Early Iowa Scores Not Enough; Irish Move to 14-14 Tie

By ROBERT DUNCAN Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa's Hawkeyes stung Notre Dame with two quick touchdowns in the first quarter Saturday and then had to fight for their lives for a 14-14 tie before a capacity crowd of 52,863 in Iowa stadium.

The Irish swarmed back with sharp thrusts both in the air and on the ground to equal matters in the third period. From that time on, the Hawkeyes, their offense numbed by an aggressive Irish line, seemed content to hold favored Notre Dame to a tie.

The game ended with Iowa in possession of the ball on the Notre Dame 40 yard line when the Hawks took an abnormally long huddle to run out the clock.

Iowa Starts Early In Saturday's game it was Iowa and not the opposition who took the early initiative.

Notre Dame grew stronger as the ball game went along. Its attack was stalled by the hard charging Iowans in the opening quarter but the Irish mustered enough strength to come back.

The Irish looked well on the way to their fourth loss this season when the Hawks capitalized on two intercepted passes within the Notre Dame 30-yard line to score twice.

Iowa got its first scoring break on the second play of the game. Bobby Williams' pass dribbled off the finger tips of Chet Ostrowski into the clutching hands of Bob Lage on the Irish 22. Five plays later Don Commack burst off tackle from 12 yards out for the first Iowa score.

On the play before, Fullback Bill Reichardt had picked up a crucial first down on the 12 after three running plays had advanced the ball from the 22 to the 15.

Reichardt's conversion was good and the Hawks led 7-0. The crowd took its cue from the play of the aroused Hawkeyes and roared approval when Austin Turner choked off an Irish counter-attack with a pass interception on the Iowa 49.

Williams was rushed by Iowa's charging ends on the play and threw the ball more in desperation than at the intended receiver. Turner took off down the left side lines to the Irish 21 where he was dumped from behind.

If Turner had a little more speed he would have gone for a touchdown. As it was, a pass interception by Notre Dame ended this Iowa challenge.

The driving Hawks couldn't be held the next time they got the ball though.

Again a pass interception led to the score. This time it was Joe Paulsen who took Williams' pass on the Notre Dame 37 yard line and ran laterally across the field to the 27.

After five plays, Glenn Drahn arched a throw to "Chug" Wilson who made a sensational stumbling catch. The Iowa City halfback righted himself and ran into the end zone for Iowa's second score. Reichardt's conversion was true for a 14-0 lead.

Another Scoring Chance Iowa had still another chance to score in the quarter. Don Swartzendruber, who was almost a fifth man in the Notre Dame backfield, chased Williams back to the Notre Dame three yard line where the Irish quarterback intentionally grounded the ball.

The subsequent 15 yard penalty from the line of scrimmage moved the ball back to the two from where Williams kicked to Joe Bristol. The defensive halfback returned the ball to the 27.

On the next play, Reichardt fumbled with Notre Dame recovering to kill the drive. Notre Dame's first touchdown came with nearly six minutes left in the second period.

Fullback John Landry set up the touchdown with the longest jaunt of the day, an explosive 47 yard dash inside the Iowa right end down to the Hawkeye 20. The Iowa line braced itself for the task and forced the Irish to use six plays and all their available power to score.

John Pettibon finally scored on a sweep end run from the four yard line. Vincent Meschivitz converted to make the halftime score 14-7.

The Irish got a sustained march underway late in the third quarter for the game's fourth and last touchdown. When it was scored, however, the crowd sensed more scoring, for the tempo of the Notre Dame attack was picking up while the Iowa offense was on the decline after the first quarter.

The Game Ended the Same ...

FIGHTING FOR A LOOSE FOOTBALL, Hawkeye tackle Hubert Johnson (37) and Notre Dame captain Jerry Groom (50) indicated early in the game how Saturday's struggle was to end — with no decision. Johnson became eligible to receive a pass for one play when an end shifted into the backfield. The play didn't work Saturday as it did against Purdue when Johnson scored the only touchdown of his collegiate career.

Irish Drive Notre Dame ground 80 yards in 20 plays in the day's only march not seriously interrupted by fumbles, pass interceptions or penalties. Williams went over for the touchdown from the one foot line. Again Meschivitz converted. That made it 14-14 and was the scoring for the day.

Iowa came near winning the game with five minutes, two seconds left in the fourth quarter. Swartzendruber pushed Notre Dame's Bill Barrett into the end zone for an apparent safety and two points but the officials ruled that forward motion had been stopped on the one foot line.

On the next play, the Iowa line almost pushed Landry into the end zone but the fullback clawed his way to the one from where Williams kicked out of trouble.

That was the last serious threat made by either team.

New Grand Jury Convenes Monday To Hear Lons Case

An open murder charge against James Lons will be brought before the Johnson county grand jury when it convenes for its November term Monday.

Lons, who is out on $25,000 bond, was bound over to the jury on an open charge of murder by County Atty. Jack C. White. He is accused of the fatal stabbing Oct. 12 of Andrew Davelis, an employee of Lons' Princess cafe.

Because of the open charge, the jury will have the option of deciding the degree of murder with which Lons is to be charged, or of declaring that the evidence doesn't warrant any charge.

Also before the grand jury is a charge of assault lodged against George Baculis, Lons' brother, in connection with the stabbing.

If Lons comes to trial before February, he will appear before Judge Harold D. Evans. Judge Gaffney closed out the September term of the court Friday and Evans will open the November term Monday.

The term begins with 15 criminal cases and 38 civil suits still untried.

The grand jury will be impaneled at 2 p.m. Monday, but because of the Thanksgiving holiday probably will not report its findings until sometime the following week.

Hilliard Denies Veto Of No-Cut Petition Circulation at Quad

Robert B. Hilliard, Quadrangle president, denied Saturday that he blocked the circulation of the student council's anti-no-cut petition in the Quadrangle.

"The fact that a booth for the circulation of the petition on Monday has been provided for, completely refutes the charge that the circulation of the petition is being obstructed in the Quadrangle," he said.

Hilliard said any decision on the door-to-door circulation of the petition would have to be made by the Quad council, which has called a special meeting Monday night to consider the question.

Saturday morning Hilliard was told the dormitory office would not interfere in any decision the council might make regarding the petition.

Friday, a Quadrangle resident was told by President Hancher's office that it had no objection to the circulation, ruling that the petition circulation was not a "solicitation."

Later Friday, the dormitory office countered that it was, after all, a "solicitation." SUI regulations require the approval of the president's office for a "solicitation."

In light of this, Hilliard said, "I was debating in my mind whether I had the authority to approve its distribution."

No other Quad officer, he said, had been consulted about the petition, or had held up its circulation.

Sex Education Hit As Parents' Right

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Catholic bishops of the United States Saturday denounced sex education in the schools as an invasion of rights vested exclusively in fathers and mothers.

They also took issue with those who would put off orphan care under government agencies and called on the states to provide "released time" religious instruction for children otherwise deprived of it.

In conclusion, they proposed this two-fold antidote for child delinquency: "Make the child realize his time and talents belong to God" and "provide him with adequate recreational facilities."

Their Son-in-Law Massacred Them

SLAIN IN THEIR HOME in Vineland, N.J., Friday night, Michael Massoli and his wife Pearl were shot to death by their son-in-law after he had asked to see his two children. Son-in-law Ernest Ingenito also slew three more of his wife's relatives, and wounded four others in addition to his wife.

Shot 5, Says 'I Don't Want to Enter No Plea'

VINELAND, N. J. (AP) — A mild-looking stocky little man who slaughtered five of his wife's relatives and wounded four other persons in a wild shooting spree Friday night was jailed on murder charges Saturday.

"I ain't saying nothin,' I don't want to enter no plea," muttered five-foot-seven Ernest Ingenito Saturday when he was taken before a judge.

Gun in Hand That was 10 hours after the 25-year-old appliance salesman and ex-GI stalked into his wife's house, a gun in each hand, and demanded to see his children.

"He wasn't allowed in," his wife said from a hospital bed Saturday. "He seemed crazy. He said: 'You don't want to let me see the kids. Here's what you're going to get.'"

Then Ingenito opened fire. When the shooting spree stopped 20 minutes later, about 9:20 p.m., five members of his wife's family had been slain, and three others wounded critically. Ingenito's wife, Teresa, 23, from whom he was separated, was wounded less seriously.

Riddled Mother-in-Law He had pursued his mother-in-law to a closet where she was hiding, yanked open the door, and riddled her with bullets. He had shot down her uncle who was pursuing him with a knife. He had critically wounded a nine-year-old niece.

Ingenito fled after the last killing and became the object of the greatest manhunt south Jersey has seen in many years.

State policemen armed with submachineguns caught him in his car and he surrendered meekly, saying: "I'm the man you're looking for."

Suicide Attempt He had made a half-hearted attempt at suicide, cutting his left

Ground Attack In Snowstorm Led by Tanks

TOKYO (SUNDAY) (AP) — United States 7th division troops overran the North Korean town of Kapsan today to drive within 20 miles of the Manchurian frontier.

SEOUL (SUNDAY) (AP) — Tank led U.S. infantry in northeast Korea attacked today in sub-zero weather toward Kapsan, 21 miles from the Manchurian frontier and expected to reach the rubble city by tonight.

The 17th regiment of the seventh division had only two miles to go before entering the air-blasted town. New intelligence reports said Korean Reds were dug in on high ground just south of Kapsan.

The infantry plunged four miles Saturday through a snow-storm and minor Red resistance to within two miles of Kapsan. The temperature plummeted 34 degrees in four hours.

Behind the seventh division ice and snowdrifts blocked the main UN supply route in northeastern Korea Saturday night but traffic was moving again today.

To the northeast the South Korean capital division renewed its march up the coast toward the Soviet Siberian border. Shelling by the U.S. cruiser St. Paul was clearing the way.

In the northwest, 100,000 Chinese and Korean Communists were reported digging in on a 60-mile front below the great hydroelectric plants on the Yalu river border between Korea and Manchuria.

These preoccupied Reds offered only light resistance to patrols ranging eight miles or more north of Allied lines.

West Germans Vote Today

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (AP) — Five million voters in the U.S. zone of Germany may answer today the question whether the West German people favor the creation of a German armed force to help defend West Europe.

Voters in Hesse and Wurttemberg-Baden will elect new state parliaments after campaigns based largely on the rearmament issue.

The results also are expected to answer these questions: 1. Is Communism gaining or losing strength among the Germans? 2. How strong politically are the dispossessed refugees from Communist Eastern Europe? They are regarded by Allied observers as the most fiercely nationalistic element in western Germany.

The election finds four major parties struggling for power along with the refugees. The four established parties are the rightist Christian Democrats and Free Democrats, the leftist Socialists and the Communists.

The new refugee party is labeled the DG-BHE. This is a merger of the Deutsche Gemeinschaft (German Society), a small rightist group, and the refugee "block of expellees and war victims."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scattered picketing marked the tenth day of a nation-wide strike by 33,000 telephone workers Saturday as federal mediators continued efforts to end the dispute.

Mediators spent the afternoon in joint or separate meetings with representatives of the CIO communications workers and the Western Electric company, Bell system manufacturing subsidiary which employs the striking installers and plant workers.

The union is seeking a 15-cent hourly increase and wants a one-year instead of a two-year contract.

A spokesman for the American Telephone and Telegraph company said traffic was normal again Saturday throughout the company's 14 long lines centers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky declared Saturday there can be no lasting world peace until the United Nations admits the Chinese Communists and adopts a long list of other Russian proposals.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), United States delegate, accused Russia of trying to bulldoze the UN and said the free world could not accept such a "bartering of peace."

He said Vishinsky had now made it clear that Russia would accept no program for world peace which did not comply entirely with Soviet demands.

Mines and Monsters —

A Reprint from the St. Louis Star-Times
They're at it again, the debunkers, and this time it's Loch Ness' fine old monster they're trying to explain. Plague take 'em for mucky mcdlers, say we.

These particular detractors happen to be torpedo and mining experts at a Royal Navy school in Plymouth — Englishmen, of course, what else? They say 320 dummy mines in strings of eight each were moored to the bottom of Loch Ness in 1918 as an experiment. Since then — so they say — the strings have torn loose at intervals and bobbed to the surface, and there's your monster.

Well, it's not the first time meandering skeptics have tried destroying the monster with logic. Usually the skeptics have said he was best seen through a haze of peat smoke, preferably peat smoke trapped by the pot stills in Scotch whisky.
But the true Scot has never been impressed by these snide suggestions that the monster is only a 90 proof thing. No more will the true Scot be impressed by this fantastic story about dummy mines. Why the mines weren't even laid until 1918, and everyone knows the monster's been seen — not close up, mind, but seen — for a hundred years and more.

No, the Loch Ness monster is real, and the mere fact that no one has been able to describe it accurately is only proof of how monstrous a monster it is. If now and then one must take a wee drap o' Scotch to help bring him clear to the sight, why that's only proof of how fine Scotch is for the vision.

For there should be some things in the world that are past man's pat little explanations about floating mines and the like. And if there's to be a choice between the monster and flying saucers, we'll take the serpent of Loch Ness every time.

U.S. May Combine Military, Economic Aid to Britain

LONDON (AP)—The end of heavy and regular Marshall aid payments to Britain appears to be in sight—and the British take only cold comfort from this result of their progress toward prosperity.

Dollars will continue to flow, however, in a stream regulated to the ups and downs of British needs. Help likely will continue also to Britain and the rest of western Europe in the building of defenses against Communism.

There are indications that American aid for economic recovery and for military preparedness—now dispensed from two separate pockets—soon may be put in a single pot.

The Atlantic pact defense alliance, for one thing, is using Europe's Marshall aid organization—the OEEC—to assess the economic impact of defense and help it decide how to share costs and help.

The separate economic and military alliances are moving together toward a close knit organization that can guide the old country over the rough spots as it struggles to complete economic recovery while donning the burden of higher arms spending.

Britain, as the biggest recipient of economic help and one of the major factors in the Atlantic alliance rearmament program, is in a key spot.

There is no doubt the British will be sorry to see big lumps of American dollars cut off, as the ECA and Prime Minister Attlee have revealed as likely. But Britain is relieved the dollars are not being cut off completely and suddenly as lend-lease was in 1945.

So far Britain has $2,711,153,000 in Marshall aid. About $94-million of it was paid her in the fiscal year ending last June 30. This year, so far, $175-million has been allotted her.

But what progress has Britain made toward recovery that she now is having the American crutch slowly taken away?

Production is nearly 50 percent above 1946. It has increased about 10 percent this year—an increase far above what was expected. Most of it is due to increased output per man.

Exports to the United States and Canada — the big dollar-earning markets—have nearly doubled in volume and have risen 50 percent in dollar value since the pound was devalued 14 months ago.

The country still has a deficit between what it buys and sells in dollar markets—but sales of high priced products like wool, rubber and tin from the rest of the sterling area are more than making up the gap.

In the first six months of the year, Britain and the rest of the sterling area earned a surplus of $220-million which helped the vital gold and dollar reserves held in London under government control. In the first six months of the year before, the whole area had gone $962-million in the hole.

In 1949, Marshall aid was barely keeping them afloat. In 1950 things have improved so much that America's dollars, in effect, are going into the reserves, strengthening Britain's financial position while she pays her own way in the world.

The gold reserves have more than doubled since Sept. 18, 1949, when the exchange value of the pound was cut from $4.03 to $2.80. They now stand at $2,756-billion.

which will change state representation in the congress elected in 1952, convention votes that year will follow the present pattern and remain in practically the same ratio as in 1948.

California Gains
After that, California, which gains seven house seats in the reshuffling, while Pennsylvania loses three and New York two, will be on equal footing with Pennsylvania in voting on the choice of a nominee.
Duff's control over the Pennsylvania bloc of delegates yet to be chosen could only equal that of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey over New York's larger delegation.
During his successful campaign for reelection to a third term as governor, Dewey came out for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the 1952 GOP presidential nominee.

New Test for the Shock Absorbers

For the Record

In 1945 "Sentimental Journey" was synonymous with Les Brown and Doris Day for the three of them virtually became the song, the band, and the vocalist of the year. Then two years ago Les scored another hit with the old Berlin tune, "I've Got My Love To Keep Me Warm," making it more popular than when it was written.

Today the renowned Brown and his band are synonymous with the best in popular music, as those who attended the "Spinsters' Spree" will undoubtedly tell you. But for those who didn't attend the dance, Les on wax will have to do.

Les, playing it cool, never sold out completely to pop; rather he adapted some of the more acceptable tricks of his satisfying, rhythmic style. This kept the band up to date and acceptable to the more advanced music fans. On the other hand, not totally rejecting the melody served to keep from alienating those who still wanted to know to which song they were listening and dancing.

The first of Columbia's bands to be recorded in the "Dance Date" series, Brown's album immediately leaped into a best-seller position and now most of the songs have been issued singly. Gershwin's "S Wonderful", Porter's "Easy to Love", and Vernon Duke's "Cabin in the Sky", excellently done, are the best of this group of Les Brown records that will be favorites in anybody's collection for some time.

So much for old favorites. The new favorite to be "taken up" by New York's "smart set" is pianist Joe Bushkin. Columbia.

A friendly star who has recently spent more time in the headlines than in the recording studio is Frank Sinatra. This has been partially remedied by a new album that turned up this week called "Sing and Dance with Frank Sinatra". The orchestra is directed by George Siravo and the album is an answer to my recent complaint about the absence of combinations of good vocals and orchestration.

While Sinatra has been in better form, he does keep the vocal tricks to a minimum, and these songs are as fine a collection of standard rhythm tunes as one could want. "It's Only A Paper Moon", "Lover", and "Should I" are probably the best in this album which also includes "The Continental" and "My Blue Heaven."

Experts Combine Foreign Aid Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Demands on the part of a resurgent Republican party have already had an effect on administration planning for aid to other nations.

Foreign aid experts are now working out a "single package" presentation for the next congress which will show at one glance both the military aid and the economic help proposed for each of the western European nations.

So far the two aid programs — which for the current 12 months total $8.7-billion — have been voted separately.

McGrath Urges Colleges To Speed-Up Training

WASHINGTON — Earl James McGrath, U.S. Commissioner of Education, is urging colleges to help students complete as much of their four-year courses as possible before they are inducted into military service.

"It is probably not necessary now for institutions to shift to a 12-month schedule as many did in World War II," he says, "but it is desirable that they maintain a skeleton program during the summer months."

Despite government assurances to the contrary, college officials look for a speed-up in the draft of students next year.

Chinese Red Soldier Well Disciplined, Commands Respect

By FRED HAMPSON
HONG KONG (P)—The Chinese Communist soldier, now added to the Korean war picture, is a good soldier—in some ways great.

But he hasn't been tested much against good mechanized forces, and he hasn't been through the crucible of a losing battle. So no body really knows how he will perform in adversity.

An American military attache saw the Chinese Communists take Nanking calls the Red soldier, rough, tough and nasty."

A French expert was more cautious: he is good, but he has his weaknesses.

I have heard many people in Red China say, "the best thing about Chinese Communism is its army—the army is fine, the rest of it is awful."

The Chinese Red soldier got a good press during his conquest of China in 1949. Maybe too good a press. The collapsing Nationalists did not oppose him very determinedly.

The Chinese Red soldier contributes two new qualities to the Asiatic military character:

First, he is a soldier with some political indoctrination: he knows what he's fighting for, or he thinks he does. He feels he has a stake in the game.

Second, he is the only Asiatic soldier in modern history who has been treated with real dignity and esteem. This is reflected in his pride and his truly remarkable discipline. He is not a coolie soldier, like so many Chinese Nationalists, mistreated and despised. He also is not the underling of his officers, like the Japanese soldier of World War II.

He was fairly good with artillery and, to a certain extent, with tanks during the last two years of the Chinese civil war, but his experience with mechanical materiel has been limited. As a rifleman he is excellent, and he could keep up with Stonewall Jackson's foot cavalry any day.

Military Spartan
He is a military spartan—his needs are stark compared to the lavish loads of supplies which follow American forces.

I saw him at close quarters in the fall of Shanghai. He looked well trained, impersonal and sure of himself, but not particularly imaginative.

When in the Shanghai fight he met resistance along Soochow creek in the heart of the city he finally took the creek he did it well, but it took him too long. The Nationalist positions were wide open for flanking operations and rear attack.

The average American outfit I saw in World War II would have been around and behind them in five hours. It took the Chinese Reds 50 hours. However, that's only one case, and it really was a command failure.

The Chinese Red staff work was excellent during final phases of the civil war but was lacking in formal military education, a lack which may have been corrected since then. From battalion on down, the Reds are rated as in the "do or die" school but poor on tactics. But again this may have been corrected.

Intervention Of Red China Test For U.S.

Intervention of Red China in Korea will be the real test of U.S. diplomacy. If the U.S. shows the diplomatic leadership needed by a number one nation, the tenuousness of the world situation will be eased.

Tuesday's election has indicated that the people are not overwhelmingly impressed by the administration's foreign policy. The question is do the American people believe that their so called "hand out" foreign policy has failed.

The Allied powers with their European background apparently have not been successful in selling Asia democracy. Our dollars have bought Chinese accusations of imperialism intent rather than cooperation.

The most startling development on the international scene in the last century has not been the UN nor the emergence of the U.S.A. as a great power, but the "present status of those countries of Asia which border on the Pacific and Indian Oceans."

Rt. Hon. Lord Pethwick-Lawrence believes that Asia has not yet made up its mind between totalitarian Communism and Western Democracy. "When men and women are secure in at least a moderately good standard of life, they have no personal interest in disrupting their existing order of society and attempting to substitute another in its stead. . . . It follows that the prime duty of everyone who wishes to prevent Asia from becoming Communist is to do everything possible to improve the lot of the people."

For an informing article by a man who understands the Oriental mind read Pethwick-Lawrence's "Asian Renaissance" in the latest issue of Contemporary Review.

Parl Company

Another expert on Asiatic affairs, John K. Fairbanks with seven years experience in China, writes "It is on the score of domestic reform in China that we parted company with Chinese public opinion for we (thinking of ourselves first?) considered that the evil of Russian imperialism would outweigh the benefit of the reforms promised by Chinese Communism; and too many of the Chinese people did not agree with us." The November Atlantic Monthly carries Fairbanks' article entitled "China."

Why have the Western Democracies lost China's favor? One answer given in the November Fortune is that Communism has offered land reform. Quoting from this article, "An ally in Asia; land reform," we read "We need not use our influence to confirm the specific redistribution of Korean land carried out by the Communist invaders, still less need we sanction the crude and brutal methods by which the job was done. But we must not seem to say to Asia: the Communists are for land reform, therefore the U.S. is against it."

Financial Problems Face New Governor Of North Dakota

BISMARCK, N.D. (P)—Norman Brundsdale will go into office as North Dakota's governor Jan. 2 with a weather eye on state spending.

The 59-year-old farmer and Mayville bank director says he is determined to look after North Dakota's business as carefully as he does his own and to keep on approximately the same track as his predecessor, Gov. Fred A. Aandahl.

Both Brundsdale and Aandahl are members of the Republican organization committee faction of the North Dakota GOP and are personal friends. As majority leader in the state senate, Brundsdale has been helpful in speeding the passage of administration legislation.

Brundsdale is determined to keep spending from the state's general fund to within expected income. "If we're going to tap the general fund for everything," he said, "we simply are not going to have enough to go around."

He says the 1950 legislature will have at least two major financial questions to ponder. It will have to dig up between $2.5 million and $3-million to pay World War II bonus claims and strouge for some $8-million to match federal highway aid grants.

The governor-elect was born July 9, 1891, at Sherbrook, N.D., where his father was county treasurer. When his father died he inherited a farm. After the elder Brundsdale died in 1899, his widow continued the management of extensive land holdings her husband had acquired and was able to add to them. After his graduation from Luther college at Decorah, Ia., in 1913, Norman turned to manage the family's lands.

Capital Moved to Washington 150 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress started doing business in the "wilderness city" that was Washington 150 years ago next Wednesday.

The seat of the 11-year-old government had just been moved from Philadelphia. An upcoming young fellow named Napoleon Bonaparte was first consul of France, and the United States was negotiating war-threatening maritime disputes with him and the British.

On Nov. 22, 1800, senators and representatives from the 16 states in the union assembled to hear an address by President John Adams. It was the second session of the sixth congress. Previous meetings of congress were held in New York and Philadelphia.

The still unfinished capitol building was bordered by forests and swamps. Many congressmen grumbled at having to leave comfortable fashionable Philadelphia for what one called "this miserable swampland."

Philadelphia (pop. 41,000) was the largest and wealthiest city in the United States. Pittsburgh was a log house settlement in "the far west." The vast Louisiana territory was owned by France, and California and Florida were Spanish colonies.

In his address President Adams congratulated the people at the assembling of their congress at the permanent seat of government. He praised the exploits of the infant navy in mauling French privateers but expressed hope for amity with all European powers.

A hot political issue of the time was the imprisonment under the sedition law of some editors who supported Jefferson.

Missionary Saw Doolittle Bomb Japan

By JERRY COPELAND
Thirty-five years of missionary work in Japan — years of earthquakes, fires and Lt. Gen. James Doolittle's raid — have not dulled the missionary devotion of Lena Daugherty.

Miss Daugherty, Parsons college graduate and native Iowan, recently visited SUI language Prof. and Mrs. E. K. Mapes.

With humor in her voice, Miss Daugherty talked of three serious "quakes" during her last stay in Japan.

"The best protection from them is the door jam," she said. "Houses seem to dance, and the bed jiggles. It's safer under a door jam than it is to stay in bed, even though it is inconvenient."

Seven years is the usual term of Japanese service for Miss Daugherty, but she came home to Iowa after three years last August, "mainly because old age is creeping up."

She was in Japan during the outbreak of both world wars.

Life in Japan was uneventful in World War I, but in World War II Japan and the United States were enemies. Nevertheless, Miss Daugherty said she experienced humane treatment from the Japanese, and harassment from her fellow American Doolittle.

Doolittle's raid came as Japanese friends were putting Miss Daugherty aboard the first evacuation ship to leave Japan. The raid, though it surprised the Japanese, did little damage, she said.

Though not all Americans were interned, Miss Daugherty said "I never saw my Japanese friends on the street so they wouldn't have to speak to me."

After the Doolittle bombing raid, Miss Daugherty sailed to Portuguese East Africa, where Japanese and U.S. nationals were exchanged in 1942.

The Japanese think the U.S. is doing a good job in the occupation of Japan, Miss Daugherty found in her last stay in Japan. "They feel that it is a good thing that we are there."

Buddhism is still "the" religion of Japan and the Japanese are slow in adopting Christianity, "but once it is in stays," she said.

The Japanese are war-weary, she said. "They feel that they will be in the center if any war breaks out. They are afraid that if any bombs are dropped they will fall in Japan. Nevertheless, they flocked to the blood banks when the Korean war broke out."

Miss Daugherty is to go back to Japan in the summer to work in the Joshi Gaa Kuin, a Tokyo girls' school.

"I'll be going back to Japan in the summer if there is anything left," she said.

BOMBS, EARTHQUAKES, AND TYPHOONS have broadened the travels of Lena Daugherty. She has experienced all of them as a Presbyterian missionary in Japan. Doolittle dropped the bombs, and mother nature provided the rest. Miss Daugherty has been a missionary in Japan for 35 years, with a vacation in the U.S. every seven years. She recently visited SUI Prof. and Mrs. E. K. Mapes.

G.I.'s 'Layer' Clothes Keep Them Warm

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army is displaying winter clothing issued to G.I.'s fighting in Korea's sub-zero weather. Uniforms worn by U.S. and Communist North Korean troops employed the "layer principle" to keep the wearer warm in the "wet cold" climate. But the G.I.'s outfit is more modern. The idea of the uniforms is to keep the wearer warm by making full use of his body heat and controlling perspiration.

The G.I.'s outer wrap is a water-resistant field jacket with a hood. Wool trousers are worn inside high-topped shoes. Footgear also includes two pairs of heavy wool socks and a pair of thick felt inner soles. They keep snug inside by a wool undershirt, wool flannel shirt, high-neck sweater, pile jacket, wool undershirts and wool serge trousers. His head is protected by a cotton cap with a wool lined bar flap.

Give the small folks a part in the holiday planning, a child expert advises. They'll probably get in the way, but they'll have fun. Children can fold paper napkins, pick nutmeats, cut dried fruits, help set the table, beat eggs, cream sugar and butter, pop corn, string cranberries and popcorn, and lick frosting bowls of course.

Are your "special" holiday table linens yellowish from storage? Launder them in hot soapsuds, then hang in the bright sunshine to bleach as they dry.

A navy pump with a white calf toe and thin navy stripes across the instep is being shown for spring.

When baking a cake, take eggs out of the refrigerator about three-quarters of an hour before you use them. They beat to a large volume faster at room temperature.

When ironing dry rayons, use a slightly damp press cloth.

Sprinkling may cause "spot shrinkage."

Wash the inside of a teakettle often to prevent mineral deposits from accumulating. To remove deposits, boil a mixture of equal parts vinegar and water in the kettle, cool, and let stand several hours. Scrape off the scales with a wooden spoon.

With suits, wool dresses, and almost any dressy outfit, the latest fashion is a latticework heel or flower design outlining the heel.

These designs make ankles look slimmer, too.

Designers have come up with all sorts of pint-size furniture for the younger set. There's a metal table with a removable tray top for cleaning after a session with stick clay. And a miniature card table and folding chairs. And Victorian or Early American maple chairs of authentic design.

Ojemann will spend Dec. 7 with 200 adjustment teachers of the Chicago public school system. He will describe research in teaching human relations and mental hygiene at SUI's laboratory schools and the Tipton and Cedar Rapids public schools. He will also discuss the training of mental hygiene teachers.

Proper Table Settings Enhance Feasts

HERE'S THE RESULT of perfect preparation — a distinguished table which not only enhances the appetizing properties of food, but immediately creates a feeling of contentment. Properly set, it features America's newest choice — glass tableware.

TO PROPERLY FOLD napkins, do not crease down the center. The fold always should face the plate. This permits the guest to grasp the edge with the left hand and conveniently open it.

WATER GLASSES, whether tumblers or stemware, should be directly at the top of the knife. If wine glasses are used, these should sit to the right of the water glass, slightly toward the edge of the table.

SIMPLICITY and balance keynote a smart decoration. And there is no need for centerpieces to be expensive. Common flowers — even field plants — arranged with tasteful care, provide interesting focal points.

ISC Woman Chosen 'Popular' Engineer

AMES (AP) — Jane Frudden, Greene, the only girl among the eight candidates for the honor, was presented Saturday night as the most popular engineering student at Iowa State college.

It marked the first time a coed has won the honor. The presentation was made at the annual Engineers' carnival. Miss Frudden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Frudden, was chosen by popular vote in a Friday balloting in which 2,300 students took part.

She is a junior in architectural engineering, is a member of the college chapter of the American Institute of Architects, and belongs to Delta Delta Delta sorority.

3 to Attend Pennsylvania Pre-Med Meeting

Problems discussed at the workshop will be outlined and used as a guide by the committee. The committee will conduct an extensive survey of each college and university participating. The conference will be sponsored by the sub-committee on pre-professional education of the Survey of Medical Education, formed jointly by the American Medical Association's council on medical education and the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Rose Bowl 'Fired' Illini Shock Ohio State, 14-7

Strike Through Air to Hand Bucks First Big Ten Defeat

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP) — Illinois, the great running team, sprung two aerial touchdowns off trick plays in the second period to surprise mighty Ohio State, 14-7, Saturday and shoot ahead in the Big Ten Rose bowl race.

It was the first Big Ten loss for Ohio State, ranked last week as the nation's top team in the AP poll.

Muffled on the ground as never before this season, the Illini pecked at the Buckeyes' weakest spot, pass defense, and clicked superbly before a capacity throng of 71,119 wild fans.

RUNNING LIKE A HALFBACK Tackle Joe Paulsen stiff-armed Notre Dame's Bill Barrett after intercepting a pass Saturday. Paulsen caught the pass on the Irish 37 and ran laterally across the field to the 27 before being downed. Guard "Junebug" Perrin, co-captain of the Hawks Saturday, is shown coming up to lend support. Carrying the ball wasn't entirely foreign to Paulsen who was a backfield man in his high school days. The Hawks battled Notre Dame to a 14-14 tie.

Cal Narrowly Escapes, 13-7

BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP) — The great equalizer — mud — and a rugged University of San Francisco defense, gave California all it bargained for before the Bears took a slim 13-7 decision Saturday before 14,000 rain-soaked fans.

The California team salvaged the win in the final period when Jim Monachino went around his own right end for seven yards and the winning touchdown. The teams, struggling in soggy mud, had bogged down in a 7-7 tie up to that point.

The Bears put together eight plays for a 33 yard scoring drive, highlighted by Quarterback Jim Marinos' only pass of the day — a 12-yard completion to Fullback John Olszewski.

CORNELL DIPS DARTMOUTH

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Cornell smothered Dartmouth's Johnny Clayton Saturday to score an impressive 24-0 victory in its home finale before 28,000 fans. The winners did all their scoring in the first half.

Gophers Win for Bernie, 27-14

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's Gophers, fired by the announced resignation of their coach, put on their finest exhibition of football this year to come from behind and whip Purdue, 27-14, in a Western conference game Saturday.

The Gophers spotted Purdue's Boilermakers two touchdowns — one each in the first and second periods and then put together its first victory of the year.

And in so doing, they uncovered a new potential star in Halfback Kern Klefsaas, who scored the first three Minnesota touchdowns. In addition, he sparked most of the Gopher's drives downfield into scoring territory.

It was Klefsaas who, early in the fourth period, put the Gophers ahead with a driving, punishing run around his own right end to put the ball across despite the efforts of three Boilermakers on the goal line.

Then, to insure the victory, Halfback Bob Thompson ran 70 yards on a punt return to cross accounts for three points with kicks after the scores.

Indiana Scores Late, Tops Marquette, 18-7

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP) — Indiana had to score a couple of quick touchdowns in the final quarter Saturday to beat a Marquette team it had pushed around most of the afternoon, 18-7.

The crowd of 30,000 included members of 112 high school bands. Marquette gained only 16 yards in the first half while Indiana was taking a 6-0 lead.

Then Marquette's offense clicked with a 68-yard touchdown march in 11 plays and Indiana had to forget about saving itself for the Old Oaken Bucket class with Purdue next Saturday.

Wolves Keep Bowl Hopes Alive Rip Cats 34-23

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP) — Michigan's pair of blond workhorses, Chuck Ortmann and Don Dufek, chipped holes in the Northwestern defenses here Saturday in a 34-23 Big Ten victory that kept alive Michigan's mathematical Rose bowl chances.

A crowd of 78,201 fans saw the two Wolverines rip through the Northwestern line for two touchdowns apiece in a conquest that found Michigan at its old-time strength.

Northwestern's Dick Flowers cut loose with a last-minute passing barrage that pulled the visitors within threatening distance — but then time ran out. Michigan End Harry Allis converted all but the second touchdown kick and scored one touchdown himself.

For Michigan it was the third Big Ten win against a tie and a loss. Northwestern salvaged some glory by setting a pair of Western conference pass records.

Northwestern's Flowers set up a new season pass completion mark of 56 to surpass the mark of 53 shared by Otto Graham of Northwestern and Perry Moss of Illinois.

Northwestern's giant end, Don Stonerfer, who already holds the Big Ten individual game and season receiving records, broke the yardage record set in 1949 by Jack Dittmer of Iowa.

But the crowd's acclaim still went to Ortmann and Dufek.

Dufek, Michigan's rugged line-smashing fullback, carried the ball 15 times and made 110 yards. He scored two touchdowns and set up another.

Varied Spartan Attack Chills Pittsburgh, 19-0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Michigan State unveiled a sparkling and effective passing attack Saturday to hammer out a 19-0 victory over a Pittsburgh football team which was stopped cold on the ground and bottled up in the air.

The visiting Spartans closed their 1950 season with the mighty Sunny Grandelius showing 26-679 fans his speed and prowess. Although Grandelius flashed the Spartans' running attack he left all the Michigan State scoring to his team mates.

The Spartans' Al Dorow showed the Panthers that the newest ephy in the Western conference could take to the air lanes with good effect.

He outshone Pitt's quarterback and passing star, Bobby Bestwick.

Oklahoma Aggies Fall Before Detroit, 20-13

STILLWATER, OKLA. (AP) — A 42-yard sprint by Jim O'Leary in the fourth quarter broke up a tie football game to give Detroit University a 20-13 victory over Oklahoma A&M here Saturday.

The victory puts Detroit into second place in the Missouri Valley conference and drops the Aggies down to fourth.

Penn Crushes Badgers, 20-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Francis (Reds) Bagnell, Penn's brilliant halfback, gave a magnificent performance Saturday in leading the rugged Quakers to a crushing 20-0 victory over the Wisconsin Badgers from the Big Ten conference.

An elusive runner and a sharp-shooting passer, the redhead from the sidewalk of Philadelphia sparked the winners on three long scoring marches of 68, 62 and 49 yards through the outclassed visitors and smashed across himself for two touchdowns.

Playing in his next to last college game, Bagnell ran through and around the hurried Badgers for 164 yards on 28 rushes and hit his receivers on eight of 14 passes for another 65 yards.

Through all this, the Wisconsin team was able to offer only feeble resistance against Penn's slashing single-wing attack, and on only one occasion was able to put together a sizeable march of its own on Johnny Coatta's passing. The Badgers came closest to scoring in the final quarter when they reached the Penn two yard line.

Possibly the Midwest team was suffering a letdown after its fine stand a week ago against Ohio State. Whatever the cause, it never belonged on the same field with the big Quakers Saturday.

Different Types of Emotion in Iowa, Notre Dame Dressing Rooms —

Both Disgusted — Hawks Vehemently, Irish Mildly

By DICK JACKMAN There were two different types of emotion in the dressing rooms here Saturday after Notre Dame and Iowa stalled each other to a 14-14 tie. One locker room featured mild disgust — the other, not so mild.

But both the Irish and Hawk-eyes were agreed on one thing. They had played 60 minutes of good hard football without proving much of anything to each other. The Notre Dame players were quietly sad, figuring they should have won the game by at least a touchdown or two.

Quarterback Bobby Williams whose right arm was the chief Irish shillelagh in their second half comeback said, "We lost our own ball game. Iowa has a good team and their line charges hard, but we made too many mistakes early in the game."

Iowa's disgust was of a stronger nature and most of it was centered around the two plays in the fourth quarter where the Hawk-eye linemen trapped Notre Dame backs very near the goal line. Officials ruled in both cases that the forward motion of the Irish backs had carried them just out of the end zone.

Loudest in complaint over the decision were Junebug Perrin, Joe Paulsen and Austin Turner, Iowa's defensive workhorses. Perrin's voice was bursting with disgust. "Why, we had them back there both times and no part of the ball carrier's body was near the goal line," Perrin said.

"We were robbed. A safety would have won the ball game for us." Paulsen and Turner agreed. Paulsen said, "It was clear to everyone but the officials. But just wait until Monday. The movies will show they were tackled back there."

Coach Leonard Raffensberger was quiet about the play. "It was a tough decision for the officials to make and they were closer to it than we were," he commented. "No, we didn't play as well today as we did those final three quarters against Illinois. Notre Dame has a good spirited squad, but we did get some breaks for a change," Raffensberger said.

Over in the Notre Dame room, the genial master of fine football teams and careful conversations, Coach Frank Leahy, was in good spirits. His voice was as cheerful as his bright bow tie as he said that both Iowa and Notre Dame had played well in a game where opportunities were frequent.

"We were about up to par today after we got out of that first quarter," Leahy said. "No, I didn't want Bob (Williams) to punt out of danger in the first period. I was hoping he would pass. Iowa's rushing was very impressive and they seemed well-prepared for the game."

Asked whether he was nervous when Iowa jumped into a two-touchdown lead and kept the Irish in a hole early in the game, Leahy joked, "No, I would have been last year, but I guess I'm getting accustomed to it. I'm very proud of the way the boys came back and tied the game. They are a wonderful group of young men."

"John Mazur looked nice at quarterback while he was in there. He will probably be our first string signal-caller next season. Williams called a fine game and is an excellent football player. Our captain, Jerry Groom of Des Moines, has played fine ball for us all year."

Leahy named Michigan State as the toughest team they had met all year. He also said that despite Notre Dame's 80-80 record this fall, every team is still very much "up" for them and out to "get the Irish." He then added, "I don't see why they're in a hurry. They'll have the same chance next year." Groom and Williams said they were undecided about professional football next year. Currently, they're suffering from the common worry of college men — the threat of being drafted next June.

Groom and John Tower, former high school rivals in Des Moines and opposing centers in Saturday's game, praised each other after the game. Groom said that it felt like "old home week" playing against Tower. Bill Reichardt and Chug Wilson whom he played against in high school.

The dressing rooms were similar in one respect — both teams figured they should have won. Notre Dame quietly blamed themselves while the Hawks weren't so quiet about placing the blame. In general, neither team went home satisfied Saturday and both are still convinced they can beat the other.

Nebraska Stifles Weeks, Cyclones for 20-13 Win

LINCOLN, NEB., (UP) - Nebraska's Cornhuskers, apparently playing with their minds on next week's Oklahoma game, overcame a sluggish start Saturday to stifle Iowa State's Wingin' Willie Weeks and defeat the Cyclones, 20-13.

Nebraska, operating with machine-like regularity inside the tackles, punched the Iowa State line for two second-half touchdowns - just enough to render Weeks' sparkling work futile. Weeks completed 11 of 20 passes for 137 yards and ran for another 37 yards to shade the performance of Nebraska's star, Bobby Reynolds.

The Cyclones tackled Reynolds on nearly every play, whether he had the ball or not, but he ripped off a seven-yard touchdown in the dying minutes of the fourth quarter.

The run, with two extra points, gave him eight for the game - his lowest per game total of the season.

Weeks accounted for all but 51 of the Cyclones' yardage as he scampered for a 19-yard touchdown in the third period and his passes set up the final Iowa State touchdown, scored as the gun banged.

Unbeaten Princeton Humbles Yale, 47-12

NEW HAVEN, CONN. (AP) - Triple-threat Dick Kazmaier and Princeton's fiery Tigers humbled fighting Yale, 47-12, Saturday and brought the Tigers their fourth straight Big Three football title before 59,000 excited and shivering fans.

Kazmaier, 170 pounds of lightning speed and a passer and kicker or rare talents, was efficiently supported by a group of smart magicians who knew what it was all about. Unbeaten and undefeated Princeton recorded its 21st straight victory, eight this season.

Princeton, scoring at least once in each period, gleefully handed Yale its worst pasting in the 73 games they've played since 1873.

TEXAS WINS, 21-7
FORT WORTH, TEX. (AP) - The University of Texas smashed stubborn Texas Christian university, 21-7, Saturday and clinched the Southwest conference championship. The winners scored two fourth period touchdowns.

Rote Powers SMU, Past Arkansas, 14-7

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Southern Methodist's aerial circus was grounded in the rain and mud Saturday, but bulldozing Kyle Rote powered the Mustangs to a 14-7 Southwest conference victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks.

The game, an unsensational mud battle most of the way, broke wide open in the fourth quarter as the Razorbacks stormed to one touchdown that counted and to another which was nullified by a holding penalty.

Rote slashed for 79 yards on 25 carries and did SMU's most successful passing. The triple threat halfback made 22 of the 30 yards in SMU's first second quarter touchdown drive, plowing across from seven yards out.

Victory-Hungry Navy Trounces Columbia, 29-7
NEW YORK (AP) - Breaking a fairly tight game wide open with two touchdowns on intercepted passes in the final minute of play, a victory-hungry Navy football team defeated Columbia Saturday, 29-7.

It was a bitter battle, enlivened by brief fisticuffs, until that final scoring spurge of the lads from Annapolis, who had been plowed under in six of their seven previous games this year.

OTHER STARS WHO STAND TO RECEIVE HANDSOME INCREASES ARE BOB LEMON OF THE CLEVELAND INDIANS, PHIL RIZZUTO OF THE NEW YORK YANKEES AND JIM KONSTANTY OF THE PHILADELPHIA PHILS.

HOLY CROSS BEATEN WORCESTER, MASS. (AP) - Georgetown's football team scored the only touchdown of the first period Saturday and maintained the advantage to the end in a 21-14 victory over Holy Cross. It was the second triumph of the season for the Hoyas.

Sooners Blast Missouri, 41-7

NORMAN, OKLA. (AP) - Fear-some Oklahoma, scoring four touchdowns in the first half, breezed past Missouri like a streamliner through a whistle stop Saturday for a 41-7 victory and its 29th straight triumph.

The run-away win gave the Sooners at least a tie for the Big Seven championship which they have held alone the last two seasons. The Nebraska Cornhuskers have a chance to share the title - but first they must beat Oklahoma next week.

The only disappointment for this Dad's day crowd of 47,000 was the failure of Sooner Quarterback Claude Arnold to equal the record of 88 passes without an interception, held by Pennsylvania's Francis Bagnell.

Arnold's second pass of the game - the 86th in his string - was snagged in the end zone by Missouri Halfback Harold Carter.

Oklahoma's terrific line play, led by Jim Weatherall, Frankie Anderson and Norman McNabb showed up in the rushing statistics - Oklahoma 261 yards, Missouri 60.

Army Nips Stanford, 7-0
PALO ALTO, CALIF. (AP) - While his coaching father peered anxiously through the rain and gloom, Army Quarterback Bob Black whipped an arrow-straight pass to End Dan Foldberg to give Army a hard-fought 7-0 victory over Stanford in their inter-sectional football game here Saturday.

The scoring play, good for 28 yards, came late in the third period, and cracked the strain for some 40,000 fans soaked by a steady downpour. Foldberg and Black thus maintained Army's great record for the year, unbeaten and untied.

The field was sloppy, whipped into mud in the center and soggy everywhere else. Army's best attack all season has been on the ground. Gains this way were almost negligible Saturday.

Army's victory was as hard-earned as any in its string of 28 games without a defeat - and only one tie.

Kentucky Smashes North Dakota, 83-0
LEXINGTON, KY. (AP) - Rifle-armed Babe Parilli shattered three college passing records in some 18 minutes Saturday as the University of Kentucky Wildcats routed North Dakota, 83-0.

Parilli stole the show in the first quarter, completing eight of 10 passes before a single rushing play was run. He passed to Al Bruno three times for touchdowns, once from 23 yards out and the other two from the 11.

The 18-minute bombardment pushed Parilli's touchdown pass total to 23 for the year, one more than the mark set by Stan Heath of Nevada in 1948. He also broke the Southeastern conference records for touchdown passes and yards gained passing in one year.

Parilli, who completed 15 out of 20 passes for 198 yards, stayed in the game only long enough to break Heath's record.

MARYLAND WINS, 41-0 MORGANTOWN, W. VA. (AP) - Scoring in every period, Maryland powered and passed its way to a 41-0 Southern conference victory over West Virginia.

Musial May Join Williams, DiMaggio In $100,000 Bracket

NEW YORK (AP) - Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' one-man gang, may join Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio in the elite $100,000 a year salary bracket in 1951.

Stan the Man led the National league in batting last season for the fourth time in his career despite injuries. The versatile Donora, Pa., athlete worked last year for a reported $50,000.

The outfielder-first baseman will be 30 next Tuesday and wants to get the cash while he can. It is believed he will ask for $100,000 or for a three-year contract at $75,000 per season with an opportunity to get more under an attendance clause.

DI MAGGIO AND WILLIAMS, WHO CRASHED THE MAGIC $100,000 BRACKET LAST YEAR, ARE EXPECTED TO RECEIVE THE SAME DIVIDENDS IN 1951.

DI MAGGIO STARTED OFF POORLY FOR THE NEW YORK YANKEES BUT FINISHED LIKE A HOUSE AFIRE AND ALSO WON A WORLD SERIES GAME WITH A 10TH INNING HOME RUN.

Forrestal Hospital Prisoner Before Death, Article Claims

WASHINGTON (UP) — A new controversy over James Forrestal's death was stirred up Saturday by a magazine article charging he was held "a virtual prisoner" in Bethesda, Md., Naval hospital for more than a month before his suicide and was prevented from rejoining the Catholic church.

The article, written by William Bradford Huie, editor of the New American Mercury, will be published Tuesday in the magazine's first issue.

It drew immediate denials from the navy and corroboration in some essential details from a number of persons named as principals in the affair.

Forrestal, the nation's first Secretary of Defense, plunged to his death from the 16th floor of the hospital in May, 1949. He had been undergoing treatment there for physical and mental exhaustion brought on by the strain of office.

Feels Congress Will Probe
The Mercury editors claimed—and congressional sources denied—that they had reason to believe the article would be the basis for an investigation by congress "unless the administration can prevent it."

The article offered these allegations as part of its "untold story of the Forrestal case":

1. That Capt. George N. Raines, the naval psychiatrist in charge of Forrestal's case, refused on six occasions to let Forrestal see a Catholic priest.

2. That Forrestal's older brother Henry tried unsuccessfully to get the ailing Secretary out of the Naval hospital to a private estate where he would be free to talk to a priest.

Navy sources pointed out that they could not release Forrestal to his brother's care unless Mrs. Forrestal authorized them to do so. The Secretary's wife was in France at the time and presumably did not wish him transferred from the Naval hospital.

3. That Forrestal's suicide was the direct result of a long campaign of vilification waged against him by unnamed persons who wanted Louis Johnson to become Secretary of Defense.

Michigan Looks for Buyers of Diseased Holiday Turkeys

DETROIT (AP) — Health authorities hunted markets Saturday for 2,000 to 3,000 diseased-ridden Thanksgiving turkeys that could cause death if improperly cooked.

The dressed birds came from the Gold Crest farm where thousands of birds have died in a cholera epidemic. The farm was quarantined but from 3,000 to 4,000 turkeys had gone to wholesale markets.

State agriculture inspectors, warned by Assistant State Veterinarian John Groves that the disease could cause severe diarrhea and possible death, made a public appeal to help find the birds.

By Saturday, about 1,100 of the turkeys had been recovered. But Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George Taylor said he was getting a "steady stream" of calls from wholesalers who bought turkeys from the Gold Crest farm.

Most of the turkeys were purchased a week ago and were being held for Thanksgiving sale this weekend. Taylor said he had no way of knowing how many had reached retail markets or consumers.

He knew "definitely" of one retail buyer—an unsuspecting deer hunter who had taken the bird north with him on a hunting trip. State police were asked to help find him.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED
A divorce suit charging that her husband Gilbert Moore, refused to live with her was filed Friday in Johnson county district court by Wilma Moore, Iowa City. Mrs. Moore asks that she be given the household goods, her equity in the real estate, and that Moore be required to pay the family debts.

2 Aviators Killed 'Buzzing' Houses

LA PORTE, IND. (AP) — Two men were killed Saturday when their rented light plane crashed in Pine lake near here following house-top "buzzing" and minor aerobatics.

Ed Butcher, 47, formerly of Oshkosh, Wis., died in a hospital shortly after he was pulled unconscious from the wreckage. A second man, Walter Menzel, La Porte, still was held in the plane by a safety belt. The plane was submerged in eight to 10 feet of water.

Police fastened lines from a wrecker to the plane in an effort to get it out of the water and release Menzel's body.

Witnesses told authorities the plane started up in a power stall at full throttle, fell over on one wing and spun into the lake. At least five persons saw the mishap, police said.

Down — but Not for Long

WOMEN SHRIEKED AS THIS BAT staged power dives through East hall corridors Friday. After his capture by broom-wielding janitors, the bat had to be held down to permit his picture to be taken. Latest reports say women are shrieking again, for the sharp-toothed creature has escaped and is once more diving through hallways emitting high-pitched bat-laugh at his former captors.

Iowa Firms Hire More Engineers At Iowa Schools

Iowa industry is hiring twice as many engineering graduates from Iowa State college at Ames as it did five years ago, the Iowa Development commission has announced.

"Thoughtful Iowans have long been concerned about the 'export' of talented university graduates," the commission said.

"They felt Iowa suffered a real loss when its young people were educated in tax-supported colleges, and then went outside the state to put their ability to work," the commission said.

Statistics compiled by the commission show a definite increase in the number of Iowa graduates employed by Iowa industry, however. Graduates who accepted Iowa jobs represented 44 percent of Iowa State's 1949-50 graduates.

Placement figures show 99 percent of the last graduating class had jobs by October. Practically all of them found jobs before receiving degrees.

The important thing, the commission says, is "Iowa's expanding industry is keeping more of our university graduates inside the state."

Professor Granted Permit to Build

Other permits were issued to: Phillip W. Willis, 619 E. Market street, for a $700 garage at 2002 Muscatine avenue; and another at 822 Fourth avenue.

Police Court Fines Total $262 Saturday

William Luxford, Coralville, was fined $105 on two charges by Judge Emil C. Trott in police court Saturday.

Luxford, a former Golden Gloves boxer, was fined $77.50 on a charge of resisting arrest. Twenty-five dollars was suspended on condition that Luxford pay officer Herman Parrott $9 for damages incurred in the fight to arrest Luxford.

Parrott's glasses were reported broken and his blouse damaged. In a separate charge Luxford was fined $27.50 for disturbing the peace. The charge was filed by E.R. Kinney, operator of the Brown Derby tavern, who said Luxford was fighting there.

Five other persons were fined $12.50 each on charges of intoxication.

They were Richard Morr, Al, Odebolt; James Osborne, Davenport; Harry C. Hunt, Rock Island, Ill.; Joe G. Treanor, Goodhue, Minn., and James P. Riley, Le Sueur, Minn.

The fines against Treanor and Riley were suspended.

Broadway Comedy To Open Nov. 29 At SUI Theater

"Goodbye, My Fancy," a comedy that starred Madeleine Carroll on Broadway, will open at University theater Nov. 29 for a run of 10 days.

It is the story of a liberal congresswoman who returns to her old school to be awarded an honorary degree. Since her wartime experiences in Europe, she has devoted herself to the task of acquainting people with the actual horrors of war.

She brings a documentary movie to be shown to the girls. The trustees, however, feel that the film is harsh and improper, and the congresswoman finds she has a fight on her hands.

"Goodbye, My Fancy" was written by Fay Kanin. It opened in New York in 1948.

The cast of 20 characters includes a physics professor who is being muzzled for expressing his opinions on world problems; an alumni secretary who has been around as long as anyone can remember, and a bevy of college girls who amuse themselves by rolling hoops on the lawn.

The performance at SUI will be directed by Prof. Lewin Goff, SUI dramatic art department.

Goff said that the play has a light touch that should make it ideal for the Christmas spot in the community series.

Prof. Gregory Foley, business manager of University theater, said tickets for the show will be available starting Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Iowan Attends Warsaw World Peace Congress

WARSAW, POLAND (AP) — An Iowan, Charles P. Howard of Des Moines, was one of 12 persons from the United States elected to the 101-member presidium of the World Peace conference here Saturday.

Howard, a Negro attorney, is among the eight Americans present at the congress. He is active in Progressive party circles in the United States.

HEDGES ELECTED

John Hedges, assistant director of the SUI audio visual department, was elected second vice-president of the Iowa Congress of Parents and Teachers at their convention in Des Moines, Friday.

Local UWF To Sponsor Freedom Booth

SUI United World Federalists will sponsor a "Crusade for Freedom" booth Tuesday and Wednesday to get signatures on the Declaration of Freedom school.

Jean Stanley, A3, Iowa City, executive director of the SUI United World Federalists, called the nationwide petition which the group is sponsoring here "an answer to the peace petitions allegedly sponsored by Communists which were circulated throughout the nation this summer."

Booths will be set up in the Iowa Union and at the Clinton street entrance to the campus, he said. The booths will be open all day Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, national chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, said "The crusade is a spiritual uplift. By working together we can all help to put freedom and the free world on the offensive."

"The Crusade for Freedom is not an endorsement of world government," Mrs. Stanley declared. "UWF is sponsoring the petition on campus because we believe every student should have a chance to stand up and be counted for freedom and against Communism or any other kind of tyranny."

President Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia university; Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pen-sylvania; Phillip Murray, president of the CIO; Sen. Hubert Humphrey, (D-Minn.), and Eddie Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines have endorsed the Declaration of Freedom scroll.

SUI United World Federalists will send the petitions to New York headquarters of the Crusade for Freedom and from there they will be sent to Berlin, where they will be enshrined in the Freedom Bell there along with other such petitions, Mrs. Stanley said.

Auto Crash Causes $500 Damages

Damages estimated at $500 resulted from a two-car collision at the intersection of Riverside drive and Benton street at noon Saturday.

The accident occurred on Clinton street between College and Washington streets.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ACCORDING to a London rumor, the Duchess of Windsor inadvertently let the cat out of the bag about Edward's abdication two full days before the story was officially released. She was engaged in a high-stake bridge game. At the conclusion of one hand, her partner asked "Whatever happened to the king?" The Duchess absent-mindedly remarked, "Hadn't you heard? He's going to abdicate!"

Lana Turner appeared for a dinner one evening at Romanoff's in a daring, low-cut evening gown. Attached to a fragile chain around her neck was a golden replica of an airplane—an exquisite piece of workmanship which nestled there provocatively. "Prince Mike" Romanoff asked Charles Brackett, "What do you think of Lana's airplane?" "Lovely," breathed Brackett ecstatically, "and what a landing field!"

I like the story that's come down from Sing Sing—of the condemned man walking to the electric chair, oblivious to the attendants surrounding him, reading a copy of "Quick!"
