Red Forces Continue Attacking, Push UN Forces Back 50 Miles

Air Spotters Report Seeing Reserve Troops

TOKYO (FRIDAY) - Chinese and Korean Communist forces exploded another pre-dawn attack against United Nations troops in northwest Korea today, continuing a three-day drive that has forced American spearheads to withdraw as much as 50 miles.

Air spotters reported new ominous enemy movements behind the flaming lines. The new Red drive, signaled by bugle calls, cut deeply into the South Korean Seventh and Eighth divisions after overrunning two regiments of the U.S. First cavalry Thursday morning and forcing them to withdraw nine miles.

Threaten Base The Red gains struck within 17 miles of the big American supply base and airfield at Sinanju on the west coast and threatened to snap shut a trap around four South Korean and two American divisions which had been racing for the Yalu river.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the U.S. Eighth army, met the threat by calling the fresh U.S. Second infantry division out of reserve and throwing it into line along the Chongchon river northeast of Sinanju.

In eastern Korea, the U.S. Seventh regiment launched a general attack against Chinese and Korean Communist forces at Sudongni, 18 miles north of Hamhung, where the advance of the South Korean Third division was halted and thrown back earlier this week.

Worst Setback The Red attack in the northwest hit the U.S. First cavalry division near Unsan, 50 miles south of the Manchurian border, early Thursday morning and inflicted the worst setback to American arms since World War II's "battle of the bulge."

In its opening phases Wednesday the attack chipped up the South Korean Sixth division north of Unsan. Thursday morning it hit the U.S. First cavalry and South Korean First division at Unsan.

Before dawn today it hit the South Korean Seventh and Eighth divisions south and east of Unsan and speared within 2 1/2 miles of Kunuri, 14 miles northeast of Sinanju.

Hillcrest Protests Parking Regulations; 34 Fined Thursday SUI's new parking regulations were enforced for the second day Thursday and 34 violation tickets were issued to 29 students and SUI employees.

Hillcrest's council sent a letter protesting the regulations to the parking committee. Copies of the letter were sent to Business Manager Fred Ambrose, Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce, and R. J. Phillips, superintendent of maintenance.

The letter requested that the new regulations be suspended until adequate parking spaces are provided.

Hillcrest residents charge there are one-third fewer parking spaces than there are cars at the dormitories.

Newcomer Assigned One of the three campus policemen assigned to the parking detail is a newcomer to the campus force. He was hired Wednesday to insure adequate personnel to enforce the new parking regulations, Phillips said.

The remaining two men on the detail were members of the campus police force transferred from other duties.

L. Dale Faunce, dean of students, explained that consistent violation of the regulations, as with any other SUI regulation, would result in more severe action on the part of the University.

"Disciplinary Action" The third parking violation also carries "disciplinary action," as well as a $4 fine. The second offense fine is $2, and $1 for the first.

Faunce said Thursday that the "disciplinary action" would consist of marking a student's permanent record that he had received "disciplinary action."

War Casualties Number 27,610

WASHINGTON (AP) - The cumulative total of announced American casualties in the Korean fighting stood Thursday at 27,610, including 4,403 dead. The next of kin of that many fighting men had been notified through Oct. 27.

The figures, however, do not reflect all casualties sustained by American forces in the conflict, because of a lag - sometimes a week or more - between the time a casualty is recorded at company level and the time that relatives are notified.

The total was 909 larger than that announced a week before. In addition to the 4,403 dead, it included 18,879 non-fatally wounded and 4,330 who had been reported missing in action. Of the missing, two are known to have died after having been captured, and thus were reported under both the dead and missing categories.

Four hundred fifty of the missing have returned to United Nations military control, and 107 are known to have been captured.

The army suffered 23,987 of the casualties, the marine corps 3,142, the navy 284 and the air force 197.

Light Rain, Snow Predicted for Iowa

The weather bureau said Thursday Iowans experienced one of the warmest Octobers on record but colder temperatures are on the way.

Some light rain mixed with snow and well-below freezing temperatures are predicted for west and south-central Iowa today. In a special release the bureau said all car and truck drivers should make sure that a supply of anti-freeze is available on short notice.

"Hunters, fishermen and late vacationists should obtain the latest forecasts before leaving on extended trips," the bureau said. October was listed by statisticians as the seventh warmest October during the last 78 years. Record-breaking temperatures were reported at several points in the state Oct. 30.

Butler to Direct Panacea Musical

Ronald Butler, A2, Newton, will direct this year's Panacea musical, "In the Pink," scheduled for production in January, the Panacea committee announced Thursday.

Butler has scheduled tryouts for the all-student musical for Nov. 20 and 21 from 7 to 10 p.m. in Macbride hall.

"Anyone who can sing, dance or act is welcome to try out," Butler said. While stationed at Lackland air force base in San Antonio during World War II, Butler wrote, directed and produced nine musicals in 18 months, he said.

There he developed a directing technique which he intends to use in the SUI show. "I won't lay down rules for an actor's every move," Butler said. "I don't want robots on the stage; my goal is naturalness."

Students Describe European Trips

By WAYNE DANIELSON Buying steak dinners for 30 cents a plate in Austria, debating communism in a London street, and seeing nylons sold for $12 a pair in Italy, were some of the experiences told by four SUI students Thursday.

They were Peter Van Metre, L1, Waterloo; Richard Larew, E2, Iowa City; Constance Jewett, A3, Des Moines; and Carol Shuttleworth who spoke at Information First in Old Capitol.

This was second in a lecture series sponsored by the University Women's association. Prof. John Haefner head of social studies at University high school, led the discussion.

Van Metre said he found cafes in Austria selling "better meals than you can get in Iowa City" for 30 to 40 cents a plate.

Boy Dalai Lama of Tibet

TO ESCAPE RED CHINESE ARMIES, the Boy Dalai Lama of Tibet is expected to go to India. He has asked, and is expected to be given asylum there. Indian government officials have not indicated whether they will permit the Tibetans to form an exile government in Indian territory. Four Polls Open Today For SUI Mock Election

Four polling places will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today for SUI's "mock election." Students will cast their ballots for governor of Iowa and U.S. senator from Iowa.

Polling places will be at University hall, Schaeffer hall, the Iowa Union and the Quadrangle. The election is sponsored by the SUI Student council, and SUI's Young Democrats and Young Republicans.

All students are eligible to vote. There is no age requirement. I.D. cards must be presented to election officials before a student is permitted to vote. The cards will be punched to prevent students from voting more than once.

Students may cast ballots at any of the polling places. Vote on Convention The constitutional convention referendum will also be on the ballots for the "mock election."

Students will vote on whether a constitutional convention should be called to rewrite or revise the present state constitution. The question of changing representation in the legislature would be one of the issues if a convention were called.

SUI Young Democrats and Young Republicans will act as election officials at the polls. Iowa City officials have loaned polling equipment to the student council for the election.

Must Use 'X' Ballots must be marked with an 'X.' Those ballots marked differently will be disqualified. Votes will be counted by Student council members after the polls close at 5 p.m. Members of the two parties will watch the counting. Prof. Robert Ray, director of the institute of public affairs, advised the student council on election laws and preparation of the ballots. He will be moderator for any voting problem which might arise.

Vishinsky Attacks Dulles' No-Veto Plan FLUSHING, N.Y. (AP) - Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky Thursday made a stinging new attack against American Delegate John Foster Dulles, and drew a stern reprimand from the president of the United Nations general assembly.

Vishinsky devoted a major portion of a 100-minute speech to an attack on Dulles, one of the main architects of the issue under debate - the revolutionary American plan to give the veto-free assembly power to deal with aggression when the veto blocks security council action.

The Soviet foreign minister attacked Dulles as a "falsifier of facts and an inciter of a new war." He quoted liberally from a recent book by Dulles in an attempt to support his charge that Dulles carefully plotted to eliminate the veto.

Meanwhile the UN was notified officially by one of its committees that $250-million will be required as a starter next year for Korean relief and rehabilitation.

Larew said he got mixed up in a three-hour street debate with English Communists. He said that the Reds did not defend Russia but took great delight in attacking America.

"They were very persuasive speakers," Larew said. "If you believed them, you would find most Americans sitting in easy chairs with blondes on their laps." Miss Jewett declared that foreign languages are not necessary to get along in Europe. "I had more trouble making myself understood in England than I did on the continent," she said.

County Politicians Speak at Oxford 'Harvest' Meet

Johnson county politicians made last minute bids for election Thursday night at the annual Harvest festival in Oxford. A crowd of nearly 500 persons heard the appeals of the candidates for a heavy vote on election day Tuesday.

Thomas E. Martin, first district Republican candidate for representative in Congress, and his Democratic opponent, James D. France, gave the hottest political talks of the evening.

Martin criticized the military unpreparedness of the United States in the Korean war and condemned the mobilization plan as being weak. "It was the most cock-eyed mobilization for war I've seen - it's time we were waking up!" Martin said.

He also said that at the start of the Korean war the nation had just three choices: either sending reserves into action, telling troops to hang on until more were trained or send green men into battle when Korean attacks occurred.

France countered by saying that Martin had voted against the three Korean aid bills. "If he (Martin) ever was for military preparedness, I have never seen it," France said.

Frank Messer, Democratic candidate for judge of the Iowa supreme court, attacked the present court with its nine Republican justices. He urged making the court "non-political and non-partisan."

Others who spoke were Joseph Raim, Democrat, and G. M. Ludwig, Republican, candidates for state representative from the 41st district; William Meardon, Republican, and Jack White, Democrat, candidates for Johnson county attorney.

Lumir Jansa, unopposed Democratic candidate for county treasurer; R. Neilson Miller, unopposed Republican candidate for clerk of the district court.

Albert J. (Pat) Murphy, Republican, and James G. (Gee) Donohoe, Democrat, candidates for Johnson county sheriff.

Albert J. Loveland, Democratic candidate for senator from Iowa, who was scheduled to appear, spoke at Fairfield instead.

Straw Vote

In a straw vote conducted by The Daily Iowan Thursday night at the Oxford Harvest festival, 300 ballots were distributed and only 38 were returned.

Winners of the mock election were: U.S. senator, Democrat Albert Loveland; governor, Democrat Lester Gillette; lieutenant governor, Democrat Iver Christoffersen; secretary of state, Democrat Mary Kelleher; state auditor, Democrat Neil Little; state treasurer, Democrat Leonard Wegman.

Secretary of agriculture, Democrat Gale McClean; attorney general, Republican Robert Larson; U.S. representative for first district, Republican Thomas Martin; state representative for forty-first district, Republican G. M. Ludwig; Johnson county sheriff, Republican Albert J. (Pat) Murphy; Johnson county attorney, Republican William Meardon.

Pep Rally Planned For Hawks Today

Today's pep rally at 9 a.m. will be held in front of the Hotel Jefferson from which the Hawkeyes will leave for the Iowa-Minnesota football game.

Thirty-seven SUI students are planning to go to Minneapolis for the game. Traveling by a chartered bus, the group will leave the Iowa Union at 1 a.m. Saturday morning.

Two tours of the Minnesota campus are planned for the SUI students. Also, a joint Iowa-Minnesota party will be held in the Minnesota Union Saturday night.

SIoux CITY (AP) - The 54-year old combination bridge over the Missouri river, linking Sioux City and South Sioux City, Neb., will be offered debt free to the highway departments of Iowa and Nebraska by July 1, 1951, Sherman W. McKinley, manager of the bridge, announced here Thursday.

The bridge is owned by Dakota county, Nebraska, which bought it in 1938 by the issuance of $1,850,000 in revenue bonds and has operated it as a toll bridge for 13 years.

Truman on Shooting, 'It Makes You Sick'

WASHINGTON (AP) - The surviving Puerto Rican who tried to shoot President Truman as he slept was formally charged with murder Thursday and police began a mass international roundup of possible co-conspirators who also may face the death penalty.

Business as Usual Mr. Truman, unharmed and unruffled by the first attempt on his life, went about his business as usual and took his customary early morning stroll through downtown Washington.

The President voiced deep sorrow over the death of Coffey, a personal friend. "It makes me sick," he told reporters.

Kings, presidents and premiers of countries throughout western Europe and the free world sent messages to Truman expressing horror and shock at the attempt to kill him and offering congratulations on his escape.

In a preliminary hearing in the prison ward of Gallinger hospital, U.S. Commissioner Cyril S. Lawrence lodged first degree murder charges against 37-year-old Oscar Collazo of New York, one of the two Puerto Rican Nationalists who tried to shoot their way into the President's Blair house residence Wednesday afternoon.

Collazo and his confederate, Griselio Torresola of New York, were cut down by White House guards after a blazing gun battle in which Torresola and Guard Leslie Coffey were fatally wounded. Two other guards were wounded and still are hospitalized. Like Collazo they are expected to recover.

Lived on Relief The Puerto Rican killed by White House guards was revealed to have been "supporting" his wife and child on state unemployment benefits and relief.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond Hilliard said Griselio Torresola had been receiving jobless pay and relief money since the birth of his child last May.

Officials were convinced the assassination attempt was directly connected with the abortive Nationalist uprising in Puerto Rico earlier this week.

Hold Funeral Today For Suicide Victim

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Pepler, 68, will be held at 2:30 p.m. today at the Hohenschuh mortuary, with the Rev. P. Hewison Pollock, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating.

Mrs. Pepler drowned in the Iowa river near the City Park bridge Wednesday. She is survived by two daughters, Della Pepler of Iowa City, and Mrs. Norma Valder of Knoxville, and two grandsons.

Burial will be in the Oakland cemetery. Two tours of the Minnesota campus are planned for the SUI students. Also, a joint Iowa-Minnesota party will be held in the Minnesota Union Saturday night.

Population Increase Forces Shift of 28 Seats in House

WASHINGTON (From The Wire Services) - The population of the United States has climbed to 150,697,361 and will necessitate a switch of 28 seats in the house of representatives unless its membership is increased, it was reported Thursday.

It was a stride forward of 19,028,086, the greatest gain ever recorded in the national census, taken every ten years.

This was an increase of 14.5 percent. The official sum-up disclosed that one-third of all the states will gain or lose one or more congressmen in the apportionment of the 435 members beginning with the 1952 election. The seats are split up among the states according to a formula based on population, each state entitled to at least one seat.

Seven States Gain Seven states will gain in house representation and nine will lose, as follows: Gains - California 7 seats. Florida 2, Maryland 1, Michigan 1, Texas 1, Virginia 1, Washington 1.

Losses - Pennsylvania 3, Missouri 2, New York 2, Oklahoma 2, Arkansas 1, Illinois 1, Kentucky 1, Mississippi 1, Tennessee 1.

The census bureau figures out the new division of representation. Senators Unaffected Roughly, the number of house members elected in 1952 would average out three to about a million Americans. The census has no effect on the number of senators, which is fixed at two for each state.

Within seven days after the 82nd congress convenes in January, President Truman will transmit the census report containing new apportionment. Within another 15 days, this information is passed on to the states by congressional officials.

The states take care of their own realignment of congressional districts if any is necessary.

Statehood Pending Congress, which has the power of increasing the size of the house, could do so if it gives statehood to Alaska and Hawaii, as it is considering.

Pending bills provide for two house members for Hawaii and one for Alaska.

California, with 10,586,223 population, stepped into second place ahead of Pennsylvania. New York remained the largest state with 14,830,192.

Pennsylvania dropped to third

SUI Student, Alumni Dads' Nominations Are Due Saturday

Nominations for student and alumni dad must be turned into Omicron Delta Kappa, 111 University hall, by Saturday, it was announced Thursday.

All SUI students are eligible to nominate candidate for "Alumni Dad," but "Student Dad" candidates will be chosen only by married student's housing units.

Final selection will be made by Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary fraternity, sponsors of Dad's day weekend.

The two fathers will be presented at the Dad's Day dance Nov. 10, and at half time ceremonies of the Iowa-Illinois football game Nov. 11.

Elliot Lawrence's band will play for the dance to be held in the main lounge of the Iowa Union from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Political Candidates Speak to Iowans In Campaign Windup

Iowa election candidates swung into the last stretch before Tuesday's elections with a series of campaign speeches Thursday throughout the state.

Incumbent Gov. William S. Beardsley said in Davenport "the promise of a better future is drawing more and more young people to the Republican standard."

He said young men and women are "extremely aware" of the contrast between Iowa's balanced budget and sound financial condition and the continued "waste and extravagance" of the Democratic national administration.

At Fairfield, Albert J. Loveland, Democratic senatorial nominee, said "apparently my opponent is unwilling to give the people of Iowa access to official records" on his attendance at senate agriculture committee executive meetings.

Denounces Hickenlooper Loveland referred to the challenge he made Tuesday night to U.S. Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, who seeks Republican reelection. Loveland asked Hickenlooper to authorize the committee to release statistics on the senator's attendance at such meetings.

"The Republican candidate," Loveland said, "cannot prove that he attended 30 out of 34 meetings this year. He attended only 30 in the whole two years (of the present congress)."

But Hickenlooper rapped the National Democratic administration for what he called attempting to "ram a handpicked candidate down the throats of the people of Iowa" in a Dubuque speech.

"In 1938 it was Sen. Guy M. Gillette that the administration in Washington had marked for liquidation," Hickenlooper said. "This is 1950 and you know who the target is today."

"Then, as now, the wolf pack had its handpicked stalking horse - a candidate who was 100 percent behind any scheme the administration might cook up."

Germany, Yugoslavia Sign Trade Agreement FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) - An agreement whereby West Germany will grant Yugoslavia $35-million in trade credits over three years was signed Thursday by representatives of two countries.

Election Issue . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
One of the most important issues in the coming general election has received practically no publicity. This issue is whether or not a convention should be called to revise the constitution of Iowa. If the calling of such a convention is approved by the voters, the principal task would be the reapportionment of representation in the state legislature.

The 295,000 people of Iowa's smallest 25 counties have 25 representatives while the 428,000 people of Iowa's two largest counties have only 4 representatives. The gross inequality of the situation is apparent from the following:

COUNTY	No. of People	Representative
Adams	8,745	1
Clarke	9,344	1
Davis	9,898	1
Johnson	45,591	4
Linn	51,355	4
Polk	112,460	4

This type of unfair and undemocratic representation means that large numbers of our citizens are being deprived of their rights. The representatives of the majority of the farmers, workers and businessmen of Iowa can easily be outvoted by the representatives of a small minority of the population. Government by a minority is not compatible to our American tradition of government.

We sincerely hope that all voters will consider the above facts and vote in favor of calling such a convention.

say that if all the oratorical products of Messrs. Diekmann and McBurney run in a similar vein, then these men have been bypassed entirely by the concept of constructive argument.

Tricks Used
I could compose an impressive list of dishonest tricks which they employed in their arguments — if I may call them arguments. But perhaps the thing that hurts most — aside from the fact that we acted with such flagrant lack of dignity and empty-headedness — is the possibility that most of the audience was drugged by sarcastically clever American verbalisms to the extent that they did not realize how blank the mental sheet of our argument really was.

If anyone else has bothered to form an opinion about the 23rd international debate, I'd like to hear it.

Opposes Efficiency . . .
TO THE EDITOR:
Enough has been said about Hick's consistent votes AGAINST better housing to convince any of Iowans who desperately need better housing.

But look at his record on government efficiency. He's always talking about the "Washington bureaucrats." Granted that red tape and bureaucracy are to be avoided — whether in the Democratic administration in Washington or the Republican statehouse in Des Moines.

The Hoover commission — appointed by President Truman — studied this problem. Certain resolutions were then presented to congress to remedy the worst aspects of Washington bureaucracy. But what did Hick do? Did he back up these Hoover commission reports? He did not.

Against Plans
Hick did not vote for a single one of these proposals to improve government efficiency. He either voted against them or was absent.

There are record votes on three plans submitted in 1949, and 11 submitted in 1950. The Hoover committee recommended adoption of two of the plans in 1949, took no stand on one offered in 1950, and opposed only two of the 11 offered in 1950.

Yet Hickenlooper opposed all of these plans or failed to vote. Iowa should get a new senator — Al Loveland — to replace this man, Hick, who just talks about efficiency and votes against it.

Stocks Advance . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced decisively Thursday in the slowest trading in nearly two months.

Demand centered on steel shares most of the day. Toward the close oils stepped into the limelight. The advance followed three days of highly erratic price movements which reduced the market value of all shares listed on the exchange by roughly 1 billion. Thursday's rally just about halved the loss.

Only 1,580,000 shares of stock changed hands, the smallest total for a full day since Sept. 7. Business Wednesday amounted to 1,780,000 shares.

Soybeans Firm . . .

CHICAGO (AP) — A last minute spurt by soybeans featured a firm market on the board of trade Thursday.

While the rampaging bean market took the play toward the close, other sections of the list had speared by early advance. New seasonal highs were set by all oats, all soybean oil, all corn except December, and July rye and July soybeans.

Wheat closed at 1 1/4 lower to 1 3/4 higher, corn was 1 1/4-1 1/2 higher, oats were 1 to 1 1/2 higher, rye was 2 1/4-2 1/2 higher, soybeans were 5 to 6 1/2 higher and lard was 7 to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher.

one of these proposals to improve government efficiency. He either voted against them or was absent.

Student Voting —

All SUI students get a chance today to voice their opinions on the issues of the current gubernatorial and senatorial campaigns in Iowa.

A mock election for these two offices will be sponsored today by the SUI student council and the Young Democrats and Republicans.

Seldom has Iowa produced an election of such national interest as the present contest for senator, and the race for governor has produced issues in the last few weeks to satisfy almost any politician.

College students are known for having opinions beyond that which some older people think young people should have.

With the decrease in veteran enrollment, fewer students can express those opinions at the regular polling places.

This mock election, barring no one for age or residence, is the ideal opportunity for SUI students to express those opinions.

The polls will be open all day and four convenient locations have been provided: Schaeffer and University halls, the Iowa Union and the Quadrangle.

Here's a chance for students to blast anything they want to, whether it's Old Hector, Socialism, Red baiting or the Brannan plan.

Job Opportunities —

Excellent opportunities to locate jobs are being overlooked daily by SUI students nearing graduation.

The business and industrial placement office can help hundreds of students locate suitable jobs following their graduation from this university.

The office and its low-cost service was established July 1, 1948, and is directed by Miss Helen Barnes.

Miss Barnes equips herself for her task of finding the right person for the right job by conducting personal interviews with each registrant, by visiting business and industrial firms throughout the country, and by keeping up on information concerning placement offices at other colleges.

In the past two years Miss Barnes personally visited 135 industries and businesses from New York to Denver and from Minnesota to Kentucky.

Last year 479 students, of whom only 37 were women, registered at the office. Help-wanted calls came from 511 companies in 23 states. Each of these calls offered from one to 10 openings. Jobs were listed in more than 20 different fields with saleswork claiming 25 percent of the openings.

Many of the current job openings are for women and Miss Barnes especially urges women to register.

All seniors or graduate students in any college of this university other than engineering are eligible. (The college of engineering has its own placement office and there is an education placement office in East Hall for education majors interested in teaching positions.)

If a student wants a job in February or June, 1951, he will benefit by filling out a registration form now. This enables Miss Barnes to ascertain his capabilities and interests before the "busy season." Although interviews between employers and students take place throughout the school year, the schedule is heaviest from January through June.

While the placement office does not guarantee each registrant a job, it does arrange for him to meet employers. It is up to the student himself to land the job.

The serious job-seeking student shouldn't overlook this service, located in room 111 University hall.

U.S. Threatens Use of Veto To Elect Lie to UN Post

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The bitter debate, and subsequent extension of Trygve Lie's term as secretary general of the United Nations produced another of those regrettable situations in which the battle has transcended the object of the fight and the victory is hollow.

It may be a good thing to have the secretary general continue. Certainly it would have been a bad thing to let Russia retaliate against him for his actions under instructions from the other members.

But in the doing the United States has retreated from its longstanding position that the security council veto should not be used except in emergencies involving war and peace.

The small nations, which have campaigned against the veto and which accepted it in the beginning only on assurances from the big five that it would not be improperly used, have taken the U.S. action as sadly amiss.

U.S. Wrong
They think the U.S. was tactically wrong twice during the discussions. First, in permitting Russia to veto Lie's reappointment before other candidates could be fully considered, and secondly in announcing that the veto would be used to prevent selection of any other candidate. Not that the U.S. opposed the others but that she would not see Lie punished.

The criticism is being directed against Warren Austin, U.S. chief delegate who is understood to have planned the U.S. action, and President Truman, who is reported at Lake Success to have approved Austin's plans during his recent visit.

Canada Sends Ships, Planes, Men to Korea

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of articles on Canada's participation in the United Nations' struggle in Korea in curb world Communist aggression.)

By H. D. CRAWFORD
Central Press Correspondent

OTTAWA — Canada is supporting United Nations forces struggling to defeat the North Korean Communist aggressors and to prevent world communism from igniting the fuses of World War III.

Three Canadian destroyers have gone to Korean waters. Authority has been given the Royal Canadian navy to strengthen itself in preparation for other developments, including the support of ships already in the Far East.

This authority includes commissioning of more ships, bringing others up to their full complement, and recruiting additional men to enable the navy to perform its role of protecting sea lanes and defending Canadian coastal waters.

A long-range Royal Canadian air force transport squadron has placed United Nations badges on its six big four-engine transport planes and joined the important Pacific airlift service, carrying vital supplies to UN forces in Korea.

Canada is also recruiting a special infantry brigade, with its supporting arms, for use in Korea or wherever it may be needed in six months when the 4,000 or 5,000 men have been adequately trained.

Prime minister Louis St. Laurent has explained that this infantry brigade "will be specially trained and equipped to be available for use in carrying out Canada's obligations under the United Nations Charter or the North Atlantic Pact."

Canada's cabinet decided not to send present first-line regular units of the army out of the country at this time, said the Prime Minister, lest it "dangerously weaken our own immediate defenses."

Parliament, not now in session, will have to approve Canada's stepped-up armaments program, particularly the actual use of ground forces overseas.

Prime Minister St. Laurent sees the possibility that "the final defeat of the Communist aggressors in Korea will discourage aggression in other places because the risks will appear too great." In a recent address to Canadians, he added:

"If we are to avert the danger which threatens the free world, we must marshal and increase the resources available to resist aggression; we must build up military strength backed by industrial strength; we must accept the economic and financial policies which will enable us to maintain our strength."

When this writer talked with Prime Minister St. Laurent recently, the prime minister explained that his government "wants to do everything necessary. It wishes to conduct itself (in the Korean crisis) so that nobody else will fail to do his share because he believes Canada is not doing its share."

Canadians are particularly anxious to assume their full share in industrial mobilization. Consequently, the Aug. 8 meeting of the United States-Canadian Joint Industrial Mobilization committee was of great importance.

World War II taught that efficient industrial mobilization means continental war production, stripped of the red tape of border restrictions. That's why Canadians are anxious for a revival of some kind of Hyde Park agreement, which set up Joint Economic committees.

Mobilization of Canada's resources and manpower during World War II was impressive, and this wartime record indicates Canada's potentials for the future. Strength of the Canadian navy United Nations who could use them against the enemy and had not the means of payment.

Brooke Claxton, minister of National Defense, expressed some of the practical optimism you find among various Canadian leaders when he said recently in an appeal for army, navy and air force recruits that "being in as good a state of preparation as the resources made available permit, we will be doing our part to prevent war."

Claxton went ahead to emphasize that Canadians "look forward to the day when it will not be necessary to spend over 20 percent of our national budget on defense, to the day when nations and men will feel secure to work together to enjoy measures of prosperity and security we know we can have. The one thing that is preventing that today is the Communist appetite for power."

About 730,000 persons enlisted in the Canadian army. The air force enlisted 206,850 and had an operating strength in all theaters of over 60 squadrons.

Canada was the center of the Commonwealth Air Training plan, and 131,553 air crewmen, 38 percent of them pilots, trained in Canada.

DEFENSE MINISTER CLAXTON

Canada was the center of the Commonwealth Air Training plan, and 131,553 air crewmen, 38 percent of them pilots, trained in Canada.

Canadian forces at Dieppe were among the first to attack Nazi Europe. At home, Canada underwent an industrial transformation. It rose to second place among the world's exporting nations. Instead of accepting United States Lend-Lease, Canada set up its own mutual aid program and gave war supplies valued at more than $200-million to any UN member.

Bonds Light . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — There was light-activity in about every group in the bond market Thursday with prices generally rising fractions to two points.

Livestock Mixed . . .

CHICAGO (AP) — Livestock price trends were mixed Thursday with cattle showing the most consistent strength.

Hogs were mostly 10 to 15 cents lower in the barrows and gilts categories and sows were steady. Good and choice butcher weights sold from $18.50 to the top of $19.25 while sows took $16.25 to $19. Clearance was good on a run of 11,000 hogs which was Cattle ruled steady to strong, about 1,000 higher than expected. Medium to choice fed steers and yearlings took $26.50 to $32.75, a load of high-choice yearlings going on to $33.50. Good and choice fed heifers and mixed yearlings made $29 to $32.50 with a load of choice heifers in the batch at $32.25. Good cows topped at $23.50, sausage bulls at $27, and vealers at $34.

Look at Hick's Record . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
Other people have commented on Hickenlooper's sorry record on housing.

To this miserable lack of anything constructive to solve the housing problem, I would like to add these facts:

He voted against housing for low-income families in 1948 (Congressional Record, April 21, 1948, page 4797).

He voted to KILL the bill to provide housing for disabled veterans in 1947 (Congressional Record, July 19, 1947, page 9552).

And he voted AGAINST the bill to provide housing for veterans in 1946 (Congressional Record, April 10, 1946, page 3501).

Hickenlooper should be defeated in the election and Democrat Al Loveland elected so Iowans can get better housing.

Debate Questioned . . .

TO THE EDITOR:
I propose to stick my neck out by offering a few comments on the 23rd international debate. I have been ranting about it for the past 24 hours, but for the sake of the reader I shall try to condense my opinion.

To begin with, I think we insulted our visitors very greatly by not having bothered to prepare one legitimate opposition to the proposal under discussion. The sum total of our argument was: "We don't think democratic socialism is the best defense against communism because it is not what we have. What we have is best because." Just plain because.

I would like to soothe my feelings by telling myself that Mr. Diekmann and Mr. McBurney simply did not prepare their opposition — which, of course, is an insult to the visiting debaters in itself. However, I am forced to

This is a public safety service of your safety-minded businesses and this newspaper in cooperation with the Iowa Safety Congress.

Did you have a .22 rifle when you were a boy, or does your son have one now? They're a wonderful little weapon — accurate, handy, inexpensive. You can bring down squirrels from the highest tree or shoot rabbits clear over at the other side of a snow-covered field. A .22 is not too powerful; yet it can kill a human being.

"Or how about shotguns? Take a .410 for example, the smallest of the shotguns. It's handy for squirrels and rabbits — quail, too, if you're quick and good. Mostly a small game gun, yet a .410 can blind you up to 300 yards. Nearly, say within 50 yards, a .410 can kill a person easily.

The way to a man's heart is through his nose, not his stomach, according to the president of the Widow and Widowers' Club of America. She said this is the "age of smells" when men go for heavy perfumes, not steak and apple pie. She also said that men want youth. "Too many of them think a woman over 30 has lost her arches and her glands."

Here is a recipe for old-fashioned chocolate jumble cookies: sift 2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/2 teaspoon ginger. Add 1/2 cup each of shortening, sugar, molasses and sour milk. Add 1 egg and 1 package semi-sweet chocolate. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes.

Bradley, Greene Named Captains; Hawkeyes Conclude Preparations

Wilson May Start Against Minnesota

Harold Bradley and Bill Greene will co-captain Iowa against Minnesota, it was announced Thursday as the Hawkeyes went through final preparations for the Gophers with a light signal drill.

Coach Leonard Raffensperger termed the mental condition of the squad "as good as can be expected under the circumstances." One of the circumstances Raffensperger referred to was the 83-21 drubbing by Ohio State last week.

Coaches Can't Tell
"Of course you can't tell too much about mental condition," Raffensperger said. "A team can be up one day and down the next. I think, and a lot of people agree with me, that the coaches can't tell on Thursday night or even Saturday morning just how a team is prepared mentally."

Raffensperger reported Thursday that Andy Buntz and Arnold Caplan, both injured in the Ohio State game, wouldn't make the trip to Minnesota.

Glenn Drahn, also injured in the rough and tumble Buckeye game, has recovered almost completely this week and is expected to start at quarterback. Raffensperger hinted that "Chug" Wilson may replace Jerry Faske at right halfback. Wilson scored two of Iowa's three touchdowns against Ohio State.

Don Commaek is expected to be available for a least limited action although Raffensperger expressed doubt he would start the game. Bernard Bennett, sophomore from Mason City, will probably get his second straight starting assignment.

Traveling Squad
The 40-man traveling squad, which was to leave by plane this morning, is:

Ends — Bob Hoff, Don Bjork, Delmar Corbin, Jerry Long, Dick Meyers and Don Swartzendruber.
Tackles — Harold Bradley, Dudley Noble, Dave DeProspero, Hubert Johnston, Don Woodhouse, Joe Paulsen and Pete Spanjers.
Guards — "Junebug" Perrin, Ron Fairchild, Bob Lage, Lou Ginsberg, Austin Turner, Bill Baehr, Roy Huthinson.
Centers — John Towner, Ron Peterson and Jerry Hilgenberg.
Quarterbacks — Glenn Drahn, Fred Ruck, Jim Sangster and Burt Britzmann.
Halfbacks — Bernard Bennett, Bob Bostwick, Bill Block, Don Commaek, Jerry Faske, "Chug" Wilson, Duane Brandt, Bill Greene and Joe Bristol.
Fullbacks — Bill Reichardt, Mike Riley, Chuck Denning and Jerry Clark.

SMU--Texas Meeting Top Game of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Southern Methodist and Army, the nation's No. 1 and No. 2 college football teams by vote of the experts, find themselves looking squarely down the barrel this week.

The pass-throwing Mustangs of the Southwest conference face the most powerful foe remaining on their schedule in the Texas Longhorns, at Austin, Texas, and the Cadets clash at Philadelphia with a Pennsylvania eleven which has shown surprising strength since an early and close defeat by California.

The two games should go a long way toward indicating the mythical national champion for 1950, though supporters of Oklahoma, Ohio State, Kentucky and California might justifiably claim that is going a bit strong—California's supporters, in particular, if their team gets past Washington in their struggle at Seattle.

Southern Methodist, the only outfit to defeat vaunted Ohio State, is a one-touchdown favorite over once-beaten Texas in their showdown at Austin, but it is more or less axiomatic that anything can happen when the two southwest powers collide. Texas is ranked No. 7 in the current Associated Press poll, and its line is said to be a wonder.

Penn, which has appeared somewhat majestic in rending Columbia and Navy in its last two games, is capable of giving Army that jarring test the experts have been asking for Coach Earl Blaik's team. The unbeaten, only twice-scored-upon Cadets are two-touchdown favorites. The odds-makers figure that Al Pollard and his mates simply are too explosive for any college squad to contain for four periods.

A capacity crowd of 65,500 is promised for the Texas classic, and probably 68,000 will watch the Quakers and Cadets in their eastern show piece.

The day's third biggest game, if it is possible to grade them that accurately, will be the meeting between undefeated California and the Washington Huskies.

ANDY BUNTZ
Not on Squad

University High Plays Columbus Junction

By JERRY COPELAND
University high schools' undefeated Bluehaws bump into the toughest opposition remaining on their schedule tonight when they meet Columbus Junction.

The game is scheduled for the Columbus Junction athletic field at 7:45 p.m.

Three in Row
The upset-minded Tigers have won three in a row after losing their first four games. Their last win was a 40-0 romp over Wilton Junction.

Worried Bluehawk Coach Bob Weber expects a close battle not only because of the improved Columbus Junction club, but because star halfback Bob Cantrell will not see full service.

Cantrell aggravated a leg injury in scoring two touchdowns against West Liberty last week. Although Cantrell is expected to start, it is improbable that he will see much service, Weber said.

Kent Shifts
Quarterback Tom Kent will move into Cantrell's halfback slot. Gardner Van Dyke, promising sophomore passer, will replace Kent at quarterback.

The Blues have been working up a defense for Columbus Junction's Dick Harveson and Richie Orr, a pair of hard-running backs. Orr mixes up his running with passes while leading the Tigers in the Iowa Teachers' version of the single wing.

Hooper, McCluskey Star in Frosh Game
Iowa's freshman football team staged its first intrasquad game Thursday with the Blacks defeating the Whites, 8-7.

Leland Hooper's 80 yard touchdown run provided the victory for the Blacks. A safety accounted for the other two points.

Thompson, Bavasi Take Over Rickey's Job with Dodgers

BROOKLYN (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers Thursday named Fresno Thompson and Emile (Buzzy) Bavasi, two of Branch Rickey's brightest aides, to fill the big shoes of the departed general manager.

Both Thompson and Bavasi were appointed vice-presidents by President Walter O'Malley who said they will share the general management duties Rickey handled so ably during the past eight years. The 69-year-old Mahatma was both president and general manager until he resigned last week.

Next on O'Malley's agenda is the managership. Right now Burt Shotton, Rickey's field boss, still is the manager. But the betting around Brooklyn's headquarters was that Harold (Pee Wee) Reese, Dodger captain and shortstop, would be at the helm when spring training time rolls around.

Dixie Walker, the "peepul's choice," in his Brooklyn playing days, also was rated a possibility for the manager's role.

Alabama's Mighty Midget

(AP Wirephoto)

LARRY CHIODETTI DISPROVES the belief that a player has to be big to star in football. This 160-pounder who transferred to Alabama from Pennsylvania university has been a mighty valuable spot runner for the Crimson Tide. Last week Chiodetti ran 58 yards against Mississippi State to set up Alabama's first touchdown. He has returned kickoffs for 102 yards this year and has caught seven passes for 57 yards and one touchdown. What was that someone once said about good things coming in little packages?

Konstanty Picked Most Valuable Man In National League

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Jim Konstanty, who rose from obscurity to become the best relief pitcher in baseball today, is the National League's most valuable player for 1950 — a precedent shattering feat.

Konstanty, whose superb pitching featured the Philadelphia Phillies' first pennant triumph in 35 years, is the first relief pitcher in either league ever to win the coveted award.

The 33-year-old specialist gained 18 out of 24 first place votes and piled up 286 out of a possible 336 points to win the award with ease. Only two of the 24 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who participated in the poll, failed to name Konstanty anywhere on their 10 player ballot.

Reached at his Worcester, N.Y., home, Konstanty said: "It's something you always work for and never expect. I'm very excited and delighted about it." He praised his teammates and said they deserved the laurel as much as he did.

"I never could have won it without help from the rest of the team. Without them I never could have been mentioned for such an honor," Konstanty said.

Star Mutual, St. Louis Cardinal star, finished a distant second to Konstanty. Mutual, a three time award winner and the league's batting champion, drew one first place vote and finished with 158 points. The only other players who drew first place votes were Eddie Stanky of the New York Giants and Gran Hamner of the Phils., two each and Ralph Kiner, home run king of Pittsburgh, one.

Rounding out the top ten men were Stanky, third; Del Ennis, Philadelphia, fourth; Kiner, fifth; Hamner, sixth; Robin Roberts, Philadelphia, seventh; Gil Hodges, Brooklyn, eighth; Duke Snider, Brooklyn, ninth; and Sal Maglie, New York, tenth. Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn, who won the award last year, finished 15th, collecting only 23 points.

City High Nips Academy, 7-6

By BILL MILLER
DAVENPORT — City High's Little Hawks moved to within one game of a perfect season Thursday night but not before St. Ambrose Academy gave them the scare of the year, 7-6.

A third quarter conversion by Jerry White after the Iowa City halfback had passed to Jim Freeman for a 63 yard touchdown play kept City High's unbeaten record intact.

St. Ambrose held a statistical advantage over the Mississippi Valley champions in every department. It also held an advantage in the unmeasurable departments of blocking, tackling and charging.

The Academy scored its touchdown with eight minutes, 17 seconds left in the fourth quarter. End Mickey Moore blocked the attempted conversion which would have tied the game.

The last scoring threat mustered by St. Ambrose was killed on the concluding play of the game. Ted Naeckel's field goal attempt from the Iowa City nine yard line was blocked by Moore.

Iowa City was sluggish on offense and only passable on defense as ambitious St. Ambrose beat the Little Hawks to the punch on almost every play.

Quarterback Bob Durnin and left halfback Tony Ortiz were the standouts in the St. Ambrose attack which rolled to 232 yards.

Local Voters Show Better Participation Than Entire State

More Johnson county voters went to the polls in the past five general elections, percentage-wise, than in the state as a whole.

This is revealed in statistics compiled by the SUI, Institute of Public Affairs.

An average of 70 out of every 100 county residents of voting age voted in the last three presidential elections; 47 out of every 100 participated in the last two "off-year" elections.

Iowa's average for the three presidential elections was 67 out of every 100 eligible voters, and for the "off-year" balloting, 14 out of every 100.

Here is a comparison of the number of persons out of every 100 eligible who have voted in the county and in the state since 1940:

County	State
1940	72 74
1942	47 43
1944	66 64
1946	47 39
1948	72 63

Bound to Jury On Auto Larceny

James M. Paintin, 21, 320 Second avenue, waived preliminary hearing in police court Wednesday and was bound over to the grand jury charged with larceny of an automobile.

Paintin admitted to police Tuesday he was the man at whom officer Patrick McCarney had fired Oct. 16. Paintin fled from police that night after they had sought to question him about a stolen 1938 Buick belonging to William Savage, 328 S. Governor street.

In a signed statement to police, Paintin said he had been drinking beer in three Iowa City taverns and drove the car away from one of them.

He was released Wednesday on $1,500 bond.

Student Fined for Breaking Meter

Edward M. Peters, G. Buffalo, N.Y., was fined $37.50 in police court Thursday on a charge of failure to have his car under control. Ten dollars of the fine was suspended.

Police said the car he was driving broke a parking meter in front of the Hamburg Inn, 119 Iowa avenue. Peters also paid a $3 charge for reinstalling the meter.

In other police court cases, George Kost, 630 S. Madison street was sentenced to two days in the county jail for intoxication. John Kidwell, Lone Tree, was sentenced to four days on the same charge.

ART FILMS TONIGHT

Two art guild films, "Rubens" and "Song of Ceylon," will be shown at 8 p.m. today in the auditorium of the chemistry building.

Paris Choir Gives Impromptu Concert

AN UNSCHEDULED CONCERT by the Little Singers of Paris entertained a number of Iowa Citizens Thursday in the Princess Cafe. The world-famous choral group stopped here to eat lunch while en route to Salt Lake City for their next scheduled concert, Nov. 6. The boys' choir will make 20 more appearances in the U.S. before they return to France in December.

Over 120 Attend Statistical Course Here

Over 120 executives, engineers and inspectors from corporations throughout the nation have gathered at SUI for a ten-day course in quality control by statistical methods.

The course, the eighth offered in the last six years by SUI, opened Tuesday and runs until Nov. 10. All participants attended the first-day session, which outlined the general concept of the course.

Of the total participating, 80 are staying for the full course.

Guest speakers for the weekend sessions of the course include James M. Ballowe, inspection manager for Aldens, Inc., Chicago, and Wayne M. Bilken, quality control engineer for the W.A. Shaeffer Pen company.

Ballowe will lecture today at 8:30 a.m. in studio E, engineering building, and Bilken will speak Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the same studio.

Statistical methods of quality control have helped industry cut rejections and inspection costs and have improved quality of final products in firms producing plastics, farm machinery, surgical dressings, candy and other products.

According to Dale L. Lobsinger, director of quality control for United air lines, these methods have been used by air lines to determine how many persons who purchase plane tickets will not show up, and how many will ask for cold meals instead of regular hot meals during flights.

In addition to teaching personnel from SUI's department of mathematics, statistical control experts from other Midwest schools and industries are acting as instructors.

The participants attend a series of conferences, lectures and laboratory periods from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. In addition, several evening sessions are planned.

At the end of the course, a special two-day clinic will be held where the participants may discuss the application of quality control techniques to their own special problems.

5 Student Reservists Get Army Promotions

Promotions for five SUI students who are reserve members of the headquarters company of the 410th infantry regiment in Iowa City were announced Thursday by Capt. Evan L. Hultman, L3, Waterloo.

Promoted were: Cpls. George Gartzke, A2, Madison, Wis., and Merle Meeker, A4, Iowa City, to sergeant; Pfc. Alfred Collins, P2, Viola, to corporal, and Privs. Kenneth Van Roekel, A4, Sioux Center, and Robert Patterson, A3, Des Moines, to private first class.

Three Hospital Doctors Leave for Army Duty

Three University hospitals resident physicians in internal medicine left recently for duty in the army in Japan and Korea.

Capt. Willford Epps and H.N. Taylor are now serving with the U.S. forces in Korea. Capt. Robert Bickford is serving in Japan.

Families of the three doctors remain in Iowa City.

GRASS FIRE STOPPED

Iowa City firemen put out a grass fire at 9:55 a.m. Thursday at 1630 Muscatine avenue. Firemen said the fire was caused by sparks from a nearby bonfire.

TAYLOR TO SPEAK

Philip Taylor, SUI history instructor, is scheduled to speak before a joint meeting of state historians at Ames Saturday on "Teaching of American History in Great Britain."

Church to Collect Clothing Today

Clothing will be collected for elderly overseas refugees during the "World Community Day" to be held at the First Christian church at 2 p.m. today.

The Iowa City Council of Church Women is sponsoring the event. A nursery for small children will be provided.

The Rev. Evans Worthley will be the principal speaker on the program which will include singing by Zynowij Glowiak, E1, Poland, and Charlotte Wan, G, Tientsin, China. An information quiz will round out the program.

Election of officers for the council will follow the program.

One Economic Policy Unlikely, SUI Prof. Says

It is highly unlikely the government will ever have a consistent economic policy, Prof. Clark Bloom, SUI college of commerce, told members of the Quad City Social Studies association Thursday night.

The government must react to swarms of public demands from conflicting groups within the economy, Bloom said. The programs resulting from these demands will be a mixture of conflicting ideas.

"Government should not be expected to follow a single logical policy toward economy. It is impossible for one group to try to impose its program on the entire economy without having it substantially modified."

TO PRESENT PAPER

A scientific paper will be presented by Dr. R.H. Flocks, head of the department of urology in the SUI college of medicine, at the St. Louis medical society meeting, Nov. 7.

NEW RADIO EQUIPMENT

Newly-installed two-way short wave radio equipment in trucks and service cars of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company was put into operation Thursday. The $10,000 radio net will speed emergency calls to points where service has been disrupted, R. H. Lind, district manager of the company, said.

Boy Singers Record Total of 1,708 In ROTC Units Here

Enrollment in SUI's airforce and army ROTC units has reached the record-breaking total of 1,708 this year, ROTC officials announced Thursday.

Most of the cadets are freshmen and sophomores taking the two years of military training required for a degree, but 459 are juniors and seniors in the advanced course.

When these advanced students graduate from SUI, they are offered reserve commissions in the army and airforce, and are trained to hold down specialized positions in these branches of the nation's armed forces.

Included in the army unit training set-up are programs for training prospective officers for the infantry, corps of engineers, medical and dental corps.

At the request of the owner of the Princess Cafe, James Lons, the group sang one number, and were so well received they sang five more before leaving for Omaha.

Passers-by heard the voice and a small crowd gathered in and around the cafe to listen to the group, which is directed by Abbe Maillet, their leader since 1924.

The choral team consists of 25 boys, ages 12 to 15, joined by 15 older boys who furnish bass and baritone parts for the harmony.

The Little Singers are making their first tour of the western part of the U.S. They toured the eastern half in 1947.

The choral group arrived in this country two weeks ago to appear at Carnegie hall after a month tour of Canada.

They will have presented 20 more concerts by December, then they return to France. Their next appearance is scheduled for Salt Lake City on Nov. 6.

The Little Singers from Paris were organized in 1907 under the name of the Choir School of the Little Singers of the Wooden Cross.

Paris Boys Belong

The group has always been composed of Paris boys attending the choral boarding school in Paris. However, they have been federated with other choirs throughout the world.

Until 1931, the Little Singers performed solely for the Parisian public, but they then began to enjoy world fame. They are now one of the more noted European choral groups.

Two Car Accidents Reported to Police

Two automobile accidents were reported to Iowa City police Thursday.

Damages estimated at $140 resulted from a two-car collision at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday on Dodge street. Drivers were Mary E. Verry, route four, Iowa City, and Ernie Marshall, Des Moines.

A Thursday morning collision on highway 261 caused an estimated $50 damage to cars driven by E. Win-E. Stamp, Mt. Vernon, and Joe Parrott, 1029 Saint Clemons street.

County Education Group To Discuss School Laws

Proposed school legislation to be placed before the legislature in January will be discussed when the Johnson county education association meets in the Longfellow school auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Iowa City Police Report Little Halloween Damage

Iowa City police reported light Halloween damage Wednesday, although two youths were charged with defacing property.

Bud Kintz, 522 N. Dodge street, was fined $17.50 Wednesday, and Carl Rutter, 627 Orchard street, who was with Kintz, was turned over to juvenile authorities.

The two were accused of tipping over the tire racks at an Iowa City service station.
