Attempt To Assassinate President Truman Fails

Officer, One of Two Gunmen Dead; Truman Not Injured

A GUN BATTLE RAGED in front of Blair house (light building at right) Wednesday when two men rushed President Truman's temporary residence with blazing pistols. The Lee house adjoins Blair house on the left. Next to it is the court of claims building. One gunman approached from across Pennsylvania avenue (foreground) and the second from the left by the court building.

SPRAWLED FACE DOWN AT THE BOTTOM of steps leading to Blair house is Oscar Collazo, one of two gunmen who attempted to assassinate President Truman Wednesday. Collazo was critically wounded in the running gun battle.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two Puerto Rican revolutionists shot their way to President Truman's doorstep Wednesday but were mowed down in a gun battle with White House guards before they could carry out their plot to murder the sleeping President. One of the gunmen was killed, the other seriously wounded. Wednesday night, a secret service man died of bullet wounds suffered in the roaring gun fight in front of Blair house, the President's temporary home across the street from the White House. Two other guards were hurt, one seriously.

STANDING GRIM and erect during the unveiling of a statue of Sir John Dill, late British field marshal, in Washington's Arlington cemetery is President Truman. The President went to the ceremony shortly after an attempt to assassinate him failed.

Those killed were Criselio Torresola, New York, one of the gunmen, and Pvt. Leslie Coffelt, 40, of the secret service. Injured were Oscar Collazo, 37, New York, the other gunman, critically; Officer Don T. Birdzell, 41, who is expected to recover, and Officer Joseph H. Downs, 44, critically. Wednesday night the surviving gunman was formally booked on a murder charge. It was the first conspiracy by two or more persons to kill a president of the United States since John Wilkes Booth shot Abraham Lincoln in a plot to wipe out the whole leadership of the government. Mr. Truman was taking a nap at the time the assassins stormed his home. The shots awakened him but he was unhurt. Found in Torresola's pocket were two letters from Pedro Albizu Campos, leader of Puerto Rico's violently anti-United States party. In New York, Mrs. Collazo said her husband belonged to the Nationalist party whose revolution in Puerto Rico was put down earlier this week with a loss of more than 30 lives.

Connection Not Clear The connection between Torresola and Collazo was not immediately made clear. But in one of the letters Campos, the revolutionary leader, told Torresola: 'If for any reason it should be necessary for you to assume the leadership of the movement in the United States, you will do so without hesitation of any kind.' Collazo told secret service agents: 'We came here for the express purpose of shooting the President.' Here is the scene, as pieced together from eyewitness accounts. At 1:15 p.m. (Iowa time) he was calm on Wednesday's lovely fall day. Then pandemonium.

Didn't Attract Attention U. E. Baugham, chief of the secret service, said that Collazo stroled by the sentry box on one side of Blair house without attracting notice. He went along Pennsylvania avenue sidewalk until he was within 10 feet of the entrance. Birdzell was there, but facing the other way. He heard a click, and turned. Collazo said nothing, but opened fire. Birdzell rushed into the street, even though hit. He said he was trying to draw the fire away from the Blair house. By this time, Officer Floyd Borng, standing outside the sentry box, and Officer Joseph O. Davidson, who was inside, opened fire. One of them dropped him. Neither knows who fired the shot that dropped Collazo. He fell at the foot of the steps. One report said he actually had gone up a few steps before the bullets mowed him down. Torresola was operating to the west of Blair house. What happened here is confused. Torresola is dead, one of the men who shot him is dead, and the other is in critical condition.

Reds Encircle U.S. Regiment

SEOUL (THURSDAY) (AP) - Chinese and North Korean tanked troops heavily attacked United Nations forces in northwest Korea Wednesday night, surrounding an American regiment and forcing other units to withdraw. A U.S. first corps spokesman said the situation was 'very serious.' For the first time, the spokesman admitted that 'Chinese troops' were attacking in the north. Corps officers cautiously added they were 'not sure whether Chinese troops form the bulk of enemy forces which have thrown the UN off balance for the moment.'

First Dad Candidate Named

The first candidate for the title of 1950 'Student Dad' was named Wednesday as Earl Zehr, M2, Manson, was selected to represent Riverdale. The victorious Student Dad will be presented between halves of the Iowa-Illinois football game as a climax to the Dad's day weekend festivities. Among the activities scheduled for the two-day celebration are a pep rally and Dad's day dance Nov. 10 and open houses at all SUI housing units on the morning of Nov. 11 before the football game. Parents of students who buy tickets for the dance at the Iowa Union will be admitted free. Elliot Lawrence and his orchestra will provide the music. The fathers of all varsity football players have been invited as guests of SUI, Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce said. Schedules of Dad's day activities are available in the office of student affairs and at the Iowa Union desk.

Hancher Begins 11th Year Today As SUI President

Virgil M. Hancher will start his 11th year as president of SUI today. He assumed his duties at Iowa Nov. 2, 1940, and was formally inaugurated in May of that year. The 13th president of SUI, Hancher is the 17th man to hold the office on either a regular or acting basis since Amos Dean became the first president in 1855. Only three men have held the position for a longer period of time. Taking over the presidency just before the beginning of World War II, Hancher directed a number of wartime programs at SUI in which 22,879 persons were trained in cooperation with the war effort. The largest program was the navy pre-flight school which trained 21,014. The 54-year-old president came to SUI in 1940 from a Chicago legal firm in which he held a partnership. He had practiced law in Chicago since 1924. Hancher is secretary-treasurer of the Association of American Universities and a trustee of the Teacher's Insurance and Annuity association. He is a member of a committee which names candidates from the midwest for the Rhodes scholarship, and is a former Rhodes scholar himself. He is serving on the executive committee and the committee on relationships of institutions of high education to the federal government of the American council on education.

Never Arm Germany, French Still Insist

WASHINGTON (AP) - French Defense Minister Jules Moch predicted Wednesday that France never will give up its opposition to the creation of German divisions for the North Atlantic defense force. He gave his opinion at a news conference only a few hours after Secretary of State Acheson had predicted that the Western democracies shortly will work out an arrangement to include German units in the force. Just how far apart the French and American cabinet members were was not immediately certain since Acheson did not say what size German units he had in mind. However, the disagreement over use of German fighting power was sharp enough to have been the cause of a deadlock on creation of the composite force.

Pepp Rally Planned For 9 A.M. Friday A pep rally end-off is planned for 9 a.m. Friday when the Hawkeyes will leave for Saturday afternoon's football game with Minnesota. The rally will be in front of the Hotel Jefferson, where the team will board buses for the Cedar Rapids airport. Chartered planes will fly them to Minneapolis. Coach Leonard Raffensperger Wednesday night expressed appreciation for the backing students have given the team this year. 'The support of the students is very necessary,' Raffensperger said. 'The loyalty shown by the student body after the Ohio State game has been gratifying.'

Lie's Term Extended 3 Years FLUSHING, N. Y. - The United Nations general assembly Wednesday extended Trygve Lie's term as secretary-general for three years in the face of a Russian threat that it 'will not deal with him.' The final vote on extending Lie's term to Feb. 2, 1954, was 46 to 5 with eight abstentions. The Russian bloc alone voted against him. Lie deliberately stayed away from the assembly while it discussed him. He returned Wednesday afternoon, accepted the extension, and pledged himself to work for peace through universal collective security against armed aggression. Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky fought to the last to delay action. He accused Warren R. Austin, U.S. delegate, of trying to rush the issue through the assembly. Austin said the Russians were trying to punish Lie for taking a strong stand against Communist North Korean aggression. Vishinsky denied this and attacked Lie as a 'stooge' for the United States.

Local Woman Leaps to Death In Iowa River

A 68-year-old Iowa City widow drowned in the Iowa river after jumping from the City park bridge at 9:20 a.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Clara Pepler, 612 S. Johnson street, was pronounced dead by Dr. George D. Callahan, county coroner, at 10:40 a.m. after firemen had tried vainly for 45 minutes to revive her. The body, floating face down in the river, was recovered within twenty minutes by Assistant Police Chief Joe Dolezal and Fireman Donald Dolezal. Dr. Callahan termed the death a suicide. No reason was known, but a card found in Mrs. Pepler's purse, which she left on the bridge, indicated she was scheduled for an eye examination at University hospitals Tuesday. The body was taken to Hohen-schuh mortuary where funeral arrangements are being made. She is survived by two daughters, Della Pepler, a University hospitals technician, and Mrs. Norma Valder, Knoxville, Iowa.

Les Brown Band To Play Nov. 17 For Spinsters' Spree Les Brown and his 'Band of Renown' will play at the Spinsters' Spree Nov. 17 in the Iowa Union. Ann Lawson, publicity chairman for the annual woman-take-man dance, announced Wednesday that tickets will go on sale Nov. 13 at $4 per couple. Five hundred tickets will be released at 8 a.m. and 300 more at 3 p.m. from the desk in the Union lobby, Miss Lawson said. Brown and his band currently are touring United States bases in the Pacific with the Bob Hope show. Brown has been with the Hope group for the past three years. The band features three vocalists—Butch Stone, Lucy Ann Polk and Stumpy Brown. Last year the band was awarded first place in a poll of 500 colleges taken by National Campus magazine. Brown's record, 'I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm,' was voted the number one instrumental of the year. Spinster's Spree is sponsored each year at SUI by the University Women's association.

U.S. Concerned ...

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States takes a serious view of Communist China's intervention in the Korean war and the reported Red invasion of Tibet, Secretary of State Dean Acheson said Wednesday. He told a news conference this country is deeply concerned about recent Chinese Red military moves. It would be a most unfortunate and unhappy thing, he added solemnly, if further aggression occurs in Asia.

Fire Damages Shed, Explodes Beer Kegs

Fire Wednesday night caused minor damage to a storage shed behind the Englert Ice company, 319 E. Market street. The shed contained beer, several kegs of which exploded from the heat. No damage estimate was given, but firemen reported little had been burned but the shed's frame. Several hundred students and townspeople gathered to watch firemen battle the blaze.

In Church to Prey

TULSA, OKLA. (AP) - A cloak room in a hallway of the Trinity Episcopal church displayed the following sign: 'Please do not leave hats or coats here unless attendant is on duty. Thieves sometimes come into the church to prey.'

Location Changed For Medical Exam

The site of the college of medicine admission test has been changed to lecture room 1, medical laboratory building, according to Robert Ebel, head of SUI examinations service. The test was originally scheduled for the geology building. It will begin at 8:30 a.m. Monday, Nov. 6, and last all day. Students who are required to take the test should arrange with their instructors to make up any missed classes. Only those students who have previously registered for the test will be admitted.

Dramatist Shaw Dies at 94

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, ENG. (THURSDAY) (AP) - George Bernard Shaw, one of the modern age's greatest dramatists and its most caustic critic, died today at the age of 94. The white-bearded Irish-born sage, whose wit was renowned throughout the world for a half century, succumbed at 11:05 p.m. Wednesday (Iowa time).

Polio Total Here Now Exceeds 1949

More than 500 polio patients have been admitted to University hospitals since Jan. 1, passing the 1949 total of 442. With two months remaining — and with cases still being admitted daily — the 1950 total may near the 600 mark, hospital officials predicted Wednesday. One new patient, Beverly Woolley, 12, Waterloo, was admitted in 'fair' condition Wednesday. Active cases totaled 17 as Marilyn, 7, and Darrell Duvall, 12, were transferred to the inactive ward, and Dean Kisting, 4, Keosauqua, was discharged. All SUI students attending the Iowa-Minnesota football game at Minneapolis have been invited to attend the Homecoming dance at 9 p.m. in the Minnesota Union. A letter from Minnesota's hospitality committee to SUI's Tailfeathers club, said that the bands of Percy Hugh, Larry Green and 'Big Stoop' Chamberlin will play. Tickets will cost $3 per couple.

54 Ticketed for Violating New Parking Rules

Fifty-four students, staff, and faculty members were ticketed Wednesday by SUI's three full-time campus policemen for parking violations as SUI's new parking regulations went into effect. Twelve of the 54 also received tickets for failure to have cars properly identified. The first day of enforcement of the new regulations brought parking tickets for these offenses: Fire hydrant parking 4, parking on lawns 38, angle parking in parallel zone 4, parking in a service drive 2, blocking a roadway by student parking in faculty lot 1, and parking beside yellow-painted curb 4. The first offense fine for a parking violation is $1, and for lack of identification $5. In addition to the ticket on the car, each driver will be notified of his fine by postcard, Fred W. Ambrose, parking chairman, said Wednesday. These fines automatically will be entered on the individual's account in the business office, Ambrose said. Students will be required to pay them before being allowed to register for another semester, and staff and faculty members will be billed for fines with their paychecks. Appeals from fines may be made in writing by student to the dean of students, by faculty members to the provost, and by staff members to the business office. Exact regulations for hours and days of restriction on the eight faculty and staff parking lots have not been announced. These times will be posted on each lot. 'In general,' Ambrose said, 'we don't want to restrict the lots any more than necessary. For the most part, they will be restricted to authorized users only during class hours.' Official stickers for faculty and staff members, enabling them to park in restricted lots, are not ready, Ambrose said, but will be given out in the near future.

Prof. Kurtz to Attend Midwest Power Meeting

Prof. E. B. Kurtz, head of the electrical engineering department, will attend a meeting of the University Representatives of the Midwest Power conference in Chicago today.

The program for the three-day conference to be held April 4-6, 1951, will be planned at this meeting.

The April meeting will be the 13th annual conference the group has sponsored. Nine midwest schools, including SUI, sponsor the power conference.

Approximately 3,000 engineers throughout the country are expected to attend the meeting.

Boy in 'Good' Condition After Accident on Farm

James Kenneth Harney, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Harney, route 7, was reported in "good" condition at home Wednesday from bruises and a broken finger received in a wagon accident Saturday.

The boy was injured when he fell from a farm wagon and was struck by the wheels.

He received treatment at Mercy hospital and was released Sunday afternoon.

Five Students Named To Hawkeye Staff

The appointment of five SUI students to editorial positions on the Hawkeye staff was announced today by Daniel L. Miller, A4, Hagerstown, Md., yearbook editor.

pleman, A3, Elmhurst, Ill., executive secretary.

Miller said the appointments will run until the end of the school year. They have been approved by the board of student publications.

Editors for sports, activities and athletics have yet to be appointed, Miller said. Interested persons are invited to fill out applications at the Hawkeye office, Iowa avenue temporary building B.

Navy to Call 31,000 Men, Expand Fleet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The navy announced Wednesday it will call up 31,000 enlisted reserves and an undisclosed number of reserve officers during the first half of 1951 to man its expanded and stabilized fleet.

An additional 5,000 enlisted reserves will be recalled each month following June, 1951.

Non-Commissioned Officers

The latter group, however, will just about fill gaps in navy ranks created by the discharge of some 5,000 "involuntary" enlisted reserves a month, beginning next July. The navy also plans to muster out officers pressed into service involuntarily at the rate of 1,500 a month starting in October, 1951.

The navy said about half the enlisted men called to duty in the first six months of 1951 will be non-commissioned officers. The rest will be non-rated men in low pay grades who have had at least six months' training.

Possible 400 - Ship Fleet

Most of the officers to be called up will be general duty officers of or below the rank of lieutenant commander. The navy said it needs few aviators, ground aviation specialists, or experts in shore duty posts.

While the navy did not say so, it apparently is building up for a possible 400-ship fleet. The force reportedly is being planned to help the United States carry out world wide commitments under the United Nations and the Atlantic Pact treaty.

4 Students to Discuss European Summer Trips

A panel of four SUI students will discuss their trips to Europe last summer at the meeting of Information First at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Members of the panel are Richard Larew, E2, Iowa City; Peter Van Metre, L1, Waterloo; Constance Jewett, A3, Des Moines, and Carol Shuttleworth, A4, New York.

Prof. John H. Haefner, head of social studies at University high school, will lead the discussion.

Broken Table Fork Taken from Intestine of Muscatine Trucker

A truck driver who placed a table fork in his mouth last week, intending to use it to scrape grease from a bolt, was patient at University hospitals Wednesday after the fork, broken in two pieces, was removed from his abdomen.

Gilbert Parker, 46, who lives near Muscatine, told hospital authorities he accidentally swallowed the fork last week while attempting to repair a truck differential.

Intending to use the fork for scraping grease from a bolt, Parker placed it in his mouth and swallowed it when the bolt dropped out.

Experiencing no pain for a couple of days, Parker forgot about the swallowed fork. He appealed for aid only after he began to feel the effects Friday.

He was taken to the Monroe hospital at Unionville, Mo., where X-rays showed the fork lodged in his intestines.

He was brought to University hospitals for surgery.

Hospital officials said the fork times twice had pierced his intestines.

Husbands Choose Black Lingerie

NEW YORK (AP) — Turn a husband loose at a lingerie counter, and nine chances out of ten he'll buy the little woman something black and lacy, according to lingerie designers.

And the season for black is approaching, since pre-Christmas days find more men blushing heading for lingerie departments.

"It is the only season when lingerie ever seems to be on the male shopping list," said Mrs. Ruth Flaum, a designer who specializes in glamorous slips and nightgowns.

Women Prefer White

"Women have been very negligent about following up this obvious sign of their husbands' tastes in lingerie colors. They're missing a wonderful opportunity."

Women, according to the lingerie manufacturers association, still prefer white underthings.

Like it or not, ladies might as well prepare for more black nighties and slips than ever this year, since manufacturers are taking full advantage of the preferences of male lingerie customers.

There's a slip with a flesh-colored nylon top covered with black embroidered scrolls, for instance. It's so fancy the top can be worn as an evening dress, with the addition of a black embroidered nylon net overskirt.

Worn as Evening Dress

Mrs. Flaum designed a cami-sole-topped slip with a gold brocade bodice and a black crepe skirt. Another designer came up with a strapless black velvet-topped slip, with a black satin skirt. It can have an overskirt added and be worn as a dress-top too.

A nightgown with a permanently-pleated skirt of bright orange net and a top of black lace was described by lingerie designer John Norman as "the sort of thing a man would buy."

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Foust, 55 Hawkeye village, are parents of a girl born Monday. Foust is a graduate student at SUI from Montoursville, Pa.

David Miller, A1, Davenport, has assumed the presidency of the Theta Xi pledge class, fraternity President Marvin Luehrs, A3, Sheboygan, Wis., said Wednesday. Miller, former pledge vice-president, replaces John Seesser, A1, Clinton, who resigned due to pressure of studies. David Cook, A1, Sioux City, was elected new vice-president.

Sorority Pledges Elect Class Officers

Two SUI students have been initiated into Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority, and pledge class officers have been elected. President Emily Pratt, A4, Council Bluffs, announced Wednesday. New initiates are Janice Flood, A1, Clayton, Mo., and Barbara Bierman, A4, Sioux City.

Pledge officers are Beth Larsen, A2, Waterloo, president; Marilyn Romey, A3, Mason City, secretary; Joanne Voss, A2, Ft. Dodge, treasurer; Darlene Scott, A2, Ft. Dodge, activities chairman; Lois Ann Gordon, A2, Des Moines, scholarship chairman, and Dianne Barnhouse, A3, Oskaloosa, song leader.

Professor's Daughter —

20-Year-Old Broadway Dancer 'Loves' Stage

Being a dancer in a Broadway show doesn't leave a girl much time for social life — especially if she's in a television show on her day off.

At least that is what Norma Thornton says, and she should know — she dances in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" at the Ziegfeld theater six nights a week, and appears in the "Toast of the Town" television shows on Sundays.

Yearly Vacation

Miss Thornton, 20, the daughter of Prof. Harrison J. Thornton, SUI history department, is home on her yearly vacation of one week.

She says that the only chance she gets to date is after the show closes at 11:15 nightly. So when she goes out, she automatically stays out — into the morning hours.

But does she get to sleep late the next day? Of course not! On Monday and Tuesday she helps her room-mate clean up the apartment and do the washing.

Wednesday is a matinee day at the theater, which means she has to be on hand early for make-up.

Thursday and Friday she has television rehearsals and costume fittings. And Saturday? — you guessed it — another matinee.

TV Show

The television show goes on from 8 to 9 p.m. Sunday. But she has to be at the studio all day for rehearsals.

In addition, Miss Thornton goes to school! She takes ballet lessons from the Russian dancer Platova in the few extra hours she finds on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

"It's a grueling life — but I love it," Miss Thornton says.

There is just one thing that makes her slightly peeved: Billy Rose, owner of the Ziegfeld theater, won't permit cast members to bring food into the building.

Miss Thornton counts as one of her most embarrassing moments in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," the night she caught her heel in a long dress and fell flat on the stage.

STAGEFOLK ARE USUALLY SUPERSTITIOUS, but not Norma Thornton, now appearing in the Broadway show, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." Miss Thornton, the daughter of Prof. Harrison J. Thornton, proved that she had no fear of bad omens, by posing with Tinker, the neighbors black cat on Halloween night. Miss Thornton said she was born on Friday the 13th, too.

"I just got up and kept going," she said, "but afterwards some friends who were out front accused me of doing it on purpose just so they would notice me."

Miss Thornton graduated from University high school in 1947. She attended one summer session at SUI then went to Chicago to the Edna McRae school of dance.

After that it was the Golden Jubilee fashion show in New York, then "As the Girls Go," and now her present job.

She confesses that the girls in the musical were slightly surprised to learn that her father was a professor.

"And when I told them he taught history they all groaned," she added.

Does she think that gentlemen really do prefer blondes? — "I certainly hope not!" Miss Thornton has brown hair

Dr. Woods Resigns Zoning, Planning Job

Officials of Iowa City's zoning and planning commission were seeking a replacement for Dr. Andrew H. Woods, who resigned from the commission Wednesday.

Woods, 1100 N. Dubuque street, had served on the board for the past seven years. Although he did not directly state his reason for leaving the commission, Woods said the duties of the group "calls for an amount of time and thought which is out of proportion to the results" thus far attained by the commission.

Woods went on to say that he hoped his successor could help the commission with suggestions "that will lead to outstanding success."

City High to Present Operetta Nov. 16, 17

City high students will present "The Chimes of Normandy" operetta, by Robert Jean Planquette, Nov. 16 and 17, at the school auditorium.

Under the direction of Glenn Jablonski, the cast has been selected and rehearsals are underway. Lola Hughes is in charge of the dramatics and the orchestra will be directed by Laverne Wintermeyer.

Assumption of Virgin Mary Becomes Dogma

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The ancient Roman Catholic belief, the Virgin Mary was taken into heaven in body as well as spirit became an article of the church's creed by proclamation of Pope Pius XII in a spectacular ceremony Wednesday.

A multitude regarded here as the greatest assembly of its kind since the start of Christendom prayed and cheered under the eyes of the Pope in St. Peter's square. Vatican sources estimated the crowd numbered more than 500,000.

This all saints day — a day in which all saints are venerated — had witnessed the crowning event of the Catholic 1950 Holy Year jubilee. It will go down in history as the Jubilee of the Assumption.

From the moment of the proclamation of the dogma, or doctrine, of the assumption of Mary, the mother of Jesus Christ, all the 425-million communicants of the church were required to accept the belief or risk exposure to the sin of heresy.

Dogma Divinely Revealed
Pope Pius told churchmen, pilgrims and Romans who jammed the square under a brilliant sky that the dogma had been divinely revealed.

"Right from early times down through the centuries there are found proofs, indications and traces of this common faith of the church."

His papal bull set forth: "The immaculate mother of God, Mary ever virgin, when the course of her life on earth was finished was taken up body and soul into heaven."

LOVELAND LEADS IN POLL

DES MOINES (AP) — Al Loveland, Democratic candidate for the U.S. senate, has taken a narrow lead over Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, his Republican opponent, in farm popularity, a pre-election survey showed Wednesday.

4 Children Die In Farm Fire

GALESVILLE, WIS. (AP) — Fire swept through an isolated farmhouse before dawn Wednesday, burning to death four children trapped in an upstairs bedroom.

Ten others crowded into the Arthur Irving farmhouse five miles from Galesville escaped. But Mr. and Mrs. Irving were seriously burned and their eldest son, Tom, 20, was cut by glass trying to rescue the trapped youngsters.

Mr. and Mrs. Sondreal and their six children, including twin baby girls, were visiting the Irvings.

Galesville firemen believed that an oil lamp exploded and set fire to the frame house.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving, their son, Tom, and daughter, Margaret, 17, all were sleeping upstairs. They had to jump out a window.

Binet Gallery Exhibits SUI Graduate's Works

Myrwyn Eaton, SUI '26, has an exhibit of paintings of Quebec, Maine and Mexico scenes on display at the Binet gallery in New York.

Eaton is associate professor of fine arts and student advisor at Washington Square college, New York university.

During his exhibition in Paris last year, the magazine Les Nouvelles Littéraires called his colors "wonderfully warm and bright."

Other comments emphasized his "frank statements," and the imaginative quality of his works.

Music Teachers Name New Officers

New officers for the Iowa Music Teachers association have been announced by Prof. Herald I. Stark, SUI music department and retiring president of the organization.

At the annual meeting of the college and private music teachers Sunday and Monday at SUI, the delegates elected Paul Ray, Coe college, Cedar Rapids, as their new president.

Paul Beckhelm, Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, is the new vice-president and Olive Baker, Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, is the new secretary-treasurer.

Next year's convention will be held in Cedar Rapids, Stark said.

Lovett Urges Dental X-Rays Every 6 Months

Most people should have dental X-rays taken every six months, Prof. Duane Lovett, department of dentistry, told members of the American Dental association at their 91st annual conference in Atlantic City, N.J., Wednesday.

Lovett said these X-rays would determine whether breaks in tooth enamel have developed into cavities. He told the association that a survey of 644 male patients showed that 573, or 89 percent, had cavities in the beginning stages.

Patients 18-36
The patients, who were between the ages of 18 and 36, were examined at the SUI dental clinic. They had a total of 1,575 breaks in tooth enamel.

Whether these breaks should be repaired would depend upon the individual patient's age, diet, extent of cavities, mouth hygiene and physical health, Lovett said.

X-Rays Every 6 Months
But, in any case, they should be examined through dental X-rays every six months because they may lead to cavities in the tooth structure and should not be neglected, he added.

It is important that X-ray films be taken while dental treatment is in progress, Lovett said, in order to determine the size of the tooth pulp chamber and depth of the cavity.

IOWA WOMAN'S CLUB
The Iowa Woman's club will meet Thursday at 12:30 for a potluck lunch at the Marv O'Coldren home, 602 Clark street.

Two Women Die In Car Accident

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — Two Monmouth, Ill., women were fatally injured Wednesday in a disastrous accident in which officers said their car clipped off a power pole and two guard posts, then rammed the corner of a hangar at the Hunter airport, south of Cedar Rapids.

The women were Eleanor Harrison, 69, and Marie Harrison, 80, both of Monmouth.

They were driving north on highway 218 toward Cedar Rapids, had just passed a truck and were getting back into their lane of traffic when they lost control of the car, officers said.

When the car was finally stopped at the corner of the hangar, it hit with such force that a steel beam was bent and cut through the car. Eleanor, believed to have been the driver, was killed instantly. The other woman was thrown into the back seat, one arm nearly severed. She died later in a Cedar Rapids hospital.

Hawkeyes Continue Drilling On Defense Against Gophers

Iowa's football coaches kept hammering away on fundamentals Wednesday as the Hawkeyes held their next to last practice before leaving Friday for Minneapolis and their Saturday game with Minnesota.

A defensive unit drilled against Minnesota's plays run by a reserve team. The coaches weren't satisfied with the defense's work Tuesday and had the offensive team walk through the plays Thursday to give the defenders a good look.

Single Wing
Minnesota runs most of its plays from a single wing with double wing and T formations also used. Iowa's defense was especially vulnerable to passes Wednesday. Pass defense was stressed with better results Thursday.

The injury list resulting from the Ohio State game continued to dwindle Thursday. Quarterback Glenn Drahn was almost back to normal after suffering a severe leg bruise.

Ends Bob Hoff and Jerry Long were also recovering satisfactorily from injuries. End Arnold Caplan is the only player not expected to be in shape for Saturday's game. He suffered an ankle injury in blocking a kick against the Buckeyes.

Ginsberg, Comback Recovering
Lou Ginsberg and Don Comback, both out of the Ohio State game with injuries, appeared to be recovering.

Comback was hurt in the Purdue game and Ginsberg was injured at practice last week. Both are expected to be ready for the Gophers.

A 40-man squad will leave by plane from Cedar Rapids Friday morning. The Hawks will work out in Memorial stadium Friday afternoon and return to Cedar Rapids immediately after the game Saturday.

St. Ambrose Plays 13 Game Slate

DAVENPORT (AP) — Little St. Ambrose college is nearing the end of a 13 game football schedule but the boys on the team say they've liked it.

"I like a lot of games," says Tackle Art Michalik. "They're more fun than practice."

St. Ambrose, undefeated and untied last year, has eight victories and one loss on its record this season with four games still to play. The first nine games came at an average of one game every four days including a series of five games in one two-week period.

Nine Games is Plenty
Coach Larry "Moon" Mullins, one time Notre Dame fullback says a nine-game schedule is plenty. He explains that St. Ambrose broke with custom this year in order to play a revised Iowa conference schedule and also meet previous commitments with non-conference schools.

The packed schedule — it includes four Friday night-Sunday afternoon doubleheaders — keeps the coaching staff so busy working on defense against opponent, with different systems that offense suffers, Mullins says.

"It's a new experience on a Saturday afternoon to be talking about last night's game and preparing for tomorrow's tough encounter," Mullins remarked.

Assistant Coach George Strohmeyer puts it another way: "Sometimes we don't know whether we're coming or going. Once 'Moon' was firing the boys up for Iowa Wesleyan and kept talking about Omaha university, the team we were playing two days later. 'Moon' didn't realize he was mentioning the wrong school."

Silver Lining
Right End Dick Forbes says there's a silver lining. "Moon's practice sessions are usually as tough as our toughest games. So we might as well be racking up someone else instead of each other," he says.

And left half Tommy Greenan adds: "I don't mind those extra football games—it's those double-headers they throw at us in the classroom that wear me down."

St. Ambrose has only the routine run of bruises and ankle injuries.

Freshmen Scrimmage
Iowa's freshman football team will hold an intra-squad game today at 4:15 p.m. on the practice field east of the stadium.

The freshman squad will be divided into two units, a black and white team, Coach Wally Schwanz said.

MINNESOTA HOPEFUL
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Hopes for its first victory this season took a big jump Wednesday for the Minnesota football team which plays Iowa in a Homecoming game here Saturday. First string End Jerry Mitchell and Roger French, both believed unavailable, will be in the lineup.

Hawklets Risk Unbeaten Record at St. Ambrose

Undefeated City high will seek its eighth victory tonight when it faces St. Ambrose academy of Davenport at the Municipal stadium in Davenport. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Hawklets, 40-12 winners over East Waterloo last week, are decided favorites to top the Davenport eleven, which has won one game, lost three and tied two.

Title Clinched
City high has already clinched the Mississippi Valley conference title by beating Wilson, Roosevelt and Franklin of Cedar Rapids, Dubuque, Clinton, East Moline and East Waterloo.

Tonight's contest and next week's big battle with Davenport high are the remaining obstacles for a spotless record.

St. Ambrose, an all boys school with an enrollment of 718, holds a win over Alleman high of Rock Island and ties with Muscatine and St. Bede's of Peru, Ill. Defeats were by Marshalltown, Loras and Dowling.

New Coach
This will be St. Ambrose's second game under Coach Oscar Severson, who moved up when former boss John Oelerich was recalled to active duty by the navy. Severson was line coach under Oelerich.

The Knights have been described by City high Coach Frank Bates as fairly big and agile with a fine fullback in Tom Coughlin.

Glenn Drahn 'Athlete of Week'

GLENN DRAHN
Passing Quarterback

Glenn Drahn, Iowa's passing-punting quarterback, was named "athlete of the week" Wednesday.

The veteran signal caller was one of Iowa's few stars in the 83-21 loss to Ohio State. He figured in a majority of the Hawkeyes' 11 completed passes and shared a 41-yard punting average with Chuck Denning.

Until the Monona senior was injured in the fourth period he led an Iowa rally with a touch-down pass and sparked another scoring drive with a 45-yard aerial.

Drahn has been working out this week and should be in reasonably good shape for Saturday's Minnesota game.

Rickey Has Job Chandler Reports

CINCINNATI (AP) — Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler says Branch Rickey has a new job — but Branch Rickey says Branch Rickey doesn't have a job.

It's all a bit confusing, as things concerning the Mahatma sometimes are, but here's what happened:

Chandler, discussing Coast league affairs Wednesday, quoted Rickey as saying:

"We of the major league teams . . ."

A newsman stopped him with: "What major league team? Does Rickey have a job?"

The commissioner replied, with a laugh:

"Yes, and I know where he's going. But I can't tell you."

Bucks May Set Big Ten Offensive Record

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State's Buckeyes, No. 1 offensive team in the Western conference, may wind up the current season as the greatest offensive gridiron machine in conference "modern era" history.

The Bucks, with victories over Indiana, Minnesota and Iowa, are pacing the Big Ten. They have offensive marks of 52.3 points per conference game, 390.7 total yards per game, 5.4 yards for every play run and 8.1 for every pass play.

Michigan established the Big Ten scoring record in 1943 with an average of 34.5 points per game.

The Wolverines' undefeated 1947 team averaged 379.3 yards per game to establish the total offense record.

Ohio State presently is well ahead of both these marks. In addition, the Buckeyes lead the conference in the number of interceptions per game, four, and are averaging 31 yards for every kick-off returned — the best mark in the Big Ten.

Illinois ranks as the Big Ten's toughest defensive unit. The Illini have permitted opponents an average of only 144 yards per game, the best mark in the conference.

Gridders Have to Study Too

(AP Wirephoto)

KENTUCKY'S QUARTERBACK BABE PARELLI (right) and his roommate, Halfback Cliff Lawson aren't exempt from studying just because they're members of an undefeated football team. The Wildcats have bowed over seven opponents this year for fifth place ranking in the nation. Kentucky meets Florida this weekend. The only threat to Kentucky's undefeated season is Tennessee.

Pacific Coast League Takes Step Toward Major League Status

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Pacific Coast League appears to be creeping up on the major loop status it has sought for years. There's a good possibility the triple-A circuit will be classed 4-A, highest ever reached by a minor league, before the 1951 campaign rolls around.

Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, following a hearing on the Coast league's plea to be excused from all angles of baseball's annual draft, said Wednesday:

4-A Classification
"We've decided to give relief to the Coast league as the facts justify. Such relief may result in higher classification, possibly 4-A, under the national association structure."

Chandler said the Coast league had peculiar problems in that seven of its eight clubs are independently owned, it has a longer playing season, and it outdraws the other triple-A leagues at the gate.

The commissioner said a complete and immediate survey would be made of all angles of the Coast league before the major and minor league operation before the committee's recommendation is placed in St. Petersburg, Fla., in December.

"We are asking the same data of the International league and the American association, and there's a possibility their classification will be raised if they desire, and 'an qualify,' Chandler said.

Chandler declined to go into what relief from the draft would be given and Coast league, should its status be elevated, but Del

Webb of the New York Yankees and Branch Rickey, late of the Brooklyn Dodgers, two of the committee members, said:

"It wouldn't be out of line to infer that the draft price for Coast league players might be raised, or that the league might be able to keep a player a bit longer before he's eligible for draft."

New Draft Price
Via the grapevine it was learned one spokesman favored a $25,000 draft price for Coast league players, in place of the current $10,000. Another proposal was that the Coast draft be put on a voluntary basis, with a player being able to excuse himself from the draft when he signs his contract.

Presidents Bruce Dudley of the American association, and Frank J. Shaughnessy of the International league, sat in as observers. Shaughnessy had no comment after the session, but Dudley said:

"We'll furnish all the data the committee wants, but we have a little different problem than the Coast league. Seven of our teams are owned by major league clubs, while four of the International teams are owned by those higher up. We'll have to wait for the AA league meeting before deciding whether we desire to move up in classification."

Bill Reichardt, Faske Lead Loop in Rushing

Fullback Bill Reichardt and Halfback Jerry Faske rank one and two respectively in Big Ten rushing according to statistics released Wednesday.

Reichardt has gained 261 yards in four games for a 4.5 average, and Faske has made 243 yards for a 4.8 average.

Appling Agrees to Manage Memphis

CHICAGO — Luke Appling, shortstop with the Chicago White Sox for 20 years, agreed Wednesday to manage the Memphis Chickies, a Sox farm club in the Southern association.

Appling, who holds the major league record of 2,218 games played at shortstop and has a lifetime batting average of .310 in the big time, told Sox vice-President

Chuck Comiskey by telephone that he would take the job. He called from his home in Atlanta.

Comiskey had offered him the job 12 days ago but Appling had held off to take his pick of several offers.

Appling told Comiskey he would go to Memphis within the next few days to sign the contract.

Uclan's Donn Moomaw Named 'Lineman of Week'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Blond Donn Moomaw, belting linebacker on the UCLA football team, is the type of player a coach dreams about.

He loves the going when the going is tough, and he is the unhappiest guy on the bench when he's on the bench. He just likes to play football.

The big, six-foot-four, 220-pound sophomore, an all-around athlete at Santa Ana, Calif., high school, was genuinely elated Wednesday when told he had been selected as The Associated Press "lineman of the week."

So was his head coach, Henry R. (Red) Sanders, and line Coach Jim Myers, a young ex-Tennessee star who has learned and taught well the Sanders' theory of good old rock-sock, football.

"Mister," said Donn, "this is greatest honor of my life . . . but I want to give credit to the other defensive players on the UCLA football team."

Sanders said the big fellow has

"deserved and justified the nice things said about him," and Myers added, "Donn has done an outstanding job, not only in the Purdue game last Saturday, but in every other game this year. He's worthy of the 'lineman of the week' honor."

Donn is listed as a center but plays entirely on defense, ranging back of the line. He was originally an end in prep school and earned all-league honors. As a senior, he was named "lineman of the year."

Students Interested in WSSF to be Interviewed

Frank Sulewski, regional secretary of the World Student Service fund for the central region, will be at the YMCA office in the Iowa Union today for interviews with students interested in WSSF work.

He will be available for interviews between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 12 noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Appointments can be made in advance at the YMCA office, William Shields, C4, Newton, chairman of the SUI Campus Chest announced.

Sulewski's visit was arranged by the Campus Chest executive committee. He will meet with and advise chairmen and workers of the Campus Chest at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Macbride auditorium.

He is acquainted with conditions in Europe as a result of two years in France, Germany and Poland where he served as an official of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Sulewski's work in Germany included setting up the basic organization for the UNRRA in the British zone of Berlin. He also

Collection Suit Filed Against COD Owner

A collection suit for $758 was filed against G. W. McCormick, owner of the COD cleaners, 324 S. Madison street, Wednesday in Johnson county district court by the Day company of Cedar Rapids.

Plaintiff Burton H. Day claimed that he turned over 17 cushioned stools, a gas griddle, a food warmer, an electric coffee maker, and other such items to McCormick in October, 1949, and has not been paid for them as yet.

McCormick said the equipment was for the Ham'N'Egger restaurant which he formerly operated at 106 S. Capitol street.

Helped Organize Supply, Welfare, and Medical Teams There

He served as chief of administration of the Polish UNRRA mission which directed reconstruction and relief activities in conjunction with government officials. He also supervised the planning of the Polish UNRRA building which is still the headquarters for various relief agencies operating in the country.

The annual SUI Campus Chest drive is Nov. 8-11. WSSF is one of five organizations which benefits from the Campus Chest campaign. The others are CARE, SUI Displaced Persons committee, the American Cancer society, and National Scholarship Service Fund for Negro Students.

WITH ONE WATT OF POWER and a staff of 18, Hillcrest dormitory HILC went on the air with a record, "Eager Beaver." Dick Beemer, G. Mason City, took over the controls as first engineer, while program director Bill Idema, A4, did the announcing. Using home-made equipment and borrowed records, the station broadcasts 2 1/2 hours a week. Dorm residents hear their "local" station give announcements, sports news, play records, and do a weekly gossip session.

HILC Starts Second Year

One Watt Radio Station Serves Hillcrest; Aims Feature Records, News, Gossip

Broadcasts at 740 kilocycles with a rated power of one watt and has a maximum range of 150 feet, and "Eager Beaver" for a theme song. That's the story of Hillcrest's dormitory radio station, HILC.

On the air only 30 minutes a day from 5 to 5:30 p.m. five days a week, Iowa City's smallest radio station boasts a staff of 18, one of the largest in town.

With $125 worth of equipment including a microphone, a home-made turntable and sending set, about fifteen used records, and plenty of ambition, the station went on the air in Hillcrest last year to take the place of the dormitory's monthly newspaper, "The Crest."

Dick Beemer, G. Mason City, and Al Wentworth, A2, Marble Rock, originally built the set, and now claim the titles of first and second engineers. Funds for equipment were furnished by the dormitory council which voted the former newspaper allotment to the experiment.

The range of the unit is limited to the building. The steel framework of the dormitory helps in the operation by acting as an aerial for the radios in the building.

This fall, HILC practically doubled their equipment by the addition of an extra turn-table to eliminate the pauses while the engineer changed the record.

16 City Merchants Sponsoring First 'Fall Thrift Days'

Sixteen Iowa City merchants are cooperating to promote the first Fall Thrift Days beginning today and extending through Saturday.

"Fall Thrift Days is being staged as a companion event to the Spring Thrift Days which were started in 1947," Larry Housel, chairman of the Iowa City Retail Trade association, said.

"It is the hope of the cooperating merchants," he said, "that Thrift Days will continue to be staged in the fall as well as the spring."

Not Clearance Sales
Housel emphasized that Thrift Days aren't clearance sales. Merchants sell several articles at cost price and mark down many other items in their stores.

The number of merchants participating in Thrift Days has nearly doubled since its beginning in Iowa City.

"The public reception in the trade area to this promotion has been gratifying," Housel said.

Participating Merchants
Merchants participating in Thrift Days are: Stephen's men's store, Pearson's drug, Mannings mercantile, Younker's, Aldens department store, Gibb's drug, Morris furniture, Ewers men's store, St. Clair - Johnson men's store, Sears, Fulk's jewelry, Jackson's electric and gift shop, Willard's apparel shop, Penney's, Dunn's women's apparel, and Bremer's men's store.

Local English War Brides Organize Club

Talking about home is a favorite pastime, especially if home is another country.

A group of 12 English war brides, most of them wives of SUI students, have formed a club to do that.

"It's not that we're homesick. But it's nice to talk about England once in a while," Mrs. Sylvia Tallman, wife of an SUI law student, said.

The group plans to meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Louis Jurgensen, 1000 Finkbine park. Any English women who would like to attend should call Mrs. Tallman at 82194.

The club began when Mrs. Tallman and Mrs. F. M. Dawson, wife of the college of engineering's dean, decided to give a tea last week for English war brides in Iowa City at the Dawson home. (Mrs. Dawson was an English war bride of the First World War.)

Conversation centered around strange experiences in America. One woman said she confused a clerk here when she asked for a "reel of cotton," English term for spool of thread.

Several women found they had developed a fondness for corn, a rarity in England. Mrs. Tallman said she bought some in England after she and her husband were married, planning to surprise

Cast Selected for 'Adding Machine,' Expressionistic Play

The cast of "The Adding Machine", expressionistic play scheduled to open at University theater Nov. 8, has been announced by Prof. Gregory Foley, director. The play will run through Nov. 18. Ray Underwood, G. Muncie, Ind., will play the leading role of Mr. Zero, a department store clerk.

Cast in the role of his nagging wife is Jacqueline Brookes, A4, New York.

Others in the cast include Mary Joe Schutz, A4, Sheldon; John Harkins, A2, St. Louis, Mo.; Andrew Karwetz, A4, Joliet, Ill.; Reva Hatch, G, Edgewood; Jerry Tobias, G, St. Louis, Mo.; Marilyn Hart, A3, Keokuk.

Carmen Bonacci A3 Pittsburgh Pa.; Joan Goldstein A1, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Garford Graham, A2, Iowa City; Edith Moellering, A2, Iowa City; Russell Swafford, A4, Centerville; Elizabeth Engrav, A2, Iowa City.

Richard Arnold, G, Ames; Donna Anfinson, A1, Nevada; Ralph Levy, A4, Northampton, Mass.; Billie Hutchings, G, Lubbock, Texas; John Nugent, A4, Minneapolis, Minn.; Douglas Wells, G, Little Rock, Ark.; Robert Paulus, A3, Iowa City, and Robert Price, G, Greenfield, Ill.

The theater ticket office, room 8-A, Schaeffer hall, will open at 8:30 a.m. today to distribute tickets to students presenting I.D. cards.

Foley urged students to plan to attend one of the early performances of the play. He said that 477 tickets will be offered for each night.

Season ticket sales (for those without I.D. cards) will continue through the run of "The Adding Machine."

State Funds Offset Higher School Costs Beardsley Declares

CEGAR RAPIDS (AP)—Gov. William S. Beardsley said Wednesday night increased appropriations for Iowa's institutions of higher learning have been more than enough to offset enrollment increases and inflated costs.

The governor quoted figures to support his statement, prepared for a Linn county Republican campaign rally.

"The last legislature provided a 40 percent increase when they appropriated $33.8-million for the support of board of education institutions for the current two-year period," he said.

Beardsley emphasized that this compares with an appropriation of $25,710,000 for the previous two years, and $15,785,000 for the year ended June 30, 1947.

"In view of the fact that we have more than doubled the funds for the operation of our board of education institutions in just four years, I do not see how anyone can justly question the desire of this administration to deal generously with our colleges," Beardsley said.

HURLEY TO SPEAK

Thomas E. Hurley, Louisville, Ky., will speak Sunday at the First Methodist church on "Christ-Judge Patrick Stone said Henry Science: Scientific Restoration."

3 Fraternity Colonies Await Recognition

Three groups of SUI student men, organized as social fraternity colonies, are awaiting their opportunity to become recognized as chapters of national fraternities here.

The colonies are Acacia, Alpha Epsilon Pi, and Pi Kappa Phi.

Graham Marshall, head of the fraternity business office, said this is the first time he can recall so many colonies petitioning for charters at one time.

Under the new student code of life, it is necessary for a fraternity, before it can receive a charter at SUI, to go through two semesters as a colony.

An exception was made to this rule for fraternities recognized at SUI before World War II. Those who were forced to leave because of the war were allowed to return without approval of the committee on student life.

Probationary periods are granted petitioners if they have an alumni sponsoring committee in Iowa City and if they have at least 10 undergraduate members each of 2.0.

In addition they must agree to of student life and have no unobserved financial matters.

Two of the colonies, Alpha Epsilon Pi and Pi Kappa Phi, will be eligible for acceptance in February when they will have been active colonies at SUI for the necessary two semesters.

Alpha Epsilon Pi colony was organized last spring. It is the largest of the three colonies nationally, having 56 chapters.

Pi Kappa Phi has 46 national chapters.

Acacia, the newest colony, has 35 national chapters registered. Their petition will be decided on by the committee on student life next spring.

If the three colonies should be accepted as fraternities, it will boost the total to 20.

The last fraternity to be accepted at SUI was Phi Kappa, formerly known as Loyola house. Their charter was accepted this fall.

Senate Aspirants Spend $8,705 Total

(From The Wire Services)
WASHINGTON — Iowa's aspirants for the U.S. Senate were picked in the field of congressional election spending it was revealed Wednesday.

Republican incumbent Sen. Rourke B. Hickenlooper reported he spent $4,990 and received $4,425. His opponent, Albert J. Loveland, said he spent $3,715 and received $2,477.

Illinois hopefuls each spent more than 10 times as much as Hickenlooper and Loveland. Senate Democratic leader Scott W. Lucas said he spent $55,768 and received contributions of $66,795. His Republican opponent in the close Illinois senatorial race — Everett M. Dirksen — listed his expenditures at $51,646 and receipts at $53,863.

Sea Serpent Mystery Bothers Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maybe it's just Halloween spirit. Anyway, the National Geographic society nervously peeked over its shoulder and saw sea serpents.

The society noted in a news release that Danish scientists plan to plumb the ocean depths. The ocean is more than 35,000 feet deep in some places, and nobody knows what goes on down there.

The Danes hope to find out by lowering an apparatus on a 50,000-foot steel hawser during their two-year study.

What, asks the NGS, if they pull up a sea serpent? The sea serpent has a wonderful history. Consider these three examples dug up by National Geographic:

In 1817, a strange creature frolicked about the harbor of Gloucester, Mass. Plenty of people saw it. Most agreed it was a serpent with a head as large as a horse.

In 1905, two British scientists were cruising in Brazilian waters. A turtle-like head and neck about eight feet long was poked out of the water near the ship.

A strange monster of similar description was reported in 1917 by a British merchant ship. Several days later two German submarines in that area reported seeing what could have been the same character.

Most scientists think sea serpent stories are bunk. They point out that none has ever been discovered, dead or alive, to give scientific proof to the stories and legends.

Larson Gives Rule For Challenging Voters November 7

DES MOINES (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson's office ruled Wednesday that political party chancellors present at polling places on election day may see the voting slips signed by voters if the challengers wish to do so.

Under Iowa law each political party is allowed not to exceed three representatives at each polling place to challenge the right of persons to vote if they wish.

In many of the larger cities voters sign a slip giving their name, precinct number and address before they are allowed to vote.

The opinion of Oscar Strauss, assistant attorney general, said the law requires the judges and clerks of election to announce the name of each voter "in a loud clear voice" and that "in order to effectuate the purpose of the law giving judges and clerks of election and qualified voters the right to challenge any voter the political party representatives do have the right to see the name slips signed by the voter prior to voting."

The opinion was written at the request of James R. Brown of Mason City, county attorney of Cerro Gordo county.

Longer Work Week to Combat Manpower Shortage Proposed

CHICAGO (UP)—President C. E. Wilson of general motors corporation said recently that manpower will be the biggest shortage in the nation's new rearmament program and proposed a 45-hour week to combat it.

Difficulty of mass-producing war materials and military manpower needs will overtax our labor forces, Wilson said, and "since efficiency cannot be improved suddenly, we must work somewhat longer hours."

"Temporarily we should increase the average work week to as much as 45 hours in order to decrease the amount of consumer goods available and at the same time produce the necessary military goods," he said.

"Just how this can be worked out on a national scale, I appreciate, is quite a problem. Nevertheless, it is the only way to avoid more inflation and at the same time have both guns and butter."

High Standards
The federal wage and hour act now specifies a work week of 40 hours, with excess time to be paid at time and one-half.

Wilson told the American Society for Metals that war machinery can't be produced as fast as civilian goods because military equipment is not designed for mass production. Also, he said, such equipment is made of materials which are difficult to fabricate and must meet difficult standards.

"It took only about one-quarter as much steel to keep a war production worker employed as it did to keep an automobile worker employed prewar," he said.

Wilson urged that the government make known its requirements for military materials. "It would be very helpful and possibly reduce some of the fear buying that has been going on since Korea," he said.

Survey of Needs
"Without this careful appraisal of our material requirements," he said, "it will be impossible to make intelligent decisions regarding necessary curtailment of civilian production."

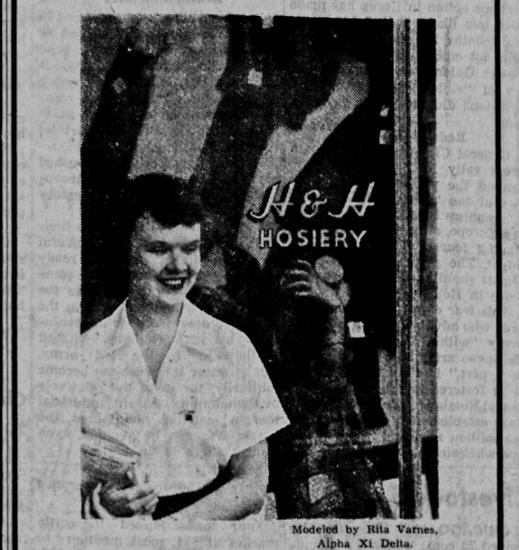

He also suggested a survey of stockpiling needs.

Present military contracts, Wilson said, probably won't absorb five percent of the automotive industry's manpower or two percent of its supplies during the next six months.

He predicted that despite recent credit restrictions on auto buying will allow motor production to continue on a "high level" unless there is some artificial and unnecessary additional curtailment of the business."

Rotary to Hear Fultz
Rotary District Governor Tom Fultz, Pella, will make his annual visit to the local Rotary club meeting at 12:15 p.m. today at Hotel Jefferson. He will conduct the meeting and hear reports from local committee chairmen.

Why Aren't They There? —

What's happened to the Union dances? Time was when the central party committee only needed to make arrangements for a dance, then stand back to avoid the stampede. Now they have to use every possible device to bring in a number of students which will pay the band's fee. Is it a question of money? Last year's experiments would discount this theory, because the committee tried bargain prices, medium prices and high prices—all of which were met with about the same enthusiasm we hold for final exam week. Is it because the Union has thumbs down on the bottle? This might be the reason, but liquor was just as much on the forbidden list a few years ago when Union dances were popular as it is now.

Is it because of the stiff, impersonal atmosphere at the dances? We admit that to us the air is rather impersonal and that getting a seat during intermission is rather difficult. But we don't know how valid that criticism is. If the same criticism is pretty generally felt by students, we think the committee would appreciate any suggestions.

Whatever the reasons may be, the trend seems to be away from participation in this part of the Union program, and it detracts from the idea of the Union as the center of student life.

The central party committee is not interested in making a profit on its dances—it only wants to break even and bring the best bands available to the SUI campus.

The committee also wants the students to have fun at the dances. Any ideas on why they don't attend?

UN Leaders Discuss Peace West Strives to Avoid War

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

While delegates to the United Nations discuss various suggestions for peace, the real activity among western leaders is centered around the entirely different matter of avoiding war.

The replies at Lake Success to Russia's latest so-called peace proposal emphasize the continuing belief that you can't do business with Stalin. Perhaps when western military power is sufficient to balance the Kremlin's, but not until then, anyway.

The prospects for avoiding a war any time soon are considered much better than those for peace. President Truman, somewhat more cautious than before the Korean outbreak, says he doesn't expect any trouble in Europe this winter.

John Foster Dulles says United Nations action in Korea has made war less likely now than it was six months ago. But the tension will not end, he added, until the Soviet Union learns that its policy of "violent intolerance and coercion" did not pay in the long run.

Reds at Low Tide
General Clay, just back from a great rally in Berlin centering around the presentation to that city of the "freedom bell," says communism is at low tide in western Europe, although there is continuing fear of Russian military might. The general's words came almost simultaneously with a war scare in Holland.

This fear expressed by the general, who advocates rearming Germany "within the concept of a European army of which it would be a part," is a continuing thing. It is fostered by the belief that Soviet Russia is maintaining a military establishment of from six to ten million men and spending an overwhelming proportion of her entire national budget on arms.

This armament goes far beyond anything that could normally be considered defensive purposes.

Passing up the always-inherent dangers of such Russian test thrusts as Korea and Indo-China, Germany is still considered the key to east-west relations, and the point where the ultimate showdown will come, if it comes.

Rearm Satellites

Russian military preparations in eastern Germany and the rest of her European sphere have been intensified. Eastern Germany is being rearmed, satellite armies are either under direct Russian command or are so organized as to be immediately usable as parts of the Russian army.

Fortifications are being rushed along the Baltic, and great troop-training centers have been established in that neighborhood.

Yet observers still stick to their estimates of the past several months—that Russia is not ready for war and will not be for some years; that she still clings to the idea that economic collapse in the west will open the door to revolutions by fifth columns, without participation by the Red army. The stronger the west can become militarily, the more the relatively overwhelming western industrial margin can be maintained, the longer war can be avoided, even though there is no peace.

Livestock Gains . . .

CHICAGO (AP) — Hogs generally gained 25 cents a hundred pounds Wednesday and cattle were steady to 50 cents higher in a fairly active trade for both classes. Sheep were fully steady.

Good and choice butcher weight hogs sold from $18.50 to $19.35 and a top of $19.40. Sows were mainly $16.50 to $19. Clearance was good.

Four loads topped the cattle market at $34, most medium to choice kinds meriting $26 to $33. Medium to good heifers were $26 to $31.50 and several choice loads made $32 to $32.50. Good cows ranged downward from $23.50, sausage bulls from $27, and choice vealers from $34.

Government, Publishers Tell of A-Bomb Defense

By The Associated Press

The combined forces of the United States government and three publishing concerns are being expected this week to convince the people of the United States that this is a tough world, and they had better learn to duck.

Following up recent civil defense board releases on what the atomic bomb can do and possible defense against it, the national security resources board is putting on sale, and distributing to state and local civilian defense officials throughout the country a 32-page booklet telling people how to survive an atomic attack.

The action comes simultaneously with publication by Bantam Books, Rinehart & Company, and the Combat Forces (formerly Infantry Journal) press of a more detailed volume in two formats, one for regular bookstore distribution and one for 77,000 newsstands.

What To Do
The object is to tell everybody what to do in an A-bomb raid. The new efforts are added to a tremendous volume of information which has been and is being published in the newspapers and magazines.

The United States has been slow to get started on civilian defense. Britain is far ahead, both in psychological and physical arrangements for meeting an atomic emergency. Britain, of course, is herself an atomic base, containing the B-29 fields at which an enemy would strike first should war breakout. The U.S. is an atomic base, too, but lies at a far safer range from Russian raiding bases.

So far, the campaigns have been conducted in an atmosphere of calm designed to prevent the spread of either panic or depression among the people.

People Prepared
Government officials are constantly reassuring that they do not expect atomic war, or any kind of war, at this time. They are hoping, by increasing the armed

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Champion of Freedom? . .

TO THE EDITOR:
A Republican advertisement in the Des Moines Register of last Sunday lists Senator Hickenlooper as a champion of Freedom. Yes, Mr. Hickenlooper, according to his voting record in "New Republic" has been a champion of the freedom of the Private Utility gang and Big Business in general. His voting record has always been down the N.A.M. and Chamber of Commerce alley. As a champion of Reaction he is ace-high. I wonder who sponsored him in the first place? and how did he happen to become Lt. Governor once after being defeated in the Primaries at that time?

Respectfully,

AFL Chief Urges Labor Legislation For Farm Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President William Green of the AFL urged Tuesday that all labor and social welfare legislation be broadened to take farm labor into full coverage.

The changes proposed by the American Federation of Labor chief would apply to all farm workers:

1. The National Labor Relations Act with its guarantees of rights for unions and their members in bargaining with employers.

2. The Fair Labor Standards act and its rules on working hours and minimum pay.

3. The Social Security program, including unemployment compensation, old age and survivors' insurance, and workmen's compensation for injuries on the job.

Green made his recommendations in a letter to Maurice T. Van Hecke, chairman of the President's commission on migratory labor, as part of a program to better the lot of itinerant workers.

When Ching was a young man he disliked the wretched economy which forced him to dig potatoes on a dreary windswept farm, he migrated to Boston — with $31 in his jeans. He was 24 and vigorous. But he paced the streets for two months without finding a job — and his $31 disappeared.

He realized then that industrial life was not the simple mechanism of farm life of that day. In desperation he pleaded for a job as a streetcar motorman. The superintendent told him he was too big to stand on a car platform. Young Ching wasn't stumped. "I'll hold my head outside the roof," he said — and got the job.

THREE YEARS later he was superintendent of equipment. Eight years after that he was assistant to the president. Between hours he studied law.

It was in middle life, however, that he began to make real strides. At 43 he was employed by the United States Rubber company. Ten years later he became chief of its industrial relations — and began making history.

Drawing on his own experience he pictured two sides to industrial relations. He spoke frankly to business executives — and to labor. He urged greater responsibility in union leadership, and close cooperation of management with labor. Not everyone was pleased with what Ching said, but the years proved him a man of great foresight.

WHEN World War II approached, the late Sidney Hillman, labor's top man in the New Deal administration, insisted that Ching come to Washington. That was his first big break — as a member of the national defense mediation board, then its successor, the W.L.B. "There is no magic in Washington," Ching said — but both management and labor credited him with it. When the war ended he returned

India Leans Toward West After Reds Blunder in Tibet

By The Associated Press
Prime Minister Nehru of India is reported to feel let down over Chinese Communist action in Tibet. He shouldn't have been surprised.

He has been told often enough that you can't do business with the Communists. Certainly Henry Wallace's recent public embarrassment and recantation of his advocacy of cooperation with Russia might have served the Indian leader as an object lesson.

It seemed obvious from the first that the one great effect of Peiping's order for the invasion of Tibet — whether it is physically pushed through or not — would be its impact on middle-of-the-road Nehru. India's position is bound to be considerably different when in direct contact with a militant China as compared to present operations behind a chain of buffer states.

Already India has sent a note to Peiping expressing formal disapproval of the invasion orders and threatening further action if the invasion actually occurs. One result might be withdrawal of India's sponsorship of Communist China for United Nations membership.

Indo-China Front Includes Mountains And Saigon Streets

SAIGON, FRENCH INDO-CHINA (AP) — The fluid front of the Indo-China war extends from the jungle-covered mountains of the Chinese border to the sidewalk cafes of Saigon, and nowhere in this country can a Frenchman feel safe at any hour of the day or night.

It's a merciless war, fought at Saigon against a backdrop of culture and beauty in the midst of complete civilization. In the north it's a primitive war where men fight and die in a mountain wilderness far removed from streets and cities.

There, outnumbered French and loyal Vietnamese troops cling desperately to mud and rock forts which guard the vital roads and passes linking Communist China with French-sponsored Vietnam. Airdrops and muletrains are often the only means by which the French have been able to supply and maintain communications with these lonely border outposts, which have fallen one by one under the relentless pressure of rebel hordes pouring out of hills and snake-filled jungles.

In Saigon it's different but equally bitter. Here along wide boulevards amidst Paris-style shopping districts it is a war of terror, where innocent-looking coolies, rickshaw boys, bellhops or waiters may be grenade-carrying members of the Vietminh. Seldom does a night pass that there isn't a bomb exploded or an assassin's bullet fired in the relentless fight against the French.

Juvenile Problem to Federal Courts

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the nation's newest laws arms the federal courts with broad powers to seek and try to cure the causes of juvenile delinquency.

The federal judges asked for it — enough of them, at least, to convince congress at the session ended in September.

They contended they were administering something far short of justice to youthful offenders, and that it was high time to amend the laws and give the wayward kids a better break.

The justice department backed them, contending seven of every 10 youngsters sent to corrective institutions come out as "hardened criminals," and that the old probation laws were of little benefit.

The American Bar association, American Legion groups and supreme court justices threw support to the bill. It finally passed, drawing small attention in the pre-adjudgment rush.

The old laws gave a judge authority to send a guilty youth to some federal institution, or place him on probation for anywhere up to a couple of years. It allowed no middle course.

The new one provides that middle course, while preserving also the right to sentence as before.

Under it, however, before pronouncing sentence the judge can send a youngster to a sort of clinic where specialists can take a month or more to analyze the case. Their job will be to try to find out what made a boy or girl go wrong, and try to figure out how to get the youngster back on the right track.

The judge can accept or reject any part or all of this advice. It allows him to recognize emotional and mental upset short of insanity and turn the youth over to specialists for treatment.

He can, if he chooses, help to get the lad a job, send him to some school to learn a trade or find him a better home — do any of a variety of things — while requiring long-term, skilled supervision so that different types of help may be substituted if the first guess was wrong.

The measure reorganizes the federal parole board, shifting authority to appoint members from the attorney general to the President and requiring senate approval of his selections. It increases the board from five members to eight.

Within the board it creates a youth corrections division to take active hold of the program. Various members of the parole board will constitute the division. Aiding the division will be an advisory corrections council, composed of a federal circuit judge, two U.S. district judges, and non-judges to plan a long-time war on juvenile delinquency and recommend improvement of the laws.

AT AN AGE WHEN MOST men retire Cyrus S. Ching takes on some of the most trying governmental problems.

Once Was Ph.D. Candidate

Former SUI Woman Pickets Grocery Here

People often think strikers and pickets are big, brawny men. But Iowa City has an exception to that popular idea. She is Betty Law, 26, who once studied for a Ph. D. degree in child welfare at SUI.

She is one of the pickets for the Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers local union in front of the Koza-McCollister Supermarket. She also is working as a governess to support herself while on strike.

Miss Law, an employee of the Self-Service grocery store until the strike began Sept. 13, gave up school at SUI "when it became obvious I was in the wrong field of study."

"I left SUI after discussing with department officials my discontent. It seems everyone was in complete accord with my leaving," she said.

She came to SUI from the University of Colorado, Boulder, in 1948 and left school last February. She became interested in the labor movement when the union first came to Iowa City last summer.

"I attended all the union meetings," she said, "and talked with union officials about what their aims and purposes were. Then I talked with my employer and heard his side."

"Weighing the two arguments, she decided that the union should have the right to organize employees in Iowa City and went on strike with several of her fellow workers."

"The union has done Iowa City one big service already," she said. "The grocer's association and their personnel plan would not have been formed without union pressure."

She expressed her amazement that some Iowa Citizens do not believe a woman should be a member of a picket line. But teenagers have given her the most trouble, yelling "smart remarks at me as they drive by."

Miss Law receives her room and board at the home of an Iowa City family. In return she cares for their three children.

She came from Dickinson, N. D., where her father was manager of a hotel.

Several people have asked her why a girl with her education and background is associated with this union strike.

"My only answer to such a silly question," she said, "is that a really good education qualifies a person to do many things—but that education never makes you too good for any job."

Senior in Law —

Son Sports Dad's Cane

By JOHN BICKERS

The traditional law cane now being carried by Dave Harris, Jefferson, is serving a second generation as a symbol of a senior law student.

Orville Harris, '17, Dave's father and a Jefferson lawyer, originally purchased the cane when the tradition began in 1917.

Dave's father voted against the practice of carrying the cane, but when the rule was instituted, he complied and bought the cane his son now carries. Dave is a judge of the Kangaroo court enforcing the rule which his father voted against.

The cane has been a big factor in his choice of a life work. Dave said, "Probably the desire to carry that cane influenced my choice of a law career as much as anything. I wanted to carry that cane in the same way that most kids want to be railroad engineers."

The cane is different from the heavy rubber-tipped one most students carry today. Dave's cane is a walking stick, with a silver band and metal tip. It is meant to be carried for style and not as an aid to walking.

After graduation in January, Dave plans to go back to Jefferson and work with his father. "I'll just put that walking stick up for the next generation of Harries," I guess," he said.

POPEYE, WE CAN'T GAIN AGAINST THE OFFSIDE DEMONS! HE IS IN A SPOT NOW FOR A FIELD GOAL!! FUMIL LOSES ON EVERY PLAY!!

FIELD GOAL, EH?

DON'T LET HIM KICK, BILL!

MAKE IT GOOD, FUMIL!

ETTA KETT By PAUL ROBINSON

HELLO, MRS. TIMMINS? I CAME TO SEE BILLY!

HE NEEDS CHEERING UP.

A BUSTED LEG, I GUESS THAT PUTS ME OUT OF THE GAME FOR THIS SEASON. JUST MY LUCK!

EVERYBODY'S BEING RIBBID BY BILLY. WHAT'LL YOU DO?

OH, I'LL STUDY AT HOME, THEN I'LL GET TO CLASS ON CRUTCHES. IT'S SIGNALS I'M WORRIED ABOUT.

HE'S TEAM MASCOT!

WITH THIS CEMENT SOCK I WON'T GET TO TAKE HIM FOR LONG WALKS.
