chuck Ortman who "surprised me with his running ability."

Calling the defensive signals, Stout led the Army gang in tossing back Michigan four times when the Wolverines moved to the shadows of the Cadet goal posts.

"One of the outstanding line backers in the country," said Coach Earl (Red) Blaik of Stout, who covers more ground in the Army secondary than two men would normally be expected to protect.

Workmanlike Job

"His play against Michigan," Balik elaborated, "was comparable to the workmanlike job he consistently turned in throughout the 1949 season."

Stout will become one of the comparatively few Cadets to hold a first-string berth for three years at West Point. He has one more season to go before being commissioned in the regular army.

'It's Your Club Now, Boys'

series, they have failed to come through. They finished second the following year and since then have wound up in the first division only twice, in 1935 and 1948.

Finished Fast in 1950

Mack had hoped to celebrate his golden anniversary of managing with a pennant in 1950 and then announce his retirement but the team's pitching fell apart and found itself mired in the second division. It finished a badly beaten last.

To Dykes the appointment as manager came as a surprise.

"Until yesterday (Tuesday) I did not have the least idea where I would be in baseball next year," he said, adding:

"I am flabbergasted about my appointment. Stepping into the shoes of a man who has run the club for 56 years is a job that is too big for me, too big for any man."

"I am not afraid of being a manager. I have been through all that before but I am afraid in following in the footsteps of Mr. Mack and carrying out his ideas."

Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox from 1934 to 1946, succeeded Earle Mack as assistant manager during the past season. At the same time, Mickey Cochrane, former A's star catcher, was made general manager. Cochrane, however, resigned shortly before the end of the season.

Complete Charge

After announcing the appointment of Dykes and Ehlers, Mack added:

"And all news concerning the Athletics will come from either Ehlers or Dykes. They will have complete charge of the club and all help possible will be given them toward producing a pennant winning team."

While the announcement came as a surprise, the Mack family apparently had been sitting on the idea ever since Earle and Roy obtained control of the club.

There were rumors "Mr. Baseball" would step down but these were repeatedly denied by Mack himself and Roy. Most persistent of the rumors were that Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians, would succeed Connie and that Dykes would not return next year.

Asked when his father decided to leave the dugout, Roy replied:

"That was several weeks ago. Since then Earle and I have been trying to find a manager who would be able to follow in dad's footsteps. Tuesday, we decided that Dykes was our man."

Bucks Tough on Ground Gains but Not Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — How's this for a football oddity: Ohio State is first among the nation's major grid teams in rushing defense — but last in passing defense.

The Buckeyes have allowed their opponents an average of only 28.7 yards a game along the ground, but their pass defense has given up 272.2 yards. All of which must cost coach Wes Fesler quite a bit of sleep.

Joe Gordon to Manage Sacramento Next Year

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. (AP) — Joe Gordon, veteran second baseman of the Cleveland Indians, will manage the Sacramento Solons next year, Solon general manager Jo-Jo White announced Wednesday.

White said he has reached an agreement with the 34-year-old Gordon for a two-year contract as player-manager of the Pacific coast league club. Formal signing of the contract must await waivers out of the major leagues.

Johnston, Woodhouse Hurt; Purdue's Kerestes Sidelined

Injuries may well decide the outcome of Saturday's homecoming game with Purdue.

Iowa coach Leonard Raffensperger was faced Wednesday with the possibility of losing his No. 1 and 2 left tackles, Hubert Johnston and Don Woodhouse.

Johnston suffered an unknown knee injury in Tuesday's scrimmage. Woodhouse has been slowed by pulled leg muscles.

"We hope and think that both boys will be ready to go Saturday," Raffensperger said, "but you can't tell about leg and knee injuries."

If Johnston, 6 foot 6 inch, 240-pound giant from Wheeling, W. Va., and Woodhouse were both lost, Iowa's chances for an upset win over the Boilermakers would be dimmed considerably.

Kerestes Hurt

A release from Purdue's training camp Wednesday reported that John Kerestes, plunging fullback and co-captain, may not be available for Saturday's game which is rapidly approaching grudge battle proportions.

Kerestes, tied for team scoring honors and second in individual ground gaining, Tuesday night re-injured an ankle he hurt before the Texas game. He was excused from contact drills Wednesday.

In Wednesday's practice, the Hawkeyes again concentrated on pass offense and the defensive unit got its first look at Purdue plays run by the freshman.

At the other end of the field, Iowa's offensive team ran through signal drills with Iowa City's Jim Sangster being tried at quarterback.

Raffensperger indicated that some lineup changes may be forthcoming but declined to name them or at what positions the changes may be.

Entirely Possible

"I'm not sure if there will be any changes," Raffensperger said, "but it's entirely possible." It's a known fact that Raffens-

Dallas Police Raid Headquarters of Grid Card Handicappers

DALLAS, TEXAS (AP) — Police confiscated thousands of "football cards" in a hotel room raid and said they had broken up the international headquarters for handicapping college football games.

Vice squad Capt. Ed Preston said the room "undoubtedly" was headquarters for "mauling tens of thousands of football cards every week."

Four men including ex-convict Charley F. Gordon, were arrested. Preston said Gordon was the "chief handicapper."

Mechanized Office
The room had been converted into a highly-mechanized office which included three telephones, complete files of "clients," addressing machines and mimeographs.

Gordon was known on sight to Preston. He was taken into custody as the raiding party entered the lobby of the Southland hotel.

With Gordon in tow, the police proceeded to room 812 where they arrested Ray H. Herman, also known as H. J. Hyde, and two helpers. The latter three men were busy stacking and addressing thousands of handicap cards giving odds on games throughout the nation.

The amazed officers, who had expected to find only a local bookie's office, confiscated voluminous files listing football card "dealers" throughout the United States, Canada and several foreign nations.

Herman took his arrest calmly and said his operations were "strictly legal."

No Bets
"I don't take bets of any kind. I simply commercially print the cards and mail them to my clients," he told Preston.

Neatly filed records in the room indicated that the football card racket is a multi-million dollar business.

Herman admitted he hired Gordon to do the handicapping, adding "What's wrong with that?" Officers found cancelled checks showing that Herman paid Gordon at least $25,000 last fall and $18,000 this autumn.

Herman showed the vice squad officers lists of far-flung clients and also exhibited a $1,300 check received Wednesday from a St. Louis man.

Little Hawks Meet Franklin

By BILL MILLER

Jim Kaena will replace the injured Duane Davis in the Iowa City starting line-up tonight when the Little Hawks move into Cedar Rapids for a Mississippi Valley conference game with Franklin. Game time is 7:45 p.m. at Hill park.

Coach Frank Bates said that Davis, who suffered a sprained ankle last week in the Clinton game, will be suited up tonight, but it is doubtful if he will be used.

Last League Game

The game will be the last conference start for the Hawks until the wind-up with Davenport, Nov. 10, on the Iowa City field. The Little Hawks must win tonight in order to stay on top of the conference since Davenport, with a 3-0 record takes on East

Franklin started slowly this year, losing three games before defeating Roosevelt last week, 7-0.

Star Sidelined

Coach Emil Klumppar of Franklin said Wednesday that defensive safety man Paul Foster will definitely be out of the line-up tonight with a leg injury.

However, Tom Fleckenstein and Irvin Gerks, Franklin line standouts, should give the Hawklet running attack plenty of trouble. The Thunderbolts have limited the opposition to 55 points this season.

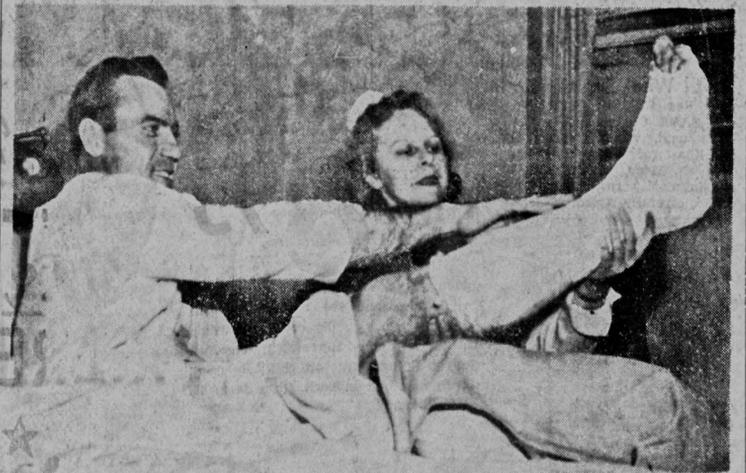

Although Franklin will spot the Hawks about 12 pounds per man, the Thunderbolts' speed makes them dangerous on wide sweeps.

Larry Arnett, right guard and Dave Homewood, defensive half-back, will co-captain the Little Hawks.

ROBINSON SIGNS

CHICAGO (AP) — Welterweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson will box Bobby Dykes of Austin, Texas, in a non-title, 10-rounder at the Chicago Stadium Nov. 8.

Bauer 'Cast' in New Role

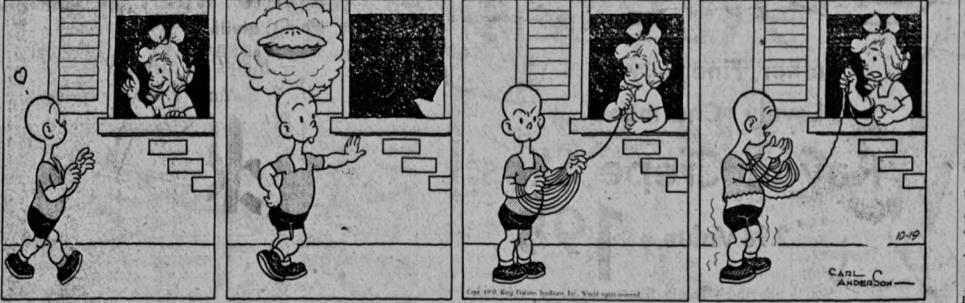

NEW YORK'S HANK BAUER, slugging outfielder for the world's champions, Wednesday tested the cast on his right leg after an operation to remove a bone spur from his ankle. The operation was performed at Lennox Hill hospital in New York by Yankee team physician, Sidney Gaynor. The nurse is Marjorie Ruzicka. The bone spur bothered Bauer during the season but the Yankees couldn't afford to lose him during the pennant drive when they edged out Boston, Detroit and Cleveland for their second straight championship.

Louis, Brion Fight Announced; Bomber Says He'll Nail 'Em

CHICAGO (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis, trying a comeback from a comeback that failed, is going to nail 'em early henceforth. That includes champion Ezzard Charles, if and when they meet again.

The long trail back begins at Chicago Stadium Nov. 29 when Louis meets Argentine Cesar Brion whose 10 round bout with the erstwhile Brown Bomber was announced Wednesday.

Jim Norris, international boxing club chief, broke the news in New York just as Louis applied for an Illinois boxing license and publicly discussed his plans to continue in the ring for the first time.

Joe plans "three or four" fights before challenging Charles for a re-match. When Louis said he was "through" after his Sept. 27 pummeling by Charles, it was one of those spontaneous slips he didn't mean.

"I have thought it over and now I think I can beat Charles," said Louis. He added:

"You know I fought 60, 70 exhibitions before I fought Charles, and you fight an exhibition without getting real tough. I musta had the same frame of mind against Charles."

Janitor Serves SUI 27 Years

(Daily Iowan Photo)

POINTING TO A MAP of the campus as it was when he began work as janitor in the engineering building 27 years ago, "Gus" Miller, 66, Wednesday showed some of the then empty lots where SUI buildings now are located. Looking on at left was Keith Kirkpatrick, A4, Sheldon, local newscaster. Miller began work at SUI Oct. 17, 1923, after working with an Iowa City construction company. Born in Bavaria, Germany, Miller emigrated to this country in 1905. After 27 years in the engineering building, Gus thinks engineers are "the best boys there are" and that the engineering classes of the past few years are better than ever. His plans for retirement? "After another 27 years, maybe," he said, "but right now I feel better than I did when I came here."

Homecomers

Seek Badges from Previous Years

Requests are pouring into Lewis C. Zopf, chairman of the Homecoming committee, for Homecoming badges of this and other years. One man, H. R. Boden, Brooklyn, Ill., asked for buttons from the 1948 and 1949 Homecomings. He said he had a collection which dated back to 1925 but had somehow missed those two. Zopf found a few buttons left from those years and sent them to Boden.

In addition to Boden's request, Zopf has received letters from Great Falls, Mont.; San Francisco; Aberdeen, S.D., and Berkeley California.

Traffic Violation Cases Placed on Court Docket

Seven traffic violation cases, six of them charges of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, were placed on the Johnson county district court docket Wednesday by Judge James P. Gaffney.

The trials are scheduled to begin Oct. 25 after the completion of three civil cases.

The six charged with OMVI are Donald Tucker, Albert Jiroutek, Donald Woods, Glen Rummelhart, Lester Gafeller, and Earl Gough.

Walter Kadera is charged with driving while his license was under suspension for drunken driving.

BALLOT REQUESTS

DES MOINES (AP) — Secretary of State Melvin Synhorst said Wednesday he already has received 100 requests from Iowa service men stationed in this country and abroad asking that they be sent absent voters ballots so that they can vote in the Nov. 7 general election.
