He Got a Bath in Public

BEAMING AT THE REST OF THE MEMBERS of his father's class, nine-months-old Jimmy Millard enjoyed a public bath which might embarrass him were he a few years older. Jimmy's dad, Ray, gave him a bath in class and fulfilled an assignment to talk on some process with which he was familiar. Dad, armed with soap, towel, water, talcum—and the baby—scrubbed the tot as he spoke to a class at State Teachers college, Plattville, Wis. It was reported dad won an "A" for his efforts.

Lots of Variety — Looking Back At Election

Numerous doctors, a SUI student, a law professor, and a mortician, not to mention more than 130 just plain citizens received votes for Johnson county coroner in the general election last Tuesday.

The canvass completed by the county board of supervisors Tuesday showed incumbent Dr. George Callahan had the most write-in votes with 275. However, Callahan has been confined to the hospital with heart trouble and it is not likely he will accept the office.

Richard Boeke, P4, Hubbard, who campaigned for the office two days before election, had 237 votes for second place. Prof. Samuel Fahr, college of law, collected 188 votes.

His campaign was managed by the Law Students' association, who hired a sound truck to parade through city streets election day. Other top vote-getters were Dr. C. O. Parks, 111 votes; Dr. John Greenleaf, 50; Dr. Stephen Ware, 41; and Mortician Alva Oathout, 21.

With 189 other scattered votes, the total number of write-ins reached 1,092.

Elevator Out

The final count on the courthouse elevator cut the guy wire and plummeted it out of consideration, 7,123 to 4,276. The townships were strongly against it by more than two to one.

The constitutional convention referendum which lost in the state was favored by slightly less than 100 votes in Johnson county. The vote was 5,508 to 5,425 with Iowa City in favor and the townships opposed.

In a special referendum in East Lucas township, the voters approved a tax levy of one and one-half mills to purchase fire protection. A total of 195 said yes and 39, no.

Truman Asks Huge Tax on Excess Profits

WASHINGTON — President Truman Tuesday called on congress to slap a $4-billion-a-year excess profits tax on corporations, retroactive to last July 1.

In a letter to Rep. Robert L. Doughton (D-N.C.), chairman of the house ways and means committee which opens tax hearings today, Mr. Truman asked for passage of the law before the end of the short session scheduled to start Nov. 27.

First Installment

Doughton said September's "first installment" tax act obligates his committee to write an excess profits bill.

The $4½-billion tax bill passed seven weeks ago raised personal income taxes 10-20 percent and the regular tax rate on corporation profits.

Truman said he recommended dating the tax back to July 1 because business volume and prices rose rapidly after that date as a result of the enlarged defense program, and profits went up accordingly.

But this merely will complete the program for 1950, Truman said. It must be followed early in 1951 by a review of "our needs for further tax legislation."

Costs Will Increase

Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder said Tuesday night that defense costs will be "substantially" increased next year, and called on congress to raise taxes high enough to pay the full cost of the rearmament program.

The committee for economic development (CED), a research and planning organization of business leaders, Tuesday proposed that the corporation rate — raised in September to 45 percent — be restored to the original 38 percent postwar rate; and that a new 15 percent "defense profits tax" be added on. This would lift the total 1951 corporate tax to 53 percent.

For individuals, CED proposed a flat 5 percent defense levy on all net income in excess of present exemptions and present taxes. In this way, the defense levy would not apply against income which already has been taxed away.

Both new taxes would be temporary.

Red Forces Pull Back; Winter Hampers Allies

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) — Communist forces in northwest Korea were reported today to have abandoned their prepared defense positions and pulled back toward the Manchurian frontier as zero weather slowed the allies' cautious advance.

This development came as the United States 7th marine regiment captured the strategic town of Hagaru at the doorstep of the sprawling Chosin reservoir, one of the biggest prizes of the Korean war.

The marines found the outpost abandoned, indicating that the big hydroelectric development might be within the grasp of the Americans.

Yesterday U.S. superfortress gunners downed a Russian-made jet fighter plane in a wild air battle over northwest Korea. Two B-29s were damaged so severely they made emergency landings with wounded crewmen.

It appeared that the Reds in the Northwest may be pulling back for a major reorganization. A first corps spokesman said the North Korean army was being reshaped under Chinese control and that the Chinese were using the Koreans as a buffer force to cover the preparation of defense lines closer to Manchuria.

No Sooner Said Than Done

CHICAGO — Mrs. Louise Malmquist, 31-year-old divorcee, suggested to an annoying suitor that he "drop dead."

"All right, I will," Rudolph Roess, 52, replied.

Several hours later Mrs. Malmquist found Roess' body on her front porch. He had shot himself with a rifle.

Coeds to Cast Ballots For MEBOC Tonight

Over 2,000 SUI women are expected to cast ballots today to choose the most eligible bachelor on campus to reign over the Spinster's Spree Friday night at the Iowa Union.

The women will vote tonight in their housing units and ballots will be collected by a committee from the University Women's association, sponsor of the annual girl-take-boy dance.

Results will not be known until Friday, when Mr. MEBOC and his two attendants will be introduced at the dance.

The 31 candidates for Mr. MEBOC campaigned heartily Tuesday by distributing handbills about the campus and making announcements from a sound truck.

The Iowa Union desk reported Tuesday that all but 150 tickets for the dance had been sold. Tickets cost $4.

Les Brown, composer of "Sentimental Journey," and his band are scheduled to play at Spinster's Spree. Last year the Brown band was voted outstanding in the nation by these polls: Billboard, National Campus magazine, Red Book and Peter Potter Platter award.

Vocalists Butch Stone, Lucy Ann Polk and Stumpy Brown are scheduled to appear with the band.

TOKYO (WEDNESDAY) — A marine combat officer returned from the frozen Changjin reservoir front in North Korea today and reported leathernecks there are short of winter clothing, tanks, transport and carbine ammunition.

The officer, who asked not to be quoted by name, is a veteran of the Pacific war.

The temperature dipped to 8 above zero on the northern fighting front Monday.

The marine combat officer who returned to Tokyo said "if we can get some equipment up there (around Changjin reservoir) we can hold those mountains until hell freezes over in spite of the weather. But if we don't there is a good chance that those boys will get their heads punched in."

He said some leathernecks are fully equipped but not all. "They keep telling us the clothing will be along but I would say only about half the boys have it as of now."

Government to Cut Civilian Supply of Copper, Nickel, Zinc

WASHINGTON — The government will soon order sharp cutbacks in civilian use of copper, nickel and zinc and eventually may have to ban production of some finished consumer goods, officials said Tuesday.

The national production authority is expected to issue the new metal limitation orders within a few weeks. It ordered a 35 percent reduction Monday in the use of aluminum for the manufacture of civilian products, effective Jan. 1.

The new across-the-board cuts will be preceded by orders giving manufacturers the right to reject defense orders which take more than a certain percentage of their normal production of products using copper, nickel and zinc.

The aluminum order — first such sweeping slash in civilian use of material since the Korean war began — is regarded as the trailblazer for future orders. Each will be patterned after the aluminum cut, though the percentages will vary.

Officials indicated the copper, nickel and zinc cutbacks will be the last major production controls invoked this year.

During World War II, the war production board restricted output of various consumer items, including a complete ban on production of automobiles.

Violence in Philadelphia As Phone Strike Continues

NEW YORK — The six-day national telephone strike brought violence to Philadelphia Tuesday and officials in New York mapped plans to aid non-striking employees.

Among the day's developments:

- The company promised "suitable measures" if necessary to "secure relief for loyal employees" — but did not say what measures it had in mind.
- Strike leaders retorted that "if the company means it intends to hire replacements" it may be biting off more than it can chew. In such event, it was added, the union will bring it to the attention of the U.S. senate labor committee.
- New court orders hampered picketing in Minnesota, Virginia, Mississippi and South Dakota. Earlier legal moves had restricted pickets in five other states. The union has said it will contest all such orders.
- Federal mediators tried for hours for some break in the wage-contract dispute but finally adjourned for the night with the announcement that "the deadlock continues."

Clothing was torn and several persons were knocked down in a 45-minute clash between pickets and police in Philadelphia.

About half the 33,000 strikers are employed by the Western Electric company, equipment manufacturing subsidiary of the A.T. & T. The others are Michigan telephone employees.

Thousands of other telephone employees, including operators, are not on strike, but many of them have refused to cross picket lines set up by the strikers.

Teachers' Salaries Higher This Year Than Last in Iowa

DES MOINES (AP) — Salaries of Iowa school teachers this year are somewhat higher than they were last year, but the amounts of individual raises are not as large as those of last year.

The annual salary survey by the state department of public instruction showed Tuesday that the top raises for this year were about $100. The previous year a number of $500 raises were reported.

Most superintendents were raised about $120, and their median salaries now range from $4,395 in towns under 5,000 population to $6,075 in cities of 5,000 to 10,000 population. Salaries in the larger cities were not reported.

Superintendent N. D. McCombs in Des Moines, however, receives $13,000 a year.

Rural school teachers this year have a median salary of $1,845, an increase of $25 over last year. Men high school teachers in cities of 10,000 to 15,000 this year receive $3,845, compared with $3,515 last year. Similar teachers in cities of 30,000 to 100,000 receive $5,125, compared with $5,035 last year. All figures are median salaries.

The survey covered 23,122 persons in Iowa school systems.

Color Video Demonstrated

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting system's first large scale demonstration here of its color television indicated Tuesday that there is wide public interest in tinted video.

Comments by those who had tickets to the showing were almost unanimous in approval of CBS color as natural, and an improvement over black and white television.

CBS estimates it would cost $20 to $50 to adapt a set to receive black and white pictures from its color broadcasts, and an additional $75 for a converter to receive in color.

The telecasts are non-commercial and under experimental authorization from the federal communications commission in advance of the Nov. 20 starting date it has set for the start of commercial color operations under the CBS system.

UN Committee Votes Greek Border Watch

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — The UN political committee disregarded Soviet bloc objections Tuesday and voted to keep the UN watchdog commission on the Greek frontier for another year.

The political committee vote was 52 to 6. Yugoslavia and the five Soviet bloc countries cast the opposing votes. The margin made general assembly approval a certainty.

The political committee is slated to start debate today on the future of Formosa, a subject raised by the United States. The U.S. has asked the UN to study the question of Formosa and make recommendations on what to do with that island, now the scene of Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters.

The UN security council will meet Thursday to resume debate on the presence of Chinese Communist troops in Korea. The meeting was called late Tuesday by Council President Ales Bebler of Yugoslavia.

Year's Polio Deaths Reach Total of 22

The second polio death of the week and the 22nd of the year was reported at University hospitals Tuesday.

Mrs. Erma Pobanz, 33, wife of James Pobanz, Mount Pleasant, died at 7:30 a.m. She was admitted for treatment Saturday.

Active cases dropped to a new season's low of six Tuesday. One patient, Paul Yochum, 5, Ottumwa, was admitted in "fair" condition.

Don O'Brien, 27, Iowa City, was discharged along with five others. They included Noel Rice, 7, Edina, Mo.; Michael Betts, 2, Cedar Falls; Evangeline Resser, 24, Vinton; Walter Theis, 27, Elma; and Lee Yoder, 22 months, Wellman.

Six persons transferred to the inactive ward were Michael Smith, 7, Cedar Rapids; Karen Kress, 9, Wilton Junction; Jannise Page, 12, Rudd; Donald Balmer, 27, Otley; Robert Marks, 25, Maynard; and Frank Hayungs, 10, Fredericksburg.

Truman Plans for More Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman has ordered government agencies to begin at once blue-printing a new multi-billion dollar foreign aid program for presentation to congress in January.

Word of the White House move came as lawmakers indicated that a searching review of foreign aid programs, military as well as economic, will have high priority in the new congress. A collision of the plans seemed likely.

Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (D-S.C.), chairman of the senate bank committee, said he doesn't intend to have "any rent control bill before my committee" during the short session of congress to convene Nov. 27. He also declared he will oppose federal rent controls when the new congress meets.

Abductress Planned Additional Crimes

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Discovery of more unused extortion notes led investigators to believe Tuesday Dr. Nancy Campbell may have planned other kidnappings besides the abduction of 9-year-old Linda Starn.

The discovery of two more notes was reported by State Police Chief Joe Roach and Assistant District Attorney Robert J. Fox.

They were in addition to one left for the Starn family and two others, addressed to Santa Fe residents and found when Dr. Campbell was arrested.

The woman doctor was arrested Saturday night as she was picking up a $20,000 ransom.

The child, step-daughter of a well-to-do contractor, was found unharmed shortly afterwards. The little girl had been gone from her home in Santa Fe since Friday.

Venezuelan Rebel Shot in Escape Try

CARACAS, VENEZUELA (AP) — Gen. Rafael Simon Urbina, alleged leader of the gang who assassinated the head of the Venezuelan government Monday was shot to death while attempting to escape Monday night, it was announced Tuesday.

Urbina, said by the government to have been at the head of the group which killed Lt. Col. Carlos Delgado Chalbaud from ambush, was being transferred to the model prison from Cerro Del Obispo jail when he made a break for freedom.

Guards shot and killed him, the report said.

Urbina, about 47 years old, was known as Venezuela's "eternal revolutionist."

January Draft Quota Set at 40,000

WASHINGTON — The army called Tuesday for 40,000 draftees in January, and said it would have summoned more if training facilities were available.

The 40,000 — man quota meant the army will have to ask for a total of 100,000 men in February and March to meet its announced goal of 350,000 new men by April 1.

Altogether, the army has called for 250,000 men since the fighting broke out in Korea last June: 50,000 in September, 50,000 in October, 70,000 in November, 40,000 in December and now 40,000 in January.

Four Months Training

The men inducted this fall will get four months of basic training, most of them will still be in camp when the December and January drafts arrive.

Only the army at present is taking draftees; the navy and airforce have been depending

Hold Panacea Tryouts Today

Auditions for "In the Pink," this year's Panacea show, will be held today in the north hall of the music studio building from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Ron Butler, A2, Newton, director of the all-campus musical asked all students interested in working in the show to appear.

Actors, singers and dancers will read parts of the script, sing excerpts from the songs and do dance routines, Butler said. Scene designers, prop men and musicians will be interviewed.

Butler said further auditions will be held Thursday night at the same hours in Macbride hall.

"In the Pink" was written by Jack Brookings, A4, Wataga, Ill. It is the story of three navy veterans who go back to the Pacific island where they fought during the war to look for their native sweethearts.

U.S. Army in Germany Shifts Supplies, Bases

PARIS (AP) — The United States army in Germany has started a shift of its supply lines and bases to guard against a sudden Communist attack from the east, diplomatic sources said Tuesday.

Informants said the operation will involve thousands of troops and millions of dollars worth of military equipment. It is so large, they said, that it will take months to complete.

Transport Troubles . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — An army spokesman said Tuesday that transportation difficulties may have prevented American troops in Korea from getting the heavy clothing they need to face the sub-zero weather there.

He said cold-weather clothing orders were received in July from the Far East command and were filled. But the clothing apparently has not yet reached forward elements.

Three Iowans Listed Killed in Korea War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense department Tuesday announced the following Iowans as Korean war casualties in its list No. 151:

Symphony Tickets

Tickets for tonight's University symphony concert, scheduled for 8 p.m., are available to the public without charge at the main desk of the Iowa Union.

State and County . . .

State officials in Des Moines Tuesday estimated Iowa will have to furnish about 675 draftees for the January call.

That is the same quota as December. Johnson county quota for December has not been set, local officials said Tuesday.

So far, Iowa has sent 860 men in September, 859 in October, and are in the process of shipping 1,179 in November under national draft quotas.

Fourteen Johnson county men left Monday for the army, making a total of 33 to be inducted from the county since the Korean war began.

editorials Opportunity Knocks —

Tomorrow night the student council meets again, in keeping with its decision last week to meet weekly until the present question of whether to suspend the no-cut rule after the Christmas holidays is settled.

The biggest item on their agenda surely will be the petition which is scheduled to be circulated Friday.

The petition will ask for the lifting of the no-cut rule Jan. 2, to eliminate the need for many SUJ students to spend New Year's eve and New Year's day returning to school.

Housing units will receive copies of the petition and students will have opportunity to sign one at various spots on the campus.

In a letter to the council, President Hancher said that in view of "the very considerable number of institutions reconvening on Jan. 3, it is fair to assume that rail and other transportation facilities on that date will not be appreciably more than they will be Jan. 2."

At last Thursday's meeting, about 40 students attended who were not members of the council and several of them voiced opinions on the subject. This was the biggest visiting attendance the council has had this year.

Tomorrow night when the council meets at Hillcrest, there should be another big turnout of visitors.

We say this for two reasons: (1) The council needs the moral support of the students, and (2) if the student body does not approve of the council's handling of the question, the council should be told.

It's possible that the students are not behind the council members in this campaign and tomorrow night is the time to make it known if such is the case. The members would be glad to know if their actions are not meeting with student approval.

Tomorrow night at Hillcrest is the time and place to tell them.

Conflicts Hamper European Rearmament

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
European rearmament has become involved in a mess composed of French fear, some extreme aspects of British Socialism, the four power tug-of-war control of Germany and the economic of virtually every Atlantic pact member.

As the North Atlantic council deputies opened their London meeting in search of a compromise between American and French views of the rearmament of Germany, the very creation of a unified western defense army hung in the balance.

The extreme left wing of the British Labor party was opposing the view of their own and other big three governments that nothing could be gained through a new four-power conference on Germany as proposed by Russia. The British leftists still think you can do business with Stalin.

This group opposes British cooperation with the Schuman plan for integration of the European countries.

And France will not agree to rearmament of Germany until the war-making potential of the Ruhr is under international control such as Schuman proposed.
France also opposes inclusion of German units larger than brigades—4,000 to 5,000 men—in the proposed European army.
The United States, on the other hand, interested primarily in prompt creation of a force which will make Russia hesitate a long time before attacking, wants ten German divisions organized quickly.
The French Socialists, unlike the British Socialists, are strong for the Schuman plan.
France and the United States are both earnestly seeking a compromise. What it may be is hidden behind the closed doors of the London conference. A safe bet, however, is that a promise of more American troops in Germany, as double-barreled insurance against both German and Russian aggressiveness, will be needed to put any deal across.

Old India to Have First Modern Metropolis

By CENTRAL PRESS
Civic improvement groups seeking the answers to traffic jams and other complications of urban living may cast an eye toward northernmost India, for which an American architect has designed a streamlined city with a minimum of these modern bugaboos.

Chandigarh, as it is presently known, will be the new capital of East Punjab province, replacing Lahore, lost to the province in the India-Pakistan partition.

Albert Mayer, of Mayer and Whittlesay a New York firm, is the architect for the new city of 500,000 persons.

Site of the budding metropolis is a fan-shaped area of farmlands nestled between two rivers about 140 miles north of New Delhi. Five hundred acres of the tract have been purchased to date.

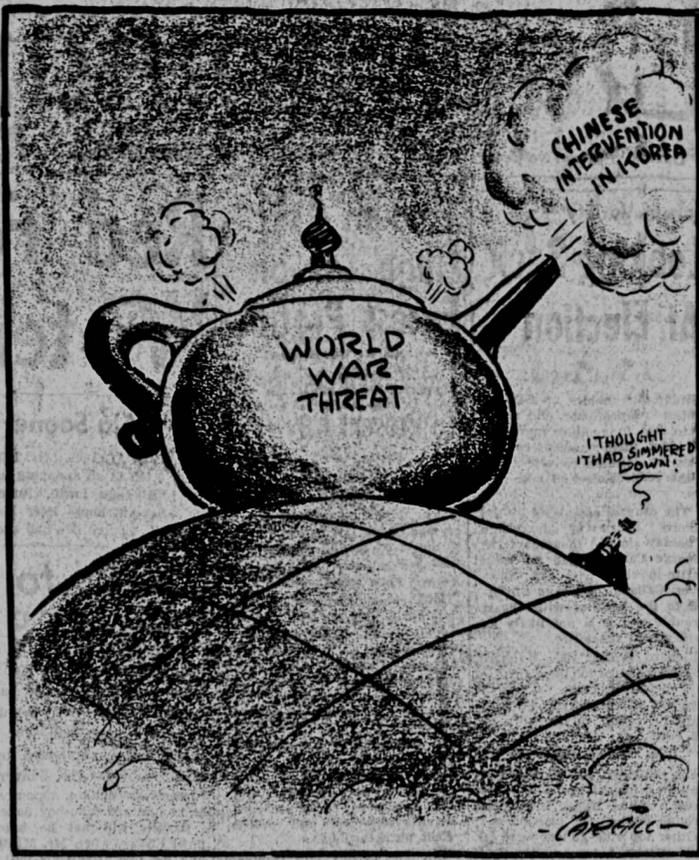

While most cities of the world, in effect, just grow, Chandigarh, according to Mayer, will grow right. He hopes this will be an opportunity to "give living actuality to all those creative elements in city planning which have been discovered and hoped for in the last generation."

Basic unit in the planned city and the first slated for construction, is the neighborhood or residential block. Approximately 1,000 families will find housing here.

A unit of three such blocks will make up an almost entirely self-contained small town. This community will contain a town square—much the same as the market square in the medieval European town—public schools, health center, local public building, meeting hall, movie, parks, shops and other functional elements. These "small towns" will interlace.

Planning for the city's traffic needs, according to Mayer, gave rise to a problem peculiar to many foreign cities—the widespread use of bicycles for local transportation.
City streets within the "three-block" areas are designed to accommodate this type of transit, Mayer declared, and a further convenience is provided—"express cycleways." This network of cycle throughways will speed the rider from one part of the city to another without interference or cross-traffic.
Wide highways for heavy automobile traffic, including buses and trucks, will surround, but not enter, the "three-block" areas. These roads will have parallel local lanes.
Out-of-city travel will be served by a modern airport, bus facilities and a two-level railroad terminal. Architectural styling of the city, while modern by American standards, will be characteristically eastern in appearance.
A typical structure, in this sense, is the legislative building, whose walls rise in a parabolic arch, giving the effect of a giant beehive.
Suggested basic design for residential homes is a flat-roofed, one-room building, built so that additional rooms can be added on the ground floor or by building a second story. Courtyards and verandas, by custom, are musts in basic design.

Tea 'N' Ti

Two Diseases Cause Huge Work Day Loss

Over 97-million work days will be lost in the United States this year directly traceable to arthritis or rheumatism, the nation's most prevalent diseases, and its most crippling ones.

A total of $520-million in wages will go up in pain and $230-million will be spent to alleviate suffering from these cripples and yet their cause and cure will still be relatively unknown.

The national Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation began a campaign Tuesday to raise $2-million to do something about these aches and pains. Already through the foundation, such wonder reliefs as ACTH and cortisone have been discovered.

But these afford only temporary relief and cost prohibitively. ACTH comes from the pituitary glands of hogs and 1,200 animals are needed to get one pound of pituitary.

Only a small part of that pound of glands is ACTH. Cortisone comes from the bile of oxen, one pound being yielded by 130 pounds of bile.

Arthritis is the most serious form of rheumatism known. It generally is not found in humans until later in life, between 30 and 45. But it knows no sex or race, striking in no regular pattern.

The first signs of arthritis are common to many diseases—lack of ambition, weakness, ease of fatigue, little appetite and loss of weight. Within a few weeks, the bone joints of the body become inflamed, swollen, and tender.

The last stages of arthritis are characterized by extreme pain in all bone joints with near immobility. Fibrous tissue intertwines throughout the joint locking the two bones together. The muscles and skin atrophy and the person is permanently crippled.

With little variation the same things are true of rheumatism except that it does not permanently harm and strikes earlier in life, between 15 and 30.

Science does not know the cause of the diseases but surmises that they are related to the malfunctioning of the adrenal cortex. Dr. Philip S. Hench of the Mayo clinic found that the injection of cortisone, the cortex hormone, brought temporary relief.

Dr. Edward Kendall got the same results by activating the cortex with ACTH or induced pregnancy or jaundice.

Yet for the more than 7.5-million sufferers in the United States alone, there is no cure for arthritis and rheumatism. Complete bed-rest, a health diet, physical therapy, and painkillers sometimes effect partial cure.

A contribution addressed to ARTHRITIS, care of your local postoffice, may help save the lives of many children between 5 and 20 who die each year, victims of the worst child-killer known to man.

BIG ROAR

WAYNESBURG, PA. — A truck loaded with dynamite exploded with an automobile and exploded with a deafening roar outside a deep-pit coal mine Tuesday, possibly killing one person and injuring three others.

Canada Fights Inflation with Balanced Budget, High Taxes

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada is fighting inflation with balanced budgets and higher taxes in the hope of bringing down the cost of living from its current all-time peak.

Some Canadians feel Canada is taking more effective action against inflation than the U.S., but there is no attitude of smugness. The cost of living in Canada at the beginning of October stood at the all-time peak of 170.7 percent of the 1935-39 average. A year before the cost of living was 162.2.

However, her government takes special pride in the fact that since the war her budget has not only been balanced, but has yielded substantial surpluses. Surplus financing rather than deficit financing.

To achieve this the government in the first post-war years kept taxes near the wartime level rather than dropping them as fast as the United States did. This was a policy of fighting inflation by keeping down the supply of money in the public's hands until the supply of goods could catch up with demand.

Taxes Cut
Then, in 1949, with goods more plentiful and with some threats of recession, taxes were cut so as to give a fillip to buying.

Again, this year, when Korean developments made it necessary to double defense expenditures, parliament was called in September and new taxes imposed to pay for the increased expenditures.

Thus the budget is being kept in balance, with at least a moderate surplus.

It is anti-inflationary to the extent that it takes money out of circulation and stops it bidding for goods made scarce by defense buildup.

It is part of a "pay-as-we-go" policy which will be followed to as great a degree as possible unless a full world war makes it impossible.

But, meantime, out of the surpluses of the last few years, Canada has retired nearly $2-billion of her national debt, and is in that much better shape to meet any new crisis. The national debt as of March 31, was $11,776,134,152.

Again, there is no tendency by government officials to pat themselves on the back as compared with the United States. They may think that Americans, accustomed may not wish to part with some of the economic fat through immediate taxes, and that it may be more difficult for the United States to follow as rigid a line as has been followed in Canada.

They may think that the Canadian parliamentary system can act faster, as in September to increase taxes to meet defense costs.

Frees Money
But they also realize the tremendous world responsibilities of the United States; even though they don't minimize their own relatively vast contribution to world needs.

Most striking recent action by Canada was to free her dollar.

During the war she had controlled it at 90 American cents; she restored it to $1 in 1946; put it back to 90 cents in September, 1949.

Apparently the world, especially American investors, decided it was worth more than 90 cents and that it was bound to go back toward $1. So, in addition to the large amount of American money coming into Canada for investment, there was a big flow of speculative money hoping for a quick profit if the Canadian dollar went back to par.

Use of Natural Gas In Iowa Increases During Last Decade

DES MOINES (AP)—The volume of natural gas flowing in Iowa, by pipeline has increased during the last decade by an amount which would heat 2-million homes if it were available exclusively for such a purpose.

Of course, much of the natural gas brought into Iowa is used for business and office buildings and numerous industries also use large quantities of natural gas.

Reports from the two major pipeline companies supplying natural gas to Iowa show that 54,022,947,000 cubic feet were sold in the state in 1949. Sales in 1940 were approximately 20,537,100,000 cubic feet.

H. A. Franklin, state commerce commission engineer, said it is estimated that 1,600 cubic feet of natural gas will heat the average house for one season. On this basis, 2-million more homes could have been heated if all of the increase were used for home heating.

Northern Natural Gas company, Omaha, Neb., reported it sold 39,022,974,000 cubic feet to utilities distributing to 66 cities and towns in Iowa last year, compared with 15,537,000,000 in 1940. Webster City and Grimes were served last year which were not served in 1940.

Party Leaders Disagree; GOP Split Probable

WASHINGTON (AP)—A wide division of opinion among party leaders may emphasize a Republican party split in the next congress and affect the 1952 presidential campaign.

Top Republicans including Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Gov. Earl Warren of California and Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, won thumping individual victories in the sweep that carried the GOP just short of congress control in last Tuesday's election.

When the Republicans start demonstrating how they intend to interpret these ballot box verdicts, the result may be a cleavage on issues nearly as sharp as the split between administration and Southern Democrats.

Taft and Warren stand at almost opposite poles in the Republican party. Taft's friends regard Warren as a "me-too" type of Republican who goes along with too many Democratic proposals in domestic and foreign affairs.

No Influence
Warren can't influence congress and that's where the Republican national record of the next two years will be written. But if that record looks like a political liability when nominating convention time arrives in June of 1952, Warren won't have to carry that load.

Dewey's victory in New York gives him control again of the biggest block of votes in the 1952 convention. If there was ever any doubt about his controlling the New York delegation, it was wiped out by the defeat of Rep. W. Kingsland Macy in the first district by his Democratic opponent, Ernest Greenwood.

With two unsuccessful tries for the presidency under his belt, Dewey has indicated he will be working to put over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the GOP nominee in 1952. But whether regular Republicans would accept an outsider like Eisenhower may depend on the condition of the party's fortunes a few months before the election.

Dewey, Taft Disagree
Dewey and Taft don't agree on a lot of issues. While Dewey can't have much effect on congressional decision, Governor Duff will be on hand to cast his vote in the senate.

Duff whipped the "old guard" Republican organization in Pennsylvania to win the senatorial nomination. Then he beat Sen. Francis Myers, the assistant Democratic leader, in the Nov. 7 election.

Duff has been saying for a long time that the Republicans need a progressive program. He has called for a party shakeup.

Thus he is likely to line up in the senate with Republicans who have split with Taft over some major issues in the past. This group remains in the minority among the Republicans, despite the reelection of such members as Sens. George Aiken of Vermont, Wayne Morse of Oregon and Charles Tobey of New Hampshire.

The Taft group lost only Sen. Forest Donnell, defeated in Missouri. It proved it has the backing of the people at home in the re-Homer Capehart of Indiana, Henry Dworshak of Idaho, Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa and Eugene Millikin of Colorado.

Crime Commission Asks Revision of Income Tax Laws

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The T. men, who sent Al Capone and other mobsters to prison, are letting California racketeers get away with murder on their income tax returns, the California crime commission charged Tuesday.

At the same time, the commission called for a revision of federal and state income tax laws, pointing out that at present a professional murderer can charge off the cost of his gun and getaway car as a legitimate expense.

Seven cases were cited in which the commission claimed the bureau of internal revenue's intelligence unit failed to act on evidence that California mobsters, bookmakers, gamblers and abortionists, had not made proper income tax payments.

The bureau has not brought about the income tax conviction of a single "racketeer, hoodlum or gangster of first rank importance" in California, the commission said in its final report.

"The wealth which is being accumulated year after year by racketeers in California is proof that professional gamblers, white slavers, narcotics peddlers and other criminals, in marked contrast to honest businessmen, are evading payment of their lawful income taxes in very large amounts," the report said.

It charged that one internal revenue agent was a partner in another business with the madam of a house of prostitution. Another bureau official sought and received money from gamblers and abortionists, ostensibly for stock in a

Feel 'Washed-Out' Before Exams? —

Tiredness May Be Escape from Study

By MARIAN PETKOVSEK
That tired feeling which sends you listlessly through a day of classes is probably not due to excess activity or physical exertion. Emotional fatigue makes people feel washed-out.

According to a November "Women's Home Companion" magazine article, "Are You Tired All The Time?" by Howard Whitman, doctors have tracked down that constant tired feeling.

They have found that emotions may be the chief cause of an exhausting day.

Tired Students

There are plenty of emotional disturbances which inaugurate tiredness for the college student. Dr. Lois Boulware, SUI assistant professor of hygiene and preventive medicine and student health medical examiner, says.

Emotional fatigue is an escape from unpleasant realities.

The washed-out feeling common before the examination may be due to the desire to escape from studying.

Tiredness, Escape Linked

Our language subtly links tiredness and escape. Whitman reports in his article. When we say, "I'm tired of it . . ." we feel worn out physically, but we really desire escape from an unpleasant task.

Escape from responsibility may also cause emotional fatigue. Situations placed before a person may seem overwhelming, so instead of participating in activities, he shifts the responsibility to someone else with the usually acceptable excuse that he is chronically tired.

Unpleasantness may cause emotional tiredness in the same way. When you are confronted with something you like to do, you never feel worn out, but think of that dreaded term paper assignment and see how weary you begin to feel.

Social unpleasantness frequently is behind fatigue. The student who doesn't get along with his roommate may develop chronic fatigue and drowsiness.

A Way Out
Fatigue is a way out for many women who have never resolved the implanted idea that sex is obscene.

Emotions held in check can actually account for disabling symptoms, too.

"Escape through fatigue is as we try to run away from life," futile as any other way in which according to Whitman. If the futility of the escape motive can be recognized, people may not try to escape at all.

Personal outlook and self adjustment may help people get rid of fatigue. They may need personal advice from authorities to make them happy, if their problems seem too great to analyze by themselves.

How to Determine

Can people determine whether they are suffering from "unreal" emotional fatigue or "real" physical fatigue? The "Women's Home Companion" article offers a few simple tests:

1. "In physical fatigue we have no energy left for anything. In emotional fatigue we have plenty of energy for anything that we want to do.

2. "Physical fatigue is often a nice tired feeling after physical exertion. Emotional fatigue is an unpleasant sensation. We feel vapid, washed out.

3. "Rest is a cure for healthy physical fatigue. It is no cure for emotional fatigue."

"OOOOH, I'M SOOOO TIRED . . ." But IS she really? Psychologists say it's possible for people to feel "tired" when they want to make things a little easier for themselves. Typical, they say, of the tendency to confuse fatigue and boredom are expressions like—"I'm tired of studying." Many students, fortunately, seem comparatively free from that complaint—they always stop in time!

SUI Symphony Concert To Be In Union Tonight

Works of composers from four countries will be played at the second concert of the University symphony in the main lounge of the Iowa Union at 8 p.m. today.

The concert is to be part of the International Student week's program.

The symphony, under the direction of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the SUI music department, will open with "A Somerset Rhapsody" by Gustav Holst, English composer.

The number is a poetic fantasy describing the peace of the English landscape today and battles that were fought there in olden times.

Richard Wagner, German operatic composer, will be represented by the concert version of "Prelude and Love Death" from his opera, "Tritan and Isolde."

After a week-long examination of the community health services, Miss Wallin told the local directors the advantages of becoming a member of the national organization, composed of public health nurses and agencies throughout the country.

If a man doesn't carve the turkey in your household, it's a sign he has abdicated one of his sacred rights, a poultry expert said Tuesday. A survey showed a "sneaky suspicion men were losing their grip," he reported. "Most want their turkeys cut up in the kitchen. Half said they hadn't seen a whole bird on their table since they were kids."

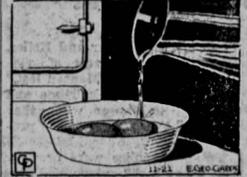

Dining room furniture should be washed occasionally. Wash it lightly with suds and rinse at once. Dry well, then apply polish.

Make it a habit to save informative tags that come with household utensils and linen. Write on each label what merchandise it refers to. When that item needs washing, you'll have professional advice in print.

If your family does not like kale served as a vegetable to accompany the main dish, try making potato and kale soup. Seasoned well, this soup is often accepted where the plain vegetable is rejected.

To make window panes extra shiny, add a liberal pinch of bluing and a couple of drops of kerosene to a pail of hot soap suds.

If you cover leftover egg yolks with cold water they will keep

A new nutmeg grinder on the market gives old-fashioned flavor to many foods. Try grinding a bit of the fresh, flavorful spice over such vegetables as spinach and Swiss chard; and over such desserts as apple or peach cobbler, pear pie and vanilla ice cream.

Dress up mashed potatoes with light cream, lots of butter or margarine, and a little dried crumbled rosemary. Heat the butter or margarine with the rosemary, then set in a warm place to steep for half an hour. Strain out the rosemary before adding the herb-flavored fat to the potatoes.

Howard Dawson, director of rural education for the National Education association and an advisor to President Truman, will speak at the 35th annual conference on school administration and supervision Nov. 28 and 29 at SUI.

Participants in the conference will observe learning activities in the university experimental schools, hear talks on reading instruction in elementary schools and discuss issues of school administration, according to Dean E. T. Peterson, SUI college of education.

Peterson said Tuesday other guest speakers include Donald Durrell, dean of the school of education at Boston university, and Walter K. Beggs, professor of school administration at the University of Nebraska.

Prof. Margaret Keyser, of the SUI college of education and director of the reading clinic, will be among the Iowa educators who will speak.

Community Chest Still $1,638 Short Of $28,468 Goal

Iowa City's 1951 Community Chest drive still needed $1,638.26 to meet its $28,468.24 goal, Elbert E. Beaver, general chairman of the campaign, said Tuesday.

To date $26,829.98 has been contributed in the community chest drive.

Only one of the four divisions has met or exceeded its divisional goal in the campaign. Division IV, national firms doing business in Iowa City, clubs and organizations and special gifts, has collected $4,436 in contributions. Roy A. Williams is chairman of the division whose quota is $4,129.07.

Division III, SUI employees, headed by Prof. M.C. Boyer of the college of engineering, is $170.32 short of its $6,713.87 goal. Contributions total $6,543.55 in division three.

Boyer said, "All late contributions should be mailed to Provost Harvey H. Davis' office in Old Capitol."

Division I, local business firms and professional services, is $511.88 short of its $12,960.13 goal. Contributions have totaled $12,448.25 in this division, headed by Martin Hunter.

Mrs. Dorothy Borchart, chairman of Division II, residential, reported $3,672.28 in contributions. The division needs $992.89 to meet its $4,665.17 goal.

Commissioner Resigns in Chicago Shakeup

CHICAGO (AP)—Police Commissioner John C. Prendergast resigned Tuesday in what was expected to be the opening move in a campaign to shake up the police department of the nation's second largest city from its top officers to the newest cop on the beat.

Mayor Martin Kennelly said that Prendergast left with an "unblemished" record and immediately named former Deputy Commissioner Timothy O'Connor to fill the post.

It was reported that five or six district captains may be "eased out" of their jobs either through retirement or demotion. Their successors, according to the report, will then be expected to sweep out any remnants of Prendergast, since taking office in 1946, has been under frequent fire from newspapers and other groups for failing to "clean out" the police department from top to bottom. But, while backing several minor reforms and reorganizations, he has, until Tuesday, made no major crackdowns.

While no criticism was even aimed at Prendergast personally, his administration has been attacked and he was regarded as a symbol of the "older order" that needed changing.

Kennelly said Tuesday that Prendergast "certainly has my respect and appreciation for duty well performed."

Rumors of impending wholesale changes in the department spread after the Kefauver committee hearings here. One police captain head of a lush north side amusement district revealed that he once doubled as the body guard for an underworld figure and had received large "gifts" of money from him.

'Treasure' Des Moines Boys Find Loot

DES MOINES (AP)—Two Des Moines boys could tell Tuesday the story of "buried treasure" they found Sunday in a rocky ravine near Thirteenth street and Chautauqua parkway.

The boys are Marvin Lovett, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest E. Lovett, and Samuel Waters, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Waters, who took an exploring trip in the woods and rocky ravines near the Lovett home.

The boys noticed a pile of leaves and twigs. Under it they found a wooden box, about 18 inches by 18 inches.

After prying open the lid they dashed to the Lovett home and called police.

"We have found some buried treasure," Marvin told police.

Detectives went to the scene and found the box contained several boxes of .22 caliber rifle shells, two rubber duck decoys, three hunting knives, a dozen pocket knives, a pair of leather, motorcycle riding pants, two bicycle headlights and some 20 gauge shotgun shells.

The boys agreed not to tell anyone of their discovery and police kept a watch over the scene hoping the person who buried the box might return.

The officers gave up their vigil Tuesday. Some of the articles were stolen from Des Moines stores, Capt. Robert E. O'Brien said.
